MACWATTERS ELATED BY PRESENT OUTLOOK

SAYS NORTH SLIDE PUMPING SYSTEM IS SUCCESS.

is Enthusiastic Over Prospects for Settling on Twin Falls Tracts—Drying and Stock Raising Are Gaining in Favor of Farmers.

D. C. MacWatters of Milner, a representative of the Kuba interests in Idaho, and prominent in the development of the prospects of this season's crops in southern Idaho. Mr. MacWatters is especially interested in the pumping system on the North Slide, whereby high land is supplied with water. The system is at work and is proving a success. Mr. MacWatters was quoted as follows in the Statesman: "We are more than pleased with the success of the pumping project on the North Slide. Three of the pumps are at work now and they are doing exceedingly well. We have installed the latest type to be had in the way of pumps, and the outlook now is that they will prove an unequalled success. Two other pumps are to be installed near Jerome. "What we propose to demonstrate with these pumps above everything else is that the settler can afford to pay the maintenance charge and still make good money from his land. We shall make numerous experiments along this line to see in the future the use of power and water, and to enable the settler to get the very best results at the least expenditure of money and labor. "Idaho—how to make rich land along her rivers, just too high to be irrigated with the settler can afford to pay the maintenance charge and still make good money from his land. We shall make numerous experiments along this line to see in the future the use of power and water, and to enable the settler to get the very best results at the least expenditure of money and labor. "Idaho—how to make rich land along her rivers, just too high to be irrigated with the settler can afford to pay the maintenance charge and still make good money from his land. REGENT WATER RULING

Details of Supreme Court Decision Set Forth in Letter to Local Man.

The legal effect of the publication of notice of availability of water on Carey act lands is set forth in detail in a communication from Carey Act Commissioner Shavhan to W. A. Moomaw, chairman of the Waterusers' association of the Salmon tract.

The communication follows: Mr. W. A. Moomaw, Twin Falls, Idaho: Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of the 24th instant, I beg to submit, from the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Hance versus Idaho Irrigation company, the following, touching the effect of the publication of the notice of the availability of water: "Under the provisions of Section 1628, Revised Codes, it is made the duty of the irrigation company to notify the settler when water is ready for delivery, in order that the settler may do his cultivation and make the reclamation required in order to secure title to his land. That must be done within a specified time after notice. "Weight the settler receives such notice, in accordance with the terms of the statutes, he cannot delay, but must proceed. The giving of notice was to him on a double effect; it gave the settler notice, thereby fixing the time within which he must cultivate and reclaim his land under the Carey act and statutes, and thus enable him to procure title. It also had the effect of notifying the settler that interest on all deferred payments on his water contract would begin at the commencement of the next irrigation season, as provided in the contract. In any event, under the law the settler is not to disregard the notice, for then he was required to proceed with his requirements in order to secure title to his land. If it placed him under obligations to pay interest and make a payment on the principal. "The giving of such notice under the contract is a duty on the part of the time within which the settler must cultivate and reclaim his land and a fixed time, if the notice is furnished, when interest shall begin on deferred payments on his water contract, and it was the duty of the contract to furnish water after it had given the notice. "It would be a strange rule of law that would require an entryman to comply with the requirements of reclamation within a specified time to be fixed by the notice published by a company over which he had no control, whereas his duty under the contract is to irrigate or to procure water within the time required by law, if the notice were not required to be a true notice of fact and it appears obvious that the court did not intend that notice given when the water was not ready for delivery should serve to fix the time, but that such notice should serve to fix the time only in case water was available as provided by law and the contract at the time notified by the notice. "In the preparation of the rules recently adopted by the board, it was provided that such notice shall be given only when water was available at such date for such lands as are approved by the board as having water actually available, leaving it to the settler to establish the actual date that water was available in case the notice should not have been a true notice, and it was further provided that notice for failure to cultivate and irrigate or make final proof within the time required by law, will not be sustained by the court unless water was actually available in sufficient quantities to properly irrigate crops, notwithstanding that notice was given for the delivery of water at a fixed date, and the time shall begin to run from the date of actual delivery for the proper irrigation of crops, and it is considered, nor will content be considered for an entry not in default at the time of application to contest. "Yours truly, D. C. MACWATTERS, Manager.

JUDGE WALTERS SUSTAINED

U. S. Supreme Court Affirms Decision of Shoshone Jurist in Important Case.

The supreme court of the United States on April 1 affirmed a decision of Judge E. A. Walters of the fourth judicial district of Idaho, which had been upheld by the supreme court of Idaho. It was a mining case from Blaine county and involved a group of mining claims called the "Independence," and valued at $100,000. The case was known as Kettler vs. Swanson and had been in litigation about two years.

Another decision of Judge Walters that has recently been affirmed by the supreme court of Idaho is the Sumner case, which involved a construction of the Carey act law and the rights of the settlers and the company thereunder. In this case the plaintiff purchased a Carey claim on the "South Gooding" tract under the supposition that the land could all be irrigated, but later the company changed the line of the canal or tract so that only a part of the claim received water. Judge Walters held that the plaintiff could recover his expenses and all other necessary expenses but that no speculation damages could be allowed. This did away with any basis on the line that might be claimed as damages—Shoshone Journal.

WHY SHE BLUSHED.

A very pretty but extremely slender girl entered a street car and managed to seat herself in a very narrow space between two men. Presently a portly colored woman entered the car, and the pretty miss, thinking to humiliate the man for their lack of callantry, arose: "Aunt," she said, "with a wave of her hand, toward the place she had just vacated, 'take my seat.' "Thank you, miss," replied the colored woman, smiling broadly. "But which gentleman's lap was you sitting on?"

BOXERS PREPARE FOR BOUT

Carpenter and Gans at Work and Promise Good Match Tuesday Evening.

Fiscal training for their bout in Cottillon hall next Tuesday evening is now being done by Jack Carpenter and Young Gans. Both boxers are daily working out in practice and distance running and expect to tip in the best of condition for their ten-round go.

Both Carpenter and Gans expect a hard match. Gans, known as a stickler in the game, keeps the box heavy at all times, and has met some of the leading boxers in the west, maintaining a good record the while. Carpenter, also with a good record, for the past three years has been meeting the top notchers, around Salt Lake and Denver, and proved he could go the route with the best of them.

Boxing fans each afternoon are watching the glove man practice at Cottillon hall. Gans battles between 2 and 3 o'clock, and Carpenter between 3 and 4 o'clock. Both have invited the public to watch them in practice, ladies as well as gentlemen. A clean fight is promised, too, next Tuesday evening, and a good record is expected.

TWIN FALLS NEWS

Official Paper of Republican Party of Twin Falls County

TWIN FALLS NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY

T. A. READ, Manager

Subscription Rates: One Year, in advance $2.00; Six Months, in advance $1.00

Entered as second-class matter, December 7, 1904, at the post office at Twin Falls, Idaho, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

AGAIN THE QUESTION

By the filing of a petition with the county commissioners of Twin Falls county asking that an election be called for the purpose of taking a poll of the will of the citizens as to whether or not open saloons shall be allowed in the county, the old question as to the right or wrong of the liquor traffic is again brought to the front.

It is to be regretted that a point of this sort, once settled, is not allowed to drop for good and all, but with the influx of new people, and allowing for the right of any man to change his mind on almost any question, it is perhaps not unfair that the matter should again be given over to the public. There is little doubt but that, upon examination, it will be found that a sufficient number of bona-fide residents have attached their names to the petition to warrant the calling of an election. The date will probably be fixed for the very near future.

There is not one single argument in favor of the bootlegger and there is not one single argument in favor of the open saloon. It is not a question as to the open saloon or no saloons at all, it is a question as to the open saloon or the bootlegger.

From the standpoint of the liquor interests it has been urged that there is less evil in the properly regulated saloon than in the illicit traffic in bad whiskey vended under cover of darkness behind the scenes of respectability. On the face of the matter there is much to recommend such a view, but upon close analysis the utter fallacy of such reasoning is apparent. If a thing be wrong, the sanction of the law does not make it right, and where under present conditions 10 per cent. of the youth of the community come to ruin through the wiles of the bootlegger, a vastly larger number would be brought into every-day familiarity with the traffic under the most rigorous system of regulation that could possibly be devised.

There never was a drunkard yet who was not at one time a moderate drinker, and the percentage of moderate drinkers who began their drinking outside of the saloons is so small as to be infinitesimal. Were the question simply one of liquor or no liquor, there would be no question at all. On the question of an illicit traffic or a legalized one, the verdict should be just as plain.

The News believes that by a consistent, intelligent application of the law the bootlegger may be kept out of business in Twin Falls county, and it does not believe that the introduction of the open saloon would help the county or any person in it. From the standpoint of decency and clean living and everything that goes to make for the best in life, from every simple standpoint, the liquor traffic should be kept where it now is, under the ban of the law, until such time as the machinery of the law shall have succeeded in cleansing the community of even the dregs that remain.

THE GUBERNATORIAL QUESTION

Whether the direct primary system helps to bring about the real choice of the people for positions is still in many quarters an open question. Certain it is that the application of the principle in Idaho has not helped to simplify the situation.

Even at this early date there are at least six Republican candidates for governor in the field, with every prospect that there will be one or two more before the lists close. Boise presents two in the persons of John M. Haines and Governor Morrison. Bonner county in the north has at least three, namely, State Auditor S. D. Taylor, Byron Deffenbach and Paul Clugstone, and Twin Falls offers Carl J. Hahn, local banker and former county treasurer, and from all accounts there are a number of others more than willing to get into the game should the proper encouragement be forthcoming.

On the Democratic side, Governor Hawley will probably be forced to make the race for reelection. Naturally the governor has no particular desire to serve as leader in a fight which is virtually already decided. But the chances are that the governor will not be able to help himself, in which event there can be no question but that one of the above-named Republican candidates or another who will be named later will be the next man to occupy the office of chief magistrate in Idaho.

Governor Hawley is said to have declared to his friends about the time of his election that his political course would be such as to either "make or break him." The governor has demonstrated himself a true prophet, but he should not have qualified his statement to such an extent. Full-value taxation is a beautiful theory but a mighty weak campaign effort, and apart altogether from politics it cost the taxpayers too much hard-earned money.

On the Republican side, there is not a single man among the candidates who could not be depended on to administer the affairs of the state to the very best of his ability with due regard to the interests of those who placed him in office. None is laboring under the slightest delusion as to what Idaho needs to bring about a proper development of her resources, and none has shown the slightest tendency towards freak legislation of any kind. The weakest ticket the Republican party could place in the field on the state ticket could hardly help but be an improvement over an administration which has cost the taxpayers hundreds of thousands in unnecessary expense and placed the interests of Idaho in such a jumble that it will take years to straighten them out.

NEW TWENTIETH-CENTURY OFFICERS

Another splendid civic organization which has recently elected officers for another term and which is to be congratulated on its selection tion is the Twentieth Century Club of Twin Falls.

The Twentieth Century Club occupies a distinct field and its functions are as necessary a part of the development of the Twin Falls town as are those of any other similar organization. The time has gone by when the sterner sex can afford to stand aloof from the portion of the work given over to Sister Woman, and the spectacle of a woman's club founded and maintained by women working hand in hand with the men of the town towards the common good of all is well calculated to bring about results of a lasting kind, both in Twin Falls county and over the state as a whole.

"KNOCKS" THAT ARE NOT "BOONTS"

On the first page of this week's issue of The News will be found an article the subject matter of which constitutes ground for the deepest regret.

That Professor Holden told only the truth in his statements against the agricultural and horticultural possibilities of Idaho, those who know the professor will admit without question. The unfortunate part of the matter, however, lies in the fact that the word of a Iowa politician will be spread broadcast over that state where only a faint echo of any opinion possible will be heard. The mere fact that this kind set in circulation must result in incalculable damage to Idaho and her people, and drastic action on the part of Idaho civic bodies would seem to be pointedly in order.

THE NEW CLUB OFFICERS

With the induction into office of the new officers and governing board of the Twin Falls Commercial club go the best wishes of the people of the Twin Falls tract. The thanks of the club members have been extended to the outgoing management, and the new ones take up the reins with the full knowledge that a community of men and women stand ready with their support and cooperation in whatever measure may be called for.

Much is expected of the new board, but it should be thoroughly understood that the public at large must do its share in the support of the organization if the best results are to be obtained.

The News Forum

Printed without prejudice in the interests of the general public

Editor News: Those of us interested in the development of the mining industry of Idaho have long felt the need of a state geological survey such as is supported by nearly every state in the Union. Before an application can be obtained from the legislature for such an organization, considerable money will be required for its maintenance, and public sentiment must be awakened to the need. I am therefore writing to attract your aid in this matter.

The best proof of the value of a state geological survey is the fact that most states which have supported organizations of this kind in the federal, whose mining industry has recently shown an alarming decline, is trying to improve conditions by getting a geological survey of sum at the disposal of the state geologist. A knowledge of local geology is of great aid to intelligent prospecting and to proper development work, and such knowledge can best be disseminated by the publications of a state survey. The university geologists of the federal government are mining men that can only be answered properly by a state geologist. Moreover, inquiries are numerous from our mineral industries. Adequate publications telling of resources would do much to attract outside capital for their development.

It is the custom for the United States geological survey to spend in any state at least as much money as the state itself expends on geological explorations, therefore states that support geological surveys have had the most successful results. For this reason Idaho has not received the attention from the United States geological survey that it deserves. The formation of a local survey is the surest way to receive more aid from the people in Washington.

It is a matter of great importance that the state take considerable time to arrange people in its importance. The use of your personal influence and frequent reference to the matter in your editorials, will be of great effect.

I shall be glad to correspond further with you in this matter and to receive suggestions from you or from any one interested.

Very truly yours, A. STEWART, Associate Professor of Geology, Moscow, Idaho, April 8.

I noticed an article in the papers regarding the progress of the geological survey of Idaho, and was glad to see that you were so interested in this matter, and to receive suggestions from you or from any one interested.

World Movements

China's Future

Events follow each other thick and fast in the new republic of China. Immediately following the recent revolution, the abdication of the child emperor, the proclamation of the republic, the election of Yuan Shi Kai and the assassination of the Manchurian king, their services at an end and their empire gone, mutilated and broken to plunder and murder. They had not had time to get their feet established in the new republic before they were being driven out of the country.

The Durbar at Delhi, convened with the visit of King George V. of England as Emperor of India, was made the occasion of celebrating the centennial of the British rule in India. The Durbar was a magnificent affair, and the Emperor and his family were luxuriously and stretched over many days, costing an immense amount of money, but the influence of the Durbar on the minds of the people seems to have justified the cost.

A Men's Style Show

Clothes from the finest tailoring institution in the world. Styles of greater attractiveness than any previous season has shown. Fabrics of shade and pattern more beautiful than can be described.

That's what you'll see in our store today. The occasion is the opening of our new Adler-Rochester stock. And we earnestly invite your attendance. We just want you to see these clothes—that's all.

Adler-Rochester Clothes

We have sold clothes for many years, but never believed garments like these were possible. Each one is a real masterpiece of tailoring art—each seems to have its own individuality.

Slip on just one coat, and you'll see what we mean. For "fineness" of lines, accuracy of fit, correctness of style, Adler-Rochester clothes have been without rival for nearly half a century.

And as for materials: The finest woolen mills here and abroad produce Adler-Rochester fabrics. Many of the most fashionable designs each season are exclusive with this famous make.

Those we have now on display were selected by us from a thousand handsome patterns and shades. We've never seen more beautiful.

We could go on talking about Adler-Rochester clothes forever—we could fill this page and many others—and then the whole story wouldn't be told.

You have got to see Adler-Rochester clothes—try them on, in fact—to realize their many overshadowing superiorities. That's why we urge you to come in—if it is only for a glance over our new stock.

Adler-Rochester Clothes

Are the product of the finest tailoring institution in the world—a model plant which employs the greatest brains and skill in the tailoring craft.

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

The burdens a woman has to carry through life are many but they can be lightened if she will turn to Dr. Priebe's Pleasant Pellets. A soothing and strengthening medicine—subdues nervous excitability, prostration, hysteria, hot flashes, and the many symptoms which may be caused by distressing the peculiar system. For those "dragging-down" pains of distress and the despondent and irritable feelings the "Feminine Prescriptions" has had many thousands of testimonials from people living in every part of America. Another important thing to give women is that this medicine is made from efficient medicinal roots, and contains no alcohol, narcotics, or any injurious agents. But this is not all. Every woman is invited to write to this Institute and receive confidential and sound medical advice; entirely without cost from one who makes the diseases of women his specialty.

"I can cheerfully recommend your remedies, especially your 'Feminine Prescriptions' of all female disorders," writes Miss M. M. Mounzel, of Union City, Tenn. "I have been suffering many years with various troubles, but found only transient relief from the many remedies I used. I was persuaded by a friend to try your medicine, and after using it for a few days, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Priebe's Pellets for all female ailments."

RAISING-OF CANTALOUPE

Crop Here Should Bring Good Price. Owing to Shortage in Leading Districts.

A report, that should encourage the farmers on this tract to devote a reasonable season, has been received by Secretary Spangler from the J. Pledham company of Chicago. According to the report, about two-thirds of an average crop will be raised in the Rocky Ford, Colorado, district this year, with a like percentage in the Imperial Valley, California, district, two of the leading cantaloupe territories in the country. This condition should establish a high price for cantaloupes that can be raised on this tract.

In their letter to Mr. Spangler the Chicago men state that the crop grown on this tract last year was much better than that grown in other parts of the state, where the crop-growers were either too late in the shipment or did not mature. While the company takes the position that cantaloupes raising on this tract is as yet an experimental stage, it is willing to watch and be of assistance in growing a crop here this year, and will furnish a reasonable amount of crates if crop seems assured.

TALK TO YOUR HORSE

Talk to your horse and teach him to obey your voice as well as the reins. This may prove valuable, if, as sometimes happens, a line break or he come unbacked. Besides, the horse likes the sociability of it. He easily learns a dozen or more words, but he cannot be taught to obey only for exactly what you mean. For instance, "whoa" means to stop at once and stand perfectly still, "get up" to get ahead, "stop backward" "easy" or "steady" to slow up. These words the horse readily learns and takes kindly to. "Walk" means to change at once to a walk, and "right," spoken in a calm, reassuring tone, means "be easy, break or he come unbacked." Talking to your horse will make him more intelligent and more friendly.—Spirit of the West.

REASON FOR TOP-WORKING.

In all orchard operations it is necessary to have some ideal or goal for which to work. It is very discouraging, indeed, to carefully select the trees and to get them but get to be for our labor but failure and disappointment. The writer has seen many nice trees carefully top-worked in all the orchards of the valley. One must study the conditions of his trees in very spring, and do the work about the time the sap is moving and the buds and leaves are just getting started. While earlier setting of the clip may be practiced there is always danger that the trees will be overworked and unwell. It is better to begin later than too early. W. H. WICKS, Horticulturist, Idaho Experiment Station.

STOCK FEEDING IN COLORADO.

In northern Colorado, tremendous herds of cattle are fed for market every fall. These animals are bought in poor condition in the south and sent north, where they are fattened, driven in and put in feeding yards, and given all that they can eat for a period covering two or three months after which they are quickly rushed to market.

Much knowledge has been gained along the line of scientific feeding in the last few years, and farmers claim they can realize an increase of 50 per cent in chaffing and grinding the products of the farms and making food for stock and feeding and marketing their products in the form of beef. Instead of produce in the open market as hitherto, the farmer is clearly shown that cattle fattened on this kind of food are ready for market from thirty to sixty days earlier than food of the old-fashioned type. This work requires the installation of a motor varying in rating from 15 to 30 horse power.

A feed for food the value of the food is doubled, and the cost of grinding is small compared with the benefits derived. The cost of energy used in the farm is estimated, per ton for corn, 24 cents; barley, 36 cents; alfalfa chopped, 20 cents; alfalfa meal, 69 cents.

ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

Extensions of power lines into rural districts are contemplated by the Great Shoshone and Twin Falls Water Power Co. Inquiries, personal or by letter, are earnestly solicited.

From an ECONOMIC standpoint a feed-grinding machine is a necessity on every farm. Stock-travel better, and greater economy is effected when ground feed is used in combination with alfalfa, clover, corn stover, etc. A two-horse-power motor, costing $50.50, can be alternately used to operate an alfalfa cutter, costing $25.00, and a grain grinder—costing $44.00. A five-horse-power motor can be used with larger cutters and grinders and to operate deep-well pumps. An ALFALFA GRINDING MACHINE having a capacity of from two to four tons a day costs complete with 1 1/2-horse-power motor $325.00, or complete with 10-horse-power motor $360.00. F. O. B. Twin Falls. Other necessary and economical applications of electricity on farms are for operating grindstones; churns; separators, milking machines, vacuum chest cleaners, small refrigerating machines, and hay hoists.

In addition to the above, electricity will be available for household conveniences and labor-saving devices, such as electric ranges, toaster stoves, flat-irons, washing machines, ELECTRIC LIGHTS and ELECTRIC HEAT. Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Water Power Co.

BLOAT IN CATTLE

Bloating is a very common trouble among cows in the spring and summer. It is caused by the animals eating large quantities of green food, which ferments, and often provokes indigestion. Alfalfa is especially conducive to bloating when covered with dew. The symptoms of bloating are familiar to the experienced farmer. One or more of the cattle act restless, and move from one place to another, as if in pain. The breathing is labored and in short bursts. The character is feeble, distention of the abdomen is noted, and acute cases death may ensue in from ten to thirty minutes from the first attack. Prompt treatment is usually necessary, and often the animal dies before the veterinarian arrives. For such emergencies should be the aim of every stock owner.

Treatment consists in stopping the fermentation and formation of gas. All sorts of medicinal agents are used. Common baking soda—a tablespoonful in a pint of water—or three or four tablespoonfuls turpentine in a pint of water, given as a drench, is good. Mechanical appliances, such as the inflated straw bridge or protractor, are still used.

A trocar should be kept on hand, and the animal punctured on the left side of the belly in front of the point of the rib, about four inches back of the last rib, and the same distance below the backbone. If the trocar is used, a small truss should hold the aperture open until the gas escapes. Do not wait until the animal is almost dead before treatment, and experience only will teach one the proper time, if at all needed. Horses are trocared on the right side at about the same location. Greater precautions must be used on horses than on cattle, or peritonitis will result. DR. E. T. BAKER, Veterinarian, Idaho Experiment Station.

PRESENCE OF MIND

Ruse of a Woman, Scared, But Who Kept Her Wits.

The following is a true story of an incident that happened in an English village.

A husband had gone out for the evening and left his wife and child at home. The woman was about to retire for the night when she perceived the foot of a man beneath the bed. Instead of calling for assistance, as some would have done, she called to the child's cot and sat and sang until the child went to sleep. Two hours then remained before her husband would come in. He was surprised to find his wife sitting but when his wife handed him an envelope, saying, "You might run and post this," the cause of her waiting was revealed. Instead of a letter the following was written on the envelope: "A burglar is under our bed. Run, fetch the police." The husband returned in a minute with the man, and the man was arrested. The burglar when brought up before the magistrate remarked, "I had come across a few brave women in my time, but this one must have had a nerve like iron, for she sat there for three solid hours. It had the impression that she didn't know he was there till the policeman pulled him out.—Exchange.

PRICE OF HAY ADVANCING

Heavy Demand Brings Price of Loose Hay to $12 and Baled-to $14 per Ton.

With the present upward movement in the price of loose and baled hay it is predicted by dealers and farmers that there will be little, if any, old hay left for the local market by the time of the first cutting of this year's crop. Loose hay is bringing $12 per ton, delivered, and hay in the bale is not offering for a sale at $14 per ton. It is believed that within the next two weeks baled hay will be readily taken at $16, or better.

The farmers on this tract are having no difficulty in disposing of their surplus hay both through local buyers and agents for distant points. The heavy freight shipments are fast clearing this locality of the baled crop, and buyers are engaged in preparing hundreds of tons for shipment at the earliest possible moment. Should the demand for hay continue, and the railway is enabled to move the tonnage that will be put out of this city, it is predicted that shipments, especially of wild hay, into this vicinity will be necessary.

HEAVY FREIGHT SHIPMENTS

Local Short Line freight officials are reporting a heavy shipment both to and from this city. Tract crops and finished products are being taken to eastern and western markets as rapidly as the available freight equipment will permit.

Local Short Line freight officials are reporting a heavy shipment both to and from this city. Tract crops and finished products are being taken to eastern and western markets as rapidly as the available freight equipment will permit. The quality needed for a wide variety of purposes. Shipment of hay have far exceeded all others, the first ten days of April averaging 15 cars per day. During the inclusive months of August to March, 1901 carload of hay were sent out from this city, and at the present April rate this amount is being exceeded.

IDAHO'S VAST LUMBER RESERVE

Spokane, Wash., April 8.—(Ray) The amount available in the forests of Idaho for the manufacture of wood products is estimated at 100,000,000,000 feet, board measure, by Professor C. H. Shattuck, head of the forestry department of the University of Idaho. This would provide sufficient lumber to erect more than 1,500,000 five-story castles and several million cords of fuel wood.

"At the present rate of cutting, reported to be about 700,000,000 feet annually," Professor Shattuck said in making the foregoing estimate in the course of an interview here, "Idaho has a reserve in its timber that cannot be exhausted in the next 100 years. This computation does not include the annual growth.

"The present annual growth of our timber is estimated to be more than six times the lumber cut, and, if the present policies are carried out, the time will never come when the yearly timber cut will exceed the annual growth of wood in the state."

Professor Shattuck said the state has a "wide margin" in its timber in the manufacture of wood, the amount of capital invested and the number of men employed in the forests and mills.

Capital invested in lumber, he said, amounts to $17,912,478, or 65 per cent of the total investments in manufacturing in Idaho.

"The value of the lumber products in 1910 was $10,690,319, or 47.7 per cent of the total value of all manufactures of the state; while 8,329 men employed in the factories and mills last year, were dependent on wood manufacturing establishments for employment.

"The wood manufacturing industry exceeds all others in Idaho in added wealth, contributing $7,344,632, or 55.9 per cent of a total of $13,135,233."

"Eight hundred and eighty thousand dollars was expended by the United States government in 1910 in protecting our forests from destruction by fire," he continued, "and four of the five protective associations composed of timber owners and sawmill operators, spent more than $100,000 in protecting their timber lands and the holdings of private individuals in Idaho.

"We protect our forests so that we may have the largest possible wood harvest. We have learned that every thousand feet of lumber manufactured, it is said, to yearn and cry who must be clothed and thereby stimulating other industries.

"Men engaged in other industries are often inclined to feel they have no interest in forestry. Yet the prosperity of these other industries is largely dependent on the magnitude and success of other lines. For instance, if the entire population were engaged in farming, there would be little market for farm products. The farmer wants factories where large numbers of wage-earners, who are consumers of his products, may obtain the means to purchase what he has to sell. So it is with the stock raiser and fruit-grower. Each must have a demand for his products to prosper. The factory owner has an advantage in having more large quantities of raw material from which he manufactures his products.

"It is worth the figures given for Idaho's wood manufactures for 1910 by six, the multiple yearly growth compared with the annual cut, the result will indicate the actual possibilities of the lumber industry in Idaho, and as it will be developed in a few years. The figures would show the value of our lumber products to the state, and the lumber industry is the only resident of the state to use his influence in protecting the enormous undeveloped resources of our forests."

Many new farmers are coming in, and are equipped for work.

Under the caption of "Something Doing," the Lincoln County Times reports an encouraging movement of new settlers to the North Side tract, and states that much progress is being accomplished in the way of spring work on the farms, and the opening of new land for cultivation this season.

"This same activity is reported from the various districts on both the north and south sides from the vicinities of Wendell and Jerome south to Hollister.

"Many many gardens and equipment and household goods are being planted through Twin Falls for distribution on this tract, the same is true on the north side. Within the past few weeks a large number of new-comers have taken up their residence on the north side and are bringing good stock with them as a start, one of the encouraging features of the influx of new farmers. It is expected, that before this season is far advanced a good year's average of new settlers will be recorded.

Oakley Man Digs Up Bones, Thought to Be Indian.

A complete human skeleton, supposed to be of an Indian, was unearthed by Elam McBride, of Oakley, while digging garden a few days ago. Bones of animals were also found in the grave, which supports the belief that the skeleton is that of an Indian. A number of burials that was common with most of the tribes. An arrow head and other Indian relics have been found in the vicinity of Oakley on several occasions. It is believed that research there may reveal a fruitful burying ground.

AN ERRATIC VOLCANO.

Rose from the Sea. Formed an Island and Sank Again.

On June 16, 1810, the Sabirra, a British sloop-of-war, observed smoke issuing from the sea near St. Michael, off the Azores, and made for it, believing that a naval engagement was in progress. Her crew found, however, that all tongues of flame were issuing along with the smoke and that they had cleared for action if a fight was necessary.

Twenty-eight hours later an island made its appearance, having risen from a depth of forty fathoms in three days. The island was about a mile long and about three-quarters of a mile wide. By July 4 the Sabirra's people were able to land on this new island which was then 200 feet high, with a circumference of fully a mile, with a stream six yards wide, running from the center to the sea.

The ship took formal possession of it for his Britannic majesty, hoisting the union jack on its most conspicuous post, but by degrees the island sank until about the middle of October it vanished below the surface, with the union jack still on it, while a battleship sinking, with colors flying after a fatal engagement.—London Standard.

THE SIGN "S"

The letters "s" are to be found at the beginning of acknowledgments and other legal documents, but not one in a dozen can tell you what that calligraphic "s" is for. The abbreviation is a contraction of the Latin word "scilicet," which when in construction, having originally been written as "scrolicite," neither of which you will note, has more than one "s." The word on fire or in its abbreviated state is equivalent to the old English "to wit," still widely used, the design of both being simply to call particular attention to what follows.

Of Interest to Every New-York Life Policyholder—and All Prospects for Insurance

Chief Examiner Nelson B. Hadley, New York State Insurance Department, closes the report of a long and searching examination of the New-York Life Insurance Company in the following language:

"CONCLUSION.

"The final results of this examination show that the work of the Company is done efficiently and economically; its claims paid promptly; its policyholders are treated fairly; its dividends are apportioned and paid without discriminations; and that the Company complies with the requirements of the law and the rulings of the supervising authorities in both the spirit and the letter."

The New-York Life Insurance Company is a PURELY MUTUAL ORGANIZATION managed by trustees selected by the policyholders.

There is not a dollar of capital stock; there are therefore no stockholders to share the profits of the business.

Total Insurance in Force $2,102,105,746

Insuring the holders of over one million policies, who ARE the Company, who OWN the Company, and who alone receive the profits of the Company.

Are you one of us? If not, may I give you particulars concerning a contract for yourself?
