

HUN HELMET IS RIDDLED BY BULLETS

TWIN FALLS VOICES DIS- APPROVAL OF GERMAN HEADPIECE AS DRIVE EMBLEM - COUNTY IS OVER THE TOP WITH SOME TO SPARE

Biddled with a half dozen bullet holes, the immense iron helmet that yesterday surmounted the pole at the intersection of Main avenue and Shoshone street, to be awarded to the team turning in the largest amount of subscriptions in the second Red Cross war fund drive in Twin Falls, was discovered this morning securely tied at the base of the staff. Evidently persons who yesterday voiced their disapproval of the display of the helmet had taken advantage of the midnight hour to wreak their vengeance upon the symbol of Prussianism.

Directors of the drive, however, offered no protest at the summary disposition of the intended trophy, since the drive goal of $21,000 for the county had been attained and passed, and an American flag is now flying from the top of the pole. Headquarters in the Hotel Purine this morning announced approximately total subscriptions for the county in the sum of $23,168.83, and predicted that before the drive could be stopped, more than $25,000 would be subscribed.

Following are the reports of districts received at headquarters up to this morning: Twin Falls, $13,159.33; Buhl, $8,000; Murtough, $1,514; Hansen, $777.35; Kimberly, $400; Rogerson, $286; Bergen, $250.

Free For All Today

Twenty teams of five men each working in the Twin Falls sector yesterday afternoon, and this morning for the first time, will be closed here tonight.

Instructions to the team members are to secure subscriptions in small amounts, while giving everyone an opportunity to contribute.

A principal reason for closing the drive thus early is the necessity that exists for augmenting the funds of the local Red Cross chapter, and plans are under way now for a drive to take place on July 4 to place $25,000 in the treasury on the work of the Twin Falls county chapter.

City Order Subscribed

Tuesday morning the teams in the Twin Falls sector worked in the city district securing subscriptions up to noon in the sum of $9,516.08. In the afternoon they turned their attention to the rural communities and secured the total for the sector to $12,152.83. The quota for the Twin Falls sector was $7600.

Fifty employees of the Twin Falls sugar factory yesterday afternoon contributed a total of $281.75. A. Thomas, superintendent of the factory, directed that operations should be suspended while the drive team accepted the subscriptions. He spoke to the employees, expressing appreciation of their contributions for war purposes in the past and the hope that their subscriptions in this drive would prove creditable. He introduced Everett M. Sweedley, who made a brief but forceful address.

The Murtough district was the first to report subscription completion. The drive under leadership of E. C. Chance was started in that district on Monday. The Murtough quota was $600, but the people gave nearly $1400, and the chairman reports that the main difficulty was in preventing the people from giving all they had.

WANTS OVER-SUBSCRIPTION

BOISE, May 22.—R. H. Dewey, state chairman of the Red Cross war fund drive, said today he had reported to District Chairman Lindley at Seattle that Idaho's quota of $200,000 would be subscribed the first day of the drive, Monday. "I am now after an extra 100,000 and believe it will be subscribed," said Chairman Dewey. Twenty-two Idaho chapters with a quota of $100,000, reported $117,500 raised the first day. Other chapters reported reports. Seventeen chapters with a quota of $150,000 have as yet made no report.

Advices were sent out on the authority of Division Chairman Lindley not to accept War Savings Stamps for the Red Cross funds.

Twin Falls Team Reports

Following are the subscriptions reported by each team leader in Twin Falls at noon Tuesday:

H. J. Klingberg	$ 530.00
E. R. Overberg	$ 251.00

COMMISSIONERS BUY BABY INCUBATOR

FIRST INSTRUMENT OF KIND IN STATE IS SHOWN FOR COUNTY GENERAL HOSPITAL

The first incubator for prematurely born children ever brought into the state of Idaho will be installed in the Twin Falls county general hospital, which is rapidly nearing completion and will be opened to the public about June 1. In one of the first orders given for hospital equipment, the county commissioners contracted for an incubator, but it was never delivered. On Saturday they contracted again for the instrument and delivery by express is promised within three weeks' time.

The incubator is to be heated by electricity, and in case of emergency heat can be supplied by hot water boiler.

Local physicians, according to the county commissioners, state that occasion for the use of the instrument is encountered in each one's practice once or twice annually.

SUGAR BUYERS MUST SIGN UP

COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATION DISTRIBUTES BLANK FORMS

County Food Administrator C. E. Munson is distributing among the retail grocers of the county a quantity of certificates to be used by purchasers of sugar for canning purposes only.

Upon execution of one of these certificates, the applicant is entitled to buy a maximum of 100 pounds of sugar for this purpose, and agrees to limit the consumption of sugar for other purposes in the household to three pounds per month, for the duration of the war.

Following are the instructions in this regard received by Mr. Munson from State Food Administrator R. F. Bicknell:

"We are sending you under separate cover a considerable quantity of sugar certificates for distribution by you among the merchants of your county. Additional certificates will be supplied to you as needed.

"Upon the execution of one of the certificates, the permission may be given to any one in your county to buy not to exceed 100 pounds of sugar for canning and preserving purposes only. You will notice that in consideration of this privilege the purchaser promises to limit the use of sugar for all other purposes in the household to three pounds or less per person per month for the duration of the war.

You should instruct all merchants of your county that under no circumstances must sugar be sold in larger amounts than in $1.00 quantities to city customers, and to twenty-five pounds to country customers, without the execution of a certificate.

Any violation of this rule or failure to obtain certificate in writing for each sale for home canning and preserving purposes will be cause for denying merchant permission to sell sugar in any quantity. Any person making improper use of a certificate to obtain sugar will be denied the right to make any further purchases of that commodity.

Please call attention to the fact that families in the state of Idaho are placed on their honor not to purchase a larger supply of sugar than will be required for their use in canning fruit and vegetables, that many should be able to do with considerably less than the authorized 100 pounds. Whenever possible, the state is asked to do so.

The merchant selling sugar must make a record in a book kept for that purpose, showing date of sale, name of purchaser and amounts purchased, so that he may at all times know he has not exceeded his quota.

Under the supervision of County Commissioner W. F. Brewer of Hansen, the rock crusher was set in operation Friday at Shoshone Falls. To provide the first crushed lava rock with which the entire length of the grade on the south side of the canyon will be spread to a depth of eight or nine inches within the next six weeks. About 14 yards of the stone are projected for that day and four loads were hauled and spread on the grade.

Workmen Reduce Pitches

Following lines established by Engineer A. E. Fox, a force of workmen and teams are at work on the grade reducing the maximum eight per cent pitch over the stretch of about 200 yards.

Meet Tourists' Demand

With the opening of the tourist season when hundreds of auto tourists visit the falls, the need for a better road to this scenic attraction is demanded, and the commissioners state that when the work now under way is completed, they will be no better off than at the present time. Graveling of the road will eliminate the great trouble and annoyance from dust that has been a problem each year.

APPLE CROP'S BIG ONE HERE SAYS INSPECTOR

C. W. BRANNON REPORTS ON RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION - PRACHES HARD HIT BY FROST

The Twin Falls district will produce this season less than six carloads of peaches because of the toll taken by late frost, but the apple crop will be above normal, according to a statement of C. W. Brannon, deputy state horticultural inspector, who concluded today a several days' investigation of the orchards of this district. Production of apricots and pears has been seriously curtailed, but the fruit, but small fruits generally will yield full crops, he stated.

Plenty of Prunes and Cherries

Peaches were hit hard by the frost of April 27, and there are few left in the canyon orchards, Mr. Brannon stated. There is a small percentage of crop left on upper levels. There will be a few apricots and pears and plenty of cherries, plums and prunes.

Some Apples Over-Born

Many apple trees are not bearing this year for the reason that they over-bore last season, Mr. Brannon stated, but, deducting 20 per cent on this account, there still remains a larger production this year than last, because the other trees are full of young fruits which in some cases will have to be thinned.

HIGHWAY DISTRICT MATTER UP AGAIN

Provided legal forms of procedure prepared by Keeler Brothers, financial agents of Denver, are adopted in their present form by the county commissioners at their meeting on June 1, an election on the question of the proposed Twin Falls independent highway district, to include all of the territory within the county outside the Buhl and proposed Piller highway districts, will be called to be held on Saturday, June 22.

Petition asking for the creation of the Twin Falls highway district was submitted to the commissioners early in March. Twice proceeding in this connection have been held up. At one time the date for the election was set, when representatives of bond brokers advised the employment of expert assistance in the preparation of the legal proceedings. Misunderstanding arose over certain provisions in the first forms submitted by Keeler Brothers, and the election has not yet required several weeks' time.

Copies of the amended forms submitted by Keeler Brothers were received Tuesday by County Clerk R. V. French.

OFFER PROOF OF TRUTH OF THEIR BELIEF

PERSISTENT RUMOR OF DEMISE OF HINDENBURG NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY IN ALLIED LINES BUT GERMANS STICK TO THEIR STORY

By WILLIAM PHILIP EDMS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, May 22.—German troops and "home folk" believe the war will be over this year, that it will end in a draw and that Germany will succeed in obtaining good peace terms, according to enemy prisoners.

Say Hindenburg Dead

These prisoners also repeated the rumor that Field Marshal Hindenburg is dead. In fact, they say the "Feldmarschall" has been dead some time.

In support of this they point to Field Marshal Mackensen's alleged appearance on the west front. Allied army officials, however, place no credence in the rumor of Hindenburg's demise.

I understand that French and Belgian civilians are still forced to work on the battlefields behind the German lines, but they are making the Germans furious because they do so little.

The French population in the territory south of the front is said to be in splendid spirits, treating British prisoners like their own kin and offering them such food delicacies as they possess.

Quiet Continues

The last summer weather continues. Only in some spots does trouble occur occasionally. Between the Somme and Arras, German artillery seems to have slightly increased its fire. The Allied front lines have been considerably pounded on these sectors, while the battery areas are engaged for heavy shelling.

Allied airplanes did not attempt anything ambitious today, although some raids and line reconnaissances were carried out.

The battlefields are dusty, the shells kicking up great clouds of dust, which has been the case for some time.

Summer came a drowsy spell over northern France, but in the blazing sunshine the war machine is abuzz.

HUN COUNTER ATTACK IS COMPLETE FAILURE

Regarding the operations in Flanders, the German war office said:

"A strong enemy attack near Kemmel broke down yesterday with very heavy losses." In the past three days Berlin said the allies have lost 50,000 men.

CANAL COMPANY DIRECTORS EXPLAIN SITUATION TO LANDOWNERS APPEARING IN MATTER

Directors of the Twin Falls Canal company have given assurance to landowners who appeared before them in regard to the matter, that well drilling operations as a means of reducing the seeped area under the irrigation system will be continued without interruption throughout the summer provided an advisable means of financing the work can be devised.

Question of Expense
The question is entirely one of expense, the directors state. General Manager J. C. Whelan recently asserted that the seep situation under the Twin Falls irrigation system is well in hand at the present time; that there were five well drilling outfits employed in the drainage work by the Canal company, and that a few weeks' cessation in the work would not result in appreciable extension of the seeped area.

Expense involved is the only factor, however, that prompted the directors to consider temporary suspension of the work.

It was announced that well drillers would not be put to work elsewhere after they had completed the bore on which they are now engaged, until after the collection of the maintenance charge, due in September amounting to about $200,000.

Where Money Goes
Out of the first installment of this charge, amounting to about $400,000, the directors have paid out $120,000 on old debts, besides defraying the expense of all the work done on the system during the fall and winter and paying about $10,000 in interest. Approximately $60,000 of the first installment remains uncollected. The directors are unwilling to borrow money at this time for the continuation of drainage work, but they say if prompt payment of the maintenance installment now due is made, there will be no difficulty in providing for these operations.

MARY PICKFORD

THIS IS ONE OF THE BEST picture Mary Pickford has done in her entire career on the screen.

"The most wonderful thing about the feature," says one reviewer, "is that it gives the biggest drawing card in pictures an opportunity to refute those statements that 'Mary Pickford is just Mary Pickford' in everything she does," for in this case she proves herself to be a remarkable character actress, as well as the sweet little ingenue as everybody regards her.

"From this time forth, there can be no further question as to whether or not Mary Pickford is any actress. She proves it here beyond the shadow of a doubt in the playing of the two roles in this production.

"As Stella Maris she is the delightfully charming Pickford as of yore, but in the role of Unity Blais, the little defenseless orphan, she will be a revelation, presenting a characterization as wonderful as that of Richard Mansfield in 'The Persian Romance' from a character standpoint."

DR. ELMER I. GOSHEN OF SALT LAKE OUTLINES
FUTURE IN LIGHT OF HISTORY OF THE PAST

Tracing through history the rise of civilization as opposed constantly to the force of imperialistic autocracy, Dr. Elmer L. Goshen, pastor of the First Congregational church of Salt Lake, told the members of the graduating class of the Twin Falls high school and an audience that crowded the Lavering theatre Thursday evening on the occasion of the commencement exercises that autocracy again would be defeated as a result of the present world conflict.

Autocracy Never Wins

"Autocracy has never won a permanent victory," he said. "For 40 years Germany prepared before she considered herself strong enough and set out to crush out the liberties of the world. The kaiser would have made good his boast that he would eat Christmas dinner in Paris in 1914 but for the patient, dogged, determined heroism of little Belgium. I predict with the spirit of prophecy that the kaiser is as near Paris now as he ever will be."

Atrocities Unparalleled.
"Since August, 1914, there has been written across the world a story of lust, murder, cruelty and atrocities never paralleled in any other period of history."

"Before Germany with clean hands can sue for peace she must get off of other man's territory and get back where she belongs."

"We are going to win this war but we shall have to pay for it. We haven't begun to pay yet. There is no sacrifice involved in the purchase of Liberty Bonds—they are a fine investment. There is no sacrifice involved in contributing to the Red Cross—that is a privilege and a service. Only one class of people have sacrificed. They are the fathers and mothers who have sent their boys out to uphold the flag.

Price to be Paid

"If the war were to end tonight you still would have to pay a price that cannot be measured. We shall never again face the same industrial situation as existed before the war. It is easy to boost but it is hard to lower industrial conditions and costs of living, and some of those who have boasted that they did not have to pay any price, have found unwittingly the flames of a social revolution.

"We are coming to realize that it makes a difference how the other fellow lives. If Russia had been a nation of liberty, peopled by people capable of independent thought, the war would have ended in sixty days. If Germany had been a land of liberty for honest labor, it would have let us exterminate barbarians for them they never would have come into the war.

"We shall never return to the place where each man can live unto himself alone. Hate has never accomplished anything of permanent value and never can. I plead with you that you meet the problems of the future with a spirit of consecration and self-sacrifice, helping to raise civilization to a higher plane than it has ever before occupied; that you shall be tolerant and that you shall think for yourselves."

Pupils' Part in War Work
Dr. Goheen was introduced by Hal G. Dine, superintendent of Twin Falls schools, who took occasion to read reports showing that pupils of the Twin Falls schools had contributed and invested for war purposes a grand total of approximately $50,000.

INVESTIGATION SOUNDS DEATH KNELL OF PEST

DR. J. E. WODSEDALEK
SAYS, AS RESULT OF
WORK HERE, A PHIS
WILL BE CONTROLLED

Investigator Has Confidence
During the few weeks that he has been here, Dr. Wodoladz has worked with the past almost unceasingly and has been able to make considerable progress in his determined efforts here, resulting in the accumulation of a large amount of valuable information concerning its habits and life-history. In view of much of this new, scientific knowledge the methods of controlling the pest will apparently be simple and inexpensive. Absolute confidence is being entertained in this research for the investigator, through his many publications of original research, has established an enviable record as a scientist not only in America but abroad as well. He has been honored by several national scientific organizations and much of his work has received a great deal of publicity.

Poets Numerous This Year

There is every indication that the Dr. J. H. Wesselsack, head of the department of zoology and entomology of the state university at Moscow, who has been investigating the clover aphid problem in this section, will leave tomorrow to finish the semester of the university and continue other research work during the summer months. Ralph H. Smith, of the University of California, has been engaged to continue the work here as outlined by Professor Wesselsack. Mr. Smith has had considerable experience in entomology and is especially recommended for experimental work.

Volunteers to Fill Place

Following the resignation, early this spring, of A. C. Burill, who assisted in the department of zoology and entomology and worked on the clover aphid in southern Idaho during the past year, the university experienced some difficulty in securing a well trained man at a moment's notice, and at the end of the year, since most of the contracts of entomologists in the country run out the end of June or July, Dr. Wodessdale, therefore, volunteered to take the place of Burill, and, being particularly anxious to have interesting spring activities of the pest investigated this season for that important phase of the problem had not been worked out heretofore. Mrs. Wodessdale, who is specialized in biology at the University of Wisconsin, has been given charge of the teaching work at the University of Idaho during the professor's absence.

Over clover aphids pests will be numerous this year, for, several old clover fields and many new ones in orchards were found to be badly infested. Due to the early discovery of the pest this spring by Dr. Wodessdale, many acres of clover, infested, and otherwise poor clover, owing to old age, have been ploughed under and the clover aphids were destroyed. The same fields will bear healthy stands of wheat and other grains, and the owners are congratulating themselves and the state university because they will be thousands of dollars ahead. Their neighbors, too, are ahead. The clover crops in the same new clover crops have been prevented.

End in Sight

After this year the clover aphid pest should be absolutely under control. The simple and intensive control measures will be effective for the control of the aphid in the orchards as well as on the fields, avoiding old clover stands, mowing wherever possible, sheep pasturing in the fall, rolling, etc., will be sufficient to keep the simple measures in the orchards. The same measures in the fields will give a complete form and result for the control. This will give every farmer an opportunity to familiarize himself with the pest which in the past has caused him a loss of $1000 to $2000 a dollar in damage in Idaho per year. It is hoped that every farmer will cooperate in the control measure which will be advocated, for, negligence on the part of a few will be sufficient damage to all. According to the present production of alfalfa in the state spraying, which is always more or less expensive, may have to be resorted to this summer in order to keep the pest under control. The effective measure is to keep the alfalfa crop in harvest. In the case of the affected alfalfa clover the field should be clipped early, and then sprayed. However, if the other measures are followed, the spraying, if it would not be necessary to spray.

Contribution to science
The complete scientific results of this thorough piece of work will be published later in the form of an experiment station bulletin, which will no doubt be a valuable contribution to the biological sciences in general.

EXTENSION POULTRYMAN
N. E. Luce of the federal bureau of animal industry has come to Idaho to extend work in poultry raising. Mr. Luce will give his entire time to the problems of the poultry raisers of the state and will work in close cooperation with the extension division of the university. He will work out of the extension headquarters in the state capital.

A THING OF EVIL

In the trial now going on in Chicago of two hundred twelve members of the I. W. W. accused of sabotage in various forms, it was in evidence that one of the defendants wrote a letter in which occurred this statement: "The I. W. W. can do in America what the Bolshevik did in Russia."

For a long time there has been a conviction in the hearts of men that this was precisely what was aimed at by the I. W. W. and its works. But, to date, evidence in tangible form was lacking. With the introduction of this letter in the testimony of the prosecution, the conviction is clarified, and in fact any lingering doubt is set at rest. It is patent from this letter and the general character of the evidence now being adduced that the example of the Russian Bolshevik is in a measure light to spur to ever greater heights the vicious ambitions of Bill Hayward and his gang of culture and perils.

The Russian Bolshevik is today the Russian working class drunk with power and greed and with blood lust. They take, and they give nothing in return. Without the intelligence of even the lower animals they would use of every resource without thought of the marrow, and when there is no more from which to take they kill in protest anger over the very conditions they themselves have brought about.

This is the thing Hayward and his followers would run up in America in the place of industrial progress, civic decency, human rights and popular education. They would teach the ignorant to take and to kill. And the ignorant, God pity them, were willing to learn. Not all the ignorant, but the mass of human degradation among the uneducated classes. The followers, the crowd, the social contacts and the men who believe in the principle that the world owes them a living and any means of collection are justified.

This is the essence of the anti-government movement—a menace which must be stopped in the hot wherever it may first reveal its head. It is a menace which will shake the American Republic to its foundations and destroy all that the fathers have bequeathed to the people.

ANOTHER TYPE OF SLACKER
Government officials, after months of study and investigation, are urging communities to fill their bins with as many foodstuffs as possible, and to have a good supply of foodstuffs on hand. There can be no shortage of foodstuffs in the future. The foodstuffs of the future will be the foodstuffs of the present. The foodstuffs of the present will be the foodstuffs of the future. The foodstuffs of the future will be the foodstuffs of the present. The foodstuffs of the present will be the foodstuffs of the future.

But in that time, also, there will be a great sympathy and a deal of justifiable indignation against the type of individual—one of whom was heard recently to remark that he would not go to his money in coal because the government would see that he was provided for later on.

A CONTRAST

While so far there have been no great outstanding demonstrations against German power in Europe, there are enough signs of unrest to lead one to the belief that beneath the surface lies a seething lake of red hot revolt. Yesterday Prague was reported to be under a state of siege. A few days ago there were labor demonstrations at various points in Austria and Hungary. A few months ago strikes in Berlin were put down with an iron hand, and it is only now that the real extent of the Berlin trouble is commencing to percolate through to America.

It is difficult to imagine a condition of this kind. In America there are no confiscations of metal stocks in private ownership. No absolute prohibitions along any one line. There are regulations, to be sure, which are being observed with all the force of law, cheerfully and willingly. There are no troops on hand in the large centers to back up the civil authorities. No outright compulsion along any line whatever.

Contrast these conditions with the known facts as they exist in the countries under the iron heel of Kaiserism, the new Russian provinces now under German domination. All of Austria and Hungary, the unfortunate country to the south where the Hun takes toll of every form of output, and justice and liberty are unknown. The Turkish situation controlled and administered by Germany for German benefit and without a thought to the people whose country has been violated and exploited to an extent hitherto undreamed of among civilized races.

Here in America there is no unsettling of the machinery of civic progress, no abatement of industry, no change whatever in the outward and visible form of life. This is democcracy. The only thing that can be done is to have a good supply of foodstuffs on hand. There can be no shortage of foodstuffs in the future. The foodstuffs of the future will be the foodstuffs of the present. The foodstuffs of the present will be the foodstuffs of the future.

ONLY THIRTY-THREE WERE
Although the thirty-three who have been convicted in America, there is no danger of one saving too much for their will be need of it. If, for example, we will eat less wheat, less sugar, less fat, more corn, more milk, more vegetables and fruits, it will be good for the health, good for our armies, and our allies, and will help save money for War Savings Stamps.

Thrifty always counts. Your coupons which you will clip from your bond which you bought in the First Liberty loan, could not be more wisely invested than in War Savings Stamps. The banks will cash your coupons; they also will sell you War Savings Stamps. The law of this interest in these Stamps means the compounding of interest on your Liberty bonds sensationally instead of annually. Compound interest runs into money very fast.

GRANTS DIVORCE TO MAN IN SERVICE

On the grounds of desertion, John E. Allen of Buhl, an enlisted man in the United States navy, was granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Edith Allen, by Judge W. A. Babcock in the district court here Saturday. This case was submitted about two weeks ago and was taken under advisement by the court for the reason that evidence had not been introduced at that time to show that the decree was sought by Allen. Statement was made that Allen desired the separation and that his parents had been authorized by him to bring the legal action. The petition for the divorce was signed by Attorney J. W. Taylor of Buhl, who on Saturday introduced further evidence in support of the validity of the claim. The defendant did not appear and no alimony was granted.

The Allens were married in Twin Falls, May 15, 1912.

WORK BEGINS ON IMPROVING WATER SYSTEM

ARRIVAL OF ENGINEER IS SIGNAL FOR INAUGURATION OF ACTIVE OPERATIONS OF CONTRACTORS

C. H. Painter of Kansas City, representative of Burns & McDonnell, supervising engineer, arrived here Saturday to enter upon his duties as chief construction engineer for the improvement and extension of the Twin Falls municipal waterworks system, provided for in a $775,000 bond issue carried at an election in January.

Active work begins. Arrival of Mr. Painter was the signal for contractors to whom the several phases of the work had been awarded, to commence active operations. On Sunday Mr. Painter sat the stake for the extension of William Hastings sub-contractor, in the work of excavation at the site of the filter plant to be installed, and the removal of the first earth for this purpose was accomplished Monday morning.

Mr. Painter is to whom sub-contract for excavation for the filter plant and for hauling materials that will be used in its construction has been let by the Heuser-Packard company of Salt Lake, successful bidders for the installation of the plant, holds also the contracts for ditching and laying of the new mains. He has recently completed large contracts on road work in the Burley highway district and on the new Jarbridge, Nevada, road, and is in position to throw all his men and teams into the work here.

Salt Lake Contractor Here. H. H. Heuser of the Heuser-Packard company, has arrived here with the expectation of remaining until the work under the contract held by his firm is completed.

The filtration plant to be installed is to be furnished by the Pittsburgh Filter works, and is of 6,000,000 gallons daily capacity. The peak consumption of water during the summer of 1917 was approximately 4,000,000 gallons daily. In view of the heavy loss resulting in delivery through the present defective and inadequate distribution system, it is estimated that when the new distribution system is installed the filtration plant being installed now will be adequate to supply the city when it has attained to twice its present population.

Adequate Fire Protection. The new waterworks system will afford abundant supply of water for fire protection. Every city under 60 pounds pressure. All of the fire hydrants to be installed will be situated on mains of 6 inches diameter or larger and will be fitted for connection with the steam fire engine.

PROPER FOOD FOR WEAK STOMACHS

The proper food for one man may be ill suited for another. Every man should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.—Adv.

One of the prettiest weddings of the year was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. A. W. Hartman, pastor of the Methodist church of Hansen, when Miss Marie Pettigrove, daughter of Mr. A. E. Pettigrove, became the bride of Jay L. Downing, for the past four years superintendent of the Kimberly high school. The lovely home of the bride was transformed with a profusion of pink and white roses and carnations. The bride, gaily gown in white crepe-de-chine, carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas. Mrs. Earl Provost of Twin Falls gown in white, was matron of honor and Miss Marjorie Elmer, a schoolmate of the bride, dressed in white organdy, carried the ring in a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Earl Provost acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. Blomberg and following the ceremony a buffet luncheon, further carrying out the color scheme, was served to thirty-five guests. Those from Twin Falls who witnessed the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. A. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cole, Kenyon Grout and his mother, and Jack North. The bride is a graduate of the class of '18, as well as a graduate of the Conservatory of music here, while the groom graduated from Ann Harbor, Mich. Mr. Downing leaves May 24 for Camp Lewis, Wash., where he will enter the service. Mrs. Downing will remain at Hansen with her parents.

A picnic in Devil's Corral, a scenic spot in Snake river canyon above Shoshone falls, was a most entertaining arrangement Tuesday evening for Miss Anna May Scott, who leaves today returning to her home in Boise, after spending several years in employment in Twin Falls. The picnickers, besides Miss Scott, were Miss Elsie H. Nelson, Miss Alberta Elmonds and Miss Nina J. Nelson.

The marriage was solemnized Sunday afternoon in the presence of relatives and immediate friends at the home of the bride's parents near Hansen, Rev. A. W. Hartman, pastor of the Hansen Methodist church, officiating. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Provost of Twin Falls.

The second annual May dance given by the Junior Social Improvement club at the Cotton hall Friday evening was one of the prettiest affairs of the season. The large hall was hung with a canopy of gold and white streamers from which myriads of gold stars hung.

"Comfy" corners were arranged about the hall, adding to its attractiveness. Under the shaded lights the lovely dresses of the girls blighted beautifully among them. Mr. H. W. Clouche, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Costello, Mrs. Seaver, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkey, Mrs. Husted, and Mr. and Mrs. Leopold, were present. Punch was served throughout the evening to 60 couples. Mrs. J. E. White and Mrs. A. J. Jester acted as chaperones.

Sixty members of the Junior Class spent Thursday picnicking at Clear Lake. The party made the trip in cars, returning by moonlight, after spending the day in wandering over the canyon which is rioting in spring coloring.

Miss Helene Allmendinger will present her pupils in one of her splendid recitals on Tuesday evening, May 21, at the First Presbyterian church. The program promises to be varied and delightful one, holding much in store for Twin Falls music lovers.

Many beautiful individual gifts were presented the brides-elect and as a gift from the whole group an exquisite piece of cut glass was given.

COLORADO MAN HAS WRITTEN A LETTER STATING THE FACTS

RELATES HIS OWN REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE AND TESTIMONY DESIRES TO HELP OTHERS

Remarkable indeed is the experience of Antonio Lopez, residing in Boulders, Colorado, as related by himself in a personal letter to Tanlac Headquarters. His plain convincing statement follows: exactly as it was written:

Boulders, Colo., August 25, 1917.

Mr. G. P. Willis, Tanlac Distributor, Dear Sir:

I want to write and tell you what Tanlac has done for me. I have been sick for twenty-five years, and have not been able to eat any supper for five years, neither could I eat any vegetables or fruit because I would cramp so in my bowels and stomach.

I am sixty-five years old, and before I started taking Tanlac I had gone down until I only weighed 158 pounds. After taking three bottles of Tanlac I have gone up to 148 pounds (gained ten pounds). I can eat a hearty supper, vegetables and fruit without the slightest of pain or gas troubling me.

Tanlac has sure done wonders for me, and as I hope it may do the same for other sufferers. You can use this letter if you wish.

Yours truly,
ANTONIO LOPEZ.

Hundreds of thousands of the most prominent people from every section of the country, have testified to the merit of Tanlac, and not a day passes but scores of grateful statements from those who have proven the power of the medicine, are being received by the proprietors of Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold in Twin Falls by City Pharmacy, in Rogerson by Thompson Drug Co., in Murtaugh by Murtaugh Drug Co., in Filer by A. B. Wood, in Buhl by G. D. Bonding Brothers Co., and in Kimberly by W. A. L. Store-Adv.

RED CROSS NOTES

Edited by Twin Falls Chapter

It is with deep regret that the board accepts the resignation of Mrs. E. L. McVicar as secretary of the Twin Falls County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Mrs. McVicar has given generously of her time and energy during the past ten months, and will be greatly missed by all connected with the Red Cross work in the county.

Room 15 of the Lincoln school presented the Red Cross with two more baby bonds recently. Rita Osborn brought the donation to headquarters.

Thirty-eight cents, the proceeds from a little entertainment given by Peggy Schneider, Bessie Burke, Blackstone and Beth Blackstone, has been given to the Red Cross.

Nearly 9,000 names enrolled by the American Red Cross are now in service. Twenty-five thousand more will be needed.

One Red Cross dollar, and nineteen others—One dollar, means 3 pairs of stockings for the children, 3 yards of black cloth from which are made the plaques worn by all little French boys to school. It means household linen and utensils, a hundred and one things in normal business and social life without which no one can live.

For no one perhaps, does a dollar, in company with 19 other dollars, mean as much as for the French soldier, whose face has been terribly torn or burnt by shell or flame. The small sum of $20 and his volunteer skill of an American woman sculptor, provides one of those marvelous facial masks of thinly rolled copper, painted to resemble flesh, which enables these most pathetic of all mutilated men to go on in normal business and social life without causing insensitive horror, which the scarred wreckage of his face must otherwise arouse.

The women of America as they work day after day making surgical dressings, sewing on hospital garments and knitting sweaters and socks, form a great part of the army of defense against the unspeakable evil which threatens the world. This reserve army like any other army to be most efficient must be well equipped with individual opinions and preferences, and even habits of years. While our young men go into camps and to the front, submitting themselves to every detail of military discipline, and our young women learn surgical dressing and hospital garments every fold and hem and tape according to rules laid down, how is it that the mothers of Israel can refuse to do their part except in their own way and according to their own fancy?

No matter if they did but for the sake of their families over the whole, conditions to be met today are entirely different. These good women will surely get in line but they are slow about it. The quality of the knitting received at headquarters supply box has improved greatly in the last six months, but the toes of the sock do not improve as they should. To avoid this the Division insists that every sock shall have a Kitchener toe, and that every knitter shall be a good soldier, and do as the Red Cross asks for the duration of war.

NOTES FROM THE INSPECTOR

The Northwest Division of the A. R. C. comprises the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and the Territory of Alaska. It has 128 Chapters. The past twelve months the Division has used 700,000 yds. material, making 350,000 hospital garments; 800,000 yds. gauze making 3,500,000 surgical dressings; 150,000 yds. yarn, making 80,000 sweaters; 40,000 pr. socks.

The two chief aims of the Red Cross are: 1—Morale. 2—Discipline. Red Cross should radiate Patriotism, Obedience, Discipline.

We must get the work done, do matter who gets the credit for it. This is the spirit of the Red Cross in France, and must be the spirit of our Red Cross at home. The greatest lesson to be learned by Americans is that we must subordinate individualism, and with united aim and purpose, learn to obey the man or woman from whom we must take orders.

Women are the second line trenches in this war. Any woman who will not work to win this war is as much a Hun as the men who are fighting our boys over there.

We must eliminate the idea of SERVICE.

Let our slogan be "Tolerant Co-Operation."

The most important department of Red Cross activities is to be the Home Service Department, in the future. It is necessary for the morale of the men who are fighting, to know that their families at home are cared for by the government, and that Red Cross Home Service section is doing its best to take care of them.

A new department in the Bureau of Communications. Any parent or guardian of a child wishing information in regard to a soldier who can not be heard from, may receive the benefit of this Bureau, and the matter will be taken up direct by cable from Washington, D. C.

The Department of Personnel is under supervision of the Chairman of each Chapter, and any persons desiring to make application to enter Red Cross service at home or abroad should do so through the channel of their local Chapter.

Classes in First Aid are urged to be started for men. Classes in Home Care of the Sick and Dietetics are of the greatest importance, as there will soon be a dearth of competent nurses all over the country. Girls leaving school should consider seriously the necessity of entering a hospital for training, to meet this emergency.

FARM MACHINERY

List Your Unused Farm Machinery.

B. H. Kollmar suggests that farmers who have special tools that they are not using this year should list them with the Farm Bureau if they dispose of them. These men who raised potatoes, beans or sugar beets, that require special tools could dispose of them to their neighbors who need them. This might save your neighbor paying war prices.

Be sure the prices on a potato crate that might interest you. See the Farm Bureau.

The wool pool has been closed up and checks mailed out.

LABOR NOTES

The Farm Bureau was able to fill all the calls last week easily. The type of help applying now is better than earlier in the season. Many men from the eastern states, as Illinois and Ohio, are seeking places here. They are willing to accept the Farm Bureau scale, but lack irrigation experience. They will make the type you are looking for, men that will stick.

School is out and the high school boys are anxious to work. They will make good hay hands. The Bureau filled 34 calls the past week for steady help and two for short jobs.

Will have charges of clover hay delivered.

Ralph H. Smith arrived Wednesday noon to relieve Dr. J. R. Wedocadok of the State University, who has been at Twin Falls since April 15, investigating clover scab. Dr. Wedocadok returned Friday to Moscow to resume his duties as head of the Zoology department. The importance of the work demands that it be undertaken early this spring, and so Dr. Wedocadok expects to return to start the work.

Dr. Wedocadok is not likely to be found in the city, but he is general up many important lines of investigation

in regard to the pest, which promises to give definite means of control. At his office in the Farm Bureau, he showed many farmers where to look for the field, and advised for treating the field.

Everyone who met Dr. Wedocadok was pleased with his personality and became very interested in his work, and he left many friends in the county. Mr. Smith, who now has charge of the investigation in the University of Kansas State University. He has held a position in the Oregon Agricultural College and during the past winter was connected with the Zoology department of the California State University. He will have his office in the Farm Bureau, and is anxious to meet all the clover growers.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

Since the closing of the schools for the summer vacation, the club work is receiving more attention, and added interest. Many districts are unfortunately not having organized clubs, however, it is hoped by the Extension department that this work may be carried to all parts of the county next year, and that all boys and girls will be given the opportunity to join in this patriotic service. Mr. E. A. Smith, recently appointed County Club Leader, is now devoting his time to this work. He is well-versed with the interest and enthusiasm among the boys and girls in their efforts.

Youth Club members and all interested in the production of poultry will be glad to learn that Mr. N. E. Lane, poultry specialist, of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture will speak at the high school auditorium Wednesday, May 22, at 8:00 o'clock. Reports received at the Farm Bureau office show that all who enrolled are actively engaged in this work, and have hatched not less than 200 chicks, and planted several fine gardens.

Pleasant Valley.

Pig and Canning clubs organized in Pleasant Valley though small, promise to be among the best of the county. The pig club boys here are especially fortunate in securing the service of Mr. D. W. Walton, a well-known and highly successful breeder of hogs, as their advisor. The Canning Club is under the direction of Mrs. Harter. Both clubs were entertained at the Holmerman ranch last Friday, and report a very pleasant evening spent in games and business. Refreshments served by the hostess will be a pleasant memory to all present.

Rickal

Probably no club in the county can equal the Rickal Garden club in the spirit and enthusiasm shown by its members. Any person who doubts that boys and girls can be interested in productive labor needs only to visit this club to be convinced of their serious efforts. Miss Harvey, as leader is congratulated for her effective work.

OUT WOMEN

Life History and Control.

Many complaints of the ravages of cut worms are coming in especially from beet growers. This first becomes noticeable when they begin to sprout, or just come above ground. Immediate action is necessary.

Cut worm injury invariably occurs in the spring, the plant usually being cut off at the surface or a little below. The injury starts with the first sprouts, and continues until early July. The worm is a light green, lying dormant all day below the surface underneath debris or the soil at a depth of 1/2 to 1 inch. They closely resemble the caterpillar of the silkworm, and are not easily seen. However, if you dig down around the plant it is easy to find.

amined, the worm can generally be found.

Life History.

The adult female is a grayish or brownish moth or miller commonly observed on a summer evening. She lays 20 to 500 eggs in masses or singly in a cultivated field, where they have been given a clover or alfalfa seedling. The eggs hatch in the fall, a few weeks after they are laid, usually during September, and the young cut worms, after feeding on grass or other vegetables, pass the winter as a partly grown caterpillar in clover or grass fields. A noticeable injury will be observed, but in cultivated fields, where rows of corn, beans, beets, etc. are placed on short rotations, and do considerable injury. They attain their full growth by July, and pass through into a pupa and thence into a moth.

Control.

Land to be planted to cultivated crops should be plowed in mid summer to destroy the eggs. This can be done by the moths would naturally lay eggs. Late fall plowing of grass land destroys many of the young hibernating cut worms. Eggs and poultry will also eat a large number.

When the crop has been planted, and the field is infested, the use of poison is of little help. Mix 50 lbs. of wheat bran and 1 pound of Paris Green, or finely chopped oranges or lemons together thoroughly. Add a gallon of strong smelling low grade molasses and bring the mass to the consistency of a stiff mud with water. Sprinkle around the field and kill the worms. Alfalfa or middlings can be substituted for bran if necessary. In old clover fields planted to beans or beets it is well to have the bran spread over the seed sprouts. The cut worms feed at night and therefore spread the bran in the evening.

The cut worm migrates from infested fields, and it is safe to run a narrow band of poisoned bait around the field or along the side nearest the source of infestation.

HOW TO FIGHT GRASSHOPPERS.

Charles E. Jones.

The life history of the grasshopper is very simple. The eggs are laid by the females in a shallow hole in the ground with a stick or other object. The young are laid the last part of the summer, usually about the first of September. Hatching begins the following spring in May or June, and continues over an extended period. The number of eggs varies from 10 to 15. The young are 1/2 to 1 inch in length, curved slightly and of a yellowish color.

Upon hatching, the young grasshoppers or nymphs resemble the full grown grasshopper. They lack wings, and have large heads, but have ravenous appetites feeding upon green vegetation. They feed in the daytime and are quiet at night on stems of grass and other objects.

They shed their outer coats five times before they develop wings. They require about 60 to 90 days. They feed two weeks before they begin to lay eggs, and the life history is repeated. They are more destructive in the young stage than in the adult, having greater appetites. They eat all kinds of vegetation, preferring sweet, young tender sprouts.

Prevention—No Preventing Hatching.

Where they are destructive, year after year practice close cultivation of all ditch banks, fence rows and road sides. This will expose the eggs to the weather and their natural enemies. The first few eggs the grasshopper to lay their eggs in the soil where they will be destroyed by plowing. Exposure of the eggs to air, sunshine, natural enemies is very effective. This can be accomplished by plowing, digging or harrowing. This should be done in late fall or early spring before they hatch. All ditches, roadways and fence rows should be plowed. Plowing should be at least 8 inches deep in order to bury them two deep to ever reach the surface.

In alfalfa fields and other places where they are plowed in affected areas, plowing 2 inches deep. In orchards leaving for codling, etc., in the orchard the hoppers.

The most effective way to control the grasshopper pest is by both man and machine spraying. The farmer to the best advantage should use both.

There are various types of machines for catching them, but poisoning is more effective.

Poison Bait Mash Bait.

This can be applied to grain field and orchard and alfalfa fields after removing the first cutting. It is made as follows: Mix 25 lbs. of coarse bran with 1 lb. powdered white arsenic. Pour two quarts of strong smelling cheap molasses or sugar syrup should be mixed with the juice and finely ground pieces of oranges or lemons and 3 gallons of water and stir thoroughly. Pour the liquid slowly over the bran until it is crumbly, mixing thoroughly. Many poison mixtures have been condemned because they were not properly mixed.

The mixture should be sown thinly in field at the rate of 9 lbs. to the acre. The early evening or early morning is best. Two to four applications a week a part should kill all the grasshoppers. Get your neighbor to help you and go over your field systematically and thus you will not add any spot.

Mix 1 1/2 lbs. of sodium arsenate, 2 quarts of cheap molasses and 50 gallons of water. This should be sprayed over one acre. It takes 1 pound of sodium arsenate for alfalfa and 1 1/2 pounds for clover.

It is best applied with an orchard power spray outfit. This should be fitted with an extension at the rear consisting of a half inch pipe 18 or 15 feet long, fitted with 6 mist nozzles. The nozzles should tip at an angle of 45 degrees in order to cover a wide area. If the nozzles are rightly spaced a path 20 to 25 feet wide can be covered. The apparatus corresponds to a potato sprayer.

Observe the following points: The spray must be thrown in a fine mist. Too much spray will burn the foliage and the hoppers won't eat it. Don't stop the machine or cover corners twice. It will burn the foliage. The pressure should not be less than 150, and 200 is better.

The pressure should clear the ground 4 feet to a mist spray will be thrown. Tank and piping should be cleaned thoroughly before using and strain the water. An obstruction may blow off a nozzle and cause burning. Don't spray during a rainy spell as the spray will be washed off. Spraying can be done at any stage of plant growth, but if applied on foliage 6 to 10 inches high, and when grass hoppers are 1/2 grown, best results will be obtained. Dead grass hoppers are eaten by the crows and the poison does no harm.

Spraying the roadways and fence rows double, it will kill the weeds. Spraying will not injure the stock.

Never forget you are using poison. Consult the county agent. If you plan a campaign, make a community program instead of an individual affair.

Wheat Growers.

If grass hoppers have troubled in the neighborhood before, spread poisoned bran around the field. The young hoppers can't fly but must crawl or hop, and will eat the mash and be destroyed.

CHAPTER XXI.

About Turn.

The next evening we were relieved by the 14th brigade, and once again returned to rest billets. Upon arriving at these billets we were given twenty-four hours to write up our reports. I had just finished writing the mud from my uniform when the orderly sergeant informed me that my name was in orders to leave, and that I was to report to the orderly room in the morning for orders, transportation and ration.

I nearly had a fit, hustled about packing up, filling my pack with supplies such as shell heads, dog points, nose caps, shrapnel balls, and a Prussian guardsman's helmet. In fact, I turned in that night. I had everything ready to report at the orderly room at nine the next morning.

I was the envy of the whole section, swanking around, telling of the good time I was going to have, the places I could visit, and the real old English beer I intended to imbibe. I rubbed it into their faces, they all did it, and now that it was my turn, I took pains to get my own back.

At nine I reported to the captain, receiving my travel order and pass. He asked me how much money I wanted to draw. I glibly answered, "Three hundred francs, sir," he just as glibly handed me one hundred.

Reporting at brigade headquarters, with my pack weighing a ton, I waited, with forty others, for the adjutant to inspect us. After an hour's wait, he came out; must have been sore because he wasn't going with us.

The quartermaster sergeant issued us two days' rations, in a little white canvas ration bag, which we tied to our belts.

Then two motor lorries came along and we piled in, laughing, joking, and in the best of spirits. We even loved the Germans, we were feeling so happy. Our journey of seven days' bills in Blighty had come to an end.

The ride in the lorry lasted about two hours; by this time we were covered with mud, white dust from the road, but didn't mind, even if we were nearly choking.

At the railroad station at B—, we reported to an officer, who had a white band around his arm, which read "R. T. O." (Royal Transportation Officer). To us this officer was Santa Claus.

The sergeant in charge showed him our orders; he glanced through them and said: "Make yourselves comfortable on the platform and don't leave; the train is liable to be along in five minutes—or five hours."

It came in five hours, a string of seven match-boxes on big, high wheels, drawn by a dinky little engine with the "con." The match-boxes were cattle cars, on the sides of which was painted the old familiar sign, "Homes 40, Cheapest 8."

The R. T. O. stuck us all into one car. We didn't care; it was as good as a Pullman to us.

Two days we spent on that train, bumping, stopping, jerking ahead, and sometimes sliding back. At three stations we stopped long enough to make some tea, but were unable to wash, so when we arrived at B—, where we were to embark for Blighty, we were as black as Terence and, with our unshaven faces, we looked like a lot of cramps. Though tired out, we were happy.

We had packed up, preparatory to detaching, when a R. T. O. held up his hand for us to stop where we were and came over. This is what he said:

"Don't think for a minute that the Germans were the only snuffers; we were clicking casualties so fast that you needed an adding machine to keep track of them."

"Did you ever see one of the steam shovels at work on the Panama canal? Well, it would look like a hen scratching alongside of a Tommy 'digging in' while under fire. You couldn't see daylight through the clouds of dirt from his shovel."

After losing three out of six men of our crew we managed to get up our machine gun. One of the legs of the tripod was resting on the chest of a hair-buried body. When the gun was fired, it gave the impression that the body was breathing. This was caused by the excessive vibration.

Three or four feet down the trench, about three feet from the ground, a foot was protruding from the earth. We knew it was a German by the black leather boot. One of our crew used that foot to hang extra bandoliers of ammunition on. This man always was a handy fellow; made use of little points that the ordinary person would overlook.

The Germans made three counter-attacks, which we repulsed, but not without heavy loss on our side. They also suffered severely from our shell and machine-gun fire. The ground was spotted with their dead and dying.

The next day three more counter-

Beastly rotten, I know." Then he left. A dead silence reigned. Then men started to climb their rifles on the floor of the car; others said nothing, seemed to be sleeping, while some had the legs rumpling down their cheeks. It was a bitter disappointment to all.

I was blinded by the engine of the train; it was all his fault (so we reasoned); why hadn't he stopped a little or been on time, then we would have gotten off before the order arrived? Now it was no Blighty for us.

That return journey was misery to us. I put on my gas mask. When we got back to rest billets, we found that our brigade was in the trenches (another agreeable surprise) and that an attack was contemplated.

Seventeen of the forty-one will never get another chance to go on leave. They are killed, the others are so tired that they can't go on leave. I hope to tell you how I was killed by the boys when I got back, but it was good and plenty.

Our machine gun company took over their part of the line at seven o'clock the night after I returned from my near leave.

At 5:30 the following morning three waves went over and captured the first and second German trenches. The machine gunners went over with the fourth wave to consolidate the captured line or "dig in," as Tommy calls it.

Crossing No Man's Land without clicking any casualties, we came to the German trench and mounted our guns on the parapet of same.

I never saw such a mess in my life—bunches of twisted barbed wire lying about, shell holes everywhere, trench all bashed in, parapets gone, and dead bodies everywhere. It was a regular morgue. Some were mangled horribly from our shell fire, while others were wholly or partly buried in the mud, the result of shell explosions coming in from the trench. One dead German was lying on his back, with a rifle sticking straight up in the air, the bayonet of which was buried to the hilt in his chest. Across his feet lay a dead English soldier with a bullet wound in his forehead. His Tommy must have been killed just as he ran his bayonet through the German.

Rifles and equipment were scattered about, and occasionally a steel helmet could be seen sticking out of the mud. At one place in the trench, a communication trench, was a stretcher. On this stretcher a German was lying with a white bandage around his head, near to him lay one of the stretcher-bearers, the red cross on his arm covered with mud and his helmet filled with blood and brains. Close by, sitting up against the wall of the trench, with head resting on his chest, was the other stretcher-bearer. He seemed to be alive, the position was so natural and easy, but when I got closer I could see a large jagged hole in his temple. The three men had been killed by the same shell-burst.

The diggers were all smashed in and knocked out of the trench. One splintered into bits, walls caved in and entrances choked.

Tommy, after taking a trench, learns to his sorrow that the hardest part of the work is to hold it.

At one place this proved to be so. The German artillery and machine guns had us taped (ranged) for fair; it was worth your life to expose yourself an instant.

Don't think for a minute that the Germans were the only snuffers; we were clicking casualties so fast that you needed an adding machine to keep track of them.

"Did you ever see one of the steam shovels at work on the Panama canal? Well, it would look like a hen scratching alongside of a Tommy 'digging in' while under fire. You couldn't see daylight through the clouds of dirt from his shovel."

After losing three out of six men of our crew we managed to get up our machine gun. One of the legs of the tripod was resting on the chest of a hair-buried body. When the gun was fired, it gave the impression that the body was breathing. This was caused by the excessive vibration.

Three or four feet down the trench, about three feet from the ground, a foot was protruding from the earth. We knew it was a German by the black leather boot. The Germans made three counter-attacks, which we repulsed, but not without heavy loss on our side. They also suffered severely from our shell and machine-gun fire. The ground was spotted with their dead and dying.

The next day three more counter-

quicker, but not quick enough to beat the dead.

We lived, ate and slept in that trench with the unburied dead for six days. It was awful to watch their faces become swarthy and discolored. However, the last stomach was strong.

What got on my nerves the most was that foot sticking out of the dirt. It seemed to me, at night, in the moonlight, to be trying to twist around. Several times this impression was so strong that I went to it and knapped it in both hands, to see if I could feel a movement.

I told this to the man who had used it for a hatrack just before I lay down for a little nap, as things were quiet, and I needed a rest pretty badly. When I woke up the foot was gone. He had cut it off with our chain saw out of the spare parts' box, and had plastered the stump over with mud.

During the next day or two we were before we were relieved, I missed that foot dreadfully; seemed as if I had suddenly lost a thumb.

I think the worst thing of all was to watch the rats, at night, and sometimes in the day, run over and play about among the dead.

Near our gun, right across the parapet, could be seen the body of a German lieutenant, the head and arms of which were hanging into our trench. The man who had cut off the foot used to sit and carry on a one-sided conversation with this officer, used to argue and point out why Germany was in the wrong. During all of this monologue I never heard him say anything of the kind.

But, nevertheless, when our six days were up, we were tickled to death to be relieved.

Our machine gun company lost seventeen killed and thirty-one wounded in that little local affair of straightening the line, while the other companies clicked it worse than we did.

After the attack we went into reserve billets for six days, and on the seventh once again we were in rest billets.

CHAPTER XXII.

Punishments and Machine-Gun Stunts.

Soon after my arrival in France; in fact, from my childhood, I had found that in the British army discipline is very strict. One has to be very careful in order to stay on the narrow path of government virtue.

There are about seven million ways of breaking the "king's regulations" to keep one you have to break another.

The worst punishment is death by a firing squad, or "up against the wall," as Tommy calls it.

This is for desertion, cowardice, mutiny, giving information to the enemy, looting, rape, robbing the dead, forcing a safe, striking a superior, etc.

Then comes the punishment of sixty-four days in the front-line trench without being allowed to leave the trench to engage in all raids, working parties in No Man's Land, and every hazardous undertaking that comes along. If you live through the sixty-four days you are indeed lucky.

This punishment is awarded where there is a doubt as to the wilful guilt of a man who has committed an offense punishable by death.

Then comes the famous field punishment No. 1. Tommy has nicknamed it "The Blink." It is a punishment that is spread-again on a limber wheel, two hours a day for twenty-one days. During this time he only gets water, bully beef and biscuits for hischow. You get "crucified" for repeated minor offenses.

Next in order is field punishment No. 2. This is confinement in the "clink," without blankets, getting water, bully beef and biscuits for rations and doing all the dirty work that can be found. This may be for twenty-four hours or twenty days, according to the gravity of the offense.

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and back-ache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Twin Falls people. Charles W. Secord, carpenter, 112 McKinley Ave., Twin Falls, says: "When I was living in Minneapolis I was suffering with pains in my back and other kidney trouble. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they surely gave me fine relief. I always recommend Doan's because I have tried them and they are reliable." (Statement given June 2, 1910.)

AGAIN PRAYER

On September 25, 1917, Mr. Secord said: "At one time I was so bad off with kidney trouble I couldn't do a whole day's work. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and since I have my last statement recommending them I have been free from all such trouble. I have been as strong and healthy as any man."

Facing a Big Question

THE success of any business enterprise, either private or public, is dependent upon two prime factors. First, it must fully serve the purpose for which it was established. Second, it must produce adequate revenues.

To be sufficient, the revenues must cover all the necessary expenses attendant upon the conduct of the business; they must cover the cost of upkeep of the property and must provide a reasonable return upon the capital invested.

Any returns less than this will impair the usefulness of the enterprise from the standpoint of its relation to the public, destroy its credit and finally the end must be financial disaster.

Since the beginning of the war decided economic changes have taken place. Prices of commodities have increased to meet the increased cost of their production. Labor has been forced to charge more for its services in order to adjust itself to the constantly rising costs of life's necessities.

So adjustments and readjustments of prices are being made to meet the conditions growing out of the war.

The telephone business is governed by the same economic principles and is subject to the same conditions that influence private business—except that its charges for service cannot be raised or lowered overnight, like the price of sugar, to correspond with fluctuating costs. So that, while the needs of labor and material entering into the operation and maintenance of our plant and business have increased tremendously, our revenues have remained practically unchanged.

This condition has resulted in a deficit in our net income of $1,334,002.02 at the end of 1917. The operation of our plant in Idaho alone contributed to this deficit $118,233.76.

The big question which we are facing is to wipe out this deficit in order to maintain the plant at a point of reasonable efficiency and at the same time maintain the financial integrity of the Company.
