MINIMUM SUM SUBSCRIBED ON LIBERTY LOAN

LIBERTY DAY SAW LOW MARK SAFELY PASSED IN THE COUNTRY

Hope to Get Maximum Amount Asked

Secretary McAdoo Ends Active Campaign for Subscriptions and Hurries Back to Washington on Business.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan have passed $5,000,000,000. Treasury department officials made this announcement based on reports in hand from the twelve federal reserve districts, at 11 o'clock this morning.

Bonds sold in the Liberty drive totaled more than the sales on any other day during this or the first Liberty Loan campaign.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Maximum number this minimum Liberty Loan drives have held the attention of the nation's chief financiers today. The success of yesterday's big drive was apparent when an avalanche of telegrams containing statistics poured in on the treasury department today.

Despite the most unfavorable weather conditions over a good part of the country, the amount of money reached a record-breaking total. It was stated that it probably would be late today before the figures were available but the officials in charge of the drive are confident that the original figures of three billion dollars had been exceeded.

With three days left to garner subscriptions in the neighborhood of $2,000,000,000 and added to this amount then yesterday subscriptions made before noon of today are being reported to the federal reserve banks and subscriptions made since the close of business yesterday. Under ordinary circumstances it would be safe to calculate that the total figure would be $1,000,000,000 less than the unofficial amount. At all events the sale is a tremendous success. The total in the Atlantic yesterday alone would be $1,000,000,000 less than the unofficial amount. At all events the sale is a tremendous success.

WAR WILL END IN A YEAR SAYS S. S. McCLURE

FAMOUS WRITER, WHO LECTURES HERE TOMORROW NIGHT, TALKS

Russia Is the Great Problem

Date Changed by Reason of Other Meetings—"Am Glad to Spend a Few Days in Your Beautiful City," He Declares.

"Germany would make peace tomorrow, on conditions that would leave her in a worse situation than she was at the beginning of the war if she could do so without abject surrender. But the situation is such that the war cannot be settled until she is thoroughly defeated. That is the case with all wars. Look at our Civil war if any war could have been compromised it could have been, but it could not."

The speaker was S. S. McClure who lectures in the high school auditorium Friday. Instead of Thursday night, an originally announced, Mr. McClure at in the Perrine hotel yesterday, on his arrival and discussed the European and Asiatic situations. He has spent two years abroad and has written what the nation called the best book on the war yet produced.

Germany will be crushed within a year and Russia should change front and join her. In that case it would take much longer. I do not mean to say that Germany is striving to hold her out, but she is striving to get her to do so. You see, if the council of soldiers and workmen in Russia should get complete control and that would lengthen the war. As for the peace terms, they are not under-estimated. She not only protects most of the Pacific with her fleets, but she has a powerful fleet in the Atlantic. As far as her armies are concerned, I believe that, while, of course, no statesman in authority would say so, she may be holding them with the consent of her allies, watching the situation in Russia.

"I deliver two lectures together one on Japan and the other followed by another on the war in Europe. The Japanese situation is not important enough to warrant a long talk, but it is important enough to warrant a brief visit during which they sit around hotels and get information about the situation. I have talked with them and they are themselves. I went down into the mines, I examined the machinery. I know the resources of the country and the situation of it in China. While there I traveled a long distance without a railroad, during the time of the big floods, talking and ate with the members of all classes.

"Similarly when I make a statement about conditions in Germany, I draw my information from original sources from the official reports of German officers. If I say so many were killed in the last battle, I know it from the reports. They wanted peace for the past two years. If they could get it in the way they desired, Bethmann-Hollweg would be wanted because we have won this war, if England would only realize that fact."

WHITE, FOOD ADVISOR TO DR. GARFIELD

RESIGNS POSITION AS PRESIDENT OF MINERS' UNION TO TAKE PLACE

Frank Hayes Succeeds Him Today

Mr. Hayes formerly lived at Lawrenceville, Ill., but has made his home in Indianapolis for several years. Mr. Lewis is now national statistician for the union. His home is in Springfield, Ill.

IN INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—John P. White, of Des Moines, Iowa, resigned as president of the United Mine Workers of America this afternoon and will give all his time to the national food administration. Frank J. Hayes, vice president, was chosen by the international executive board to succeed him.

John L. Lewis will be chosen vice president. Mr. Hayes formerly lived at Lawrenceville, Ill., but has made his home in Indianapolis for several years. Mr. Lewis is now national statistician for the union. His home is in Springfield, Ill.

In resigning Mr. White said that his duties as an advisor of the national food administrator Dr. Garfield, made it impossible for him to remain as president of the union. He will work to stimulate the production of coal and prevent labor troubles. Mr. White said the international board he hoped the food administration would revise the coal scale so all miners' wages can be increased.

BAKER MUST BE LICENSSED BY UNCLE SAM

PRICE OF LOAF MUST COME DOWN, SAYS ADMINISTRATOR HOOVER

Operate Under Federal Control

May Fix Price Definitely and Enforce, or Announce Fair Price and Let Public Opinion Do the Rest.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The American bakers are to be licensed. They will be compelled to operate directly under the federal food administration after November 1. As a consequence Food Director Hoover says, bread prices will come down.

Because of the great amount of work that will entail, the food administration is considering the exclusion of small bakeries with but one oven, from the licensing plan. It is desired that the average amount of work for each baker be fixed at about 30 loaves.

MIDDLEMEN TO BE UNDER THE ADMINISTRATOR

EXCESSIVE COMMISSIONS IN FOOD PRODUCTS TO BE STOPPED

Consumer and Producer Protected

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The commissions of brokers, commission merchants and auctioneers of foodstuffs are to be fixed by the food administration.

Regulations will go into effect November 1, under the federal licensing system, it was learned today, which will eliminate excessive commissions taken by middlemen dealing in food commodities. Details of the regulations have not yet been announced, but will be made public within a few days.

The regulations provided that, no broker or middleman shall "charge directly or indirectly a commission or brokerage on the sale of food commodities in excess of that which ordinarily and customarily prevails under normal conditions," in the locality in which he does business and in his particular branch of trade.

These regulations are designed for the protection of both the consumer and the producer. "In making the regulations the food administration announced that the majority of business men from the unfair acts of the few who attempt to take advantage of war conditions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—White Food Administrator Harry A. Wheeler was preparing today to add other foodstuffs to the list of those whose prices have been fixed, government agents were laying plans to back Wheeler in his price fixing campaign.

Circumstances Prevent Carrying Out of Program Regarding The Liberty Loan Drive.

While the rest of the nation appears to be forging ahead with the liberty loan subscription, if anyone has any idea of how Twin Falls county stands, the TIMES has been unable to find small publishers to accept the booby prize will be coming this way. This is not the fault of anyone or anything except circumstances.

TEXT OF THE SALMON TRACT SETTLEMENT

RECOMMENDATION OF U. S. LAND COMMISSIONER TALLMAN

Action of State Board Thereon

Full Official Report of the Proceedings of the State Land Board in re the Salmon Irrigation Project.

Jerome, Idaho, Oct. 18, 1917. The Idaho State Land Board met pursuant to adjournment at the parlor of the North Side Inn.

Whereupon the United States Commissioner of the general land office submitted the following communication to the State Land Board:

Having examined the Salmon Irrigation project, together with the land board's view of making such a re-arrangement of the water rights as to permit of an application for and granting of a patent as promptly as possible, to the end that the uncertainties and difficulties that have heretofore existed in connection with this project may be terminated at an early date as practicable, I propose that you favorably consider the project.

1. That the present available water supply for irrigation on the project on an average year, taking into consideration the water rights, for storage purposes for holdover water from year to year, is estimated at approximately 78,000 acre feet at the farm level, or at the main water delivery weirs that are used on the project.

HALF MILLION VETERANS REINFORCE THE TEUTON ARMIES

3500 Hundred Men Are Taken

(I. N. S. War Summary) Developments of the highest possible importance and of world wide interest have marked the war strategy during the past 24 hours. Briefly these are:

A great new army, composed of German and Austro-Hungarian troops and supported by German artillery began an offensive against the Italians. Ground has been gained at three points along a twenty mile front from Filsch to the Hainlesia plateau.

Following the great French victory north of the Aisne river in France where the French are driving against the 12th and 13th German armies, indications have arisen pointing to a further German retirement. French aviators report that the Germans have fallen back and are destroying villages, bridges and railroads just as they did before their retreat from the Somme.

The Russian civilian population has begun to flee from Kronstadt, the chief fortress defending Finland on the sea side, it is officially announced in the Russian capital. This indicates that the Russians fear the capture of Kronstadt and that the Baltic will force the Gulf of Finland in an effort to get at Petrograd. Kronstadt is the main base of Russia's Baltic sea fleet.

REINFORCE THE TEUTON ARMIES

3500 Hundred Men Are Taken

Real Purpose Unknown—Magnitude of French Victory Grows—Over Nine Thousand Germans Surrender to Gauls.

Following the great French victory north of the Aisne river in France where the French are driving against the 12th and 13th German armies, indications have arisen pointing to a further German retirement.

French aviators report that the Germans have fallen back and are destroying villages, bridges and railroads just as they did before their retreat from the Somme.

The Russian civilian population has begun to flee from Kronstadt, the chief fortress defending Finland on the sea side, it is officially announced in the Russian capital.

This indicates that the Russians fear the capture of Kronstadt and that the Baltic will force the Gulf of Finland in an effort to get at Petrograd.

Kronstadt is the main base of Russia's Baltic sea fleet.

Russian reconnoitering parties report that Kovel, Lughai, Alse and Rakor have all been evacuated by their own population.

Russian cavalry has reached Toulkoi in the Hochenshtet forest. South-east of Mablaria-Kropnoten the Russians have occupied a monastery.

The situation on Dagai Island is unchanged.

General Doukimen, General Alexioff, Admiral Woronsky and Admiral Wastwas have announced that German operations on the Baltic undertaken with the aim of depressing the Russian masses and attempting to bring about a separate peace.

Kronstadt's 12th and 13th are leaving, lies 20 miles west of Petrograd on Kottin Island, at the eastern extremity of the Gulf of Finland. The fortress is being shelled and the defensive works and shore batteries and there is a good harbor.

The fortress of Kronstadt revolted, against the Russian provisional government during the summer and the leaders then threatened to march on Petrograd, but the rebellion died a natural death after German soldiers and officers had been executed by the mutineers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Germany at last has accepted Italy as a dangerous enemy. That was the construction today of what has been reported as German offensive against Italian positions in the Tyrol, Carnia and Isonzo regions by American military experts.

They accepted the news with serious and believe that it has for its object a lessening of the Russo-French pressure on the western front.

Officials said today that up to the present stage no German troops have been engaged in the front line against the Italians. They have held a reserve at various points although German artillery has been used to aid the Austrians.

German provisional government during the summer and the leaders then threatened to march on Petrograd, but the rebellion died a natural death after German soldiers and officers had been executed by the mutineers.

The success against the Russians have made any Russian impression through the Germans. The news has been received in the light of big victories in Germany's fight throughout all Austria where the "hinder critics" which the Austrians have been

Kimberly Potato Crops Are Large

No Room For Storage. Potatoes Sold From The Field. New Cellars Are Being Dug.

Perhaps the largest potato crop in the history of the Kimberly district is being harvested this season. Not only is their a great increase in acreage, but the output per acre is larger in many respects than it has ever been. Brown and Savage, noted local potato raisers, from a five acre patch, recently dug, obtained 2,040 sacks, averaging one hundred and eleven pounds to the sack or an approximate total yield from the entire five acres of 226,440 pounds or 3,774 bushels. This would equal the unparalleled output of 764 4-5 bushels to the acre. In many eastern states where potato production is one of the standard crops, five hundred bushels to the acre is considered not only the limit, but practically an prize crop. The output of Brown and Savage on this five acre tract, is conclusive evidence that the Twin Falls tract is one of the richest and most productive sections of the country.

Even the potato pickers are prospering as a result of the enormous output, and the modern conveniences that are under use for handling the potatoes. Potato pickers are making from nine to twelve dollars per day at the rate of men and one-half cents per sack. A few years ago a man might have considered it good wages to make $3.00 or $4.00 a day.

What to do with the potato crop is the great problem that Kimberly producers face at the present time. Kimberly boasts of four immense potato cellars, but all the room that can be supplied by these cellars for storage purposes is already engaged, and farmers have found it necessary to go to rats among their customers. That is to say, where one producer has recently estimated his output and arranged for say, one thousand bushels storage room, and then finds that his crop has run over his estimate, say, five thousand bushels, the manager of the cellar will only accept the previously arranged for thousand bushels. This is done to guarantee against discrimination and the possible rejection of some producer, who coming in late with his crop, would find all the room taken, even including that recently spoken for by himself.

In consideration of the present shortage of room, another large cellar is being constructed just south of the Brown and Savage cellar, recently erected. The Brown and Savage cellar will hold, so it is estimated, 10,000 bushels of potatoes, and the other two cellars in the town are equally as large or larger. Yet many of the producers are obliged to sell directly from the field, and arrange for shipment without storage.

Most of the potatoes are being dug as rapidly as possible, to avoid a possible freeze, which is liable to occur most any time.

The Twin Falls tract has certainly met the call of the nation, full-fledged, in regard to bigger crops, and larger acreage. Now if the nation would only see that the Twin Falls producers are supplied with the facilities of shipping their product to the needed sections. The shipping business is the greatest problem of the local farmers. With their immense grain, and vegetable crops, piling up on them, they are at their wit's end for some means of getting them to the market. Some of the farmers fear that they will be obliged to let a portion of their vegetable and fruit crops go to waste for want of some way to ship them or some place to store them. The sudden call of the nation for an increase in crops, which has been met with such hearty response by the farmers, is over the country, has stirred them to any time for building granaries or digging cellars for the purpose of caring for their output. This they have treated as a matter of less to the government which called for crops.

The Twin Falls tract needs a general county organization devoted to caring for the demands and requirements of the farmers of this county. Local commercial clubs can be organized, but it seems that a county organization designed to make these matters and problems their business would be more liable to successful assistance for the farmers of this county.

GERMAN CIVIL POPULATION IS GETTING RESTIVE

BEST OF EVERYTHING GOES TO ARMY AND PEOPLE AT HOME SUFFER

Minister Stovall Predicts Revolt

Either Peaceful or Bloody Revolution Coming Unless Powers That be Yield to Demands of the People.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Germany is approaching internal collapse, Sooner or later the civilian population will rise and demand the ousting of the military party. Then we shall have expressions of a real desire for peace and not until then.

Pleasant A. Stovall, American minister to Switzerland, gave this as his estimate of conditions inside the German lines following a conference with President Wilson this afternoon.

"Americans must remember, he said, that the army is the biggest factor in German life today. Everything else is subordinated to keeping the army at the highest standard of efficiency. Civilians are wearing the poorest clothing and their rations have been cut until they are near starvation in some parts of the empire. Eventually the civilian population will get tired of such conditions and will rise against the government that imposes upon them. Whether the change will come through bloody revolution or by political means it is impossible to say."

Minister Stovall, as the American diplomatic representative at Berne, had unusual opportunities of getting a fairly accurate idea of conditions within the German and Austrian empires. Switzerland, he said, is a hotbed of German peace propaganda but the propagandists there are not so stupid as elsewhere and carry on their work more openly. To believe them, he said, would be to believe that the entire German government is now ready for peace, "without indemnities and without conquest."

Food supplies and contraband are going in great quantities from Switzerland to Germany, but contraband also is going from every other neutral country. Minister Stovall said. Every effort is being made by the Swiss to maintain absolute neutrality and the Swiss society of supervision, a military organization whose duty it is to watch the border, has kept shipments of contraband across the border at a minimum.

"Switzerland is the good Samaritan to all the belligerents including Germany," said the minister. "While hemmed in on all sides by belligerents and those parts of Hungary and Austria of which he has knowledge will be prepared by Minister Stovall for Secretary Lansing. During his stay in Washington he will confer with the war trade board and the food administrator of Switzerland, as being in the possibility of their being met by the United States."

Huns Plot With Irish Sinn Fien

Prime Minister Creates Sensation by Statement in House of Commons—Says Von Bernstorff in Conspiracy.

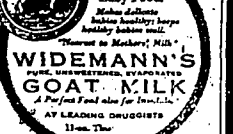

(I. N. S. Leased Wire)

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A sensation was caused throughout England today by the declaration of Premier Lloyd George that the Government has information of a plot for another revolt in Ireland.

According to the premier's announcement which was made in the house of commons, German plotters are in a conspiracy to land arms in Ireland, as they attempted to do at the time of the Sinn Fein uprising in Dublin.

Mr. Lloyd-George named Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, as being in the conspiracy.

Have Your Own Soldier Somewhere in France

Do Your "Two Bits" Today and Make One of These Boys Happy

You can have your soldier in the trenches somewhere in France simply by making a subscription of 25 cents to our Soldier Tobacco Fund. You can have more than one if you care to.

Every 25 cent tobacco outfit sent out by this fund contains a post card, stamped, with your name and address written on it—when you make your subscription give us your name and address.

The soldier who gets that package with your post card on it is asked to write you some message of acknowledgment for the courtesy of that little gift to his comfort.

When you get that post card from the front you'll know that your 25 cents has given comfort and satisfaction to some young fellow who is fighting your fight at the front. It's a wonderful scheme that has been worked out to bring the consolation of a quiet smoke to our boys at the front. When you consider how much real satisfaction a quarter will buy, you'll want to subscribe a good deal more than one quarter. For 25 cents you send to "your soldier" three packages of Bull Durham smoking tobacco, one box of Tuxedo tobacco, two packages of Lucky Strike Cigarettes, and seven packages of papers, to "roll his own." The American Tobacco company supplies this outfit, and the post card, and delivers the whole thing to your soldier.

It's a good deal to give for a quarter; you could think of anything quite so acceptable to the man who gets it, for three or four times the price.

If you compare a quarter of a dollar with the real joy and satisfaction of the man who gets this little token of the kindly thought of somebody back home, you'll realize that you've actually bought more genuine value for 25 cents than you ever bought in your life before.

And just remember that $1.00 does it four times; and $10 does it forty times. Forty American soldiers given the good old home feeling with pipe or cigarette. It's worth the price; and you've got the price.

We are receiving subscriptions every day for smokes for our soldiers. If we haven't yours yet, come or send; if we have already had yours make another one.

The "Smoke Fund" subscriptions are still coming in. Is your "two-bits" among them? Come on all you who are glad for being alive, make some of our boys glad by giving each little for so much.

die West, and are intensely loyal and patriotic Americans. Indicative of this is the fact that $87,000 was raised by Twin Falls county for the Red Cross, their quota being $25,000; that leading the state in that respect. Description is unknown, and the idle rich are not with us. The people of wealth have made it here, and that very rapidly. It is doubtful if any community has a class of people more on an equality than Twin Falls. The general spirit is one of thrift, progress and contentment. Here, folks have a pardonable pride in all they do, and the city and farm homes and improvements reflect the culture and substantial character of the people. Material improvements, such as electric heat and lights and electrically propelled equipment for the home and farmyard are common.

The Twin Falls country has an individually all its own—there is none other quite like it. Natural resources in itself are an awesome responsibility for the phenomenal yields that are produced year after year. The type of farmer on the tract is far above the average. He is a business man and very often a college graduate, who is combining his eastern training and business acumen with the progressive western spirit in developing a country rich in natural resources of the soil.

Nine different crops—white clover seed, red clover seed, alfalfa seed, alfalfa hay, silage corn, beans, fruit, and onions produce from $100 to $400 per acre as a fair estimate. Twin Falls county has a $200 per acre yield of sweet corn. Most of the farmers eligible to membership. Land sells from $125 to $300 per acre, with a never-failing decreed water right, and sometimes six crops can be raised. The price of the land. Corn for ensilage grows 12 feet high, produces 30 tons per acre and sells for $12.50 per ton. Potatoes produce 500 sacks per acre and sell for $50 per hundred. Beans produce 2500 pounds per acre and this year sell for 15 cents a pound. This is a region of blooded live stock, and the cowboys are well known. And immense stock barns and stables are to be found everywhere. Melons and all the fruits of the temperate zone grow in the county. The climate is sufficiently long to make this feature commercially profitable. Five hundred thousand boxes of apples are being shipped now.

The altitude is from 3000 to 4000 feet, with no excessive heat in the summer, and every night cool and delightful, the coldest winter weather is 12 below zero, and that is only exceptional and for a short time.

Twin Falls City, the county seat of Twin Falls county, the metropolis of the state's Idaho, and the third city in the state. It is clean, beautiful and modern, blending the culture and refinement of the East with the progressive spirit of the West. Substantial business houses and beautiful homes are typical. The streets are wide, paved with bituminous pavement and shaded by thousands of trees. The city center is within two blocks of the business center, and consists of four-story houses in the center, and $17,000 high school. Other buildings are to be added to the group. The fine new Methodist and Presbyterian churches are in the center. Besides these two, there are nine other churches represented in Twin Falls.

Business and professions are well represented, and the bank deposits of the three banks on August 1 were $2,382,931.00. This does not include any of the returns from the $12,500,000 crop to be harvested this fall.

The school enrollment is about 2220, with 550 of these in the high school—the second largest high school in the state. There are 22 teachers in the high school and 4 in the grades. Twenty-five school wagons carry the children from the farms to the city, making this the largest consolidated school district in the United States.

If one lives to live, enjoy life while living, and lay aside a competence in a place where home, church and school advantage are of the very best, where a family may be reared, trained, and educated at home in wholesome environment and amid the best influences, Twin Falls extends to you the hand of welcome.—Pacific Christian Advocate of October 10, 1917.

Election Attracts Little Attention

National Issues Not Reflected in the Contest On The Sixth of November—Heal Off Year.

By John Edwin Nevin, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—National issues "will not be reflected in the coming election this year. Local questions only are involved. The big war problems, in their relation to political parties still are in a formative stage. Efforts to make them a part of the contest have failed utterly. The time since the entry of the nation into the war and the completion of the work of the special session of the congress has been so short to allow candidates to take any positive position on war matters. The nation still rings with the slogan of "no conscription" and that slogan expresses the position and the sentiment of the people everywhere.

This is a real off year anyhow, so far as elections are concerned. Local elections are to be chosen in four states, Virginia, Massachusetts, Texas and Georgia. In the first two the campaign is a pathetic one. Louisiana and Texas it is even worse as the result is accepted as certain.

In Virginia the republicans have a candidate for governor, who is making an energetic campaign for the first time in the history of the party in the Old Dominion and is trying to rally to his banner the ultra-prohibitionists of the county. In West Virginia, Davis, the democratic candidate, at heart is "twel." But the election of Davis by the usual plurality is certain.

There will be three congressional candidates elected, in the sixth Massachusetts district, the fourth Connecticut and the west-eight Pennsylvania. In the Massachusetts the successful candidate will replace

Colonel H. A. Gardner, republican, son in law of Senator Lodge. Colonel Gardner retired from the house to take his place in the army during the war period in the future connected with a successor will be chosen to the late Ebenezer Hill, who passed away on the closing days of the special session. The vacancy in the twenty-eighth Pennsylvania has existed since the resignation of Representative elect Blakely last winter following the discovery that he had spent more money in his campaign than the law permits.

There is, of course, interest in many city elections which will be held, but only one New York, has an effort been made to inject national issues. There, a four-cornered struggle is in progress. Admittedly the great surprise in the development of the date has been the strength displayed by the socialist candidate Morris Hillquit.

Political experts here are watching with deep interest developments in Wisconsin, where the accidental death of Senator Huston has created a vacancy which the authorities say must be filled by a special election. It is accepted here that the primaries will not be called for a month at least and that the election will not take place until winter. However, because of the part which Senator Robert M. La Follette is taking in connection with the criticism of the manner in which the war is being conducted, it is accepted here that national issues will play a real part in this fight. La Follette, his friends here say, will have a candidate in the primaries and should be the best influence in the Republican party which has steadfastly supported the president in every way. The Democrats will support a candidate pledged to uphold the Wilson policies.

Mobilizing for the War

Your Uncle Sam is getting ready to fight.

All over the country, hundreds of thousands of artisans are busy with war preparations. Great warships are sliding off the ways; navy yards and arsenals are working night and day; great mobilization camps are springing up as if by magic; everywhere the vast resources of the Nation are being gathered together for war.

All over the Bell telephone system, thousands of employes are busily engaged in all branches of telephone activity, to keep pace with the extraordinary telephone needs of the Nation. Everywhere poles are being set and wires strung, central office equipment increased, new long distance lines constructed between important points and telephone facilities increased.

The greater and more varied the Government's war activities become, the greater will be the demands upon the Bell system for service. With the increased Government requirements, there will be greater demands for commercial service.

The scarcity of material and labor have set definite limits to the amount of new construction, and the needs of the individual must be subordinate to those of the Nation.

It is going to be harder to supply new telephones, extension telephones and to put up wire to new telephone stations, because of the vast amount of telephone equipment devoted to the service of the Government, and because the Bell organization has contributed heavily to the draft, and many of our technically trained men have voluntarily joined the colors.

When you use the telephone, we ask you to remember the patriotic service we are rendering the Government, the extraordinary conditions we are facing, and to help us maintain good service by a conservative use of your telephone and equipment.

FOOD PLEDGE CAMPAIGN ON IN NATION

ACTIVE WORKERS IN ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY FOR CONSERVATION

People Not Asked to Eat Less
Want Everyone to Conserve Things Needed by the Soldiers So That War May be Ended Within Another Year.

(International News Service)
Chairman James McMillan, who has charge of the campaign in the city said yesterday that they would easily find this week and that among all the people visited only two refused to sign.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—A plea to America's 22,000,000 housewives not to be "partners of Prussianism" is made by the food administration through its 500,000 volunteer workers mobilized throughout the nation today for National Food Pledge Week. With one and a quarter million housewives already enrolled as members of the Administration's Home Food Saving Division, and the enrollment of at least 12,000,000 more, long since promised by the 500,000 volunteers, the Administration today expressed the conviction that the remaining 4,000,000 can be enrolled before sundown October 27.

"I'll Show You How Corns Peel Off!"

Ever Peel a Banana Skin? That's it! "I should worry about those corns, but I put some 'Gels-It' on them. It means the end of a corn. There is nothing like 'Gels-It' on corns—nothing as sure and certain as to take the pain off every time, and without danger. The corns are peeled the corn right off your finger and there you are—corn-free and happy with the 'Gels-It' Never happened before, did it?

Every doorbell in America will be rung in this campaign. And the women who answer will be asked if there is anything the food administration can do to help them in their individual problems of home conservation of war foods.
It will be pointed out to them that Prussianism is trying to demoralize Belgium, Russia, Poland, Northern France and other countries its horde has overrun, by starvation; and that by neglecting to conserve food comparatively few war foods allied fighting nations are short of, we will starve them out of a war-making spirit, disorient their soldier sons at the front and thus make ourselves "partners of Prussianism."
Chief among the recruits to this volunteer army, trained under the direction of the various state food administrators, are the "war mothers." These women, whose sons, husbands, fathers, brothers or sweethearts already are fighting in France or preparing to, are expected to add potency to the food pledge appeal.
The big idea of the food administration hopes to get across to the individual housewife's mind is: The government is not asking the people to eat less food, but to eat different foods.

indicates that many more than this million and a quarter housewives are living up to the plan, although not actually enrolled as members of the administration.
The government would like to have them all registered as active members and to that end the volunteers will not only carry arguments, but also food pledge cards for the unregistered housewives to sign.
WASHINGTON GOES DRY ON NOVEMBER FIRST
(I. N. S. Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Washington will go dry November 1. Judge Ashley Gould in the district supreme court today denied the injunction sought by six saloonkeepers to prevent the District commissioners from putting into effect on November 1 of the Sheppard dry law. The justice disputed practically every allegation made by counsel for the liquor men as to the constitutionality of the law.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 24.—If the Russian army had remained loyal peace would have been realized by Christmas, Premier Kerensky declared today while addressing the preliminary parliament.
"Traitors and fanatics destroyed the fruits of victory won by democracy's military forces," the premier said, "and robbed us of an honorable peace that would have been realized by Christmas."
General Alexieff also addressed the parliament. He declared that Russia was passing through a painful and difficult period because the people are laboring under the impression that Russia is no longer a factor in the world war.

Winter Underwear-----Old Prices at Booth's

is greatly appreciated by active women, especially by those who shop much, ride, walk, golf, dance or motor—because it is tailored to fit—does fit and is therefore most comfortable. Above all it adds greatly to the appearance of the gown.

Here are the features that give Athena its comfort, daintiness and tailored fit.

- Sloping Shoulders and Sleeves
Conform to the shoulders without wrinkling under arms.
- Perfected Shoulder-Stay
Keeps garment from stretching across the shoulder, and holds sleeve in place.
- Curved Armhole
Brings arm seams to the natural curve of the shoulder and holds garment snugly and smoothly up under arm, doing away with unnecessary cloth.
- Three-Cornered Gusset
Is so shaped as to relieve the usual strain at the thigh. Insures greater comfort and longer wear.
- Low-Neck Sleeveless Suit
Just as a woman is fuller across the bust than the back, so this garment is made with extra fullness in front.
- Patent Seat
This consists of a plait on each side of the back, instead of extra cloth in the middle where it causes discomfort. Always stays closed and allows sufficient room, sitting or standing.

Months ago we bought and paid for hundreds of dollars worth of Ladies' Underwear at old prices and we now offer them at old prices

It's the famous "ATHENA" make that combines so many features found in no other make—it's so much better fitting and because it is so—it will wear better and it's more comfortable and consequently warmer.
We knew it would be a great deal higher priced, that's why we bought so heavy and so early—we were not mistaken and now we can sell most of it no higher than ever before. We may be foolish not to raise the price but we want to make a friend of you.

WE WANT YOU TO KNOW THIS IS THE PLACE TO BUY EVERYTHING FOR LADIES EVERY SEASON.

PEACE TALK

Whatever construction may be put on the peace talk emanating from Germany at this time, it is heartening to the American people and should inspire them to greater efforts at once. For it indicates that the Teutons are hard pressed.

Corroborative testimony of this fact is not lacking. Pleasant T. Stovall, American minister to Switzerland, who is here for consultation, publicly stated yesterday that in his opinion Germany is on the verge of collapse.

This does not mean that Germany is whipped. She is not. She will not be unless Americans conserve food and buy liberty bonds and assist in making the selective draft a success. It does mean, however, that in the opinion of those in a position to know, Germany will be whipped to a surrender of every essential principle demanded by the United States within the next year, provided that all Americans do their duty.

It is said that Germans hope that by talking peace, they can throw Americans off their guard. If this is so, either the Germans are indulging in the same sort of diplomatic boobyism which has made their foreign office the laughing stock of the world, or the people of the United States are the greatest zany on earth, which would be quite the reverse from what they always have been. When Germany is worried is the time to go after her harder than ever until she meets our terms.

The testimony of the authorities cited is corroborated in a general way in the interview published in THE TIMES today by the noted lecturer and journalist, S. S. McClure, who speaks at the high school auditorium tomorrow night. Mr. McClure stated while here that he believed that the Germans would yield more quickly than the allies, other things equal, on account of their temperament, and pointed to their enormous suicide rate as indicative of a characteristic which will compel them to fall into despair after things seem going against them permanently.

James J. Corbett, former world's champion, now an athletic director for Uncle Sam declares that he annoyed the title of "former" through just such a foolish stunt as that of which it is said the Germans hope we will be guilty. Having the late Bob Fitzsimmons hanging on the ropes and almost ready to drop, Corbett thought he could cut a lot of cute capers for the benefit of the ticket holders. After keeping this up several rounds and hearing all sorts of applause, he ventured to glance at the seats. Then things happened, the little birds began to sing, and when Corbett recovered, the word "former" was attached to his title, just before the word "champion."

Present conditions indicate that the time has come to put the Hun out of business not to poke him, or tickle his nose. At this time every man should do his duty, so that we may win the war in 1918.

There will be a special train from Oakley to Twin Falls with special rates. Train will arrive in Twin Falls about 9:30 and return at 5:00.

BOYS SOON AT LONG ISLAND PRACTICE GROUND

Just when the Second Idaho, now in the artillery service will arrive at the Long Island practice grounds is unknown, but it would not be surprising to learn that they are already there. Letters promising such a move have been arriving for the past three weeks and it is known that orders for their moving have been given.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

The Chicago district has passed its minimum Liberty Loan quota. Twenty millions a day is the pace set to reach the maximum.

The Russian parliament is seriously considering the deportation of the Italian family.

The sale of the First National bank of Crawville, Ill., was blown $6000 worth early this morning. The explosion wrecked the entire front of the building, but the robbers escaped after exchanging shots with policeman Mary Pickford and Billy Sunday collaborating to sell two million dollars worth of bonds was the feature of public meeting for that purpose at San Francisco.

Villa, at the head of a thousand other bandits, is reported to be preparing to attack Chihuahua again.

A strike of shipbuilders went into effect today in Buenos Aires.

A resolution will be introduced in the Uruguayan congress next week authorizing the American warship to debarb with the arms for drill and maneuver purposes, and a dispatch from Montevideo today.

Hearings will be held at New York, Chicago and Portland by examining (Thurler), the Interstate Commerce commission announced today to determine the "propriety and reasonableness of methods by the transcontinental railroads for increases in freight rates." The hearings were arranged following protests from Pacific coast shippers that the proceedings were being in Washington they would not have opportunity to be heard. The hearings will be held at 165 Broadway, New York, November 15. Federal building, Denver, November 12 and U. S. court room, Portland, November 21.

Confessionary manufacturers of the Pacific coast have voluntarily agreed to curtail sugar.

The German Press club of Chicago emptied its treasury today to buy Liberty bonds. With a fund of $250 available the club bought $250 worth of bonds.

The Argentine dreadnaught Rivadavia was Tuesday ordered to her base under sealed orders. She is provisioned for thirty days.

Two officers and eight men of the crew of the German auxiliary cruiser Eitel Frederick, interned at Port Moresby, New Guinea, Tuesday night. The men were discovered to be missing at roll call next morning.

Thomas A. Edison "Electrical Wizard" has established headquarters in Washington. The inventor of Westinghouse has been working for some time upon devices to combat the submarine. His inventions have now reached a point where Edison finds it necessary to be in the closest communication with naval experts to advise him.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt may yet go to France. He is expected from New England states will leave for Washington on Friday to confer with the war department regarding a proposal to appoint Colonel Roosevelt chief recruiting officer with authority to raise a new division corps for overseas service. The move was made public here today.

"I'm a German and I'm loyal," said Rudolph Schultz, 19, today following his arrest for writing treasonable signs on sidewalks in the hotel district in San Francisco. He came here from Portland recently and says he is a butcher and an I. W. W. Some of his signs read: "Germans help your fatherland," "DANGER in France—keep away," "Germans attack us for your country," and "To hell with America."

Helio for the serious sugar shortage is in sight, according to officials of the food administration. Reports have been received that 150 carload of Hawaiian sugar cane are now on their eastward journey. Two million tons of beets have begun moving through the mills in Utah and this sugar will also begin moving eastward within a few days. If there has been any increase in the price of sugar it is the fault of the retail dealer, administration officials declare. They state that not a single jobber or wholesaler of sugar throughout the entire United States has raised the price of sugar a single cent.

Harvest Home Dinner—A harvest home dinner that will make the Hun realize that starvation does not stare the American in the face will be served this evening at the Christian church. This annual affair is looked forward to with ardent desire on all occasions and the furnished following of Hoover, will, it is believed, be a great one.

Two Funerals Saturday—The funeral of little May Granville, aged six years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Granville, was held Saturday from the Crosby chapel and was conducted by Rev. W. E. Harman. Little Etchel Hanning, aged two years, one month and three days was also laid to rest Saturday, after funeral services, conducted by Rev. J. A. Schlichting at the Crosby chapel.

Returned To Iowa—Mrs. L. Mitchell of Iowa, who has been visiting for the past three weeks with her sister, Mrs. Frank Kendall, of this city, left Wednesday morning for her home.

Bills Have "Get-together"—All Twin Falls bills have been notified to attend the big annual roll-call meeting to be held at the club rooms tonight where a general good time is said to be in store for all those who attend.

Finch Quite Ill—County Auditor E. J. Finch, who is in a local hospital, is quite ill, though it is thought not dangerous. He today signed in his resignation as a member of the county examination board on account of his continued sickness and inability to serve.

Buried From Maroa—Mrs. Francis E. Riner, died Saturday at the age of fifty-seven years, seven months and five days. She was survived by her husband and six children. The funeral was held from the Maroa church and was conducted by Rev. Evans, the pastor.

One of the many Twin Falls visitors this week was Mr. J. J. Kinney, of Sterling, Colorado, an uncle of the Messers, E. D. and Frank Kinney of this city. The senior Mr. Kinney has the excellent credentials of former residence in Cedar county, Iowa, and is now on a tour of rest and recreation that will include the coast points of interest.

Three Creek Rancher Passes Away—Marcus S. Dotson, who died at Hot Springs, Ore., where he had gone for his health, was buried Friday from the Crosby chapel in this city, the funeral being conducted by Rev. W. E. Harman. He had lived on Three Creek for many years and was well and favorably known throughout this part of Idaho.

Shirk Not a Shirk—Harry L. Shirk, of Filer, Alexander Dorsey and Luther W. May, of Twin Falls; Theodore Hylan, of Caldwell; Jack Granger, of Cranmer, Wyo.; Clark C. Elster and Raymond K. Howard, of Jerome and Arthur Brown, (colored) of Twin Falls, enlisted recently here. There is a demand for white non-commissioned officers for the colored stevedore regiment.

Y. M. C. A. Class Planned—A meeting of twenty-six citizens was held at the Methodist church one evening this week for the purpose of forming a Y. M. C. A. class. Sergeant McLeod of the United States recruiting service addressed the meeting, telling what the Y. M. C. A. can do for the army and what the army can do for the Y. M. C. A. He advised that a class of 100 be formed and assured them of a competent drill master once a week.

Reached One Load of Fruit—The Oaks Wholesale Fruit company just received today a carload of fruit jars which the Twin Falls housewife has found so scarce during the past month. The company have made distribution of the jars about the Twin Falls merchants so that the cry of shortage should be a thing of the past.

The Widow's Mite—A telegram from San Francisco announces with a great flourish that the Rockefeller Foundation has given another $150,000, making $200,000 all told, for the purpose. That's nothing. The Twin Falls working man or woman who gave five or ten dollars to the Red Cross, or subscribed the smallest donation to the Liberty Loan, knowing that personal sacrifice was involved, did a far better and greater thing.

Some Beetes—On October 23 Tom Cockerill, working on the C. M. Hill orchard made a record for himself and showed what is possible, in picking apples by picking one hundred and fifty boxes in less than nine hours, and most of them were picked from trees that had been picked over. Mr. Cockerill is a watchmaker by trade and came here from Kansas City two weeks ago to make his home with his brother-in-law, Bert Mafsh, manager of the Diamond Hardware company.

Hadley Will Speak Again—R. O. Hadley, V. D. M., who delivered an interesting lecture here in July under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association, will be here next Tuesday, to lecture on the relationship of the European war to the Messiah's Kingdom. His last lecture proved most interesting to a large number of people and it is said the new subject will have a great appeal. The lecture will be given at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening at the fair theatre.

As Noted Elsewhere, in the interesting list of miscegenators who developed the modern magazine idea, Mr. S. S. McClure, his lecture at the high school auditorium, has been proved to be a very interesting evening. His impression of the European situation, made after a visit there, is bound to be interesting as well as instructive. He is one of those who will see everything—much as that his pleasant and informal visit to the TIMES office this morning indicated the wish that the devil had been in the picture to move the hell-box out of the middle of floor.

Advertised Mail—The following is a list of advertised letters for the week: W. M. Austin, Fred W. Burnis, George Bremer, Mrs. T. A. Bond, V. D. Brown, Mrs. Theresa E. Cline, Mrs. Laoma Dickerson, Miss Elsie Duffee, Hon. Dewey F. Egan, E. J. Evans, George Grusaugh, C. Henry, Levi Ingraham, W. H. Jones, Mrs. George H. Johnson, Ray Jensen, C. A. Johnson, Mrs. Laura Kerton, George Krahmer, Leama Longenberger, Pety McMaster, Angol Lolsa, Laura Lewis, Bart, Miller, Mrs. H. E. Packard, Frank Powell, J. R. Rees, Mrs. E. Pandleton, George Paulson, Anna Parker, Ed. Perry, C. Owings, T. T. Rudoy, T. F. Rutledge, John Robinson, R. A. Reynolds, Leo Starfield, Mrs. Yarno Samolske, E. F. Smith, Ideal Produce company, Miss Steel, Richard Peoraki, Mrs. Floria Stuart, Ben Storey, Mrs. E. L. Tolman, Mrs. Wm. Turner, Mrs. C. G. Trout, Mrs. M. E. T. Mrs. Maud Williams, Gus Wagler, Claude Wiley, Frank C. Williams, Mrs. Loren West, S. Yoneda, Lock Box 639.

A Great Handicap on the advancement of the Liberty Bond campaign has been found in the unusually and desperately busy season of the year, the fact is that farmers on this tract—and there are indications of the same condition all over the agricultural states—are too busy striving to save their crops to have time to do winter to even attend meetings, to say nothing of assisting in the canvass. This is especially unfortunate from the fact that the present bond subscription, for best results must be largely dependent upon the number of subscribers, rather than upon the amount given by each. The same stress of daily duty made more absolute by the demand for conservation, the equally or more important subject of governmental finance has doubtless called to receive due consideration in the strictly farming communities. Nothing is more certain than that this busiest and most substantial stratum of our people to save time ready to do their full share in the ultimate; and there are present indications of an awakening that will bring the closing success of bond sales to the high water mark.

"The High Cost of Loving," as demonstrated at the Lavering last Tuesday evening by the Kolb & Dill company, just about filled the hackneyed advertising phrase of "a continual scream." Not only was the story produce a series of situations that are intrinsically killing humorous, but they are interpreted by a cast of real comedians—not a stick or a dry bone in the bunch. Pre-eminently at the head stands the long, lank and inexpressibly funny "popsy," Kolb, ably seconded by his frau, Emma, and the other two are anxious to do. Then the interludes furnished by the bevy of pretty and handsomely—though sparingly, especially as to the higher attitudes—girls who are substituted an entertainment in themselves. They had voices, too as well as figures; and both collectively and individually added to the pleasure of the audience. The jazz orchestra was another high grade feature; from the piano playing leader and the artist with the flute clear through to the spot light trap drummer, who played everything at once and all over, it was excellent. A blown fuse in the near-by transformer plunged the house suddenly into a very dark near right in the middle of the opening chorus; but neither a voice nor an instrument faltered to the concluding crash of cymbals. It was during this reign of darkness that some wag in the back of the theatre called out in stentorian tones, "Get a Delco—Watson sells 'em!"

White Called to Boise—Captain J. E. White was called to Boise yesterday. Whether he will be sent to the front at once or will be here here for a time is not known.

Young Sturgeon In City—Jeff Sturgeon is the father of a fine nine pound sturgeon, who arrived Tuesday night. Twins come to the home of Dr. Boals, two weeks ago.

Confirmation Sunday—A class of about sixty will be confirmed at St. Edward's Catholic church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, by Bishop O'Reilly, of Baker, Ore., who temporarily acts as head of this diocese for this purpose. The ceremony was created by the death of Bishop Glorieux of Boise. There will be a large class to receive Holy Communion in the morning. At high mass at 10 o'clock the sermon will be delivered by Bishop O'Reilly.

Relatively Small Loss—That the apple crop was not injured on the average to exceed from 10 to 15 per cent and that the potato crop practically escaped unharmed, was statement made today by C. E. Munson, of the Munson & Harder company to a TIMES reporter. He added, however, that grave danger existed for all apples and potatoes not yet taken care of. He said that the car situation was still desperate, and prospects far from bright.

Move To New Quarters—The Lind Automobile company is exceedingly busy today moving their large stock of cars and automobile supplies from their old location on Second avenue south to their handsome new garage quarters on Second avenue east. Their new building with its white terra cotta facing is a beautiful structure and a fine addition to the business section of Twin Falls. The new quarters will have all the conveniences of strictly up to date establishment of its kind.

Fined For Fattening—Percy Pice, of Filer, and Theda Thomas, an acquaintance were fined $50 yesterday by Justice of the Peace W. J. Smith, after conviction by a jury, for fattening a man and wife at the Hotel Rogerston. The registration took place Tuesday afternoon and was speedily followed by arrest, the actions of the couple having caused the clerk to suspect them. The parties did not occupy the room. Pice claimed that he registered as a sort of lark, without intending to violate the law. He married a short time ago at Filer and left for the war shortly afterward.

Service

Any studio can buy, if it chooses, the same material that any other studio can purchase. The difference in photographs, then, is often not so much the difference in material as a difference in the way the material is used—really a difference in service.

Really superior portraits at a price you can afford to pay.

And, of course, a certain class of service may be worth more than service of another type. In the business of making photographs, service does add distinctly to the value of the purchase.

For service of a high type in photography means individuality, careful workmanship, ability—and the result of this is quality in the finished work—quality which is always worth all its costs.

Liberty Bond Call Easily Met in Full

How the Full Quota of Every Community in the Maximum Call of the Nation Can be Met.

The eleven regular members of the TIMES office family and force, from the man in the office to the one behind the desk and not excepting the feminine contingent, made it unanimous by each subscribing for a Liberty Bond. Not a large one, of course, for every one knows there are no capitalists in any department of the country newspaper business; but a regular, sure-enough, war-loan bond, just the same. Although the TIMES is not without a feeling of satisfaction, not to say pride, in the fact above stated, it is not given publicity with any boastful purpose or intent. It is a small and a general thing that has been done here. But it serves, nevertheless, to point a very large moral, namely: That if one-fourth or even one-tenth of the people of the United States should act as, nearly up to the measure of their financial ability, the bond campaign would be at once and a gloriously concluded.

Red Cross Board Met on Tuesday

Much Business Transacted—Committee Chairman Appointed—Christmas Work Progressing.

A meeting of the executive board of the Red Cross was held on Tuesday afternoon, with a full attendance. Reports were given by Mrs. Ostrander, first vice chairman, and Mrs. Alacvian, secretary, of the conference which they attended at Seattle last week, and a discussion of new plans laid down followed. U. Tracey was elected treasurer of the Junior Red Cross school fund, which was reported by Superintendent Biss as being almost completed. Judge Walters was added to the board by a unanimous vote, as its attorney. Chairmen of the various committees were re-appointed, and will continue to serve as before.

The ladies of the Red Cross are busy getting ready their allotment of Christmas packages for the soldiers. They expect to send three hundred of these packages from Twin Falls, and if anyone wishes to donate to this Christmas fund, please communicate with Mrs. Ostrander or Mrs. Alacvian.

The small tins for the fruit cakes which will be sent in the Christmas packages are now at the headquarters, and can be gotten there between two and four o'clock any afternoon by ladies who wish to contribute to this part of the package. Each boy will receive a cake from home.

There are still a number of the clipping envelopes at the headquarters to be filled, and anyone who will fill one of these envelopes with clippings, cartoons or short stories, can get it at the headquarters.

Only small quantities of yarn have yet been received, but a large shipment is expected from Seattle within a few days. A notice will be put in the paper when this arrives.

Mrs. Bracken will be at the headquarters in the haugh block each Tuesday and Friday afternoon to give instruction in knitting.

FARM MARKETS BULLETIN NO. 18

There has been recommended by the United States department of agriculture certain potato grades and rules, which, in their opinion, will meet the needs of growers, dealers and consumers; also the requirements of the federal reserve board, in order that member banks may make loans against warehouse receipts for potatoes properly graded, packed, stored, and insured. Therefore, in order that the grades may become uniform, and dealers may obtain more profitable federal loans if desired, the undersigned, state director of farm markets, do amend the Idaho rules by me promulgated August 20, 1917, to conform with the federal recommendations, and do hereby promulgate the following, as Idaho State official standard rules of potato grading and inspection as amended:

For Idaho potatoes receiving state inspection there shall be three standards, or grades, designated and known as "Idaho Fancy," "Idaho U. S. Grade No. 1," and "Idaho U. S. Grade No. 2."

Each standard or grade shall consist of potatoes of similar characteristics, which are practically free from frost injury, sunburn, second growth, cuts, scab, blight, dry rot, dirt or other foreign matter, damage caused by insects, or other mechanical means, with the following specified variations:

Of this grade, the minimum diameter of potatoes of the round variety shall be two and one-eighth (2 1/8) inches; of potatoes of the long variety, five and one-tenth (5 1/10) inches, subject to the maximum variation of five per centum under size by weight, and in addition to the above, no potato of any such lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade.

"Idaho U. S. Grade No. 1." Of this grade, the minimum diameter of potatoes of the round variety shall be one and seven-eighths (1 7/8) inches, and of potatoes of the long variety, one and three-fourths (1 3/4) inches, subject to the maximum variation of five per centum under size by weight, and in addition to the above, no potato of any such lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade.

"Idaho U. S. Grade No. 2." Of this grade, the minimum diameter of potatoes of the round variety shall be one and one-half (1 1/2) inches, subject to the maximum variation of five per centum under size by weight, and five per centum under size by length, and in addition to the above, no potato of any such lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade.

When screens are used for grading, the screen measurement shall be in excess of the actual minimum diameter of the potato.

Explanation of Grade Requirements. "Practically free" means that the appearance of the potatoes in lots and cartons readily apparent upon casual examination; and that any damage from the causes mentioned above is removed by the ordinary process of packing without appreciable increase in waste over that which would occur if the potato were perfect.

"Diameter" means the greatest dimension at right angles to the longitudinal axis. "Free from serious damage" means that the appearance shall not be impaired to the extent of more than ten per centum of the surface, and that any damage from the causes mentioned can be removed by the ordinary process of packing, without increase in waste of more than ten per centum of weight over that which would occur if the potato were perfect.

Notes. Potatoes of "Idaho Fancy" and "Idaho U. S. Grade No. 1," unless shipped in bulk, shall be packed in sacks or barrels, which should be well filled, securely covered, and in addition to any necessary statements or marks, should be plainly marked "Idaho U. S. Grade No. 1," as the case may be. Containers of potatoes of "Idaho U. S. Grade No. 2" should be plainly marked "Idaho U. S. Grade No. 2."

Inspection. The regular fee for inspection shall be until otherwise promulgated, $2.25 for each inspection of carload lots or part thereof, when inspected for car shipments, except as hereinafter set forth; ten cents (10c) per ton for warehouse storage in any quantity in lots not exceeding ten tons. For inspection made on and for the purpose of sale (25c) per ton or fraction thereof. If state inspection of stock is requested at some point distant from inspector's regular territory, the fee for inspection shall be in excess of the regular fee, for time required, including that of traveling to and from place of inspection, together with actual transportation and hotel charges.

That part of the rules dealing with grades No. 1 and No. 2 here promulgated, by law become a part of the official standard of Idaho that of "Idaho Fancy" grade will become the official standard February 29, 1918. However, if the growers will at once adopt the plan of selling and shipping under these grades they will place with the Farm Market Department immediate power to enforce a uniform price, and incidentally a better price.

If these grades are adopted and state inspection is had before shipping, should there be complaint made at the point of delivery by buyers that the stock was not received in condition as certified, the federal government will, at request of shipper, and without additional cost to him, inspect the stock, and the federal certificate will be amended to become prima facie evidence in any state court of the true grade or classification.

(Signed) HARVEY ALLRED, State Director of Farm Markets. Company Held Negligent. Seattle.—A coroner's Jury placed the blame for the death of a Pacific City, near Auburn, in which Mildred and Amy Martin and Michael Phillips of Seattle were killed when an interurban electric train hit the latter's auto, on the Puget Sound Traction, Light & Power company. The verdict attributed the cause of the death to improper warning signals at the crossing. The train crew was exonerated.

SOLDIERS WIVES TO GO SOUTH. Plan Afoot to Get Car at Special Rates for Idaho Girls.

Boise.—Many of the Boise girls who married members of the Second (day) before the regiment left for North Carolina want to go south and spend the next few months at Charlotte, near Camp Greenleaf. The girls have already agreed to go if a large enough party can be secured to get a car at South Hills. The trip will cost $300 or $15 each if 20 young women decide to make the trip.

The Franklin Car Proves Its Economy with New Thrift Standard for Motor Car Efficiency

A PUBLIC statement issued the other day by a prominent New York business man again puts emphasis on the immediate necessity for gasoline economy.

It's a hard matter these days for the motorist to evade this gasoline question. And with rubber going up, the tire question comes in for its share of serious consideration.

An authority on the subject computes the annual waste in gasoline and tires to be over $300,000,000.

Each time the motorist drives up to a gasoline station for a supply, "gasoline economy" is brought home to him.

Each time he buys a new set of tires, he wonders whether the old ones covered as many miles as they should have.

Only a Thoroughly Efficient Car Can Give Big Gasoline Mileage

Experienced motorists, as well as scientific men, accept gasoline economy as the real measure of motor car efficiency, on the principle that anything that influences the service a car gives eventually shows up in gasoline consumption.

For example, take any car that gives but seven to twelve miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Here you find ponderous machinery, superfluous dead weight and rigidity, all demanding more gasoline to move the car along.

Under the hood you find gasoline consuming machinery, which the Franklin eliminates—the usual 177 complicated parts of the water-cooling system.

And take into account the tire bills of the car extravagant with its gasoline:—For the same yearly mileage, nearly three times what it costs the Franklin owner.

How the Franklin May Be Compared With Any Other Make of Car

For the want of a reliable standard, one established on a national basis, to gauge the efficiency of motor car performance, many motorists are confused over this question of motor car efficiency.

On July 13, of this year, 179 Franklin dealers put the Franklin car to a simple but practical efficiency test. With stock cars and a one-gallon supply of gasoline for each car, the remarkable national average of 40.3 miles was recorded. The entire 179 tests were attested to by drivers and observers before Notary Publics.

The chief aim of this national test was to put before the motorist a simple and equitable basis of comparison between the efficiency of the Franklin and the efficiency of any other make of car. Any car of any make can easily follow this simple test.

What Franklin's New Thrift Record Means to Thinking Motorists

Experience with motor cars soon tells the motorist that gasoline economy is more significant than merely low gasoline bills.

For the wear, tear and friction that wastes gasoline is the same that tends to wear out a car.

You can see why the free-running Franklin lasts longest and bears minimum depreciation.

Also how its fineness—right materials and right construction—leads to economy all along the line.

It is because the Franklin is the scientific-light-weight car that it stops gasoline waste. And this light weight is what makes possible the Franklin owners' tire average of over 10,000 miles per set.

And Franklin direct air cooling does more than convert every particle of gasoline into mileage. It frees the owner of the worry of a water-cooling system, the freezing and over-heating troubles.

As final proof, investigate the used-car market. The conspicuous scarcity of Franklins is a story of long life and economical service.

One thing is certain—you can't get Motor Car Economy by talking about it. Either the car has it—or it hasn't.

GERMAN POWER WANES AND HER DEFEAT IS ASSURED

International News Service Expert Thinks America Will Compel Teutons to Seek Peace Soon—Must be Not Letting Up—Kaiser's Forces Everywhere on the Defensive Save in Russia.

By Robert J. Frow
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Oct. 25.—In the opinion of well-informed Frenchmen and of neutral diplomats in Paris, the moment is rapidly approaching when the German Chancellor will make another peace offer to the entente allies. It is expected within a month or at latest before the beginning of the winter campaign. And another winter campaign would mean another spring campaign as well, for it is not to be expected that the entente governments will afford the very moment when America would have developed considerable striking force unless the German government completely surrendered to all their claims.

As the situation is seen in Paris, the German war chiefs are likely to take the view that the eve of the fourth winter campaign will afford the last favorable moment available to Germany to negotiate a "peace with honor." To deter making a resolute and open bid for peace until next year would be to lose some of the best cards Germany has in her hands.

The Kaiser's peace offer of last December was accompanied by the menace that unless the entente allies compromised on the situation they would pay dearly for it. It was no more than a threat, though it might have meant a good deal if the United States intervention had not opportunistically come to offset the Russian upset. As the war map now stands compared with its showing in December, 1916, Germany has let go of part of the French territory occupied by her armies and has made considerable gains in Russia, while Great Britain—the only other country in the war with territory in hand to bargain with—has seized Baghdad.

Of the less apparent war factors, in the best judgment available in Paris, they are on balance, to the detriment of Germany.

Russia alone has offered successful to the intolerable strain which has long pressed upon the central empires. England is at last as strong as a year ago—she is stronger as to munitions and her ability to face the submarine danger. France still possesses an army that is in as fine a fighting fettle as at any time during the war. Cadorna has just demonstrated the magnificent possibilities of the situation on the Isonzo front in face of Austria's rapid weakening. And the incalculable might of America is there behind France, England and Italy, with its untold possibilities in men, munitions, money and supplies.

On the other hand, except for the very foggy uncertainties of Russia, this year has brought no gleam of hope to Germany. It is not believed here that Hindenburg will be able to reduce Russia to complete inactivity as a fighting factor, but that at the very worst he will be forced to maintain with Austria a considerable army on the eastern front in order to hold the territory to his own.

Wherever there has been serious fighting this year, it has brought its steady toll of German losses. The quality of the German infantry has undergone a tremendous decline during the past spring and summer. Battalions after battalions of storm troops have been cut up on the western front by the French and British, and their places have been taken in the general roll by immature boys, poorly trained and with no heart for the desperate, losing game the Kaiser is now playing. This is no mere partisan statement calculated to mislead judgment on Germany's situation.

The Russian collapse has enabled her to stave off complete defeat on the western front this year. If she could force the Muscovites to a separate peace and concentrate all her reserves of men and munitions upon Flanders and France next year, she might conceivably last through 1918 if military considerations alone could be weighed independently of the steady political fermentation going on in the Fatherland; but with the American army, looming up as a dominating quantity and with a great Japanese army, trained and equipped, in the background, the ultimate factors of the military problem of the war are against Germany.

Given the undoubted fact that the American, French and British armies will hold firmly together to the end, Hindenburg for his successors cannot expect the best of the German armies. It may come next year; if the Russian armies do not utterly cease to exist; but at latest it would occur in 1919. Even without allowance has been made for all the deplorably false prophecies of so-called military experts of all nationalities in the past three years, the logic of the plain facts points unmistakably to the smashing of the German armies within two years.

The admitted importance of the entente allies of American intervention on their side, has enabled President Wilson to become their principal spokesman as to terms of peace. As to the most serious problems of the war, Wilson stands for the evacuation of Belgium and reparation for her wrongs and the establishment of responsible government in Germany. In the opinion of the entente allies, the appearance of the vampire state of Germany and the birth of a peace-loving Germany that shall have a fair hold everywhere for pacific expansion.

As to Belgium, what is Germany's position? The Eupendorf censorship prevents the free expression of opinion as to the extent of the damage; what Europe and America hear most are the ravings of the Kaiser's maniacs, who, of a population of 80,000,000, number on 200,000 the actual fighting men. The members of the Frankfurter Zeitung last month, are: Members of the Pan-Germanic League, 60,000; Independent Committee, 150,000; Foreign Committee for the Rape and Crushing of England, 20,000—this last figure, of course, doubling upon the other two. It is from this noisy quarter that all the blarney of Germanized Belgium comes. Germany's millions wouldn't fight another day for the country.

As to the democratization of the empire, the manifesto of Germany's rulers provides the best evidence of the German demand for responsible government. The Kaiser and his advisers have been busy trifling with the question, thereby tacitly admitting the need for reform, and having taken the great plunge toward real concessions already, they are not likely to refrain from giving reality to the semblance once they convince themselves that the alternative is the utter ruin of the empire, dynastically, militarily and constitutionally.

President Wilson's principal declared objectives are, therefore, nearer to attainment than most people imagine.

England stands for the complete restoration of Belgium and the abolition of militarism. With regard to this latter point, there is no doubt a responsible German government will eagerly concede it. Information has reached Paris that there has been a lot of quiet talk in Germany lately about limitations of armaments. The biggest and best equipped army in the world failed to bring world domination to Germany, and the German people realize this more acutely than any other. Already secret societies of young Germans are springing up all over the empire with a democratic programme that is the complete negation of militarism, and when the cost of the war comes to be counted, no one will be able to stem the movement for limitation of armaments.

Belgium, the democratization of Germany, the limitation of armaments and Alsace-Lorraine are and will remain the dominant peace problems—things which the nations will go on fighting until one side or the other yields. As to the first three, agreement as between Germany and the entente powers is not impossible; Germany has stepped just a little way toward surrender upon these points, and will go much further in the same direction as her situation fails to improve.

There remains the question of Alsace-Lorraine, and at first glance it would seem that if the length of the war depended upon the length of those two provinces it might go on for ever, so utterly irreconcilable are the positions taken up by German and French statesmen.

"The return of Alsace-Lorraine to France is an absolutely indispensable condition of peace; we will not even consent to allow it to be made a question for diplomatic negotiation," said M. Ribot at this year's Marne celebration.

It is a fact that German rulers have not been consistently intractable over the Alsace-Lorraine problem. During the first two years of the war their secret agents several times invited France to "talk" about the provinces, but always the request was accompanied by the hint that a separate peace was what Germany was seeking and this was unthinkable to France. The curt answer on each occasion was that there could be no negotiation upon the point; that France would insist upon the rectification of the 1871 frontier of their entirety; allowing of no partition of ancient French soil.

Above the southern door of the Reichstag building is a sculptured lion with one paw placed forcefully upon a globe upon which is inscribed "Eisass-Lothringen"—the German name for Alsace-Lorraine. It is an unfortunate symbol, but it accurately represents what the Germans themselves think of their possession of the provinces. And until their attitude is radically modified the problem will make peace difficult. Yielding on all other major war problems and satisfying America and England, how and when she will satisfy France on the question of Alsace-Lorraine is beyond present prediction.

Opportunity Awaits You on the Gooding Tract!

The following are a few of the many bargains in irrigated lands which we have to offer in the fertile Wood River Valley:

- 100 Acres 6 miles from Gooding, on main road school wagon, 65 A. cleared and has been in cultivation, exceptionally good terms will be granted to purchaser who will improve the land. Price $65.00 per A.
- 240 Acres 3 miles from Gooding on Boise-Yellowstone Highway, all in alfalfa, fenced with woven wire, Little Wood river runs through the land making a splendid stock proposition, this is all bordered and the flood system used for irrigation. Price $140.00.
- 40 Acres 2 miles from Gooding. All in cultivation, 20 A. in alfalfa, 7 A. in alsike, 6 A. red clover, 4 A. in bluegrass pasture, 4-room house, barn for 8 cows and 6 horses, deep well and wind mill, fenced and cross fenced. Price $155 per A. Cash $2200.00, balance easy terms.
- 80 Acres 5 miles from Gooding, 40 acres alfalfa, 25 acres tame grass pasture, fenced and cross fenced with woven wire. Good 4-room house. Price $155.00 per acre. Terms, $1800.00 cash, balance $1000.00 annually at 7 per cent.

Gooding is the educational center of Southern Idaho, has $40,000 graded school building; $65,000 high school building; $10,000 State School for Deaf, Dumb and Blind; $400,000 Methodist college now being completed. There is ample water for all irrigation purposes stored in the Magic Reservoir which impounds 200,000 acre feet of water. Plenty of fine quality soft domestic water can be obtained anywhere on the tract at depths of 50 to 150 feet. Gooding is on the main line of the O. S. L. railroad. Probably no portion of Idaho has better opportunities for raising sheep and cattle than the Wood River valley, with plenty of range in the unsurveilled foothills and plenty of government reserve land.

Further information will be gladly furnished on request.

GOODING, IDAHO

What is the most economical cooking fat?

When you step into your grocer's you find different shortenings—quoted at different prices. You may want to know which is the truly economical shortening.

The prices don't tell. Some shortenings will go much farther than others.

For instance: Many careful housekeepers have found that Cottolene goes very much farther than other shortenings which they had been using.

The reason? It's very much richer. Cottolene contains no water. It is always uniform in quality.

You will find, too, that pure, economical Cottolene gives to biscuits, cakes, pies and fried tid-bits a delicate flavor that even expensive butter might well be proud of.

The unusual richness of wholesome Cottolene makes its economy a true economy.

In baking, use one-third less of Cottolene than you have ordinarily used of other shortenings.

Remember that the next time you order from your grocer. Remember, too, that he can supply Cottolene in tins of convenient sizes.

Recipe for BAKING POWDER BISCUIT

Into two cups of sifted pastry flour-sift and mix one level teaspoon salt and two rounded teaspoons baking powder; chop in one level tablespoon chilled Cottolene. Wet to stiff dough with 3/4 cup half water and cut with milk.

Rolled 3/4 inch thick and cut with 2-inch biscuit cutter this recipe will make about a dozen biscuits.

PATRIOTIC ECONOMY HAS BECOME A PRESENT NECESSITY

What War Means to Us Financially

A Comprehensive and Practical Statement of Responsibilities Assumed and Duty Dictated When U. S. Entered the War.

(By Everett Moss)

The necessity for patriotic economy will be evident if we think of finance in terms of labor instead of in dollars. We have natural resources and we have capital invested in the tools of production, but even with these facilities our productive capacity is limited by the supply of labor. By labor we mean the personal service, whether of brain or of brawn, of the forty million of us who are engaged in gainful occupation.

To carry on the war we shall spend at least twelve billion dollars per year, or thirty-three million dollars per day. This is as much as Great Britain is spending and fifty per cent more than Germany is spending. And the figures are so huge that it is difficult to appreciate what they really mean.

Europe is already so deeply in debt that she may never be able to pay, and we are on the road to the same condition. Balance of trade statistics indicate that we have made an extra profit from foreign business since 1914 of five billion dollars, or about two billion dollars per year. The effect of this in enriching the country is suggestive of the result of three years of impoverishment at the rate of eight billion dollars per year.

Our normal annual savings are about four billion dollars, and not only our war expenditure absorbs all of these savings, but we must find eight billion dollars in addition. During the past three years our present allies have obtained much assistance from us, but as there is no country to whom we can turn, we must carry our burden alone.

Our savings go into public and private improvements, including the extension of business enterprises. These savings will not be available for war until we stop federal, state, municipal and private improvements; until we forbid all issue of securities except under federal license, following the example whereby England reduced the issue of industrial securities from $48,000,000 in the first year of 1914 to $11,000,000 in the same period of 1917.

The danger of a food famine has been brought home to us and we are making a real effort to reduce consumption, though our efforts to increase production are being seriously handicapped by the high price of labor.

Immediately after war was declared the president warned the country that everyone should produce more and consume less. The idea that business was to be suddenly reduced by business men and the cry "business a wave of economy was a shock to us as usual" was spread over the country and caused the president's appeal to be forgotten. Not only are people spending as usual, but many conscientiously believe it their duty to do so.

Every dollar spent means the consumption of labor. We shall not be far wrong if we say that every four dollars spent consumes a day's labor, and that every twelve hundred dollars spent consumes a year's labor. A war expenditure of twelve billion dollars will consume the labor of ten million people, twenty-five per cent of our total labor supply. This added demand comes during the great est labor famine in our history, which has increased commodity prices 95 per cent since 1914.

We have reached a point where the increasing demand reduces the efficiency of labor and thereby reduces the supply, and we are facing a further rise in commodity prices, perhaps to exceed present conditions in England, where prices are up one hundred and twenty per cent.

The most effective remedy is to decrease consumption, and it is imperative that every one should make a drastic reduction in personal expenditures. The example must be set by the rich, but every man, woman and child must be drawn into the movement until patriotic economy becomes the greatest fad the country has ever known.

Our young men who try to avoid military service are "slackers." Every one of us who will not economize to help the war is a "slacker." Who will fail to spend less when he realizes that every dollar saved is a dollar's labor contributed to the war? It is not a question whether your income justifies an expenditure, but whether the country can afford to let you spend.

Even to prevent hardship we have no right to spend to keep people in their usual employment, for only by a process of readjustment can we obtain the labor necessary for the war. Already the government is resorting to price fixing and other dangerous experiments because we can no longer submit to the law of supply and demand. We cannot increase supply, but we can so reduce demand that the available supply shall meet our needs and so keep prices within bounds.

With two million men in cantonments or in tents there are, however, many for the rest of us. We can reduce the famine in wool and cotton by wearing our old clothes. We can stop the purchase of automobiles, so that the factories and their operatives may produce motor trucks, aircraft and munitions. We can use the automobiles we now have less freely and save gasoline. We can reduce the number of our servants and let our wives and daughters do more of the work. We can do away with the wastefulness of our Christmas parties if we go less to the theater and give the money saved to charity.

The real horrors in Europe are not on the firing line, but amongst the population, who are placed for the necessities of life and in many cases dying of starvation. If one of us is not willing to make sacrifices for the war, Germany was right when she characterized us as a "Nation of Slackers."

AT THE ORPHEUM THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

Madge Kennedy, star in Margaret Mayo's brilliant comedy, "Baby Mine," seen throughout the world in the second of the Goldwyn productions, has found from the depths of her stage experience that men laugh more easily and more whole-heartedly than women. She says:

"Generally speaking, a man will laugh where a woman only smiles. And when a woman reaches the point of laughing a large majority of the men in an audience will be emitting side-splitting whoops."

Gigantic German Fleet at Riga

Concentration of Forces by Tensons in the Baltic—They Fear The English Fleet.

(I. N. S. Leased Wire) BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The war office today announced that the German lines between the Baltic and the Dvina river were withdrawn on a wide front.

RETROGRADE, Oct. 24.—The gigantic size of the German fleet operating in the Baltic was shown today by a statement given by the chief of the Russian naval staff, Count Capelin. He gives the disposition of the German ships as follows:

In the region of Taganatz, the cruiser flotilla, two battleships of the Kaiser type, sixty torpedo boats, five submarines and a score of trawlers.

In the regions of Suolund and the Korsary coast, about twenty destroyers, a number of schooners, coal ships and transporters.

In the gulf of Riga, four dreadnoughts of the Koening type, six armored cruisers, two submarines and a great number of destroyers, torpedo boats and mine layers.

At the entrance to the gulf of Finland, northwest of Dager port three battle cruisers.

All these forces are supplied by a strong reserve of superdreadnoughts, Zeppelins, aeroplanes and hydroplanes.

More than two-thirds of the German fleet was concentrated against the small Russian sea forces in the straits between the islands at the entrance to the gulf of Riga.

The commander of the fleet, Admiral Bakreff, testifies to the high morale of the Russian sailors, despite the crushing superiority of the enemy.

Count Capelin in his report to the ministry of marine said that, even on ships where ineffectualism had been most frequent, the sailors behaved as heroes.

In this respect there has been competition on the sailor saved from the last Russian gunboat. From the story of the end of this warship, the Graf was surrounded by the German lines, but the sailor saved from the last Russian gunboat.

What You Are. Now, therefore, see that no day passes in which you do not make yourself a somewhat better creature, and endeavor to do that first thing that you are now. Do not think vaguely about it; take pen and paper and write down as accurately a description of yourself as you can, with the date to it.

If you dare not do so find out why you do not. . . . It is not doing but that the mind is a few pleasant things to look at in the face, and for that very reason it needs more looking at; so always have two mirrors on your toilet table, and see that with proper care you dress body and mind.

forced to meet the weight of the Italian assaults alone. German successes against the Italians therefore would solidify the Austrians, military money and would cheer the German people. But these military experts do not look for the Austro-Germans to make any substantial progress. They very likely will be greeted with some real surprises. Allied military experts who are here in Washington assisting in the American war preparations smiled today when they read the Berlin reports of a "great success" and significantly said: "Wait and see what happens next."

The German troops engaged against the Italians undoubtedly came from the Russian front. This probably signifies the end of the German aggression in the east for the winter at least. But the Italians had anticipated the drive and have been preparing for it for some time. It is suggested here that Germany may have thought that the Italians were short of munitions and supplies. They admittedly were a month ago but that has all been changed within the last few months. In addition it is entirely within the bounds of possibilities that when the Germans get well into action they will find themselves fighting an allied army instead of one composed only of Italians. The one thing standing out here today in America, Italian and other circles, was that there was absolutely no concern apparent over this latest Austro-German offensive. On the contrary officials openly welcomed it and expressed the belief that it will prove more abortive than did the crown prince's drive against Verdun.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Reinforced by more than a half million seasoned veterans, a mighty Austro-German army on the Italian front is today battering the Italian battle line over a front of twenty miles in an effort to break through.

This new offensive which is reported to have been planned by Field Marshal von Hindenburg has already resulted in important gains for the Teutons around Filzsch Tolmein and the northern slope of the Dolomiten Plateau.

More than 3500 Italian prisoners have been captured, according to an unofficial dispatch from the battle zone.

If the Teutonic armies are successful in their drive, the Italian hold upon Gorizia and Monte San Gabriele will be seriously menaced and the Italian pressure against Trieste will be materially lessened if not removed entirely.

The war office statement on the operations against the Italians is the first to come from this official source since the entrance of Italy into the war.

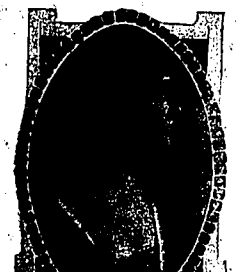

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The real purpose of the Austro-German drive on the Italian front was a matter of speculation among military experts here

ELSIE FERGUSON LATEST CONVERT TO SCREEN IN MYSTERIOUS AND FASCINATING STORY

ONE OF FOREMOST BEAUTIES OF SPEAKING STAGE JOINS ARTORAF—HER INITIAL APPEARANCE IN "BARBARY SHEEP" PLACES HER AS RIVAL FOR FIRST IN POPULARITY AND TALENT

Elsie Ferguson, the most beautiful actress in American drama, makes her motion picture debut in "Barbary Sheep," for Artoraf pictures, at the Idaho theater commencing Thursday.

Miss Ferguson's career on the stage started at the bottom. Through characteristic persistency and hard work she has become one of the most popular actresses of the world. Her characterizations in such well known theatrical hits as "Shilley Kays," "Such a Little Queen," "Outcasts," and "Margaret Schiller" won her national prominence among the hearts of American theatergoers.

Scenes in Algeria. Among the many interesting features displayed by this production are the views of life in Algeria setting forth the mystery, fascination and strange atmosphere of the desert. Charged with the heat, passion and swift action that befit a daring romance of this country, "Barbary Sheep" promises to attract and hold the immediate attention of the audience from beginning to end.

Under French Producer In "Barbary Sheep," adapted from Robert Hichens most popular book since "The Garden of Allah," Miss Ferguson is given a vehicle that not only is particularly adapted to her capabilities, but one that offers her a most lavishly artistic background. Under the direction of Maurice Tourneur, who is the most elaborate sets ever staged for a photoplay are presented in novel display. The romantic story of Algeria, which tells of the infiltration of an English noblewoman for a dark-skinned army officer, as told on the screen, it is readily felt, will achieve greater popularity than even the book experienced.

today. Three opinions were advanced: 1.—That the Teutons are undertaking a strategic maneuver to bolster up the drooping spirits of the German and Austro-Hungarian populations; 2.—That it is a military operation to divert the attention of the allies from the western front; 3.—That it is an effort at a real offensive in which all the available resources of the German and Austro-Hungarian will be thrown into the scale to defeat Italy.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Every report that came from the Aisne river battle field today emphasized the magnitude of the victory which the French gained over the German crown-prince's army on Tuesday.

So badly shattered was the German army south of Laon that it would deliver no counter attacks but spent all of Wednesday bombarding the new French position at none.

The number of German prisoners taken by the French has now been increased to about 9000 while 75 German guns of all calibres were included in the booty.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—After a heavy bombardment of the British position on the southern edge of Houtholst fort at the west, Flanders front, the Germans delivered a counter attack last night but it was completely repulsed, said an official statement issued by the war office at noon.

At no point were the Germans able to break through and the attacking forces were thrown back leaving many dead and wounded behind.

The assault was delivered near the Ypres-Staden railway which has been the scene of heavy fighting lately.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—A further gain for the French north of the Aisne river was reported by the French war office this afternoon. The new French attacks centered between Mont St. Simeon and around Cerny-Eu-Lannois. The French captured Roberfatta, a strongly fortified work.

This latest French advance was made in the sector where the French are hammering the southern defenses of the German fortress of Laon.

Twenty-five German aeroplanes were shot down by French airmen during a series of fierce sky battles over the western front yesterday, the war office announced today.

"Barbary Sheep" promises to attract and hold the immediate attention of the audience from beginning to end.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—German and Austrian troops in their drive on the Italian front have already captured at least 10,000 Italian prisoners and considerable booty, the official statement said today. An entire divisional staff and a brigade staff are included among the prisoners, it was stated.
