LIVESTOCK SHOW AT TWIN FALLS FALL RURAL BASE OF AGRICULTURAL BETTERMENT

In Improvement of Cattle; Horses, Sheep and Hogs is Seen a New Era in the Stock Industry of Twin Falls District—Quality on Par with State and Interstate Exhibits

Livestock as a basis for sound agricultural practice was emphasized at the fifth annual Twin Falls County Fair in a manner that will not soon be forgotten. Never has there been such a show in Twin Falls county, and it is doubtful if there is anywhere in the Northwest state that has ever exhibited as many head of outstanding, purebred stock. Figures compiled by The News to give a total of 382 head, including all departments. And when it is added that this magnificent showing represented quality on a par with many state and interstate fairs, the importance of the exposition can be readily seen. When the first fair was started, there was a total of only 35 head of livestock.

Listed by departments the livestock show included the following number of entries:

By Departments.
Listed by departments the livestock show included the following number of entries:
Horse department: Belgians, 3; Percherons, 10; Shires, 6; Dutch, 10; Danes, 10; Hackneys, 13; Jerseys, 13.

Beef department: Shorthorns, 127; Herefords, 2; Red Polls.
Swine department: Poland Chinas, 55; Duroc-Jerseys, 21; of the Duroc 48 head were shown by the Pig club. Sheep department: Hampshire, 17; Cotswolds, 3; Dorset, 1; and others.

As is indicated by the above features of the stock show, were exhibits of Shorthorn cattle and Duroc-Jersey swine. Competitions in all classes of these breeds was keen. In all of these groups and when the ribbons were handed out the recipients had reason to feel they had been given a run for the money.

"It was a wonderful show," declared Dr. W. E. Carroll, animal husbandman from the Utah Agricultural college, who judged horse and beef cattle. "It is right in step with the big county fairs of the east and middle west and far superior to the average county fair in the west."

Of the 52 prizes awarded in the Shorthorn division 35 went to Twin Falls county breeders. E. M. Varin of Victor, Idaho, secured the best Shorthorn championship on herd bull with his excellent white bull, Silver Cloud 704-692, that showed in the two years and over class this year. Mr. Varin's second prize was a cow, the cow championship on White Duchess, a two-year-old heifer of great scale and correct type.

J. G. Hayden, of Caldwell, won second place in the aged bull class with Village Victor 529437, a Villager bull which Mr. Hayden purchased from C. A. McMaster. Mr. Hayden's third prize was a cow, the cow championship on White Duchess, a two-year-old heifer of great scale and correct type. Mr. Hayden's fourth prize was a cow, the cow championship on White Duchess, a two-year-old heifer of great scale and correct type.

McMaster Scores.
Mr. McMaster scored again in the senior yearling class with Mina's Dale B. 7446, a grand son of Avondale, one of the greatest bulls in Shorthorn history.

Pig Springs Ranch, Buhl, won first in the junior yearling bull class on Cumberland Champion Cup 24. The roan bull by Cupbearer of Mill Hills whose sire was Cupbearer of Mill Hills, a bull of the famous William A. Duthie breeding. Cumberland Cup 24 was also made reserve champion in the association special. Mr. McMaster was a close second in the junior yearling bull class with Mina's Cumberland 99300, a real son of wonder, sire of the great Sullivan's Bone Roper, scored third on Violet's Sultan.

In the senior bull class, Mr. McMaster took first money on the defending champion, the son of Victor who won second and third premiums.

A supply calf owned by Regu brothers, of Kimberly, and sired by Regu brother, of Kimberly, was the greatest Shorthorn bull in America, won first in the junior calf class. W. H. Proctor won fourth place on the supply calf, sired by Regu brother, of Kimberly, who was purchased at the side of a splendid Scotch cow at the recent Twin Falls sale.

The aged cow class was a great show. There were 17 head in this class and it was Twin Falls county fair visitors had a chance to observe a collection of state and national champions and representing the type so much desired in beef cattle, they surely had it at the fair. Regu Brothers of Kimberly won first place on the aged cow class, 713, sired by Secret's Choice, a grandson of the noted herd sire, Choice Goods. It is doubtful if a horse race could have caused as much excitement of the tense feeling that prevailed at the ring when this class was being judged. Frank Sullivan's sons, of Buhl, won second on the aged cow class, 713, sired by Secret's Choice, a grandson of the noted herd sire, Choice Goods. It is doubtful if a horse race could have caused as much excitement of the tense feeling that prevailed at the ring when this class was being judged.

was the splendid string of Shires and Percherons owned by E. H. Walter of Phil. Mr. Walter is one of the premier horsemen of the northwest and he is going out this year on the winter show circuit to show the kind of horseflesh that he has on the Twin Falls show. He will exhibit at the Western Royal, Spokane, Wash., Northwest Livestock Show, Lewiston, Idaho, and the Pacific International at Portland, Ore. He had but little competition at the county fair in either Shires or Percherons. Dr. Carroll, who judged, was visibly impressed by the show he saw. He put up a stallion of much merit owned by Davis brothers of Phil, won second place in the 2-year-old Percheron class.

First Belgian.

C. A. McMaster won first premium in the aged cow class. A. B. Boone of Twin Falls, won first on Belgian mare, 3 years and under 4, and also first on mare 2 years and under 4. The aged cow class was the most ship in the stallion class and Mr. Boone the mare championship.

For T. Edwards of Kimberly, Jesse and George of the Twin Falls show. Castledore was the only sheep exhibitor. Mr. Edwards showed some of his best Hampshire sheep which are rapidly becoming renowned throughout the northwest. Mr. Hamline exhibited Cotswolds and Mr. Gillette brought out some of the well known Rambouillet stock for which he is noted.

Boys' and Girls' Club Show.

A. I. O'Reilly, county club leader and president of the club, was very well pleased with the record the club made at the fair. The Shorthorn club, the Jersey club, the pig club and the sheep club were represented. The boys' and girls' club show was the only sheep exhibitor. Mr. Edwards showed some of his best Hampshire sheep which are rapidly becoming renowned throughout the northwest.

Willard McMaster of Twin Falls showed a pair of sweet heifer calves that won first and second in the senior calf class. Mr. Hayden was third. Mr. Varin won first and second in the junior calf class and Regu brothers third. There was stiff competition between the Varin, Regu and Hayden herds in the aged cow class.

Mr. Hayden won second and third, respectively. Mr. Hayden's second prize was a cow, the cow championship on White Duchess, a two-year-old heifer of great scale and correct type. Mr. Hayden's third prize was a cow, the cow championship on White Duchess, a two-year-old heifer of great scale and correct type.

Accomplishments.
Get of sire and produce of dam, clean bred and sound, was the accomplishment of a breeder's herd sire and one cow, is always a keen contest. Most breeders would rather win this for the publicity it gives than win any other class. Mr. Varin of Victor, won first in both instances. Big Springs Ranch, Buhl, won second in the aged cow class and Regu Brothers third. Regu Brothers won second in produce of cow and J. G. Hayden third.

The Duroc-Jersey show brought to the fair a number of fine specimens of the breed. The Duroc-Jersey show brought to the fair a number of fine specimens of the breed. The Duroc-Jersey show brought to the fair a number of fine specimens of the breed.

It was a magnificent showing of Shorthorn cattle that made up the boys' and girls' club show ring. These cattle were purchased at the January sale at the Twin Falls show. KIDDIES IN POSSESSION OF EXPOSITION GROUNDS ON FINAL DAY OF FAIR

Schools Throughout County Close in Deference to Occasion and Another Big Attendance Record is Expected Before the Gatekeepers Leave Posts; Twin Falls Day Brings Record-Breaking Crowds Reaching 7,000 Mark.

Official figures, returned on Thursday's attendance at the county fair show a big break over the attendance of the previous day. It was estimated that on any single day at county expositions was not.

Thursday's mark, according to records, the gate reached 7,000. The gross cash receipts being $3,500. Admission fee is 20 cents per person. Wednesday's record was 3,600. Attendance on the last day of the fair was 7,000. This Twin Falls Day at the fair established an attendance mark which future fairs in this district will have to stand at, probably will not surpass for some years.

Special Honor.

For Thursday's special honor occasion Twin Falls people turned out in vast number both to celebrate the day and to visit the biggest and best fair Twin Falls county has ever witnessed. Not all of the mercantile enterprises of the town closed entirely, but the big majority shut up shop and sent all hands to the exposition. Some were not so fortunate as many others, as could well be spared from duty. The municipal departments were closed from noon on, while several of the county departments also were closed, and others on half force.

Mr. McMaster's Cattle Carry Off Ribbons.
C. A. McMaster of Twin Falls, was one of the big ribbon winners with Shorthorn cattle entries at the county fair. His cattle, the champion, has been the marvel of cattle breeders attending the exposition and is said to have established a high record for quality. Not all of the quality of the cattle was shown by McMaster. He won first premium with a yearling bull and also first premium for bull calf entries. In addition to the yearling bull class, third place in the yearling heifer pen, third for herd shown and fourth place for pen, third for yearling heifer pen, third for herd shown and fourth place for pen.

Mr. McMaster also made a showing in the Hereford exhibits, winning first prize for grand champion cow with Lady White, 11 months and one day, also with the same animal in the single cow class between two years and under three years. Willard McMaster won second prize for grand champion cow, sired by Hamline of Phil took everything in Red Poll Angus entries.

1920 COUNTY FARM EXPOSITION ENDS IN RECORD-BREAKING BLAZE

Attendance and Exhibit Marks are Shattered in Four-Day Agricultural Show with Innovations of Entertainment Among Outstanding Features—Judges Accord High Praise to the Exhibitors.

The 1920 fifty annual county agricultural exposition is now a historical fact, and as such goes into the annals of Twin Falls county fairs as a record establishment in every respect, even including weather.

Auspicious conditions followed from opening to closing day permitting an attendance on all four days that grew and pleasing records. Thursday found a new mark established in paid admissions, but the attendance was nearly as great Friday, closing with Children's day. No charge was made for children on the last day of the fair, and this fact had much to do with the attendance. Children swarmed everywhere, especially around the automatic attractions such as the merry-go-round and they filled the stands to overflowing for the track events.

Other Fairs Belittled

According to judges and departmental experts every class of exhibit surpassed any offered for view in other years, and some went so far as to say they had not been equalled at any fair in the international region, not excepting the state fair. This is said to be especially true of the livestock departments, swine, sheep, cattle—best and dairy—and horses.

In the produce buildings and the poultry section great improvement in quality and quantity of display was noted over other years. The women's department, especially attracting wide attention and favorable comment.

Market Priced

Secretary J. M. Markel expresses the conviction that he has once and for all time solved the problem of special attraction in connection with entertainment at the fair. He believes that the vocal innovation and the comedy specialties, under the tent, with a good band, meet all requirements, and have proven so extraordinarily popular this year that there will be unanimous demand for reappearances for such attractions at fairs to come. The Salt Lake Opera quintet, four singers and a pianist, established a record for entertainment ability that will be difficult to beat in future years, even if it is equalled.

The 1920 county fair closed its gates last night, but the tent, with a good band, will be compelled to spend some time checking up matters connected with the big show.

MORE NEWSPAPER PLANTS EFFECT CONSOLIDATION

Idaho Falls Now Has One Daily and One Semi-Weekly Publication in Field

The Idaho Falls Register, a semi-weekly newspaper, published for the past ten years by M. B. Yeaman and the Idaho Falls Times, a democratic weekly owned for a number of years by Dennis and Snyder, have joined forces through a consolidation of interests effected this week. The result of the union is the elimination of semi-weekly issues of the combined publications, which will be published. According to information from the publishers, Mr. Dennis retires from the field. Mr. Snyder takes charge as general manager, with Mr. Yeaman, president, editor and publisher. He is understood that from now on, if satisfactory arrangements can be made, a morning daily will be issued but for the present the only change in the situation will be through the elimination of the weekly Times.

Idaho Falls is also served by the Daily Post, established a number of years ago, an afternoon Standard Press paper with a "bull-dog" morning edition six days a week.

General increase of expense in the printing and publishing business is responsible for the consolidation. M. B. Yeaman is one of the best known of Idaho publishers. He is now senator from Bonville county and is up for re-election on the republican ticket.

DANCE FOLLOWS ELKS WILD DUCK BANQUET

More Than 400 Birds are Sacrificed for Gustatory Entertainment

"A duck for each plate" was the slogan of the Elks at a game dinner served in Parish hall Friday night. More than 400 birds were prepared for the occasion. Following the festivity those attending—women were there, too—the party spent several hours dancing.

The birds for the party were supplied by members of the membership under the leadership of captains, named at a recent meeting of the lodge. One day's shooting proved sufficient to meet all requirements.

MAKING STRONG BID FOR LINE CONNECTION TO SOUTHWEST

Showing at Commissioners' Meeting Here Today Indicates Tremendous Need of Outlet in Southerly Direction to Reach Nearest Market—Contact Mining Area Gives Data

With all three members of the Idaho state public utilities commission seated, and a large number of Contact and Twin Falls district business men present as spectators and participants, an informational meeting having reference to the proposed construction of the Idaho Central railroad, is being held at the county courthouse here today. The meeting, the last of three such sessions, is being conducted in the district courtroom. The members of the commission are charged by J. P. Frechaser, George E. Eby and Everett M. Sweely. The investigation has to do primarily with convenience and necessity. The meeting convened at 11 o'clock this morning.

Competition Needed.
Called as the first witness Newell W. Wright, secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce presented an asserted array of facts and figures relative to the territory proposed to be served by the Idaho Central railroad. Some of these figures, especially those pertaining to production of the commodities of the Twin Falls district, attesting to the importance of the territory, were given in detail. Among the statements made by Mr. Wright was some reference to alleged failure of the present railroad to provide adequate service to the Twin Falls district through the Mindoko branch line. He expressed a conviction that competition is needed to bring about the service required for the proper development of the towns and country contiguous to the rail line.

George L. Davis, president of the Idaho Central Railroad company, followed Mr. Wright to the stand and gave some interesting data relating to line construction cost and operation and service to San Francisco.

Contact Needs Road.
Yesterday a meeting of a similar nature was held in Contact with a number of Contact and Wells, as well as Twin Falls business men present. The meeting showed that the Contact district has expended in the Contact mining district for improvements the sum of $3,750,000. These improvements included 7,415 feet of underground work. This subterranean network has been done by 96 operating companies operating over 800 miles of track. The Contact mine, putting out a high grade ore, has shipped by truck to Rogerson $250,000 of its product since it started operation.

C. N. Orr, a mining engineer, placed an estimate of the tonnage of ore opened up at more than 20,000,000 tons or about 20,000,000 tons of ore. The area of the district is 85 square miles, or 20 times larger than the Ely, Nev., district, yet ore running many times higher in test than that registered from Ely.

Another Resource.
Other witnesses told of another product of the Contact district which will add to the wealth of shipping, alluding to the limestone deposits. The Contact district is covered by thousands of acres of Contact country. No quarries have been developed because of inadequacy of transportation facilities. The Sengstacke Mining company, which is credited with the greatest single amount of improvement in the Contact district, have a 1000 foot tunnel, 1000 foot tunnel to its workings while the Gray Mining company has a 2300 foot tunnel in operation. A number of Contact people outlined prospects of the country and gave statistical data relating to the ore and other material awaiting the coming of the line for shipment. Mr. Wright told of the need of a line over which to ship cattle to the Twin Falls district for winter feeding. In outlining the various advantages to be derived from the railroad Mr. Brad said the shipping distance to feeding points alone was worth considering. At present, he estimated, cattle are shipped about 250 to 500 miles. To this section the distance is 125 miles.

ROTARIANS TO GIVE RAILROAD BIG BOOST

Local Organisation Members Hear of Contact Resources From Mining Man

E. G. Gray, prominent mining man of Contact, Nev., accompanied by a group of Contact business men and engineers were guests of the Rotary club at the regular luncheon of the Rogerson Wednesday. The party is here in connection with the hearings before the state public utilities commission in the matter of the proposed new railroad from Rogerson to Wells. A number of the information brought out at the luncheon was along the same lines as the testimony now being taken before the commission. The statement that the area of the Contact mining field is more than twice as great as that of the scene of the mammoth mining operations at Ely, Nev., evoked much interest, as did the statement that the construction of the proposed line would mean the shipment of thousands of cattle and hundreds of thousands of sheep into southern Idaho for winter feeding. This stock is now shipped to Lovelocks and Fallon from northern Nevada. Members of the club signified their intention of being present at the remainder of the session and pledged themselves to the necessary data to be brought out at the hearing in every way possible.

JOY'S EVENTS FORESHADOW SALE OF BOYD'S HOSPITAL

Negotiations are Pending for Transfer of Local Property to Sisters of St. Joseph, Catholic Charity Organization—Consummation is Expected to Come in Next Few Days

Although no deal has been definitely closed, events to date foreshadow the early taking over of the Boyd hospital of Twin Falls by the Sisters of St. Joseph, a charitable order of the Catholic church, and the operation of the institution in future under the auspices of the order.

Negotiations Progress.
Father Reini S. Kober of Twin Falls Tuesday stated that negotiations are in progress and that the consummation, if it comes at all, will probably be reached within the next few days. It is understood that a number of details remain to be worked out and that the actual purchase of the property is still in abeyance.

Headquarters at Lewiston.
The headquarters of the Sisters of St. Joseph in Idaho are at Lewiston, but the institution is actively engaged in hospital and similar work at a number of places in the north-west. It is understood that the executive heads of the order are well pleased with the local property and prospects. (Continued on page 2.)

Arizona Crowds Greet Democratic Candidate
Half Dozen Addresses on Today's Program for Governor Cox

PHOENIX, Ariz., (P)—Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, was greeted by a large crowd on his arrival here today to deliver several addresses. He was accompanied from Los Angeles by W. L. Barnum, democratic national committeeman from Arizona, and was met at the train here by Senator Marcus A. Smith, of Arizona.

A half dozen addresses were to be given today by the democratic candidate. Arriving here about 10 o'clock, the governor's morning address was cancelled so that he might tour several towns by automobile before speaking here at 1:30 o'clock at a southern "dinner and barbeque" celebration at the fair grounds.

Taking automobiles from here, the governor and his party had a trip of 100 miles to Phoenix, where he was to visit St. Luke's hospital for war veterans and address Phoenix high school tomorrow. Leaving here at 11:30 this afternoon, the governor had another added engagement tonight at Prescott for a theater show. He was to leave Prescott at 11:30 o'clock to speak tomorrow at Winslow and Holbrook en route to Albuquerque.

Besides the league of nations, in his border state campaign the governor was expected to discuss the Mexican situation, labor, conservation, radicalism and mining subjects. His Arizona address, however, was expected to aid in the campaign of Senator Warren A. Smith, democrat, for reelection.

His Family Holds Unique Sunday School Record
Records are records the world over, but the record claimed by Elmer C. Weaver for his family is probably the most unique in the books. Mr. Weaver's family lays claim to all records of attendance at Sunday school. He himself boasts of not having missed a session in twenty-three years. His two daughters, Mrs. Henry Kern and Mrs. C. G. Bickley, have attended Sunday school for thirteen years, respectively, with a miss. A son, Earl, has dropped out of the Sunday school basket for a few days, but he is expected to return. The Weavers live at Allentown, Pa., and are members of the Zion Reformed church.

SEATS OF SOCIALISTS IN ASSEMBLY AGAIN VACANT

New York State Legislature Expels Three and Two Others Resign

ALBANY, N. Y., (P)—Five assembly seats to which socialist assemblies had been won by a vote of 80 to 45 last week, to fill vacancies caused by their own expulsion last April when the entire socialist delegation was denied a seat to sit in the lower house of the state legislature, were again vacant today.

After a five-hour debate the assembly voted tonight by a vote of 80 to 45 to expel the socialist delegation. The socialist delegation was again voted out of the assembly. The socialist delegation was again voted out of the assembly.

In the debate, the five socialists denied that they were ever committed to a policy of force or violence. Assembliesmen, Charles C. Brown and Solomon A. Smith, who were expelled last April, were again voted out of the assembly. The socialist delegation was again voted out of the assembly.

BLAME FEDERAL TAXATION PLAN FOR HIGH COST

Cotton Manufacturers' Session Hears Arrangement of Existing System and Suggested Substitutes

MAPLEWOOD, N. H. (AP)—The present system of federal taxation is declared to have created "an intolerable situation" and to be responsible for the continued high prices of many articles, by speakers at the opening session of the annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers. Suggested substitutes included an employers' privilege tax, outlined by Theodore H. Price, director of Commerce and Finance, of New York, and a gross sale tax, explained by William E. Cornwell of New York.

People Learning Facts.—The people of the country, Mr. Cornwell said, are becoming educated to the fact that the whole system of taxation in the United States is wrong, adding that the system was founded on class and sectional bias.

"A tax on gross sales is an ideal development," he continued. "It is passed along in very small fractions and added through the various processes from the producer of raw material to stage after stage during manufacture, the tax almost collecting itself, accumulating automatically as it proceeds, and is finally paid by the consumer practically without his knowledge, and the additions are so trifling as not materially to affect the price."

Penalty on Success.—Mr. Price in his address declared the present surtaxes penalize success and compel an enterprising man to pay the government an immediate share of his gains in a profitable year, leaving him to bear the losses of an unprofitable year alone."

Explaining the employers' privilege tax which he proposed as a substitute for the present system, Mr. Price said, in part:

"A manufacturer or merchant whose monthly disbursements for wages, salaries or piece work totalled $100,000 would at the end of the month send a statement to Washington with a check for the amount of his tax. If the tax were 5 per cent his check would be $5,000, which he would include in his overhead charges and add to the selling price of his product."

Cumulative Taxation.

"The price paid by the manufacturer of an entirely finished or marketable product for the raw material is a finished material that he would have been correspondingly increased by the employers' privilege tax paid upon the raw material to the manufacturer's production; and thus the price at which the article was sold for consumption would include all the employers' privilege taxes that had been added to the progress from the first producer to the ultimate buyer."

FARM BUREAU FEDERATION ASSERTS CRISIS IMPENDS

Argues Agricultural Economic Conditions Threaten Grave Consequences

CHICAGO, (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation, in a statement last night summarizing its investigation into business, industrial and financial conditions, declared that America "is facing an agricultural economic condition which, if not intelligently dealt with, will lead to serious and grave consequences to the industry to the point of imperiling the social order."

The statement says farmers must be given immediate help in transportation, finance and other matters. It recommends the following as remedial efforts:

1. Preferential treatment in transportation to all farm products.

2. Holding for shipment and to all goods consigned to farmers which are necessary to conduct the business of farming.

3. More profits for farmers, better distribution systems and a more equitable middlemen, and stabilized prices.

Ample finance with rural banks assuming the obligation of financing the farmer with long and priority credits.

Protection from "wild cat" investments which were said to be taking millions of dollars from farmers annually.

Equalization of agricultural and industrial labor wages, which, the statement declares can be accomplished only by lowering industrial wage or increasing farm wages.

Encouragement of immigration.

FIRST WORLD NEWS IN TWO YEARS DROVE ON ISLANDS

PAPETE, Tahiti, (AP)—The first news from the world that the Rapana will receive after a lapse of two years was carried by a French steamer, the Aldebaran which recently left this port for the isolated island of Rapana, in the Dangerous Archipelago.

The island is populated by 150 Papuans and one white man, a French official. Due to the Rapana not having received mail for two years, and in all probability a boat never having touched the island in that time, it is believed that the inhabitants are not as yet acquainted with the fact that hostilities have ceased among the warring countries.

Barnes Says His Book and Carroll His Solicitation Separate Enterprises

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate investigating committee has plunged into the sea of republican and democratic campaign financing Wednesday but the record had little affirmative effect on the party funds at the close of the session. It was said to have previously been disclosed.

Barnes Denies Connection.

Two flat denials connected with the charges that have figured in previous testimony were produced, however. One was entered by John D. Barnes, who asserted that the book "Republicanism in 1920" published by his company, the Albany (N. Y.) Journal, and connected with the republican national committee, was a private commercial venture. The other denial was made by George T. Carroll of Elizabeth, N. J., president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, and of the Federal Lumber Industries of New Jersey, who said that such support as these organizations had given the republican ticket was in no way connected with the democratic party financing.

Carroll Acknowledges Letter.

Mr. Carroll acknowledged having authorized the sending out from his office of a letter to the National Association to the National association to add the Cox and Roosevelt ticket. The letter he wrote, he said, had been sent to him over the telephone for approval, but he did not recall the paragraph specifically urging that the democratic candidate be supported. No official action had been taken by the association which he had no head to endorse a presidential ticket, he said, although it had been decided to urge election of a "liberal congress, regardless of what party they represent."

A total of "less than $2,000" had been received in response to the circular letters, Carroll said, adding that no circular letters had yet been sent out although it was in preparation.

Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, asked if any democratic party official had ever sought to have the liquor men "denied" from this activity in behalf of the democratic ticket. Mr. Carroll replied with the negative, and the senator then asked if the work had not been accepted by the democratic.

Senator Pomeroy, democrat, Ohio, challenged this last question as unfair and Senator Reed finally broke into a discussion of the declaration that the single subscription of John D. Rockefeller to the Barnes book was larger than the whole fund raised by the liquor men.

COX RESUMES TRAVELS INTERRUPTED BY WRECK

Democratic Candidate Addresses Crowds En Route to Albuquerque

EN ROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX (AP)—With his Arizona campaign terminated abruptly by the wreck of his special train yesterday near Phoenix, Governor Cox, democratic presidential candidate, was en route through New Mexico to speak tonight at Albuquerque.

The governor and his party today were none the worse for their experience in the disaster to their train. They had no serious injuries. Through the wreck, the governor lost two speaking engagements scheduled to take place in the desert. He had no speaking engagements today except tonight's address at Albuquerque, but it was thought possible that he might be able to make one or two rear platform talks.

At Deming, N. M., a large crowd gathered about the governor's car and routed him out of bed to speak to a few hundred people. Deming to Rincon, the candidate's party again traveled by special train in order to connect with the regular train which was to take them to Albuquerque.

DEMOCRATIC FINANCIERS TO USE WILSON EXAMPLE

Committee to Raise $500,000 National "Match the President" Fund

NEW YORK, (AP)—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, announced here today that the committee would raise a $500,000 national "match the president" campaign fund.

Mr. White said that a thousand friends of the democratic party were expected to follow the example of President Wilson and subscribe $500 to assure the success of the Cox-Roosevelt ticket and the league itself.

AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS MOVE AGAINST CORN BORER

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Discovery of the European corn borer, in the vicinity of St. Thomas, Canada, has caused the department of agriculture to send a staff of entomologists to Michigan to confer with local agricultural authorities to forestall possible infestation of the corn crop in that state.

The corn borer in Canada is farther west than heretofore reported on this continent, the department's announcement said, and the corn affected is of the flint variety.

EARLY RETURNS FAVOR CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

Majorities on All Proposed Amendments to Nebraska Charter Indicated

OMAHA, Neb., (AP)—Returns received today by newspapers here from Tuesday's special election helped to make the majorities by which Nebraska voters adopted constitutional amendments to permit the legislature to create a commission to pass upon controversies between employers and employees, and to give women unrestricted suffrage. Thirty-nine other amendments were also adopted, including one for a state budget system. The vote counted so far is more than five to one for the suffrage proposal.

There was little opposition, apparently, to adoption of an amendment to give Nebraska women unrestricted suffrage. Returns received so far on this proposal give 2754 for the amendment with 645 against it. The women themselves voted on this and other amendments submitted at yesterday's special election.

Majorities for all other amendments indicated by early returns. These included the proposed amendment to regulate property rights of aliens; to create a state budget system; to permit regulation of working conditions; to require that common school branches in Nebraska schools be taught in English.

There apparently was little interest in the election, the vote of both men and women being extremely light.

SOCIALISTS ATTEMPT TO INVADE CHURCH FOILED

Projected Seizure of Religious Institutions House Shortage Result

ROME, (AP)—The Osservatore Romano, the official newspaper of the Vatican, says the Sunday night socialists attempted to invade a church in a popular quarter, but did not succeed in breaking through the gates. They postponed the undertaking to a later date, when the paper asserts, they will attempt to occupy the Lateran palace, which was once the residence of the popes.

The newspapers also assert that socialists are threatening to invade the Catholic club, and two nunneries.

LONDON, (AP)—The attempted invasion of religious offices in Rome is in part a movement among persons unable to obtain dwellings because of the shortage in housing accommodations to seize unoccupied homes and other buildings and install themselves, according to a dispatch to the London Times from Rome.

KALMIKOFF TROUBLESOME PRISONER FOR CHINESE

Notorious Usuri District Ataman Makes Two Escapes From Captors

PEKING, (AP)—General Kalmikoff, notorious Usuri district ataman, charged with the murder of a Norwegian subject, and a refugee at Kirin from Siberia made two desperate attempts to escape from the Chinese guards. Kalmikoff, who in January became assistant to General Semenov as commander of the All-Russian forces in Siberia, was arrested in Manchuria by the Chinese guards in July and held prisoner in the Russian consulate at Kirin.

He escaped shortly afterward, but was recaptured. Later when plans were discovered for a second escape, he was taken from the consulate by Chinese soldiers, to a train for Peking, for an attempt on the charges against him by the Norwegian government.

Governor Pao Kuei-ching of Kirin, reported September 7 that Kalmikoff jumped out of a train at Yilachi, Manchuria, and escaped into the rice fields. Kalmikoff, as head of a horde of Cossacks in the Usuri district, during the regime of Admiral Kholodny, staged the Usuri district and gained notoriety as a terrorist by his wholesale murder of anti-communists. He created an attack against the American forces and flogged an American soldier his forces captured.

Peking advices on September 8, reported that Kalmikoff was killed in rice fields near Yilachi, Manchuria, by pursuing Chinese guards, upon whom he had fired.

"BUCK" HERZOG IS ACCUSED BY "RUBE" BENTON

New York Pitcher Says Club Keytowner Suggested Throwing of 1919 Game

CHICAGO, (AP)—Jacob "Rube" Benton, New York National league pitcher, who arrived here today to testify before the grand jury investigating reports of "fixed" baseball games, asserts in a signed statement published by the Journal that Charles "Buck" Herzog and Hal Chase proposed to him that he lose the last game the Giants played in Chicago last year. No mention was made of the amount he was to receive if he "threw" the game, the Journal quotes Benton as saying, but after the Giants won, 6 to 3, Heinz Zimmerman, who had been suspended the night before, he said to have stopped Benton in a hotel lobby and said:

"You poor fish, don't you know there was $400 waiting for you to lose that game today?"

Benton will appear before the grand jury this afternoon.

Herzog, in a statement this morning, said he had been accused of offering Benton $500 to lose the game, but denied he had been involved in any crooked work, and declared President Heydler, of the National league, had investigated the reports and then issued a letter censuring Herzog.

DEMAGOGUERY REBUKED

(Fargo Forum.)

The decision in the famous coal injunction case, by the United States circuit court of appeals, is a triumph of justice and a rebuke to the cheap bit of political demagoguery this state has witnessed in the last four or five political years.

Governor Frazier, after ably fostering a strike in North Dakota lignite mines, and encouraging the miners to deliberately break a solemn contract with the mine operators, declared martial law and proceeded to operate them on behalf of the state, announcing that he would enforce conscription of all able-bodied men to work the mines. He would turn over the extra wages demanded, not to the men but to the union leaders to promote strikes in other states.

If his stand had been upheld liberty would have been safe in North Dakota. It would have been possible for the rubber stamp of a gang of political carpet-baggers to seize any private property in the state, and to conscript political enemies for any menial labor he selected for them. How would that have differed from slavery?

The question of the amount of damages sustained by the mine operators is comparatively unimportant. The situation took on comic opera aspects, and became so farcical that the governor soon surrendered control of the mines. The actual loss of the operators, therefore, probably was nominal, although the state had a very healthy bill of expenses to meet. But the principle involved was too big for compromise. If Governor Frazier had been upheld by the courts, he would have endowed with the power to seize any private property any time he thought an emergency existed and conscript any citizens needed to take charge of that property or operate it. The constitutions of both the United States and of North Dakota would have been mere "scrapes of paper" and we would be back in the days before the Magna Carta, as far as personal liberty and the safety of private property were concerned.

If the governor could seize coal mines without due process of law, he could seize farms or stores. If he could conscript men to mine coal when he thought or imagined an emergency threatened, he could conscript men to plow or thresh, and fix their wages and the selling price of the farmer's product.

It was a much bigger question than the rights of the coal operators. If the property of the coal operators was safe, then no private property was safe from these political gangsters and their tools. Once permit them to arise, seizing the security of private property and the right of a man to hold what is his own, and you remove all incentive to work and save. What man will labor or be a capitalist for a company if he knows that it may suddenly be taken from him without due process of law? What incentive is there to thrift, industry and economy if a gang of political mountebanks can declare "martial law" and send troops to take possession of all you own?

It was fortunate for North Dakota that the judges of the United States circuit court of appeals do not owe their positions to politicians of the type of Townley, Bristow, Waters and Lomke.

Transvaal's Diamond Output.—At one time the mines of India produced all the diamonds of the world. Now more diamonds are obtained at the mines in the Transvaal in one hour than are recovered in the entire Indian empire in a year.

Spring's Promise.—It is not the painted colors, the cheerful sounds and the warm breezes which enliven us so much in spring; it is the quiet, prophetic spirit of endless hope, a presentment of many happy days.—Margot Opitz.

LIQUOR INTERESTS LOOK TO COX

Governor Cox has publicly declared that he has never received any support from the liquor interests of Ohio or the United States, but this registration does not prevent the advocates of liquor from rallying to the cause of the Democratic candidate.

The federation of liquor interests of New Jersey has issued a circular to its members and friends of the cause that is taboed by the eighteenth amendment. The circular indicates that the liquor interests are not in any doubt as to the person in whom they can place hope.

"The nomination of Governor Cox for the presidency by the Democrats is a big victory for our interests," the circular says, "and can be attributed to a great degree to the activity of our trade organizations throughout the nation."

Not only does the liquor organ claim the credit for the nomination of Governor Cox, but it recognizes the obligation of giving him the fullest possible support at the polls. It is realized that the only way it can be rewarded for securing the nomination of Cox is to elect him president.

"The organized liquor trade of New Jersey has set out to do its part toward the election of James M. Cox as the next president of the United States," the circular concludes.

The country has not forgotten that when Governor Cox, prior to his nomination, made a trip east, he made the statement that the Volstead law should be nullified to permit the manufacture of beer and light wines. The liquor interests are supporting Cox in good faith.

IN DESPERATE STRAITS

In the course of his remarks yesterday at Reno, Governor Cox is credited by press dispatches with having made this statement:

"It is true, and it would be futile to deny it, that there are many Chas. Smiths and representatives of Morgan and Company who abrogate to themselves the right of selection of candidates notwithstanding what may have been declared by the people themselves."

At the same time the New York Post which is owned by Thomas W. Lamont of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan and company, is printing editorials from one of which the following quotation is taken:

"In the three weeks that have elapsed since Governor Cox's speech of acceptance at the Evening Post, Chas. Smith and his associates at Governor Cox, has been confirmed in the fitness and necessity of its decision. . . . In Governor Cox we find a courageous advocate of the cause we believe in. He has shown the gift for bringing the league issue home to the people."

A bit unkind, it would seem, at least for Governor Cox thus to mix his Wall Street friends with what he is pleased to term the "senate oligarchy." The incident, though, is chiefly interesting wherein it reveals the desperate lengths to which the Democratic candidate for president seems to think possible of hope for his success demands.

EIGHT YEARS MORE THAN ENOUGH

Some grammarians of Gotham have started a lively discussion concerning the correctness of a legend on a Republican banner hung across Broadway:

"Eight years has been more than enough." The consensus seems to be that while "have" might be substituted with authority, "has" is proper usage, since the expression involves what is known as a singular concept, as shown in such a phrase as "a million dollars is a large amount." Whether form is finally approved by the purists, the sentiment is one to which a majority of the long-suffering American people will give their fervent "Amen!" Eight years of Democratic-Wilsonian rule has or have been more than enough.

Realizing the tremendous handicap under which he labors, it is not surprising that in his latest speeches Candidate Cox has had very little to say about the Wilson administration. He would much prefer to have the people forget the wretched record of the past eight years. Instead of an asset, Woodrow Wilson has been a terrible liability to the Democratic party. After perfunctorily endorsing Mr. Wilson and all his works in his formal speech of acceptance, Candidate Cox has worried the role of apologist and sought to introduce some sensational issue to divert the public mind from the question of Democratic incompetence and its effect on the welfare of the country. For it cannot be denied that clear-headed business men of all shades of political belief are profoundly apprehensive of what another four years of Democratic misrule might do to our national prosperity.

In his appeal to class prejudices, in his endeavors to foster class consciousness, in his demagogic attacks on those who are building up our industrial system and trying to bring about better relations between employers and employees, Candidate Cox gives promise of no era of better things in the event of his election. His personality is different from President Wilson's, but his mind is set on the same dangerous policies that threaten our nation's standing abroad and our peace and prosperity at home. Eight years has been more than enough. The election of Cox would mean four more of the same, kind if not worse.

INTELLIGENT DISCONTENT

A director of the United States Department of labor employment service makes an optimistic report of employment prospects for the winter. There will be plenty of opportunities for work, he declares, and we hope that he is right. Especially agreeable is his statement that building construction is increasing, whether or not it is correct, in saying that "builders have at last come to the belief that neither labor nor buildings costs are going to decline. But we are a bit doubtful about the accuracy of his interpretation of the significance of "floating employment among workers who quit their jobs in hope of finding better ones." He argues that "the prevalence of this intellectual discontent is a good barometer of our prosperity; without a steady demand for labor, men would not risk quitting their jobs to find new ones."

An old and respected axiom warned that "it is always easier to get a job when you have one." The theory was that possession of a job provided a man capable of holding one; more, it was evidence that he was a desirable employee. That he was desirous of making a change to better his condition was held to be a further good recommendation. That showed he had ambition and a fair presumption was that he would perform service faithfully and strive to establish his worthiness of advancement. But it was always a point in favor of the climber that he did not burn all his bridges behind him; that he prudently stuck to one job until he had secured new employment. In other times it may not have been designated "intelligent discontent," but that is what it was.

The fellow who quit his job because he did not like it without another in sight or because he was sure he was right for something better that he did not know by could get away has been classified with "Mr. Micawber." The ambitious man is still in demand, but impatience with idleness and zeal for the performance of duties also are not regarded as best proofs that a man is ambitious. The man worth while never voluntarily puts himself in the position of "waiting for something to turn up."

SEVENTEEN CASES DISMISSED

Criminal actions filed by the Ocala Oil company against E. L. Shetter, of Twin Falls, at Vale, Oregon, have been dismissed by order of the district court, according to word reaching this city. The actions charged Shetter with having misappropriated company machinery to his own use. The claims, it is alleged, were not substantiated in testimony. The cases were brought to trial last week.

IDAHO'S STAPLE CROP VOLUME BE LARGEST IN HISTORY

General Field Report of Conditions, while Showing a Decline over August 1 Prospects, Nevertheless Indicate a Bumper Yield in All Departments over the Harvest of 1919

Although practically all of Idaho's staple crops registered losses from their August 1 prospects, still they have a comfortable lead over their 1919 prospect and present indications are that the total volume of crop production will be the largest in the history of the state. Hay, wheat, oats, corn, potatoes, beans and vetches are on hand with unusually large crops. The barley, apple, pea, bean and other crops are not record-breakers, still they are very substantial and considerably better than 1919.

This condition is amply indicated in a summary of crop conditions just issued by the University of Idaho extension division, through Julius H. Jacobson, in charge of the crop reporting station at Boise.

The rains which fell generally over the state the last week in August were beneficial to potatoes, sugar beets and grain and greatly aided in preparation for fall seeding of wheat and rye. Light frosts have occurred, but no serious damage has been done.

What.

There was a slight decline in spring wheat prospects from August 1 to the first 20 days of that month. A condition of 90 per cent at harvest time forecast a drop of 15,745,000 bushels to 1,400,000 bushels in 1919. With the preliminary estimated winter wheat crop of 3,600,000 bushels, the total is 5,000,000 bushels, a decline of 1,400,000 bushels, depending on how threshing returns hold up. Last year the total production was 1,400,000 bushels.

Harvesting is completed and threshing is making rapid headway. Some excellent yields are reported from the northern and central portions of the irrigated districts. The hot dry weather cut down spring wheat yields.

Oats.

A recovery of one point in condition over last month is noted and the outlook at harvest time was for 9,215,000 bushels against 7,700,000 bushels in 1919. Hot weather hastened ripening especially in northern counties and other non-irrigated districts causing a condition weight per bushel. The upper Snake River valley raised a larger crop than during the past few years. It used to raise a very large crop of some of the finest oats in the country.

Barley.

The September estimate is 4,222,800 bushels, based on a condition of 92 per cent of normal, which is 3 points above the 1919 estimate of 3,960,000 bushels was produced in 1919.

Corn.

This crop has shown steady improvement all season. A September condition of 95 per cent indicates a production of 909,720 bushels, that is, if the entire acreage were cut for grain. However, a large portion is cut for ensilage. The crop is a really and a very good one. On the same basis, 840,000 bushels was the estimate for 1919.

Potatoes.

During August, the crop dropped off from a condition of 92 per cent to 88 per cent, due principally to unusually hot weather the first 20 days. Since that time there have been rains and good growing weather throughout the commercial districts. The outlook now is for 6,330,000 bushels while the 1919 crop totaled 5,400,000 bushels. Growers report that the tubers are coming in well and that there are not many in a hill and that the yield of Russets will not be as heavy as expected, although Russets are doing well. The crop is a really and a very good one. On the same basis, 840,000 bushels was the estimate for 1919.

POULTRY BETTERMENT IS NOTED BY EXPERT

From Moore, Specialist in Domestic Poultry Culture, Says Exhibit Improved

"The poultry exhibit at the Twin Falls county fair this year is 1000 per cent better than at last year," according to Prem Moore, poultry husbandman of the university extension department.

Moore has attended all poultry exhibits since the Twin Falls county fair was initiated five years ago, and his statement concerning this year's exposition of domestic fowls was made without qualification and without qualification.

"Looks as though the people of this district have attended to the fact that better poultry is just as much a necessity as is better livestock, cows, horses and sheep," Mr. Moore declared.

That there is an onward sweep for improved domestic fowls all through this district is amply exemplified in the quality of poultry shown by the exhibitors as well as in the quality of stock shown at the county exposition. Last year, which was regarded as the year of the poultry show, the quality of the classes of domestic fowls were meager and the quality poor. This year the poultry building is crowded with the general improvement and the same degree of progress has been made in the coming year as in the past county fair would have to extend quarters to the exhibitors for poultry housing in 1921.

The improvement noted, Mr. Moore declares, is largely due to the activity of the domestic fowl and demonstration department of the county farm bureau, attaches of which have labored strenuously during the past year for the general improvement and exhibition of poultry flocks in the Twin Falls district. Poultry culling classes and schools have been frequently held, all over the county with the result that the owners themselves have become well educated in picking out poor stock and retaining the best for propagation.

Similar classes and schools are being held by Miss Ludwig at the fair every morning at 11 o'clock. Plans are also being made looking to the conducting of a "culling week" for the district. The classes in culling will be held under the direction of experts in all commodities of the county late this fall or in the winter.

St. Maries Named 1921 Convention Place of Masons

Grand Council, Just Closed, Selects Officers and Gives to Boise Third Lodge

The Idaho grand lodge, A. F. & A. M., which has just closed annual session in Boise, chose St. Maries as the seat of the 1921 convention and meeting will be held in September of the coming year.

During the session just closed the grand lodge and local officers were selected to have authority during the coming Masonic year.

J. Edgar Meek, Caldwell, grand master; Fletcher A. Jensen, Boise, grand secretary; Floyd M. Scott, Idaho Falls, grand senior warden; Zileor Peterson, Grangeville, grand junior warden; George E. Knepper, Boise, grand treasurer; Wilbert H. Tyler, Boise, grand lecturer.

The convention voted permission to Idaho lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M. of Idaho City, to transfer its charter to Boise, thus giving the Capital city a third Masonic lodge. Idaho lodge is the oldest Masonic organization in the Gem state, having been under charter since 1858.

MILITARY HONOR IS GIVEN DEAD SOLDIER

Mrs. Gustafson Pearson, 302 Fourth avenue east, has lately returned from Rexburg where she attended funeral services for her son, Orson Pearson, whose body was the first of Idaho service men to be returned from France to this state. Funeral services were conducted by officers of the American Legion post at Rexburg, the principal address being delivered by Bishop C. E. Dinwiddie of Idaho Falls. Burial was conducted in a military honor, an honor being accorded for former service men in uniform and boys. Orson was 22 years of age. He enlisted June 9, 1917, and died overseas July 5, 1918, of spinal meningitis.

DETWEILER ADMITS COMPANY INSOLVENT

Judge Babcock Appoints Receiver for Filer Company on Condition Affidavit

Judge W. A. Babcock of the district court, has appointed Guy A. Shearer of Filer, receiver for the affairs of the Filer Mercantile company, one of the larger concerns entailing total loss in a recent fire.

The appointment of the receiver was upon a showing made by D. F. Detweiler, president of the mercantile company, who filed affidavit in the district court Saturday that the company was insolvent. The affidavit was filed as a counter against a suit filed recently against the Filer Mercantile company by Hille Brothers or merchandise amounting to something more than $4000.

President Detweiler declares the company to be incorporated for $20,000 with a paid up capital of $25,000. He also shows the insurance carried amounted to $55,000 or $60,000 with liabilities in addition to capital stock paid, $40,000. He also admits that for the past six months the company has been unable to meet its obligations and is insolvent at this time.

DAMMAN IS AWARDED SURPLUS WATER RIGHT

Judge F. S. Dietrich Grants Farmer Surplus Flow in Two Coulees

In a supplemental decree, just rendered by Judge F. S. Dietrich, of the United States district court, Boise, in the case of the Twin Falls Canal company against Frank B. Damman, and others, the court gives Damman permission to place and maintain at his own expense in two coulees suitable boxes or measuring devices to determine the flow of water in the coulees, the boxes to be set in conformity with the contract used by the company, and he further ordered that the company inform Damman from time to time how much water was necessary for their stockholders use out of the coulees.

By this decree Damman is entitled to all the surplus water over and above what the stockholders in the company require from these coulees. This decision constitutes a victory for Damman and his counsel, attorney E. Hackman and S. T. Hamilton, since it conforms with an application made by Damman last January for the use of surplus water.

This decision is of quite sweeping importance since there are a number of landowners in this district who seek the same rights in other waterways. Judge Dietrich has accorded Mr. Damman.

"Two years ago last summer," she says "our little boy had dysentery. At that time I was in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for the doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger."

WILL DISCUSS RAIL QUESTION

Mass Meeting of District People Called for Friday Night in Twin Falls

At a meeting of the local committee of the Idaho-Nevada Holding company, held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce this morning, arrangements and details were worked out for holding a general mass meeting of people of Twin Falls tomorrow night for a thorough discussion of railroad building plans, and the scheme for raising the required $200,000 bonus fund in this district.

The mass assembly will be held in the Masonic club hall on the third floor of the McCormick building over the Booth Mercantile company on South Main avenue. The session will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock by Mr. W. Wilson, president of the chamber of commerce.

The scheme of program for this meeting includes addresses by a speaker of outside and local men, and the primary purpose is to make full and complete explanation of the plan of the railroad, its financial idea, the bonus operation of collecting the district's proportion of the required $200,000 bonus to be paid at the completion of the road, the benefits expected from the operation of the road, and all other features in which there lies interest and importance to this district through the projected line south from Rogers to Wells.

One of the principal speakers at tomorrow night's meeting will be Arthur Dutton, chief counsel for the railroad company, who will discuss the company's program and plans. George L. Davis, company president, will also have something to say, while it is expected former Senator M. J. Swaley and Judge E. A. Walters will be called upon for talks.

VANDALS EARLY LOOT RUINS OF BURNED BLOCK

Officers Have Evidence of Robberies Following the Fire

Before the ashes resulting from the recent conflagration at Filer were sufficiently cool to permit owners of property to enter the ruins looters began to ply their nefarious vocations, carrying off such valuable as they could reach by their hands according to local officers.

John Anit, county juvenile officer, tells of one instance when unidentified boys entered the ruins in the basement of the Filer Hardware company and smashed open a still hot cash register, taking from the ruins in the basement to between $25 and $30. Trace of the vandals, Mr. Anit says, has been found, and apprehensions are expected within the next few hours.

Within the next few hours it is believed that most of the silver was badly damaged by heat, some of that not taken from the register showing decided evidence of melting.

EXPRESS UNANIMOUS SENTIMENT FOR SOUTH RAILROAD BUILDING

Official Investigation of Physical Facts Seems to Prove Right of Idaho Central Railroad Company to a Certificate of Convenience and Necessity for Construction of Line

If unanimity of favorable sentiment could be raised by the Idaho Central Railroad line from Rogers to Wells, Nev., might be considered constructed and ready for operation.

Yesterday afternoon in Twin Falls the last of three special meetings, called to hear testimony for or against the application of the Idaho Central Railroad company for a certificate of convenience and necessity, was held. The hearing was before members of the state of Idaho Public Utilities commission, with A. L. Swin, chief counsel for the railroad, and J. C. Eastman, attorney general for the Idaho Central company, of San Francisco, had a prominent part in the inquisitorial proceedings. Prominent members of the legal department of the U. S. L. from Pocatello and Salt Lake were interested spectators, taking notes of the proceedings throughout the investigation.

Series Finished.

The Twin Falls meeting brings to a conclusion a series of investigations of important physical facts by utilities boards of the states of Nevada and Idaho in the past few days with reference to a general demand for a southern rail line out from the U. S. L. from Pocatello. The first meeting was held Monday in Wells, and the second in Contact, with the utilities commissions of both states present. The third meeting was held yesterday in Twin Falls. The affair was not attended by the Nevada board, but it brought here a large number of Nevada businessmen and other prominent citizens of the state with the fixed purpose of injecting every particle of important evidence into the hearing bearing upon the main point in the issue—the construction of the proposed line.

All in Favor.

The state utilities board representatives, who have attended all the meetings, declared after yesterday's session that there had been no word or suggestion in favor of any of the proceedings adverse to the proposal to build the line south. "On evidence submitted it looks as though sentiment is unanimously in favor of the proposed line, and certainly from the showing there seems no question as to the merit of the convenience and necessity contention, and point of view," said Chairman Fowler, after adjournment had been taken.

Among the witnesses giving important testimony yesterday were Newell B. Wright, of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce; J. C. Eastman, president of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce; George L. Davis, president of the Idaho Central Railroad company; J. C. Wheelon, general manager of the Twin Falls Canal company; A. L. Swin, local dealer in farm lands; Claude Brown, of Buhl; J. C. Eastman, of Pocatello; H. Hemphill and J. A. Crom of Twin Falls.

Buhl Wants It

During the afternoon J. C. Eastman, representing the Buhl end of the Twin Falls district, was called to the stand to explain the merits of the railroad building proposal as they allude to the west end. Mr. Eastman said that the Buhl district population is "very anxious and enthusiastic" and interested in the scheme, and willing to give the limit of financial and moral support toward making the proposition a fact.

He spoke at length upon the question of cost shortage, and correctly declared that this condition would probably be eliminated with competitive bidding by railroads for the district's traffic business. Mr. Eastman explained that the Buhl district is not for the issuance of a crop and that the south end cattle industry would be aided largely with the operation of a line of railway leading to the Twin Falls district, by this rail line cattle could be shipped direct here for winter feeding. He said, too, that San Francisco is a logical market for the winter crops of this district, and would be reached by a greatly shorter and less expensive route to the southward.

An Unserved Empire

A. L. Swin, of Twin Falls, spoke with relation to the agricultural wealth of south end Rogers, the amount of acreage now under cultivation, grazing area, and the probable amount of country that would be served by a rail line such as the proposed Idaho Central Railroad. "It was asked to state as specifically as possible the approximate number of cattle ranging in the country," he stated, "and the proposed line would be unable to say with any definite accuracy. He stated, however, that there are many large stock farms and big ranches south of Rogers' local water has been needed for the construction of a railroad to Nevada. As a concrete example he pointed to one ranch company in particular which he said grazes from 30,000 to 40,000 head of cattle within its boundaries. He thought there were several million acres of grazing land contiguous to the proposed line between Rogers and Wells. Other witnesses set the figures at 5,000,000 acres grazing land and 2,000,000 agricultural acres.

No Secrecy Here

George L. Davis, president of the Idaho Central Railroad company, on interrogation, told the commission that the company's financial scheme was quite within the requirements of the interstate commerce act, and that the Interstate commerce commission requires the information. He added that thus far all investigations and promotional efforts of the company have been on a personal account and stood him an expense since the first of this year of $10,000. He promised to have engineers in the field surveying the line one week after the certificate of necessity and convenience is granted by the interstate commerce commission.

State is Promised

Summing up the evidence of the day Arthur Dunn, chief counsel for the Idaho Central Railroad company, urged against delay and loss of time in getting all data before the commerce commission, and was informed by Chairman A. L. Froehner that the information would be completed with all haste and forwarded. He expected the commission would be ready for mailing in 10 days.

During yesterday's hearing a copy of the Contact petition for the bonus fund was circulated about the court room showing the sum of $19,125. It was in Contact town alone. It is stated not a person having an earning capacity at all refused to support the movement with finances.

Year's Apple Crop Shows Big Decline.

IN YIELD, STATEMENT SAYS—PEARS AND PRUNES FINE IN QUALITY AND QUANTITY

Official Report Indicates over Million Bushels Loss Fruit with Peaches Only 15 Per Cent of Normal Harvest—Sugar Beet Condition is Regarded 95 Per Cent of Normal

The 1920 apple crop of Idaho will be 1,172,700 bushels short of the mark reached in 1919, or 3,177,200 against 4,350,000 bushels in 1919.

This decline is indicated in a statistical report just issued by the state crop reporting bureau at Boise, which shows that the apple prospects last year pointed in August. The earliest movement is now estimated at 3,200 cars.

Small Damage

In quality, size and color the fruit is said to be very satisfactory so far as the Idaho crop is concerned. The official report declares. Picking is general in the Twin Falls district at this time, and will become a harvest routine during the present week. Pickers this year are said to be plenty and there appears no cause for anxiety that the fall crop will not be harvested this season.

The statistical report implies that the prune crop, hurt some by bugs throughout the season, will prove of immense quantity and better quality than was expected. In fact, it is expected to be the largest yield known in this state. Some sales of bulk goods are reported at $45 per ton.

Although pears have done particularly well throughout the southern section of Idaho, peaches have proven a decidedly short crop, being lost more than 15 per cent of normal. Several winter injury to trees and late spring frosts did the work. Pears give promise of a total yield of 85,000 bushels, as against 70,000 in 1919. The peach crop is expected to be a little light in quality, but not in quantity.

BAPTIST SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Under the leadership of the District Missionary A. L. Black of Boise, arrangements are being made for the revival of the Rev. H. B. Marshall in this city on November 3 to begin a series of meetings with the Baptist church. Marshall is a evangelist of note, having spent over 10 years in evangelistic work here on the coast.
