Chaplain Frazier of Olympia to Conduct Service

(United Press Summary) Services for Admiral Dewey, giving fitting expression to the nation's affection and sorrow and bestowing the highest public honors that can be given on a national hero, have been planned by officials of the federal government.

It was decided to hold the public ceremonies Saturday in the rotunda of the capitol and to bring to Washington for an escort a number of the ablest forces of both the naval and military arms of the service. Congress will be in recess during the funeral and under an order by President Wilson the government departments will remain closed during the entire day.

WAHINGTON, Jan. 17—Admiral George Dewey, the nation's Spanish war hero and by priority of grade the ranking naval officer of the world, died at his home here Tuesday night at 10 o'clock.

A general breakdown, accompanied by arterio sclerosis, incident to old age, was the cause of death. The doctor here has been gradually losing his hold upon the powerful body for a year and a half, but the admiral, until his death, was in excellent physical vigor, had fought it out bravely and in the instance a secret from most of his intimate friends. Last Wednesday he was at his post apparently hale and hearty. The next day he appeared as he was preparing to leave, the house, and the beginning of the end.

League to Enforce Peace is Endorsed

(United Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—That England has pointed out a way by which President Wilson may continue peace negotiations in the opinion expressed here today by officials of the League to Enforce Peace is the conclusion from a study of the communication received yesterday from Foreign Minister Balfour, in which it is pointed out that the league are fighting to prevent future aggression and that it is felt that President Wilson can do much toward evincing a plan for an international preventive force with which to limit future wars, and in which it is further intimated that the league are endeavoring to secure such a result. It is held here that the president favors the use of the armed forces of the country to insure peace, in spite of recent reports that he felt that any league formed should use only moral suasion. He is said to have recently told his friends that he favored a peace patrol, able to say no when war threatened, and should the aggressors refuse to heed the warning, he favored making them feel that the war carried a bit with it.

HOLLISTER WITHOUT MAIL.

A telephone message from Hallister this morning stated that the mail for the morning had been delayed for twenty-two hours. An effort will be made to fix things today and mail can be delivered this afternoon.

GREAT CONVENTIONS HELD IN POCATELLO

Dairymen, Swine Growers and Live Stock Associations Gather in The Gate City.

The most successful meeting Idaho Seed Growers association ever held in the six years of the organization just closed at Pocatello. The association met this year in co-operation with the state dairymen's, State Swine Growers, and State Live Stock associations. Throughout the week the greatest interest and enthusiasm was shown. The seed show held in connection with the meeting of the associations was not any larger than in former years but the quality is steadily advancing. In the several classes of seed shown the Twin Falls tract came in for her share of prizes. As in former years the Springfield district carried off honors in alfalfa.

The Caldwell and Twin Falls districts were about even in honors on red clover but Twin Falls tract was ahead on white. Parma and Caldwell took all honors on corn. Twin Falls and Idaho Falls ran neck and neck on potatoes, the former also won out on peas. In the Twin Falls tract sent a larger number of exhibits they would doubtless have made a much better showing. M. A. Thonetz of Twin Falls and J. C. Otto of Filer carried off all honors for this district on potatoes.

In the convention sessions there were some exceptional addresses. That of Fred Morrill, dairy expert, Governor E. C. Ammons of Colorado, and live stock, John T. Calne of Utah, and that of Dr. M. A. Brannon, president of the University of Idaho, and E. E. Shepher of Jerome, Lou D. Sweet of Colorado on seed potatoes and manure were very helpful and of exceptional value. Dr. W. A. Sullivan spoke on hog diseases with special reference to cholera.

Representatives of the Idaho Honey Producers association were present at the meeting and presented a request that they too might be included in the general advertising that was so helpful and evident throughout the week. The several organizations extended to them a most hearty invitation and the 1918 meeting therefore will also include this new partner for mutual helpfulness.

The woman's session also was attended and equally successful as the men's. As a central figure on their program for the week Miss Caroline Hunt of Washington D. C. occupied a prominent place.

The Seed Growers association, elected J. H. Bessley, Idaho Falls, president and C. E. Shepherd, Jerome, O. F. Barnes, St. Anthony, C. E. Callin, Caldwell and O. E. Scott, Pocatello, M. A. Thonetz, Twin Falls, as directors. A. J. Snyder of Springfield was re-elected vice president and G. D. Center, Boise, secretary-treasurer.

The membership of the Seed Growers' association was increased three times as fast as in a new feature two very vigorous and active members were given honorary life membership as a mark of special recognition and esteem. Plans are already under way for similar joint convention and program for 1918 which even this early promises to be the largest and most successful than that just closed. Idaho Falls and Nampa have issued an invitation to the several associations represented to convene at this convention.

No matter what town in Idaho secures this meeting it will have a week packed full of interesting helpful addresses and work. All in attendance are returning to their home with a hearty appreciation of Pocatello's hospitality as well as some very definite plans for the betterment of the industry which they represent and for which most especially concurred with.

"DEAD ON THE FIELD OF HONOR."

It was the Napoleonic military regime, as we remember, that kept on the battalion roster the names of soldiers who died, heroically, upon the field of battle; and each time the roll was called, rendered tribute to valor by having response to such names made in the words above quoted.

It is, of course, more spectacular to go down in the shock of battle amid cries of victory, but it is none the less patriotic and heroic to fall at one's post in the discharge of daily duty. The conspicuous instances of the latter, in the history of the United States, are found in John Quincy Adams, who, after having been President, represented a Massachusetts district in the Congress for many terms and, finally, died upon the floor, beside the seat he had so long and ably occupied; and, now, in Admiral George Dewey, who, on Tuesday evening last, passed, as one might say, from his desk in the Navy Department to the other shore.

Only two great opportunities for fame have come to American commanders during fifty years—both on the high seas—one to Dewey at Manila and the other to Sampson at Santiago—and each was gloriously improved. Both being dead, let one here speak of the other: Said Sampson:

"The service knows Dewey as an ideal head of a fleet. Perfectly courageous, thoroughly balanced judgment, and quick of decision, he has the qualities which carry one to fame if opportunity is given. The man and the hour fortunately came together and the country is richer in another heroic figure. His career has given a lofty impetus to the young which will bear fruit in nobler aspirations. He has become one of the most valued possessions which a nation can have—a national hero."

The office of Admiral was recreated for Farragut, as that of General for Grant. Porter was the second to fill it and Dewey the third. His death makes it vacant with no succession provided.

"Close his eyes, his work is done!

What to him is friend or foe man,
Rise of moon or set of sun,
Hand of man or kiss of woman?

Lay him low, lay him low,
In the clover or the snow!

What cares he, he cannot know,
Lay him low!

"Fold him in his country's stars,
Roll the drum and fire the valley!

What to him are all our wars?—
What but death bemocking folly?

Lay him low, lay him low,
In the clover or the snow!"

The tragedy of the steamer Eastland, which turned turtle at her dock in Chicago, drowning 812 persons, mostly women and children, about to start upon a holiday excursion, shocked the entire country a year and a half ago. The terrible responsibility seemed to lie between the government inspectors and the owners and officers of the boat; and up to this date the point has not been decided, although damage claims have been in the courts ever since. To try each claim separately, as the boat owners desire, would require some ten years; and Judge Landis, who combined some hundred of these cases for trial at once, is now asked by the Supreme Court of the United States to tell why he did so!

A Little county, California, woman asks for a new school district in her neighborhood because—she now likes to rise before day to make her five children ready for school—because, they have to row across the Sacramento river, then hitch up a horse kept there for the purpose, drive some miles to another river, leave the horse and take another boat and then walk a mile to their school house! If this is not the "pursuit of knowledge under difficulties," what would be? There should be a future President in that family!

The Constitutional Amendment making it impossible for a bonded indebtedness beyond two millions, exclusive of bonds outstanding in 1911, which was ratified by the voters of Idaho in 1913, has arisen in the path of her legislators in 1917. While the highway department is asking a million and a half and the board of education a half million, not to mention other state needs, there appears to be, under the restriction stated, only a bonding possibility of a little over a million and a quarter. What is?

The press notice of the assembling in Buffalo, N. Y., of the American Council of Migratory Workers of the World, advises that the objects of this association are quite in keeping with its name. It only asks that the United States government should own and operate the railroads, employ all the unemployed, furnish them free transportation from one job to another, with railroads and cheap loans for incidental expenses. Where, now, is that very reasonable child who cried for the moon?

The holding of the U. S. Supreme Court, with three members dissenting, affirmed the conviction of Diego and Caminetti, in the noted California "white slave" case. This means that the Mann act covers and penalizes personal immoral escapades, as well as interstate transportation of women for commercialized vice—a point hitherto stoutly contested.

What a stern sense of duty must have animated those suffragette pickets at the White House when they refused the President's invitation to come in and have something warm and kept on shivering behind the gate-posts!

"Says Lawson to Henry, 'You told!'
Says Henry to Lawson, 'You lie!'
And thus lies the crust in a fold
O'er the 'in-ves-ti-ga-shun' pie!"

The home do more. An Indiana lawmaker has a bill to prohibit the manufacture of corsets. If unable to secure its passage in that form, he will doubtless attempt to "regulate" the size and number of "bones."

The Minnesota legislature is considering the project of a state-owned paper mill—of course, to control and reduce the fabulous prices for paper. A worthy purpose, but a very poor method.

The editor of the Nez Perce Herald says he can tell why a girl shuts her eyes when she is being kissed—provided, he is shown the photo of the man! Lo, a Daniel come to judgment!

Gooding gave each of her four representatives in the Second Idaho a gold watch. Had she sent ninety, instead of four, the price of patriotism would probably have been reduced.

Did any one feel the nation swelling yesterday, when sovereignty over the Danish West Indies passed to your Uncle Samuel!

A Danger—Should the act regulating moving picture exhibitions, published elsewhere herewith, become a law, there might be danger to the great competition for the title of the "Advisory Committee." The privilege of free admission to the movie theatres at any and all times would be exceedingly attractive to a great number of people.

Contemplate Building—Interviewed with reference to a report current on the streets this week that they intended building a two story structure on their lots opposite to the Golden Rule store, Hood sisters said that while they have had building in mind for some time, nothing definite had been planned at any time. Post Office Bids Again—In a letter received by Secretary McMillan of the Commercial club yesterday, Congressman Addison T. Smith stated that bids would be called for the postoffice building here in about four months under the new plan now being prepared. He said that the officials of the postoffice department told him that the amount available would be insufficient to build the structure and furnish it completely, had the lowest bid been accepted.

Baby Impoverished—An inquest into the death of the infant recently found under a bridge in this city was held yesterday afternoon before coroner J. C. Cronky. from Rogerson with supplies, the arrival of which would relieve the situation.

Something New—P. G. Gloydstein has just received a magnificent cabinet Angelfone from New York City. He presents this as the latest creation in high grade phonographs. Its universal arm permits the playing of any record made. To bring these superb instruments and records entirely to the attention of the public the Angelfone people are selling their product at actual cost price, without a penny of profit. This offer closes February 3, 1917. So enticed is Mr. Gloydstein over the one purchased by him that in order that others may take advantage of this offer, he has inserted at his own expense an ad which appears elsewhere in this paper, describing particularly the Angelfone, the records and prices. He says after fair trial that he is convinced that the sound box on this phonograph is the equal of any on the market.

Jarbridge Road Improvement—In a communication received yesterday from the Jarbridge Commercial club by James McMillan, secretary of the Twin Falls Commercial club, it was stated that $250 had been raised in Jarbridge to improve the bridge at that grade, and the suggestion was made that if Twin Falls county would fix the road at Derr creek the route from Berger to Jarbridge could be a short time. Chairman O. E. Carlson of the board of county commissioners said that the work of fixing the road at the salt creek and a dozen other articles had been considered, but added that a dozen wagons were on the way

Labor Leader Declares That Writers Should Unite In Interest of The Truth.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A union of news writers as one means to avoid the discrimination of labor in the dissemination of news...

Mr. Frayne charged he had been misquoted during the transit strike here last summer and asserted that the cause of labor was helpless in so far as New York City's press was concerned.

He added: "It is a favorite diversion of some of the papers to continually represent our press as revolutionary and anarchistic when in a matter of fact the labor press is at times more conservative than any of the metropolitan dailies, which want sensation and stories of destruction."

The organization today set forth its aims as follows: "To bring about the unity of the American labor movement to the end that all news shall be more uniform, accurate and of greater interest to the public."
