During these large movements of troops it is certain that these bodies of men will often suffer from actual hunger and thirst...

Refreshment units have been organized wherever chapters are located... through which the troop will pass, and will supply sandwiches, coffee, etc.

Argentine Congress Breaks With Germany

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 25.—A diplomatic break with Germany now exists with the president of the republic.

After a 24-hour session the chamber of deputies voted in support of the senate resolution calling for a break with Germany...

The president it is said has pacific leanings and it was a group of his followers that blocked action in the chamber last week after the senate had voted for a break with Germany.

The action of the chamber comes at a time when the whole republic is in the throes of a railway strike, but there is much activity in the war and marine departments indicating strong action is to be taken to clear the situation.

Money to be Paid "When the War Is Won"—America Will Ignore Suggestion of Maximilian Harden—Pope Benedict Said to be Preparing Another Note as Result of Private Assurance That Replies of Central Powers Were for Home Consumption and That They Will Offer More Reasonable Terms Soon.

(International News Service Licensed Wire) AMSTERDAM, Sept. 25.—The Pan-German league has issued a pamphlet telling the German people that the imperial government will exact an indemnity of $87,500,000,000 from the allies "when the war is won."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—An armistice before German and American troops meet on the battlefield, as suggested by Maximilian Harden...

There will be no formal statement of this government's attitude since the suggestion comes from a private citizen and not from the German government.

Maximilian Harden is regarded by Washington officials as one of the most enlightened of Germans and his views always are listened to with interest.

But today government officials believed Harden had been deceived by the German reply to the pope's peace note when he said it reflected the honest will of a majority of the German people.

GENEVA, Sept. 25.—Pope Benedict XV is already studying the form which his next peace note to the belligerents shall take, according to a dispatch from Rome today.

It is believed that the pontiff knows the peace terms of the central powers and that the next move will be written in accordance.

The Hague, Sept. 24.—The real results of the central powers replies to the peace note of Pope Benedict XV seem hidden so far under a camouflage of conflicting news comment.

German newspapers make a big play upon the assertion that the German reply really represents the will of the German people...

Russian Radicals Gather at Capital

Extreme Demands Voiced by Many Who Will Be Delegates At Petrograd Tomorrow.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 25.—Large numbers of socialists, Maximilians, social democrats, sailors, workmen and peasants were gathered here today for the democratic convention which is scheduled to open tomorrow.

The radical who now control the central committee of the council of workmen and soldiers delegates in Petrograd, aim to eliminate every vestige of working class proprietorship and "classes" from the government...

PLOTTERS SEEK TO DICREDIT LEAGUERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—German propagandists in the United States were uncovered in a new role today...

The food administration regards this activity as proof that the work being accomplished by it is a sore point with Germany.

The most frequent statement circulated by the pro-German elements is that conservation of food is being urged now so that the government can seize it later from citizens and turn it over to the army.

The State fair started yesterday with great prospects. Clear weather after rain ensures large attendance with comfort.

Major S. H. Hays of this city is reported seriously ill with a blood clot on the brain which has kept him in an unconscious condition for several days.

AIR RAID IN ENGLAND KILLS MANY PEOPLE

HIGH ANGLE CANNON STOPS MOST OF SHIPS BEFORE REACHING LONDON CITY

Both Zeppelins and Aeroplanes Used

Vast Fleet of British Airships Went Up to Drive Out Invaders—Size of Raid Considered to be Portentous.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Fifteen persons were killed and 70 wounded in London during the German air raid last night, it was officially announced today.

The damage was comparatively slight for only one, or possibly two of the German aeroplanes succeeded in reaching this city, so violent was the fire from the high angle cannons and so vigorous the defense of the British airmen.

For the first time in many months the Germans used both air ships and aeroplanes, the aeroplanes attacking the coast while the aeroplanes tried to penetrate inland.

In view of the large territory attacked and the number of aeroplanes and Zeppelins taking part, last night's German air raid against England was one of the most portentous since the attacks were begun...

Not only was London attacked, but bombs were dropped along the east coast all the way from Kenilworth, at the southeastern extremity of England, to Yorkshire.

The attackers were subjected to a hot fire from the high angle cannon as soon as their presence became known, while huge numbers of British aeroplanes went aloft attacking the invaders.

The planes retired they were followed out to sea. An early statement issued by the government stated that about half a dozen persons had been killed and more than a score wounded, but at that time the casualty list had not been completely checked up.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE OVER THE COAL MINES

UNLESS AGREEMENT OVER WAGES IS REACHED STEP WILL BE TAKEN SOON

Dr. Garfield Talks to Both Sides

Operators and Workmen Said to Stand Together to Get More Out of the Ultimate Consumer—Shortage Feared.

(N. S. Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Unless the coal operators and miners adjust their differences within a very few days the United States will take over and operate the mines.

The fuel administration with the great week has had information laid before it pointing to a present coal shortage even along the Atlantic seaboard.

The fuel administration with the present week has had information laid before it pointing to a present coal shortage even along the Atlantic seaboard.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, fuel administrator, today appealed to miners and operators of the coal fields at all costs to avert a strike as the miners opened their fight here today for increased pay.

Miners and operators are prepared to demand an increase of 10 cents a ton to be paid to machine and pick miners and of 1.50 a day for day laborers...

Dr. Garfield had opened the conference, with his address, the miners and operators caucused separately.

The meeting today is an emergency meeting in which the miners and operators of the United States, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana are represented by eight delegates and alternates.

Dr. Garfield refused to say what district was to receive increases, but it is known that some counties in Washington, Osage county in Kansas and practically the whole state of Alabama are benefited.

Giants Get the Pennant Monday

(N. S. Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The New York Giants were the champions of the National League this afternoon displacing the Brooklyn Dodgers, who won the title last season.

By defeating the Cardinals 2 to 1 in St. Louis today the Giants arrived at a mathematical clinch on the pennant when the right to represent the National League in the coming world's series.

The intimation that increases are in prospect were especially cheering to the operators. Their attitude, the outwardly fighting the miners' demands, is that the whole matter is up to Dr. Garfield.

HOW AVIATION IS TAUGHT ON FIELDS IN FRENCH NATION

C. J. Younger, Twin Falls Boy, Writes Home of Experiences Since Joining the Aero Branch of Our National Army.

Having entered the aviation service, C. J. Younger, whose interesting letters from the front to his parents have aroused great interest, now writes concerning experiences in his training. The following communication along that line, showing how things are done, in the aviation branch and the experiences of those taking part:

Sunday, Aug. 26, 1917.
Aviation School, Tours, France
Dear Folks:
It is raining and blowing considerable this afternoon, so there will be no more flying today, though we will have a lecture in a few minutes. Everything is going along nicely at school here and we are all just about tickled to death—we're in the army now.

We enlisted in the American army for four years as a private in the air service, but since this is an officer's training school we will all (we Americans) will be given the rank of sergeant in a few days and a commission of first lieutenant as soon as we get our privets. With good luck we may finish here in eight or nine weeks but our training will only then be half completed, for we train in loops and stunts, machine gunning, aerial bombing. This is a French school and I was one of the first Americans from the American army to arrive here. I'm glad to receive French training though none of our instructors speak English, they make known their wants very satisfactorily by numerous, slaps, jabs and jerks on our clothing and objects in the air. I hope to do solo (single) flying alone in a week or so. At present I go up with an instructor in a dual control machine and purpose to make a false move (which I most frequently do) he corrects it. The country around here from the height of a few hundred meters is absolutely wonderful. My poor little vocabulary is entirely too inadequate to anywhere near describe the beauties of miniature looking lakes, fields, of tiny like miniature chateaux—with most beautiful hedges and gardens hidden away in the innumerable miniature forests here. And we are a most happy bunch—all American and French men, with practically every interesting experience imaginable; and the government treats us most decently with very decent quarters, if we overlook the trouble caused by bed bugs; and the food is excellent. Due to the nature of our hours we have four meals a day and are not permitted to sleep we must utilize part of the afternoon for sleeping. We do not touch the machines outside of flying them. We have mechanics for the purpose and for a few francs a month we receive fairly decent valet service.

Of course, small ups are always possible, but that's all in the game and looked forward to as almost inevitable. Yesterday morning there were five smash ups, but not a man was so much as scratched. It looks funny to see a fellow crawl out from under a machine after a fall, which just about demolishes the machine and to have the fellow grin sheepishly (and in most cases a little sticky), when he asks for a cigarette.

I hope the men in Twin Falls are not suffering from cold feet and are not trying to be exempted. It's a matter of the outcome, don't think I can be called any kind of a slacker, and if I only make good in this work I shall certainly glory in being so active a part; and again, I think in most any case you folks can have a more or less feeling of pride that at least, give me credit.

Of course, as yet, none of us know what our future duties are to be. It is quite likely that some of us will be sent to the front in the near future here and in the states. I don't suppose its possible, but if I'm selected for duties at the front immediately on finishing my training, my going to make every effort to return to the states for a short visit.

Our personal outfits consist of a flannel lined leather suit, sweater, heavy gloves, hood coat and a very high and efficient cork helmet.

Since the 7th of July I have received but one letter from you folks and I suppose that's all in the game. I'm new, blingness of the army post office over here that I'll still wait some time for the next letter. Please note my new address and did you attend to my insurance?

Tours is one of the four big cities of France, with many interesting cathedrals, buildings and historical places. As yet I have not gone to the city from camp, but I intend to get off for a day and do a regular job of sight seeing.

Just returned from a lecture and since there is to be no flying this afternoon we are to have supper at 7:30 instead of 9:00.

It certainly was a relief to get away from Paris and I like it very much as a beautiful city. It's rather deadening there if there has nothing to do. Paris is arranged almost entirely for the foreigner and in that respect disagreeable.

I will write again in a few days and I hope that in the meantime, I receive a letter from you. Please note address.
Love,
C. J. Younger, student pilot, Air Service, American Expeditionary Force, Paris, France.

Certain-teed Roofing

CERTAIN-TEED is not cheaper because the quality is lower, but because it is a less expensive roofing to manufacture. It is better, not only because it is cheaper, but also because it is light weight, weather-tight, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant and costs practically nothing to maintain.

It is now recognized as the preferable type of roofing for office buildings, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is necessary.

CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

Certain-teed Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Tiles are expanding wood and slate shingles for residences. They are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle, split. They are fire-retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are the best quality paint materials, ground and mixed with mechanical accuracy. Made for all uses and in all colors. With certain-teed as with roofing, the name CERTAIN-TEED is a guarantee of quality and satisfaction.

"SAVE MILCH COWS AND SAVE THE BABIES."

(International Neag Service) COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 22—"Save the milch cow!" Officials in charge of the National Dairy Show held here October 18-27, have adopted this slogan. "Kill the cow and you will kill the babies. This truth is proven by the statistics on infant mortality in the countries at war," says W. E. Skinner, general manager of the proposed big show.

"It is absolutely essential to the welfare of the nation that the sale of dairy cows for slaughter cease at once. Since January 1 there has been a decrease of 15 per cent in the stock of milch cows in this country. With the price of cattle foods so high that it is hard to make a profit on the sale of milk, the farmer has sold for from $80 to $100, the cow for which he paid $60, and said 'I'll buy it again when the price goes down. But he won't be able to buy when he wants to if the slaughtering continues."

"The National Dairy Show association with this year impress upon the dairymen that it is their duty to keep their cows, even if they have to lose money to do so."

BEAUTIFUL ACTRESS TAKEN DEADLY POISON.

(I. N. S. ## SOME POINTS FAVOR GIANTS AND OTHERS LEAN TO THE WHITE SOX

Hard to Figure From Past Achievements

International News Service Expert Gives Some Tips on Big Men in Coming Battle for the Championship.

By Jack Veiock, (International News Service Editor) NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—A comparison of the White Sox and Giant fielders, whose work in the coming series will be highly important, reveals that there is little to choose one way or the other if figures are to be taken as a basis for sizing them up.

Figures never lie, we are told, yet no set of figures ever compiled has shown how ball players compare in anything else but mechanical ability on the field of play. For instance, the batting, fielding and base-running figures do not show that Eddie Collins is a lightning thinker or that Charley Hoge is one of the smartest ball players in the game. Neither do they show that Artie Fletcher, Buck Weaver or Heinie Zimmerman are players who base an abnormal abundance of fighting spirit.

So all that can be gotten from the average covering the greater part of the present season is a line on the mechanical ability of the rival fielders who will clash in the world's series this fall, and because up-to-the-minute fielding figures are unavailable, and batting averages do not indicate what the players may do in a seven-game series, much must be taken from observations of the work.

At first base it appears to the writer that Holke may be counted on to stand off Chick Gandil. Holke is the more experienced of the two, but during the present season he has learned much about playing the bag that he never knew before, and, although he may waver at times, he does not lose his head. Holke is Gandil's superior at the bat, for he has been hitting around .300 of late, and he has hit around the .27 mark. Gandil's long experience is a point in his favor, but all in all it looks like fifty-fifty.

A second base the White Sox must be given the edge. Eddie Collins is an all-around better player than Buck Herzog, and, though both men are good thinkers, the latter knows a little inside out. Collins is a split-second the fastest in the use of any matter. Collins is also a better hitter. He has been hitting Herzog by more than fifty points, and because of Herzog's spinal injury, which may eventually force him to retire from the game, as a regular, his fielding effectiveness cannot be compared to that of the lightning-fast, sure-footed Collins.

The Giants will even up the count at shortstop, however. Artie Fletcher has it over Swede Hishberg in hitting by some fifty points and is practically as sure a fielder, though a step slower, than the Chicago youth. Both players are peppy performers, both and courage to their mates on the infield, because they are sure fielders and because they fight till the last man is out; but Fletcher's long experience and his hitting may mention his ability to take throws to the key-stone sack and put the nail on the runner, gives him the call.

And when it comes to the closest comparison of all—that between Heinie Zimmerman and George Weaver, who, it is expected, will fit as a fiddle and as full of fight and ginger as ever by the time the big series starts. Here are two players whose work around third base is both brilliant and consistent. There are many critics who will say that Weaver is the better fielder, yet Zimmerman has performed better this year as a fielder than ever before in the big series. Zimmerman is a flashy stopper. The only point against him is his temperament, for he is a player who is liable to go up in the air under fire from the opposing bench, because he is prone to lose his temper. Weaver is a fighter, too, but much more level-headed than the Great Zim.

As a batsman Zimmerman has shown himself to be some twenty-five points better than Weaver on the season, but the Chicagoan is always a dangerous man with the bludgeon, and both players have taught the pitchers of passing clubs to respect them in the pitcher's box. Of the two hits the ball hardest and farthest when he gets a too-hold.

In base-running the White Sox infielders are superior, but the Giants as a whole, are perhaps better rough-and-ready hitters, and they lack nothing in the line of ginger. If Weaver does not play in the big series the Giants will have an edge, for McMullen is not to be compared with Zimmerman. Otherwise there seems to be little to choose between the two, likely Old Dame Forting will play her part in settling the question of which infield showed to better advantage when the series is over.

Club Did Not Act Says J. McMillan

Declines Statement That It Sent At-Torney to Issue on Canal Bill an Error—Wrote as an Individual

"I wrote as an individual in opposition to the passage of the law amending the Cary act which was enacted by the last legislature," said James McMillan, yesterday, when asked if he had taken part in the fight and in what capacity, "but I did not write as secretary of the Twin Falls Commercial club and that organization took no part in the fight whatever, and the statement that it sent an attorney over there is wholly incorrect. No attorney was sent there by the organization, which as I say, took no part in the fight."

"I got a letter from Mr. McMillan opposing the enactment of the bill when it was pending," said Representative Hoge, "but I do not recall that it was written by club stationery. It was signed individually and not as secretary. The attorney of whom you speak told me, as I recall it, that he came at the request of another attorney who was unable to be present. He did not claim to me that he represented the Twin Falls Commercial club, or make any other claim, as I recall it, than the one which you state. The attorney referred to, but not mentioned by name in the address at the canal meeting Saturday, corroborated the statement of Mr. Sims relative to the translation of the bill. He said that he was personally opposed to the measure and that he was against it as a citizen."

As the name of the attorney who went to Boise was not mentioned at the meeting, that gentleman suggested that it not be dragged in at this time, hence it is omitted for the present. He added, however, that if anyone were anxious to know why he opposed the measure he would be glad to tell the stockholders his reasons at a meeting. He said he was not asked to go by the Commercial club or Mr. McMillan.

Asked whether Attorney A. M. Bowen wrote in behalf of the canal company to try to stop the action of the legislature, Secretary W. G. Taylor said yesterday that he would suggest that Mr. Bowen be interviewed, if able to stand an interview. He said that the canal board had taken no action toward getting the bill killed and if Mr. Bowen did write, he wrote as an individual. Owing to the condition of Mr. Bowen's health an interview was not sought.

U-BOATS NOW USE SMOKE SCREEN DEVICES

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—New German devices for adding U-boat frightfulness are reported by passengers on an American liner that arrived in port from England.

One in the use of a smoke screen in which the submarine may conceal itself while attacking, escaping or submerging. The smoke screen has been used for months by battleships, destroyers and merchantmen. Its first use by a submarine was reported in the warnings of a U-boat off the Atlantic coast.

The other device is the use of mirrored periscopes. By coating them with silver the periscopes reflect the surrounding water and become invisible to a couple of hundred yards away. It is believed this explains why survivors of several ships lately sunk saw no evidence of a submarine before or after the attack.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD" IS PLAY THAT WILL ATTRACT.

There is a wholesomeness and charm about "The Old Homestead" that is all its own. Plays have come and plays have gone, but never has the American stage presented anything that could compare with this masterpiece in its sweetness, its quaint and irresistible humor, its homely philosophy its delightful and true drawings of characters that can never fail to hold their places in the minds and hearts of all. Who that has ever seen this play can forget it, and those their desire to renew their acquaintance with the old folks down on the farm at Swansey New Hampshire.

The great power to attract that "The Old Homestead" possesses is the sympathetic note it strikes in all of us, the home note, that appeal of which is strong within us no matter how hardened or calloused we may have been, and it is just that note that has made of this play, the enduring success it has been. For nearly forty years "The Old Homestead" has been the magnet that has drawn millions to the theatre and yet its power to attract has not diminished one jot. It remains today one of the greatest box office attractions the theatre can boast of. It will be presented here at the Lavington theatre on Monday, October 1st, by Matt & Night, with all of its original completeness, by an excellent cast, including many artists who have been identified with the play for fifteen to twenty years.

"MESSENGER GIRLS" A SUCCESS IN CHICAGO

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—New York girls, being part and parcel of the offstage cast, may not be able to put over the simple job of being "telegraph messenger girls," but in Chicago they are just walking away with it.

Two girls, Margaret McNamara and Stella Srokowaka, fifteen years old, have been employed in the Postal Telegraph office in the Hearst Building for the past month, and their commissions have run higher than those of the two boys employed there.

Butter wrapper headquarters is at the TIMES office, where they will be printed at any time, in their turn, like any other job.

THE KAISER'S REPLY

That German reply to the peace proposals of the pope should be considered sufficient to mislead the German people, as on its face it appears intended that it should, is the greatest reflection cast on the intelligence of that people by anything written during the present war.

The proposals made by the pope had been rejected by the United States on the ground that no pledge made by the present ruler of Germany or the military coterie which surrounded him could be accepted. It was held that an agreement to carry out the terms of the proposal, or any other terms, would receive consideration only if unambiguously endorsed by the German people through instrumentalities having power to carry out the wishes of that people without interference by the monarchical element.

The terms were not discussed in the reply of the president. They involved the evacuation by the Germans of all of France and Belgium, with diplomatic adjustment "for certain cases, if there exist particular reasons," for economic recompense. This was later in a quasi-official manner explained to mean that in some instances notably in the case of Belgium damages for actual loss should be collected, the amount to be determined by diplomacy.

It is plain from the reading of the replies of the emperors that they do not meet these conditions. The impression is conveyed by the Austrian monarch that he would be glad to yield that much, but that he is under the control of his powerful ally. The German reply is the same sort of froth that has been handed out for the past two years by the kaiser. It promises nothing definite, even if the promises of the German ruler were worth anything, which they are not.

The most amusing part of the whole episode is the portion in which the world is assured that the people of Germany are close to the kaiser. What also would the kaiser, and a minister responsible to the kaiser alone say? But the German people have not spoken. The answer of the kaiser is not the answer given severally by the majority of the members of the reichstag, which itself is largely an aristocratic body and more inclined toward the kaiser than the people are. The world cannot take the word of the present German regime that it represents the people, particularly in view of the repeated falsehoods, in which it has been caught. The way for the German government to get the opinions of the German people is to give them something like a manhood suffrage and let a ministry responsible to the representatives of the German people speak for them.

However, there is a possibility that the kaiser is playing a smooth game to save his throne and to place the responsibility of peace with defeat on the representatives of the people. The Russian government recently made public correspondence between Emperor William and Czar Nicholas showing that at the time of the Russo-Japanese war the kaiser advised "Nicky" to let the Duma make the peace and take the odium of ending the war by yielding. Arbitrary as he is, Bill isn't an idiot. He perhaps feels that the movement in the reichstag toward securing a ministry responsible to the people must ultimately win. He may figure that if he can yield to the demand for a responsible ministry at a time when the responsibility of a losing peace can be placed on representatives of the people, he at least will be able to retain a position similar to that occupied by King George of England, or King Haakon of Norway—that of "a respectable rubber stamp."

That any one in the allied countries could be deceived into thinking that the profession of Chancellor Michaelis that the kaiser represents the people in his reply is astounding. Yet we find certain London papers taking that view and insisting that not only must no peace be made with the kaiser, but that no peace is possible with the German people, until they too, are utterly crushed. This part of the British press represents the reactionary Tory element, which fought Gladstone, Campbell-Bannerman, Asquith and Lloyd-George in all their measures of economic reform. It represents the element that forced Great Britain into the "pact of Paris" which contemplated wholesale annexations—a pact that has been dissolved by the withdrawal of Russia, the practical rejection of Lloyd-George and the vigorous exposition of a sound international policy by President Wilson. When the utterances of these reactionary British newspapers are quoted in Germany, they will help strengthen the kaiser with such of the people there, as may be deceived into thinking that they represent the sentiments of the nations at war with Germany.

No annexations, the right of each people to work out its own destiny, the payment of actual damages for injuries inflicted, and agreements made with representatives of the German people, with no reprisals thereafter, is the present policy of the foes of Germany. For this policy President Wilson is principally responsible, with the co-operation of Russia. It is a sane policy and one which will make for permanent peace. If the German people should by their votes, on a fair test stand by all that the kaiser stands for, it would then be necessary to crush them; and it will be necessary to continue to fight until they are crushed, unless they show that they disapprove of the kaiser's policy and that they have power to repudiate that policy.

But the Tory papers that insist on assuming that the holding open of the door to the German people is a wrong one, play into the hands of the kaiser, whether consciously or unconsciously.

THE BUHL ROAD ELECTION

Certain business men in Twin Falls have the credit for lending their effort to the defeat of the former Buhl Highway District bond election. Arguments were used that if the highway bonds were defeated, the city of Twin Falls would see that a hard surfaced road was built direct from Castleford to Twin Falls and from Clover to Twin Falls. This may not have been the dope passed out by the county seat city's organization, but it's just such tactics that started the county division issue. Their repetition only intensifies the agitation and widens the breach. Should opposition to the Buhl Highway District bond election develop in the east end of the county where it is no concern of theirs, such opposition should be elected with emphasis.—Buhl Herald.

Just to refresh the recollection of the Herald, the TIMES' call attention to the fact that during the last previous campaign for bonds in the Buhl Independent district it stood for bonds, first, last and all the time and used every argument possible to convince its readers there that they should vote for good roads. The Buhl papers at the time gave it credit, so this is not in the nature of a complaint because The Herald failed to again note the fact in the editorial quoted above. It does believe, however, that it may properly be referred to in order that the people may recall the whole situation, and understand it.

Relative to the reference to the "county seat city's organization," the TIMES is at a loss to know what organization is referred to. The Twin Falls Commercial club took no action one way or the other, but a delegation of its members headed by Secretary James McMillan worked in the Buhl Highway District FOR THE BONDS and their activities were censured by opponents of the measure.

It was stated here after the election that a certain Twin Falls man, representing a non-resident of the state with heavy property in the Buhl district, went down to oppose the bonds in behalf of his principal, which is the only activity against them of which this paper is aware, except some editorial criticisms of the bonds and of the TIMES for favoring them by a local Twin Falls paper, made on its own responsibility. The TIMES believes from comments made personally by Twin Falls citizens at the time, that a majority in this city would have voiced for the Buhl bond issue had they been afforded a chance, though this is only a guess, based on such comments. The TIMES realizes that the voting of bonds on the West End is primarily the business of the people there, though the question is of interest to people outside the district. It is certainly not Twentieth Century economicists to say that "it is no concern of theirs." Only very recently a lot of men from the State of Washington came through Idaho and many other states and were everywhere greeted by large crowds of citizens to hear the advice that they should build good roads through their commonwealths. The more systematic and widespread co-operative effort, the more beneficial the roads which will be built will be to all. Twin Falls people want to go to Buhl to view the big daffies down there and to transact business. Buhl people, maybe, want to come here.

And the terms "Twin Falls" and "Buhl" mean Twin Falls and vicinity and Buhl and vicinity; the farming communities of the East End and the West End, respectively, and not merely the towns designated—what would have been Twin Falls and Buhl counties had the "division bill been passed. It was at one time in human history the case when every town had its toll gates to prevent its neighbors from entering. We have long passed that stage. After the American revolution it was deemed wise to cut down barriers between the states, so we formed a Federal Union. Even the hatreds of a great war cannot today hold angry allies to a compact to put up bars of reprisal after the struggle is over.

We are in a large sense citizens of the world; we cannot help taking interest in our neighbors if we would. Hence, the TIMES does not feel that it was at all statist in its advice to Buhl people last year when it advised that they vote for good roads bonds. It hoped that this action would benefit the whole county. It believes that it would have done so and would have resulted in a better understanding between the communities through increased intercourse.

At present, thinking no less of the

SAXON 'SIX'

A big touring car for five people

See How These 14 Rival Cars Fall Behind Saxon "Six"

Here are 14 cars that rival Saxon "Six" in price. Some cost less. Some cost more.

They range in price from $895 to $1250. Saxon "Six" costs $935.

But see how far they fall behind Saxon "Six" in point of fine-car features.

Saxon "Six" has Continental motor, Remix ignition, Wagner 2-unit starting and lighting system, Timken axles, Excide storage battery, Stromberg carburetor, Fedders radiator, Warner steering gear, Timken bearings, Spiral bevel gear, and Semi-floating axle.

Every one of these 11 important attractions is of top quality.

That is proved by the fact that they are all found on the costliest cars made in America.

Each of these 11 features on Saxon "Six" at $935 is also found on at least 9 cars ranging in cost from $1175 to $10,000.

In other words, the fine cars, the cars of high price that demand quality regardless of cost, use the same 11 features that Saxon "Six" has.

But do these 14 cars in the Saxon "Six" price-class also adopt these features? They do not—save in occasional cases.

Out of these 14 cars, ranging in price from $895 to $1250, 3 have not a single one of these quality features.

Three of these 14 cars have only 1 of the 11 fine features. Three have only 2 of these 11 features. Four have only 3 of these 11 features.

And only 1 car has 4 of these 11 features. And yet that car costs $250 more than Saxon "Six."

This check proves beyond dispute that cars costing $200 or $300 more than Saxon "Six" cannot match it in quality and value.

For out of the 14 cars we listed at $895 to $1250, 13 of them cost from $10 to $315 more than Saxon "Six." Only one costs less.

So buy Saxon "Six" at $935 and save the difference. And you'll get a better car and a better value. But by all means buy now. Come in today.

Remember this point, too. The very things that make any motor car desirable, such as quick pick-up, spirited performance, smooth pulling power, vigorous flexibility, quiet operation, and long efficiency, are found in far greater measure in a "Six" than in a "four."

Saxon "Six" Sedan, $1395; Saxon "Six" Chummy Roadster, $935; Saxon Roadster, $395. F. o. b. Detroit.

Mystery Surrounds Death of Mrs. Bingham

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 24.—Further sensational developments today are expected to follow the announcement here that the body of Mrs. Worth Bingham, widow of Henry F. Flagler, was exhumed at 3 o'clock last Tuesday morning and an autopsy held in a cemetery at Wilmington, N. C.

Judge Bingham, who was not present when the body of his wife was disinterred, has intimated that he is prepared whenever a definite charge is made, to meet it with facts. Any further action by Judge Bingham or his attorneys will be taken, it is believed, after the results of the examination of the vital organs, which it is alleged were removed from Mrs. Bingham's body.

SWEDISH ELECTIONS HELD

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 25.—The Swedish general elections closed today but it may be several days before the complete results are known. The extent to which the Washington exposures influenced the electorate is causing considerable uneasiness in official circles.

LEWIS ROASTS PRO-GERMANS IN U. S. SENATE

ILLINOIS MAN STIRS UPPER CHAMBER IN ADDRESS ON THE GERMAN REPLY

Says Free Speech Is Not Interfered With

Graphic Description of Prussian Cruelty and Scathing Attack on the Hypocrisy of Chancellor Michaelis.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Replying to the German reply to the peace proposals Senator Lewis, of Illinois, the Democratic whip of the senate, declared in a vigorous speech this afternoon that no peace is possible until America has achieved all her aims.

He, a German chancellor, but a short white past, delivered his speech of proposed peace to the Berlin parliament. Prussian leaders turned upon the helpless little American bark that—in Mediterranean waters, shot at to shatters and with its people, helpless sailors sinking in the sea seized the lifeboats and broke them into splinters, that the floating American seaman should die the saddest of slow deaths, where wife and children, then helpless and homeless, would await their dying eyes. Was there ever such invention of cruelty in civilization? What a noble man! What such as these America shall trust again?

"Never until Prussia surrenders to America, never until the German invaders for her cruel wrongs and gives inevitable guarantees of peace and justice for the future, will America ever lay down her arms."

GERMANY EXPECTS TO COLLECT

section of the Austro-Hungarian press. On the other hand dispatches from London and Paris quote newspapers as saying that no peace is possible until the two kaisers are "hollow, hypocritical and evasive."

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The sudden halt of German activity on the eastern front which resulted in the capture of Jasielstadt from the Russian was held by British military critics today to be a political rather than a military move. The Germans, it was pointed out wanted to offset the depressing effect of the British victory on the west Flanders front, so in order to have good news for the German people, launched a sudden offensive on the only point on the battle front where they were reasonably sure of success.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 24.—A Russian advance south of the Riga-Pskov road and the occupation of German positions near Smolensk were reported by the war office today. The Russians inflicted heavy losses, over 400 German corpses being counted, and 50 prisoners and a dozen machine guns.

OLGA PETROVA AT HER BEST IN PICTURE NOW SHOWING—"THE LAW OF THE LAND"

INTERESTING PLOT FULL OF TENSE MOMENTS

(First Night Review) "The Law of the Land," a Lasky-Paramount, is by far the best picture in which Mme. Petrova has ever appeared.

When the real action gets under way the scenes are unusually effective. The small things stand out well and the cast is excellent throughout. Mme. Petrova is splendid in all her scenes and appears to much better advantage than she has in some of her Metro pictures.

It is a dramatic suspense story well worth seeing, with enough comedy in it to relieve the strain at the right moments—a production that, all in all, is decidedly above the average.

That Mme. Petrova is popular with Twin Falls theatergoers is attested by the popularity of the picture that saw "The Law of the Land" Monday evening. The specially arranged musical program added much to the presentation of the film.

The Vaudeville In the vaudeville bill—the Snowball Sisters have an act that is recommended for its novelty. Singing, dancing, black face comedy and a Goid Duet Twins number make up their act.

hill. Besides the comedy, the Cunningham Sisters have some singing and dancing numbers. Next Two Nights.

The program will be repeated Tuesday and Wednesday. There is no advance in prices. Evening performances start promptly at 7:15; afternoons at 2:30.

FILMDOM NEWSLETS

The initial appearance of Elsie Ferguson in "Barbery Sheep," an Artcraft, will be an event of no slight importance. Popular as Miss Ferguson has been as a Broadway stage star, it is con-

COHAN COMING LAST OF WEEK IN SENSATIONAL STAGE HIT "SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE."

At the Idaho theater, commencing Thursday, George M. Cohan, the popular actor-author-producer of both the theatrical and film worlds, will appear in his second photoplay for Artcraft Pictures, "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

One of Mr. Cohan's greatest Broadway sensations, this play has scored an emphatic hit all over the country several years ago. An admirable subject in which to present to good advantage his famous mannerisms.

Announced as a "mystery farce," this picture is confidently expected to amuse and thrill. Several distinct twists in the story, which tells of how an ambitious author of half-raising literature won a wager to write a 10,000-word story in twenty-four hours, are evinced with startling result. Many humorous situations are presented in typical Cohanesque style and a surprising climax, such as has never before been presented on the screen is suddenly dispensed with telling effect. That the success of Mr. Cohan's second photoplay will greatly increase his following among film patrons already established as a result of "Broadway Jones," is assured.

It is confidently expected that her reception by the public in this super-duper production will be no less emphatic and sincere.

William S. Hart's new picture, "The Narrow Trail" is said to be one of the greatest in which he has ever appeared. Hart is himself the author.

Bille Burke will be seen again soon in Twin Falls for the first time in many months. She is in a Paramount picture—"The Mysterious Miss Torry."

The Mack Sennett-Paramount comedies are to be released soon—once every two weeks. The first "wild one" is labeled "A Bedroom Blunder," and will be shown at an early date. Mack Sennett has rounded up fifty of the prettiest girls in the show business for his comedies and they add an element that has not been seen before. They are the most beautiful buds in the garden of feminine loveliness, and they give a piquant charm to these screen scream productions that is as likeable as lemon-sauce over your oysters.
