SETTLERS DETERMINED TO PRO-TECT INTERESTS.

Transfer of Idaho Irrigation Projects
From Kuhn's to Bondholders Final Stage.

WONT STAND FOR IT.

RESOLVED—That the Association of all bondholders and holders of water-debtors which is not arranged to provide entrance with water to meet their requirements upon reasonable notice at any time between the 1st day of April and the November 1st.

Resolution adopted by Directors of Settlers Association at meeting held Monday afternoon.

The 15th of April is the day fixed for the transfer of assets of the American Water Works & Irrigation Company, the holding company of all the Kuhn's enterprises. Upon this date the bondholders will come into formal possession of the Salmon River Irrigation project and the Owyhee project will also be transferred to their bondholders. The same disposition will be made of an irrigation enterprise in California which is now in the hands of a private individual.

In addition, water works, gas-plants, electric plants, electric railways and other irrigation projects, will be taken over by a new company, finan-cialized along the lines indicated in The Herald in its issue of February 28th.

The bondholders will be entitled to the respective bondholders' right to re-organize the respective bondholders and the respective bondholders' right to sue for damages.

This is welcome news to the bondholders on the tract. It is to be hoped to mark the beginning of the out for the difficulties that have prevented the normal and normal development of the project.

Indeed, Mr. Robinson, the chairman of the bondholders' committee, has expressed his confidence just received by The Herald expressed his hope "that this is the beginning of an early settlement of the various matters affecting the bondholders and the settlers."

Those who have been following the events of the last few months have felt that much more could be gained through a settlement with the bondholders by other and drastic procedure. There was little hope held out for such a procedure, and the negotiations between the bondholders and the settlements were extremely poor.

Now, however, the bondholders have agreed to a plan which would be acceptable to both parties.

The bondholders, however, have the same interest in the project as the average farmer has; they have the same interest in the project as the settlers have.

The construction company, on the other hand, has as its principal object, the making of profit, which idea carried to excess by the financial and industrial interests of the country, it is well known, has always been a source of trouble.

the settlers have.

NEW POISON LAW.

Veterinarian Poisons Must bear Label When Sold.

Conferences were held on Monday March 10 between the members of the legislature, with the Inspector General, the Adjutant General, O. Hallen, of the state board of pharmacists, Charles L. Joy, F. W. Garberth, and Attorney B. W. Openbourn, representing the drugists of Idaho. The meeting was called to consider several features of the new poison law.

Pesticide Must Bear Label.

The question of the sale of this article by the merchants in the agricultural sections, and which is used extensively as a germicide in cleaning wheat before sowing, was discussed, and it was agreed that should be done, the label should be placed on the package giving the names of two readily obtained antidotes in case of danger. This product is destructive to adult human life in quantities of 60 grains or less, and, therefore the dealers by the wholesale druggist.

Pesticide Formulated With Care.

Another matter affecting the merchants was the question of the handling of formaldehyde for animal, grain and seed potato. This has generally been sold in bulk, but under the construction placed upon the new poison law, the commercial sale will be permitted by mere containers, in unbroken packages and over the "poison" label of a registered pharmacist, either in or out of the state, said label to contain the names of two readily obtainable antidotes in case of danger.

This same action was taken with wood alcohol, or denatured alcohol, heretofore sold extensively for the lighting of gasoline lights, and other purposes.

Paris Green as Poison.

Paris green, arsenate of lead, arsenic trioxide, and other arsenicals are included in Article IV of the new poison law, and those selling them will be expected to comply fully with the legal restrictions placed thereon, otherwise prosecutions will be instituted because of the deadly character of some of these drugs. There were no arsenicals around the state of these poisons until the enactment of the new law.

LANDS FOR RENT.

On account of conditions that have arisen, the Settlers Reclaiming & Operating Company will this year lease on share, for definite rental, or both, a part of its lands west of Jerome.

Those interested should inquire at the company's office northeast of Jerome.

These lands are all in a high state of cultivation and now in condition to produce large crops and make money.

LETTER ON SALMON PROJECT

trustees for the Salmon River Land & Water Company, Mr. MacWatters acted as chairman of the executive and Harvey W. Hollister as secretary. S. H. Kuhn, the representative of the Kimball Association, was down from Boise. The object of the meeting was explained by Mr. MacWatters, who said it had been called to consider a bill introduced in the last legislature which would affect the water rights of the Kimball Canal Company. This bill, it was said, had been introduced by the Kimball Association, and was to be voted on in the next session.

The officers of the settlers' association were present at the meeting, but owing to the brief time available after the regular business had been disposed of, no action was taken on the matter for which they had convened, namely, the delivery of water during the coming season under an entirely different plan than had been in use in the past. At a meeting of the directors of the Kimball Canal Company, a resolution was adopted to the effect that the corporation must be prepared to deliver water to the settlers at such times as they require it, between the dates of April 1st and November 1st, inclusive. It was also voted that the association have the right to disband and be directed to put the responsibility of the board to put the responsibility of the board to effect the resolution.

It is possible to do. The board feels the necessity of obtaining water for the irrigation of the land in the settlements, and means will be taken to insure a satisfactory system of delivery, probably to obtain it.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Salmon River Canal Company, the assessment for the year 1914 was taken. Judge Hays explained that these directors would resign and be succeeded in the event of the bondholders fixed at $6 per acre. An immediate call was made for the presentation of the pro forma to this effect appears elsewhere in this issue. Many settlers have been of the opinion that the canal company could not make an assessment of over 25c per acre, thus having obtained this information, the settlers arrangements have been made whereby preference is to be given to the settlers in employing men—an amount to do repair work on the system and work on the buildings and structures, and have their wages paid for their maintenance, are requested to communicate with E. B.

Dartington, Water Master, Hollister.

Repair outfit will be operated in all sections of the tract, so that work can probably be done close to the heads of the settlers, dredging work,

Hollister Herald.

M. Bowen, the settlers' attorney, Mr. Bowen will probably make a report on the amount of water experimentally raised by the canal company, and will be 20 different fields of each crop.

Each field will be irrigated at different times, and a careful record will be kept of the soil moisture, of the amount of water applied, of the yield of each crop, and the cost of growing it, at which the different crops should be irrigated.

Duty of water experiments will not be confined to this station, but for the sake of economy, and for the entire tract, irrigators over the entire west during the past few years have begun to realize that the stage of growth at which crops should be irrigated, and the best time for any other phase of irrigation, and the extensive duty of water experiments that have been carried on in Idaho have demonstrated their lack of knowledge of this fact, and the thought at this time is, however, that this cannot help but be of great benefit to the experimentation, and the production of all kinds of crops.

During the past year, Mr. Beck has been occupied with the duty of water experiments for the past four years.

Mr. Beck is a graduate from one of the agricultural courses at the state university, and has been in the field for four years.

He has operated a farm for himself on the south side of Twin Falls tract, with his wife, and two children.

He has extensive training and broad experience, it is believed, that he is better man than Beck could have picked as superintendent, Mr. Beck is a man of great ability and experience.

This station is nominally a government station, operated by the Irrigation Investigations branch of the United States department of agriculture, but is well-supported financially by the Kimball Canal Company, which supplies sufficient funds, which have not been available for the operation of the station.

The Twin Falls Canal Company, the county commissioners of Twin Falls County and the Community of the city of Twin Falls have all contributed liberally toward the establishment and maintenance of the station.

The station is bound to produce results that will be evidently benefitful to the irrigators of the state of Idaho, and to the whole west in general, Mr. Beck believes, for it is planned to devote the experiment station primarily to the breeding of outstanding varieties of grain, and varieties of vegetables, and to the stable crops of Idaho should be irrigated in order to secure the largest quantity of the best possible quality of produce.

The land has been divided into 200 small fields of
