

SEVENTEENTH YEAR

MRS. SOUTHWARD NEED EXPECT NO PARENTIAL HELP

Money Could Not Save Alleged Murderess if Guilty, Declares Mother Expressing Views of Father Also

William J. Truoblood, 57, and Mrs. Laura Truoblood, 52, will contribute "not a dollar" to the defense of their daughter, Mrs. Lydia Truoblood Southard, who was last Thursday arrested and expected to be returned here to stand trial for the murder of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer.

"We have hoped and believed all along that Lydia is innocent. If she is guilty, however, the money we have and could raise would save her, and, if she is guilty of all that is charged against her, she should be punished. This is hard for a mother to say, but we can assure our decision must be the right one."

The mother betrayed deep emotion as she uttered these words. She bore evidence of the strain to which she had been subjected on her daughter's account—a strain that was not of a few days' duration but had extended over a period of months dating from the death of Meyer and the disappearance of their daughter soon afterward with the finger of suspicion upon them pointing at her. "We had hoped it was all settled," Mrs. Truoblood said Saturday. "They have got Lydia and are bringing her back," is the phrase used by Ray Barry, co-counsel with Truoblood, in talking to the family parents the day following the arrest of Mrs. Southard.

Breaks Communication "We heard from Lydia only once after she left here following Meyer's funeral," Mrs. Truoblood said. "That was a telegram from California. She had written to us frequently when over she had been away from home, but for some time she had broken communication with us."

While in California for several weeks last fall with a view to moving the family home, Mr. Truoblood visited Los Angeles, Long Beach and other cities in an unsuccessful effort to locate his daughter.

Eight Children in Family Mr. and Mrs. Truoblood are the parents of eight children ranging in age from seven to thirty-three years of whom Lydia, or Ann Eliza, as her mother names her, is the eldest. She is the third child and the second daughter. The others are Oliver Truoblood, 33, in the mercantile business at Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin; Mrs. Blanche Truoblood Oakley, 31, in the same business at Truoblood, 25, in the naval service at Great Lakes training station during the war and now living with his brother-in-law at Chippewa Falls; Mrs. Beulah Truoblood Sweet, 20, at Falls; Mrs. Edna Truoblood, 15, Wayne Truoblood, 11, and Jeannette Truoblood, 7, all at home.

Parents of Truobloods The mother today related the family's story from the time of the arrival in Twin Falls fifteen years ago from the former home in Kearsarge, Missouri. Lydia Southard, then a child of 13, attended the first school opened in Twin Falls, entering the seventh grade and completing the normal school course two years later. In 1911 the family acquired the farm on the Salmon River project on which they are now living as tenants, having sold it a year ago when removal to another locality was considered and later returning to the Truoblood place when it passed into possession of J. L. Shockley, the present owner, was considered one of the best investments on the Snake River. The former Truoblood home is now occupied by the new owner and the Truobloods remaining at home are quartered in an unpretentious dwelling some distance from it.

Begin at Bismarck In 1912, at the age of 19 years, Lydia Truoblood entered upon her matrimonial career, being married in March of that year to Robert C. Dooley who came here from the former home of the Truobloods in Kearsarge, Missouri, to make her his bride. She returned with him to Kearsarge, and a short time afterward came back to the family roof here for a short time, preceding her removal here of her husband and his brother, Edward Dooley, who were bringing a carload of implements, livestock and household goods for the equipment of the farmstead which had been established by Dooley for his bride in the vicinity of her parents' home.

SHIP STRIKE MAY DELAY DEPARTURE SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mrs. Nellie Ormaly, matron of the county jail at Twin Falls, Idaho, arrived today with extradition papers for Mrs. Lydia Truoblood, former Twin Falls resident, who is under arrest in Honolulu on a charge of murdering her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer at Twin Falls. Ormaly will depart Twin Falls Wednesday if the ship strike does not detain them.

SENATOR S. P. ATHERTON VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Early Settler in District Yields to Death after Seven Days' Illness

Illness of a week's duration ended in the death of S. P. Atherton, former state senator, Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Death occurred at the Atherton home, 624 Eighth avenue east, from pneumonia. He was 60 years of age.

Decedent is survived by his widow, Jennie Atherton, three sons and a daughter.

Former State Senator, who died in Twin Falls Saturday night after a week's illness.

Senator Atherton was commander of the local post, Sons of Veterans, and also belonged to the Brotherhood of American Women and Oddfellow Lodge. He came to the Twin Falls country from Oklahoma in the year 1908 and filed on land which was eventually sold to the O. B. L. railroad and now forms part of the townsite of Eden. He was exempt for the Bull district and cleared several farms which were ultimately disposed of by sale to settlers. Later he purchased land near Kimberly and disposed of these holdings. Then he bought a farm near Harlow. In 1916-17 Mr. Atherton served as state senator and in the campaign of 1917 entered the republican primaries for nomination for governor. He was defeated by W. C. Dwyall in the gubernatorial race that year and also lost fall.

CHURCH EDIFICE COST $100,000

Christian Congregation Makes Plans for Erection of Modern Structure

Erection of a church building to cost $100,000 is contemplated in plans being prepared for the board of trustees of the First Christian church. Building operations will be expected to begin in the early next spring. The edifice will be raised on the site of the present Christian church structure, corner of Fourth avenue east and Second street.

Official announcement to this effect was made Thursday by K. Peters, treasurer of the church. Mr. Peters, with J. N. Clear, representing the church board of trustees Monday appeared and received from the city administrator the permit to erect a temporary tabernacle on the city library site, at the corner of Fifth avenue east and Second street. Operations on this temporary edifice are to be started as soon as it can be obtained for services this fall. The tabernacle will be planned with a seating capacity of 2,000.

The proposed new church building is to be constructed throughout of fireproof material and will be equipped with architectural design and will be modern in all its equipment and appointments. A pipe organ, of latest type, and adequately suited to the purpose of the church, will be installed. The entire structure there will be a full basement, and arrangements will be made for ample class rooms as well as Sunday school and general auditorium. The board of trustees is composed of W. W. Parish, chairman; H. B. Peters, D. W. Updegraff, J. N. Clear, John Kimes, S. N. Pittullo.

GETS FOUR MONTHS TERM C. V. Carr, a married man separated from his family, was Monday sentenced by Judge O. E. Dwyall to serve a term of four months in the county jail. Carr acknowledged a state charge alleging misconduct with a minor girl.

MARLBORO GOLD CAMP SHOWING SIGNS OF EARLY DEVELOPMENT, PLACE HOMS WITH ANIMATION

Renewal of Activity is Noted on Every Hand with Residents Expressing Confidence in the Future Rise of the Village to Power Among the Precious Metal Producing Centers of the Country—Needs Rail Transportation

(By H. M. B.) Writing of a western junket Irwin Cobb, or some other equally celebrated humorist, said every resident of Missoula, Mont., in the mountain in his backyard for an ornament. Another writer said all that was required of a resident of Bolt, Cascade county, Mont. when said resident needed to replenish his household, was to take a pick and shovel outdoors and dig a bucketful of good grade bituminous coal.

At Jarbridge, Nev., residents do not have coal mines in their yards, but they do Mine. Jarbridge is a small gold mine as well as up-and-coming mountains on their property. Jarbridge was established as a gold mining camp in the year 1901 following the discovery by A. Borah of gold on the site. For a time, the place prospered and was active, but a slump came and of late years little has been said of the camp, at least little in its favor.

Population dwindles At one time the place, it is said, counted 1800 people within its domain; some in the valley whereas is located the town, and more in the mountain potholes in the surrounding country. Many have since been veritable honeycomb of prospect holes and proven property. When the slump came and the mining men found it worth their stuff out of the country the census went down to almost zero. The town managed to survive, however, and in recent years has begun to "show some signs of life" to the extent of a population of 300 persons, and more are being added each week. All are finding employment, either in the mine workings, prospecting for coal, or in the hotel and stock schemes, running mercantile establishments and one, or another. Anyway everybody works, apparently, and everybody appears to be prospering.

The Jarbridge coal and iron mines seem to be ever indication of a tremendous revival of interest in the exploitation of the big hills. The Jarbridge coal and iron mines development of the place—that is such a development as would warrant the prediction that it will some day become a camp of as much importance as Butte, Mont. or Goldfield, Nev., and it is removed from rail transportation facilities and is reached only by auto freight line. The nearest railroad is Ferguson, 72 miles to the northwest.

Far from Supply Base Twin Falls and Hogerson are supply centers for Jarbridge, and all supplies and materials, except such of the latter as are native to the Jarbridge valley and hills, have to be freighted in. The only possible road reaching Jarbridge from the north and west is down the Hat Hole canyon and up the Jarbridge river trail along the swift-flowing Jarbridge river. The gradient in the Hat Hole canyon is 100 feet in 1000 feet. The Jarbridge trail is less precipitous, but is 12 miles in length, and no pleasure trip can be made over it.

Down and up these precipitous trails vehicles must pass to reach the camp which settlers confidently believe will some day in the near future be one of the great mining camps with any other precious metal camp in the west.

The Main Artery At present the town itself consists of a long string of small houses, most of the shanty type, few remaining in the major portion of the principal business section of the town. A big hotel, valued at $40,000, went with the rest, including a mercantile place and several offices, and is important in the situation. These today the place and three general stores, all doing thriving business, a pool hall, a moving picture building and a commercial club. A large dance hall and a regular business section but this has been closed for some time by order of the authorities. It is said the place became too rough at one time to be properly governed without the town employing an expensive guardian of the law, and such an official individual seemed to require an outfit not justified or warranted in the amusement or pleasure to be derived from the dances. The town also boasts a fine classy concrete full building, equipped with stanch bars at its four windows. This is located not far from the closed dance hall, but is said not to be much in demand at present.

The town gets a ample supply of pure mountain water from Bear Creek, which also supplies all of the mining institutions operating immediately above the village. Has Good Hotel At the extreme south end of the place, and just across the Jarbridge river the Elkura Mines company several years ago erected a hotel, known as the Bungalow. The building is modern, nicely equipped with running water, electricity for light and heat, and about all the other conveniences which folks could desire to face the modernity of the Bungalow seems sometimes somewhat inconsistent with the general character of the camp. But it is there, and all of its 12 rooms, bath, office, living room, long dining room and excellently fitted kitchen. A piano is found in living room and were it not for the presence of a regulation size billiard table, there would be ample room for a social dance in that room. The hotel is in direct charge of Mrs. Frances Gilfoil, a charming and genial hostess who is the daughter of the operation of the house by her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Zellers. The hotel was primarily erected to supply a home for single men employed by the Guggenheims, or perhaps the Elkura Mines company, and many of these eat and sleep under the Bungalow roof. "Transients" wants are looked after at the hotel, and the married men are provided with detached cottages in town or on the hill-side near the place of employment. About only amusement in Jarbridge just now is the weekly, or perhaps semi-weekly, dancing. The Jarbridge performances are staged in the commercial club building, and get extraordinarily good patronage. Promise of early development of the place by the company, the Elkura permanent municipality has aroused the business men of the place to the advantages of incorporation for the place, and already plans are under way to incorporate a municipal charter for the town, and make a regular city of it. It is expected this incorporation will be authorized in the next few weeks, and following its receipt municipal officers will be elected. That is the plan, and at the present time there seems little doubt that the scheme will be carried through to fruition.

CITY ADMINISTRATORS CONSOLIDATE OFFICES

J. J. Pilgerim is Made Head of Both Water and Streets Departments

Consolidation of the offices of superintendent of waterworks and street commissioner, was Monday approved by unanimous vote of the city council and the appointment of J. J. Pilgerim to fill the dual role was confirmed. Mr. Pilgerim was superintendent of waterworks under the old administration. A street commissioner he succeeds Fred C. Spencer. He will draw an annual salary of $1200 in each capacity, making a total of $2400 for his year's work.

Adoption of the ordinance consolidating these offices provided also for the position which in the past has been held by Frank E. Wheeler, former city treasurer. The appointment of E. A. Landon, city treasurer, to this position, was confirmed by the council, as was that of J. E. Henzler, incumbent, as electrical inspector. The council acquiesced in the tender of the appointment as meat and dairy inspector to William L. Krall of Chicago. The council also approved the division of veterinary medicine, who was employed by the United States bureau of animal industry in tick eradication work in Oklahoma at the time of his enlistment in the army. His period of military service extended over a two years' period and included one year's service overseas.

Pollock Jury Fails to Get Final Verdict After deliberating for 3:30 Saturday afternoon the district court jury impaneled in the D. D. Pollock case returned a verdict of acquittal. The 12 men were summoned before Judge Babcock and after announcing failure to reach an agreement were dismissed from service in the case. The court announced the action would not be taken up again this term.

Vote Said to Have Stood 6 to 6 from Saturday Night to This Morning

Intimation around the courthouse this morning that the impression that the jury stood six for conviction and six against acquittal almost from the first ballot. A. D. Pollock was tried last week on a state charge of larceny, the information filed against him alleging Pollock, a vice president of the Bank of Hansen, had forged the name of his father-in-law, O. S. Ector, to a promissory note of $3500 for appearance in the federal reserve bank loan. The defendant made no denial on the stand of writing the note, but stated he had done so on authority reposed in him by Mr. Ector. The latter, who was present, denied having given such authority. Immediately after dismissal of the jury this case this morning, Defendant Pollock was placed under arrest to answer a further charge, that of embezzlement of bank funds. The complaining witness is Judge W. C. Peterson, president of the Bank of Hansen, who alleges that Defendant Pollock made away with something more than $4000 of bank money. There will be no more information. Preliminary hearing before Judge O. P. Dwyall in the probate court on this morning. Pollock entered a plea of not guilty, and was ordered to furnish $1000 bonds for appearance. He will be tried in the probate court on this morning. In the case tried last week Frank L. Updegraff, county prosecutor, with E. M. Water, county clerk, and the state, W. P. Guthrie and Taylor Cammins appeared for the defense.

INSANE MEXICAN GOING TO BLACKFOOT HOSPITAL

Attendee to Accompany Inmate to the State Institution—Court in Recess

An attendant arrived on Tuesday from Blackfoot and will leave this evening with Emanuel Ihara, who has been found to be insane. There is no session of the district court today, as the case of an inmate docket having been disposed of. Judge Babcock opened a civil calendar Wednesday.

ELIMINATIONS TO SAVE CASH FOR DISTRICT

School Head Slashes Educational Forces Reducing Salaries $6,820 for Year

Intensive and extensive discussion of necessary measures of retrenchment and the adoption of a definite policy of economy held the attention of the school board at Monday night's session. Board found many loopholes by employment of which the expense decreasing policy planned for the coming year could be saved, and that the members of the board decided to make use of the opportunities and stuck hard and fast by the pledges made two months or so ago—to cut expenses to the limit allowed the schools of the district on a well defined scheme of economy.

Adhering to this policy M. C. Mitchell, superintendent of the city schools presented a report of eliminations he had worked showing a reduction of $6820 in teachers' salaries for the year. Mr. Mitchell explained how that, necessarily might compel a slight reduction of this in some small degree. Mitchell told of having adopted a definite action for the fall term of the coming year, the scale carrying a reduction of salaries amounting to approximately 20 per cent. Salaries of $6920 in teachers employed in the year. Mr. Mitchell explained how subject to some cut, probably as much as the janitors are to receive, according to last night's discussion. Mitchell also stated that 60 per cent of the teachers at present employed in the city schools have expressed willingness to return to work here under the newly imposed salary conditions governing the operation next season, according to Mr. Mitchell, who presented statistics supporting this statement. Expression of willingness to return is found in the signed contracts placed with the superintendent.

For Current Year Superintendent Blue's statement of cash needs for the school year 1921-22 for the end of the school year is a total sum of $39,942.79. This includes $1,697.71 for salary warrant disbursements. For teachers the sum is $39,245.08. For drivers $5300.00 and for janitors $1005.

Bookkeeper F. C. Lynch presented a report and balance sheet showing $22,909.26 assets available to complete the school year. Donor E. W. Updegraff announced settlement with a representative of the board of fire underwriters allowing the sum of $1310 to cover the recent fire damage to the school building. Mr. Updegraff was authorized by the board, at a special meeting last week, to make settlement for the damage.

Bills and claims against the district amounting to $2,812.91 were allowed after much scrutiny. A coal bill is to be checked up during the coming fortnight and will be reconsidered at the next meeting, which will be on the night of May 30.

HIGHWAY FRANCHISE PLEDGED BY KIMBERLY

Village Authorities Assure Asher Wilson Action will be Taken Immediately

Assuring the construction of the state highway through a portion of the village of Kimberly the town trustees of that place Monday night gave Asher Wilson, head of the Twin Falls highway district, assurance that a franchise for right of way would be granted. Official papers for the franchise are being prepared by attorneys representing Kimberly and the highway authorities and will be delivered to the latter. This pledge settles a dispute of long standing and it was possible the continuous line of paved highway from Twin Falls eastward through Hansen. The line through Kimberly will take a diagonal course along the north side of the railroad and will eliminate two railroad crossings.

Gilbert Leaves for Montana to Face Officials

Twin Falls Man, Accused of Wife Desertion, Doesn't Wait for Officer's Arrival

Without waiting for the coming of an officer from Montana, B. H. Gilbert, local vulcanizing plant operator, left Monday morning for the east. He is alleged to be going directly to Great Falls to report to the sheriff of Cascade county. A representative of the latter is already on the way here in his stead. Gilbert was arrested by a member of the sheriff's staff here Saturday on order from Great Falls, the charge being wife desertion. He was held until late Saturday night in jail, but gave bond in the sum of $500 and was released.

MEYER'S DEATH
BY DOL MEANS,
SAYSH. TUTTLE

Salt Laker, who Worked at the Perrine Ranch, Tells of Suspicious Last Fall

In a statement contained in the Salt Lake Telegram, Hugh Tuttle, son of Mark Tuttle, state auditor of Utah, who says he was well acquainted with Edward F. Meyer, fourth husband of Mrs. Lydia Southard, and supposed to be one of her poison victims, says he is convinced Meyer came to his death by foul means. Meyer, according to Tuttle, went to Salt Lake to spend his honeymoon with the woman who is now charged with having killed him. His statement reads:

"I sat by Ed Meyer at the same table for more than three months last summer at the boarding house on the Perrine ranch in the best of health. Four of us—Beth Oberg, Louis Allen, Stanton Osgrove and myself, who were pupils in the L. D. S. high school. When the summer vacation came last year we went to the Perrine ranch, where we obtained employment and where we remained until the fall term of school was called. Ed Meyer was our foreman. He was the best of fellows that I ever knew. He was a most likable man and all the crew almost worshipped him.

Told His Father
"I left the ranch on the day after he was stricken down, and at that time he was said to be in the best of health. It was attributed to him that he was not contented to be a slave, but I was contented that it could not come from that, because I also had eaten heartily of them. After I came home and learned of his death, I was sure that he had died from some kind of poison, not of the ptomaine variety. He was an ideal man, I tell you.

His wife was a rather hard-hearted woman, but she was kind to me on Saturday and would stay over Sunday with Ed. She had a pleasing personality and, what is strange, a view of the charges that are now being made is identical with the one I had there. She would walk out to the ranch from Twin Falls on Saturdays, but would only stay over Sunday. Ed was a home loving man and he wanted her to remain on the ranch. She would not do so, preferring to remain in Twin Falls as a waitress.

Was Attractive
"When she was at the ranch, she would wait upon me, and if possible could be put in coffee, that is, she would wait on me. She was very kind to Ed. He seemed to idolize her even though his disposition was retiring and backward.

There were eight of us on the ranch and Meyer was the only one who died after a few days of indisposition, there was unanimity among the eight of us boys that he was being doped 'with something. He had resided in the locality of the ranch for more than ten years and, as he had told us, he had never been ill before, and he could not account for his illness then. He was, I might say, a husky man and a hearty one. He was a good fellow, and I think for which the ranch was famous.

On his return to the ranch after his marriage, he had the appearance of a man marked by death. He and Mrs. Meyer came to the ranch on their honeymoon trip, if you could call it that, driving here in a car which I understood belonged to her. It may be that on that trip she obtained the poison. It was the case with the other boys. Mrs. Meyer had married Ed simply for his money, of which he was said to possess a considerable sum, having most of his earnings in the form of a farm of 400 acres near Twin Falls so that what came from that he saved.

Deeply in Love
"I know that Ed was deeply in love with Mrs. Meyer and this was the general belief. Mrs. Meyer was as I have said, a handsome woman.

"On the day that Ed was stricken Mrs. Meyer was as unconcerned as if he was a total stranger. She was on the ranch then and when told that he was ill and suffering paid no attention whatever and she climbed into an auto stage and went off and left him.

"After I came home and learned of Ed's death I told father that Mrs. Meyer had done something to him and that it was certain that she was responsible for his death. I learned from some of the other boys that an insurance company in which Ed had his life insured had taken up the matter and that an investigation followed, but I never learned the result.

CANNOT CONTRIBUTE FUNDS FOR DEFENSE OF ACCUSED DAUGHTER
STATEMENT OF GRIEVED MOTHER

Mrs. W. J. Trueblood, Heart-Stricken Parent of Lydia Meyer-Southard, Saying She Expresses Sentiment of Husband, Tells of Responsibilities Due Other Members of Family—"Not a Dollar for This Case," She Asserts

Expressing a sentiment she said was entertained by her husband, Mrs. W. J. Trueblood, addressing a News representative on Saturday, declared the family would not contribute a dollar to the defense of Lydia Meyer, accused daughter of her husband, who was charged here from Honolulu to answer charge of poisoning her fourth husband Edward F. Meyer, last fall.

"Do you consider her guilty?" the mother was asked. "I do not know," she replied; "but if she is guilty we cannot help her. We have others whose welfare must be looked after by my husband and myself."

Mrs. Trueblood referred to the three junior members of the family, ranging in age from 7 to 15 years. The statements were made when the newspaper man called at the Trueblood farm near Goodwin station, seeking an account of the arrest of Lydia Meyer, who was absent from the place at the time, and was not expected home early.

Blow Hard to Bear
"We have felt the blow so keenly that we have taken little time to discuss the situation, but in the Trueblood said on Friday night we could pay no money up for a lawyer," she announced. She stated, too, that after the flurry arising from the sudden death of her 22-year-old son, but her blood failed to show much trace of advancing years. Only here and there a vagrant, toll-like gray streak is apparent.

The little woman was inclined to nervously volunteer the interest and proved willing to talk upon the subject of her daughter's unpleasant situation, and upon the charge preferred against her.

The grief-stricken mother's lips quivered with emotion more than once as the tale of the accusation made against her child was reviewed. Worn eyes, that one time must have been almost bright, were dimmed and her face slightly sunken back of darkened rings around the lids apparently from long anguish, tried vainly to show their care in the tears that welled up from a heart well-nigh broken.

"Lydia was never willful," she exclaimed, "but if she has done this thing she has done it because she wanted the punishment that I due for such a crime."

Chemist's Suspicious Lead
To Mrs. Southard's Arrest

That poison caused the death of Edward F. Meyer on September 7, last year, was ascertained by County Chemist E. B. Dudley. These suspicious convictions to criminal authorities of the county, and the bodies of other persons killed in the arrest yesterday of Mrs. Trueblood Meyer Southard in Honolulu.

The announcement was made today by Chemist Dooley, who stated he has with Dr. Hal Bieler, made a number of chemical analyses of the liver, kidneys, intestines, hair and contents of Meyer, and of parts of the bodies of other alleged victims of the alleged murderer. In a statement made today to the News, Chemist Dooley, who was then engaged in a series of tests, stated that arsenic in considerable quantity had been found in every sample submitted to test, except those samples taken from the body of the baby, Lorraine Dooley. No poison whatever has been found in that body.

al explanation of the mother's care that she has bestowed on her own since the first child came to her when she was but 10 years of age.

The Truebloods knew naught of the arrest of their daughter until Friday morning. No papers containing the account had reached the little clap-board home that fronts the northern horizon on the little place Trueblood is now farming.

Ray Berry, Mr. Trueblood's partner in the operation of the farm, bore the news to the place, although he did not break the disappointing intelligence to the family elders. Berry had been to the little store at Goodwin. There he had first heard of the arrest of Lydia Meyer-Southard, and later had read the account in the papers.

Burdened with this information of sadness Berry, who lives with the Truebloods, returned to the house. How to bear the tidings to the family with the least shock was a problem for the partner to solve. He did it by advising the boy Wayne, 11 years of age, of the news, and then he went to his mother and mother. After the emotion resulting from this shock had subsided the rest of the story, in all of its bitter details, was told. W. J. and Laura Trueblood, man and woman of sorrows, acquainted with bitter grief.

MORALE IS REQUIRED
IN BUILDING OF CITY

Dr. E. L. White, of Methodist Church, Addresses Kiwanis on Important Topic

Neither wealth of resources nor natural or artificial advantages are sufficient in themselves to bring about the building of a city, he said. He added to them something of the spirit that is known in the military service as morale together with a real sense of character wherever it is found and community co-operation toward a common end, declared Dr. E. L. White, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, speaking Monday before the Kiwanis club as the guest of the organization at its regular weekly meeting and luncheon in the Rogerson hotel.

Dr. White defined a city as a great or less number of homes and declared that the same elements of confidence, mutual respect and co-operation that make for successful functioning before the Kiwanis club and to the successful building of a city.

Natural advantages surrounding Twin Falls justify the belief that the state is preserving and the Meyer boys stolen some auto tires, a speedometer from an accessories establishment. Arrest of the men was made by Deputies H. C. Van Ausdell and H. S. Hamilton.

April 2, 1921, the bodies of Edward F. Meyer, McAffie and the child, Lorraine Dooley, were exhumed at the Twin Falls cemetery. The bodies of Meyer and McAffie were found by Dr. Bieler to be in an almost perfect state of preservation, but the bodies of the other cases were not having not been embalmed, due to the fact that it had been post mortem tissue directly after death. Although the McAffie body had been buried since October, 1918, the anatomical organs were in such a perfect state of preservation that it was even possible to see the areas of inflammation in the small intestine, caused by the arsenic poisoning.

The body of Lorraine Dooley had turned practically to dust. April 19, 1921, the body of Harlan Leavelle was exhumed at Billings, Mont., by Dr. Bieler. This body had been buried since July, 1919, and was also found to be in an almost perfect state of preservation. Internal organs and the hair were brought to Twin Falls, and it was later found by Dooley and Bieler that this body contained a higher percentage of arsenic than any of the other cases. Organs were also examined pathologically by Bieler and chemically by Dooley of the Dooley brothers, which were brought from the state by Deputy Sheriff V. H. Ormsby, and these organs were also in an almost perfect state of preservation, although they had been buried since the fall of 1915.

LARGE FAMILY
IS BROUGHT UP
BY TRUEBLOODS

Mother Tells Interesting Story of Children—Lydia is Fat Name for Ann Eliza

The baptismal name of Lydia Trueblood Meyer, held in Honolulu for Twin Falls authorities on charge of murder, is Ann Eliza, according to the woman's mother, Mrs. W. J. Trueblood, of this vicinity. Mrs. Trueblood explains that the name "Lydia" is merely an adaptation or derivation of the name Eliza given her at birth, and to which she clung throughout the years that have passed since babyhood.

Ann Eliza Trueblood is the third child of eight born to W. J. and Mrs. Trueblood, the latter having been born since the parents came to the Twin Falls district 16 years ago. The children range in age from 35 to 7 years.

Oliver Trueblood, aged 33, a merchant in Twin Falls, Wyo., is the eldest of the family. The youngest is Jeannette, aged 7. Ann Eliza, or Lydia, will be 29 years of age on October 10. Lydia spent two years in the Twin Falls public schools, quitting her education at the conclusion of the eighth grade.

Successful Farmer
Mr. and Mrs. Trueblood are natives of Missouri. He is 57 years of age and she 52. They came to Twin Falls county in 1906 and soon thereafter settled on a farm located between Kimberly and Hansen, or about 12 miles east of Twin Falls. This farm they rented and prospered while occupying the land. At the time of opening the Salmon district Mr. Trueblood took up a quarter section of right land on mile south of the Goodwin station, which farm was occupied and improved until last fall it was sold to J. L. Shockey at a good price. The farm is regarded as one of the best in the Twin Falls section. The farm residence is a large, commodious and quite modern structure, while the barn is one of the largest in the Twin Falls section.

Next Sunday the second military funeral for a Twin Falls soldier who made the supreme sacrifice during the recent world war, will be held here over the remains of Bert W. Meigs, a nephew of Mrs. C. E. Stiles and G. O. Meigs. The body reached Twin Falls yesterday, having been forwarded by the federal government from France. The remains lie in state at Grossman's mortuary chapel.

The services will be in charge of Twin Falls post, American Legion, of officers of which have issued a special request to all veterans of the late war to participate in the military exercises. All veterans are to meet at the undertaker's chapel at 2:30 for the march to the Presbyterian church, where the services will be conducted at 3 o'clock. An invitation has been extended to members of all patriotic bodies to attend the funeral. Burial will be in Twin Falls cemetery.

Bert W. Meigs received a death wound in battle against the Germans at the outskirts of Audeanure, 300 or 400 yards from the Escuat river on November 1, 1918. He died November 3, C. O. Meigs, uncle of the dead soldier, has received the following historical sketch by an eye-witness to the tragedy:

"Private Bert W. Meigs was struck while passing through a turnip patch at the outskirts of Audeanure, 300 or 400 yards from the Escuat river. He was struck by a German bullet before he was going to be fortunate and get clear through." The sergeant led them and the next thing he knew stretcher bearers were carrying Private Meigs back. He had been hit in the leg by a shell. He was taken to a field hospital at Waereghem, and thence to a hospital at Staden, where he was to which place the writer happened to drive from Waereghem on November 3, to see what Ninety-first men had done there. Among the deaths recorded was that of Private Meigs, gunshot wound in the right leg, causing him to die, died at 2:30 a. m., November 3. His leg had been so badly shattered by the shell that he could not survive.

He died about 20 miles from Staden. He was hit. He was one of the three last men in Company K to be killed. The division was withdrawn on November 4 and although Private Meigs was the front agent on November 10, the armistice had been signed before it could catch up with the Germans.

EMANUEL IBARA FOUND TO BE IRRESPONSIBLE
Mexican who Stabbed Ackerman to Death is Pronounced Insane by Jury

Emanuel Thara, alias Francisco Sanchez, Mexican, Monday found to be insane. He will be committed to the state hospital for the insane at Blackfoot. Thara, who was acquitted by a district court of the charge of murdering G. S. Ackerman, traveling salesman, was taken into the district court this morning under guard for investigation of his mental condition. The jury's verdict was unanimous.

Plated for United States Supreme Court Bench

Frank Harris Hiscock, Syracuse, N. Y., chief justice of the State Court of Appeals, will be named by President Harding to the United States Supreme Court, according to reports from Washington. It is presumed that Judge Hiscock will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Chief Justice White, whose retirement has been reported imminent. Prior to his elevation to the bench Mr. Hiscock made a notable record as an attorney.

SANDERSON WINS
RIGHT TO WATER

Supreme Court Issues Writ Commanding Company to Make Deliveries

In the case of Thomas Sanderson against the Salmon River Canal company, the supreme court on Monday issued an alternative writ of mandamus directing the canal company to deliver water to Thomas Sanderson to show cause before the court next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

This information was received this morning by E. M. Wolfe, attorney who has been assisting in handling the case for the defendant canal company.

Judge T. Bailey Leo on Friday in district court at Jerome entered a decision in the case of T. Sanderson and H. C. Sanderson against the Salmon River Canal company denying issuance of a writ of mandamus to compel delivery of irrigation water to lands held by the plaintiffs if the canal company refused to issue part thereof portion of the Salmon river project.

The plaintiffs claimed a vested right admittedly based upon contracts with the canal company and a property interest in the Salmon River irrigation system and furnish a fixed quantity of water.

The canal company, in resisting the application of the plaintiffs' right to water must arise from reclamation ultimately approved by the United States government through patent issued for the land reclaimed, and declared the canal company refused to issue part thereof portion of the Salmon river project.

The court cited numerous authorities and held that the plaintiffs' claim of vested right based on contract be upheld, it would inevitably follow that an inadequate water supply might have to be apportioned among settlers in such a manner that the canal company under the entire enterprise a wretched failure, and totally defeat the purpose of congress in reclamation. Also that the canal company refused to issue part thereof portion of the Salmon river project.

This decision would certainly support the order made in March by the state department of reclamation directing Salmon River Canal Company to issue part thereof portion of the project as specified in what is known as the Whitfin report, and for the acreage therein classified as the net irrigable acreage.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The senior play, "David Harum," is ready for presentation? It is the most acts in length and is one of the three acts of highest quality. David Harum is a truly American play, and the senior and is one of the few productions to weather the storms of time. Charles Frohman first staged it and in it, those who will remember the play since will remember William H. Crane and James Hurne who played in the original cast.

Throughout the three acts David's homely philosophy crops out and his dry humor is a real winner for many a day. It is this feature that has made "David Harum" what it is and has kept it one of the most popular of productions.

Presented by the high school seniors "David Harum" is the same form it was when first produced by the late Mr. Frohman and the high school stars readily fulfill their parts. Charles Frohman, the original producer, is now a hero in reduced circumstances. Elbert Harward; General Wolsey, an attorney from New York, Edward Babcock; Chet Timson, clerk to David Harum; and Dick Larrabee, factotum to David Harum, are played by: Marie Nunnally; Widow Cronin, who has been better days, Dorothy Frost; Peggy Hopkins, a boy in David's bank; Charles Foster; David Harum, the Homeville banker and horse trader, Jacob Irwin.

The senior class will hold its annual class day tomorrow, having a program which includes a breakfast at Tom's cafe in the morning, an assembly in the auditorium at 1:15 to which the public is invited and a picnic after school.

STORE BALL TEAM
SCORES SHUT-OUT
OVER ROCK CREEK

Fix Pitches Superbly and Gets Rare Support Against Visiting Club

Scoring eight runs for themselves, the Twin Falls store ball team Sunday shut out the Rock Creek team in a game played on the old city park, now partially dismantled. The game was sparsely attended. Fix, on the hill, pitched a superb game, and held the opposition well in hand from the start. His support, too, was excellent, and when he was being taken out of the game the men behind tightened and pulled him through.

IN DISTANCE RUN

Twin Falls Star Wins First in Mile and Second Half Mile Interscholastic

Phillip King, star distance man of the Twin Falls school, romped away with the mile race in the interscholastic meet in Moscow, Tuesday, and was second in the half mile. King was the only man sent from Twin Falls to represent the school in the meet, and although he represented himself honorably and with credit to the school. According to reports from Moscow, King won the three mile and five mile races fifty-five and four-fifths seconds respectively. No time is recorded of his speed in the half mile. King's performance gave Twin Falls eight points. Burley carried off the meet with 12 1-4 points.

INVESTIGATION IN CHURCH MOVE IS CALLED FOR

Pacific Coast Presbyteries Asks General Assembly to Look Into Obligations Undertaken for Presbyterians

WINONA LAKE, Ind., (P)—Pacific coast presbyteries critics of the interchurch world movement and this criticism finds expression in an overtone presented to the Presbyterian general assembly here today calling for an investigation of all those Presbyterian boards and agency secretaries who underwrite the interchurch world movement, to find out if they did so illegally. It is found that their action was illegal, this overtone asks that these secretaries be not further trusted with the administration of Presbyterian funds, nor longer retained in their official positions because of their effect on the confidence of the Presbyterian church.

Opens 133rd Conference
The 133rd conference of the Presbyterian general assembly opened this morning.
Another overtone affecting Presbyterian board secretaries calls upon the general assembly to instruct such secretaries and other paid officials of the Presbyterian church to turn into the board any honorariums they may receive for preaching or other outside work.

A negro presbytery overtone asks that the Presbyterian board of missions for freedmen, Pittsburgh, Pa., which does work among the negroes and operates some 400 schools for negroes, be given more funds with which to operate.

Another overtone calls for a merger of the Presbyterian board of home missions and the Presbyterian board of missions for freedmen, while another asks that the name of the board of missions for freedmen be changed to one more in keeping with the work which it does.

Finances Demand Attention
The question of finances is expected to receive considerable attention, the general assembly facing debts for the Presbyterian Church and its boards and agencies amounting to over $1,500,000, most of which must be paid immediately. Plans are expected to be prepared at this assembly which will enable the Presbyterian church to shortly be free of all financial obligations.

Nearly $600,000 yet remains to be paid on the underwriting by the Presbyterians on the interchurch world movement. The Presbyterian church withdrew during its last general assembly, but without making adequate provision for meeting the $1,000,000 indebtedness, the amount of its underwriting. No provision is made for this debt in the budget of $12,000,000 prepared by the last executive commission of the Presbyterian church.

New Era Movement in Debt
The Presbyterian new era movement likewise has financial obligations amounting to $500,000 and both the Presbyterian board of foreign missions and the Presbyterian board of home missions have large deficits incurred by advancing costs since pre-war days.

Boat Brings Bodies of 5212 Service Men

HOBOKEN, N. J., (P)—Bodies of 5212 soldiers from every overseas division of the United States, every state in the Union and every American cemetery in France except Roanoke, were landed here Wednesday from the transport Wheaton, which arrived yesterday from Antwerp and Cherbourg. The dead, the greatest number ever brought home by one ship, included 11 nurses. Funeral services will be held at the army pier, beginning Sunday.

Daddy Wefers Teaching Sonny Wefers How to Start Sprint

It is not very often that an athlete who has reached the height of his form a quarter of a century before is represented in his field by a son equally as good. But that is just the case with Bernie Wefers, Sr., and his son, Bernie, Jr. Twenty-five years ago Bernie Sr. was the world's greatest sprinter. He held records galore, including the world's mark for 223 yards, which stood the onslaughts of the world's greatest throughout the years until a few days ago Charley Paddock, the coast star, was credited with smashing it. Today Bernie Jr. is ranked with the best sprinters of the country. Under his father's experienced eye he is fast acquiring the speed and fine points of the game that made his dad famous. At present young Bernie holds many titles, but the question uppermost in the mind of American enthusiasts is "Can Bernie, Jr., regain the laurels which his dad held so many years?" Before the summer passes this question should be answered. For undoubtedly, Young Wefers will meet Paddock in a race at the 220-yard distance.

AMERICANS MUST SUPPLY WORLD SECURITY MARKET

War Finance Corporation Director Points Out "Missing Link in International Finance"

NEW YORK, (P)—Establishment of an international security market in this country as "the missing link in international finance" and to add strength "at the weakest point in the chain of the world's economic relations" was advocated Wednesday by Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, in an address at the convention here of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Before the world war, Mr. Meyer said, European bankers furnished this country with the facilities for the free marketing of securities "and as conditions were now reversed, it was to be expected that a similar facility would be placed at the disposal of at least some of the countries."

NEVADA GOVERNOR FOR NEW ROAD FUND SPLIT

Tells Senators West Would Be Benefited by Change to Recognize Public Land Areas

WASHINGTON, D. C., (P)—Governor Boyle of Nevada, told the senate post roads committee Wednesday that the west would be benefited by a change in the present system of allocating government road funds so as to take into consideration the vast areas of public lands in the western states. The governor approved the Townsend bill to create a federal commission to select routes and supervise construction of interstate highways, saying he "had been converted to the proposed commission."

"We must have a central authority to pass on the widest transcontinental routes," Governor Boyle said.

HARDING IS CHEERED BY PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY

Commissioners Rise to Feet when Moderator Reads Message of Greeting

WINONA LAKE, Ind., (P)—President Harding was cheered, and the commissioners from Presbyterian churches all over the country rose to their feet in homage to his office, when a message of greeting and inspiration of his was read by the moderator, Dr. Samuel S. Palmer, of Columbus, O., at the opening session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.

President Harding in his message said: "I am very glad, indeed, to express my interest in every such good work. Surely there is no intellectual and moral body in the country to which we may more confidently turn for wise assistance and sane guidance than to the Christian people who make up the body of our churches."

"Whatever may stimulate them to greater activity, and I feel, to increase recognition of the concern of Christian citizenship with the administration of our public affairs, must necessarily be of service to the nation. (Signed) "WARREN G. HARDING."

MANILA HEMP DEALERS WILL POOL INTERESTS

Continued Market Depression Results in Forming of Organization for Philippines

MANILA, P. I., (P)—The continued depression of the hemp markets abroad has resulted in the organization of a hemp dealers' association, known as the Association Abacera de Filipinas, which it is said comprises virtually all dealers in the Philippine islands.

It is said the activities of the association will be along the lines of those of the "Reguladora de Mexico and Yucatan in Mexican silk. The association plans to pool the interests of all dealers and to market Manila hemp through the association.

LOOK FORWARD TO RUSH TO NORTHERN OIL FIELD

Steamboat Companies Operating on Rivers Flowing into Arctic Prepare for Heavy Travel

EDMONTON, Alta., (P)—Steamboat companies operating on the rivers that flow toward the Arctic from here are ready for the hundreds expected to travel north this spring to the newly discovered oil fields at Fort Norman in the Mackenzie river valley of northwestern Canada.

Although some believe the movement will assume the size of an early gold-field rush, the steamboat companies have yet received no indications that a stampede is about to take place. It is certain, however, that travel toward Fort Norman will be heavier than ever this year. The three transportation companies can handle 3,000 men and their outfits, both ways, during the open months. Some predict only about 1,000 will make the trip. Every person going to the oil country must have a round-trip ticket, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have announced. Most of the travelers will go to Norman via the Mackenzie and Peace river, although some will travel overland from the Yukon Territory and Alaska.

THE LEGION'S FOES

Nobody supposes that members of the ill-famed Industrial Workers of the World or their associates and sympathizers would willingly turn a hand over to assist the American Legion...

It is practically certain, however, that the Legion will receive no more potent assistance in its membership campaign than that which results from the dastardly attack that was made Wednesday night in Pocatello upon Arthur Fay, field representative of the Legion...

Circumstances, including the receipt by Fay on the preceding Friday night of a printed communication signed L. W. W. warning him to leave town, point strongly to the guilt of L. W. W. members or sympathizers in staging the attack...

If for no other reason, the Legion is to be respected and esteemed for the enemies it has made, and the incident at Pocatello again brings to public attention in a forcible manner that the Legion is a foe of the enemies of organized society...

TRAIL OF THE TRAITOR

The attempt on the life of Arthur Fay, state organizer of the American Legion, at Pocatello, by an unknown radical, after Fay had received a warning to leave that city from unknown radical sources, ought to be in itself evidence to the mind of any thinking American citizen of the existence of a most dangerous element in our communities.

The same men who would have hauled down the flag during the war, the same men who, under the banner of various seditious organizations, have for several years been undertaking to create dissension and array class against class, the same men who, for a long time, have been assiduously engaged in assauling every legitimate industry in order to create discontent and in order to provoke destruction through sabotage and similar methods...

The trail of the traitor is plainly indicated and it seems to be broadening. Not all the prosecutions that the government has undertaken, not all the convictions it has secured, have served to curb this most notorious element, which is twisting its sly form in seditiously around the law-abiding homes of Idaho.

The Pocatello affair is, of course, but one incident of the outward operations of these men. Their most damnable and successful efforts are being brought about with greater privacy. Their activities are screened from the public gaze, which renders them all the more dangerous.

It has been for a long time within the knowledge of the United States, the great patriotic body that has stood as a solid wall between these radical operations and propaganda and the homes of Idaho and the nation, that hundreds of organizers of the I. W. W. and of allied organizations have been most busy in this state.

The information gleaned by the United Americans has been more than confirmed by the reports of the state constabulary and the officers of the American Legion. This information, insofar as it could be safely made public, has been given out through the press. All have been advised.

Does it not seem probable that every effort should be made to offset the effects of this quiet but indubitably successful work of the radicals?

Does it not seem the part of wisdom, and in line with American safety to provide expositional and safeguarding propaganda? In brief, is it not absolutely necessary...

sary that every real American citizen do everything within his and her power to narrow and, if possible, obliterate this trail of the traitor!

Conditions have arisen which necessitate the cancelling of the annual state Sunday school convention, which was to have been held at Gooding, May 17, 18 and 19.

NEW SCHEDULE OF FIRE RATES FOR THIS CITY

Underwriting Board Promises a Change Due to Advanced Methods Employed

As a result of actions taken by the past city administration and the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce in urging lower fire insurance rates for Twin Falls and of the action of the board of directors of the Pacific, through the Salt Lake office, has promised a new "key rate" and re-rating for this city.

In a recent petition and request made by the chamber of commerce to the Board of Underwriters it was pointed out that Twin Falls has a new modern fire equipment; 12 miles of new street paving to insure speed in getting to fires; new water transmission main of twice the capacity of the former main from the water source; a new system of water distribution mains and 80 new additional fire plugs.

It is with much gratification that the citizens of Twin Falls receive word that the Board of Fire Underwriters is recognizing these improvements. The additional tax borne by taxpayers to bring about these important improvements will thus to a degree be lessened by the establishment of lower fire insurance rates.

The letter received from the Board of Underwriters by the chamber of commerce is as follows: "The Board of Underwriters of the Chamber of Commerce, Newell B. Wight, Secretary.

Acknowledgment is made of your favor of the 5th wherein you petition for a re-rating of the rates of certain improvements enumerated, and in this connection I have to advise you that ten days ago two of our surveyors made a report on the improved conditions in your town and as soon as they return to this office it is my intention to have them formulate a new key rate for Twin Falls for the purpose of re-rating as soon as same can be arranged for. Yours very truly, J. H. BRANSCOMB, Secretary.

Mexico's President Trains His Sons to Lead Army

President Obregon, of Mexico, is a confirmed "family man" and is never happier than when surrounded by his children. The president's love of domesticity is such that it was reported at one time that he would not live in the great National Palace, the official home of Mexican presidents, but would occupy a quiet house set in large grounds in the outskirts of the capital. The accompanying photographs, taken in the grounds of the National Palace, show the president with his sons and daughter. They reveal that at least two of the youngsters evidently have military aspirations. In the inset is Refugio Obregon, the president's prettiest 15-year-old daughter. President Obregon is shown drilling his boys, Alvarez, four, and Mayo, three, in the manual of arms, while his oldest son, thirteen, stands by to correct the youngsters.

CANAL BANKS PERILLED BY EXCESS WATER

Company Forced to Check Flow at Milner and Waste Supply Over Spillways

Fear that heavy rain along the system might cause the breaking of main canals caused the officers of the Twin Falls Canal company to take extraordinary precautions against impending damage.

In addition to the precaution at Milner the company is spilling water out of the high line canal at Cottonwood and some out of the low line canal at the siphon where the line crosses Rock Creek four and a half miles south and four miles east of Twin Falls.

Over the entire system the storm has been general, but the most serious districts indicated, with some sections being subjected to something akin to cloudbursts, or waterspouts.

Reporting for the west end Buhl farmers say the rain since Sunday has been almost continuous, the ground being thoroughly soaked.
