FILER LOSES TO TWIN FALLS

Local Basket Ball Team Wins by Score of 21 to 11.

The Flor basket ball quartet lost to Twin Falls last Friday evening by a score of 21 to 11. The score, however, does not indicate how evenly the contest was fought, for it was 20-0 until the last few minutes of play. At the end of the first half the score stood 8 to 8 for Twin Falls and first one team was ahead then the other. In the last quarter of the game the Twin Falls' forged ahead, however, and when time was called they had secured a comfortable margin of 21-11. Harry D. Huff, forward, and his work was very satisfactory.

RECENT TAX RULINGS

How Many Tax Should be Paid? In Any Do Not Understand?

Washington, Jan. 15.—Despite all the thousands of leaflets and circulars distributed by the treasury department concerning the manner in which the income tax is to be paid, it is being misunderstood on every side of the globe. Within the last few days two checks have been returned at the department by payment of the tax on wages withheld at the source. The tax is payable to the collector of internal revenue in the proper district and in each case the collector who made the return at the source, to be returned later to Washington. One of the surprising features of the checks came from Indiana, where the checks came from individuals, the department is not sure of the names of the payees and money orders in payment of the tax. To forward the money to the proper collectors bank office will be necessary. It is estimated that at least 200,000 persons will take a wrong view of the tax and send their money direct to Washington.

On All of Your Printed Matter, It Represents Good Workmanship, Good Ware, and Good Conditions.

The striking of the British subjects and the loss of property is merely an incident in the trend of modern national policies. Accidents to aviators, neighbors to gunners on the battlefields, accidents in every phase of the military and naval affairs have been the history of a more progressive world wide toward military supremacy. It is the price that nations are paying in the race for trade supremacy. At the nation as a whole it would be hard enough at the best, but when for every warship, every modern aircraft or invention for the carrying on of warfare, the poor of every nation are taxed beyond their ability to pay, while the rich men profit by every hour, war and its unnecessary expenditures is too terrible a sacrifice.

The happy outcome of this meeting to discuss the building of the bridge across Shoshone falls. Yallahs in highway terms of the type of bridge to be built across the Snake. Each side found hard for its own ideas with a spirit of fairness. When the situation was fully developed both sides yielded in an action which brought forth the desired thing. Both sides are satisfied and the threat of a national fight between this city and the surrounding territory has been averted. It means more than the upbuilding of a bridge across the Snake. It means the building of many more understandings that will come from time to time arise, that will allow us to get things straight. It means that Twin Falls as a city will stand on most any problem with little concern if the solution is shown. The committee composed of the representatives of both sides arranged in an open meeting, which terminated in an unanimous vote for the bridge. Twin Falls citizens can cheerfully promise that they will work just as hard toward the end and wish always as heretofore, and do everything in their power to help other parts of the county for their improvement.

LEAGUES INVITED TO OUR FAIR. Mr. Asquith has refused to receive a deputization representing influential British commercial interests who favor government participation in the franchise in 1915. In his letter to the secretary of the league he asked for a reconsideration of the government's decision not to participate. Mr. Asquith states that he regrets that the decision was not able to make the decision which was announced in Parliament at the last session. Naturally enough the London Treaty Commission took this decision with the decision of Germany to take the same course, and Mr. Asquith states that both Powers are spending too much money in arms.

A COMMUNICATION

Editor The Times. Referring to editorial in your issue of 16th. Inst. on the Salmon trust water question, I wish you would give the following comments equal publicity.

Evidently the editor was misinformed when he wrote: "The action of the Salmon Trust in the matter of offering to make settlement, and to meet the petitioners half way, is a reflection on the wisdom of the State." When the real situation is viewed the condition is quite less "refreshing." What the bondholders have proposed is to collect from the State $1000 per acre more than original contract price or from $200,000 to $300,000 which would make the water supply equal to whatever way is the most feasible. Thus saddling their own loss upon the settlers.

The article did not indicate the bondholders' target in these bonds; and if the Kohns, who controlled the Water Co. had done by unrepentant consistency then let the bondholders look to them for redress. Failing to get it there, let the bondholders, who are mostly eastern millionaire bankers, pocket the loss resulting from their own poor investment, instead of passing it onto the poor settlers. A recent pamphlet by the State has described the bondholders of their country, let the water trust, which had sold project at their own expense to save their original investment.

Effort is made to induce settlers to give up their own water rights in order to reimburse bondholders; and some may have an axe to grind in that connection, but acting as well watered, it is considered from the bondholders or hope for other settlement to lead the sheep into the slaughter pen.

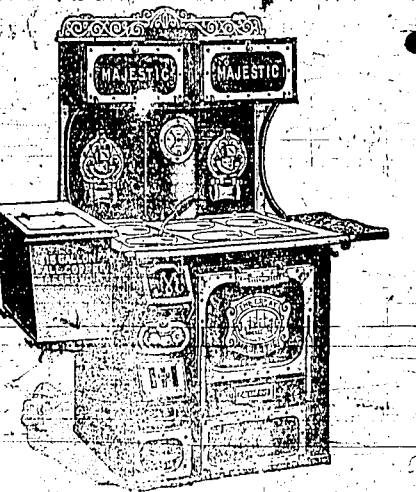

THIS SCHEME IS VERY UNIQUE. Every Farmer Waters His Stock, How Many Attend to Children?

NEW CHEESE FACTORY
Filer to Have New Enterprise in the Spring.
The Journal has known for some time that the Filer was to have a cheese factory but until such time as it was an assured fact destined to alarm the people.

Mr. John Kewer is a cheese man, he has been for many years owned and operated small cheese factories in small towns in Wisconsin and of late years has been one of the best associated with a large cheese business at Oshkosh, Wisconsin, known as the Baker Cheese Co., who we understand to be a wholesale cheese business, amounting to millions of dollars yearly.

Mr. Kewer recently purchased the land known as the Allen, which has been run by Emil Sommer and it is this piece of land that he will operate his cheese factory and build his herd and barns. It is his intention to have the factory ready for business by the 15th of May. The machinery and equipment for the enterprise is now ordered and Mr. Kewer will soon be here.

We are to be congratulated in getting a man like Mr. Kewer associated with our community and it is our desire that the ranchers will cooperate with him in making the enterprise a success.—Filer Journal.

Shoshone Falls' Fame Recorded

stretched above the abyss like wreaths of flowers, above a sepulcher. The arch the story of the terror an exhilarating roar ascends, deep-toned as is the voice of fate a clamor like the rolling ocean—change when his longer surges come vaulting in to greet the fiercely woo in freer passage to the infinity.

"That to feel all the awe and to mark all the splendor and power that comes of the mighty display, one must climb down the steep descending cliffs as nearly as possible to the falls, contemplate the tremendous picture. There something of the energy that creates that endless panorama is comprehended; all the deep throbbings of the mighty star's pulse are felt; all the uncertainties of earth are forgotten.

"In the reverberations that come of the war of waters one hears something like God's voice, something like the auditor of God is before the eyes, something akin to God's power. It is manifesting itself before him, and his God, striking before the presence of the working of nature's immensurable forces.

"Not quite so majestic is the picture as is Niagara, but it has more lights and shadows and loveliness, as though a hand were finely skilled had cut the first and while more delicate art had transported them upon that picture suspended there in its rugged and sublime framework.

"As one watches, it is not difficult to fancy that weary back in the immortal and unrecorded past the angelic beings, the first-born and the cherubs were to be given an existence in a spot so forbidding, a spot that appeared to be never to be warmed by God's rays, which seem never to make a step through which God's mercy was to be discovered; that then omniscience would come the hills and started the great river on its flow; that with his finger he traced out the channel across the crest of that fall, river that had been fire, mingled the sunbeams with the rain, water and made it possible in that fire-blasted form of water to swing a picture which should lie, first to the red man and later to the pale face, a certain sign of his existence, the power, and the inevitable splendor of the great first cause.

"And as the red man through the centuries watched the spectacle, continuing nothing except that an infinite voice was soothing the ears, and immaterial glories were blazing before his eyes, so through the centuries to come the white races will stand upon the thundering shore and watch, exclaiming a mighty impulse to put off the shackles from their feet, and in overmastering consciousness that the spot on which they are standing is holy ground.

"There is nothing elsewhere like it! Nothing half so wild, so wild, so magnificent as this! In majestic, so draped with so many nothings else that the awed impressions it creates are stretched above the abyss like wreaths of flowers, above a sepulcher. The arch the story of the terror an exhilarating roar ascends, deep-toned as is the voice of fate a clamor like the rolling ocean—change when his longer surges come vaulting in to greet the fiercely woo in freer passage to the infinity.

INDOOR BASEBALL

Postponed Game Played Last Friday Night—Hondolita Boys' Faculty.

The Hondolita downed the Faculty last Friday night when these two teams played a postponed game as a preliminary for the First-Twin Falls basketball game. The Hondolita boys were tight and gave the faculty support. Johnson played a great game and it made a hard continuation to beat. The Faculty made many costly errors in the third inning they started a batting rally that brought the crowds to their feet. At the close of the sixth the score was tied 2 to 2. In the final inning the marred measure was 3 and the teachers were blanked. In spite of the fact that the game was less than 10 minutes the crowd was very large and the large crowd present at the next game will be about January 20. Following is the box score:
