the size of the above you will have to go to places not frequented by fishermen. If you drive a Buick it is as easy as the Buick goes with ease where many cars won't go at all.

Remember--No Car Ever Went Where a Buick Can't

Furthermore let us state right here we will guarantee to pull more pounds up the Shoshone falls grade or any other grade than any other car. Size of engine and gear ratio being equal.

The thing most automobile owners never mention is the fact that the larger the engine in a car the more gasoline and oil it will consume. More weight to tote around. Harder on tires, as well as harder to cool.

The Buick valve in the head engine is guaranteed to develop and deliver more power than any other engine for its size. Either foreign or American. It is also guaranteed to go further on a gallon of gasoline than any other car for its size.

The Buick Always Was a Good Car

Look around you will find more old Buicks running with greater mileage behind them than any other make. You will also find these old Buicks still pulling the Shoshone falls grade with their heads the same as they did when they were new. How many cars, say from four to seven years old are there around here that can do this? We can show you two Buicks for every one you can pick out and you can pick from all other makes combined.

When you buy a car, the records of the past should be seriously considered. A manufacturer that is changing the vital parts of his car every year thereby admits himself, that his car in the past was a failure, and that he is experimenting at the purchaser's expense.

These are days when you are not very busy, neither are we, consequently come down and let us show the reasons for the above facts.

The question of bridge building across the Snake river is of somewhat importance to many of the most able citizens of Twin Falls.

When the city fathers there a little while ago were talking about a bridge across the Snake river, the first thing that came into the minds of the people was that of a bridge.

When the plan of a bridge across the Snake river was first considered, there were many who thought that it was a waste of money to build a bridge over the Snake river.

because of this one idea, irrespective of its location. The Times is not opposed to the building of the other bridges, if they can be secured in due time. But it looks like the bridge company spent $30,000 here and $30,000 there, and is showing at another, until the business for such purposes have all gone in one direction, that the bridge most popular and most generally demanded by the public had not yet been built.

Twin Falls city, provided it can be made possible for heavy travel, and that is not the real question. The Times believes, that it is due to the city authorities, as well as to the bridge company, to see that the bridge is built in a way that will be of benefit to the people of this city, and to the people of the other two cities, and to the people of the Snake river valley.

The Times sincerely trusts that the bridge will be built in a way that will be of benefit to the people of this city, and to the people of the other two cities, and to the people of the Snake river valley.

COULD CUT EXPENSE
The question of the employment of a special engineer to care for the bridge, county engineering problems is one which will bear a little attention.

MORE GERMAN THOROUGHNESS
None of the waring nations has yet been reduced to the necessity of "robbing the cradle," as Grant said he had done, to fill his ranks with boys and old men, but we learn from the Berlin papers that Germany intends to do so.

TERRE HANTE'S JAILLED GOVERNMENT
The wholesale arrest of practically the entire city government and many of its leading citizens would be enough to draw outside attention to the misgovernment of Terre Haute.

struction, in "military" preparations, and route-marching. The device consists thus:

"For the removal of any doubts, the War Office states that the military preparations of the youth to be a direct military school for service in the army and navy. In order therefor, to be truly popular and fulfill its objects, the scheme must embrace all classes of the nation, and the cooperation of all members, leaders and assistants of all organizations who are inspired by a spirit of sacrifice for the Kaiser and Empire will be welcome."

"The object of the proposed training is to develop in the crushing youth of Germany the character of unflinching loyalty and fidelity to them with the hope of being able to make them men who are proud of their German Fatherland and prepared at all times to defend its honor."

It did not need this war to prove that the Germans, with the possible exception of the Japanese, are the most persistent and thorough people on earth in all matters of military preparation.

"There is but one spirit animating their twenty millions. It is the spirit as Grant put it, to let everything go in before acknowledging herself beaten."

THE CHURCH AS A SOCIAL CENTER

A Broader Sphere for Religion—New Field for the Rural Church.

By Peter Radford

Lecturer National Farmers' Union. The social duty of the rural church is as much a part of its obligations as its spiritual side. In expressing its social interest, the rural church should not hesitate to claim that it is expressing a true religious instinct and the old-time idea that the social instincts should be starved while the spiritual nature is overfed with solid theological food. In fact giving way to a broader interpretation of the functions of true religion. We take our place in the succession of those who have sought to make the world a fit habitation for the children of man when we seek to study and understand the social duty of the rural church. The true Christian religion is essentially social—it is tenets of faith being love and brotherhood and fellowship. While following after righteousness, the church must challenge and seek to reform that social order in which religion is expressed. While cherishing ideals of service, the rural church which will raise the fullest measure of success is that which touches many lives as it can touch, and in no way can the church come in as close contact with its members as through the avenue of social functions. The country town and the rural community need a social center. The church need offer no apology for its ambition to fill this need in the community. If an understanding of its mission brings this purpose into clear consciousness. The structure of a rural community is exceedingly complex; it contains many social groups, each of which has its own center, but there are many localities which have but one church and although such a church cannot command the interest of all the people, it is relieved from the embarrassment of religiously divided communities.

Social Needs Imperative. The average country town and city have very little opportunity for real enjoyment, and have, as a rule, a vague conception of the meaning of pleasure and recreation. It is to fill this void in the lives of country people that the rural church has risen to the necessity of providing entertainment, as well as instruction, to its membership among the young. The young men and women of the rural church should not when religion is not even mentioned. It has been found safest for them to meet frequently under the direction and care of the church. To send them into the world with no social and intellectual contact them to grave perils and to try to keep them out of the world with no social privileges is sheer folly. There is a social future for both old and young, but the social requirements of the young are imperative. The church must provide directly or indirectly some modern equivalent for the bustling city, the sporting box and the singing schools of the old days. In one way or another the social interests of our young people must have opportunity for expression, which may take the form of clubs, parties, picnics or other forms of amusement. One thing is certain, if the rural church cannot take away the dance, the card party and the theatre unless it can offer in its place a satisfying substitute in the form of modern pleasing recreation.

Universal Instinct for Play: In providing for enjoyment the church uses one of the greatest methods by which human society has developed. Association is never secure until it is measurable; in play the instinctive attraction of one person for another in extreme and individual mood is fostered. Play is the chief educational agency in rural communities and in the play-day of human childhood social sympathy and social habits are cultivated. As individuals come together in social gatherings, their viewpoint is broadened, their ideals are lifted and finally they constitute a cultured and refined society. Therefore, the rural church which aims to be a refined and ex-

AMERICA IN PERIL?

Many Ways of Dragging It Into International War.

Carrying-Contraband, Amending Registry Laws, Policing Asia Against Japanese and Maintaining Neutrality of Panama Canal.

By AN INTERNATIONAL LAWYER. Washington—The United States today is the only first class power of the white-race in the world which is not engaged in war.

Naturally this country is congratulating itself on this fact—but this is a deceptive reality, however, that this country is on the precipice and may be dragged into the world-wide conflict at any moment.

There are many possibilities of international friction to which this country is exposed as a result of the European struggle.

Greatest of all is the danger which will be run in the carrying of contraband after a merchant marine is obtained. Danger also lurks in the proposed amendment to the registry laws.

Almost equally great is the danger in the Orient, where the United States naval police Asia against the aggressions of the Japanese.

The Panama canal may force the United States into international disputes if the warships of two or more of the warring nations meet near it.

Possibly the greatest danger will follow after the war closes. If one power emerges triumphant over the others in such a degree that it will be looked upon as the world's foremost fighting nation, undoubtedly it will turn its attention to South America. The Monroe doctrine is facing its severest test.

The United States has the advantage, if war comes, of being able to feed and clothe herself, as well as furnish all of her building material and fuel.

The United States has guaranteed a neutrality of the Panama canal to all nations. This, of course, applies to war as well as peace. The ships of any of the belligerents can use the canal, therefore, as soon as it is proposed that England, if badly defeated on the sea, called on Japan some time next September for a division of two of her battle ships to go to her aid, in accordance with the provisions of the existing neutrality statutes. Would the American people look with favor on this?

Suppose a similar visit to the relations between the United States and Japan, and a war through the Panama canal. It would have to be taken it. Suppose that while en route to attack the forward magazine of the ship exploded, by accident, or carelessness, on tons of explosives and steel being hoisted, blowing out one entire section.

Whether national emergence victory from the present European struggle probably will come out of it as the strongest power ever known on the earth.

South America forms an excellent field for colonization by European powers. All or any of these countries stand against the greatest power of the world, without the help of the United States, if a question arises? Of will the United States abandon the Monroe doctrine and allow itself to be surrounded by powerful neighbors which seek and control it?

The Monroe doctrine has never yet been subjected to the tests that will result from the present disturbance of the balance of power in Europe.

Giving Young Horses a Rest. The three-year-old colts that have been worked during the rush season of the spring and early summer would appreciate being let out in the pasture now, where they can kick up their heels and do some more growing. The colts should not be worked too hard during the hot weather if he is worked too hard he will never make the horse that he otherwise would. Give the three-year-old, or even the four-year-old, if this is his first season of work, a rest during the stressful hot weather and he will put on a big growth before next spring. Johnson and Koebach would now down the legislature, according to House Joint Resolution No. 5, amending the constitution providing, in essence, that it shall read:

The first two sections of article of the constitution, the amendments thereto, shall read as follows:

Section 1. The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a legislature consisting of a senate and house of representatives, each elected for two years, which shall be created by the legislature by the directing authority of the voters at the next general election.

Each member of the legislature shall receive a salary not exceeding $500 per year, and his annual and quarterly traveling expenses over the shortest usually traveled route to and from the legislature from the residence of the legislator.

Other legislative provisions for the new legislative branch of government in the proposed amendment are briefly as follows:

The lieutenant governor, whose salary shall be $1000, shall be president of the legislature and sentenced to five years or less, and placed in a proper and suitable place of correction, either in Idaho or some other state.

Section of House bill No. 5, which will strike wide interest as a child labor law. This measure would forbid the employment of any child less than 12 years in factories, mills, stores, hotels, places of amusement or street occupations. It would require certificates and annual reports for all working children between 12 and 16, under capital, amendment of school trust officers and prohibition of such an provision to be exercised. House bill No. 46, to abolish the public utility commission is introduced. Through its disposal of this measure the legislature will either increase and contain one of the most important bills in the session, and it will be a considerable amendment, a bill for the abolition of the present election laws of the state, and general election law.

House Bill No. 70, by Anderson of Canyon, would abolish the tax commission, a body which is an administrative body, based on the provisions of the constitution of the present constitution, and that body would be abolished and an office created by the legislature.

A bill of Anderson, leader of the senate, which will amend the constitution by providing for the prohibition of the production of state funds. It is considered more stringent than the Hart case, which prohibits the sale of liquor and the sale of all other and other merely its manufacture and the constitutionality of the amendment would be effective directly after its adoption by the people in 1916, 45 months or more earlier than under the present provision.

SWITCHMAN BADLY HURT

While Working in Pontello Yard, Hacked in Front of a Moving Train.

Harold F. Folsom, a well known young man of Pontello, Idaho, and a switchman in the local Short Line yards, was badly injured this morning while working on the tracks. He was struck by a freight car while working at the eastern end of the yards. Folsom was working with yard foreman No. 15, which had held a stop sign on the tracks, and was passing signals to the engineers. While thus engaged he was standing between the tracks, and apparently did not see or hear a train on the other track, there being but a narrow space between the two tracks, and the other engine was showing a couple of cars eastward on the westbound track. Between the engine and the freight car, which was passing over the tracks, was a switchman, who was standing in the middle of the tracks, and was looking at the freight car. The freight car struck the switchman, and he was thrown into the air, and fell on the tracks. He was badly injured, and was taken to the local hospital, where he is now lying. The freight car was stopped by the engineer, and the switchman was taken to the hospital. The freight car was damaged, and the switchman was badly injured. THE NEXT GREAT WAR

Startling Views on Ultimate Peace Offer by American and French Writers.

The concluding thought that the terrible conflict in Europe will at any rate settle old scores and inaugurate a new era of peace is the hope of many. But the writer warns us to be prepared.

Each side has its own writer. One is the editor of The New Washington, who foresees a distant struggle and the other is a militant French peace advocate who looks for a more immediate settlement of the European situation.

The writer warns us to be prepared. He says that the neutralism of the United States is not a permanent state, but a temporary one, and that the United States must be prepared to enter the conflict at any time.

To save Alost, three times its size, from a similar fate the government has taken the momentous step of ordering its complete abandonment to the last man, woman and child.

Sunday morning there were thousands of civilians quietly pursuing their avocations under the shadow of the constant terror in Alost and the surrounding villages. When the place was entered by the German forces Monday afternoon it was as quiet as a repeater.

When the German advance guards came to found and door of all the houses open, food in all the larders ready to be eaten, water to be drunk, and beds to be slept in--all that an army would desire--all but something to kill.

It is not possible yet to obtain fully coherent accounts of what led to the present evacuation, but I will attempt a general outline.

Sunday afternoon the German sent a body of spies, some fifty in number, disguised as refugees from Vingeles farther afield. They came and pulled away, bringing their household goods on little carts drawn by dogs, which are universally employed in Belgium.

Belgian farmers and cyclists were in strong force in the center of the town and the streets were full of people, many of them preparing voluntarily for the trek which afterward became compulsory and universal.

Suddenly the "peasants" swung round their little carts, flung away the coverings from their contents, and poured a hail of lead into soldiers and civilians alike. As war goes on the German side it must be counted a daring and brilliant raid, for the result was carnage with little loss to the invaders.

On the ground round I saw a woman conspicuous by her robe among the tens of thousands in the lamentable procession. She had lost her two children, one shot in the neck, the other in the forehead. Several women also were killed in this brilliant piece of work.

That night imperative orders were given for every person in Alost and the villages round to leave the following morning for Ghent. The pitiable crowd badly escaped the bombardment. At ten o'clock shells began to drop in the town.

A half-sheet typewritten French dictionary of the most necessary words is carried by all soldiers of the British expeditionary force.

When the man for whom you ought to send the money is in the place at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of September 28.

FOUND EMPTY CITY

Germans Took Alost but Every Inhabitant Had Fled.

Feared the Terrible Fate of Termonde, 32,000 Citizens Abandoned Their Homes and Departed.

By HUGH MARTIN, War Correspondent of the London Daily News.

Ghent--What in some of its aspects is the most remarkable incident in the whole course of the Belgian campaign occurred by order of the Belgian military authorities.

Alost has been evacuated by the Belgian civilian population of 32,000. Not a Belgian remained in the place at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of September 28.

This is in answer to the crime of Termonde. That town was wiped out with a completeness never known in history and in the process hundreds of defenseless people perished.

Two Days Sale of HORSES AND CATTLE

At Smith & McMaster Barn
Twin Falls

Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 1 and 2

Sale will commence at 11 o'clock A. M. Space will not permit us to enumerate the large amount of stock listed with us for sale. There is now listed with us from $12,000 to $15,000 worth of stock. Smith & McMaster will open the sale on Monday, with 100 head of their own stock, and continue the sale until all are sold. On Tuesday, February second, the consigned stock will be sold in the order listed.

The Stock of Smith & McMaster Consists of 60 Head of Two and Three Year Old Colts, and 40 Head of Broke Horses

The sixty young horses are native bred and ranch raised, consisting of Percherons, Belgians and Shires, the Big Flat Head kind with excellent quality.

The work horses range in age from three to eight years, weight 1200 to 1600 pounds. A lot of good teams, well matched. Some extra good brood mares. In this sale we have three splendid Percheron stallions.

Mr. Buyer don't let this opportunity go by to purchase what team you need for the spring work, for spring will soon be here. Conditions point to extremely high prices for horses this spring. The rancher who buys the young stock listed at this sale can count on $10 to $20 increase from the feeding on every acre of alfalfa.

Come to this sale and buy young horses. Don't hire a lot of help to put up buy this year and then have to beg some one to buy your hay at $3.00 to $4.00 per ton or what it has cost you to raise the crop.

Tuesday, February second, sale will open promptly at 11:00 o'clock by the offering of a nice lot of cattle, consisting of Durham and Holstein cows and heifers and one registered Durham bull and one registered Hereford bull.

Come early, because of the large amount of stock to be sold.

Remember, Smith and McMaster Sell Their Own Stock on Monday.

START MONDAY

Talks of Testimony Commenced Monday Morning.

Before H. C. Hazel, of Twin Falls, appointed special examiner by Judge Frank D. Critch, of the federal court, witnesses will be examined for the federal court testimony on the duty of water and other important questions, in the matters suit against the water company. Judge H. C. Hazel, of Boise, will represent the company at this proceeding, while the water case will be handled by C. O. Langley, W. E. Golden and Judge E. A. Walker, who has just recently become associated with Attorney Langley.

The taking of testimony will probably occupy several weeks time. After the testimony is taken, the case will again come up before Judge Critch, probably about February tenth. The witnesses will be examined in the court room at the county seat and everyone interested in the proceedings may attend.

The land board has designated January 25th as the date upon which they will listen to the petitioners' views on the Canal company, attending to the Capital News. The article continues: S. H. Hayes appeared on behalf of the Twin Falls Salmon Land Water company with two matters for water for the consideration of the board. "There are sixteen thousand acres in the Salmon River section," Mr. Hayes stated, that are held by persons who have never been inside the state, so far as the company files have been able to learn. Most of these files were made through power of attorney. There are other tracts, which amount to several thousand acres, but the acreage in which the "owners" have moved up but have not been on the land since that time.

In an effort to get rid of these speculators, the company asked the land board to issue notice that such entries should be cancelled. The board cancelled the expiration of the time provided by statute. The statute does not provide this notice but has been the custom of the board to continue to register it in order to protect some who may have filed to good faith but who are ignorant of the law.

Mr. Hayes also asked in the matter of the lots of the Salmon tract, having an opportunity to be heard before the board January 25th, from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening on the application of the existing company, to be released from its contract so far as possible by approval of the work of the company has made application and willing to accept in the settlement any questions on which there may be disagreement. This included the sufficiency of water. It the claim of the company that the work has been completed for four years and has been approved by the state engineer and that it should give the right to turn it over to the operating company, and let that company stand the expense of maintenance.—Hollister Herald.

GODDING COLLEGE TO OPEN

Valuable Holdings are Made Over to the Trustees.

Goddling, Jan. 12.—Great and important events, inclusive, evolve or develop slowly. For just about two years lovers of education have had their ears and eyes glued to the news of the building where the Methodist congregation was assisted by the board of education at New York city in locating the institution. Since their work has progressed steadily with last week, when real estate, notes and other various holdings were made over to the trustees of the new institution.

The deed just filed calls for real estate amounting to almost $150,000. The largest single transaction for benevolent or educational work ever disclosed in the northwest. Ex-Governor Gooding and wife stand prominently behind the stupendous transaction, heart and soul. The citizens committee and others are giving implicit support to every movement of Dr. J. W. Hausher, assistant secretary of the board, was present and acting for the board and gave his sanction to the whole proceeding and made known to the public that at once the board of education will send to Idaho one of its tried and proven men, one of its most efficient in rubber notes, to enter the campaign for the balance of the financial obligation due, on the part of the college, it is believed it will be possible to open the school in September of this year.

In the opinion of those who are nearest to the heart of the movement, that prospects were never so favorable as at the present moment. A strong committee has been selected by the trustees of the college, to take after its interests during the session of the present legislature.—Capital News.

"Sweet Grass." We never know how much sweet grass there is in grass till it is cut from the root. It gives out a perfume which the grasshopper can't make. Mistakenly instead of making us bitter, should bring out the sweetness of the spirit, like the fragrance of the moon grass.

THE RURAL CHURCH

THE FARMERS THE CUSTODIANS OF THE NATION'S MORALITY.

Co-operation of Church, School and Press Essential to Community Building.

By Peter Radford, Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The church, the press and the school form a triple alliance of progress that guide the destiny of every community, state and nation. Without them civilization would sink into chaos and through their life we attain the greatest blessing, power and knowledge. The farmers of this nation are greatly indebted to this social triad for the part they have played in the development of our country. It is the duty of the American citizen to thank those engaged in these high callings for their able and efficient service, and I shall offer to the press a series of articles on co-operation between these important influences and the farmers. In the hope of increasing the efficiency of all by mutual understanding and organized effort. We will take up, first, the rural church.

The American farmer is the greatest church builder the world has ever known. He is the custodian of the nation's morality; upon his shoulders rest the destinies of the nation and he is more responsive to religious influences than any other class of citizenship.

The farmers of this nation have built 120,000 churches at a cost of $750,000,000, and the annual contribution of the nation toward all church institutions approximates $200,000,000 per annum. The farmers of the United States build 22 churches per day. There are 20,000,000 rural churches in the country and the man who would get close to God must first get close to nature.

The farm is the power-house of all progress and the birthplace of all that is noble. The farmer of the world is in the country and the man who would get close to God must first get close to nature.

The church to attain its fullest message must enrich the life of the people in the community it serves. It must build character; develop thought and increase the efficiency of human life. It must serve the social, business and intellectual, as well as the spiritual and moral side of life. If religion does not make a man more capable, more useful and more just, what good is it? We want a practical religion, one we can live by and farm by, as well as die by.

Fewer and better Churches. Hieved by that rural community which has but one place of worship. While competition is the life of the city it is death to the rural church.

While competition is the life of the city it is death to the rural church. The rural church must be a place of worship, a place of prayer, a place of study, a place of fellowship, a place of service, a place of joy, a place of peace, a place of hope, a place of love, a place of life.
