FAIR ASSOCIATION SE- CRETARY ISSUES STRIN- GENT REGULATIONS

Permission to use the race track on the Twin Falls county fair grounds at Filer for "matched races" will be given by Secretary J. M. Marshall upon application, when such races appear to be properly matched, but no permission will be given to run such races during working hours.

Harvest for Ladies

This is one of the provisions of regulations governing the use of the fair grounds which have just been issued by Secretary Marshall. These regulations will be enforced during the season prior to the fair. The grounds have been used very largely in a harvest for ladies, Secretary Marshall says, and some races have been run at times that interfered with the regular employment of the community.

Other provisions of the regulations are as follows:

The grounds of the Twin Falls county fair belong to the county and are maintained by taxation and are maintained by the county.

The control of the grounds is vested in the president and secretary of the board of directors.

The track and barn may be used only by securing the consent of the secretary, who will keep a record of stalls assigned. Complaints of stalls must not be made without first securing consent of the secretary.

Stalls, other than those assigned, must not be made use of for the purpose of depositing refuse of any kind.

The track will be kept in such condition, and shall be worked such time, as the secretary may direct.

RESTRICTED COUNTY NEARLY MEETS ESTIMATE

ONE HUNDRED EIGHTY YOUNG MEN ARE LISTED AS PROSPECTIVE SOLDIERS

War department estimates that 10 per cent of the number of men who registered under the military selective service regulations on June 5, 1917, would register similarly on the corresponding date this year when young men attaining the age of 21 years during the year would be required to register, were practically fulfilled in Twin Falls county.

According to reports received by Frank M. Kendall, chief registrar, Thursday, 180 young men were registered in Twin Falls county on Wednesday.

On the corresponding date last year 2025 men between the ages of 21 and 31 years were registered under the draft regulations in Twin Falls county.

The number of volunteer enlistments prior to registration day from among those who would be required to register, is considered as the margin for the margin of the war department estimates in this county.

The several registrars over the county have reported the number of men registering Wednesday in each district as follows: Twin Falls, 52; Burley, 48; Filer, 33; Kimberly, 14; Hansen, 13; Berger, 6; Murtugha, 5; Castleford, 5; Rogerson, 4; Hollister, 3; Rock Creek, none.

Better Get Your Super-Six Now

It is the only way to assure
Delivery—Note this situation

FOR THE THIRD TIME SINCE JANUARY OUR ALLOTMENT OF HUDSON SUPER-SIXES HAS BEEN REDUCED. WE ARE WITH A CONTINUATION OF THE PRESENT ACTIVE DEMAND AND THE GROWING DIFFICULTIES OF GETTING CARS THAT A DEPRIVED SHORTAGE WILL EXIST WITHIN A SHORT TIME.

THAT CONDITION ALREADY EXISTS ON CERTAIN SUPER-SIX MODELS. PRODUCTION OF THOSE TYPES HAS ABSOLUTELY STOPPED BECAUSE ALL THE CARS OF THOSE CLASSES PLANNED FOR THIS SEASON HAVE ALREADY BEEN BUILT. THE FACTORY CAN SUPPLY NO MORE UNTIL A NEW ALLOTMENT CAN BE BROUGHT THROUGH, WHICH WILL BE SOME TIME IN THE FALL.

Why Hudsons Are in Such Demand

THE ANSWER IS CLEAR TO ALL WHO KNOW AUTOMOBILE QUALITIES.

MEN ARE CHOOSING CARS TODAY THEY KNOW THEY CAN RELY UPON. SUCH ATTRACTIONS AS FORMERLY HAVE ACCOUNTED FOR THE POPULARITY OF SOME CARS NO LONGER COUNT FOR MUCH, IF THE CAR HAS NOT ALSO DEMONSTRATED ITS ABILITY IN PERFORMANCE AND ENDURANCE.

INQUIRE AS TO THE TYPES OF CARS PEOPLE ARE NOW BUYING. YOU WILL FIND THE ACTIVE SALE IS OF JUST TWO TYPES—THOSE THAT ARE VERY CHEAP AS TO PRICE AND FROM WHICH NO EXTRAORDINARY SERVICE IS EXPECTED AND THOSE THAT ARE OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY.

MEN ARE DISPOSING OF THEIR OLD CARS THAT HAD SHOWN LIMITATIONS OF ENDURANCE AND PERFORMANCE IN ORDER TO GET SUPER-SIXES. THEY KNOW THE IMPORTANCE DURING THE TIMES AHEAD OF HAVING A CAR UPON WHICH THEY CAN RELY.

THEY ARE NOT TAKING ANY CHANCES WITH CARS THAT MAY FAIL THEM JUST AT THE TIME WHEN THEY NEED IT MOST AND WHEN REPAIRS AND SERVICE WILL BE HARDER TO GET.

PERSHING TO DIRECT WORK OF RED CROSS

MRS. W. F. EDWARDS REPORTS TO TWIN FALLS CHAPTER ON SYSTEMATIZATION OF EFFORT

Measures that have been adopted by the American Red Cross to bring about more thorough systematization of its work, are outlined in a report to the executive committee of the Twin Falls County Red Cross chapter by Mrs. W. F. Edwards, chairman of the military relief committee. The report is made consequent upon Mrs. Edwards' attendance recently at a report for Red Cross workers of the Northwest division held at Seattle, and is as follows:

Pershing Will Issue Calls

There is a much more definite plan for work in the future than there has been in the past. The quotas will be more in the nature of emergency calls. General Pershing will advise the Red Cross at Washington what is needed. Washington will divide the work among the different divisions and they in turn will give it out to the different chapters. We are asked to fill the quotas and no more. At the front the soldiers have no more than the trenches, then a certain time off duty. We are to follow out the same plan. If the quota given us takes only ten days of each month, we have twenty left for other things.

The Red Cross is asked to deliver on September 1, 100,000 packages of material, including 50,000 hospital garments, including only pajamas, hospital case shirts, bed socks and bed jackets. At any time a special emergency call may be received, then we are expected to lay aside all other work until the special call is answered.

Refugee Work Neglected

In the past the refugee work has been neglected. Too much has been done for the soldiers themselves, in proportion to what has been done for their families. It has been found that especially the French and Belgians at the front are so worried about their families, not knowing in many instances whether or not they have shelter, food or clothing that their efficiency is much reduced and they are less spirited. So by providing the things needed by the Red Cross is not only giving their duty but furnishing good ammunition to the men. We are to be given definite quotas in this refugee work as well as in other work, and we are asked not to send anything else.

Message in Garments

You have no idea of the message unacceptable things that are sent in. You have no doubt all heard such remarks as "If I was in the position they are, I would be glad to get anything." A garment will be made in the most slipshod manner with the same spirit in evidence. Then "I used those for my own baby, guess they are good enough for them." In this connection let us presume the conditions reversed. We are the refugees. France sympathizes with us and gets busy. The result is many thousands of black satin pianofortes for boys from seven to sixteen. And Holland would send wooden shoes. Then we often use things for the sake of economy that we would not care to present to friends, and we are asked to consider the French and Belgian refugees, as friends, and to remember the sacrifices they have made and let the garments we send carry the message we wish it to—the gift of one proud nation to another.

Headquarters to Supply Material

In regard to materials, the material will not be sent out till the materials are in the warehouse from which to make them. We are asked to buy nothing more in the open market. Where chapters have a stock of materials on hand, or in transit, the allotment will be made to include these materials. Seattle expects to carry a 90 days' stock of materials of the quota. The Red Cross dollar will be on the same footing as the dollar, and will be able to buy all things needed direct from factories. This will control prices. Their aim is to furnish both garments and gauge out, but it will take some time to work this out. We are asked to send in everything we have, finished and not so. They have a chance in the near future to make a large shipment when crops begin to come in, the space will be so limited that they wish us to clean out shelves now.

Record of Division

Mrs. Hilton said that this division had furnished out of 700,000 yards of material, 350,000 garments, 800,000 yards of gauze, 3,000,000 dressings, 150,000 pounds of yarn, 80,000 sweaters and 140,000 pairs socks. It is doing business on a $5,000,000 basis.

The salvage department is very flourishing, bringing from $1500 to $1800 a month. Into the chapter, the new, even hair combs, are too small. Their slogan is "Save the small scraps to win the big one."

Formerly the surgical dressings have been made according to the ideas of foreign surgeons. Now that our own surgeons are here, we are asked to make dressings to make that will be most convenient for them. These we learned to make; also the Spangum moss pads. Of these the northwest division has an allotment of 500,000 to be made as soon as possible.

Knitting Trouble Prevailing

There has been more trouble with knitting than any other part of the work. The knitters being the slowest to give up their own individual ways of doing. Ten per cent of the toes are poor, and while the ninety per cent of knitters toes are improving all the time, the ten per cent remain the same. So nothing but the knitters toe will be accepted. The sweaters must be 36 inches long and 18 to 19 inches wide. In fact, all knitting must be done according to specifications and the person who refuses to do this must find some other channel through which to work.

World Train Draft Men

Headquarters is very anxious that all men in the draft shall have the instructions. In first aid before leaving home, and we are urged to see that this is done, and the physician who has this work in charge is asked to enlist the aid of other physicians, if he is unable to give the required time. They also urge that all communities have classes in home care of the sick and dietetics, even when a certificate is not desired.

Girls graduating from the high school are urged to go to some large hospital and take the regular training to replace the nurses going to the front.

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate, and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil found in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.

THIS WOMAN SAYS SHE HAD SUFFERED SINCE SHE WAS A GIRL

FINDS RELIEF AFTER 30 YEARS— "I'VE ALWAYS FRANKED TAN-LAC," SHE SAYS

"It certainly seems wonderful, after trying almost every conceivable medicine for the past thirty years, that a few bottles of Tanlac should give me that long hoped for relief. But it has and I'll praise it as long as I live." This interesting and remarkable statement was made by Mrs. Hester E. Napier, in an interview at her residence, 1020 South Second West street, Salt Lake City, Utah, recently, by Mrs. Napier, who is the wife of a valued employee of the National Bleedit company, has lived in Salt Lake City for nearly forty years, and her many friends will be glad to learn of her recovery. "I have suffered from stomach trouble in the form of gastritis and other complications, which as I grew older kept getting worse. Soon after meals my stomach felt full, with gas and bloating, and I was unable to eat. I had a pressure around my heart that almost cut off my breath. I couldn't eat an apple or an orange without it making me almost deathly sick, and milk was just like poison to me. I had no appetite at all, could not eat a morsel of any kind, and for years I simply suffered agony. At times I was almost prostrated with headache, and my nerves were all shattered. I was so nervous and miserable I could get no rest day or night, and felt tired and worn out all the time. Last fall my condition became so serious that my family was alarmed about me. I had given up nearly all hopes of ever getting relief, and was really afraid I would soon die unless I could get something to help me."

"About the first of January I read the testimonial of a party I knew, and who had gotten such wonderful results from Tanlac that I decided to try it myself. Well, it Tanlac had failed me I don't know what I would have done, as I think I had tried everything else. But it hasn't failed me, I'm thankful to say. On the other hand I feel just like a new person since taking it. I didn't feel much benefit from my first bottle, but the time my second bottle was gone I felt a great improvement. My appetite peaked up and since that time I have had no more pain or anything else. I have taken three bottles, now and can sleep all night long, and that first, worst feeling has left me. I am not the least bit nervous any more, and my stomach is in such fine condition that I can eat meats and anything else I want without the slightest discomfort from it. I find great pleasure now in living as I am able to work, and since Tanlac has done so much for me I feel like I ought to do what I can to let others know about it."

Tanlac is sold in Twin Falls by City Pharmacy, in Rangesburg by Thompson Drug Co., in Murtaugh by Murtaugh Drug Co., in Filer by A. B. Wood, in Buhl by C. D. Boring Brothers Co., and in Kimberly by W. A. L. Stowe—Adv.

GRATEFUL TO AN AMERICAN FARMER

(The Idaho Farmer)

An enthusiastic patriot exclaimed "Oh, it's great to be an American." Then, looking at the recent governor's report on the war, he said, "But it's greater to be an American farmer." It is great to be a farmer in the United States—great in peace and greater in war. What finer or more inspiring thought could one have as he goes to his morning work on his farm than the cheering knowledge that his production will help his country to win the war; that his grain may go into the army ovens in France to feed the heroic soldiers who are bidding back the Hun; that food from his acres will drive hunger from many a door? That inspiring thought should be given meditation by every farmer every day, and by every working member of his household. It will make a joy of toil and serve to dispel the weariness at evening time.

WILL GIVE RED CROSS BENEFIT

A musical and social for the benefit of the Twin Falls Red Cross chapter will be given beginning at 8 o'clock Monday evening, June 17, by the people of Mrs. D. E. Began, 630 Main avenue south. The musical program and enjoyable social event is promised.

With the invention of the wheel-lock argus, in 1517, the first self-firing gun, the musket, was a quick step. ## TWIN FALLS NEWS

Published 1904

Republicans, Newspaper Published Weekly at Twin Falls, the County Seat of Twin Falls County, Idaho. Twin Falls News Publishing Company, Ltd., Publishers

THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1918

W. S. R.

The material for a good many sermons might be found in the mass of matter published from time to time on the general subject of the War Savings Stamp system. All of it is sound and right. The War Savings Stamp today is the best of all known methods of saving money and at the same time performing a real service for the Government.

It should be just as easy to teach the children to save pennies and nickels for Thrift Stamps as it is to get them into the habit of dropping coins into a child's bank. When a sufficient number of Thrift Stamps are accumulated a War Savings Stamp is the result. When a sufficient number of war savings stamps is reached to make the total figure equal to one hundred dollars, a paid up one hundred dollar bond may be added to the assets side of the ledger and when the bond matures in a year or two a substantial profit may be entered under the head of earnings. The margin of profit between what is actually paid out and the value of the security upon maturity is high, considering the gilt edge character of the investment.

The War Savings Stamp is not a mere passing suggestion for a plan of saving; it is a definite program for the conservation of cash and for the strengthening of the finances of the American government. Every American should possess War Savings Stamps and should continue to add to his possessions.

The matter is of sufficient importance to a number of Twin Falls citizens as to induce them to give up practically their whole time to the spreading of the gospel of saving via the Savings Stamp. And they have the best all round bright open and shut business proposition on the face of the earth.

LESSON TO THE WORLD

The conviction and imprisonment in the Idaho State prison of fourteen members of the Industrial Workers of the World under indeterminate sentences of from one to fourteen years should be a lesson to the disloyal not only in Idaho but in the Nation. They were charged with criminal syndicalism—with being members of, organizers in, organizing or assisting with, the organization of a combination or organization that advocated syndicalism.

Says the Idaho State Council of Defense in its official bulletin:

While the Nation is seeking to maintain the principle of democracy before the world that civilization may be saved from the ravages of the brutal Hun, Idaho is endeavoring, with some little success, to stamp out disloyalty in all forms. Those who are found not to be loyal to the country of their adoption while it is engaged in a titanic conflict, are being placed where at least they will do no harm—in the state's prison.

But the conviction of the I. W. W. in this state, has even a deeper meaning. It proves beyond any question of doubt that to be a member, whether active or inactive, of an organization notoriously known to advocate political reform by destruction of property and possibly even life, is a crime under the law and must be punished severely. At St. Maries in this state, which, for a time, was the hotbed of the I. W. W., the state made its final stand as to the toleration of a seditious and disloyal organization within its boundaries. After making a test case of one of its members and securing a victory by winning it, 16 others were tried on the same charge and found guilty. No other state in the Union had made greater inroads into the heart of this seditious organization. So far as Idaho is concerned its backbone is broken.

Disloyalty, treason, sedition, sabotage, criminal syndicalism, go hand in hand. The present is no time to tolerate either. The Nation is at war and must stand united. There is no place for disloyal I. W. W. or other direct or indirect agents and propagandists of the Kaiser and German Kultur.

able precedent. The position of the sole Republican member of the board, who voted against the proposition, is interesting only as serving to emphasize the point aimed at.

While the News does not profit immediately by the precedent thus laid down, the future may have something in store. And, since the coffers of the News are not enriched by the commissioners' action, no ulterior motive can possibly be ascribed to the present remarks, unless, perchance, some one would suggest that the News was left out in the "readjustment."

But the downright funny part of the program was the demand made by the Republican owners of the official Democratic organ for a raise in pay, and the promptness of the Democratic majority of the board in yielding to the ultimatum that concluded with the encouraging suggestion of "greater service in the future." It brings to mind the thought that the primaries are less than two months away. With the old pump primed by one select faction of Democratic leaders, there is apt to be some little old scrap this fall—both in and out of the Democratic party.

CRIMES AND PENALTIES

It is not without genuine regret that one learns of the fatality of a recent product of the ever busy rumor factory, that the crown prince of Germany and from forty to eighty thousand of his followers had been captured.

The Kaiser has revived a world's belief in life beyond the grave. For the world believes that the innocent millions of France and Belgium and Armenia and Serbia and Rumania ought to have a chance to enjoy what was stolen from them by the Hun, and that nothing short of an eternity of torment will suffice for the criminals.

The fact that not one member of the Hohenzollern family has suffered loss of life or limb in the present conflict is an indictment that ought to burn into the heart of the world, that the power that incited, and maintains this war has not paid one drop of blood for all it has cost humanity.

But, although the chief of the Hun has accepted thus far unscathed, there is no sympathy to be wasted over the fates of the millions of his followers who have paid and are paying the penalty of their blind obedience to his will. Without this incredible intellectual impotency on the part of his subjects, the Kaiser could not have precipitated the world holocaust and if they were capable of a modicum of independent thought the war could not continue another day.

The path of democracy and of humanity in the present crisis is plain. The war must be continued until, in the words of Secretary Lansing, "the Hun is sick of war and wants no more of it."

CONTROL OF HOME HUNS

Almost the entire machinery for the handling of the matter of spying and disloyalty is provided through the two recently enacted laws known as the sedition act and the sabotage act.

These are the two measures which are depended upon to keep order within America's gates, and notwithstanding the haste attendant upon the preparation and passage of each, there is little question but what they will prove keenly felt instruments for the work in hand. The Sedition Act provides a penalty of twenty years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine for acts or utterances of disloyalty designed to obstruct the army draft or the Liberty Loan. "It would punish wilful and disloyal, profane, scurrilous, contemptuous, or abusive language about the American form of government, the constitution, the military or naval forces, the flag or uniform, and wilful utterances designed to curtail the production of war materials."

The Sabotage Act provides a penalty of thirty years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for injuring war materials or interfering with war industry. These two laws, together with a proper suppression of espionage among women enemies—who are often most skillful, and hence most dangerous—will greatly strengthen the means by which the Department of Justice can deal with the enemy on this side of the Atlantic.

A MATTER OF CONSCIENCE

The claims of conscientious objectors to war are entitled to full measure of consideration, but relief from responsibility altogether when the Nation is struggling for its existence does not fall within the scope of that consideration, and the decision of the War Department to require them to fight or work during the private soldier's pay with general public approval.

willing and anxious to risk their lives in the defense of the right, man refusing to risk their lives in the defense of the right, man refusing to perform any service whatever under the provisions of the selective service act and not expect to avoid the responsibility for an attitude that is shared by only an extremely small proportion of their fellow countrymen, much less to receive any privileges not accorded to others, says the War Department. And the Country say, "Amen."

COURTESY AND THE FLAG

We will do well to bear in mind that the careless handling of the flag or throwing it down where it will be entangled or carelessly soiling it, is really showing disrespect. The following things to be observed are suggested:

Display Old Glory from its own pole, by day only, with the union, or blue field, at the top of the pole. The reversed position has a special significance, and is employed sometimes by ships at sea, indicating that they are in distress. In no army camp is the flag permitted to remain outside at night or during a storm.

If no staff or pole is available, hang the flag undraped against a wall, right side out, which will bring the union in the upper left hand corner, if the stripes are horizontal, or in the upper right hand corner if perpendicular. Put the flag higher than your head. For draped decorations and profuse expression of the patriotic spirit, use the red, white and blue without stars, and give the flag an elevated, conspicuous position.

ONE REASON

If there is one single characteristic more than another of which the American people are possessed, it is probably tenacity of purpose. In the case of the men in the front lines of the fighting in France this is seen to admirable advantage and it is the same with the people at home. It is this very characteristic which ensures the successful outcome of the present struggle.

America was slow in getting started. Of that there can be no doubt; but once in, it is equally true that America will never quit until the job is finished. Every move being made now indicates this. There are no half-way measures. We are prepared to go to any lengths necessary to win, and we will not take chances on under preparation.

PROCLAMATION

On June 14, 1777, the Congress of the United States at the suggestion of General Washington, declared the national flag to consist of thirteen stripes, seven of which should be red and six white, and thirteen stars on a blue background. With but a slight temporary change this has been the design of our national flag since said time. Our flag today consists of thirteen stripes, seven red and six white, with forty-eight stars, of five points each, set in a field of blue.

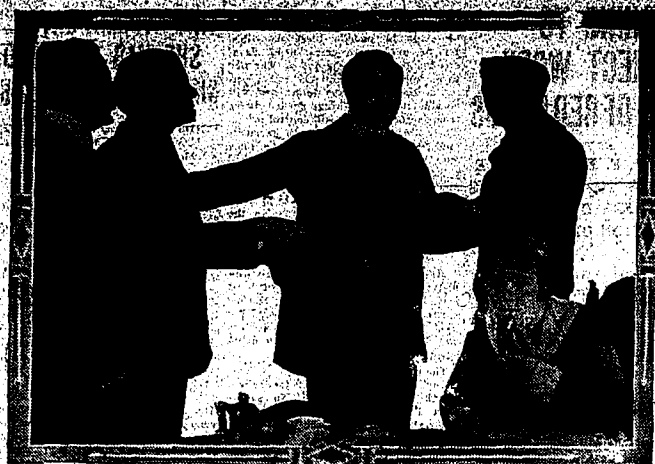

The flag represents the nation. To those not a part of the nation it signifies what they consider to be the real aim and purpose of the people composing the nation. If the nation is predominantly commercial, and is so-called and unscrupulous and dominating according to its strength, and has no respect for the rights of others, the flag, which represents her, though it may be a beauty of harmony in mechanical construction, is despoiled, although she may be outwardly respected on account of the strength she represents in all foreign lands and courts.

To every loving American; to every just American, and to every American who desires to see true representative government prevail on the earth, the flag by her stripes folds says, let justice and right prevail. When these principles are so violated by another nation as to menace free government on the face of the earth, then the stars and stripes of the flag cry out, "Defend us." Such a cry has come to us at this time and the Nation has responded.

Now, therefore, I, F. P. Bracken, Mayor of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, do hereby declare Friday, the 14th day of June, 1918, and the anniversary of the two hundred and forty-first birthday of our National Emblem, a holiday, and most respectfully request that all public places and private business places in said City be closed on said day from the hour of one o'clock in the afternoon to the hour of six o'clock in the afternoon, and that all persons cease from unnecessary labor and that such observance of the flag be shown as may be fitting to the occasion.

Issued at Twin Falls, Idaho, this 8th day of June, 1918.

F. P. BRACKEN, Mayor.

NAVY NEED FOR MEN URGENT

OPPORTUNITY EXCELLENT FOR YOUNG MEN TO ADVANCE, SAYS ENGLISH

Because of the necessity for men to man the new ships being built, the call for recruits in the navy is urgent and the opportunity for young men entering the service to advance rapidly is excellent, according to English H. M. Delaney, commanding the naval recruiting party in Twin Falls this week from the Puget Sound navy yard.

"Many ships are being built which must have skilled crews to man them and men between the ages of 18 and 35 in all lines are needed," says English Delaney.

"Especially is this true of the demand for men who can qualify for the high ratings and commissions. Skilled tradesmen in any line have splendid opportunities. Equal opportunity is afforded those possessing the necessary qualifications to learn a trade by attending one of the many classes of instruction. Officer material schools have been established and men who show marked ability are eligible for training in line duties. Lieutenant E. R. Hooker, medical officer, is with the party and gives applicants the complete physical examination, eliminating the necessity of their going elsewhere. Furloughs are granted before reporting for duty. All men interested in the Naval service are invited to call at the headquarters of the party, No. 110, Main avenue north.

THE BRIDE HAS RETURNED (Macaulay)

Adam Smith and Gibbon had told us that the dark ages were gone, never more to return; that modern Europe was in no danger of the waste which had befallen the Roman empire. The flood, they said, would return no more to cover the earth; and they seemed to reason justly, for they compared the immense strength of the enlightened part of the world with the weakness of the part which remained savage, and they asked whence would come the huns and vandals who should again destroy civilization? It had not occurred to them that civilization itself might engender the barbarians who should destroy it. It had not occurred to them that in the very heart of great capitals, in the neighborhood of splendid palaces and churches and theaters and libraries and museums, vice and ignorance might produce a race of huns fiercer than those who marched under Attila, and vandals more bent on destruction than those who fought Genghis.

REDUCTION IN HOG CHOLERA LOSSES

One hundred and sixty trained veterinarians of the Department of Agriculture are working in 35 states, in co-operation with agricultural colleges, state authorities and local veterinarians to control hog cholera. The effectiveness of their efforts and the success of modern methods of combating this disease is shown by the fact that during 1914 the hog mortality from disease was 7,000 head, compared with 3,000,000 in the year ending March, 1915, 90 per cent of the deaths being due to hog cholera. The losses in 1914 were equivalent to the normal consumption of pork and pork products by the entire population of the United States for 37 days.

MOVING ARMY OF LABORERS TO HARVEST WHEAT

Additional help to harvest the wheat in the central western states will be supplied by an army of workmen moving from Texas to North Dakota with the season of harvest. Definite plans for distribution of this labor have been made by the Department of Agriculture. The farm help specialists co-operating with the Department of Labor and with county agents in the growing wheat states. It is estimated that 60,000 men will be needed to harvest the wheat crop in Kansas, and that about 30,000 of this number will be furnished by the towns and cities of that state, while the remainder will go into Kansas from Oklahoma and Texas when their wheat harvest is finished in these states.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN IDAHO FOR THE WEEK ENDING TUESDAY, JUNE 13, 1916.

The cool weather has been rather favorable for all corn wheat, rye and barley. These cereals have rooted deeply and stood well and are in excellent condition. Spring wheat and oats are doing well in the irrigated sections, but in the dry farm districts except where rainfall has been ample, conditions are not so favorable. Irrigated meadows and pastures are in good condition. The first cutting of alfalfa is being harvested in the valley. The crop is not quite up to the average. Alfalfa has suffered frost damage in many localities, and its growth has been retarded generally by cold weather.

The lower range, especially in the western counties where there has been little or no rain recently, is drying badly and as a result cattle and sheep are being crowded into the summer range from ten to fifteen days earlier than usual. The upper range is in excellent condition and feed is ample. Stock have filled out in good shape and are doing well.

The fruit outlook has not improved much. There will probably be prunes and apples enough to supply local needs. In some orchards a report is that a good crop of apples is expected on the Rowell branch extending from high as 25 per cent in some orchards. The few prunes left in the Weiler district are dropping badly. The apples that escaped the freeze are growing nicely. Small fruit prospects are fair. Sugar beet prospects are only fair. The crop was damaged by wind in Minidoka county and many fields will be plowed up and planted to potatoes. Good stands are reported in the Idaho Falls and Jerome districts, but in the former damage is threatened by worms, which are very numerous. This is in progress in Franklin county.

INVOICE YOUR FOOD STUFFS

There is a great necessity this year to know how much we are using in the way of food. It is time to take an invoice of your materials on hand, and your account of the food stuffs your family is consuming. It will be of great assistance to the Food Administration when the call comes for accurate knowledge if each house-keeper has this data at hand.

The Home Extension Association is urging the women throughout the county to count and tabulate the number of jars of vegetables, fruit, meat, left from last year, and then as canning season comes on, it will be an easy matter to put down on the calendar the kind and number of quarts canned, each day. If this is done each busy housewife at the end of a season can easily make out a statement of her summer conservation of fruit, vegetables and meat.

Mrs. Alpha Hall of the University Extension Department made a delicious strawberry shortcake from oat and rice flour as follows:

1 cup oat flour (not sifted).
1/2 cup rice flour.
4 teaspoons corn.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
The New Strawberry Shortcake
The new strawberry shortcake uses no wheat. Try them and see if you like them as well as they did in the experimental kitchen of the United States Food Administration. Of course these shortcakes can be used for other fruits as well as strawberries.

All Measurements are Level
Corn Flour Shortcake: 2-3 cups corn flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 5 to 8 tablespoons fat, 1 cup liquid.

WHEAT FLOUR

Why Rye Flour Was Removed From Substitute List
Numerous inquiries have come to the Food Administration asking why rye flour was removed from the list of substitutes for wheat flour. On May 2, it was estimated that there remained about 10,000,000 bushels of rye in the United States. Against this amount our normal consumption of rye from May 1 to August 1 amounts to 31,000,000 bushels. If rye flour had been continued on the substitute list our available supply for the normal use of rye flour, this cereal was taken off the substitute list.

Barley Flour Healthful

There can be no question about the healthfulness of barley flour," says B. D. Dutcher, professor of agricultural biochemistry at University Park, Pa. "Physicians quite generally prescribe barley gruel for infants and various barley preparations for invalids, and I cannot understand that there is any reasonable ground upon which to base the assertion that its general use would cause any trouble to one's constitution."

NEW BULLETINS FOR DISTRIBUTION

EXOT
This is a time when no information regarding conservation is necessary and these bulletins kept abreast with the times so let us have them while they are new. They are yours for the asking at the Farm Bureau office, Twin Falls, or they will be mailed to you at your request. These are the ones recently released:

"Save the Fat," "Save the Sugar," "Potatoes Three Times a Day," "Save the Meat," "Preservation of Eggs," "Home Canning."

RECIPE

Three cups water, 4 cups barley flour, 2 cups bran, 1 cup cornmeal, 1 table-spoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1 full teaspoon salt, 1 cake compressed yeast. This makes two loaves. Barley flour soaks if it stands too long in the raising.

Mothoil: Dissolve yeast in 1/4 cup warm water. Mix all ingredients except flour into the three cups of hot water. When lukewarm, add yeast, then flour which have been thoroughly mixed. Use bread mixer, if possible, because it will be sticky. Put into pans and bake in moderate oven. This can be made with other yeast but more than for wheat.

Twenty-one cows in the Cow Testing Association made over fifty pounds of butter fat in May. Two cows, one belonging to Henry Schick, Buhl, and one belonging to Riley Maxwell, Buhl, made over 70 pounds, which leaves them a net profit of nearly $30.00 each after deducting feed and cost of production.

FOOD ADMINISTRATOR TO TAKE HAND IN OWNERSHIP SQUABBLE

Twenty men and boys were put to work Thursday afternoon in the basement of the Munson & Henderly house in this city, at sorting a lot of between eight and ten car loads of potatoes that had been held in storage there up to the present time, pending the settlement of the ownership of the tubers.

At the direction of State Food Administrator R. F. Bicknell and in pursuance of the terms of an agreement entered into at the instance of the county council of defense by the parties disputing the ownership, these potatoes are to be sold and the money proceeds will be held in trust by the council pending settlement of the ownership question.

The question thus is to become one of the title to money rather than to potatoes.

FIFTY REGISTER IN TWIN FALLS FOR WAR DUTY

VOLUNTARY ENLISTMENT REDUCES NUMBER OF REGISTRANTS HERE TO LESS THAN ESTIMATE

An even fifty young men who had attained the age of 21 years since June 5, 1917, registered Wednesday in Twin Falls for military service under the selective service regulations. There were 600 registrants in this precinct on June 5 last, when all of the men between the ages of 21 and 31 were registered for military service. The war department estimated that the registration this year would result in registration of practically 10 per cent of the number registered last year. The large number of young men who would have been subject to this year's registration requirement, who voluntarily enlisted, is believed to have been the reason for the smaller number of registrants in this district.

Following is a list of the registrants in Twin Falls in the order of their registration:

DECLARES WAR ON PHEASANTS

FARM BUREAU ASKS THE GOVERNOR TO DECLARE OPEN SEASON

As a war measure, Governor Alexander is asked to declare at once an open season for the hunting of Chinese pheasants in Twin Falls county, by W. F. Alworth, president of the county farm bureau, in conformity with a resolution adopted at the farmers' institute held at Buhl May 24, under the auspices of the farm bureau. Complaint is made that great damage is done to the grain crops by the game birds.

Appetites Voracious
Following is President Alworth's letter:

At a large meeting of the farmers of Twin Falls county at Buhl, May 24th, there was an animated discussion of the pheasant problem. The following points were brought out:

First—That on many of the farms around Buhl the pheasants are very thick and are destroying as much wheat as a flock of hens of equal size, which a good farmer would not think of allowing on his grain field.

Second—That the good done by the pheasants by destroying insects is negligible.

Third—That the only relief they had been able to get was by reporting to the local game warden, who obtained permission from the state game warden to take a few men down to shoot pheasants, which he did, charging them fifty cents for each one shot. They got very few but succeeded in scaring them off onto other farms.

Fourth—That they feel this is wrong in principle and that the farmer who feeds this large flock of pheasants and their offspring at great expense and loss to himself, should be allowed to shoot them.

Therefore, it was resolved that the meeting go on record as favorably asking Your Excellency as a war measure, to allow the farmer to shoot pheasants on his own place or at least throw open a season in that district for shooting pheasants and that it be done at once before great damage is done to this year's crop. The men pheasants fly up and scatter with their wings the grain to their young as it ripens. This motion was unanimously passed and report of this action is hereby respectfully submitted.

AN AMERICAN SOLDIER WHO WENT

ARTHUR GUY EMPEY

MACHINE GUNNER, SERVING IN FRANCE

(Chapter 23 continued)

Before leaving for this assignment I went along the front-line trench saying good-by to my mates and bidding them over them, telling them that I had clicked a cussky job behind the lines, and how sorry I felt that they had to stay in the front line and argue out the war with Fritz. They were anxious but still good-natured, and as I left the trench to go to the rear they shouted after me and the usual "adieu."

"Good luck, Yank, old boy; don't forget to send up a few tags to your old mates."

I promised to do this and left.

I reported at headquarters with sixteen others and passed the required examination. Out of the sixteen applicants four were selected.

I was highly elated because I was, I thought, in for a cushy job back at the base.

The next morning the four reported to division headquarters for instructions. Two of the men were sent to large towns in the rear of the lines with an easy job. When it came our turn the officer told us we were good men and had passed a very creditable examination.

My tin hat began to get too small for me, and I noted that the other man, Atwell by name, was sticking his chest out more than the usual "adieu."

The officer continued: "I think I can use you two men to great advantage in the front line. Here are your orders and instructions, also the pass, which gives you full authority as special M. P. detailed on intelligence work. Report at the front line according to your instructions. It is risky work and I wish you both the best of luck."

My heart dropped to zero and Atwell's face was a study. We galloped and left.

"That wishing us the 'best of luck' sounded very ominous in our ears; if he had said 'I wish you both a swift and painless death' it would have been more to the point."

When we had read our instructions we knew we were in for it good and plenty.

What Atwell said is not fit for publication, but I strongly seconded his opinion of the war and divisional headquarters in general.

After a bit our spirits rose. We were full-fledged spy-catchers, because our instructions and orders, said so.

We immediately reported to the nearest French command post and had several glasses of muddy water, which they called beer. After drinking our beer we left the command post and hailed an empty ambulance.

After showing the driver our passes we got in. The driver was going to the part of the line where we had to report.

How the ambulance ever survived a ride in that wounded was inexplicable to me. It was worse than riding on a gun carriage over a rock road.

The driver of the ambulance was a corporal of the R. A. M. C. and he had the "wind up" that is, he had an aversion to being under fire.

I was riding on the seat with him while Atwell was sitting in the ambulance, with his legs hanging out of the back.

As we passed through a shell-decayed village a mounted military policeman stopped us and informed the driver to be very careful when we got out on the open road, as it was very dangerous, because the Germans lately had acquired the habit of shelling it.

The corporal asked the trooper if there was any other way around, and was informed that there was not. Upon this he got very nervous and wanted to turn back, but we insisted that he proceed and explained to him that he would get into serious trouble with his commanding officer if he returned without orders; we wanted to ride, not walk.

From his conversation we learned that he had recently come from England with a draft and had never been under fire, hence his nervousness.

We convinced him that there was not much danger, and he appeared almost relieved.

When we at last turned into the open road we were not so confident. On each side there had been a line of trees, but now, all that was left of these trees were two dead and broken trunks. The fields on each side of the road were dotted with recent shell holes, and we passed several in the road itself.

We had gone about half a mile when a shell came whistling through the air and burst in a field about three hundred yards to our right. Another shell followed this one and burst on the edge of the road about four hundred yards in front of us.

I told the driver to throw in his speed clutch, as we must be in sight of the Germans. I knew the signs; that battery was ranging for us, and the quicker we got out of its range of fire the better. The driver was trembling like a leaf and every minute I expected him to pile us up in the ditch. I preferred the German fire.

In the back Atwell was holding onto the straps for dear life, and was staring at the top of his head.

"We beat you at the Marne," he said.

We gave him a look at Nerve Chapel, and he was very sure.

Just then we hit a small shell hole and nearly capsized. Upon a loud yell from the rear I looked behind, and there was Atwell sitting in the middle of the road, shaking his fist at us. His equipment, which he had taken off upon getting into the ambulance, was strewn out on the ground, and his rifle was in the ditch.

I shouted to the driver to stop, and in his nervousness he put on the brakes. We nearly pitched out of the ambulance. But the applying of those brakes saved our lives. The next instant there was a blinding flash and a deafening report. All that I remember is that I was flying through the air, and wondering if I would land in a soft spot. Then the lights went out.

When I came to, Atwell was pouring water on my head and my face.

On the other side of the road the corporal was sitting, rubbing a lump on his forehead with his left hand, while his right arm was bowed up in a blood-soaked bandage. He was moaning very loudly. I had an awful headache and the skin on the left side of my face was full of gravel and the blood was trickling from my nose.

But that ambulance was turned over in the ditch and was covered with holes from fragments of the shell. One of the front wheels was slowly revolving, so I could not have been "out" for a long period.

The shells were still screaming overhead, and the corporal had raised his head and was looking at us. He was burning in a little wood about half a mile from us.

Atwell spoke up. "I wish that officer hadn't wished us the best of luck. Then he connected swearing. I couldn't help laughing, though my head was aghast in burning.

Slowly rising to my feet I felt myself all over to make sure that there were no broken bones. But outside of a few bruises and scratches I was all right. The corporal was still moaning, but more from shock than pain. A shell splinter had gone through the flesh of his right forearm. Atwell and I, from our first-aid pouches, put a tourniquet on his arm to stop the bleeding and then gathered up our equipment.

We realized that we were in a dangerous spot. At any minute a shell might drop on the road and finish us off. The village we had left was not very far so we told the corporal he had better go back to it and get his arm dressed, and then report the fact of the destruction of the ambulance to the military police. He was well able to walk, so he set off in the direction of the village, while Atwell and I continued our way on foot.

Without further mishap we arrived at our destination, and reported to brigade headquarters for rations and blankets.

That night we slept in the battalion sergeant major's dugout. The next morning I went to a shell-hole post and had the gravel picked out of my face.

The instructions we received from division headquarters were that we were out to catch spies, patrol trenches, search German dead, reconnoiter in No Man's Land, and take part in trench raids and prevent the robbing of the dead.

I had a pass which would allow us to go anywhere at any time in the sector of the line held by our division. It gave me authority to stop and search ambulances, motor lorries, wagons and even officers and soldiers, whenever my suspicions deemed it necessary. Atwell and I were allowed to work together or singly—it was left to our judgment. We decided to team up.

The Load Must Be Divided

We are doing everything in our power to assist in the prosecution of the war. We have met every requirement of the Government in the way of furnishing facilities for its needs. At the same time we have successfully maintained commercial service of satisfactory quality.

We have done this in the face of enormously increased costs of material and labor. In fact, it has been a tremendous burden, and we have carried the load alone.

The difficulty lies in the fact that our revenues have not increased in proportion to our expenses. Telephone rates have remained stationary while everything that goes into the rendering of telephone service has advanced in cost.

This condition has continued until we are confronted by a constantly increasing deficit.

We are glad to assume as much of the load as we can possibly carry. We feel it is our patriotic duty to impose no burden upon the public which we might carry ourselves. But our resources are limited as they are in any other business, and we have finally reached, and even passed, the limit.

The question of service is a question of revenues. Hence, the problem of producing revenues adequate to the needs of the service is one with which the public and the Company are mutually concerned.

Existing conditions make it imperative that some adjustments be introduced whereby the service may be insured against deterioration through inadequate revenues.

Hagerman Boys Meet Bitter Disappointment at End of Journey Here

Bitter disappointment at the end of a thirty mile automobile trip awaited Harry McGraw and Edward Noble of Hagerman, Saturday, when they applied at the local recruiting station for enlistment in the army. They had been directed to report here by the postmaster at Hagerman. On account of physical disabilities, neither could be accepted. McGraw has one stiff finger on his left hand, and Noble is unable to pass the eyeglass tests with his right eye although the vision of his left eye is normal.
