VOLCANO GIVEN PLACE ON LIST OF ATTRACTIONS

Kilauea in Action May Be Seen by Delegates to World Press Congress During Sessions at Honolulu

HONOLOU, Island of Hawaii, T. H., (AP)—One of the world's greatest spectacles of nature—demonstrations of volcanic activity by Kilauea volcano on this island—will very possibly be unfolded before the eyes of delegates to the forthcoming World's Press congress sessions in Honolulu in October, according to L. W. deVis-Norton, secretary of the Hawaiian Volcano Research association and an authority on the Hawaiian volcanoes.

The lava column within the vast fire pit of Kilauea has been rising steadily according to reports from the Hawaiian volcano observatory on the rim of the great crater directly overlooking the volcano. The molten lava lakes within the great fire pit are increasing their area so rapidly that the shoals and rock islands which were conspicuous objects upon the lake's surface are disappearing one by one as the molten flows overwhelm them.

Two Days at Volcano.

The itinerary for the press congress delegates calls for their arrival here on the evening of October 12 and it has been arranged that the next two days will be spent by the delegates at the volcano among the wonders of America's latest national park. All indications point to a culmination of Kilauea's activities about the next two days, and the reports and the conditions materialize the delegates will witness a scene of marvelous and awe-inspiring brilliance, Mr. deVis-Norton said.

Many strange things are transpiring in connection with the rapid upward swell of molten interior of the earth within the vent of Kilauea, Mr. deVis-Norton said. A gigantic mass of rock is being forced steadily up from the depths and is already rearing its crest high above the white hot torrents that lap its base. The continuous movement and the vibrations of this great mass is causing heavy avalanches to rush down its sides. The result is that it has sealed off until the rock mass has taken form of an extremely sharp pinnacle towering high above the lakes.

Pit Swallows Avalanches.

Another phenomenon in evidence is causing considerable comment. The great subsidence that occurred after the explosive eruption of last March at Kilauea caused heavy avalanches to fall from the walls of the great fire pit. These, crashing down to the depths formed talus slopes which became covered with debris from the crater. During the past few days a series of remarkable spouting lava springs have broken out at intervals along the top of these debris slopes, showing that an irresistible torrent of lava is forcing its way up within them, Mr. deVis-Norton said. The various points of emergence are high above the lava lakes and every few moments, glittering and spectacular cascades of molten fire and flame roar down over the slopes to the lakes below. It is "as though the whirlpool rapids at Niagara Falls had been turned into flame" and the spectacle is especially striking at night, Mr. deVis-Norton said.

Canada's Big Game. Throughout Canada from 1,000 to 1,500 moose are killed annually, but the game are protected under an hundred under certain restrictions that are rigidly enforced, so that there is no fear of their extinction.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

About 200 girls were present at the first indoor meeting held this year by the Blue Triangle club, in the dome last night. The girls who represented the club at the Phyllis lakes camp last June, provided the program by means of which they tried to share their good times there with the members who could not go.

The program consisted of three talks, the reading of a humorous account of the experiences of the Twin Falls delegation, an original poem written by one of the girls and rendered by her, which was inspired by an incident at camp, and the singing of a group of camp songs by the camp delegation.

The program followed "The Serious Side of Camp Life," Cleo DeWitt.

"Our Camp Leaders," Paula Duke.

"Inspection," Bonnie Herriman.

"Chronicles of the Ark," Dorothy Irwin.

"Reading," "Ye Olden Dead Pack Rat," Marguerite Grady.

ZEST IS ADDED TO SEARCH FOR VAN EATON'S BODY

Grappling Hook Brings Short Collar from Depths of Salmon Reservoir Water

A sambric rag, evidently torn from the collar of a workman's shirt, picked up by a grappling hook by draggers in the Salmon reservoir, lent a thrill to body-seeking operations and added zest to the search being conducted by sheriff's forces.

The scrap of garment was pulled out of the water by A. J. Schneider, a farmer who has been watching at the dam since the day the body was lost.

Discovery of the piece of shirt collar, said to be the same color and quality as the garment worn by the alleged murderer of Dolores Weighall at Connetquot, is a most important and convincing proof by the sheriff that Van Eaton did not hoax the authorities when he left a note telling of intention to end his life in the depths of the Salmon reservoir.

"I believe, as I have before, that Van Eaton's body is in the reservoir. I am convinced that the man was in a sufficiently desperate frame of mind when the note was written that he would attempt to do it himself. It is my belief that he tied rocks either to his feet or neck and then sprang in. The anchor is holding the body on the bottom of the reservoir," Sheriff Sherman stated.

Drugging operations are to be continued further in the hope that a hook will finally seize the clothing in such a manner that a firm hold will be obtained and the remains drawn to the shore.

THEFT CHARGE DENIED BY STEVENS IN COURT

Third Avenue North Resident is Held Under Bail for Further Court Examination

On arraignment in the probate court Wednesday, Lester W. Stevens, accused by the prosecuting attorney of the robbery of a woman's purse, pleaded not guilty and was held for preliminary hearing in the probate court. The hearing will be held on Friday morning.

Bail in this case was fixed by Judge O. P. Duvall at $200, of which half was to be furnished in cash. Stevens was unable to provide the money and was held in jail.

Stevens was arrested early Tuesday morning by police officers who declare he had landed a large fish belonging to G. H. Brown, Jr., 302 1/2 Kimbly street, on his way to the city. Stevens is said to have destroyed a gallon of "moonshine" booze by breaking the jug over the wagon when the officers approached.
