

WHITE CALLED TO FILL LOCAL PULPIT AGAIN

Conference Council Returns Minister to Twin Falls Methodist Pulpit

Announcing pulpit appointments for the coming year Bishop Charles Wesley Burns of the Helena area, Methodist Episcopal church, on Sunday night terminated the thirty-eighth annual conference of the church in the Idaho diocese. The session was opened on Tuesday of last week.

To Twin Falls people the most important of all the announcements was the recalling of the Rev. E. L. White, D. D., to the pulpit of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city. The announcement itself was eloquent for a spontaneous outburst of applause by Sunday night's congregation. Request for the minister's return was unanimously made by the people of the church, and response by the board of appointments, headed by Bishop Burns, was equally unanimous.

Mr. White came to Twin Falls from the First Methodist church of Great Falls, Mont., about a year ago, in an exchange of pulpits with the Rev. G. W. H. Bennett, D. D., who served here about a year and a half. The latter has been returned to the Great Falls charge.

Press Congratulated

In addition to the official announcements of clerical appointments the convention heard and adopted resolutions of appreciation for the services of the press. The resolutions, generally speaking, were expressions of gratitude and thanks for courtesies extended to convention delegates and visitors during the period of the convocation. Special praise was accorded the press of the city for the "very splendid reports of convocation proceedings and liberality of space accorded the conference in newspaper columns."

From superintendent and principals down, the administrative forces of the schools were busy from the first hour throughout the day. What this year's total registration will be is at this moment problematical, but, judging from appearances to day at both high school and the grade school, Twin Falls students are destined in the year 1920-21 to establish a new attendance record.

TENTATIVE DATE SET FOR CLEAN UP SQUAD'S COMING

Campaign to Secure Action on Service Men's Claims Nears Twin Falls

The week of September 20 to October 1 has been tentatively for the sittings at Buhl, Filer and Twin Falls of the "clean up squad," through which federal agencies, the American Legion and Red Cross are co-operating in a campaign to acquaint former service men and women with their rights under federal relief legislation and to assist them in securing prompt action on their claims.

Information to this effect was received Friday from L. F. Albert, adjutant of the Idaho department, American Legion, by Paul R. Taber, Twin Falls city clerk, who has been appointed American Legion representative for the district in Twin Falls county.

The squad entered on its work in the field on Wednesday at Payette, and is today at Ontario, Ore., according to the tentative itinerary issued by Mr. Albert. Immediately before coming here the squad will meet with the service men of Mountain Home, Bruneau, Glenns Ferry and Hagerman, the week to be September 28 to 29 being designated for this purpose.

Absolute dates cannot now be determined, Mr. Albert advises, because of the uncertain course and the amount of work to be done. In anticipation of the arrival here of the squad, many former service men are applying to Mr. Taber for detailed information relative to procedure in the presentation of their claims before the squad.

The Albion Normal improvement tax and sheep inspection tax are now special taxes levied by the 1921 legislature.

BUHL LAYS PLANS FOR CARAVAN'S RECEPTION

Invites Limited Number of Representative Citizens from Idaho Towns

Buhl is beginning to doubt her ability to handle the delegations expected from the various cities in the state to greet the Brooklyn caravan and suggests that only representative citizens be sent to receive Scott's party, according to a communication from the Buhl chamber of commerce read Wednesday at a meeting of the directors of the Boise chamber of commerce. It was the feeling of the Boise directors that the presidents of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Progressive Business clubs, the head of the chamber of commerce and the mayor should form the Boise delegation to greet the auto caravan of settlers on their arrival at Buhl.

While the plan for the Buhl reception is not absolutely definitely determined, it is the intention of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce to make the greeting a display of hospitality rather than a celebration along amusement lines.

Plans on Arrival

Treating on the entertainment plans, Ben H. Busman, secretary of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce, writes as follows: "In arriving at this decision, we have taken into consideration the entertainment furnished by other cities, such as Frontiers day, which was put on in better form than it would be possible for us to furnish. We are also taking into consideration that the members of the party will be tired and worn out by the long journey. It is our belief that they will appreciate more a display of western hospitality, which is unknown in the community from which they come. We contemplate meeting them with a hand, escorting them to the city park and assisting them in making their camp. Following this, dinner will be served at the Chamber of Commerce. A certain degree of uncertainty exists as to the remainder of the program because the exact date of their arrival is not known, but it is our belief that they will arrive on the evening of September 10."

Local Contributor Declares Prices Offered Here Less Than Elsewhere

From established reports all over the country it is very evident that there is and will be a shortage in the apple crop this year because of the fact that the total crop of apples and pears is far below normal. In other words, frost conditions earlier in the spring, though the frost and milder weather are responsible for a good yield of fruit in these regions. Extreme heat has done for the potatoes throughout the country what frost has done elsewhere in Idaho and throughout the fruit sections of the west, an established price for fruit of all kinds seems to have been set, $50 per ton and upwards being paid for a great variety of varieties are loaded in bulk in cars, thereby paying cost of boxing, packing, etc.

LAST BOY SCOUT TROOP VACATES CAMP IN BASIN

Assembly Hall Closed for Year with Return of Donald McLean's Scouts

The last troop of Boy Scouts to make use of the camp ground and cabin in Shoshone basin before the opening of school completed a stay at about a week Monday afternoon and returned to Twin Falls after an outing replete with satisfaction to all.

This troop consisted of the older boys who are members of the organization, under the leadership of Donald McLean, scoutmaster of the troop. Notwithstanding the cold nights and crisp mornings which set in on the Shoshone basin some days ago, the boys all report a thoroughly enjoyable outing. Fishing excursions to Roek Creek, long hikes over the hills and games and tennis were enjoyed by all. The Boy Scout manual served to fill the days from daylight to dark. The first fire in the cabin helped to put in a happy hour or two just before bedtime, during which the boys were given a lesson in the boys by the scoutmaster until the sound of "taps."

One hundred Portland men, representing the commercial life of that city, will be in Twin Falls for a visit on September 20. This announcement was officially made by President A. B. Wilson of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. Plans for the proper entertainment of the party are already under way.

Word of the visit was also received by officers of the Twin Falls Rotary club. This morning arrangements for the following have been made: C. E. Wright, Burton E. Morse, Fred Kobs, L. H. Masters, Orbanquet, M. G. Gathly, Lem Chapin, E. A. Hollingsworth and H. E. Barber have been named.

FILER BUSINESS MEN IN CONFERENCE WITH BOARD

Fair Week to be Gala Event—Local Merchants Co-operate in Interest of Institution

Merchants and business men of Filer are planning for a fair week of an elaborate scale this year, plans having been set on foot at a meeting of Filer business men in the form of a dinner at Filer Tuesday night, with the members of the fair board as guests. Following the dinner the meeting was called to order by Leonard Wood, manager of the United Stores of Filer, who explained briefly that it was the desire of the Filer men to do everything possible in the way of co-operation with the fair board towards making the fair next week an outstanding success. Following suggestions of Filer men it was decided to arrange for an extensive lighting scheme for the business section during the week, to provide for parking space for cars and to take such further steps as might be necessary for the comfort and convenience of fair guests while in Filer.

A number of committees were appointed to take charge of the arrangements provided for. The spirit of the Filer business men proved a source of great satisfaction to the fair board members who expressed the opinion that the arrangement provided for can not fail to add materially to the comfort and convenience of those attending the fair.

The new road along the west side of the fair grounds is completed and open for traffic and, with the exception of about three miles between Dulak and Filer good roads lead into Filer from every direction. At a meeting of the board held here in the evening it was decided to attempt to have this three miles put into shape at once, in the interests of west-end fair visitors. The state highway director in Boise will be communicated with today on the matter.

While paving operations in the town of Filer have resulted in tearing up the business streets, steps are being taken to have as many thoroughfares as possible thrown open and there will be little or no effect on the fair it is felt as a result of this.

All indications point to this year's fair being the biggest and best since the establishment of the institution six years ago.

CITY CLUB WOMEN GET BEHIND PLAN TO ESTABLISH A WADING TANK FOR YOUNGSTERS IN PARK

Administration Favors Move Proposed by the Twentieth Century Organization to Create Diversion for Children During Summer—Death Blow is Struck at Cottonwood Trees in Downtown Area

Prospect of establishing a wading pool in a section of the city park increased perceptibly with favorable action last night of the council on a proposal made by the Twentieth Century club to install such an institution at its own expense. It is the proposal of the club to construct a shallow, cement-lined dish some 40 by 60 feet in dimensions for the benefit of the children during the summer months.

Would Modify Size.

This proposal was presented at a deferred meeting of the council and was given considerable consideration, the prevailing opinion being of a favorable nature. There was some discussion, however, against the proposed size of the pool, some of the council members expressing preference for a smaller dish than is mentioned in the club's plan. The pool if constructed will be 12 inches deep and will have a fountain in the center. The club proposes to raise funds of about $800 for this work by a series of entertainment.

Tuesday Night's Meeting was a Portion of the regular conclusion set for Monday night, the postponement being made necessary on account of the heavy rain.

Consideration was given to the removal of the present bandstand to the elimination of that institution altogether. The club is in favor of no definite action on this matter.

Trees Proclaimed a Nuisance.

Alderman Craig Bracken complained against certain poplar trees located near the public park. These trees, the alderman declared, are pest infested, and in time will be a hindrance to the trees in the public park.

Discussion brought out the fact that some plans have already been made for the removal of the trees. Alderman Bracken's complaint resulted in a recommendation by Mayor P. W. McRoberts that may result in the removal of all softwood trees along either side of the street. Street Commissioner J. J. Pilgarrin was instructed to seek out persons who will cut down the trees for the use of wood. The trees to be cut are to be cut in a systematic way, and an expense to the city in that pavements and walks suffer through being by root growth. Following it is pointed out the fire men find their way into sewers which soon become obstructed by the tangle. Such poplars are now growing in the public park are to be taken out, if ultimately expected by the mayor and Alderman Bracken recommends. The mayor and alderman are to investigate the question during the coming week.

To Mark City Approaches.

Mayor McRoberts appointed City Clerk Paul R. Taylor and Probate Judge O. P. Duvall a committee to decide bids for lettering signs marking eight approaches to town. The signs are to be lettered with a welcoming word on the front and a word of appreciation for the visit on the back.

Resolutions in adoption of assessment relief for a sewer improvement district and in establishment of next year's sprinkling district were formally acted upon. Sprinkling cost next year will be slightly more than $14,000.

A street light was ordered removed from the intersection of Seventh avenue east and Ash street to a point approaching to town. The sign at the intersection of the same avenue and Elm street. An extra light was petitioned for by residents on Seventh avenue some 100 feet ago. The change of light from Ash street one block further east on the avenue is expected to meet the requirements. Request made a week ago by Attorney H. C. Hazel for a light at the corner of Ninth avenue north and Addison avenue was rejected. Removal of two temporary lights at Fifth avenue south and second street was ordered, and an order made for the installation of one permanent light at that point. The two temporary lights were placed during the summer as an emergency plan.

The city park is to be the center of festivities on the occasion, and the various booths are to be erected on the park grounds. These booths, according to the committee's report, will include a contest for the selection of a carnival queen, suggesting that a maximum of interest and friendly rivalry as between communities might be aroused in this manner.

BIG YIELDS OF GRAIN FOLLOW BEET CROPPING

Better Than 100 Bushels Oats and 65 Bushels Wheat Reported by Jerome Farm Operators

The Settlers Reclaiming and Operating company report some splendid yields of grain on its land a short distance east of Jerome, says the North Side News. J. L. Doid, now local manager of the Farmers' Grain and Milling company, marketed the farm the past season and supervised the raising of the crops.

Twenty acres of wheat returned an average yield of 65 bushels per acre. "Sixty acres of barley returned an average yield of 60 bushels per acre. These crops were all grown on land that has produced in the last four years successive crops of sugar beets, and are the first crops following the beets. The beets followed several years cropping to alfalfa. It is believed the land is still capable of producing a crop of grain crop equally as good as the crop this year before it will be necessary to seed it down again.

The giant horsetail is called "scour-red" because in olden days wood workers, cabinet makers, etc., used it to polish their finished wood products. Examination of the sandpaper which had not been invented. There is an old foundation near the best of giant "scour-red" which old inhabitants say was once a wheel fluted. Perhaps the "owner painted the giant horsetail reeds to use in his business, bringing them down to Sleepy Hollow from the hills of the mountains where they still grow. Once Famous for Embroidery.

St. Gall, Switzerland, is the noted embroidery center of modern days, and one of the most interesting centers of Christian civilization in central Europe. The city owes its foundation to the Irish abbot Gallus, who in the year 614 founded a hermitage near the brook Stelchen. In the resulting monastery of St. Gall the Swiss culture of the Irish church was nurtured until 720, when those of St. Benedict were substituted by an abbot, Otmar. In 1061 the Abbot Norbert of St. Gall created a convent on the Sitter river, the place taking the name of Abbatia Cellin-Apenzell, and the abbot of St. Gall became the dominating influence of the land until the subsequently much impressed mountaineers resorted to force and succeeded in shaking off their yoke.

PURSUERS AGAIN ARE SHAKEN OFF

Van Eaton, Alleged Murderer, Escapes from Box Canyon; Appears on This Side

Sylvan Van Eaton has again eluded his pursuers. The man accused of murdering his sweetheart, Dolores Weighall, is said to be at large in the Rock Creek country. Nevada authorities, and Twin Falls county authorities are following the trail.

Van Eaton, who was yesterday supposed to be trapped in a box canyon on the Nevada side of the line, now appears to have escaped the confining walls and is now being pursued by his pursuers before a rescue party was established at either end of the gulch. His trail is said to have been picked up by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nibble, the latter a square, yesterday. The fugitive was tracked by the Indian woman and her man to the Nick Smith ranch on the Salmon. Here, it is said, he stopped and procured a supply of matches and then inquired the distance to Rock Creek.

This information is said to have been imparted to authorities who called at the Salmon place Tuesday evening. The announcement was made by Sheriff E. S. Hamilton reached Twin Falls Tuesday night and left Wednesday for the Rock Creek country to help chase down the fugitive. The pair came in for much criticism for reasons for themselves and the working posse.

Mother Has Chance.

Dolores Weighall was shot and killed when she declined to permit Van Eaton to pay her lover's attention, according to the statement coming from Contact, reports which are partly confirmed by Mrs. Weighall, mother of the dead girl. The mother is in a Twin Falls hospital with a bullet wound through her head and neck. Chances of recovery are fair. The patient, according to Dr. D. L. Alexander, attending physician, has well withstood the shock of the shooting and the effects of the operation for removal of the bullet from her head. The operation was performed last evening immediately after the wounded woman was brought here from the scene of the tragedy. She is said to have been rational most of today, and is also said to have given valuable information relating to the shooting.

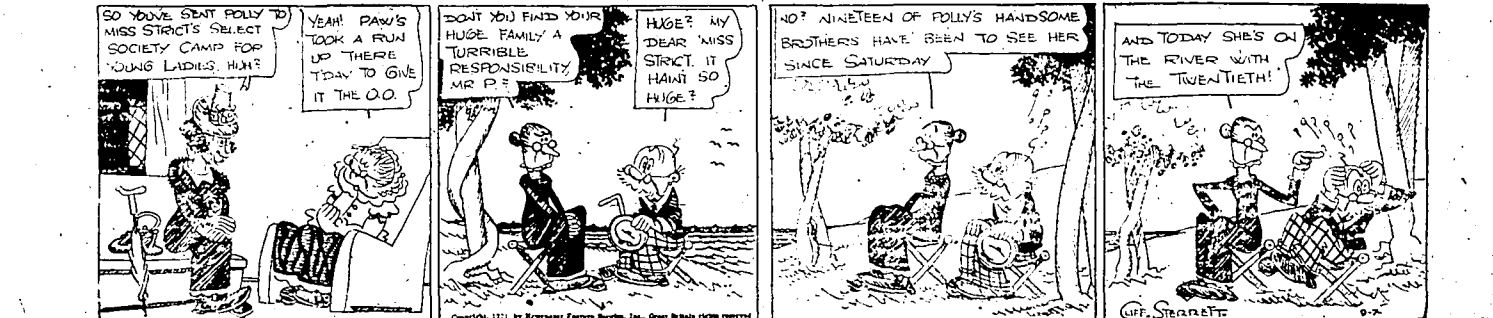

Mrs. Weighall has stated, it is alleged, that Van Eaton followed her daughter from a dance in Contact when the girl returned with a man friend Thursday morning. Van Eaton is said to have been in long conference with the girl on the porch of the home, this meeting lasting from about 9:30 o'clock to nearly 4. A quarrel ensued which resulted in the shooting. Mrs. Weighall is said to have been in the living room at the time, and she fired a shot from a revolver. Mrs. Weighall says she heard two shots and remembers nothing further until she revived in the hospital here.

Shot in Back of Head.

Examination of the body of the murdered girl reveals three bullet holes in the back of the head. All shots are said to have been fired at her while she was in the protecting embrace of her lover. It is believed that the shooter did not aim directly at Mrs. Weighall, but that he missed his aim at the girl's head, striking the mother with one bullet. This missile struck the bridge of the nose, passed under the right eye, went through the brain and lodged against the bone at the back of the head.

Van Eaton, the alleged murderer, has been employed by the Utah Construction company on the Vineyard ranch south of Contact some time. He is personally known to Dr. Alexander who practices here a man of good moral character and of excellent general habits. He is said to have attended a dance at Contact on Wednesday night when the girl, Dolores, said to have been his affianced bride, was present with another man. The young woman is said to have been cool toward the lover, and when the dance ended she returned home with the new friend. Reports indicate that Van Eaton did not go to the Weighall home immediately after the dance, but remained with friends to the A. W. Church parsonage. Here the young man is said to have been the victim of considerable bantering over the position in which he had been placed by the girl's action, and he was then armed with a revolver, rode his horse to the girl's residence. The horse was left tethered when the young man left the place after the shooting.

FRUIT GROWERS WARNED TO PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

Apple Men Gather Here for Discussion of Marketing Situation

Fruit growers of the district met last night in the offices of C. A. Robinson and conducted an informal meeting for a discussion of the general situation as it affects fruit men hereabouts.

With respect to an alleged serious condition confronting this class of producer, said to be largely due to a disposition to hold back until picking time rather than to make provisions safeguarding home interests, packing and storing was urged.

It was pointed out that while the fruit market in the east is on the upgrade, local crop offers have been on a low basis. The apple crop of the country, it was shown, is shorter than for years.

Whole sections of the east and central west having been frozen out, and there can be no doubt of the fact that fruit, particularly apples, will be extremely high before long. The grower of the fruit is entitled to a share of the profits but will get it only if he gets busy and protects himself by making arrangements for boxes and storage, so he can hold his crop a few weeks until the glut of marketing is over, was the statement made at this session.

Recommendation was made that all producers pack their apples and hold until buyers are disposed to offer what is considered a reasonable price for the fruit.

LAUNCHES INQUIRY INTO DETECTIVES' ACTIVITIES

State's Attorney Begins to Ferret Out Facts About Alleged Spy System in Chicago.

CHICAGO, (AP)—Investigation was begun today by the state's attorney's office into charges that the local detective bureau maintains a spying or "stool pigeon" system by which innocent persons and others are led into traps to aid bureau men in showing a high efficiency record.

The state's attorney has been told that plotters known as "stool pigeons" are on the city payroll and that as a result of their efforts as many as 15 persons are in jail or the penitentiary while the detectives fattened their averages. In some cases according to the charges, unemployed men or others are led by the plotters into participating in a holdup or burglary and the police being informed in advance, arrive on the scene quickly and arrest the victim while the plotters appear as a police witness. One former soldier was a victim in such a case, it is charged.

LAW ENFORCEMENT RESULTS

It would have taken a score or more of traffic officers to have tagged all of the automobiles running without adequate lights on Twin Falls streets...

One out of ten automobiles in the throng, perhaps, were being operated in violation of the ordinance requirement that the tail light shall be burning.

One out of ten drivers were operating their cars in violation of the law, but one among several hundred was meeting its requirements at a cost of considerable personal effort and pains.

Undoubtedly the campaign waged with vigor against offenders in this respect was responsible for the large proportion of tail lights burning on this occasion...

The incident serves, perhaps, to reveal the extent to which people generally are scrupulous in their respect of law...

A FIELD FOR SERVICE

Not the least of the advantages that may be expected to accrue from the activities of the Southern Idaho Traffic association, which has been formed in this district primarily to fight the battles of consumers and shippers for lower freight rates...

A similar organization in Boise lately has sounded a warning to shippers of perishable fruits and vegetables of that district to make use of Idaho cars now at their command...

The same advice may or may not apply to the Twin Falls district. Probably it does. But there is at present here no agency whose business it is to know these things and advise shippers.

NAILING THE FAKERS

How many Twin Falls business men believe that every salesman, solicitor, blue sky operator or downright fakelard should have the free and untrammelled right to walk into his place of business and demand a hearing at any time?

Not all salesmen are pests, not all demands for charity are fakes, not all solicitors are merely petty nuisances, but the percentage of these types appears to be growing...

Solicitors hailing from no one knows where ring door bells from early morn to dewy eve after subscriptions to various magazines. Book agents whose talk is so cleverly camouflaged with the spirit of present-day uplift as to fool the most sophisticated...

A year or so ago the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce through its committees, evolved a practical plan of providing its members with a printed card carrying a warning for the benefit of all to whom it might apply...

Such warning should apply to peddlars in the residence districts as well as to all other outside unknown solicitors. No more difficult problem confronts the average citizen than that contained in the separation of the sheep from the goats when it comes to the matter of honoring or turning down cold any one of the various appeals with which he is daily confronted.

Perhaps no set of men in the west are more liberal, more charitably inclined, more free and open-headed in money matters than the people of Twin Falls and these very qualities result in their being victimized frequently and systematically.

Perhaps after all there isn't much good in trying to protect a man against himself in the matter of the disposal of his own goods or money, but the Chamber of Commerce has put into effect a plan which certainly makes it easier for him to discriminate between the legitimate and the illegitimate when it comes to listening to the tales of the sure-thing man.

If the visitor has the endorsement of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce it means that a committee of local men has already passed upon the merits of his proposition; if he hasn't got such endorsement it means either that he has not seen fit to ask for it or that he has asked for it and been turned down.

Now wouldn't it be a pretty good plan to let the Chamber of Commerce go right on doing this work for us and at the same time lend the Chamber our assistance by demanding first thing that every solicitor, not actually known to the person solicited, produce the "blue card" of the Chamber or get out quick?

The man or woman with a legitimate object has nothing to fear, but, under the plan, the faker gets his every time.

AS OTHERS SEE US

From Ely, Nevada, comes an argument for Twin Falls support of the proposed railway to connect Twin Falls with transcontinental lines at Wells, Nevada.

Says the editor of the Ely Record, who lately traversed the route of the proposed railway:

"The building of this proposed railroad will not only be the means of a great mineral development at Contact, but it will also materially enhance the prosperity of the surplus products would be constant. It is a strong competitor to Elko in commercial importance. And in addition it would give the Twin Falls country a direct outlet to San Francisco and the local markets of eastern Nevada, where a considerable portion of their surplus products would be consumed. It would also be the means of establishing a new freight rate to the west for the Twin Falls country, which is now greatly needed there. It would also prove of great benefit to the Ely mining district, as it would be the most direct route to an agricultural section of importance. At the present time the farm products of the Twin Falls section are almost eliminated from this market, for the reason that they must reach Ely through a circuitous route via Ogden, Utah, and then come into the market via Salt Lake, Utah products. However, the people of Twin Falls do not appear to realize the importance of Ely as a market, for the reason, perhaps, that they have heretofore enjoyed but little trade from this section, but when the road is built and in operation they will soon wake up to the fact that Ely will be one of their best customers for all sorts of farm products. If Twin Falls does not make every effort to further the building of this road it will make a very great mistake."

It is to be regretted that apparent sentiment here regarding the railway project should furnish basis for the Nevada editor's not altogether flattering estimate of Twin Falls attitude toward an enterprise as indispensable to its well being. It is devoutly to be hoped and confidently to be expected that local enthusiasm—now apparently in the ice box for safekeeping—will be unceremoniously at the proper moment to provide the necessary amount of motive power to put across the project paving the way to bigger and better things.

TOURIST TRADE PAYS

North Idaho has been taking stock of its resources and finds—what is undoubtedly true with respect to most Idaho communities—that the auto tourist trade is a live commercial asset that pays big dividends.

The question was brought up by a discussion of whether or not it pays to maintain tourist camps and extend courtesies to the traveling motorists. In order to ascertain the facts the commercial club of a north Idaho town of average conditions, invited its merchants, hotels, garages and other places of business to keep a record so far as possible of the money spent with them within a given week by automobile tourists.

The result of the inquiry was the report that tourists spent a little more than $5,000 in that community that week, and the question was answered to the satisfaction of north Idaho mercantile interests that the auto tourist is an asset and that his presence and business should be encouraged by the establishment of parks and good roads.

There is no similar compilation of the financial advantages accruing to a southern Idaho community through patronage of the motor tourists, but it is not to be doubted that the result of a similar investigation hereabouts would not be far different than that of the Panhandle inquiry.

North Idaho's investigations reduces to definite figures and concrete facts the notion that has been gaining ground in most communities that are favored by the visit of motor tourists, and should serve to emphasize the necessity here for establishment and maintenance of parks, good roads and adequate and trustworthy publicity that will bring them here.

MOTION PICTURES IN SCHOOL

The old philosopher who told the king there was no royal road to learning, that is, to say, no smooth, convenient highway to avoid the rocks and ruts of the customary path, lived before the days of motion pictures.

Some recent experiments indicate that before long this invention will be generally utilized to make education more efficient. In New York 500 pupils of the seventh grade, divided into three groups, were tested. One set was given a prescribed lesson orally, the others through motion pictures. The latter received marks averaging 33 per cent higher than those of the orally instructed.

In Detroit two groups of scholars, equal in standing and intelligence, were elected for the comparison. A certain film was shown twice to the first group, the time occupying 15 minutes. The teacher did not explain the pictures while they were being shown nor did she prepare the children for the lesson intended to be conveyed. The identical lists of questions were given the two groups—no answer. Those who got their lesson through the eye instead of through the ear made average better marks of over three per cent. Four weeks later an impromptu memory test on this same lesson was sprung on both sets of pupils and those who had learned through the pictures scored a four per cent higher marking.

There are subjects, of course, in which pictures can never be substituted for good, hard digging in the books. Nor would it be desirable to dispense with the mental discipline which comes through vigorous, continued exercise of the mind. The main object of education, despite Mr. Edison's theory, is not the accumulation of a mass of facts, but to train the mind to reason from facts and to learn where to find valuable information when needed.

While wisely recognizing the natural limitations of motion pictures, educators are coming to utilize them more as they perceive their practical possibilities in the school room.

VAN EATON NOT YET CAPTURED

Sheriff Sherman Denies Current Street Reports of Taking Alleged Murderer

Contradicting numerous street statements announced that Sylvia Van Eaton, fugitive from justice, has not yet been captured.

"I have been informed that Van Eaton was captured at various times in various places last night and this morning. There is no truth in any of the statements, and I cannot say that we are even close on Van Eaton's trail. Certainly he has not been captured by anybody in authority and I have no reports to the effect that he has been taken up by any private persons," said the sheriff today refuting street reports.

Van Eaton was at the Rock Creek ranch last Monday. The ranch is owned and operated by the fugitive's uncle, L. M. Van Eaton. The latter was at the sheriff's office on Tuesday, but the sheriff's men had not called at his house, and that if he had been on the ranch his presence was not disclosed to the uncle. The latter offered to join a party to make search of the box canyon on the other side of the state line, in which Van Eaton was supposed to have concealed himself last Saturday night.

Denies are still operating through the Rock Creek country following a trail picked up by a squaw. Nothing of a definite character has been learned in the past 24 hours; attaches of the local sheriff's office declare.

WHEAT CROP PROSPECTS DROP 3,000,000 BUSHELS

Corn Prospects Make Large Gain During August Over Government Forecast Last Month; Heat and Drought Cut Down the Probable Wheat Yields; Potato Production Gains in Estimates Although Condition Declines Two Points

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—The corn crop, which suffered a loss of about 91,000,000 bushels in prospective production in July, made a gain of 154,000,000 bushels during August over the forecast last month, the indicated production of the September 1 condition of the crop being 3,186,000,000 bushels.

The 1921 corn crop as forecast is only 48,000,000 bushels less than the crop of last year which broke all records and is 388,000,000 bushels above the five-year average. The improvement made during August was credited to the department to favorable temperatures and rains, which had been lacking throughout a good portion of the season.

3,000,000 bushels since the August forecast, due largely to heat and drought. The oats crop on the basis of the figures announced today was a short one, 430,000,000 bushels less than last year and 343,000,000 bushels below the five-year average.

Production of the country's principal farm crops was given today by the department of agriculture in forecasts made up from a country-wide canvass on September 1, while preliminary estimates were made for some crops at time of harvest. Attention, Teachers!

Your eyesight is the prime importance of your profession and you cannot be more efficient than your eyesight.

The constant application to study and close work is a great strain on the eyes—and unless the eyes are absolutely normal surely results in an unbalancing of the delicate muscles and eye tone.

Come in for an examination. We are conducting a Free Clinic for teachers only during Teachers' Week and will gladly tell you if your eyes are normal or not.
