LATEST ARREST PROMISES NEW EVIDENCE

FRANK DOLAN, ALLEGED RUSTLER, PICKED UP MONDAY.

Important Disclosures Looked For In the Sheriff's Office. Frank Dolan, believed by the officials of the sheriff's office to be one of the chief instigators in the theft of cattle from the Vinyard Land and Cattle company, was picked up by the authorities at American Falls Monday morning, and is now confined in the Twin Falls county jail. His arrest marks a new chapter in the south-western part of the state, and it is believed that new evidence will be obtained through his arrest.

It is stated by the sheriff's office that Dolan answers the description of a man seen driving cattle to the Robinson-Jankie packing plant a short time ago, and that the cattle were identified as stolen property. He was licensed to Three Creek by Sheriff Van Amburgh on Monday, where it was learned that he had doubled his truck and gone east. His arrest at American Falls was on a description sent out through the sheriff's office.

Dolan will be given a preliminary hearing within the next few days. The exact date for the hearing in the district court has not yet been set. Last week, he had not been fixed.

HORSE TRAVELS SIDEWALK

Runaway Endangers Life and Property Along Main Street—No Special Damage Done.

Life and property were endangered when a horse and buggy, without driver, made a mad dash along the sidewalk on Main street between the electric railway and railway tracks. The horse, a brown mare, was seen from buildings along the street, no damage has been reported. The frightened horse maintained its gallop throughout his course on the sidewalk street sidewalk. The buggy was driven from buildings to curb, and finally landed in the gutter. The horse came to the curb and made for the middle of the street. The waving of hats and coats had no stopping effect on the horse. The horse turned south, and a half a block to the city jail. A number of persons were injured during the chase, but no one was seriously hurt. The horse was caught before getting away. The runaway taken place during a storm. The horse was a brown mare, and the driver was a woman and children. It is probable that much personal injury would have resulted.

WINTER'S FIRST SNOW GARBS CITY IN WHITE

MERCURY DROPS ALMOST TO THE ZERO MARK.

Good blessing being enjoyed by the younger set—Present snow heavier than for several years—More coming soon, predicted.

"Twin Falls this year enjoys a 'white Christmas.' The first real snow of the season fell last Friday evening, and continued until early Saturday morning. The first of this cheerful white melted as fast as it fell, but the mercury dropped and the ground was soon sufficiently garbed to intensify the spirit of the season. Small boys have been at the height of their glory during the past few days. Advantage has been taken of the snow for 'sledding' and 'hooking on behind' wagons, buggies and bolsters. Many drivers have taken up the spirit and have given the boys a 'treat.' Shows of gloe greeted those on the streets as they saw the youngsters swing swiftly around street corners on sleds tilted at an angle of 45 degrees. No serious results have been reported.

The low thermometer record for the season was reached Sunday night and Monday morning. The standard thermometer at the Parrot Optical store and at the J. A. Waters ranch showed that the mercury hovered between 6 and 10 degrees below zero during that night. Many of the less reliable tubes registered below zero Monday morning, but official records have not as yet been taken. On Saturday evening the standard tubes registered 5 degrees above, being the coldest record of the season. It is predicted that the present rise in temperature more snow is predicted. The present fall is heavier than for the last few years.

TELEPHONE LINE IS OF GREAT ADVANTAGE

JARBIDGE MAN SAYS THE WINTER BROTHERS DESERVE CREDIT.

C. T. Strong, Well Known Mining Broker, Tells of Development of the Camp and Vicinity.

The Winter brothers are entitled to the highest credit for their efforts towards securing adequate telephone service between Jarbidge and Hogerson; and throughout the surrounding territory; is the statement of C. T. Strong, a well known Jarbidge mining broker, who reached Twin Falls this week on a brief business visit. Mr. Strong is district recorder and is well posted on the progress of development in the camp. Yesterday the Idaho-Nevada Telegraph and Telephone company are extending their lines into four different places. The Hogerson spur is being built spur at Cedar Creek, and spur from Three Creek to the ranger station of Polo Creek, and to Contact. All of these branches bring a great many people into direct communication with Twin Falls, and the people of this city certainly should appreciate this fact. Jarbidge and all towns along the district. Mr. Strong says that good results are anticipated from the recent sale of the Alpha property, bought by J. J. Jess, representing the Peter Palmer estate, of Chicago. Mr. Jess exercised his option on the property recently and has just brought out two tons of ore which will be shipped to the coast for mill tests. Mr. Strong had with him a piece of rock from the National property about the size of a man's fist, estimated to contain 100 lbs. of silver. Mr. Strong is confident that the amount of $50,000.

ELK STEAKS POPULAR IN TWIN FALLS NOW

Small Game Decidedly Scarce, But a Full Bag Secured on Four-Footed Variety in Easy Style.

Three magnificent elk, two hinds and a cow, ranging in age from two to four years of age, were secured by the last party of Twin Falls men to take to the hills this year, in the pursuit of big and little game.

With a supply of health and energy calculated to last well on into spring, Charles Bullis, John Smith, Urban Cray, and C. N. Healy are back at their respective desks after a three week's outing, which they describe as one of the most enjoyable trips of their various excursions.

The party left Twin Falls for Ashton, where they outfitted and then took to the hills with a two-horse outfit camping just a short distance from the side of the Yellowstone Park. The weather for the most part was altogether too fine for big game hunting, but notwithstanding the fact that the party was unable to give a good account of itself.

TAFT ACCEPTS YALE CHAIR

Will Lecture to Law Students of Alma Mater After Retirement from Presidency.

Washington, December 19.—President Taft has made up his mind to accept the offer of the Kent Professorship of law at Yale and probably will take up his duties at New Haven early in the spring. The president was said tonight to have determined upon accepting the Yale professorship for several reasons. He will not be restricted merely to lectures to Yale students, but will be permitted to lecture the faculty in other law schools or upon the platform or to engage in any other occupation which he sees fit.

The analogy between the Yale professorship of Grover Cleveland's relation with Princeton appealed to Mr. Taft strongly and when many of his close friends and advisers were in favor of his accepting the position, he finally approving his acceptance of the chair at Yale, he decided to take it.

The president expects to spend several weeks after March 4 in Augusta, Georgia, where he has passed the winter vacations.

New Haven, Conn., December 19.—The news that President Taft has made up his mind to accept the Kent professorship of law at Yale was received with pleasure in Yale circles here tonight. President Arthur T. Hadley said he was "very glad" the president had made the decision and Dean Henry Wade Rogers, of the Yale law school, said he was "delighted."

A Christmas Tree

CHARLES DICKENS

HAVE been looking on, this evening, at a merry company of children assembled around that pretty German toy, a Christmas tree. The tree was planted in the middle of a great round table, and towered high above their heads. It was brilliantly lighted by a multitude of little tapers; and everywhere sparkled and glittered with bright objects.

Being now at home again, and alone, the only person in the house awake, my thoughts are drawn back, by a fascination which I do not care to resist, to my own childhood. I begin to consider, what do we all remember best upon the branches of the Christmas Tree of our own young Christmas days, by which we climbed to real life.

Straight, in the middle of the room, cramped in the freedom of its growth by no encircling walls or soon-reached ceiling, a shadowy tree arises; and, looking up into the deeper brightness of its top—for I observe in this tree the singular property that it appears to grow downward toward the earth—I look into my youngest Christmas recollections.

All toys at first, I find. Up yonder, among the green holly and red berries, is the Tumbler with his hands in his pockets, who wouldn't lie down, but whenever he was put upon the floor, persisted in rolling his fat body about, until he rolled himself still, and brought those lobster eyes of his to bear upon me—when I affected to laugh very much, but in my heart of hearts was extremely doubtful of him. Close beside him is that infernal snuff-box, out of which there springs a domineering Counselor in a black gown, with an obnoxious head of hair, and a red cloth mouth, wide open; who was not to be enticed on any terms, but could not be put away either; for he was usually, in a highly magnified state, to fly out of Mammoth Snuff-boxes in dreams, when least expected. Nor is the frog with cobbler's wax on his tall far off; for there was no knowing where he would jump; and when he flew over the candle, and came upon one's hand with that spotted back—red on a green ground—he was horrible. The cardboard lady in a blue silk skirt, who was stood up against the candlestick to dance, and whom I see on the same branch, was milder, and was beautiful; but I can't say as much for the larger cardboard man; who used to be hung against the wall and pulled by a string; there was a sinister expression in that nose of his, and when he got his legs round his neck (which he very often did); he was ghastly; and not a creature to be alone with.

What images do I associate with the Christmas music as I see them set forth on the Christmas Tree? Known before all the others, keeping far apart from all the others, they gather round my little bed. An angel, speaking to a group of shepherds in a field; some travelers, with eyes uplifted, following a star; a baby in a manger; a child in a spacious temple, talking with grave men; a solemn figure, with a mild and beautiful face, raising a dead girl by the hand; again, near a city gate, calling back the son of a man who was not to be enticed; after a crowd of people looking through the opened roof of a chamber where he sits, and letting down a sick person on a bed, with ropes; the same, in a tempest, walking on the water to a ship; again, with a child upon his knee, and other children round; again, restoring sight to the blind, speech to the dumb, hearing to the deaf, health to the sick, strength to the lame, knowledge to the ignorant; again, dying upon a cross, watched by armed soldiers, a thick darkness coming on, the earth beginning to shake, and only one voice heard. "Forgive them, for they know not what they do!"

Still, on the lower and maturer branches of the Tree, Christmas associations cluster thick. School books shut up; Ovid and Virgil silenced; the Rule of Three, with its cool impudent inquiries, long disposed of; Terence and Plautus acted no more, in an arena of huddled desks and forms, all shipped, and method, and inked; cricket-bats, stumps, and balls, left higher up, with the smell of trodden grass and the softened noise of shovels in the evening air; top trees in still trees, still gay. If I no more come home at Christmas-time, there will be girls and boys—thank Heaven!—while the world lasts; and they do! Yonder they dance and play upon the branches of my Tree, God bless them, merrily, and my heart dances and plays too!

And I do come home at Christmas. We all do, or we all should. We all come home, or ought to come home, for a short holiday—the longer, the better—from the great boarding-school, where we are forever working at our arithmetical slates, to take, and give, a rest. As to going a visiting, where can we not go, if we will; where have we not been, when we would; starting our fancy on our Christmas Tree!

Among the later toys and fancies hanging there—so idle often and less pure—be the images once associated with the sweet old Walls, the softened music in the night, ever unalterable! Encircled by the social thoughts of Christmas-time, still let the benignant figure of my childhood stand unchanged! In every cheerful image and suggestion that the season brings, may the bright star that rested above the poor roof, be the star of all the Christian world! A woman's pause, or vanishing tree, of which the lower boughs are dark to me as yet, and let me look once more! I know there are blank spaces on thy branches, where eyes that I have loved have shone and smiled; from which they are departed. But, far above, I see the father of the dead girl, and the woman's face and God's smile. I know he is bright for me in the upper portion of thy downward growth, oh May I, with a gray head, turn a child's heart to that figure yet, and a child's trustfulness and confidence.

Now, the tree is decorated with bright ornament and song and dance, and cheerfulness. And they are welcome, innocent and welcome, but they are held beneath the branches of the Christmas Tree, which cast no gloomy shadow! But, as it sinks into the ground, I hear a whisper going through the leaves—"This is commemoration of the law of love and kindness, mercy and compassion. This is remembrance of Me!"

Week in Society

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Young was the scene on Thursday last of two charming parties, one in the afternoon, and the other at night. The hostesses in the afternoon were Mrs. Young, Mrs. Morse, and Mrs. Payne. At the evening party Mrs. L. E. Moore was the hostess. Some 25 couples were present in the evening and nearly as many in the afternoon.

Five hundred held the attention of the guests in the evening, Mrs. Senfor carrying off the honors among the ladies, the victory among the men going to Mr. T. Wright. The decorations were in red and green, with the Christmas spirit woven cleverly into the scheme. Red and green carnations were used with splendid effect, the colors being carried out in the table decorations.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Swenley, Mrs. Senfor, Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. Young.

Merry Christmas Party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Snyder entertained a dozen guests Saturday evening at their home on Forester avenue, in a very delightful manner. The decorations were carried out in Christmas greens and bright scarlet blossoms, and were most effective. Supper was served at a long table, which had for its centerpiece a large basket of fruit. The table was further decorated with red blossoms and red studded candles.

"Gee" furnished the entertainment for the guests during the early part of the evening, Mrs. Stalker and Mr. Stoffer winning the prizes for high scores.

Society Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lewis have returned from their short trip to Twin Falls for the holiday season, and will probably remain over the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Robinson have as house guests for the holiday season Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morris, of Shelton, Nebraska, and Miss West, of St. Paul, Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Stocumb and two children of Tule, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Swenley for Christmas week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen are spending Christmas in Boise with O. V. Allen and family.

KIMBERLY.

Kimberly, December 23.—E. Claborn and W. E. Dreyer are expected to return from Payette today, where they have been several days on a business trip.

O. L. Ross left today for Omaha and other points in the east, where he will visit friends and relatives.

R. H. Taylor has gone to Spokane to spend a few weeks on business and pleasure.

Mrs. H. E. Prothro died Friday night at her home in Kimberly. She had been sick several weeks with typhoid fever. A husband, two small children and other relatives are left to mourn her death; they have the sympathy of the community.

Twenty-four cars of sheep were loaded out of Kimberly Monday—some going to Omaha and others to the Portland market. These have been fed here for some time and are in fine shape, being fattened on alfalfa hay and some grain. Mr. Rickard has several other bands of sheep wintering here, but will not ship those before spring.

Miss Nellie Cagle and Mr. W. C. Palmer were married at the bride's home in Kimberly Saturday evening. Both are well known young people and are well liked here and are receiving many congratulations from their friends and acquaintances.

A. M. Scott leaves the last of the week for Portland, where he will spend two weeks visiting.

About fifteen Odd Fellows from Twin Falls were here Saturday evening visiting the local lodge and assisting in the work.

Garl Ridgeway is around again but unable to work, and will be under the doctor's care for some time, owing to the recent accidental shooting of his left hand with a shotgun.

The Mr. E. Sunday school given an entertainment in the local auditorium Monday evening, which promises to be extra good.

A Christmas tree will be given on Tuesday evening by the Christmas Sunday school, in the auditorium. A program will be rendered before the presents are distributed.

G. F. Smith has been confined to his room on account of a severe attack of tonsillitis.

Slitch holes and slitch riding are in order this week and the roads are fine for such pleasures now.

The alfalfa mill is running steady now, but will unable to fill all orders for some time.

Some of the hay shippers are still tied up on their shipments and are waiting for the Short Line to start cars.

Mr. Olsson, representing the N. B. Keeney and Son Seed House, of LeRoy, N. Y., was here here. Plans are under way to make contracts with the Kimberly farmers to plant peas next year. Not many of them had notice of his coming, but there were enough on hand to take all the seed that he had to offer and quite a number were disappointed in a way to cut down their expected acreage, and some did not get any. Hundreds of acres would be planted to peas around here next year if the seed houses were to enter into contracts and furnish the seed.

About five hundred acres were contracted by Mr. Olsson this trip, and a representative of the M. E. Farm company is expected to come here in the near future. Peas and clover seed have proved to be two of the best paying crops grown here in Twin Falls. A contract can be made with the company to furnish the Japs to do the work.

HANSEN.

Hansen, December 22.—John V. Frohn left Thursday evening for Washington, to "join his wife" and spend Christmas at their former home.

The janitor school closed Friday for the holidays. The afternoon was spent in making the children happy. Each room and their individual Christmas tree and program, every night received a small token, and the program rendered by the pupils was a credit to both pupils and teachers.

Deputy health inspector Smith was in town Thursday looking after sanitary conditions. Frank Mizopohal, proprietor of the "Overland Inn" was fined $25.00.

Among those who visited Twin Falls the past week to look for Santa Claus were Mrs. Mrs. Charles Claude Gager, Mrs. Mrs. Michel Gager, Mrs. E. A. Johnson, Mr. Eble Laycock, W. C. Rose, J. R. Hinton, and M. B. Provost.
