LONDON, Sept. 20.—A new British offensive is in full swing at dawn today, Field Marshal Haig's army again took up its gigantic task of shattering the German grip on the Belgian coast.

Following a terrific bombardment the British attacked along the Roulers Road, east of Ypres, capturing important German positions over a wide front.

The new British thrusts comes upon the heels of a savage stroke against the German positions, by the French on the Verdun front, where infantry fighting raged all day yesterday.

Students of military strategy believe that the ultimate goal of the British war offices is to compel a general retirement of the Germans along the northern end of the West Flanders front.

Field Marshal Haig today renewed his great offensive on the West Flanders front smashing numerous German positions over a wide front.

Along the battle line the British attacks are continuing with the utmost vigor. A number of German prisoners have been captured.

THE WEBER'S DOINGS

W. J. Swearingen, Rev. A. W. James have gone to Wood River once more yielding to their weakness for fishing. They informed their friends and folks that they would stay this time until they had fulfilled their desires and were ready to return. HALF HOLIDAY WEDNESDAY

Wednesday was a happy day of the week for many Kimberly folks, who find little opportunity to get out of their places of business during week days. The opportunity was afforded Friday afternoon to permit the Kimberly folks to spend the afternoon at the fair in Filer. Many car loads were seen making fast time in that direction.

The schools were also dismissed for the afternoon, upon the advice of the board of education. MESSSENGER GIRLS CAN'T MAKE GOOD ON ROUTES (International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—With one or two exceptions girls who have been tried in the last few days to replace messenger boys in New York have failed. Too much walking, inability to stand the rigors of messengers of the other sex and justice of uniform are the three stumbling blocks which have thinned the ranks. Because of a dearth of boys due to school in the West, the "make up" jobs (the Western Union and American District Telegraph companies advertised for girls. They wanted girls who could work for light work, steady employment. Many girls who didn't know what they were getting into answered. One office was able to persuade three to go to work and another got five. After the first day there was one girl left in each office. The state of war has also cut the number of boys working with them and a girl's aversion to being put in uniform took the others.

The companies of the girl messengers are not discouraged, however, and believe by elimination they may finally get a good working force.

THE PRESENT STATUS OF THE WORLD'S DEMOCRACY

The power of an ideal condition, either accompanied or yet in the future, over the ideal is vividly pictured in the ascendancy of democratic ideals over the old systems of absolutism. It is surprising to note the facility with which the masses of people in every country are coming to their own. As early as the seventeenth century, a progressive and democratic people, struggling against the aristocracy of a new world, and among wild and savage peoples and conditions, began to grasp the idea that each man should be his own governor in so far as the liberty of others was not interfered with. This conception having been long entertained and nourished finally reached its consummation in the eighteenth century, when the motion of Richard Henry Leo made in Congress June 7, 1776, that "these United Colonies are and of a right ought to be free and independent states." This motion was carried and the Colonies were so declared in less than a month afterward.

The independence and successful revolution of the Colonies was an incentive to the beginning of a second revolution destined to result in a new Republic with democratic ideals and ambitions in France. It was a long, hard struggle in France, but more than ten years before, the republic was finally established so as to stand firm for democratic principles of government. But it was a victory which has never related without grown sullen. And today France stands out as one of the greatest defenders of democracy in the world.

To us in the account of South American revolutions, and the many republics that have been springing up since the independence of the Colony which has never related without require unlimited space. But even those weaker states republics go to show that democratic government is absolutely correspondent with human nature itself.

The world was astounded when the people of China, great, unprogressive, uncultured, unenlightened China, threw off the yoke of absolutism, and declared themselves in favor of the American form of government. China, however, was handicapped because the earnest and ambitious longings of people were not backed up either by the proper leadership or a proper understanding of democratic principles. They saw rather the ideal of freedom, of popular control, than the fundamental of the system itself. Success, combined with centuries of seclusion from the activities of the world, were stumbling blocks in the progress of democracy in China. But in the present time, it may be, there is little hope left for the despotic government. Having had a taste of freedom, the people will never again be content to submit to autocratic rule.

Other nations, though autocratic in form and ritual, are not so in reality. England, while boasting of a new Republic with democratic ideals and ambitions in France. It was a the world. It is like pouring water from a cup and filling it again with milk. The cup is always the same but the content is always changed in all outward appearance yet a monarchy, England yet remains inwardly a through democracy.

The power of the world are today turned upon one of the most astounding movements in history. The ascendancy of Russian democracy. What an astonishment to the world when Russia, great absolute, monarchical Russia, the ideal of despotism, suddenly threw off the cloak of absolute rule and revealed that she had been for years the true sentiment of her people. How carefully the plans must have been laid; how strong must have been the feeling against the monarchy, and for liberty; for how suddenly, and absolutely, was the autocratic government shaken to pieces.

Perhaps it would not have been so well for Russia, had not a Kerensky risen to champion her in her freedom, to take the position as the pulse and brain, in the establishment of the new ritual.

It is true that at times the Russian situation has been most discouraging and doubtful. But the world is once more at ease, believing that the elements are now entirely under control. The break with the monarchical government, the leaders have come out absolutely with the people. The brilliant future of the new state has succeeded in uniting conservatives, moderates, and radicals is a most encouraging feature.

The progress of democratic government: both where it has been for some time established, and where it is continually establishing itself in force elsewhere, stands out before the thinking world as the greatest argument of its absolute ascendancy over all other forms of government in the very near future. The manner in which democratic nations are uniting against autocracy, the attitude that is being assumed, the determination to eliminate all forms of despotism, oppression, and tyranny, are evidence of the near death of all autocratic governments, and of the resurrection of the hopes of the world for human freedom, and of man's rule and ambition is very near. No doubt those, like the Kaiser, and his friends, are trembling when they pause to look upon the situation in its true light.

The present situation of democracy in the world, is not in the least questionable. While it is far from being perfected, its ascendancy over autocracy, its very victory is absolutely established. Not many years shall pass away until the true government of all the nations of the world, in different forms no doubt, but democracy just the same, pure, simple, and cherished democracy.

German Submarine Sunk by Freighter

Attack on American Vessel Ended in Disaster To The Assaultants—One Other Drowned.

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) LONDON, Sept. 19.—A German submarine was sunk and another damaged in a fight with an armed American freight steamer said a dispatch from Bergen, Norway, today. The information was received at Bergen from the crew of a Norwegian steamer which witnessed the battle.

The "first German submarine was engaged in a sinking, a sailing ship, when the American freighter appeared on the scene. The U-boat was attacked and the periscope was smashed.

A second submarine appeared and made two attempts to torpedo the American vessel, but both failed.

The U-boat was quickly sent down and all her crew but six perished. It is understood that the battle occurred near the Shetland Islands.

Bond Bill Agreed to by Conferees

Complete Understanding Arrived At By Representatives Of Both Houses Of Congress.

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The conferees on the $1,538,000,000 bond bill reached a complete agreement for the half an hour's session today. The report will be submitted to the senate tomorrow and to the house Friday following.

The LaFollette amendment specifically limiting the interest on the war savings certificates to four per cent was stricken out by the conferees. A compromise was reached on the amount to be spent on marketing the bonds and certificates: one-fifth of one per cent will be spent in marketing the bonds and war savings certificates and one tenth of one per cent will be spent in marketing the certificates of indebtedness.

The deficiency bill passed in Washington September 18 carried appropriations aggregating $4,839,000,000 for the fiscal year 1918, the government to enter into contracts amounting to $2,342,000,000. The money for the military establishment, provided by the act, is estimated at $1,652,000,000. The house adopted amendments permitting the authorization of contracts for $100,000,000 for ordnance and ordnance supplies. The money now goes to the senate, where it will be taken up Thursday.

"BOOTLEGGERS" PEOPPER IN "WESTERN" CITY

(International News Service) CALIF., Sept. 19.—Although Cairo is regarded as one of the "wettest" cities in the Mississippi valley, "bootleggers" and "blind tigers" operate here in large numbers. The business on Sunday. In a recent court action the fact was brought out that whiskey is peddled on that day by an "antagonist" for the same in "bone dry" cities. James J. C. D. Worth, a Cairo saloon keeper, was indicted on a charge of selling half-gallon "whiskey" from his pocket on the street.

Pitfalls for the Food Administrator

North Dakota Congressman Warns Hoover That Desiring Are After Him.

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 19.—Warned of his pitfalls, the food administrator, that he must beware of pitfalls placed in his path by those posing as his friends was heard from Monday by the congressman, George M. Young of North Dakota, at an address at the conference of producers and consumers, under the national non-partisan league of farmers and "calculating and designing," said Congressman Young "have sought and are seeking to use the food administration."

Federal agents who have been watching closely all conventions and public meetings for possible seditious utterances were on hand at the opening of the non-partisan league convention of producers and consumers here yesterday, but were taken unawares by the patriotic strain which the speaker addressed were delivered. J. S. Marshall attacked the meeting with a warrant for C. M. Dentall of Littlefield, Minn., Socialist for government in Minnesota in 1916. Dentall is at liberty since bond of $5,000 at his arrest for seditious utterances a few weeks ago.

CLARENCE S. HILEY NEW MILITARY AIDE NOW

URGE USE OF "WILD FOOD"

Woman Food Experts Start Country-Wide Campaign to Teach British Housewives Economy.

Woman food experts have started a country-wide campaign to teach British housewives what food economy means and how to use the neglected resources in England's "wild food." The women have started a campaign after the fashion of an earlier forerunner in the United States. They are making speeches in theaters, public halls and from soapboxes on street corners.

The possibilities of "wild food" are declared by one expert to be so great that country people and the inhabitants of small towns are actually two-thirds of their needs for at least three-quarters of the year from fields, woods and streams of their immediate neighborhood. This expert declares that there are more than 200 kinds of food in the British Isles that are entirely unutilized. They include birds and their eggs, edible frogs, fishes, mollusks, some insects and insect products—such as honey of half a dozen species of wild bees—various crustaceans, many plain thick vegetables, sea-plants and herbs, the same number of flowers and fruits, seven species of seaweeds and nearly fifty esculent fungi.

The campaign is under the direction of Mrs. C. B. Peel and Mrs. Member Reeves, directors of the Women's Service in the Ministry of Food. The speakers are picked volunteers and receive special instructions before starting on tour.

Sparrow introduced for Purpose. The sparrow was introduced into the United States for a specific purpose. He was expected to destroy certain noxious insects, especially the larvae of moths, some of them native, others like the sparrow himself mistakenly imported. The native kinds were nuisances in city parks and shaded city streets. Native birds, which now under protection are common city dwellers, would probably have come to do every service the sparrow did; but it does not require a very old resident of New York to remember the days when caterpillars rained down on the Sabbath fiery of gentilefolk crossing the parks, and those caterpillars the sparrow undeniably did clean up, and New York was grateful. With the other moths, however, alien moths like the Spanish fly, the caterpillar of the scourge of vegetation—the sparrow failed.

Flagler's Dream Coming True. The announcement that a contract has been signed by the F. & O. Steamship company for the transportation over the Key West ferry of a large amount of sugar and pineapples demonstrates that the dream of Henry W. Flagler, which caused him to build the "overcast railroad" and the ferry system between Havana and Key West, is coming true. It was Mr. Flagler's dream that the railroad and ferry would be crowded with northbound traffic. During the first years of the ferry the results have been just the opposite, however, but Mr. Flagler is not deterred. But there is reason to believe now that the traffic is beginning to go north also, as the builder had planned.—Havana Post.

Fine Investment. "I think it is ever some land in the Danish West Indies, we have just acquired."

U. S. Controls 75 Per Cent Food

Hundred Millions Saved To Consumers Through the Activity Of The Government.

By David M. Church (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Approximately seventy-five per cent of the food supply of America is today under the control of the United States. Generally it is the fact that the control has been made voluntary. The United States food administration, by virtue of its power of licensing food industries, governs the prices in the staple food products of the world. The food administration has been in action but five weeks and part of that time it had no official capacity or power of action. In that five weeks it is estimated that close to $100,000,000 has been saved for the house-holders of the United States. The first big accomplishment of the food administration was the control of wheat prices. This came through voluntary agreement of elevator owners and millers. Elevators and millers' plants are now subject to regulations. The price of wheat has been fixed and estimated today in the hands of food administration officials show that millions of dollars are being saved. Flour has dropped three dollars a barrel under these regula-tions; sugar, another big food commodity, has gone under license. By virtue of a voluntary agreement, authorized by an order of President Wilson, the sugar industry is now in the hands of the government. Sugar prices have dropped, and experts say will continue to drop until thirty million dollars will be saved for consumers by January first.

THE FIGHTING TRAIL

Mobilization of Army Going Well

About One Half of the First Draft At Camps or En Route For Assignments.

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Practically one-half of the first national army of the United States is mobilizing today. Selected men to the number of 343,000 are boarding trains in all parts of the country that will carry them to the encampments where they will be trained to take their places in the front line trenches in France.

Early reports to the Provost Marshal General's office indicate that this is the biggest military movement in the history of the United States and is being carried out without confusion and with a minimum of discomfort to the selected men.

British merchant ships are forbidden by the British admiralty to go to the aid of vessels being attacked by German submarines. American ships are under no such orders.

MME. PETROVA IN "THE LAW OF THE LAND"

CELEBRATED RUSSIAN ACTRESS IN GRIPPING DRAMA FIRST OF WEEK

"I am really living this picture." Mme. Petrova was heard to observe the other day during the filming of her latest Paramount picture, "The Law of the Land." It is one of the most vitally thrilling and intense pictures in which I have ever appeared," she continued, "and I find that after a few scenes I actually merge my own identity with that of Margaret, poor, fragile Margaret, accused of murdering her own husband. Even at home when rehearsals are over I feel myself falling back into the role and listening to my own heart. The Little Chap's daughter of the dreaded step of the cruel husband." "The Law of the Land" is coming to the Idaho theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The program will include a comedy, two acts of vaudeville, and a specially arranged program on the big orchestral pipe organ. Shown everywhere else at advanced prices, the usual prices of 10 and 20c for evening performances will prevail.

PREVENTS SIDE DRAFT

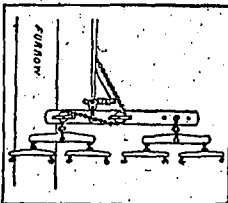

Illustration Shows How Evener Is Constructed.

Two Ordinary Doubletrees, Good Tough Stick, Two Iron Pulleys for Strong Chain and Two Braces, Are Needed.

In response to numerous queries Wisconsin Agriculturist illustrates and describes a four-horse evener to prevent side draft as follows:

Two doubletrees of ordinary length, a good tough stick of which to make the long evener, two iron pulleys which will let a strong small link chain work through them, two bolts to go through the pulleys, and two strap-iron braces over the pulleys, will be needed.

The stick for the evener should be 3 feet 4 inches long, and the first pulley will be put on 7 inches from the right end of it, measuring to center of pulley. Measure 15 1/4 inches from the center of this pulley and bore hole for the bolt. Now measure 30 1/2 inches from the right end of this evener and bore hole for the second pulley bolt so that the two pulleys are 24 inches apart.

It is best to bore two or three holes at the left end of the long evener. Put the first one 3 inches from the end and the others 2 and 4 inches further in. This evener works one horse in the furrow and three on the returned land with no side draft, say those who have used it.

LIME REQUIRED BY ALFALFA

On Soils Which Are at All Acid It Is Absolutely Essential for Successful Stand.

Alfalfa is one of the great lime lovers. Reports made to the Iowa experiment station indicate that an average of over a thousand fields, those which received no lime yielded 3.4 tons to the acre, while those that received lime before seeding yielded at the rate of four tons to the acre, and those which received lime after seeding, at the rate of 8.8 tons to the acre. Lime generally pays for itself, even on soils which are fairly rich in lime, and on soils which are at all acid it is absolutely essential to successful alfalfa growing to spread lime at the rate of one to two tons to the acre. The easy way to spread it is with a lime spreader. With the increasing use of lime, there should soon be a lime spreader in every community in the corn belt.

TELL ALFALFA FROM CLOVER

Formation of Leaf Enables One to Distinguish Plants While Young—Longer When Old.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The leaf of alfalfa is divided into three leaflets; the middle one of which has a short stem, differing in this respect from red and white clovers, in which the center leaflet is attached directly at the base.

This difference in the two plants readily enables one to distinguish alfalfa from red clover when the plants are very young.

As the plants become older the leaflets of the alfalfa become more elongated than in the clovers.

METHODS OF DOCKING LAMBS

Burning With an Iron Is Favored by Kansas Experts—Wound Is Seared and Doesn't Bleed.

When docking lambs the four feet of the animal should be held together tightly against the body of the operator, points out A. M. Paterson, instructor for animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural College. There are two methods of docking. One is by cutting off with a sharp knife and the other is by burning with a docking iron. The latter is preferred, especially if the lamb has a large tail. The hot iron sears over the wound and prevents bleeding. If the lambs are old it is well to tie a string around the stump to prevent bleeding.

COMFORTS FOR WORK HORSES

Proves Small Pasture Which They Can Be Turned Into a Day's Work—Does Them Good.

One of the best things you can do to provide a small pasture for your work horses. It should be near the barn so that the horse can easily be turned into it each night after they come from the field. A bite of green grass, a roll and an hour or two out in the open will do them a world of good. One boy might leave them out at night. The work the following day can be much more easily done if such comforts are provided.

BURSTING HEAD OF CABBAGE

Trouble Caused by Rapid Growth and May Be Prevented by Breaking Off Some of Roots.

Many persons growing their own vegetables have experienced considerable annoyance in having a large number of fine heads of cabbage to burst, before the vegetable can be used or marketed.

The bursting is caused by rapid growth, and usually occurs after a warm rain which has followed a dry spell. It is surprising how rapidly the heads will split and push out from the center, which is damaging unless the cabbage is used at once.

To prevent cabbage from bursting, go to each head and pull it just enough to break a large number of the small rootlets, but not enough to allow the head to fall or lean very much to one side. This will lessen the amount of moisture and food taken into the plant and the development of the head, and consequently the bursting will cease. In most cases the cabbage will remain perfect and unharmed, and can be sold or used before any damage results.

Heads of cabbage about to burst, or even those which have split, can be kept for several weeks, without damage by simply following the above instructions carefully.

PREVENT SCOURS IN CALVES

Cause of Great Loss to Dairymen Is Due Almost Entirely to Overfeeding or Dirty Pails.

The most fatal disease in calves is the scours. This simple trouble is the cause of our great loss among the calves during the first four or five months. It is owing almost invariably to one of two things—either overfeeding or feeding from dirty pails. The first thing to do when this appears is to cut down the feed and cleanse the pails thoroughly.

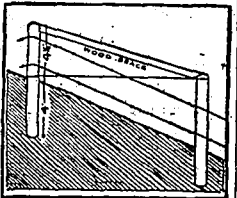

Scours are sometimes caused by feeding sour milk and then sweet milk. A good calf can be raised on sour milk if he is fed sour milk all of the time after he is a month old and the milk is in the same degree of sourness when fed, but no one can raise a good calf on sour milk one feed and sweet milk the next.

And no person can raise a bunch of good calves who feeds from dirty pails.

CORNER POST ON A HILLSIDE

corner post, says a writer in The Farmer. A wooden brace rests on the top of the second post and against the corner post at or near the top. A wire brace fastens to lower end of wood brace and to corner post at the ground, and should be nearly level.

THIN OUT THE STRAWBERRY

Most Common Mistake to Allow Plants to Become Too Thick—Row Becomes Solid Mass.

Possibly the most common mistake made in the growing of strawberries is that of allowing the plants to become too thick.

Most varieties of strawberries when properly cared for produce so many runners that the row becomes a solid mass of plants.

When this is the condition the grower is producing plants at the expense of fruit.

SUPERIOR ALFALFA FOR HAY

Best Time to Cut Crop Is When Young Shoots at Bases of the Plants First Appear.

In general, alfalfa should be cut for hay when the young shoots at the bases of the plants first appear. If these new shoots become long enough to be cut off by the mower, the crop may be badly damaged. The blossoms often appear simultaneously with the new shoots, but blossoms alone are not a safe guide to the time for cutting.

DETERMINE ABILITY OF COW

Milk Scale and Babcock Test, Assisted by Judgment of Eyes, Are Most Practical Means.

The cow is very much like a race-horse when it comes to judging her ability to perform. Both the race-horse and the cow must be judged by means of the eye assisted by the record of performance. The milk scale and the Babcock test, assisted by judgment of the eye, are the best means of exercising judgment in building up a profitable dairy herd.

Installs $15,000 Musical Instrument

Idaho Theater Adds Orchestral Pipe Organ to Finely Equipped Theater — Is Many Instruments in One.

Carpenters and factory experts are busily engaged at the Idaho theater this week installing a mammoth fifteen thousand dollar orchestral pipe organ. The assembling of the big instrument has been under way for several days, under the direction of N. B. Jacobus, director of a musical school at San Francisco that specializes in the instruction of what is called "auto-playing."

Mr. Jacobus believes the installation will be completed in time to use the instrument for the first time in connection with the Marguerite Clark production Thursday evening. The initial concert on the pipe organ will be given by Mr. Jacobus, and he will remain in the city long enough to instruct the house plants in its operation.

School Buckles Down to Work

Girls' Glee Club and Band and Orchestra Organized—Boys in Service Are Missed.

School is now under way and most everyone is down to work. Now teachers and freshmen are becoming accustomed to their new surroundings and the ways of the school.

A girls' glee club of about 35 members has been organized, and is progressing very rapidly under the direction of the new music director, Miss Simpson. Much difficulty arose in organizing a boys' glee club. Many boys wanted to take the chorus work but were unable to arrange to do so during a regular class period.

A band and orchestra of about 20 members each, has been organized under the direction of Mr. Linder. Most of the students were in the band and orchestra last year under the direction of Mr. Wortenberger, and have had training which will help to make an excellent musical department for the high school.

The following last year's first team are back this year: Fix, Glasgow, Neuman, Thomas, Bailey, Van Ness and L. Strong. The underclassmen who played on the football team last year and who are now in the service of the United States are: Capt. Scott, center, and Wilbur Hoiler, fullback, both members of the First Idaho high school.

German Cruelty Amazes Turks

(International News Service)

PASADENA, CAL., Sept. 18.—That even the Turks with their reputation for cruelty stand amazed at the mercilessness of German army officers was the word brought here by Dr. Thomas Davison College, Tarasus, Asia Minor, who for forty years was a resident of the Ottoman Empire.

Forced to leave Tarasus in 1915 with the civil population when the Turks issued the deportation order against the Armenians, Dr. Christie, seventy-four, a veteran of the Civil war, declared that while the Kaiser before the war had been a merciful ruler, the German ruler and would welcome peace.

"You Christians call us cruel," he said a Turkish staff officer told him, adding: "Perhaps we are, but we are far less cruel than the Germans (teach their war officers and men to be in time of war. We stand amazed at the cruelty, ruthlessness and mercilessness being taught us as war measures by the Germans. They tell us that time to war we must recover into no such thing as mercy, regardless of circumstances or conditions, and that the greater the cruelty, brutality and ruthlessness we display the quicker will victory perch upon our banners."

Soldier Tells of Transport Troubles

Boy Who Left American Lake For Europe Finds Much Space Contradiction.

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Trials of an American soldier on board a transport on route to France are detailed in a letter just received here from H. W. Ross, a Californian, and private in the Eighteenth Engineers, U. S. A. Private Ross explained that he is "somewhere in the Atlantic" at the time of writing and hearing the end of a voyage which, up to that time, had consumed fifteen days on the water. An English vessel was used to transport the men to France, and Ross expresses admiration for her crew; most of the members of which have been through several submarine sinkings:

"Dear
"I am writing this under difficulties on a ship presumed to be somewhere in the Atlantic, near the end of a voyage which now is on its fifteenth day. I am wearing a bulky life preserver, which weighs more mentally than physical ease, sitting on a bulk in a four-berth stateroom with a typewriter in my lap. The stateroom is a luxury permitted for letter writing purposes to a mid lieutenant. There is hardly room for my typewriter, one of the portable type, in the troop quarters which are tween decks. There are (dotted by censor) troops abroad, nearly all quartered on the first deck below the main deck in space which once accommodated probably 1,000 average passengers.

"In the days when the ship, a Britisher (name deleted by censor) if the censor lets it stand, granted, they were not understood the conservation of space. They have packed us in wooden bunks, which at first sight are more reminiscent of a coffin. They are two feet six inches long and two tiers high. Mine is a lower. I can't sit on the end without dumping my head on the one above. The only thing to do is to crawl, in, double up, pull off your shoes; place them under your pillow and let it go at that. The vessel has a list to port, which is the sick list, to inhibit. The first night out we shipped a few seas. They came down through the hatchways and lodged under my bunk. As I had placed all of my belongings on the floor, it was disconcerting. My gun and everything else was two feet under water. Some things washed away and I haven't recovered them yet. My hat, for example.

"We came across the United States from American Lake on three special trains somewhere in the west. We landed at Weehawken one morning at daylight, were marched onto a ferryboat, transported across a well known river to a large and famous city, put aboard this craft and we never got off.

"We did not have long on board the ship before we were on the move. We sailed at 6 that evening. The only glimpse I got of the big town was from a side port. I saw a dozen or so well known buildings, then a statue, then nothing more. We were put in at a Canadian port for a few hours to join the convoy train of which this ship is a member.

"At night, we run totally dark. A cigarette lighted on the deck and the man at the other end is under arrest if it's after midnight. I retain freedom because I draw away all my matches the first night out.

"Whenever there is a signal from the flagship, something happens. We either change our course or speed up or reduce. One was put entirely about and back-tracked for a while. Truly, it will be a notable feat if the whole train is landed safely.

"The seas have been terrible. First, they are the English men and therefore not agreeable to Americans' stomachs. Fish for breakfast isn't popular, nor is tea. The food which probably is good enough to begin with, is all steam-cooked and from the popular viewpoint, ruined.

"The mess hall is on the first and second deck. It seats about 700, and we eat at three sittings. Mine is the third. The dining room, a couple of days ago, got so odorous that the American doctors ordered a renovation. But at that, one can't but admit the crew. The skipper has been remaining through the submarine zone since the war and never has been hit. Most of the crew have been torpedoed or mined on various vessels, some two or three times. There is a scarcity of women and boys are admitted to the crew. But England, one of the officers was telling me, has an effective way of keeping her sailors sailing. Three weeks is the limit. He is allowed ashore. If he hasn't another job by that time he is drafted for the army. He can be the only survivor of the most notable work of the war, but he has only twenty-one days to tell his friends about it.

"I probably will have more time to write later. Give my regards to everyone.

Yours,
"H. W. ROSS"

SAXON "SIX"

A big touring car for five people

Buy Before the Boom Motor Car Prices Sure to Advance

Buy your Saxon "Six" now and you buy at the bottom of a market that's going up shortly.

Wait and you'll pay for it.

All motor cars must soon increase their prices to cover the extraordinary rise in cost of labor and materials. Many have already done so.

$935 is probably the lowest price at which Saxon "Six" will be sold for a long time.

Perhaps you are thinking of buying a car costing $200 or $300 more than Saxon "Six."

If you are, then by all means see Saxon "Six" first. And you'll save the $200 or $300.

For we can prove to you—or you can prove to yourself—that there is no car costing $200 or $300 more than Saxon "Six" that will match it in fine-car quality.

For instance. One of Saxon "Six's" important features—Feddors radiator—is also found on 8 cars selling for more than $3,000. Saxon "Six" costs $935.

Again, another of the important features of Saxon "Six"—Timken axles—is also found on seven cars selling for more than $1,700.

One more. Still another important feature of Saxon "Six"—Spiral bevel gear—is also found on 12 cars selling for more than $1,350.

And there are 7 other of the big features of Saxon "Six" such as Timken bearings, Timken axles, Continental motor, Stromberg carburetor, Remy ignition, Fedders radiator, Spiral Bevel gear, found on 30 cars selling for more than $1,150.

Now consider the matter of upkeep cost. You will find the cost of running Saxon "Six" quite visibly less than the cost of running a car priced several hundred dollars higher.

Its six-cylinder motor has been so refined and developed, and vibration and friction have been so largely eliminated that you get full mileage from each atom of gas and oil.

It is important to consider that Saxon "Six" is a six-cylinder car.

For with four cylinders any motor naturally has far more vibration and friction than a "Six."

And it is this vibration and friction ceaselessly tearing at the motor and parts that impairs flexibility, slows up acceleration, makes a difference of degrees in the quietness of its operation, increases repair-service costs, and finally takes nearly 50% from the standard efficiency of the motor.

These being facts—and facts generally known now—it is obviously not the best of business judgment to purchase any "four" priced between $800 and $1000 when Saxon "Six" can be purchased at $935, f. o. b. Detroit. It may not be that low for long, so buy now.

Saxon "Six" Sedan $1395; Saxon "Six" Chummy Roadster $935; Saxon Roadster, $395—Prices, f. o. b. Detroit.

German Destroy as They Retire on Riga

Lay Country Waste as Reorganized Masses Hurl Them Backward to Bay.

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) PETROGRAD, Sept. 19.—As the Germans are thrown back on the Riga front they are burning villages and laying the country waste. It was reported today by Commissioner Muntz, who is representing the provisional government at headquarters. The Russian forces are consolidated in their own positions as they advance towards Riga and have their counter offensive movement well in hand. The government has issued a proclamation to the army raising the part taken by the rank and file in the Korniloff revolt. The government states that the leaders of the mutiny have surrendered to the government, but that the result might have been different but for the devotion of the soldiers to their government and to Russia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Ambassador Bakmetoff, diplomatic representative in Washington of the new Russian republic is prepared to plodge formally that his government will remain in the war against Germany, but that he is instructed officially by Premier Kerensky to plodge the new Russian republic to make no peace until all make peace. Ambassador Bakmetoff will also detail to Secretary Lansing the present situation in Russia. He will outline the measures taken by Premier Kerensky to strengthen his ministry and to rule Russia everywhere throughout the republic. His message will be the most optimistic that has come out of Russia since early in March when the revolution got under way.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 19.—The government is adopting a lenient attitude towards persons who figured in the Korniloff revolt. The order for the arrest of General Kadornides, commander of the Don Cossacks, was rescinded today. Previously General

Miss Rankin Scores Copper Trust Method

Makes Powerful Plan for Investigation Into Dark Ways of the Combination.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Drama of the threatened shortage of copper vital for war work was played today at the doors of the Ancon Copper interests by Representative Jeannette Rankin of Montana, appearing before the House Mines and Mining committee at a hearing on her resolution to amend the food control law to give the government control of all metal mines. Miss Rankin reiterated that the copper operators through the "rustling card" system have practically created a blacklist. Through control of the votes they elect their own judges and for twenty years have controlled the government of Montana, she declared. Miss Rankin charged that men are discharged if they attempt to form a union, or enter any complaint about working conditions. The workmen's compensation law is so juggled that it means nothing in the long list of copper mine contracts, who insisted. To back up her statement she asked that members of the council of national defense be summoned before the committee to tell what they know of the situation.
