

GOODING CLAIM TO NOMINATION INVITES CRISIS

Republicans at State Capital
Incline to Opinion that Former Governor May Be Named
But Election Is Questioned

BORAH IS CREDITED WITH HOLDING SITUATION KEY

Developments Cause Concern
from Standpoint of Party Interests with Indications
Pointing to Close Vote

By PHIL BEAMS.
BOISE, Idaho, (Special to the News).—There is a growing sentiment among republicans at the state capital that unless the present drift is halted Frank Gooding will be the republican candidate for United States senator by action of the republican state convention in Pocatello just one month hence. Coupled with this is the well grounded conviction that Gooding cannot win at the polls.

From the standpoint of the party interests, both nation and state, this is looked upon as serious. There is every indication that the next United States senate will be uncomfortably close. It is not out of the possibilities that the defeat of Frank R. Gooding in Idaho might give the democrats control in the upper branch of congress with all that that means in the handling of league of nations and other international problems, to say nothing of the continuation of appointments made by the president.

In the state the downfall of the republican candidate for the senate would be a long way toward bringing defeat to the entire republican ticket. This brings the matter home with force to every aspirant for office in the state as well as in the districts and close counties.

Machine Hog Activity.
But there is good ground for the belief that the present drift is strongly in favor of the nomination of Gooding. This is largely due to the fact that political activity is still largely confined to men and women who are in the payroll, and men and women who are something tangible from politics. In other words political activity is confined to the political machine. Ordinarily men are too busy with their own matters.

This being the case Gooding has all the best of it. He is not only built up in his years of striving and scheming; he has his paid workers in the field, and he is taking every possible advantage of the situation. The difference of the rank and file of republican voters.

Has Leaders Support.
More important, perhaps, than all other factors in the present situation is the active and aggressive support of John W. Hart, the republican national committeeman for Idaho; and William Thomas, the republican public state committeeman. Hart is looked upon at this time as the direct representative and mouthpiece of the national party leaders, and he is one of a small coterie in full charge of the campaign in the far western states, including Idaho.

John Thomas is wholly ignoring the proper functions of state chairman and to work in the interest of the whole party and not of any candidate. As Hart says to elect candidates, not select them. Thomas has cut loose from this policy and is devoting his best energies to the bringing about of the nomination of Frank R. Gooding for the senate.

Use Adroit Propaganda.
Then there is another important factor at work for Gooding. This is one who is dependent on the use of money—the persistent circulation through the papers of laudatory and adroit propaganda. But means of a complete organization in the hands of party masters in the art of "working the press." Gooding's name is kept constantly before the public.

Gooding and his backers brush aside his defeat of two years ago as of no consequence. They attribute it to the tight vote cast at the time, which is always held forth as a Gooding stronghold. They point out that because of the prevalence of influenza in the southeastern counties two years ago and the storm that raged on election day but 54 per cent of the total republican vote was polled. With normal conditions the vote would have been on election day they insist that their man will roll up an enormous vote in the southeast and carry the state with ease.

These astute politicians ignore the fact that in spite of the influenza and the storm two years ago several counties in the state by a margin of 30,000 and that the entire republican state ticket was swept into office.

Plays Into Democrats' Hands.
It is still a fact that the democratic backers of John F. Nugent are staying up nights praying for the nomination of Frank R. Gooding by the republican legislature. And many others besides are praying for the re-nomination of Governor D. W. Davis. It looks at this time as though their prayers might be assured.

But getting back to Gooding: His chances for nomination are greatly enhanced by the demoralized condition of his opponents in the republican camp. The opposition is scattered and so many, and there seems a little prospect of any sort of combination against Gooding that there is presented the spectacle of one well organized and thoroughly disciplined army going into action against an incoherent and leaderless mob.

While while talk crops out about holding a sufficient number of delegates away from Gooding on the first ballot in the Pocatello convention to make his nomination on that ballot, and then straining every nerve to combine against him. But politicians who have had their eye teeth cut will be slow to divide themselves with respect. The weakness of this line in the fact that no other candidate for the senate is developing strength.

Service Man for Patch.
It is true that former service men are going down the line for Colonel L. H. Patch in various counties. In fact they have 125 delegates in the county convention and will control if they are not too unattractive a motion. The boys are making big claims in other counties, especially in southwestern Idaho. If the backers of other candidates were doing equally well Gooding might be whipped in a deadlocked convention.

But Deale is not credited with more than a complimentary vote from Shoshone county. Deale is in the position of a martyr to sit on two stools and likely to fall between them. Cannon, in taking of making an open drive for Gooding support on the issue he undertakes to raise against the grain crop, is quaffing around trying to pick up delegates when nobody is looking for him. He is in a position to be doing little, counting on his opposition to a league of nations in any "way, shape or form" to carry him in as a compromise candidate.

Borah Holds Key.
It is the firm conviction of all that Senator Borah could solve this problem if he would, and no one is able to explain why he will not. It is the belief that Senator Borah could make the election of a republican United States senator and a complete republican state ticket, and there are many who insist that he does this by the way that he so far as the interests of republican is concerned, in nation as well as in state, this is the greatest service he has in Senator Borah's power to perform.

FIGURES OF WHITE ROAD STATEMENT

District's Records Show Much
Permanent Work Has Been Accomplished

Refuting statements recently made in public to the effect that progress in highway construction in the highway commission's report, officials of the Twin Falls highway district today announced that three and one-half miles have been graded and gravelled, six rock base has been laid on seven more miles and is waiting for oil which is due here today; a distance of 14 miles has been graded and gravelled, six miles have been graded and concrete structures have been built on an additional 10 1/2 miles of road in this district.

This statement contradicts an announcement made by a public speaker in the city park last week, when it was announced that the district has laid only one mile of completed highway. The records of the district provide the foregoing figures, which the district officials explain that in ability to get steady shipments of oil to be used on the present macadam districts has caused some delay in completing the seven miles of road on which rock base has been laid. This material is expected in Twin Falls this afternoon, and by the close of the week the seven-mile stretch should be ready for traffic. Other operations of the highway district are said to be progressing in satisfactory fashion.

Army Flyers Off on Long Flight to Nome, Alaska

Starting on one of the most picturesque flights ever undertaken by the United States Army Air Service, four big army planes took to the air at Mitchell Field, Minnesota, on the first leg of their long journey to Nome, Alaska. The planes will cover approximately 9,000 miles, and it is estimated the trip will take forty-five days. The primary object of the flight is the establishment of an aerial military route to Northwest Alaska. Photographs will be made of the route. No attempt at speed will be made; the planes flying under a schedule which calls for easy stages of from 200 to 350 miles a day. In the photograph from left to right are: Captain St. Clair, commanding officer; Lieutenant Clifford G. Nutt, flight commander; Lieutenant Roas G. Kirkpatrick, Lieutenant H. H. Norton and Lieutenant E. C. Grumie. Sergeants English, Hemminger and Vigna will also make the flight.

COUNTRY ROAD PAVEMENTS OPEN NEW RACETRACKS FOR MOTOR CARS

Mayor Eldridge Calls Attention to Speeding on Surfaced Artery Leading to City and Wants Measures Adopted to Help Check Possible Accidents at Town Approaches—Building Law to be Changed

Monday night's gathering of what members of town council were in town was of a discursive nature, and more or less contentious. No regular business was transacted, due to lack of quorum, but a lot of matters were discussed unofficially.

For instance, minor questions but none the less important as they pertained to speeding up paving programs, were entertained and disposed of with dispatch. In addition action was taken toward the early adoption of a building ordinance which will meet the requirements of a building city, and the question of regulation of an outdoor market, which has been a long time in the air, was given due and timely consideration, and steps were considered for checking a growing speed on the highway entering the city, along paved arteries.

Mr. You Demons.
With respect to the latter case it was shown, on presentation by the mayor, that speeding is general along the mile and three quarters distance of state highway just completed by the city, and that the law limit for speed is 15 miles per hour. The mayor meets Mr. Lakes Boulevard, which is now in course of surfacing. When this project is completed speed demons will have unchecked access to the highway for several miles, and it was for the purpose of taking early steps to prevent excessive speed in the city and on the city approaches that the mayor and other members of the council, together with certain administration department attaches, considered the case. Mayor Eldridge stated, he had been informed time made on the highway is so fast that each morning a screech along this race track gathers up a paying supply of auto tools, spilled during the racing of the night and day before. The mayor asked adoption of an amended ordinance requiring funnel headlights on cars approaching the city.

Absolute Building Law.
That city's building laws are not satisfactory in their operation for a city of this size was the contention of Mayor Eldridge but until Monday night the city council has been taking no action toward superceding the present ordinance to meet requirements of the growing town. The city attorney, Mr. E. E. Davies, has been instructed to procure copies of ordinances designed to meet the demands of a full-blown city.

This question is a complete puzzle with two market gardens in the city for permits to erect sheet iron buildings under the business section of the city. Allocated to the city, one such permit has been granted to the detriment of the business section and the council is in no mood to allow for the erection of such structures. Hence, the call for an ordinance banning iron buildings. The mayor stated continuation of an unimproved office building on the present law would spell the ruin of the business district for substantial buildings. The petitioners in these instances were Mr. Vane and D. B. Frost, gardeners who conducted sales departments for their truck in wooden structures last season. One of these is at present selling truck over a bench on the 1919 market site.

Paving Delay Explained.
To the streets and alley committee were referred requests and suggestions coming from paving contractor's representative. One of the requests was for permission to construct concrete gutter along two blocks on Wall street. In this area no regular waterway had been provided except an excess water was carried off on the bituminous pavement where the gutter should be. The contractor explained there were good and sufficient reasons why his firm should not be asked to guarantee this type of construction.

W. H. Heinicke, head of the Heinicke Construction company, asked for restrictions regarding where to proceed with paving to meet the most urgent demand for completed street surfacing. This request came on the result of a rearrangement of the program devised earlier in the season through instant change in the plans of residents for completion of paving on certain streets in which they are most interested. Now comes an urgent demand for completion of paving on certain streets in which they are most interested. Now comes an urgent demand for completion of paving on certain streets in which they are most interested.

EPISCOPAL MINISTER FAVORABLY RECEIVED

The Rev. J. C. Donnell, of Newark, N. J., Creates Fine Impression on Visit Here

Services at Ascension Episcopal church, conducted by the Rev. John C. Donnell of Newark, N. J., assisted by the Very Rev. Archdeacon Howard Stoy, were exceptionally well attended. Music by the choir was of an especially high order, and artistically rendered throughout.

The Rev. Mr. Donnell came to Twin Falls on the invitation of Bishop Frank Hale Tourist and the vestry of Ascension church parish for the purpose of looking over the local ground with a view to purchasing a site for the parish. His address Sunday was of a stirring and pleasing character and added to the finishing touch to a splendid impression he created during his three-day stay in this city and district that greatly impressed him and declared the future of the Episcopal church here most promising.

The minister left Sunday afternoon for California where his family is spending the vacation period. He will visit the family with also call upon Bishop Tourist while in the west. The visit with the head of the Idaho missionary diocese will have to do largely with the possibility of Mr. Donnell's filling the local charge permanently.

Communicants of Ascension parish, who have met the Rev. Mr. Donnell, who heard him yesterday express fervor toward an early call being extended to him to come to this parish. It is possible that a generally agreed upon minister will be presented before the minister Bishop Tourist along this line. The Rev. Mr. Donnell is a young man full of life and animated by a missionary spirit. He desires to be located in the west and if satisfactory considerations can be met it is eminently possible he will be urged to accept the parish.

This announcement is made by C. H. Moll, contractor, who explains that all the work on the bridge has been completed and will be concluded at the close of the present week with the laying of the concrete sidewalks. The completion of the roadway, however, does not mean the finish of the structure. The latter will be the last job done, but should be in operation Saturday, August 7.

LAWSON CHOSEN DISTRICT AGENT

Shorthorn Breeders' Association
Sends Men to Look At Cattle Interests

"Twin Falls has gone into the Shorthorn cattle business with the same dispatch and degree of thoroughness that it has done everything else," remarked A. E. Lawson, western field representative of the American Shorthorn Breeders' association, to The News on Monday. Mr. Lawson, in company with Ray W. Fulton, field officer of the Idaho Farmer, has been on the Twin Falls tract two or three days inspecting Shorthorn herds and getting acquainted with the breeders.

Notes Big Change.
"I was through the Twin Falls country four years ago," Mr. Lawson continued, "and the strides this country has made in all lines of development are remarkable indeed. Naturally I am most interested in the splendid progress of the Shorthorn cattle breed. It didn't take Twin Falls long to grow up, both in the rural districts and from the standpoint of city development. The city aspect has been shown in the determination of breeders to turn up first class herds. One seldom finds as many good herds in a small western area as are to be found in Twin Falls. Great credit must due the men who brought in the good foundation stock and as long as good standards are maintained, the breeders and buyers generally should continue their support."

Placed with Clubs.
Mr. Lawson, who has headquarters in Spokane, had a conference with A. E. O'Reilly, chief leader for the farm bureau. He was greatly pleased over the showing made by the Shorthorn breeders in the Twin Falls State bank. The visit to Twin Falls herds has been extended over the entire tract from Buhl to points further east. Mr. Lawson said that the men who are by car and while they will not be able to get around to all the breeders they are making as many calls as possible within the time limit available. The Shorthorn association, which Mr. Lawson represents, is the record association for the breed as well as an institution maintained by Attorney J. E. Taylor. Shorthorn breeders in disposing of their cattle advantageously, and otherwise giving counsel and assistance. In the past, the sale of Shorthorn cattle has been a losing proposition. The association this year is contributing liberally in prize money for the Twin Falls county fair.

NEW CITY LINES AT BUHL'S DOOR

McCollum, Addition to West End
Town, Cuts Loose and Gets Incorporation Rights

Through obligatory action by the board of county commissioners late Saturday afternoon incorporation of the town of McCollum was authorized and council chosen.

Emis Controversy

McCollum town is formed of an addition to Buhl. It lies directly south of the original town limits of the west-end town of Buhl, and is seeking as a result a contention of controversy relative to amalgamation with the original town of Buhl. Authority for incorporation was granted by the commission upon request of citizens of the addition presented between 4 and 5 o'clock Saturday evening at the town of Buhl. The application was presented in legal form and according to law there was no course left for the commission but to grant the request, according to County Attorney Frank L. Stephan, to whom all documents were submitted for perusal before being taken under the municipal act of Buhl.

Demands Declined

According to persons signing the petition McCollum residents have entertained a willing disposition toward amalgamation with Buhl city, but apparently have been dissuaded by certain demands which the Buhl administration declined to accord. The addition demands were purely of the nature of the payment privilege of the original town, without accepting any responsibility for taxes upon the bonded indebtedness of the town of Buhl. The new town boasts between 400 and 500 residents and will be administered by its own officers and will have no water in the municipal plant of Buhl.

BOB ORAH TO REST LEAGUE CASE UPON NOTE

Idaho's Senior Senator Declares 'Fight Won when Covenant is Made Campaign Issue; States Own Position'

Senator W. E. Borah, addressing an audience of about 800 persons in the Llewellyn theatre Tuesday night, declared that his fight against the league of nations covenant was brought back to this country by the president had been won when the decision of acceptance or rejection of the league was submitted as an issue in the coming campaign to be decided by popular vote.

"We must be satisfied with what ever judgment may be rendered in this election," Senator Borah declared, after explaining his conviction that acceptance of the covenant would involve surrender of a portion of American independence and that he could not conceive that he had been given "a mandate by the popular vote of the people of the United States to pursue such a course."

Senator Borah held the close attention of his audience throughout his address of about one hour and a half. He was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause, seeming to indicate approval of his views by a major portion of the audience. His address was introduced by E. J. Hornbush.

Holds Washington's Advice Good

Prefacing his discussion of the subject by quotations from Washington's farewell address delivered in 1796, advising against political alliances with European nations, Senator Borah declared that the situation in Europe had changed since the American foreign policy as enunciated by Washington and adhered to since that time had been adopted.

He pointed out that the situation in progress now thirty years in Europe "over causes with which we are not concerned."

Senator Borah stated in his introductory remarks that he would undertake to prove the following propositions:

1. That there had been no change in 30 years in the political situation.
2. That the proposed league of nations was not a league for peace but a league for war and that it was made so in Europe because European political thought remained unchanged.
3. That every principle which President Wilson had announced as a basis for the league and essential to the establishment of peace before he left for Europe had been denied or altered at the peace conference.

Give Conditions for Peace

Senator Borah included in these essential elements for peace, the president's declaration for freedom of the seas, abolition of military conscription and the principle of self-determination.

He declared that the principles he outlined were the basis of the league and that he would lay down by European diplomats.

In his marshalling of evidence to show that the president had been defeated at the peace conference in his contention for these principles, Senator Borah denied questioning the motives of the patriotic Americans who supported him. He argued that American representatives could not hope to exert greater influence in the league of nations than in the peace conference.

Blames Europe for Defeat

Defeat of the Wilson treaty at the peace conference, Senator Borah declared, was the result of the representatives of European powers in defense of their sovereignty with 300,000,000 of people over a subject population of 800,000,000.

Constructive League Provisions

Senator Borah centered his attack upon Article X and Article XI of the league of nations covenant, declaring that while these articles remained the covenant it would never be ratified by the United States if it was in his power to prevent it.

"I would not give the life of an American boy to have a single foot of the territory allotted by the treaty to any of the great powers remaining in possession," Senator Borah declared after explaining the guarantee of Article X and the right of members of the league to maintain their independence.

Challenge Provision for Liberty

Senator Borah declared personal enmity for Great Britain because that she had not respected the English people and their national spirit, but he said, "I don't want England to think that we are the Third Colombia. I am pleading for the same national spirit among our own people that the English people possess."

SENATOR BORAH'S QUOTATIONS FROM WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS

Observe good faith and justice toward all Nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality enjoin this conduct; and it can be that good policy does not square with it?

Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens, the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government.

The great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible.

Europe has a set of primary interests, which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she is engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it would be unwise in us to implicate ourselves, by alliances in the ordinary vicissitudes of her policies, or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities.

Harmony, liberal intercourse with all Nations, are recommended by policy, humanity and interest. But ever keeping in view that 'tis folly in one Nation to look for disinterested favors from another; that it must pay with a portion of its independence for whatever it may accept under that character—that by such acceptance it may place itself in the condition of having given equivalents for unequal favors, and yet of being reproached with ingratitude for not giving more. There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation. 'Tis an illusion which experience must cure, which a just pride ought to discard.

AUTOBOAT LOST RIVER AT SHOSHONE FALLS FERRY

Rutherford Car, Laden with Camping Outfit, Goes Into Stream when Boat is Not Anchored after Making Crossing — Woman Leaps to Safety but Youth is Precipitated into Water and Escaped by Desperate Effort

An automobile equipped with a complete camping outfit including tent, tentstake, and sleeping paraphernalia, Wednesday lay at the bottom of the Snake river in the vicinity of the Shoshone Falls ferry.

The car, an automobile touring machine, belongs to J. R. Rutherford, who operates a farm six miles west of Twin Falls. It slipped off a north bank of the river after having been carried across. A 10 year old son of Mr. Rutherford was precipitated into the stream nearly lost his life.

By a desperate effort on part of Mr. Rutherford and Mrs. Kingwood, the boat was temporarily held near shore until Mr. Rutherford sprang to safety, the car, meanwhile, attempting to slide down the bank by applying the brakes. As the ferry boat slipped into the water, the car came to rest on a steep bank of the river channel.

TUBERCULOSIS COMMUNICABLE

Dread Disease Reaches Every Animal in Herd Unless Speedily Checked

The extent to which bovine tuberculosis, if unchecked, runs its course through a herd of cattle is shown in a recent report received by the United States department of agriculture from one of its field inspectors in Illinois.

Every animal in a herd of grade Holsteins and Jerseys reached to the tuberculosis was found to be infected. Two calves and two bulls. Upon post-mortem examination six of the animals showed such extensive lesions that the entire carcasses were condemned and destroyed. All of the other reactors likewise showed lesions though not such as rendered the carcasses unsuitable for destruction of the carcasses. The fact that every animal in the herd reacted and showed lesions makes the case one of the most striking ever recorded.

Cautions Hog Owners

The danger of tuberculous cattle to swine was further demonstrated by the sale of hogs from this farm early in the year. The first lot of 21 hogs sold showed such extensive lesions of tuberculosis upon post-mortem that the packer, the company, refused to accept them.

Bad Practice

The bureau inspector also reported that a week after the shipment of hogs had been made, a milk cow died of coughing and died and the younger stock was allowed to devour the carcass. Such a practice is responsible for a great deal of tuberculosis among swine in the United States.

AMERS COUNTRY IN RUN NURVE

Non-partisan Speaker Tells the Crowd Banks Starting Economic Cataclysm

Prediction of imminent economic cataclysm in the United States as a result of willful action of American financial interests was an interesting feature of the address here Monday night of Walter Thomas Mills, a lecturer in the employ of the Non-partisan league.

Mills spoke in the city park before an audience of between 400 and 600 persons. His address was probably the most striking presentation of the theory of class conflict heard here since the disappearance of the socialists party as a political entity in this county about two years ago.

There is no reason why American labor should be idle or why American credit should be denied," Mills asserted. "The only reason for this is that the 'trusts' have a 'plunder' in America has concluded that it can make more by foreclosing on its collateral than by running the country rather than serve it."

Mills quoted President Wilson to the effect that America entered the world war to end the "financial and commercial domination." The war, he declared, had given opportunity for the development in this country of an organization of "bankers, financiers and merchants" much more pernicious and dangerous than the German commercial organization.

Judge Babcock Grants Motion in Noted Abel Killing Case

Malice Not Shown

A new trial was ordered Tuesday night by District Judge Babcock in the case of James P. Ramseyer, Elmer district farmer, who in the spring of 1917 was charged by a jury in the district court for the murder of J. R. Abel, a neighbor, in an altercation over a ditch water right, and sentenced to serve from ten to 20 years in the state prison for second degree murder. The order was made by the court after examining a motion based on alleged lack of evidence to sustain the verdict in that malice on the part of Ramseyer was not shown.

MAIL PLANES ON WAY TO PACIFIC

First Transcontinental Aerial Posts Leave New York Flying Field

NEW YORK, (AP)—Three all metal monoplane, carrying the first transcontinental mail, left the flying field at Central park, Long Island, at 10:08 o'clock today for San Francisco. Eleven airplanes escorted the transcontinental machines in the all-metal flight over New York before the jump westward on the pathfinding trip to establish an aerial mail route between here and the Pacific coast.

Garry Major's Letters.
The monoplane carried letters from the mayor of New York to the mayors of San Francisco and other cities along the route, which will follow in general that of the transcontinental flight of army planes last year.

Cleveland is the first scheduled stop. Other stops will be made at Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, Reno and San Francisco.

The trip not only is expected to make possible the establishment in September of regular aerial mail service from coast to coast, but to yield information of value to the war department.

Regarding the proposed extension to the Pacific coast of the mail route, which now ends at Omaha, Major L. B. Lent, general superintendent of the mail service, said:

Through Service Planned.
"The through service, which will be started in September, will cut in half the present five-day time for mail to San Francisco. At the start, the New York Omaha end of the run will be covered by all-metal planes and the western end by De Havilland. As soon as we are able, we plan to put the all-metal monoplane on the entire run from coast to coast."

The party includes Colonel H. E. Hartney, chief of training group, army air service; Major Lent; John M. Larson, owner and pilot of the all-metal plane; Captain "Eddie" V. Rickenbacker; Lieutenant Charles R. Colt; William B. Stout, of Detroit, designer of the plane; and Major L. B. Lent, general superintendent of the mail service.

Two of the planes will be left on the coast and one is to be used for forest fire patrol by the air service.

RESUME MILK DELIVERIES UNDER ARMISTICE TERMS

KANSAS CITY Dairyman and City Officials Reach Temporary Agreement

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP)—Milk deliveries to Kansas City consumers were resumed Wednesday under an armistice agreement between the city and the dairy industry. The agreement was reached after 24 hours because of differences between four of the largest dairy companies and city officials over the city milk grading ordinance.

The dairy companies delivered milk in bottles with blank caps, without indicating the grade as provided in the ordinance which the city has passed.

Heads of the four companies were at liberty on bond today after their arrest Tuesday on charges of conspiracy to injure the public health. The trials were set for August 9.

QUEEN TEACHES LUXURY BUYING FOLK A LESSON

PARIS, (AP)—The Queen of Rumania taught luxury buying folk a good lesson recently when she entered an antique shop. She picked up an amber statuette and asked the price. "One hundred and twenty pounds," was the reply. "That's too much for me," said the queen and her daughter, Princess Elizabeth, who was with the queen added: "They must think we are Americans."

YANKS DEFEAT BELGIANS

OSTEND, Belgium, (AP)—An American polo team defeated the Belgians 13 to 3 in the Olympic contests yesterday, rolling up a bigger score than the British team did against the Belgians Monday when the score was 8 to 3.

The Belgians were decidedly outplayed. The mallet skill of the Americans was much superior to that in the Sunday game against Spain.

AMERICAN INTERVENTION WITH JAPAN IS INDICATED

Tokio Reports 'Certain Government' Objects to Saghalin Occupation

TOKIO, (AP)—Four thousand Japanese troops have been ordered to complete the occupation of the northern half of Saghalin Island. Major General Tanaka, minister of war today informed the diet:

TOKIO, (AP)—According to the Nichi Nichi the Japanese government has received an inquiry partaking of the nature of a protest, from "a certain country" in connection with Japan's intention to occupy Saghalin, Manchuria, stationing troops in Khabarovsk and elsewhere.

Vicount Uchida, foreign minister, has submitted the inquiry to the cabinet, which later will go into special session with the diplomatic advisory council to discuss the subject.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The known reluctance of the United States to concur in the occupation of Saghalin, Siberia, by Japan, led to the belief here today that the American government was "certainly" in connection with Japan's intention to occupy Saghalin, Manchuria, stationing troops in Khabarovsk and elsewhere.

While state department officials would neither confirm nor deny that the United States had communicated with Japan, it is known that the increasing penetration of Siberian territory by the Japanese has been watched closely by government officials.

PERNICIOUS SPARROW DESTROYS MUCH GRAIN

Field Agents, Following Inspection, Tell of Farmers' Loss by Birds

Having gathered much detail of a gratifying nature regarding wheat loss in this section of Idaho H. E. Powers, county farm bureau agent, and M. A. Thomas in charge of seed improvement for the local farm bureau, have completed a general inspection of fields in the district. They were accompanied by the "trip" of the last Friday and concluded Monday night, by C. B. Ahlsen, of the state seed commissioner's office.

The report rendered indicates exceptional wheat growth this year, with promise of bumper yields. The seed produced generally speaking, promise to be of a high order. Estimates of some fields suggest wheat yields of not less than 80 bushels to the acre.

Throughout the country sparrows are said to be doing vast damage to fields, stripping the maturing grain from heads with the thoroughness of a flail at threshing time. The pest makes the wheat fields their feeding ground during the day, harboring in immense flocks in the roadside weeds and sweet clover plants during the night, ready for their pernicious incursions against the grain the next day.

It is eminently probable that out of this pest the crop this year will grow an intensive campaign against sparrows this fall, winter and the coming spring.

JONES SHIPPING BILL PROVOKES BRITISH WRATH

Proposed American Legislation is Denounced as "Retaliatory and Discriminatory" and the Product of Jealousy

LONDON, (AP)—The Jones bill, characterized as "America's bid for shipping supremacy," is denounced by the shipping expert of the Sunday Observer as "retaliatory and discriminatory."

He declares that the war has taught other nations the importance of owning a mercantile marine and that jealousy has been aroused throughout the world by the "ability and magnificence" of the British mercantile establishment. "In two countries," he asserts, "in particular, is a feeling of most bitter jealousy against our mercantile marine. These two countries are France and the United States."

The writer declares that there is nothing to which foreigners can object in the principal provisions of the Jones bill insofar as it is intended to accord the United States the resources of the United States to the United States, whether by inland shipping, railways, ports and docks so as to form one immense undertaking for the American export and import trade into the hands of American ships.

He says, however, that some of the clauses of the bill were intended to discriminate against Great Britain and Japan. Among these he mentions those which authorize preferential treatment to American vessels in American ports. The insurance provisions of the bill, he says, impose the most drastic form of returns, which are based absolutely upon the methods of the German insurance companies against which America herself protests so bitterly previous to her entry into the war. These have been devised admittedly for the purpose of learning every iota of business transacted by foreign companies in a view to passing the same on to American concerns. The object of course is that, having this information the government may oust the American shipping entirely to assist British insurance.

"In the same vein is the clause which waives in favor of American insurance companies the Sherman anti-trust law. This is entirely on a par with the methods adopted by the shipping board during the war when it trampled the confidential information given to the shipping board solely for the purpose of the war was being used to enable American shipping to defeat British shipping after the war."

"We in this country now know that we are to be faced with the most bitter competition for the supremacy of the seas which we have ever had to meet. We are in for a big fight, but before America can win the fight she must create a national feeling for a mercantile marine. She must prepare to pay considerably higher freight and insurance rates on all she imports and exports and she must be willing to forego protection on her shipping enterprises for many years. The person who is most willing to feel the pinch of America's ambitions will be the American exporter."

ROUNDING UP VULTURES

As much as by anything all individuals the world over are moved by a desire to lay something by for a rainy day, more particularly for old age. Irrespective of creed or color or sex, through all walks and stations of life, all men and women, except the constitutionally shiftless and indolent, look forward to the day when by virtue of thrift and hard work they may have laid away a surplus on which to live at reasonable ease in their declining years. This hope, even though we know that in some cases it is not to be realized, is one of the most inspiring things in human endeavor.

It is because this trait in human nature is so general and so much to be desired that to all citizens it will come as an encouraging blow to learn of the indictments of four oil companies, ten brokerage houses and 51 individuals, in the United States district court presided over by Judge Hand, of New York. These indictments are the result of evidence collected by inspectors of the postoffice department during the last six months against dishonest brokers and individuals who promised large dividends and quick profits on oil stocks.

Varied and appetizing is the literature sent out by these concerns. Every new and old device is made use of to lure the speculator on. One oil company president had himself photographed near the "gusher" of a legitimate oil company, and this picture proved attractive bait. Nor are the oil effects of this get-rich-quick business confined only to the countless victims whose savings are sunk in such ventures. The honest broker who deals fairly with his client, and in a measure all business, is injured by these swindlers who create distrust and suspicion. The interest of the public demands that exemplary punishment should be inflicted on the perpetrators of these frauds.

KEEPING PRICES UP

Public sentiment against strikes and labor disturbances runs higher than usual. Indeed so vital does one state consider uninterrupted production to the nation's welfare that it recently passed a law aimed at the evil of strikes. The worker himself seems more inclined to this view than he was formerly. In Kansas, the state that has the drastic anti-strike law, the business of striking has struck a decided slump.

It is not without surprise then, that we read the American Woolen company, which recently announced it made 140 per cent profit last year, closes down its mills, because of "cancellation of orders."

On the heels of closing of the mills, associations of clothing manufacturers and dealers announce higher prices for this fall and winter because of "shortage of woolsens." The American Woolen Company had better take another look at its books. Perhaps it has some orders it overlooked.

It is interesting to note that the American Woolen Company recently escaped prosecution by a judicial ruling that cloth is not clothing in the meaning of the Lever act. A narrow escape, but the woolen trust got away with it. It is closing down of its mills intended, among other things, namely keeping up prices, also intended as a gentle warning against further government interference?

Locked-out mill operatives can easily find work elsewhere. It is the public, not they or the owners of the mills, who will suffer. And the public ought to be given the assurance that if it is to pay more for clothing this fall and winter, it will not be because mill owners have shut down their mills.

BAD COUNSEL

It may be that the election law passed by the last session of the state legislature is no fault as to be deserving of serious criticism, but this possibility is by no means enhanced by circulation of false representations with respect to its provisions.

Perhaps the most absurd of these false representations is the imputation to Boise lawyers of the deduction that "young men and women who have reached the voting age since the last general election two years ago are disfranchised by the provisions of the present election law. They are prohibited from taking part in the primaries and conventions; they are barred from voting because they did not register two years ago."

The absurdity of this preposterous argument is self-evident. It could not have been advanced by anyone who had read the text of the election law, which is the only declaration required of the intending voter. This is what and all that it says:

"I do swear (or affirm) that I am a citizen of the United States, of the age of 21 years or will be on the day of the election; that I have (or will have) resided in this state for six months, and in the county for 30 days next preceding the next ensuing election (in case of any election requiring a different time of residence so to make (1) that I have never been convicted of treason, felony, embezzlement of public funds, bribery or selling or offering to harbor or sell my vote or purchasing or offering to purchase the vote of another, or other infamous crime, without thereafter being restored to the rights of citizenship; that I will not commit any act in violation of the provisions in this oath contained; that I am not now registered or entitled to vote at any other place in this state; that I do regard the Constitution of the United States and the laws thereof, and the constitution of this state and the laws thereof, as interpreted by the courts, as the supreme law of the land, so help me God."

The language of the oath is plain, and it would seem that no difference of opinion could arise as to who is and who is not entitled to vote under its provisions.

A quarrel with the actual restrictions surrounding the ballot may or may not be justifiable; but certainly no confidence can be placed in the would-be advisor who lays claim to victory over a straw man set up by himself.

EARNING AND SPENDING

Although it may sound like a paradox, there are women who declare it is hard work to spend money than to earn it. Women who have tried both to make money as self-supporting women and to spend money as custodians of their husbands' income make this declaration. "When I earned my own money my mother spent it for me and it never occurred to me that she had any task in doing it; but now that I am married and have the spending of the greater part of my husband's income, I can truthfully say that to spend money wisely requires more hard work and ability than to make a living," says one wife and mother.

Hundreds of women who are trying to run their households economically and to save something for a rainy day, while feeding and clothing their families properly, will echo her statement.

So serious has this problem become for women because of the constant increase in the prices of things they must purchase and because of the seeming ease for profiteering and plain cheating, that many women have come to dread going into a market as they would into a den of thieves.

Washington's Political Faith.

Washington was a Federalist, and a strong party man at that, but he was unanimously elected to the presidency by the Federalists and Democrats. He was also the unanimous choice when running for re-election. John Adams was vice president under Washington and succeeded him in the presidency. There was a contest, however, in 1796 between Adams, Federalist, and Jefferson, Democrat, in which the former was the winner.

True Happiness.

Happiness consists in the enjoyment of little pleasures, scattered along the common path of life, which, in the eager search for some great and exalted thing, we are apt to overlook.—Exchange.

Covered with seaweed, with one arm strap broken, the relic from the Lusitania drifted into the Delaware River. The Lusitania was sunk by a German U-boat on May 7, 1917. The belt was found floating off the Race street pier, Philadelphia, by T. L. Deland, a railroad detective.

Presidential Nominee of Farmer-Labor Party

First picture of Harley Parker Christensen, a Salt Lake City, Utah, lawyer, who was nominated for the presidency by the Farmer-Labor party at Chicago.

Max Hayes, a Cleveland labor leader, was named as his running mate. Mr. Christensen was elected on the second ballot after all other candidates had been withdrawn, with the exception of Dudley Field Malone, of New York. The third party nominee is a former republican, a former progressive and a former socialist. For several years he was secretary of the republican state committee of Utah. Practically unknown to the party until 1924, but known to the forty-eighters upon his arrival in Chicago he was chosen as permanent chairman of the convention and rapidly became popular. He is one of the chief advocates of a "third party coalition." He is forty-nine years old and unmarried. He was graduated from Cornell University in 1907 and has practiced law in Salt Lake City in recent years. This photograph of Mr. Christensen was made at Chicago during the third party convention.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

NOTICE.
The Idaho Central Railroad Company hereby gives notice that the day of July, 1920, it filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D. C. an application for permission to construct and operate a standard gauge steam railroad from Rogerson, Twin Falls County, Idaho, to Wells, Elko County, Nevada, to connect with the Oregon Short Line and at or near Wells with the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific railways.

Pursuant to the requirements of the Commission the said application is now published as follows:

Application for Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity.
IDAHO CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, Applicant.
255 California St., San Francisco, Cal. June 1920.

To the Honorable Interstate Commerce Commission,
Washington, D. C.

In accordance with Section 1, Paragraph 18 to 22, inclusive, of the Interstate Commerce Act, 1906, and the Transportation Act, 1920, application is hereby made to the Commission to grant a certificate of public convenience and necessity for the construction and operation of a standard gauge steam railroad from Rogerson, Twin Falls County, Idaho, to Wells, Elko County, Nevada, to connect with the Oregon Short Line and at or near Wells with the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific.

Your petitioner respectfully sets forth as follows:

FIRST.—(a) That the name and post-office address of the applicant is IDAHO CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, Twin Falls, Idaho.
(b) That the name and post-office address of its President is George L. Davis, Rogerson Hotel, Twin Falls, Idaho.

(c) That the name and address of its Secretary is J. L. Stewart, Claus Spreckels Building, San Francisco, California.

(d) That the name and address of its Attorney is Arthur Dunn, 255 California Street, San Francisco, California.

SECOND.—That Idaho Central Railroad Company is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Idaho.

THIRD.—That the making and filing of the application was ordered and approved at a meeting of the Board of Directors held in San Francisco, California, June 18, 1920.

FOURTH.—That the proposed railroad is to be constructed in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, and in the County of Elko, State of Nevada.

FIFTH.—That the proposed railroad is to have its main line in the County of Idaho, and at Wells, Nevada, and is to be constructed along a southerly route to connect with the Southern Pacific at Elko, Nevada, a distance of approximately 100 miles.

SIXTH.—(a) That the present and future public convenience and necessity require the construction and operation of such railroad is evidenced by the fact that the proposed line will serve a portion of the great Snake River Empire, which comprises approximately 300,000 acres of highly cultivated irrigated land and a large number of 600,000 additional acres through development of the waters of the Snake River.

(b) That the agricultural territory to be opened up has no rail service, entailing a loss of a large percentage of perishable products in many instances, and a total loss of the entire crop. This condition has existed for the past several years and was especially acute in 1919. Because there is no rail service, the fruit at the terminus of the proposed railroad, proper development of agriculture is seriously retarded, agricultural products are wasted, and many head of cattle cannot be marketed profitably, causing incalculable loss to individual livestock raisers and the community.

(c) That the proposed railroad will shorten the travel between Twin Falls, Idaho, and San Francisco three hundred and eleven (311) miles and reduce the running time from twelve (12) to thirty (30) hours. While San Francisco and its environs are the natural market place for this territory, there is no outlet except by a circuitous route, which entails uneconomical freight and passenger movement.

(d) That the proposed railroad has the enthusiastic endorsement and your petitioner the complete co-operation of agricultural, stock, financial, mining, and other interests of the territory to be traversed.

SEVENTH.—That your petitioner is ready to make further presentation by appearance at any hearing or hearings that may be required by the Commission, and requests that, if required, be held at as early a date as possible. If compatible with public convenience, if required, be held at Twin Falls, Idaho, and at Elko, Nevada.

Respectfully submitted,
IDAHO CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY.

By J. L. STEWART, Secretary-Treasurer.

WEISER JURIST UPHOLDS BANKS

Judge Bryan Rules Method of Assessment Discriminates Against Institutions

The county commissioners are in a quandary because of a perplexing problem arising from assessments made against certain commercial property and holdings.

The commissioners may be ordered not only to change their plan of assessing values, but may be forced to restore a good amount of money already collected as taxes, or at least expunge indebtedness for such from county tax rolls.

This perplexity comes about through action taken in courts in places other than Twin Falls, where judicial minds have decided in favor of bankers who have contended against assessment methods.

It appears that in many counties of Idaho the plan of assessors has been to assess banking institutions 100 per cent on capitalization. Stores are being assessed at 70 per cent and other properties at 50 per cent. The banks balked and took the matter into court.

Resulting from this judicial action at Weiser Judge B. L. Bryan has rendered a decision against the board of equalization of Washington county in the matter of assessing banking institutions 100 per cent on the total capitalization. Judge Bryan declares the system disproportionate in its application to banks and other institutions subject to taxation. Copy of the ruling has been received by the chairman of the local board of tax equalization. The decision will be submitted to legal authorities for advice as to future procedure in this county.

STRIKE OF SILVER ORE IS REPORTED

Heavy Vein Encountered on Castle Creek, According to Announcement

BURL (Special)—Discovery of a rich vein of silver in the mine in Owyhee county on Castle Creek, is reported by the United States Silver Mining company of Twin Falls.

The strike was made at the 300-foot level, after tunneling only 40 feet, and the four-inch vein shows rich in ruby and horn silver, according to announcement.

Walter Hovey Hill, a mining engineer, was on the ground at the time the strike was made and is now en route to Twin Falls with a party of mining men, directors and stockholders of the company. They have samples of ore with them.

MAKE MINIATURE PLANES.

Demonstrating mechanics and copy ability of no mean order, Edward A. Walters, Jr., and Melcher Priebe have on exhibition in the Priebe jewelry show window on Shoshone street replicas of two airplane types most prominent on the allies' side during the war. Mechanical prowess is amply demonstrated in both models, each being a perfect pattern of the machine mentioned most prominently in recent war operations. Young Walters produced a copy of a De Havilland battle plane, while that completed by Priebe is a Newport scout machine. The examples are interesting specimens of handiwork and ability to follow patterns.

PROTEST AGAINST SPEEDING

Protesting against what is alleged to be an ever growing menace residents along Shilo Lake highway have petitioned the county commissioners to take action toward the enforcement of speed laws on that avenue after it leaves the city limits and enters the county jurisdiction. Petitioners aver that a speed in many instances of one mile a minute is made by some demurs. The extreme limit on state and county highways is 30 miles an hour, petitioners declare.

WILL QUARANTINE DISTRICTS TO SAVE STATE SHEEP FLOCKS

Drastic Measures to be Taken Against Spread of Scabies Throughout Twin Falls as well as Other Menaced Idaho Sections—Owners Expected to Establish Authorized Dipping Facilities

"It is conceded by all sanitary officers and flock masters in all sheep range countries that where scabies has become prevalent, in order to eradicate the disease, it is necessary to make a general dipping of all the sheep in the exposed area," says Dr. J. D. Adams, bureau of animal industry at Boise.

Following the policy of the state bureau of animal industry in quarantining infected districts, and enforcing a general dipping of all sheep within the quarantined area, a quarantine has been issued, taking effect July 15, 1926, covering Twin Falls county," he continues.

"This is deemed necessary on account of the sheep on the small ranches as well as the range sheep, have become so thoroughly exposed to the disease.

"The announcement is made in a general statement directed to all persons in Twin Falls county interested in the matter of raising sheep industry. The statement continues:

"This plan has been very successfully worked out in four other infected areas in this state during the past year, and the disease practically eradicated in these districts.

"When sheep for immediate slaughter, after a rigid inspection by state or federal inspectors, and free from disease, will be allowed shipment to recognized slaughtering centers with dipping. All other sheep in Twin Falls county, whether on ranch or range shall be dipped between July 15 and September 1, 1926, in accordance with bureau rules and regulations, and under supervision of state or federal inspectors; unless, however, they have already been dipped within a recent date by such inspectors.

"Where the disease is manifest the sheep shall be subjected to two dips, the second dipping following the first within a period of ten days to 34 days.

"Each individual sheep owner will be expected to arrange for his own dipping vat, or arrange to dip his sheep at some other public, private or community vat, using one of the permitted dips, and with one of the local inspectors a time most convenient (within the time stated in the quarantine) to dip his sheep, and notify the inspector when he is ready to dip.

"The dipping will be supervised by state and federal inspectors, who will have headquarters at Bull, Filer, Twin Falls, Hagerman, Kimberly, Murtaugh or Hansen and can be reached by telephone at those places.

"All range or other sheep coming into Twin Falls county after July 15 must be dipped before coming into the county, or arrangements made to dip them immediately after coming into the county; unless, however, they have been recently dipped by a state or federal inspector, prior to coming into the county.

"Sheep owners will not be charged for inspection nor the dipping of sheep found free from disease.

"Where sheep are actually diseased, the law requires that the owner of the sheep shall pay the sum of $5 per day, and the actual expenses of the local inspectors while supervising the dipping.

"We ask that all sheep owners co-operating with the inspectors in the field in order to facilitate the work of eradicating this most insidious disease which is menacing the sheep industry in Idaho.

"For further information concerning the arrangements for vats and the dipping consult Dr. John McElroy, deputy state veterinarian in charge of sheep scab eradication, at Twin Falls, Idaho.

VILLA'S WISH FOR PEACE MOTIVE FOR SURRENDER

Mexican Rebel General Capitulates with Head Uncovered and Hand Extended

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—"I am surrendering unconditionally because the country needs peace for reconstruction," said Francisco Villa Wednesday when he met General Martinez, chief of operations in the states of Coahuila and Nuevo Leon, at the railroad station in Salinas. When General Martinez, who is arranging surrender terms with Villa arrived at the station, the rebel general approached him with head uncovered and hand extended.

Villa will make his residence at Salinas, Zacatecas, after abandoning his troops at Torreon, according to a government communique. His men, it is added, will go from Salinas to Torreon on foot.

Villa's men, newspaper accounts say, were offered two trains but refused to use them. Each of the 4000 soldiers will receive a year's pay to get a start in life.
