COURT OVER-RULES MOTION

Janks Case Must Come to Trial This Term.

Judge Haddock denies change of venue.

Work of Securing Jury Begin in District Court Tuesday Morning. Will be Hard Fought.

The case of the State vs. W. C. Janks, charged with receiving stolen property which was ordered retried by the supreme court after several local steps on the part of the defendant's attorneys, W. P. Guthrie and J. C. Rogers, came up for trial this morning and the work of securing a jury will be begun as fast as possible. It is expected that a great amount of new evidence will be introduced by the prosecution and it is rumored that some very sensational testimony will be given. The defense, which put up witnesses on the stand at the last trial, will develop its full strength.

MUSICALE

Ladies' Guild Give Excellent Musical Program.

The postponed musical, finally given by the Ladies' Guild of the Ascension Episcopal church on Thursday afternoon last at the residence of Mrs. Horton E. Morse, proved an exceedingly pleasant and enjoyable event. Heretofore, the musicals have been very well attended and with a record attendance of more than fifty ladies. An appetizing luncheon was served. The feature of the afternoon was the choice musical numbers furnished by Madame Lita Leslie and Professor Vera Skowronski, from the faculty of the Twin Falls Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Leslie, a sister of the accomplished violinist, accompanied the latter on the piano, while Professor Skowronski's accompaniments were furnished by Mrs. Gilbert. The program was an unqualified success, better rendered in a charming and delicate manner and receiving hearty applause from the discriminating and delighted audience.

E. A. WILCOX RESIGNS

Publicity Man Goes to California This Month.

E. A. Wilcox, who has been the publicity man for the Great Shoshone and Twin Falls Power company, as publicity manager, will leave March fifteenth for San Francisco. Mr. Wilcox has accepted a position with the Great Western Power company of that city, and will accept his new duties March twentieth. During the four years of residence in Twin Falls, Mr. Wilcox has made many friends through uniform courtesy and his genial personality. It is noted that his departure is noted by the business men of this city.

STATE-WIDE BILL SIGNED

Governor Alexander-Hakes Signs Ditch Monday Afternoon.

On Monday afternoon at three o'clock Governor H. Alexander-Hakes signed a bill providing for the construction of a canal to irrigate the lands of the Snake river valley. The bill is one of the most important measures of the session and will benefit the thousands of farmers who are dependent upon the water of the Snake river for their crops.

Annual Meeting Held and Officers Elected for 1915 Year.

The Twin Falls Tennis association held its annual meeting last Thursday evening and elected officers for the ensuing year. Following are the officers: President, E. L. McVicar; Vice President, John Smith; Secretary and Treasurer, Charles H. Jones.

CHAUTAQUA DATES FIXED

List of Attractions Submitted to Committee.

The Chauntaqua Club met at Jewell hall, Tuesday, February 23, at 2:30 p. m. The president occupying the chair and matters pertaining to business considered. Mr. Hal G. Hite, superintendent of public instruction, sent an invitation to the club members that they meet at the high school Thursday evening, March 4, to discuss and arrange for a parent-teacher's organization or Council of Parents. This occasion will be a social affair and refreshments will be served by the domestic science class. It is hoped all who are interested in the movement will be present. It is a public welfare, and advancement along all lines will make it a point to be present at this time. Everyone who is interested, whether a parent or not, is urged to be present at this meeting.

BURL FARMERS PROFIT

American Falls Farmers are Hiders for Horses.

Buhl was full of farmers with horses for sale Saturday and Monday on account of the presence of horse buyers, who came looking for stock for the war or for the ordinary market. H. H. Hanna, representing the British government, was on the market Monday. He said that he wanted horses between the ages of five and seven years and that they should be between the weights of 1200 and 1500 pounds. He was very particular and bought only seven at prices ranging from

$125 up. He said that he wanted the animals for the artillery. Monday, B. T. Peppard, claiming to represent one of the oldest horse concerns in the East, was on hand. He had the highest price for horses of the same description wanted by Hanna, but would also take older horses at reduced prices. He refused to purchase any grey horses of the first class, which indicates that these were intended for the army of some nation, presumably Great Britain. Grey horses show too readily and make a shining mark for the artillery of the foe. Peppard also wanted snaffles, he bought about thirty head of horses which were shipped out Tuesday morning. Many horses were rejected by both buyers for various reasons, while the owners of others would not part with them on account of the price, which they considered too low. He paid as high as $175 for choice horses. Hanna was also credited a tremendous amount for horses in the United States and has been one of the champions through which money has been put into the pockets of the people during past few months. Both sales were held at the Idaho Live-Stock Yards, and Byrne's Yivery. The best prices, however, were paid by a delegation of farmers from American Falls who came in Sunday and bought 150 dozen head of work horses for dry farming, through Wire Brothers. They paid prices ranging from $250 to $425 a team. They shipped the horses today. All told about $10,000 has been paid for horses here during the week.—Buhl Pioneer.

DEMONSTRATES MAIL ORDER PRICES

Kansas Merchant Puts on Display Showing Both Prices and Qualities in Comparison.

H. Sanders, groceryman of Courtland, Kansas, is not content to sit still and let the mail order houses gobble up the business of his town and section, but is a believer in fighting fire with fire. Not long ago being convinced that he could sell cash cheaper than the mail order house, he tried out a plan which worked to perfection and opened the eyes of the mail order buyers in his neighborhood who, by increasing the business of the store appreciably, says the Interstate Grocer.

He bought a bill of staple groceries from Montgomery Ward & Co., and displayed the goods in his show window with a comparison of his prices and the prices of the mail order house. The difference was in his favor to the amount of nearly $1. He also made a point of opening up some of the goods bought from the mail order house and comparing them in quality with the articles he was selling. "For after all," says Mr. Sanders, "quality is the best argument against the catalogue house."

Mr. Sanders did not stop with the window display and demonstrations of the goods, but used advertising space freely in the local paper to tell about what he had discovered in connection with the price and qualities of the mail order goods. The advertisements were well written and to the point, giving comparative prices and guaranteeing quality on a "money-back" basis if not satisfactory. Here is a list of the merchandise in which Mr. Sanders talks straight from the shoulder.

"Since we are getting the money for what we sell, we can sell much cheaper than the mail order houses. It makes us smile when we look at some of the prices which Montgomery Ward are making in their October catalogue. Just to be sure we are right, we ordered a bill of groceries from the book, which has just been received, and lay it out on display in our show window, where he also has a display of our own goods at their regular price, as follows:

Mail Order Goods.

6 cans Wholesome peas.....	$ 22
3 cans standard corn.....	21
1 can food pineapples.....	27
1 can apricots "10 deg. pack".....	18

2 ozs. vanilla extract.....	23
1 bag Sunset flour.....	1.25
	$3.58
You pay the freight.....	.16
Total.....	$3.74

Home Goods.

	$3.30

"Sanders says the freight he paid was one cent cheaper than the Montgomery Ward goods and even for the freight he still had a profit of a few special prices. These mail order advertisements, because they employ expert advertising men and that adds to their cost of doing business. Remember, we guarantee our goods to be as good or better than any mail order goods. We will fill any order you bring us and guarantee to save you the freight and a little money by doing as to quality, well, come in and compare these goods and you be the judge. We are not ashamed of our price and want to quote a few more. Remember, these are our regular, not special, prices.

This kind of advertising, backed up by actual proof that he could under sell the mail order house on a cash basis, giving better quality, item for item, had the effect of installing confidence in the customer as well as a new business. Sanders estimates that in some selling blows in favor of trading at home. Mr. Sanders reports that the company was a steady success in every way, bringing new customers into the store and also convincing his own satisfaction that he could successfully compete with the mail order houses when he goes about it in the right way.—Exchange.

Regarding Valve Locations

There does not seem to be any appreciable change in the relative popularity of different types of cylinders as regards Valve construction. The L-head type of cylinder being found on substantially two-thirds of all motor cars. The T-head on a little more than one fourth, and the valve-in-head type on a relatively small number. The actual percentages being as follows: L-head, 64.7 per cent; T-head, 27.35 per cent; Valve-in-head, 8.15 per cent. In this compilation Valve-in-head valves and two-cycle motors are disregarded, and the percentage figures are based on the total number of popular valve motors.

"IDAHOME"

The Flour of Quality

It has long been a well established fact that Idahome leads, especially among the best bakers and in homes where quality is desired.

Idahome is made from the choicest wheat grown in Idaho and the result is the best flour on the market today.

Just try a sack and note the difference in your bread, cakes, rolls or anything you care to bake—it will be a delight to you.

Idahome is put up in twenty-four, fifty and one-hundred pound sacks and is very moderately priced when quality is considered—in fact it costs you no more than inferior grades.

When ordering your groceries tomorrow be sure that you include a sack of Idahome flour—try it along with the brand that you have been using, we're sure you'll be pleased—if not, return it to your grocer—Idahome is guaranteed.

GERMAN-AMERICANS IN POLITICS
With the entry of the German-American Centrality League into the arena of politics, it is being asked how important and how successful a political factor it will be. German-American voters, according to the New York papers, led by large groups handed together to vote against Wilson in 1916, and a coming political union of the millions of Americans of Irish descent and Americans of Irish descent against the "British influence" in this country, the writer even goes as far as to say that "if the polls do not bring the desired result, still war is not to come." There seems to be some on a more or less systematic organization of German in various places throughout the country. One organization in Passaic, N. J., has issued a call to campaign action in the interests of "the election" and to an "effective participation" in the city campaign this coming spring. The inclusion of the large number of newspaper criticism this suggestion has evoked, it is not fair to say that one of its promoters explains that the suggestion is quite innocent and patriotic, there being no desire to influence government policies at Washington or to change national, political affiliations, but only to secure the nomination of "candidates" of the highest caliber. German names in the established state somewhat excellent expression to their belief that the new league will exert a real political influence on the power in American politics. In London, we find a writer to The Daily Chronicle admitting that "the war has limited the German race in America and should produce a serious reaction for American politics." Also The Times, in London, that "Americans whose loyalty is only to America, will have to be the cause of difficulty for our own states." It should be noted that while many are indifferent to the "fraternity" hardly any find it a serious "menace."

The formation of the German-American National League was held at our in London and the columns spread at other cities. The Transcript and New York Times, Sun, World, and Globe and of well-known like the New York, Times, Tribune and Internationalist and St. Louis Evening Post and Mississippi Banner. But the political will in the organization's position is still calling their conduct. There are two view points as to the origin and meaning of this new development. It is one thing to be responsible to the Springfield Republican, which thinks it very likely that "that part of the press in the United States which has sympathized with the Allies has been guilty of frequent happens from the correct position, and much of the hysterical passion shown by the German-Americans in a natural feeling against a point of view more British than American in its character and effect." So The Republican considers it only fair to say that the German alienation it so deprecates is not national life today than it would have been if the pro-British sentiment had been more moderate and reasonable, and less alien in its manifestation."

But other editors do not pause at this point. They see a deep-laid scheme "made in Germany" and conjure up the formidable, if low familiar, names of Trotsky and Bernhard, Professor von Trebitschke, and Prince Henry of Prussia. The Brooklyn Eagle, New York Tribune, and New York Herald also all mindful of the Prussian cavalry general in commenting on the formation of the Centrality League in Washington. Says The Herald "That gathering of GERMAN-American leaders could not more clearly have followed Von Bernhard's dictation if it had been presided over by the General himself in aid of Mr. Richard Bartholdt. And turning to a translation of "Germany and the Next War," we find this paragraph:

"The further duty of supporting the Germans in foreign countries by their struggle for existence and of thus binding them loyal to their nationality is one from which, in our direct interests, we cannot withdraw. The isolated groups of Germans abroad should benefit our trade, since by presence they obtain their goods from Germany but they may also be useful to us politically, as we discover in America. The German-American have formed a political alliance with the Irish and, thus, united, constitute a power in the State with which the Government must reckon." Literary Digest.

Section 2. Said district is to include all of the lots and lands fronting on said streets and avenues and parts of streets and avenues to be sprinkled, as hereinafter named, and extending to the distance back from the said street or avenue, if plotted in blocks, to the center of the block, or, if not plotted in lots, only to the center of lot; and, if not plotted to the distance of one hundred and twenty-five feet.

Section 3. The general character of the said improvement shall be the sprinkling with water of the roadway of the streets and avenues and parts of streets and avenues as hereinafter named, during the fiscal year of 1915, when and in such manner as shall be required to lay and keep down the dust on such streets and avenues and parts of streets and avenues.

Section 4. The cost and expense of the said improvement is to be assessed upon all the lots and lands in the said district, each lot and parcel of land therein being severally assessed for the full expense of said improvement in proportion to the number of feet of such respective lots and parcels of land fronting on said streets and avenues and parts of streets and avenues and in proportion to the length of the lot to the said property by reason of the said improvement. Provided, that the cost of such improvement in the space fronted by the

Big Business

Biz Business does not always hold a menace.

Sometimes it is a necessity and works for the welfare of the public it serves.

Handling a million telephone messages every day is the biggest kind of Big Business.

Our task would be easy if this million messages were evenly distributed during each twenty-four hours.

But the telephone business doesn't work that way; people use the telephone when they want to and we must be ready to serve them when they want to be served.

In one single hour every morning, "the busy hour," over one hundred and twelve thousand telephone messages pass over our wires.

It is our task to provide switchboards, equipment, apparatus and operators to meet the needs of this "busy hour" and to handle each call as soon as it is received.

A good part of this expensive equipment is not in use during the rest of the day, but it must be ready for use when needed.

All these things cost money—big money—and a portion of this big investment brings no return during many hours of the day.

Combinations of capital and combinations of brains, industry and labor make Big Business.

It is only because of this kind of Big Business that such investments and such service is possible.
