KIMBERLY FAIR WINS PRAISE

Senator Brady Draws Citizens on Friday.

FIRM PRODUITS REPRESENTATIVE OF BOUTEVIOUS CHOP

Large Crops Each Day for the Big Harvest Day Celebration and Attraction Programs.

The Kimberly Harvest Fair, which became an annual event, held Friday and Saturday last week, was one of the best ever held in this city. The display of fruits, grains and vegetables was not only large as in former years, but was fully up to the standard as to what can be raised on that part of the Twin Falls tract. The stock exhibit was also first class in every way. The star attraction of the fair was the building contest held on the afternoon of both days. There were plenty of hot horses and first class races. A parade each day led by the Kimberly band was one of the pleasing features.

LOSS OF PRESTIGE

County division would mean more of a sacrifice to the new county than to the old one. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in advertising TWIN FALLS COUNTY, largely by the companies that built our two great irrigation systems. As a result of this advertising and of the tremendous productivity of the land, TWIN FALLS COUNTY is known the world over. It has put Idaho on the map. People from all over the country will come to TWIN FALLS COUNTY as a result of its reputation and its prestige. They will invest their money here and add to the value of our property.

What about this County of McQueen County? It would be years before the people of even Idaho would know where it is. It would be in a class with Franklin and Lewis Counties. Look up a map of Idaho and see what land where they are.

You would lose (frequently) in sacrificing the name. You would become one of the four smallest counties in Idaho, in point of area and population and wealth. Can you afford to do this? You have nothing to gain by it but an added burden of taxation.

FRUIT CROP ENGAGES MANY

Apple Production a Heavy Item in Harvest of Workers. The Twin Falls tract and the big packing warehouse of the Twin Falls Fruit Growers' association is at present a busy place with the available help. The Twin Falls tract is the big employer for a large number of men, women and children in the picking and getting ready for the market of the bumper crop of apples. The workers are busy with the many orchards, are busy with busy pickers, the ranches in many cases being at a loss to handle the big crop with the available help. The highways are alive with the big platform wagons carrying the loose apples and the boxed products to the various shipping points.

Miss Bertha McCoy, Republican candidate for county superintendent of schools, is one of the young pioneers of this tract, having been a resident for nearly ten years and having gone through real hardships of the first few years. Miss Wolfe is well-known to take charge of the work of the estimable young woman and one whom all the citizens of the county can rest assured will do full credit to the office if elected. As one of the teachers of this county she has proved her ability to take charge of the work of the office and is entitled to the support of the Republican voters in the coming election.

The people of this city and the town of Kimberly, who have gotten acquainted with W. F. Brecken, the Republican candidate for county commissioner of the Third district, are enthusiastically supporting him because of his well known ability and integrity. In the eight years that Mr. Brecken has been a resident of Kimberly he has proved his worth in many ways and has at all times kept the respect of his fellow citizens. His integrity has never during that time been questioned, and he has occupied many positions of trust in that community. He is also well acquainted with the whole county, its condition and its needs. He is progressive in his ideas for the betterment of conditions with a good share of shrewd caution about the expense attached to any venture. The taxpayers can rest assured that he will be able to make good in an office requiring not only tactfulness but plenty of experience in casing for each problem which will arise.

GERMANY'S ECONOMIC PINCH. Those who complain of the economic pinch here might get a crumb or two of comfort by thinking of the economic chaos and ruin in the warring countries of Europe. An attempt to face the problem courageously in Germany is made by Dr. Emil Lederer, a high financial authority, who does not utter a word of complaint or criticism on the war policy of his government, although he occupies in the strongest terms the economic inconveniences it occasions. Writing in the Vossische Zeitung (Berlin), he admits that the removal of all men capable of bearing arms has annihilated German industry, but he goes on to say, hopefully: "What are the decisive economic facts? Does the complete break-up of industry, which threatens the Germans, involve a disruption also of agriculture and the supply of necessities? The war means for Germany, first, the prevention of exports, especially of articles of luxury; secondly, the prevention of imports of the means of subsistence; especially of raw materials; such as cotton and rubber; thirdly, the ruthless or utterance in the demand of all those at the front and the restriction of the demand of all those remaining at home. There is no longer any demand for articles of luxury. "Against these facts, which apparently involve the gloomiest outlook for the near future, must be set others equally decisive. Germany has had a remarkably good harvest, so, on the whole, the purchasing power of the agricultural industry is relatively high. The same applies to the industries which supply the needs of the army and other public purposes.

"The problem to be used in this purchasing power in such a way as to revive all these branches which supply the needs of the above-mentioned industries." The great Socialist paper of Berlin, Vorwarts, takes a more gloomy view of the situation and contemplates the injury to be suffered by German commerce and industry from the withdrawal of virtually all the able-bodied men engaged in national activities. Its article was written several weeks ago, but its figures hold good and are very instructive. The expected British blockade is, of course, now a fact. It says:

"If the British blockade takes place, the imports into Germany of roughly $1,500,000,000 and exports of about $2,000,000,000 would be interrupted—rather an overcautious trade of $3,500,000,000. This is assuming that Germany's trade relations with Austria-Hungary, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden remained entirely unimpeded by the war—an assumption the optimism of which is self-evident. A glance at the figures of the imports shows the frightful seriousness of the situation. Thus, for example, the German textile industry if it must forego the imports of cotton, cotton lute, and wool? If it must forego the $125,000,000 of cotton from the United States, the $18,000,000 of cotton from Egypt, the $15,000,000 of cotton from British India, the $25,000,000 of jute from the same countries, and, further, the $30,000,000 of merino wool from Australia, and the $5,500,000 of the same material from Argentina, what could she do in the event of a war of longer duration without these raw materials, which in one year amount in value to nearly $250,000,000?" Coming down to items that are smaller, but still important, we read: "Germany produced in 1913, alone from the United States about $75,000,000 of copper. Further, the petroleum import would be as good as completely

CONTROLLING HOG CHOLERA

Outline Results from Antitoxin, Cholera Serum.

An interesting report received by the department from county agents in 15 southern states affords additional evidence of the value of anti-cholera serum in preventing the spread of this disease. Although many authorities do not advocate the treatment after the hog has become visibly affected, this report appears to indicate that considerable savings was effected in this way.

- 1. Number of hogs given simple treatment, 31,569.
 - 2. Number of hogs that were well when treated, 27,226.
 - 3. Number died that were well when treated, 2,057.
 - 4. Per cent died that were well when treated, 29.21.
 - 5. Number of hogs given simultaneous treatment, 7,717.
 - 6. Number of hogs that were well when treated, 7,430.
 - 7. Number died that were well when treated, 179.
 - 8. Per cent died that were well when treated, 2.41.
 - 9. Number of hogs that were sick when treated, 2,057.
 - 10. Number died that were sick when treated, 1,698.
 - 11. Per cent died that were sick when treated, 82.55.
 - 12. Total number of hogs treated, 41,286.
 - 13. Total number of hogs died, 3,755.
 - 14. Total number well when treated, 32,531.
 - 15. Total number died that were well when treated, 2,236.
 - 16. Per cent died that were well when treated, 2.27.
- It will be noted that of 21,636 animals in good health but exposed to contagion from the disease, 287 died after receiving treatment. This is a loss of only 2.27 per cent, which is regarded as highly gratifying. Of the total number inoculated, 111,529 hogs, 3,004 died, or a percentage of 7.15. It must be remembered, however, that the serum is to be regarded in the light of a preventive rather than a cure, and it is probable that many agents inoculated animals in which the disease was so far advanced that there was little hope of their being saved.
- In addition to the treatment by inoculation, sanitary and other precautions are indispensable. The hogs should be fed on cooling, laxative food for a few days after receiving the treatment, and should be moved to clean, uninfected pens where there is plenty of shade. Care should be taken to free them from their dirt and manure, and the following remedy for worms is suggested by the Kentucky experiment station:
- Salt-cake, 2 lbs.; prunes, 1/2 bushel.

The support we appreciate and hope to maintain, by serving first class goods in every line. After October 27th we should without stopping up our way and help Twin Falls grow.

E. R. NISSENER.
F. D. MONTGOMERY.

TO THE VOTERS OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY.

As a candidate for member of the State legislature from Twin Falls county, I desire to make clear my position, since I am accused of representing a party that stands for a change in the laws of the state of Idaho.

I am one of three regular members of the Democratic party and stand for every principle of good civic government advocated by that party.

Should be elected, I shall use every honorable means in my power for the betterment of the laws of the state of Idaho.

Some of the vital questions that will come before the next session of the legislature are revision of the revenue, the public utilities, the primary, the school, the highway, and the Budget laws. These are problems that only business men and men of experience along special lines should presume to solve.

I believe in economy and business methods in conducting the affairs of the state. Taxation should be based upon actual cash values as nearly as can be ascertained, and all property should be assessed upon the same basis and bear its proportionate part of the burden of maintaining government. Our present revenue law is ineffective in that it discriminates and allows class legislation.

I believe that the state should have a public utility law, but the present law is not fulfilling the functions for which it was intended. Instead of regulating it is dictating, and doing the very things the people intended that it should not do.

The primary law is sorely in need of revision that it may serve the purposes for which it was drafted.

Our public school laws are in a deplorable condition and should be rewritten en toto.

I am a firm believer in internal improvements in the way of good roads, bridges, etc., but do not advocate a reckless haste in trying to accomplish these improvements for too short a time—two to three years—can be sustained. I believe the people cannot stand. I believe that a systematic method should be followed out and followed from year to year until completed.

I am in favor of state wide prohibition and would like to see it made a law of the state.

As to my fitness to serve as a member of the legislature before which the above questions will come, I am perfectly willing to submit my judgment. I have lived in southern Idaho for twenty-five years, have been in business in Twin Falls County for seven years, in various capacities to make, I was actively engaged in almost every phase of school work in this state for fifteen years, and am familiar with the wants and needs of the public schools.

The law prescribes the exact procedure in the revision of county divisions, and should be elected, I shall follow the course outlined in the letter, without undue or personalities. If I am defeated, exactly the same course will be pursued in regard to this question.

If you can see fit to treat me as one of the three to represent you in dealing with the above and all other questions that will come before the next legislature, I shall appreciate your opinion and confidence, please return for your confidence, please my very best efforts.

Respectfully,
John W. Harris.

Notice is hereby given that at a regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Idaho, Idaho, held on August 31st, 1914, a petition bearing the filing date of July 31st, 1914, praying for the subdivision of the county of Idaho, Idaho, of Twin Falls County, at the ensuing general election, was presented to the Board for their consideration, and said petition being signed by a majority of the qualified electors of said proposed new county voting at the last preceding general election, which petition is now on file in the office of the county clerk in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

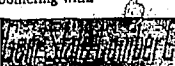

The so-called "big institution" is not entitled to anything because of its size.

As a matter of fact, it is up to such an organization to prove that it deserves patronage as much as does the small individual merchant.

Too many times these larger institutions like ourselves, are simply too big to give painstaking care to small things.

A WONDERFUL SCENIC ASSET

A Graphic Description of Marvellous Ice Caves Near Shoshone

The ice caves, north of Shoshone, which were the object of a party of twenty-two people from this city and Shoshone last Sunday, proved even more marvellous than anticipated and the whole party returned delighted with the trip.

There are many beautiful ice-caves, but the one of the party for the first time, the people from this city who made the remarkable trip were: Mrs. R. W. Wamsler, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McLean, Misses Horganay, Gamba, Williams, Annes, Warrington and Messrs Smith and C. Bell.

They know and few of those who know, realize that we have one of the world's greatest wonders directly at our door. Nineteen miles north of Shoshone, in the midst of a once molten sea of lava, the roughest of all the various lava formations, is to be found a series of depressions ranging from 50 feet to 200 feet in depth and from 5 to 10 acres in area, being evidence that at some age there was an extensive flow of lava or chain of cones extending for miles under the lava crust, the crust having collapsed in places, forming such depressions and exposing entrances to this sub-world.

At the bottom of these depressions, 75 feet below the surface, is the entrance to Idaho's natural ice cave, known by many who have explored it, the greatest freak of nature in the state and one of the rarest natural wonders of the world.

As you approach the entrance you are startled by the clouds of steam rising—evidently the result of the decided difference in temperature between the interior of the cave and the air outside, the difference being quickly realized the moment you get inside. To enter you climb down over several large lava rocks and step on a floor of solid ice (at this season is beginning to melt) and it comes with two or three inches of water. The opening is hardly high enough for one to stand erect and grows less as you proceed until it is necessary to crawl upon hands and knees for some distance.

You then come to the brink of a frozen waterfall, a sheer drop of 25 feet, which is ascended by means of a rope fastened to a steel pin driven into the ice, and after to little have been out in the face of the ice wall. Going to the west of the ice wall, which is the actual condition in this "Satures-Mammoth Refrigerator."

domed ceiling, which is decorated here and there with treasuries of ice.

Crossing this you pass down a wide and gently sloping ice staircase that brings you into a beautiful reception-hall as it were, profusely decorated with walls and ceiling with curious ice formations.

After passing through a rather spacious corridor you are finally ushered into the main chamber. Here you behold a sight that words cannot describe. It beggars description. Constructed there in the bowels of the earth by the hand of the Mighty Creator, is a truly marvellous and magnificent work of art, hewn as it for some uncounted periods, yet remaining isolated and alone, hoarding the jewels that the ages have given it, stands this marvellous wonder that only by rare accident has been revealed by man to his fellows.

The floor is of solid ice, the thickness of which man knows, the ceiling almost a perfect dome, frost frozen in all sorts of fantastic designs as if laid with crystals of the great architect.

At the further end of this great jewel chamber, glistening in the light thrown upon it, is a solid ice wall, 25 feet high, rising back perhaps several hundreds of yards, the various strata showing, in all probability, where it has frozen, and thawed for centuries, the various strata being plainly visible the entire breadth and height of the brilliant and transparent surface. Each stratum is about 2 inches in thickness and evidently represents the depth of water that gathered during the winter and frozen during the following summer, at that rate it would take 200 years to erect that wall by such a process.

We know not the depth of the ice floor—no one has ever ventured upon such a trip of exploration, have been invited here for lack of space but if these words will stimulate your desire to make this great wonder that you will make the trip and cause you to urge our representatives in the legislature to secure money for a grade road 1 1/2 miles across the lava beds to make the spot more accessible, they will have served their mission.

BATTLESHIP IDAHO A MONSTER

One of Three of Thirty-Two Thousand and Tons, Largest in the Navy.

WASHINGTON — The two battleships for the construction of which bids were opened at the navy department Monday are of the group known as the "Oregon class," and are to be ready under by Secretary Daniels as the California, Maryland and Idaho. One of them will be constructed at a government yard, yet to be determined.

These vessels will be the largest yet designed for the United States navy and will have a displacement of 22,000 tons, while the Nevada launched last July, and her sister ship, the Oklahoma, have a displacement of 27,500 tons. The length of the Idaho is 410 feet, breadth, extreme, 97 feet 4 inches; draft, 30 feet; speed, 21 knots. The main batteries will consist of 12 14-inch guns and four submerged torpedo tubes, while the torpedo defense battery will consist of 22 five-inch rapid firing guns. The vessels will be heavily armored and will be propelled by turbines. They will be fitted with all burning boilers of the water tube type. The Mississippi and the Idaho are distinguished in order that the name of those states may be preserved in vessels of the fleet, the previous ships of these names having been sold to foreign nations. The Idaho was provided for in the last naval appropriation bill, while the third will be constructed out of the proceeds of the sale of the Maryland and Idaho.—Statesman.

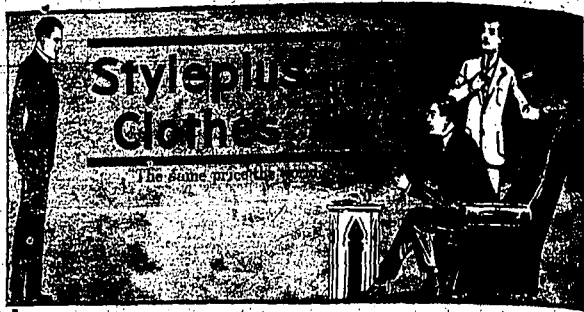

A DEER WITH DUCK SHOT

Young Buck Deared With Shoshone In the Hamer Field.

"Yesterday at Hamer was a fine day and while a good many of the sportsmen had got feet on starting out in the rain Saturday night, a number of them who knew what duck shooting meant, went just the same and they saw an more rain after leaving Pocatello until they got back, though the rain Saturday night extended as far north as Roberts.

Eight or ten hunters from Pocatello were joined at Idaho Falls by about fifteen or twenty others, there being about a dozen from St. Anthony, several from Butte and Salt Lake, and enough sportsmen to make the number about fifty, and while the deer were fairly well scattered over the hills and were everywhere, was hardly enough of them to afford good shooting, though the major portion of the crowd came home with the limit. The sportsmen were rather scarce, having come back to Pocatello on the west side of Mud Lake. There they were halted, and they will not be out again in the present month until after the first freeze. Mexican-salawat—Canadian—black, spruce and tree are numerous, if they can be had during.

An interesting and lucky circumstance occurred down in the region of "The Lake" where J. J. Ewell, an assistant game warden, had been "cut" by a duck. He was standing in the water, having been "cut" by a duck, and was taking it easy and strolling "Original Day" was much enjoyed Tuesday afternoon by the large number of ladies who attended the second meeting of the Twentieth Century club in its regular piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Gullert in her usual excellent manner, after which followed an original story in five chapters. Both plot and story were written by the following club members: Mesdames Bradley, W. S. Hill, A. K. Seaver, B. W. Slinger and M. W. Kunkley, each writing ignorant of what the other chapters meant. The plot was the percentage of the writers. The monthly board meeting followed.

Many interesting games were played until about 10 p. m., when the porters were dropped showing the dining room in full beauty to the guests. The table was beautiful in its decoration of autumn leaves and pink chrysanthemum petals, strewed over the white damask covers.

The entertainers were a large pile containing the fortunes of the guests, these were attached to pink ribbons, extending to the places marked with placards decorated with a card and set with a diamond and a small dollie upon which was a smaller plate.

After the fortunes were read, the game was replaced with a "music on the spot" song, white ribbon, and flowers all completed.

Little Lads Sparks and Flora Thomsen, the delightful guests with a dialogue in which the red robe and groom also the date of the wedding were announced.

Lillian then passed a folder photograph of Miss Mahard and Mr. Sagner to each guest.

Small flower pots filled with chrysanthemums, each containing a pink note, were then placed upon the little plates. Dark pink, and white cake, fruit and candy were also served.

A late hour Miss Mahard played the march and little guests marched round a chair decorated with a large bow of white ribbon to determine who would be the next to be seated. The chair being rotated when the music suddenly stopped. The house was beautifully decorated in chrysanthemum and autumn leaves.

The guests departed in the "evening" hours expressing an enjoyable evening and congratulations to Miss Mahard.

THERE ARE MANY REASONS

We Are Associate Distributors of LAMBERTS
HOLLAND DUTCH
ARTS & CRAFTS

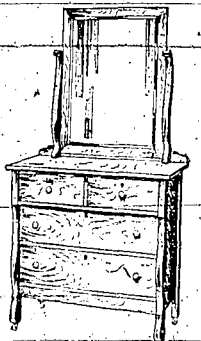

Why Discriminating Buyers Come to Us for a Large Part of Their Furniture Requirements.

- FIRST We buy only from the manufacturer which not only eliminates the jobbers profit, but insures us a choice of the newest and best things.
- SECOND Our goods come to us fresh from the finisher as factory products are not finished until sold.
- THIRD Factory shipments are placed in cars at the factory and are not handled until unloaded by us, thereby avoiding much risk of damage in transit.
- FOURTH Our relations with the factories make it possible for us to duplicate any finish, get repair parts that match and many other accommodations that are out of reach of the dealer who buys from the jobbers.
- FIFTH We ask a reasonable profit and expect to get it. Some dealers ask more and don't expect to get it, but will give you a ten, twenty or thirty per cent discount as the case seems to demand. Beware of such as you never know when you have reached bottom.
- SIXTH We employ competent, experienced help and can give you expert service and advice in solving your furnishing problems.

The DAIRY

DAIRY COW REQUIRES REST

Animal is Enabled Not Only to Do Her Best While Being Milked, But Yields Greater Returns.

(By M. OVERHOLLS.)
Most farmers seem to breed the cow with no concern as to her resourcefulness or enduring qualities. She is bred at an early age; bred again just as soon as possible after her first calving; and right to her milk pail nearly as possible to her udder every time and handled thus until she is worn out and no longer useful.

With such management her unborn calf will have much of its strength taken from it, on account of the wear and tear going toward keeping up the cow, which results in a weakened offspring and gradually yields a most deteriorating effect on the grade of the herd. In general, since each succeeding calf will be still more undesirable than the one before it.

We have seen cows whose nature rebelled against such treatment and invariably these animals positively refused to come in sufficient milk to be gotten with ease. This shows conclusively that the cow requires and deserves a short period of rest from her labors every season.

We aim to give the cow about a three- or four-month rest out of every season, feeding and caring for her with a view to intensive dairying the remainder of the year. This not only enables the cow to do her best while being milked, but yields us greater returns for the time and labor expended in handling her and her dairy products.

Of course the same rule will not apply to each individual member of the herd as some can be dried up with very little effort while some will milk right up to the time they drop their calves.

In either case we discontinue feeding those rations which are conducive to a profuse milk flow for from two to four months before calving time, and so far, we have always been successful in drying up any cow in time to allow her to rest before it was necessary to begin milking her again.

TWO GREAT DAIRY PROBLEMS

Success of Dairyman Depends on His Ability to Cope With Labor and Feeding Questions.

The dairy farmer has two great problems confronting him at all times; namely, the labor and the feeding problems. His success depends largely on his ability to cope with them, and especially with the feeding problem. The cows are, in a measure, maniacs through which raw materials pass and are turned out as finished products, the quality of which are determined by the individual cow. If the raw material is not "balanced" the result may be fat on the cow's back instead of milk in the pail; it may mean milk from the cow's body to make milk, or a waste of material altogether. It not-supplied insufficient quantities the machine does not continue its work and the cow goes dry.

Too many dairymen work on the assumption that if their cows are fed all they will eat or clean up nicely of feeds affording variety they are doing their best. The question of feed composition should receive more thought from the top. At least two inches should be really fed unbalanced rations that will waste much material for which he has to pay high prices to make his business unprofitable, even under otherwise favorable conditions.

Size of Silo.
The silo must not be too large. The size should always be determined by the number of cattle or sheep to be fed. As silage is a moist feed that soon decays when exposed to the air, it must be taken off systematically from the top. At least two inches should be removed daily, hence the silo should not be built out of proportion to the number of animals to be fed.

Cow Test Association.
The cow test association will not make the milk your cows are giving any richer, but it will make the amount of butter fat you gather from day to day greater. If you follow the advice it gives you.

BORAH AGAINST TRUST BILL Claim That It Does not Increase Efficiency of Sherman Act. WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Senator Borah, of Idaho, attacked the Clayton anti-trust bill conference report in the senate today as a phase of the tendency to take the government out of control of the people and center it in commissions of individuals. He declared that the Clayton bill was nothing more than an aid to the federal trade commission.

Democrats which began work Tuesday on the finance committee's draft of the bill. First action of the conference committee on the proposed extra tax on beer from 50 cents to 75 cent per barrel to make the total tax $1.25 a barrel, with a drawback of 50 per cent on purchases of revenue stamps in advance.

Democrats of the finance committee had approved the house tax of $1.50 a barrel on beer, which would yield an annual revenue of $15,000,000. The further addition of 25 cents a barrel by the senate Democrats would yield another $10,000,000. With the extra tax on distillate, the total a gallon was would be approximately $16,000,000. After considerable discussion the caucus struck out the automobile sales tax, which it was estimated would have raised about $100,000,000.
