

District Court—Carrie E. Metcalf vs.
J. A. Metcalf, suit for an accounting.

THRESHING WEEK IN THE TWIN FALLS COUNTRY.

Threshing is in full swing all over the Twin Falls country. Old-time threshers say that the yield this year is being measured fully forty per cent more than last year. The men are the "butts" and the business of visitors who have long been and who are expected at the long, damp heads of grain.

GREAT YIELDS OF FOURTEEN BIDS
KIMBERLY ALSKE FOR 14 BRIDGES

Thresher Outfits Report a Standard of 12 Bushels to the Acre in Many Fields—Wagha 50 Pounds to the Bushel and is Worth 15 Cents the Pound on Open Market—Big Acres-age Next Year

KIMBERLY, Idaho, Aug. 25.—It anyone suspected that there was being sent out from this place a top crop of two to give an impression that was responsible for a man who accidentally hit it just right to fall in a bushel of Alske seed to the acre, they have another guess coming. Twelve bushels of Alske or clover seed to the acre is a regular thing here. A. C. Durckhalter had in exactly five acres of Alske. His yield measured 80 bushels and 49 pounds, to be exact. Cal Owens got 80 bushels from a five acre patch. Charles Upson threshed 120 bushels from 12 acres. Report has it that P. L. Johnson, seven miles south of here, had 22 acres of red clover that averaged 12 bushels.

The success of the growers with Alske and clover seed during the past season in this vicinity leaves no doubt of the permanency of the industry and a big acreage will be given over to seed raising next year.

KIMBERLY, Idaho, Aug. 21.—E. L. Wotack, living two miles west of Kimberly, threshed 15 acres of Alske clover yesterday that made 180 bushels thus averaging 12 bushels per acre. This at market price would make $108 per acre.

NO ILL-WIND

Under the caption, "This is all what that blow no good" the August issue of The Irrigation Age has the following timely comments on crop conditions and the results of the drought: Damage to crops is always a misfortune to the world at large. Advice from the corn belt report that long-continued lack of rain and unusually hot spells of long duration have worked havoc with the growing crop. Such reports must always, of course, be discounted to some extent, as the "irrigation" invariably leads to a certain amount of exaggeration. In this case, however, there is strong reason to fear that the damage is very nearly, if not fully, as bad as stated.

There is a reflection of this in the Chicago grain market. Speculators take pains to be unusually well informed as to crop conditions, and movements. Corn is now a bull, prices are advancing by jumps, and are the value of other grains. Receipts are falling off, farmers who are acquainted with the situation evident in preferring to hold cereals back. They are acquainted with the conditions and believe the damage is so great and widespread that still higher prices must result.

At the same time reports from irrigated territory where farmers are not dependent upon rainfall, show that all crops are in magnificent condition. The promises for bumper harvests are never equalled. While the drought in the non-irrigated area has tended to advance prices sharply, the men who farm irrigated lands are in position to take advantage of the situation. They will have immense quantities of produce to sell and will get big prices for it. This, it is true, is at the expense of the less fortunate, but it may be found a forceful illustration of the benefits of irrigation. It makes the filler of the soil independent of climatic conditions.

SCRAMBLE FOR FEEDER LAMBS

CHICAGO, Illinois, August 24.—Prediction that feeder lambs would be scarce is getting verification. Only two loads reached Chicago on Monday and they sold at $4.80, the high point of the year, quality considered. At Omaha Iowa is a greedy buyer, paying $4.15 this week, which is equivalent to more than 17¢ at Chicago. Reports from the west say that Colorado has contracted some 100,000 lambs in Montana, largely at $4 and $3.25, but recently the price has advanced to $5.50. The big run of western lambs is due in September, but Idaho advices are that it will carry a short feeder end.

Light, 50 and 64-pound western lambs are selling this week at $4.50 and $4.85, which means that desirable stock is quotable at 17¢ or better. Prediction is made that cornbelt feeders who have not made contracts will secure little. Ohio is trying breeding ewes and showing a disposition to expand breeding operations on a million basis, but neither Kentucky nor Tennessee is replenishing ewe flocks.

CONDITION OF THE CROPS

According to the figures of the crop reporting board of the U. S. department of agriculture, issued August 13, there is a considerable increase over 1912 in the acreage of winter wheat, rice, and wheat in general. Of this, winter wheat shows a total increase of 30,928,000 acres, or 14.4 per cent more than was reported for 1912. Rice shows an increase of 14 per cent in acreage, and all wheat shows an increase of 8.3 per cent. Corn, oats, rye, sorghum and milo, potatoes show substantially the same acreage as in 1912, with an increase of 1.1 per cent. Sorghum, corn, and wheat, barley and tame hay show decreases ranging from 2.7 to 2.5 per cent. Flax shows a falling off of 14.9 per cent. The condition of the apple crop is 8.2 per cent, which is about 2.2 per cent less than the ten-year average.

The estimated yields show the following conditions: Spring wheat, showing a decrease of 27,000,000 bushels; the estimated yield of corn is about 452,000,000 bushels below the 1912 figures; oats, a decrease of about 220,000,000 bushels; barley, a decrease of about 56,000,000 bushels; potatoes, a decrease of about 22,000,000 bushels; tobacco, a decrease of 27,000,000 pounds; flax, a decrease of 8,000,000 bushels; and hay, a decrease of 5,000,000 tons. There are also some slight decreases shown in the estimated production of rye and buckwheat.

The increase is in winter wheat, the preliminary estimate of which shows an increase of 11,000,000 bushels; all wheat an increase of 14,000,000 bushels; and rice, an increase of 3,000,000 bushels.

The quality of winter wheat is 92.7 per cent, as against 90.7 per cent last year. It is therefore, slightly higher than the six-year average, winter wheat being 91 per cent. The quality of rye is about the same as last year. The fall in the production of oats is somewhat offset by the amount of oats remaining on farms August 1st, which is estimated at about 104,900,000 bushels, or about 64,000,000 more bushels than were on the farms on August 1st, 1912.

ARKANSAS TO EMULATE EXAMPLE OF MISSOURI

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 22.—With the return of C. W. Fallguth, state highway engineer, from Missouri, where he investigated the good roads movement, state officials today formally urged the inauguration of a good roads day here similar to that recently held in Missouri, where Governor Major donned overalls and worked on the roads. It was pointed out that Governor Hodges, of Kansas, will hold a good roads day in that state. Governor Hodges donated overalls and worked with Governor Major at the latter's request and both were "snapped" while at work by moving picture machines.

TWIN FALLS-MECCA FOR ENDEAVORERS

Large Gathering for Week Promised—Convention Song-Writer for Convention by Dr. Shephard—Notable Gathering

The Christian Endeavor movement which holds its state convention in this city beginning Thursday evening, is well worth the attention it is receiving.

Christian Endeavor started thirty-three years ago with one society and few members in Portland, Maine, and it now has 5,000,000 members and societies scattered in all parts of the world. It has followed the missionary at close hand, is organized on battleships and in army camps; it does its work in hospitals and prisons, it helps lead movements for social betterment and assists in conducting campaigns for civic righteousness. In fact, it stands for just what its name implies, the endeavoring to do work recognized as Christian.

The address to be given on Thursday, the opening night, will give anyone attending a fuller conception of what the movement means.

RICHES IN HOGS

Parma, Idaho, is demonstrating the value of hogs to an agricultural community.

A few years ago the Parma farmer's only market was afforded by the sheep men who bought the hay and grain at their own price. Since then almost everybody in Parma has become interested in hogs with the result that sixty carloads that brought over $100,000 outside money, were marketed last year. The farmers feel their produce at home, thus realizing five times as much as they formerly did.

FERRY PEOPLE TO BUILD HOME

D. M. Ferry and Company will build at Twin Falls a two-story warehouse

Falls county. The ground space will be 60 by 100 feet. They will store from 12,000 to 15,000 bushels.

A force of 30 to 35 women and several men will be employed in the new concern.

The proprietors of the Ferry people in securing this building show plainly that Twin Falls is the best headquarters in the pea industry.

THE TWIN FALLS SCHOOLS

Never before has there been an epoch wherein efficiency has been so much demanded of both men and women. The man and the woman of to-morrow must have an intelligent life of many subjects and must be a thorough master of some one thing. The child of today is a citizen in embryo. We live ten years before our forefathers were lived on. We do things faster, do a whole, better than the generations that have gone before us.

And those who come after us will, in turn, excel us. To do this they must have training such as we have not had. Education does not make the individual, but it helps a few do not do so well as the rest, but it does give the tool every opportunity.

The people of Twin Falls are maintaining public schools of a high character. They have two motives—first and foremost, they want their children to be fully prepared to make the greatest success in life that is due their natural ability. And second, it is an investment in good citizenship. Men who care most for their family, look well to the character of the schools maintained when considering a new location. The public schools of Twin Falls have had much to do with the recent growth and development of the country.

Schools of the character maintained here naturally cost more than the old district school. Yet no man who has the child in the school world, for the sake of the difference in tax, more his little one back to the cross-road school.

It is true the children, the school man or maid must pay taxes and yet derive no direct benefit from the public schools. This, however, is not the fault of the district.

There might be curtailment of the schools. They might be run for seven months in the year. The children of the schools might be forced to buy their own books. This study or that study might be dropped off and a few miles saved. The wages that the children from the country might be decreased.

These "reforms" are not advocated by the patrons of the schools and it is up to them to be very careful that no such curtailment is made. There is no better schools in Idaho in any respect than those of Twin Falls. The cost per student for Boise is more than it is in Twin Falls and more than it is in Twin Falls and more than it is in Twin Falls.

GOOD ROADS PAY

The direct effect that changing bad roads into good roads has upon land values and marketing prices, as well as the general economic welfare of the community, is shown in several concrete illustrations which were gathered by the U. S. department of agriculture. In Les county, Virginia, a farmer owned 100 acres which he offered to sell for $10,000. In 1908 the roads were bad, and although the farmer offered the improvement, he had stood refused $10,000 for his farm. A nearby tract of 115 acres is said to have been sold for $15,000. After road improvement, the same farm was sold for $20,000. In Johnson county, Alabama, the people voted a bond issue for $100,000 for road improvement. The selling value at that time was $6 to $15 per acre. The selling price is now from $15 to $15 per acre.

In another state, two farmers living at equal distance from a cotton market learned by telephone that cotton had gone up in price $1 per bale. The farmer on the bad road hauled one bale over that road. The other farmer on the good road was able to haul 4 bales. The man on the good road gained $4 by the rise in price, while his neighbor on the bad road gained only $1. A farmer in Sullivan county, Tennessee, had 100 bushels of Irish potatoes which he intended to market during that winter. Owing to bad roads, he was unable to haul the potatoes at all. They rotted in the cellar. In the meantime, the price of potatoes at a market point went as high as $1.40 per bushel.

TAX COMMISSION OVERSIGHT

The state tax commission, after the levy and turned the assessors of the state loose to do their work. The clerks in the courthouses, four of them, worked overtime in getting out the assessment roll. The work took two weeks to complete. Then the assessors had to depose each busy and turned the assessments in.

The next move was for the assessor to go down to the state meeting. The board of equalization passed on the matter and found no uniformity of valuation. Two counties could not be valued with the same valuations in the same class of property.

The matter was thrown out to board meeting and valuations were fixed along the line.

WELCOME

The business houses, are cordially invited by the reception committee of the Y. P. C. R. C. to place in their windows a sign "Welcome" during the day of the many delegates in Twin Falls. These splendid young people are guests who will take home with them to the various sections of the state the good reports of the Twin Falls country. Treat them well.

SPOILED CHILDREN

The federal court, in San Francisco, begins unravelling another of those disgraceful cases wherein the transgressor of the moral law overlooked the fact that if he carried his iniquity beyond the state line it was a crime against a penitentiary sentence attached.

The defendant in the case is highly respected, and was awarded a child to have everything that he desired. From his became a man, he followed the progress of his youth. He met other spoiled children of the opposite sex and with one of them he went to Nevada. The strong arm of the federal court jerked him back to California.

FIXING THINGS

It may be news to the rank and file to know that the politicians, professional and amateur, are already "fixing things." Senator Davis, who resides at American Falls, and of whom few people had heard until he was discovered by a newspaper man, is in Washington visiting Brady. He would be governor.

Friends of R. C. Beach, of Lewiston, have named him as the candidate of the next year's election.

The friends of Governor John M. Malone are standing pat for another term for the Ada county man and are ready to go into the light on his record and his term, they say, has only fairly started. By the time the time is up, they assure, there will be few who will care to attempt to wrest the honor from him.

In the democratic ranks the old standby is Moses Alexander. Alexander has one of the big establishments in Boise and is a clean, capable man. He has run for the governorship against James H. Brady the first time the latter was elected.

In the next circle above is found the name of headquarters. The pillars for Brady, Gooding and Albion are a couple of three very dark horses making and breaking states every few weeks.

There will still be another deal where in the north will trade a governorship for a senatorship. In fact, it does not surprise one to hear of several of these trades being brought in.

Coming down business among farmers, the possession of a "debt" to see certain reforms put through has already elected the legislative ticket from Twin Falls county. In casting about the leaders ran into an old war horse in the party ranks and his diplomatic ally advised them where to get advice in order to get some pure reform, so as to keep it in the political field.

LATE SUMMER ADVERTISING

Clearance sales of dry goods, clothing, and other necessities are a regular feature of trade. Most merchants prefer to make heavy sacrifices rather than carry goods over a year.

At this time the advertising columns of this newspaper are a trade report of the exceptional conditions that make these clearance sales necessary. By careful study of the advertising columns in late July and August, you can always find how to make a big dent in the cost of living.

GROWTH OF PRIVATE SCHOOLS

One of the most prominent features of the magazine nowadays, particularly previous to the opening of the fall term of school, is the private educational institutions. People who for boys, a college education, how feel that this must be attended by some years at a costly "prep" school.

The growth of private schools is a reflection of dissatisfaction with public education. In some cases the private school is preferred so that a child shall not associate with the sons and daughters of the enemy. Butcher. But more often there is the feeling that public schools are too crowded; that a 40th or a 50th of a teacher's time is not enough.

This is a fair criticism of public school methods as usually found. The town that provides ample facilities and an abundant teaching force makes the most attractive appeal possible to the average American family.

DUTY TO COMMUNITY

In another column in this issue appears the names of a number of citizens who are believed by their friends to be good material for school board members. One of the gentlemen has publicly stated that he could save the tax payers $10,000 and maintain the standards of the schools.

The patrons of the schools are interested in two things—maintaining the efficiency of the schools and doing it in the most economical manner possible. If any citizen of Twin Falls really knows how to keep the schools of the district up to the present standard and can do the best for the $10,000 a year less money, it is his duty to serve of the school board. If an esteemed contemporary, who has a personal interest in the schools of Twin Falls, will publish his platform offering in detail his proposed reorganization of the school board and if, as good as the prospectus, the district will support him as the candidate for presidency of the school board.

The school board needs hard-work men. They give their time and talent free and freely. Patrons on the one hand insist the school is for their children and that they must have all the advantages any other school possesses. Tax-payers, on the other hand, want to trim all along the line.

VALUE OF COMMERCIAL CLUBS

An apt editorial appeared recently in The Statesman, on the subject, "The Value of Commercial Clubs." It is exceedingly applicable to the Twin Falls Commercial Club, which has been an important factor in the vigorous growth of the Magic City and tract. In part the editorial is as follows: Many people are fast changing front in their attitude towards commercial clubs. By some they have been looked upon as places merely where the well-to-do and the idle rich amuse themselves.

It is quite probable that this judgment is well founded in certain instances. There are numerous private clubs where the object is amusement and pleasure for the members, but commercial clubs are not in this class. On the contrary commercial clubs are combinations of average business and professional men who work hard from 10 to 15 hours a day in their callings and who give much time and labor to looking after the best interests of the community.

They want to see people brought in, they want to see roads and factories built, they want to bring in additional railroads, to promote all kinds of important public enterprises for the general good.

The importance of commercial clubs is being very generally recognized. Stated and conservative Harvard University has given notice that a department will be established in their university for the purpose of preparing young men for commercial careers.

This is a step forward and when established and working it will prove of inestimable value to the business interests of the whole country.

The work of secretaries of commercial bodies is one for which special fitness and talents are essential. Oftentimes it is the tact and skill and initiative of the secretary that saves the day for an important enterprise or movement.

The work of an important of VIM and vigor, and the ability to handle the work of the club is a part of the duty of every member of the club and town that make any pretensions to keeping step with the procession of progress. "Given to hospitality" is a virtue commended by apostolic authority; it applies to towns as well as to individuals.

A visitor who goes away from a city well-satisfied with his treatment and the city is the very best advertisement. He becomes at once a booster for that city. Money spent in commendable entertainment is money well spent.

Commercial clubs are teaching the people that no city or town can live of itself alone. They teach the solidarity of community; that good done to one community is good done to all; that harm to one is harm to all.

CHURCH SERVICES AND SUNDAY SCHOOL TO BE ORGANIZED AT MAROA

Next Sunday, August 31, at 2 p. m., Rev. J. C. MacGillivray of Twin Falls, Idaho, will deliver a sermon at the church at Maroa, Idaho, after which the organization of a Bible school, unanimously decided upon at the meeting two weeks ago, will be completed, and arrangements made if desired for the regular preaching service at this point.

It is desirable that there should be a very full attendance at this meeting, as the organization of the school may have a voice in saying just what they want in the matter of making Maroa a religious center, and also in other respects.

There would be no good reason why there should not be a high school evangelizing organization which would be of great benefit to the community in many ways.

There were over fifty present at the former meeting, but the details of the organization were postponed two weeks in order to have the presence of those who were unavoidably absent at that time, the fullest possible representation being desired.

Everybody come, for the best kind of a beginning.

Rev. J. C. MacGillivray, R. S. Blomquist, this city, spent three days last week in Shoshone Basin and Big Creek visiting homes and holding religious services in the school house of the Basin.

TWIN FALLS RAPIDLY COMING INTO ITS OWN

SPLENDID CROPS BEING ON EVERY FARM TO GUARANTEE PROSPERITY

Cheese Factory with Output of 600 to 700 Pounds Per Day—Damages are Greater All the Time Than the Supply—Dairy Cows That Pay Over $200 Per Month

Just west of the Twin Falls West End Recreation is a new industry in a new country that thrives as well as an old industry in an old country. It is the cheese factory of Gustav Kusse, known not only in Idaho, but in half a dozen other states where his patrons are found. It is nowhere near able to meet the demands upon it, although turning out about 600 to 700 pounds of cheese every day in the year.

Up in the Tillamook region, Oregon, Kusse had his first cheese factory. It was a small affair, but it was a success and he has been here for his business and he has straightened it out. He says his cows produce better results from the Twin Falls alfalfa and corn yields.

One of the present herd on the farm yields less than 150 a year. They run as high as 185. At present the herd numbers 150, but within a short time it will be doubled.

In all respects the Kusse farm is well equipped for the business, with a barn 70 by 120 feet, plenty of water from a deep well and simple dairy equipment. The walls of the barn are lined with concrete and the floors are concrete. One container holds milk already completed and another will be put up later. The silos are mammoth affairs, standing forty feet high and eighteen feet in diameter. The capacity of each of them is 115 tons. The walls are 6 inches thick.

In the barn the cattle are stanchioned on concrete and the floors are concrete. One container holds milk already completed and another will be put up later. The silos are mammoth affairs, standing forty feet high and eighteen feet in diameter. The capacity of each of them is 115 tons. The walls are 6 inches thick.

An opportunity for an inspection of the Kusse farm and its interesting operation was afforded by an automobile drive with Robert M. McCullum, J. W. Craven and George D. Aiken. It was a rich, stately drive of farming land in the broad expanse of five country than spreads away on every hand in the twenty-mile spin between Twin Falls and Buhl the enterer never saw it in a life-time spent largely in the Kusse farm. The silos are 185 acres in the highest state of cultivation. The proprietor says he intends to feed out one silo for the winter and another for the summer, maintaining at all seasons a well-balanced ration of corn fodder from the silos and hay from his lots and stacks. He is growing corn of sufficient acreage to fill the silos and has a machine ready to be started up by electric power to cut the fodder and stalks into small bits. He has no means as to produce enough milk on his own farm for his cheese factory, but buys from the farmers around, all he can get. His cows are Holstein stock.

On the way down the visitors stood at the Craven dairy ranch just west of Twin Falls, where the equipment is one of the most complete in the state, with only about a dozen Jersey cows that will produce milk worth over $100 per month. An absolutely new enterprise for this section of the state has been instituted at Hextum, a town on the Minidoka project, in a plan for the making of rubber stamps, which will be patronized by all business men in this section. Their stamps are made there and if you specify "rubber" on your order it will be filled on the next mail. This is one of the features of it and, where we formerly had to wait a week or ten days for our rubber stamps, we can now get them in less than a day. This company, The Superior Stamp Co., carries pads, inks and everything pertinent to the trade. We recommend them to our readers.
