DAIRY

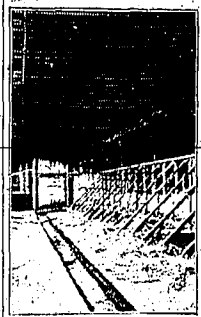

UNPROFITABLE DAIRY FACTS

Any Farmer Can Insure Failure of His Business by Following Rules of Arizona Experts.

By following these rules any dairy farmer can insure the failure of his business, says Professor G. W. Barnes, farm advisor on live stock of the University of Arizona agricultural extension service:

1. Use scrub bulls. This will run down any herd in quick time.
2. Let the bull run with the cows. This will make their milk yield fall off and their calves come when least desired.
3. Do not test the cows for milk production or butterfat. In this way the poor cows will give enough money in a year to buy several good ones.
4. Keep only the heavy cattie cows which produce little milk.
5. Raise only the "helpers" from non-producing cows.
6. Feed corn and rotten feed.
7. Do not supply pure water, but make the cows drink out of mud holes.
8. Furnish no shade during the summer months.
9. Have no shelter for the cows in cold and inclement weather. This

Well Arranged Dairy Barn.

10. Milk at irregular intervals.
11. Hire rough milkers who do not milk thoroughly.
12. Get in the cows with the assistance of dogs.
13. Feed only enough to keep the cows alive. This will surely stop the milk flow.
14. Never pay any attention to udder troubles. Beautiful cases of garget may thus be developed.
15. Buy cheap dairy cows anywhere. In this way one may succeed in introducing contagious abortion to the herd and community.
16. Keep the dairy buildings and utensils as dirty as possible. A very inferior quality of milk may thus be produced.

USING THE BALANCED RATION

Tests Conducted at Illinois Experiment Station Show Increased Production of Butterfat.

A balanced ration is "one in which each of the different food materials or nutrients is present in just the right proportion and amount to meet the needs of the animal," says bulletin 159 of the Illinois agricultural experiment station. Tests indicated that "one feed balanced ration yielded a pound of butterfat for each 17 pounds of total nutrients consumed, while 21 pounds were consumed to a pound of butterfat when an unbalanced ration was fed. The use of the balanced ration thus save four pounds of digestible nutrients for each pound of butterfat produced, or a pound and a quarter of butterfat was produced by the same number of pounds of digestible nutrients in balanced ration as was required for a pound of butterfat when the unbalanced ration was fed. Not only was the butterfat more economically produced, but the cows given a balanced ration finished the test with better appetites and in much better flesh and general physical condition than the others.

INDIGESTION IN DAIRY COWS

Possibly Tuberculosis Is Present, and When Suspected, Animal Should Be Removed and Examined.

There are several things to look for in a case of chronic indigestion in a cow. Possibly tuberculosis is present, and if it is suspected the cow should be removed from among the other animals and be closely examined by an expert veterinarian. There may be some organic disease of the stomach of these may be some foreign substance in the second stomach. When a cow suffers from chronic indigestion it is wise to call a veterinarian in order to ascertain how serious the trouble

WHY A DOG WAGS ITS TAIL

Italian Scientist Declares Animal Performs Action for Conversational Purpose.

Why does a dog wag its tail? No, this isn't foolish question at all. Far from it. It is a sober, solemn problem which has been given long, careful, scientific investigation, and which is now submitted to us with neither attached to that we needn't worry ourselves into the slightest degree of thoughtfulness over it. Prof. Giuseppe Renato of Rome, Italy, has devoted a lot of attention to this question. So you see there must be something somewhere about it. Professor Renato very kindly and solemnly tells us that the dog wags its tail for conversational purposes—and if this is true, we all know things that are great conversationalists, don't we? Professor Renato says great injustice has been done in the past by scientists in not giving animals tails a profound study sooner. But one has solemnly pointed out, from the standpoint of antiquity, is much older than other organs of the various animals, and therefore entitled to be investigated first. Biology demonstrates, he says, that in the gradual development of animal life the tail was performing various important functions and working like a Trojan possibly began before the animal ever became biped. It is said also by some to have eyes or jaws or legs. He hopes his present exhaustive and profound treatment of the subject will sort of square matters with the animals, or rather with their tails, on behalf of that neglected scientific generally. And yet, in spite of the arguments of Professor Renato, some of us will continue to exhibit far more interest in the dental development and proficiencies of the dog than in the conversational ability shown in tail-wagging, won't we?—Detroit Free Press.

HONESTY ITS OWN REWARD

Act of Street Car Conductor Made Whole Class Popular With Pittsburgh Business Men.

"They were talking of the work of street car conductors and of their chances for graft in comparison with politicians.

"I suppose that all have used the public trolley in response to the noble mind at times, but one felt for a bit of experience which may not be at all exceptional," said a contractor of the Oakland district. "Last summer one day I put $200 in $20 bills in one of those long folding books and slipped it into the inside pocket of my coat, as I thought. It was a hot day and I wore no vest. I boarded a car and I got down town. Another car followed closely. Before I could leave the platform of my car I saw the conductor of the other car waving his hand, holding a book that looked like mine. I clapped my hand to my pocket and no purse was there. I spring from the steps, ran back, the other car stopped, the conductor gave me my money and I felt for something to reward him. All the paper money was in $20 bills and I had only half a dollar in change." I offered him that and asked for his address, telling him I would send more. He replied pleasantly that he would not accept a reward for being honest, but that if he were in politics he might accept any old thing for being dishonest." After that I would trust a street car conductor as I would the cashier of my bank."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Skipper of Six-Master at 21.
The E. R. Sterling, the only six-mastered barkentine in the world, arrived from Philadelphia from Nantucket, B. C. Miden with coal.

Shortly after the vessel dropped anchor she was boarded by federal operatives who made a thorough search of the hold for a high-power wireless apparatus which officials have been informed is destined to be transferred at sea to a foreign warship from some American vessel in the near future. No apparatus was found.

Carl Edward Sterling, Jr., son of the owner of the E. R. Sterling, is only twenty-one years old and is said to be the youngest skipper of a deep-water ship to possess a master's license. The vessel carries a crew of only 12 men, as her sails are raised by donkey engines.—San Francisco Chronicle.

He Swallows Toothbrush.

James Skelton of the Providence school committee has a fine set of teeth of which he is very proud. The other morning he was polishing his ivory, and in the course of his rubbing, his grip on the handle of the brush slipped and the brush went down Jim's throat, too far for him to recover it. Realizing the gravity of the situation, Skelton had a hurry call sent to the Rhode Island hospital, and there the doctors lost no time in operating upon him. The brush was removed from his stomach and in the afternoon the patient was reported as doing well.—Providence Dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

The Whispers of Paris.

True, every day is like Sunday now in Paris—the church bells of France Day and night calling across the muted city from Montmartre to Montparnasse! No more Dreyfus! No more and whispering about the byzantine and Gothic sides-in the stillness of those fine, verdant boulevards, for the whisperers now are the women of Paris, kneeling before the Virgin praying each for a loved one out at the front in the trenches—Eveline Loupatis in the Century Magazine.

BARNES CIRCUS PLEASES MANY

Work of Trained Jungle Animals Feature of Big Show.

Al. G. Barnes Big Animal Circus proves a pleasant surprise to several thousand spectators who packed the tent Wednesday afternoon. Most people were expecting the usual circus acts with a touch of novelty. However, in a good measure, but from the start to the finish, the entire show was the product of Mr. Barnes' own training on wild lions, tigers, kangaroos and other more costly domesticated beasts. Every act was good, some excellent, not only exciting the wild animals, but making their brains show almost human intelligence. The performing acts went through such a series of tests that denote not only intelligence, but an eagerness to perform almost human. The show was a real eye opener through their pages with an almost majestic expression on their big faces. Some of the animals like children had their heads held up to be inspected into obedience to the trainers.

The parade in the morning was one long pageant of great color and gave through such a series of tests that denote not only intelligence, but an eagerness to perform almost human. BALL TEAM IN AUTO WRECK

Two Cars Smashed and Repeat Passengers Badly Cut.

Jerome—The members of the Rupert baseball team were slightly injured and several others badly shaken up when two of the automobiles in which the members of the team were coming to the city Sunday for a game met with an accident, two miles east of Jerome at 10:30 Sunday morning. The first machine ran into a ditch and turned over twice. The six passengers were thrown out. The second car, which was following too close behind to avoid the wreck, crashed into the first car and the force of the shock threw the passengers through the windshield and top of the car. The first car was demolished, the second escaped with a bent axle and two broken wheels.

Halp Pringle was cut about the face so badly as to necessitate seven or eight stitches and Howard Sheffield was badly cut, and his leg broken and wrenched. The Twin Falls staff, which came along a few minutes later, brought in those needing medical attention and made another trip for the others.

Notwithstanding the accident, the team took the field against the Jerome aggregation and though they were beaten 7-0, put up a good game.

The batteries were Swain and Davis for Rupert and Adesholter and Pretzle for Jerome.—Following.

Jenkins "Forced" Sale We Must Raise That $20,000

There is but little more to be said. Your distress has been advertised by word of mouth and then the paper during the first ten days of our twenty day limit.

Our troubles or joys are nothing to you, we full well know. What vitally concerns you is—THE GOODS AND THE PRICES. And again it is quite natural that you should want to know WHY such sacrifices at this time of year.

There is much grief amongst other merchants because of this sale and some even show a meanness of which we did not think them capable—but their unwise actions strike home to THEMSELVES.

We are offering our entire stock of dry goods, clothing, hats, and shoes, etc., at reduced prices. Everything has been marked down. It would be foolish to tell you this if it were otherwise.

Your attention in particular is called to the fact that this store has without any doubt whatever, the largest and best assortment of men's and boys' clothing hereabouts. Another fact to bear in mind is that we have the exclusive agency for "Society" and "Kuppenheimer" men's clothes and the "Best Ever" clothes for boys.

We appeal to your common sense and invite you to visit our store and look through our stock. Compare all things. For comparison alone can convince. Not mere wordiness.

MOTOR TOPICS

The increased familiarity with automobiles has come with the "flurry" service in every part of the country will result in increased automobile sales, according to Stewart McDonald, vice-president of the Moon Motor Car company. "The number of people that are being carried in flitters every day in the city is a small fraction of the total population of the country which probably runs into the hundreds of thousands," McDonald declared. "Many of these people had ridden in automobiles a little until they got the jitters habit. Some of them never rode in an automobile before the war."

Reports of Blithen

During the long session of the cabinet there were reports that members were divided in opinion as to what should be the character of the representation to Germany. Soon after the German official statement had been read and considered. It is said that a few of the cabinet members favor a more strenuous demand, not understanding Germany's weakening, but that the president took up the matter of the fortification reply from the new lights before him.
