Salmon River Company
Mixes With State Land Board

Brings Suit to Compel State to Accept Irrigation System as Complete. Seeks to Prevent Governor and New Attorney General From "Harrasing" Corporation With Law Suits.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS
IN THE SALMON
TRACT TROUBLES.

FRIDAY—Company renews request that state accept system as complete. Governor requests that land board lay out irrigation system for the tract.
Attorney General declines to carry out new policies effecting Carey and difficulties and that the new attorney general will bring suit to nullify contract for management of contract with the state. After heated discussion matters are left over.

SATURDAY—Suit is filed by company to force land board to accept system and to restrain governor and attorney general from commencing contempt action.

Action filed in federal court.
Hearing before Judge Dietrich.

(From the Statesman)

BOISE—In an action filed Saturday in the federal district court against Governor Alexander and other members of the land board, Twin Falls-Salmon River Land & Water company sought to compel the state to accept its works on irrigation tract in Twin Falls county.

The action is an outgrowth of the land board meeting of Friday, when the company requested that the state accept the system as complete.

The law firm of Richards & Hag-gan represented the water company.

On former occasions when Attorney Hagan had come before the board the governor and he have had high words over irrigation project.

In its petition to the court, the water company seeks to have the land board restrained from "harrasing"
the company and to prevent the governor from bringing proceedings that would tend to confiscate its property or impair its right to lands it irrigates.

The Salmon river project has been idle for years. In August, 1915, the land board passed a resolution authorizing the company to bring suit against the water company to annul and cancel its contract because of alleged failure to furnish a sufficient supply of water to settlers on the tract.

The action has not been started yet, but it is expected that it will be filed today that it would be instituted by the attorney general-elect at an early date.

At the board meeting Friday Governor Alexander and Attorney Hag-gan quarreled because the chief executive refused to act favorably upon the request of the company.

Says Lusk Expects—Declares Financier
Offered to End War Against Allies
For Consideration.

BOSTON—An offer to convince President Wilson of the wisdom of suggesting an immediate investigation of stock market manipulations of the last two years is contained in a letter from Thomas W. Lawson of this city to Congressman Robert T. Henry, the chairman of the house committee on investigation of public Sunday trading.

The result, according to the letter, might be a sudden drop in the cost of living, and the complete extirpation of the man who has done this.

"Give me fifty millions of dollars and I'll end the war by making a specu-of the man who has done this."

JENKINS AND COMPANY

"If It's From Jenkins It's Good"

CAPTAIN C. V. BIGGS SCORES STATESMAN

Charges That Reprimand Matter Was Misrepresented For Political Effect By Party Organ.

HOUSE.—In a statement given to the Capital News, Captain Claude V. Biggs of Company "K" declared that the Statesman had misrepresented the matter of the reprimand given to himself and Lieutenant Colonel W. J. Crow and that this was done deliberately and for political effect.

In an interview in the same paper Colonel Edulohute made light of the reprimand. The following is taken from the story in question:

"The matter of reprimand in a military camp is not at all an unusual occurrence and happens frequently," said Colonel Edulohute, speaking of the incident. "We do not think the reprimand of an officer or enlisted man requires any publicity at all, and I am surprised that it has been given so much. There is no matter among the officers of the regiment. All of them are working in the best interests of the regiment, and in harmony. The officers do not mind the reprimand, but the prominent publicity given to it does no harm to the fair of the regiment."

statement to make, but at the present time, considering the attitude the morning paper had taken towards him, he had no doubt that he was quite capable of drawing to own conclusions.

In a statement given out for publication, Captain Biggs said:

"I went to the office of Pythias hall with Colonel Crow. A sergeant was in the door in a crowd, but did not see us when we entered. The room was full of soldiers and civilians, but no children.

"The statement appearing in the morning papers to the effect that I had conferred with the present guard and had been reprimanded for doing so, is absolutely false. The present guard under me, also, is wrong. It would seem that it has been decided to limit the task of my appointment making false statements about my son, since disclosed in the regiment. We were free of all of this machine on the border where we worked in harmony for the best interests of the regiment as a whole, and the record was made was an enviable one. It was a general position to officially designate as the best military instruction in the regiment."

SUGAR TRUST HAS SWEET TAKEOFF

Charge Made That Tremendous Profit Has Been Secured—Sugar Men Say Shortage Caused Rise.

NEW YORK.—The people of the United States have paid in the last two years approximately twice as much for sugar consumed at home and used for the benefit of other necessities as they have at any time since the Civil war.

Thirty million dollars in profits in excess of the profits of former years in the huge sum that has been divided in the last two years among the big interests here and in Cuba in control of the production, refining and distribution of sugar.

This is the story revealed by a partial inquiry into the high cost of sugar made by the World. The highest bulk of this huge profit went to the Cuban-American Sugar company, the American Sugar Refining company, the National Sugar Refining company, the Hercules and the Federal company. An official of one of these companies frankly admitted that the profits were large, but claimed that, in some cases, the money was made by investments as well as from the increased cost of the product.

PERSHING MAY BE WITHDRAWN SOON

Report That South American Nations Request Such Action and Strategists Favor It.

WASHINGTON.—A switch in the policy toward Mexico, including withdrawal of General Pershing's forces from that country, may now, despite the fact that talk of a firmer policy has been prevalent since the American peace commissioners demanded that Carranza sign the troop withdrawal protocol.

Withdrawal voluntarily at Carranza's request was urged upon Counselor J. Holt of the state department by Attorney Douglas. Carranza's legal adviser, Secretary of War Baker consulted Carranza and the representatives of the peace commissioners on the military situation.

Subsequently, it was said there is no need military reason for keeping troops in Mexico, though a war department official said that the withdrawal would not be "immediate."

HOUSTON.—According to statements of officers and men of the Second Cavalry, there was no cordiality attended the procedure on the border by the general public at Nogales. On the contrary, they assumed to be a deliberate purpose to fleece the boys in all business transactions and to make it uncomfortable for them in other directions says the Capital News.

"When we went down there," said an officer of the regiment, "the price of soda-pop was 10 cents a bottle. It was raised to 25 cents. A boy's rifle usually resulted in a reduction of 50 per cent. A number of the boys wanted to take home extra pairs. Shoes had been selling at $4 and $4.50 a pair, but when soldiers entered the store to uniform the price was $6.

THE COMING YEAR.
That the year just closed has been one of unexampled prosperity for the people in all these industries is admitted. There is a disposition among some people to question whether this salutary condition should continue to prevail throughout the twelve month period that opened yesterday, especially in view of the fact that there is a possibility of the close of the war within that time. Peace will bring uncertainty, beyond a doubt, but the opinions of those who are least in a position to know; that is, the men who are managing the great industrial institutions of the country, shown by their acts that they look with confident anticipation on the new year.

It is safe to say that whenever peace is proclaimed there will be a fall in the unexampled high prices prevailing in many commodities, but since these high prices are largely speculative, there is no reason why industrial production should not go ahead with normal profits to the capitalists and without any diminution to wages. In some lines orders are in a year ahead so that industry will go on producing what is actually ordered, and not waiting for the normal demand that goes on continually. It is also evident that it will take a long time to catch up. Hence, the optimism evident in business is amply justified by immediate conditions. Moreover, there appears to be a disposition on the part of those interested in construction to put in orders far ahead, and this tendency on their part, it is evident from market reports, has been so manifest that there is a disposition on the part of producers to check it.

The following excerpts from Dinn's report of last week constitute an authoritative sizing up of the situation:

"Coming at a period when a slowing down process is customary in most branches of business, the effect of the new international uncertainties have been appreciably lessened, though the full impact of this season in many lines of trade and industry is somewhat accentuated. Readjustments in speculative channels have continued and certain commodities other than farm staples display signs of bidding, while increased production also is shown by buyers entering upon commitments for the far future. Yet this is a wholesome tendency and is welcomed by producers, with the works nearly everywhere covered by contracts for months ahead and pushed to their utmost capacity to meet requirements. Transportation difficulties still cause much delay in the movement of raw materials and of products and more blight finances have hindered because of inability to obtain sufficient supplies of fuel, while repairs are necessitated at some plants where the pressure has been greatest.

"Outputs, consequently, show recession at a time when requests for prompt deliveries are urgent, and premiums, consequently, effective where special advantages on shipments are possible. With few exceptions, manufacturers maintain quotations at previous high levels and in some cases further advances have been witnessed, though in all quarters the prospect of later readjustments enters into calculations. Reports from all sections testify to remarkable activity in the shopping districts and, in the aggregate, Christmas business is not only of record volume, but the preference for the more costly grades of merchandise is a pronounced feature. This illustrates alike the ability and disposition of the people to purchase notwithstanding the extensive rise of prices. The year draws to a close with all the statistical barometers reflecting the prosperity of the country bank clearings at centers outside New York being 81 per cent. larger this week than last year, when the exchanges were unprecedented for the period.

"Recent monetary anxieties have been dispelled by the notable rehabilitation of the local banking position, with the surplus in a fortnight from a low point of $41,000,000 to $84,000,000. The receipt of many additional millions of gold has aided greatly in the strengthening of reserves, which has come at a most opportune period as unprecedented suits will be involved by the approaching annual settlements. In anticipation of these developments, interest rates are maintained on a comparatively low basis, though further relaxation is expected in January.

"Yet financial caution is spreading and is manifested in the attitude of lending institutions toward certain industrial collateral, while brokerage houses show increased prudence in accepting commitments on margin. The year draws to a close with prices of stocks and of farm staples materially under their best levels, but with the general situation improved by the speculative readjustments. In this respect, international developments have been productive of good.

"Following a temporary lull in new buying, the steel industry is again under pressure of demands from both domestic and foreign sources. Buyers seem as eager to cover their commitments as they are to place orders, and the situation in the building contracts far ahead as the shortages of steel readjustments are generally recognized. Some reversion already appear in old material, but in several other directions further advances are noted, with more expected and are markets, apparently have not yet reached the top.

"Producers of iron are facing rising costs of coke, and delayed deliveries of the latter explain the banking of additional blast furnaces. While statistics of iron shortages disclose some improvements, reports indicate that the transportation tie-up has grown worse, instead of better, in Pittsburgh and Valley districts, and the difficulties of maintaining outputs become greater. Yet the proposed mill shutdowns are not taken seriously, with the demand for steel continuing urgent."

THE SOCIALIST STUMP.
The large plurality given Woodrow Wilson over Charles E. Hughes, reaching more than 508,000, is surprising to many who expected the reelection of the president, and is only equaled by the establishment in many quarters over the slump in the Socialist vote, which appears to be about 150,000 less than four years ago. Both the Socialist and those journals which specially opposed them, anticipated that the vote last by the party would be in the neighborhood of 2,000,000. To all the falling off of nearly twenty per cent, reducing the total vote to 750,000, must come as a surprise.

The fact is, however, that the Socialist party is at once a party of definite principles and a party of protest. Those who believe in the principles are mostly members of Socialist locals and are among those who alone can nominate the party candidates, for the Socialist party is likewise a society and the members of the society control the organization.

Outside this society, believing more or less in the principles, which it professes, or in one or more of the incidental demands written into its platform, are the majority of those who vote the Socialist ticket. Whenever conditions are peculiarly unsatisfactory to a large number of those who ordinarily vote an old party ticket the Socialist party vote is greatly increased, while if one or both of the old parties have fairly satisfactory candidates and platforms, the Socialist vote is

...pected to vote for him largely turning to Roosevelt.
This year the peace with honor policy of President Wilson, as well as the progressive legislation enacted by the party in power kept hundreds of thousands of voters from supporting Benson, who might otherwise have done so.
The Socialist party has two dangers confronting it. Should the Democratic legislation that has been enacted be supplemented from time to time by other wholesome laws, and should crop conditions and business conditions be such as to tend to abolish the submerged element among those who are able and willing to work, so that in a relatively short time all men and women who are capable shall be receiving a living wage, the Socialist party will occupy a place of relative insignificance. The term "living wage" is used in its ordinary sense of "the amount of compensation for services that will enable the laborer to meet fairly and fully the physical, mental and moral requirements and conditions of his life, individual and social."
On the other hand extreme danger lies in the Socialist labor party which still maintains an organization in thirty states and regularly nominates a president who polls from 25,000 to 30,000 votes. This party represents the radicals who oppose all ameliorative legislation as liable to defer a cataclysm which they hold will be necessary to overthrow present social system and usher in the co-operative commonwealth. Should a period of unexampled financial disaster, from any cause, overtake this country, within the next ten years the party would gain many recruits from the Socialist party, particularly from the most radical element. The Socialist labor party, by the way, is the older of the two.

Should conditions fail to continue to improve, and should periods of moderate depression overtake the country, without unusual financial disaster the Socialist party will soon regain the votes of the dissatisfied, and many more with them, without losing any appreciable number to the older, and at present relatively insignificant organization, which professes the same fundamental principle.

ARREDONDO TO BE RECALLED LATER

Fear That His Dismissal Would Be Thought Afloat to America Saved Him For Present.

WASHINGTON.—Elizoo Arredondo, ambassador designate of the Mexican de facto government, will remain at his post here until the question of ending the activities of the Mexican government is ended.
This was decided in a conference between Arredondo and Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican de facto commission. And, because of the fact that he had been recalled by General Carranza had been construed as an insult to the United States, de facto was made by the embassy that the (Arredondo) had been ordered home.
It definitely is known, however, that Arredondo will not be recalled, but has been wholly acceptable to the United States. If an agreement can be reached whereby the joint commission can continue, he will go back to Mexico City shortly.

Then, if this government sends Ambassador Fletcher to his post at Mexico City, another ambassador designate who will have the confidence of the de facto department will be named.
If not, then Arredondo will go home and the United States will send a de facto ambassador to be looked after by Ranan P. De Noer, now consul general at San Francisco for Mexico, who is already in charge of the embassy temporarily.
Carranza's reply to the demand of the United States that he sign the joint protocol providing for border protection was handed to Secretary of the Interior Lane, chairman of the American board of the United States mission, by Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican section.

It was learned from official sources that the United States officials insist that the original Atlantic City protocol stand. General Carranza raises these objections:
First.—The right of American troops to cross the international boundary at any time in pursuit of bandits, while denying this right to the de facto authorities.
Second.—The alleged failure in drawing up the protocol, to adhere to the original plan, under which the differences between the United States and Mexico were to be adjusted.
The Carranza reply points out that the American representatives of the joint section of the commission that the question of the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico soil have been under consideration for the next question was taken up.

GREAT COAL FIELD FOUND IN UTAH

Kane, Garfield and San Juan Counties Contain Vast Deposits of the Black Diamond Lark Railroads.

SALT LAKE, Utah, county will have to look to its honors. There is an area of half a billion acres in the southern part of the state that is one vast coal bed, according to the report of government surveyors who have been driven into Salt Lake by the inclement weather.

Nine of these men and their crews have been worked in Kane, Garfield and San Juan counties since summer and cleaning up a few odd jobs in other counties, and will write up their notes here.

In the central portion of Kane county and running north into Garfield county, the largest crop of the finest quality of coal, some of which were over fifty feet in width and which could be traced for miles. The coal operators will add the $100,000,000 to the coal wealth of the state, which already has, in Carbon county deposits, enough coal, it is estimated, to last the United States a hundred years.
At the present there is no railroad into this section of the state and the product in its present state has little commercial value.
Coal operators, however, assert that with the uncovering of new beds of coal the southern counties have another wedge for the building of a railroad to tap the rich resources of the southern part of the state.
The proper railroad facilities, the few that exist, need a ready market at the Pacific coast.

FIVE SHIPS THOUGHT SUNK BY SUBMARINES

All Left Ports With Wireless Equipments and Are Long Overdue At Point of Destination.

NEW YORK.—Five British and one Belgian freight steamships are long overdue. Not a word has been heard from any of them. Yet all left their ports with wireless equipments. It is feared that they have fallen victims to the mysterious German raider, of which the British admiralty has sent warnings. Not one of them in less than ten days overdue. This raider is reported to be the mysterious missing Lamport & Holt liner, Voltire.
The shipping lists today showed the overdue steamers to be the following: George, White Star liner, which left Philadelphia on December 3 for Liverpool; Bayreuth, bound from Cardiff for Montreal. She left the Welsh port on November 25 for New York; Baron Bayens, Belgian, which left Barry December 8 for New York; A. H. Kroghman, which left London on November 25 for New York.
The steamer, which was at Southampton on November 25 for Halifax.
To this list must be added the Voltire, but shipping men today figured that the Voltire was carrying the crews of the other five missing ships, and that those five may be resting on the bottom of the Atlantic.

SALT LAKE PREPARES FOR PROHIBITION

Poll Tax Will Be Re-enacted—Dues Under Side-walks To Be Subjected to Special Assessment.

SALT LAKE.—After Prohibition, what?
This is the question that came before the city commission and anticipated the state will go dry and there will be an attendant loss of liquor license income, the commission set itself to the preliminary task of figuring where salt-land funds shall come from.
The discussion was hit the fore-runner of what will develop into many extended arguments as to where this money shall be raised. Though but tentative, the board hit upon two important plans both sweeping in their scope, which more than likely will be adopted. They are:
Re-establishment of poll tax in Salt Lake.
The charging of rental for sidewalks which extend underneath sidewalks and across streets which are outside the property lines.

No estimate was attempted by any member of the board as to what loss of revenue prohibition will entail upon the city, but it was pointed out in an informal discussion that it will be an attendant loss of $20,000 and will go a long way toward a solution of the problem.
In the matter of charging rental for sidewalks which extend under sidewalks and across streets, it was pointed out by the board that such would yield a big revenue. Nearly every important business house in the business district has these extensions under the street covered on part of the sidewalk by glass. Members of the board declared that these slippery glass pavements are a nuisance at best, particularly in icy weather, and that the city should get someone from their any such prohibition or not.

It is also proposed that rental be charged for the use of outside staircases, used as a means of ingress and egress, where such staircases extend beyond the property line.

GRAVE MENACE IN FARM LIFE

Days Less Than Day—Wages as Industry Rural Population Footnote and Migratory.

COLUMBUS, O.—Presidents of four national organizations, the American Economic Association, the American Social Science Association, the American Statistical Association and the American Association for Labor Legislation, delivered addresses at a joint meeting of these organizations here Wednesday night. It was the opening of a four day convention and was presided over by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State university.
Professor Irving Fisher of Yale university, president of the American Economic Association, Labor Legislation, in his address Wednesday night, pointed out a nationwide campaign was under way for compulsory health insurance.
"There is no other issue before the public which equals in importance health insurance toward social reconstruction," he said. He pointed out that the United States was the only great industrial nation without compulsory health insurance.
George E. Vincent of Columbus, president of the American Social Science Association, discussing conditions and conditions, declared that as an industry farming pays the average farmer less than the average manufacturer, and that the prospect of prospering from agriculture, consequently is increasing. Consequently land values gives him a delusion, such as even in the best farming regions, such as Iowa and Illinois, that the rural population is increasingly becoming migratory, and that by reason of these conditions, education, social, political responsibility, moral, religious and religious functions are being neglected alarmingly.

Dr. Vincent deplored the "brain-drain" among farmers' organizations, the collisions between farmers, clubs and local mechanics, and that bankers are suspicious of the plans for rural credits and that farmers' alliances are at war with elevator companies and middle men generally.

He declared it was time to insist upon the national point of view as opposed to that of narrower group interests.

ELECTRICITY FOR THE FARM

SO SIMPLE A CHILD CAN OPERATE IT

The combined, compact unit consists of a gasoline engine, a dynamo and switchboard. It weighs about 225 pounds, exclusive of the storage batteries, which are furnished as a part of the outfit. It is the most compact plant we know of that will deliver 750 watts.

—It is a low voltage system—32 volts—this saves battery expense; at the same time it is of sufficient voltage to operate light machinery efficiently. It is now possible to purchase almost anywhere standard motors and lighting fixtures for this voltage. There is not the slightest danger in handling this low voltage.

The gasoline engine is of the advanced type, so there is no danger of freezing, no matter where the outfit may be located. It is self-starting. All that is required is to close the switch, which starts the engine. It automatically cuts off when the batteries are charged.

The batteries are of the sealed-glass jar type, especially built for use with the Delco-Light and come fully charged.

PRICE COMPLETE WITH STANDARD BATTERY $310, WITH LARGE SIZE BATTERY $370, F. O. B. BUTTE, MONTANA.

HAMMOND & WATSON, Dealers.

214 E. SHOSHONE STREET

They will not freeze at 20 degrees below zero, even when completely discharged. Extra large space is provided for electrolyte or fluid and they are long-lived.

Any number of lights may be installed up to 50 or 60. The average place, however, burns only a few of these at any one time. When the engine is running it will carry thirty-two 20-watt lights continuously. The storage battery alone will carry fifteen 20-watt lights for eight hours. Of course, increased storage capacity can be provided.

The batteries constitute a reserve source of energy, providing current that may be used when a light is turned on or if some light machinery be operated, such as the churn, washing machine, cream separator or vacuum cleaner. The generator need only be run a few minutes of perhaps once or twice a week, depending upon the amount of current used.

The average farm can be lighted for less than 5 cents per day. This is less than half the rate in most cities.

some unbridled subsidizing of merchant vessels. This interpretation has placed on the president's conference with Senator Stone yesterday. It is reported that Stone was authorized to sound congress on the emergency. Although as the war carries a warning to Germany, the endorsement would mean an approval of the step.

Text of Note.

The text of the note to which German objects follows:

"The allied governments, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Montenegro, Portugal, Rumania, Russia and Serbia, united in the defense of the liberty of their peoples, which entered an engagement not separately to lay down their arms, have decided collectively to answer the so-called peace proposals."

"First of all, the allies protest against the enemy's assertions attempting to throw on the allies responsibility for the loss of their peoples, which entered an engagement not separately to lay down their arms, have decided collectively to answer the so-called peace proposals."

"After the violations, by the central powers and their engagement in the war, the allies protest against the war at Germany's suggestion without any conditions, with which to open negotiations."

"The German proposal is not an offer of peace. The proposition appears more like a war maneuver than an offer of peace."

"As far as the allied is concerned, the (German) note ignores facts, dates and figures showing that Germany wanted provoked and declared the war."

"At The Hague it was a German delegation that refused a disarmament proposal."

"In July, 1914, it was Austria that declared war on Serbia. The central powers refused all attempts to stop the conflict; they refused England's offer for a four-power conference for an international commission and the czar's arbitration proposal."

"Belgium was invaded by the enemy, which proclaimed that treaties were scraps of paper."

"So-called offers of peace, now the real strength of the adversaries."

"Peace made upon this basis would be to advantage of the aggressors, who hope to attain their aim in two months."

"They have found, after two years, that they never will attain their aim, and they are now seeking to do so by bespeaking the necessary armistices. The risks provided by the war and all the rights of the central powers against the rights of the allied governments, series and neutrals, call for reparation."

"The proposal for the central powers to attempt to start an evolution which would finally end in a German-made peace. It has been in order to distract opinion in the allied countries and to render German public opinion, so gravely hurt by losses, economical shortage and crushed by the supreme effort demanded from them."

"The proposal was made in order to seek to intimidate neutrals, who know who bears the responsibility for the foregoing aggressions' aim, all not abandon the defense of human liberty."

"The German note attempts to make legitimate in the eyes of the world in the future the crimes of submarine warfare, deportation and obligatory service, the forcible seizure of men, and the violations of neutrality."

"It is in the full consciousness of the gravity and also of the necessity of the hour that the allied governments closely allied in perfect accord and their peoples refuse to discuss the proposal which is not sincere and is unimportant."

"The allies once more affirm that peace is impossible until there is reparation for the violated liberties and rights and recognition of the principles of nationality and free existence for small countries."

"Peace is impossible until a rule is made that effectively will suppress the cause of war now menacing the nations, and until efficacious guarantees are given for the security of the world."

Then follows a formal protest by Belgium against claims committed by Germany against the Belgian people with an assurance from the Belgian king that they do not desire any other peace than based on legitimate reparations and guarantees for the future.

In spite of these treaties Belgium was the first to suffer from the aggression of Germany, the note declares. "For this reason the Belgium government thinks it is necessary to declare its protest, also Belgium has never ceased to pursue with fighting under the entente for right and justice."

"Belgium, before the war, nothing, but now seeks the re-establishment of a peace and justice among the country's legitimate reparations and guarantees of safeguard for the future."

BACK TO FARM AS CURE FOR JIMMIES

Bucolic Life to Be Provided For in Plan.

OGDEN.—"Back to the farm," where there still be no temptations and where in the pure mountain air of Ogden valley they may regain their health and peace, Mr. J. J. Hunt—this is where habitual drunkards are carried out. In the belief that the cure of the drunkard is a vital need and that many sufferers from the drink habit would welcome a chance for a free cure, Mayor Heywood has formulated a plan for a city and county rescue farm.

It is proposed the farm and home be operated jointly by Ogden and Weber county and that other minor offenders besides drunkards be permitted to go there instead of to jail. Mayor Heywood believes such a farm would be practically self-sustaining.

Spahn's suggestion that "it would be opportune to declare with regard to an entente of the neutral powers for the defense of their liberties" contains the first formal proposal to this country for joint neutral action. Many neutrals have in similar pleas privately. The United States heretofore has steadfastly opposed joint action of any kind.

West of Des Moines was dismissed by the judge who said the prosecution had failed to make a case against him.

THE BETTER THE PRINTING

Mr. and Mrs. John Pumphog. The explosion, who was called to inspect the lighting plant, was killed, and a nephew of Knud Pumphog was injured. According to the stories told by the injured, they had smelted escaping gas while preparations were under way for the family dinner. Just before sitting down to the table the elder Pumphog determined to have the plant repaired. He admitted that he was afraid of it and decided to call John Nelson, an electrician, to look it over. The explosion occurred when he opened the door to go to the basement. It is thought the fumes were ignited from the stove in the kitchen which was lit at the time.

All of the dead are believed to have been instantly killed. Doctors reported having set thirteen compound fractures received by the injured.

The proposal for the central powers to attempt to start an evolution which would finally end in a German-made peace. It has been in order to distract opinion in the allied countries and to render German public opinion, so gravely hurt by losses, economical shortage and crushed by the supreme effort demanded from them.

The proposal was made in order to seek to intimidate neutrals, who know who bears the responsibility for the foregoing aggressions' aim, all not abandon the defense of human liberty.

The German note attempts to make legitimate in the eyes of the world in the future the crimes of submarine warfare, deportation and obligatory service, the forcible seizure of men, and the violations of neutrality.

It is in the full consciousness of the gravity and also of the necessity of the hour that the allied governments closely allied in perfect accord and their peoples refuse to discuss the proposal which is not sincere and is unimportant.

The allies once more affirm that peace is impossible until there is reparation for the violated liberties and rights and recognition of the principles of nationality and free existence for small countries.

Peace is impossible until a rule is made that effectively will suppress the cause of war now menacing the nations, and until efficacious guarantees are given for the security of the world.

Mayor Henry W. Herman Issues Call For Meeting To Devise Ways and Means to Welcome the Boys.

All friends of the Company K are asked to meet at the Commercial club rooms next Wednesday evening, responding to a call issued by Mayor Herman, that the people might get together and devise plans to receive the boys of the company on their return home, says the Buhl Herald. This question has been talked over in an informal way since it has been known that the boys were coming home. However, no definite steps were taken in that direction until Mayor Herman issued a call for a meeting.

Following is the notice of the meeting: It is understood that Company K will return to Tual at an early date, as mayor of the city of Tual, do hereby call a meeting of all people interested, both country and city, to meet at the Commercial club rooms on the evening of the above date to perfect plans for the proper reception of Company K in a fitting manner.

Buhl News

(From the Buhl Herald)

The Christmas exercises given at the Laverne school house by Miss Dunning and the scholars was very good, considering the length of time they had to prepare for it. The room was appropriately decorated, the arch was very pleasing to look at and all showed work, skill and care. There were songs, recitations and dialogues. Santa Claus appeared at the proper time to distribute the presents. He looked very good natured but was rather quiet for the proverbial "jolly old fellow."

Last year W. S. Hyde made an offer of a gold watch to the pupils of the Baptists-Sunday school who would have the best record at the close of 1916. Being present on time, lessons studied, Bible or quarterly in hand and an offering were the five points which made up the score. Mr. Hyde did not expect a perfect score from any pupils, but there are three gold watches to buy instead of one, for three pupils have had a perfect score for the fifty-two Sundays of this year. Next Sunday morning the watches will be presented to Miss Mattie Whitely, Beulah Bizzantman and Walter Hanna as rewards for their faithfulness.

The gymnasium of the high school was a gay scene every evening when the entire student body and members of the faculty gathered in response to the invitation extended by the seniors to their kind time in the gym. The decorations had evidently been borrowed from the "old clothes" man for they consisted of ragged socks and stockings, old coats, hats, dresses, and battered hats strung artistically about the room.

The ammonia pipes in the Idaho Bachelors and Fraternity houses were frozen Tuesday morning so that they burst when they began to thaw out, saturating the rooms with the fumes, during the forenoon. A number of ammonia radiators have been installed in the new annex to the Hotel Buhl, making the rooms more attractive and comfortable. There are fifteen bedrooms and two sample rooms in the new annex building.

Mrs. Bust, mother of Mrs. H. D. McInchey, died at the home of her mother north of Buhl last Friday morning. She was seventy-nine years and eleven months of age. Services were held at the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Reverend Heath officiating. Interment was in the Buhl cemetery.

Word was received from Walla Walla, Washington, Wednesday, that the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, who live in the Casford country, died in Walla Walla this week. The Miller family are visiting at the home of Mrs. Miller's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Stewart, where the son was born about six weeks ago. Funeral services were held December 27 at 2 p. m. from the home of Dr. C. B. Stewart, and burial was in the Masonic cemetery.

A general epidemic of measles is raging in Buhl. Many of the school children are ill, and others are quarantined at home. An effort is being made to keep all children at home where there is a case in the family and thus prevent it from spreading. Monday at the Frank H. Buhl building, there were 122 children present, and 186 absent, most of them ill or quarantined with measles. Physicians are setting in with the measles have caused several deaths.

R. S. Dixon, employed in the Gibbs Clear store, put up a new combination thermometer, barometer and clock on the front of the Gibbs Clear store building. It is a large thermometer, and one can always tell the temperature, barometric pressure, and the time of day. Mr. Dixon has applied to the city council to put an electric light over it so that one may read the instrument both day and night.

Leroy Shaub, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shaub, who live one and one-half miles northwest of Buhl died at the Shaub home Wednesday from a severe attack of measles, in which other complications followed. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, from the home and burial will be in the Buhl cemetery. Reverend Heath will preach the funeral sermon. There are three boys in the family, all of whom have recently had the measles and are entirely recovered now.

IDAHO TEACHERS IN SESSION LAST WEEK

State Gathering At Boise Heurs Many Talks on Topics of Interest to Educationalists.

BOISE—The Idaho State Teachers' association Friday morning elected officers for its endorsement of the report of the organizing committee. The officers of the association for the ensuing year are as follows: President, L. E. Turner, superintendent of schools at Fayette; first vice president, H. S. Stevenson, superintendent of schools at Montpelier; second vice president, Mrs. Laura Lutz of Warthen-Kellong; secretary, Miss Ivy Wilson of Ada county, re-elected; treasurer, J. Fred Williams of Boise, re-elected; member of executive committee, C. E. Rose, superintendent of schools of Boise.

Miss Herline McCoy, retiring superintendent of public instruction for Idaho, made an address dealing with the educational problems confronting the state board of education, speaking of the work done by the board during the existence of four years and predicting that its work in the future would be felt throughout the nation, and Idaho will stand out as a leader in the commonwealths in its educational progress.

Professor C. E. Wugh gave another of his lectures, the address dealing with matters pertaining to the high school course. Miss Edith Redfield, state superintendent of public instruction, extended her greetings to the teachers and expressed her loyalty to the state board of education and the commission of education.

The session Thursday night of the Idaho State Teachers' association was a notable one. The program consisted of musical numbers, three addresses and while the auditorium of the high school was several degrees below comfortable, the crowd which attended was interested in what the speakers had to say that none left the hall.

The program opened with a piano solo by Miss Snyder, former Boise high school girl, who delighted her audience, and when recalled, played a section of her own composition, "The Flotilla." Ward French sang two numbers and was recalled. The address of the evening was made by Professor E. Hugh of the University of California, who spoke on "Tolligion and Education."

He pointed out that within the past forty years that the number of apprehended criminals has increased four hundred and fifty per cent and that during the same period the number of pupils passing the state graded school increased from one to thirty per cent and the number passing through the high school from nine to forty-three per cent. He stated that it was shown that education alone was not lessening crime. Figures compiled, he stated, showed that there was one person in Idaho for every 6667 inhabitants of this nation for every 6667 inhabitants.

With these qualifications, the speaker pointed out that the teachers were in face with the religious problem in the schools. He declared they must look into the nature of a child for educational problems and he stated that the teacher of any school has a right to insure youth by religion and in so doing made the school a religious institution of which or not the child was of religion or no religion in the schools, but rather, shall there be a good or bad religion.

Dr. Edward C. Blason, commissioner of education, in his address, briefly pointed out some of the things which the board of education was attempting to do in Idaho and recalled some of the things which it had done.

Professor H. T. Lewis of the University of Idaho gave a five-minute address dealing with the necessity of living to give as well as to take, the necessity of instilling social ideas into the students of the graduates that they might know how to live well as well as help the other.

SCANDINAVIA BACKS THE WILSON NOTE

Time-Less Emphatic Than That of Switzerland, South America, Takes No Open Action.

WASHINGTON—The three Scandinavian nations, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, through their embassies in the Norwegian city of Oslo, were reported to the state department by Mr. H. Bryn, have expressed lively interest in President Wilson's proposals "looking towards the ending of the "stab-in-the-back" and their "open sympathy with all efforts to shorten the war."

SALMON RIVER COMPANY MIXES WITH LAND BOARD

(Continued From Page 1) The completed works of the Twin Falls-Salmon River Land and Water company. The plans had been approved by the state engineer. The attorney had prepared a resolution he wanted adopted. He said it contained no reference to the water supply project of the settlers in their contracts by the irrigation company.

Governor Alexander told the board that to accept it would result in the state's losing its case against the irrigation company when it reached the courts. Mr. Haga insisted that the acceptance of the plans would do nothing for the kind.

Three months ago the land board cancelled the contract given the Salmon river people by the state and ordered the attorney general to bring an action to collect on the company's bond for non-compliance with its provisions.

In reviewing the trouble the state has had with the water company, the governor charged that the application for approval of the works was a subterfuge to block an action by the land board.

Miss McCoy interposed to say that she stated in her report that she approved the work built by the irrigation company, she supposed to vote to accept that.

"I will trust the state engineer," she said, "but I am not willing to trust any member of this land board."

The governor, taking offense at Miss McCoy's words, replied that he would trust the state engineer or anyone in preference to his own conscience.

"We should have done something for the settlers of the Salmon river tract," Miss McCoy declared. "We told them two years ago when we took office that we would help them, and now that we have done constructive work for them, there is no apology that we can offer."

"My conscience is clear," spoke up the governor, and then added: "The water company wants to wash its hands in this affair and throw the state burden on the settlers."

Miss McCoy became so angry she exited the floor, and the governor said that he arose and pounded the table with his clenched hand. Miss McCoy insisted that the governor back up the state engineer, and the governor refused her demands. When the state auditor, Mrs. M. C. McMillan, moved the adoption of a resolution cutting out an additional 15,000 acres from the Salmon River company segregation.

"There I will vote with you, on that," the governor told her. "The board several months ago cancelled the water contract and required 13,000 acres. The state engineer said 18,000 acres were land owned by the settlers and they were to get sufficient water properly to irrigate their crops. The settlers had objected to the land being relinquished, as had the water company."

When the resolutions were put to a vote Miss McCoy and the governor voted in the affirmative, but Peterson and Fluston passed, causing the resolutions to fail.

Returning to the request made by the settlers for the land and water project, the board voted to postpone action on it after the governor had joined the attorney general and the state auditor in telling Miss McCoy that every effort had been made to aid the settlers on the Salmon river tract. The governor declared the problem was too large for the board to solve. He said it was the biggest question confronting his administration.

OLD LAND BOARD CLOSES BUSINESS

Last Meeting Friday Was Stormy—Action on Several Matters Left For New Board to Handle.

BOISE—Retiring members of the state land board at the last meeting of the old board late Friday afternoon gave way to the requests of Governor Alexander with relation to deferring action on the proposed power plant of the Gen irrigation district, the Hansen lutte co-operative irrigation project and the Twin Falls-Salmon river project. Senator Dow, Dunning appeared for the Gen district, S. H. Haga of Boise for the Hansen lutte project and O. O. Haga for the Twin Falls-Salmon river project.

The net result of the meeting was that final action on the several propositions before board was not taken. A new land board will go into power Monday morning and definite policies with regard to a number of important matters pending, many of which were before the old board, will be announced.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon Governor Alexander explained in detail to the old board. There were some sharp fits between those who appeared before the board, the governor and other members. Governor Dunning wished to have an endorsement of the board on a bill he had prepared calling for a $300,000 appropriation for the construction of the Arrowrock dam to generate electric energy for power for the Gen irrigation district. A resolution to that effect was not voted upon. The board adopted a substitute introduced by Attorney General Peterson. The resignation of Mrs. M. C. McMillan, the state engineer, was intended to deal with the Gen power project in his message to the legislature. Dunning and the governor finished over a matter of the Twin Falls-Salmon river project a resolution was introduced by Miss McCoy, state superintendent of public instruction to cut down the project to the acreage opposed by the state engineer, or 15,000 acres. Mr. Haga asked that the state accept the completed works of the project. The governor and Miss McCoy voted for the McCoy resolution. Attorney General Peterson and State Auditor Fluston opposed. Secretary of State Barker was absent and the resolution failed. On the request of Mr. Haga the board voted to postpone action leaving it for the new board to deal with.

The governor held that to grant the state accept the completed works of the project the Hansen lutte project and the Twin Falls-Salmon river project. This Mr. Haga could not agree with. Miss McCoy held the board should have done something for the settlers on the project long ago and the governor and other members of the board explained that every effort had been made to give the settlers relief.

With regard to the Hansen lutte project Mayor Haga explained the settlers had filed on land near Milner which had been established by the Twin Falls North Side Land and Water company because it was too high for irrigation. In all 18,000 acres take up. Dry farming did not prove a success so the settlers decided to organize a ditch company to be controlled by them. He urged that action be taken by the board so machinery could be ordered to prepare for work early in the spring. Governor Alexander explained he intended to recommend to his message a change in the irrigation laws and asked the board to withhold taking action on the project matter. His wishes were respected.
