

BIG CIRCUS-BILL AND WILD WEST SHOW HERE

By JACK BECHDOLT

"All circuses are alike," say the cynics. Your confirmed circus-goer knows better. The Sells-Floto show has several features all its own, and though it may not be the largest on earth it is large enough to give several hours of unalloyed delight. This year the circus brings something new to the animal kingdom. Five hynys, which did graceful maneuvers in this ring, are among the wild as any outlaw of the plains. Speaking of the plains, Buffalo Bill, whose wild west show has been merged with the Sells-Floto attraction. Col. Cody appeared at the grand entry-on, his famous white horse, erect, vigorous military. He said he was glad to be in our beautiful city. Later on the program the cowboys and Indians and the famous Deadwood stage revived for a moment the days of the Old-west.

proper, showed uncanny skill with the lariat. Among other things he rode four flying-horses with one hand. This feat, with his superb looks and quiet manner, enhanced by a dazzling grin, proved a matinee idol. Being confirmed circus goers, of course we contributed to the support of the elephants. We helped to fatten several tremendous beasts and gladdened the hearts of a couple of the quiet twins, Kas and Mo, that ever tossed sawdust. One of these little fellows repaid us for our kindness later by kicking a football around the ring. The larger ones did all of the remarkable and useless things which elephants do in the circus. There is something business-like about their suspicious snuffing which marks them as real professionals of the tested world.

most beautiful beasts I have ever seen. They are reputed to be a cross of the Rocky Mountain burro and the zebra, an animal somewhat larger than the zebra or burro, beautiful in color and marking. The hynys is a warm pastel gray of coat with zebra markings very pronounced on the legs, fading into the gray at the shoulders. These five hynys appeared with bright green trappings, making as pretty a color picture as any circus has to offer. They performed a number of the tricks of trained ponies very docilely. The faithful groom spent every day five months ago the animals were as with shins rattling, horses taylor and war whours surrounding. It was a spirited and stirring picture. These Indians, who appeared in the ring in their war dances, are a splendid feature of the show. They are the picturesque plains red men, bedecked with intricate tatters, painted, primitive life. If the bucks are graduates of Catholic and the squaws from a girls finishing school, they are careful enough to conceal the fact during show hours. There is something genuine, something romantic about them which makes their part in the pageantry a fine performance. Tex McLeod, the noted cowboy

John Bunyan's Immortal Allegory

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

A $50,000 PRODUCTION made amidst the MAJESTIC SCENERY OF TOSHI, ITALY. This immortal allegory is even more beautiful today than when John Bunyan wrote it in Bedford Jail 250 years ago.

COMMENTS

A work of art—a living picture—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.
The pictures have a depth—a perspective that no other pictures seem to possess. —Los Angeles Times.
Indisputably the finest pictures ever shown in this city. —San Francisco Examiner.
Impacted with references throughout—the acting is superb. —Portland Oregonian.
Pilgrim's Progress was presented before the largest audience that ever packed the Auditorium—Tacoma Leader.
Nothing short of a marvelous pictorial sermon. —Rev. Geo. W. Brewster.
Beautiful in conception and execution! I wish you all success. —Rev. Jas. Boyd (Presbyterian).
My church was crowded for two performances. —Rev. Chas. Brown (M. E.) Tacoma.
While the pictures are being shown on the screen, the HON. ELMER VAH, of national repute as a LECTURER, delivers a masterful LECTURE on PILGRIM'S PROGRESS, explaining every scene.

LAW QUOTED ON BERRIS

Pure Food Commissioner Answers an Inquiry on the Subject.

The following letter written by J. K. White, deputy pure food commissioner, in reply to an inquiry regarding the sale of berries in this and other cities in Idaho, gives in detail the law regulating the sale, as well as the form of the standard fruit and quart and the method used in finding the cubic contents of berry boxes:

Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of the 26th, with reference to strawberry cups, will say that section 11 of the statute and measures law read as follows:

Section 11.—Berry boxes to be labeled. Berries and small fruits, whenever sold in boxes, shall be sold in boxes containing a standard dry quart or dry pint, and if said boxes contain less than this amount, the information must be given to the purchaser, and such packages must be labeled with a statement of the net contents.

The capacity of a dry quart is 216 cubic inches, and a dry quart is 67.2 cubic inches. The rule followed in a berry box is as follows:

To find the capacity of the ordinary berry box with leveling sides by measurement, multiply the area of the top and bottom, multiply by the depth and divide by 2. Example: A berry box 14 inches long, 12 inches top, 13 inches square, then (14 x 12) x 13 = 2184 divided by 2, equal 1092 cubic inches.

Inside measurement. To find the capacity of the ordinary berry box with leveling sides by measurement, multiply the area of the top and bottom, multiply by the depth and divide by 2. Example: A berry box 14 inches long, 12 inches top, 13 inches square, then (14 x 12) x 13 = 2184 divided by 2, equal 1092 cubic inches.

Trustee this will give you the desired information, I am, very truly yours, J. K. WHITE, Deputy Commissioner.

TESTS MADE ON MACKAY DAM

Purchasers Making Tests of Dam on Last River

That the purchasers of the Big Lost River Irrigation project are carrying out the project in a most careful manner, works there and making complete tests to determine whether or not a solid foundation can be reached at a reasonable depth on which to construct the Mackay dam, is the information that has reached members of the land board. The purchasers are given out to be principally the construction company, who invested in the works on behalf of the Big Lost River Irrigation company.

Failure to get work started on the completion of the project so far this year has been a disappointment to the members of the board. They had hoped to see actual construction work well under way long before this. It is also said to be true that members of the board are not pleased with the continued delay on the purchasers. It is estimated that within a comparatively short time the issue of the completion of the project can be decided by the land board. Definite plans for the project's completion will be called at that time from the purchasers. It is understood.

The land board may then be called upon to pass on a new contract with the purchasers. It is said that the old contract will not be good after the project has been disposed of at public auction. The board can make new or cancel old contracts but its main object now is to get something in the line of work actually started on the project, and the continued delay, it is believed, will not be of any benefit to the board. It is believed that when the board meets it will move definitely in the matter—Blackfoot Optimist.

COMMUNICATION

House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., April 29th, 1914.

Mr. Wilbur S. Hill, Editor Twin Falls Herald, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Dear Mr. Hill: I notice editorial mention in the issue of the Times of the 24th instant indicating that you understand that I am antagonistic to the interests of the fruit growers of the United States in our difficulty with Mexico.

I am sure you do not care to do me any injustice and are satisfied in a matter that ought to involve no partisanship whatever and in view of this I am dropping you a line.

Your letter, which was most doubtless honestly arrived at, does not at all represent my position on the question involved on April 20th against the resolution reported by the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House because I did not think it would promote peace among the members felt. The resolution at once went to the Senate and the next day, or on April 21st, it was amended by being made much broader than the original one and all the amendments, or in other words, Democrats

NEW SUB-CENTRALS

Fruit Distributors to Extend Business.

Spokane, June 1.—The North Pacific Fruit Distributors, the board of trustees which maintains the same in person for the coming year, has rejected the same offer, which has been received from the growers of Washington. The officers are H. E. Davidson, Hood River, Ore., president; W. H. Merrell, of North Yakima, vice president; H. C. Sampson, Spokane, secretary-treasurer; D. W. Roderick, of four other districts, and one of the executive-committee, hitherto consisting of Mr. Robbins, Mr. Yost and F. E. Shikes, of North Yakima. N. C. Wickens, of North Yakima, has been retained as general counsel.

Formal announcement has been made that a Portland sales office of the distributors will be opened in that city, to facilitate the handling of the fruit of Western Oregon, and to assist in marketing the fruit of the other Northwest districts. William Slez, formerly the Distributor's sales manager at Hood River, will be in charge. It is probable that ten additional sub-centrals will be established in Western Oregon, making ten in all.

THE TIME LOCK
By CHARLES EDMONDS WALK
Author of "The Silver Bluff"
"The Paternoster Ruby," etc.

"I thought she was, but she has not been. Neither have I seen her—not since she died. That was a puzzle."
"Didn't she go aboard?" Jessie presently faltered.
"No," Tom replied.
"How long the ensuing silence lasted, while they stood gazing helplessly at each other's eyes, and by degrees realized the significance of the girl's absence, neither of them afterwards ever knew."
"They first looked into every likely place that might conceal a girl, their dread growing with each step that brought nothing to light. Tom scarcely noted an elderly lady who joined them and in a soothing manner tried to convince the alert but excited girl. As for Tom, he was from the very first torn with an awful, unexpectable fear, but he acted with a dispatch and vigor that left no possibility of negligence."
Their own hurried but nevertheless thorough search proving ineffective, all hands were called, and the Kolbner had such a fine-combing as must have brought to light the small set of lost articles, to say nothing of a young lady.

"The disregard of express instructions, both search-lights were brought into play, which explored with fingers of river's light every inch of the river's surface miles down stream, while all the Kolbner's boats piled higher and thicker in the quest."
"But it was of no use; not the slightest trace of the missing girl was to be found. Yet Jessie, with her older companion, hoping in the face of despairing certainty, watched and waited until the last boat returned."
"The girl overrode her horse, her way, as Tom, haggard and almost frenzied, approached. Clinging to the other woman, she sank weakly into a chair, her body convulsed with grief."
"Aunt Joe," she gasped, "you must tell Mr. Phinney—everything."
"Yes, yes, we must tell him—take him into our confidence," she murmured, "but you must be careful of yourself, my dear. Captain Phinney will assist you to your room."
"Oh, Aunt Joe! Aunt Joe!" moaned Jessie. "I shall never see her again! She is dead and I am here, oh, why—why the words were lost to sudden uncontrollable fits of weeping."
At this juncture Tom was awakened from his hopeless lethargy, by a hail from the river. He ran to the head of the accommodation, where Mr. Mace was parleying with some one in a boat.

"Who is that?" demanded Tom brushing his first-line head.
"My 'chiny'!" a familiar voice came up out of the darkness.
"This is Phinney."
"What the box contained."
"The company turned to behold a man of impressive appearance. He might have been one of them, though none had seen him previously that night. His white hair, his smooth-shaven, finely wrinkled face, his magnetic eyes, were all a part of a commanding personality, and it was no more than natural that he should be looked to for an explanation of the episode."
Perfectly composed, there was no mistaking the fact that he completely dominated the situation.

- PHLEBS, PARALYSIS, RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA, SPINAL MENINGITIS, SPINAL DISEASES, TYPHOID, WORMS, ETC.

Every Week More and More Sick People are Taking My Chiropactic Adjustments and are Being Restored to Perfect Health by Nature

They have faith in the science of Chiropactic, because it has been explained to them, because they have learned how logical its conclusion are, because they have taken a few adjustments, and have seen immediately how wonderful science DOES REMOVE THE CAUSE of disease. It has now been proven that disease is not sent by providence or a result of fate or chance but it is a definite EFFECT following a definite CAUSE and that disease can be prevented.

A host of questions have no doubt arisen in your mind, which require an answer from me. I will be pleased to have you call at my office and will devote it a privilege to furnish a further explanation to prove that Chiropactic is based on logic and applicable to your case.

Remember, I do not ask you your troubles, I analyze your spine and tell you what your trouble is.

MISS MAUDE SIVER, Chiropactor Room 7, Idaho Department Store Building

rose-gown ornamentation. The long, elegant tunic was of the same material, as was also the name-plate. Upon this latter was a single engraved line—
"THE TIME LOCK."
The Man of Iron pointed out the line with the index finger of his left hand, and staring, Rudolph Van Vechten's desire to depart vanished; he was not unaffected by the excitement that stirred the rest of the company. But presently he observed that the incident conveyed a special meaning to certain of those present—particularly to his uncle.

"Was the whole thing a huge practical joke?"
"The Man of Iron pointed out that if it was, it must have been an extraordinary feat for the performer. He made the suggestion of an internal machine, and even more a high level of the human mind."
"These men, however, were not lacking in courage. Very cautiously the casket was removed from the box, the box was taken away, and the former was given the place of honor, where it seemed like a beautiful but unattractive ornament."
In the silence that accompanied this operation—a distinct ticking sound emanating from the casket, was plainly audible, and the diners, some of whom recoiled to the walls, where they stood staring in horror at this unwelcome profanation of the grave. At this moment a quiet voice was heard to say:

"Carefully, gentlemen; a slight jar might prove disastrous."
"The company turned to behold a man of impressive appearance. He might have been one of them, though none had seen him previously that night.
