BICKEL SHOWS POSSIBLE ADVANTAGE TO BOISEIN TWIN FALLS-WELLS ROAD

Construction of 140 Miles of Railway Between Crane and Lake View after Building of Idaho-Nevada Connection, Would Materially Shorten Distance from Capital to San Francisco and Prove Highly Profitable, Says Irrigation Project Builder

Construction of the Twin Falls-Wells railroad will make possible the building and profitable operation of another cut-off from Crane to Lakeview which will reduce the distance by rail from Boise to San Francisco by way of Twin Falls to 877 miles, compared with the present distance of 1,272 miles by way of Portland and 1,165 miles by way of Ogden, according to Paul S. A. Bickel, engineer in charge of the construction of the original Twin Falls Irrigation project.

Construction of only 114 miles of railway between Crane and Lakeview and 120 miles between Eugene and Wells is necessary, Mr. Bickel says, and the other 100 miles early construction of both connecting lines.

Illustrating his argument by reference to a map, Mr. Bickel in conversation with a group of friends including H. H. Hamilton, at Boise the other day made the following statement:

"Work your head a little. It won't hurt you. Get a Union Pacific folder, study the map, and tell the Boise people and all the rest of Snake river valley west of American Falls including Pocatello and Weiser. Anybody can figure it out easily."

"Both at Ontario and Crane as well as at Twin Falls and Wells the railroads have been anxious to connect up, but they have had no money to pay for immediate necessities that it could not be managed. It is to be hoped that the time will soon come when they will be able to induce some means to invest in just the things which are so important to all of us."

"This will benefit the railways in more ways than one. They will be enabled to move more freight over a shorter line, thereby giving both producer and consumer a better chance for profit and price. The connections are of great importance in 400 miles of line, west and east some 400 miles, one way alone would be about enough to pay for the gas."

"The Crane creek road has easy grades and connects up the Boise, Payette, Weiser and Snake river valleys."

EARLIER DELIVERIES OF MAIL IS PLANNED

Department Evolves a New Scheme of Running Motor Postal Route

Looking toward the earlier daily delivery of mail from the west, the U. S. postal department has advertised for bids for carrying the first and second class mail by motor from Gooding to Wendell, thence to Buhl, Filer and Twin Falls. In case acceptable bids are received, the service will begin on October 16.

Mail will be received from train No. 18 and carried to the towns named. The distance from Gooding to Twin Falls is 377 miles, of which 40 miles, and according to the terms of the contract specifications is to be covered in three hours. Since train No. 18 is due in Gooding at 7 a. m., under the proposed arrangement, the Twin Falls will receive mail between 10 a. m. and 11 a. m. Buhl will gain a half day in the receipt of mail and Filer about five hours.

ISSUES INFORMATION REGARDING BOND ISSUE

Automotive Association Says Little Application Be Made This Fall

The following information concerning the distribution of the proceeds of the two million dollars issue for state highway funds, just sold, is contained in a bulletin issued by the Idaho Automobile Trades association to the trade:

It will be made this fall, owing to the fact that no federal aid funds are available and will not be obtained earlier than January, if then. So soon as federal aid is obtained the funds will be apportioned for new construction.

"Meantime, only emergency work will be handled, including grading of the Boise-Mountain. Hence, you to make it an all-year route as part of the highway leading to the Twin Falls district and southeast Idaho."

ERRORS IS CLAIMED

Alleging that through inadvertence and mistake preliminary note on which there was still the sum of $2000 due, was marked paid, the Home Lumber & Fuel company has brought suit against Frank French and his wife for the sum of that amount. The original amount of the note it is said, was $1,537.65. On January 4, 1921, the sum of $1,331.75 had been paid, leaving $205.90 due. The suit, according to the federal court records, was filed in the Boise district court.

ette, Weiser and Snake river valleys with San Francisco about the same distance that Portland does and also gains a large territory in central Oregon which is the largest stretch of country in the United States without a railroad.

"The Twin Falls connection serves a wonderful country which is to say rail bound, and it can easily enough be shown by figures that the people as well as the roads are losing by not having this connection. The mining districts alone will justify the construction of railroad and power lines in this district."

"This connection is the only real hope for the Twin Falls and Rupert counties to thrive and prosper. They should strive to bring about this result. With these connections and later a connection down the Snake river canyon they will have an equal break with the rest of the Snake river valley."

"The Crane creek extension is not profitable unless it is connected up. When this is done both the branches in Ontario and the Crane creek branch will be made to pay well."

Cites Significant Figures

Mr. Bickel, in connection with his statement, made use of the following figures:

- 1. Nampa to Portland 500 miles; Portland to San Francisco 772 miles; total 1,272 miles.
2. Nampa to Ogden 384 miles; Ogden to San Francisco 811 miles; total 1,195 miles.
3. Nampa to Twin Falls by way of Minidoka 400 miles; Twin Falls to Wells (100 miles of new construction) 130 miles; Wells to San Francisco, 600 miles; total 930 miles.
4. Nampa to Ontario and Crane 167 miles; Crane to Lakeview (new construction) 140 miles; Lakeview to San Francisco 500 miles; total 807 miles.
5. Boise to Winnemucca (400 miles of new construction) 400 miles; Winnemucca to San Francisco 417 miles; total 817 miles.
6. Twin Falls to San Francisco—new route—by way of Wells 230 miles; Wells to San Francisco 377 miles; total 607 miles, making Boise by way of Twin Falls to San Francisco 807 miles.

SHORT LINE BEGINS TO BALLAST BUHL BRANCH

Big Gang of Men at Work Fixing Tracks to Carry the Heavy Loads

REPORT, Idaho.—Ballasting on the O. S. L. between here and Buhl began Monday with a large number of men reporting for duty to the various section bosses along the line, says the Minidoka County News. Approximately 500 men will be needed to carry on the work. It is reported.

It has been denied that this work is being done to connect up with the uncompleted link of railroad between Twin Falls and Wells. Nevertheless, for which a big bonus is now being raised, but is undertaken at this time because the goods need it. Heavier loads will be installed.

So far as the Blise cut-off is concerned the statement is made that heavy steel rails are now being taken to Jerome by the intention of working from there toward Buhl and Rupert, but no gravel has been hauled as yet for ballasting.

Several gangs of men have been working between Minidoka and Accum at the past week.

From various sources come the information, made authoritatively, that ultimately all heavy trains to the west, both passenger and freight, will be taken over the cutoff, making this line in effect a main line.

MONTHLY REPORT SHOWS VALUE OF HOME NURSING

Miss McGrail Makes Interesting Statement of Work Accomplished

"With a record of 99 children examined during the last week in September for evidences of defective organs of sight and hearing, for affections of glands and tonsils, defective teeth, and malnutrition, the department of home nursing of the Red Cross is demonstrating its value to the community," said Mrs. Burton E. Moore, chairman of the department in commenting upon the report for the month of September, filed by Miss Rosetta McGrail, county Red Cross nurse.

The examination was made in one of the rural schools where favorable health conditions prevail, but the report shows that there were 10 cases of defective vision one of defective hearing, 41 of enlarged and diseased tonsils, 26 of diseased glands and two cases of malnutrition. In 40 cases the need of dental treatment was evident, and in these cases as in the ones indicating the need of a physician's diagnosis, they were referred to the parents with the recommendations of the nurse for examinations by the proper persons, according to the report.

"On occasions, we find individuals who leave what they are studying in their affairs," said Miss McGrail in discussing her work. "One man whose son was found to have enlarged tonsils and glands as well as very defective hearing, was very forcibly that no one could tell him what to do for his child, and said that when they were sick he would see that they had the proper care; that furthermore, no nurse had the right to diagnose a disease, and that he would pay no attention to recommendation from office of the county nurse. The mother of the boy took him to the family physician, however, and upon his advice had the indicated operation performed within a few days."

Another case related by the county nurse is that of a small baby suffering with badly infected eyes. Miss McGrail says that their mother was unable to use the physician's treatment and carry out his directions because of her sympathy with the sufferings of the little patient. The time needed for a cure would be long and the expense of hospital care seemed prohibitive. In the case, so the county nurse, was placed in charge until the eyes were healed.

"There is no form of illness of which does not fall within the department," said Miss McGrail in speaking further. "Cases are referred to us by the county commissioners, by the Red Cross headquarters, sometimes by the American Legion, often by neighbors and friends of those who need help of any sort. We do not give financial help, but do make investigations and report cases to the proper authorities where such help is needed."

The supervision of the health of the pupils of the town schools is not included in the work of this department.

CHICAGOANS INTERESTED IN TWIN FALLS SECTION

Windy City Men Ask Data on Which to Base Investment Operations

Chicago men are interesting themselves in the Twin Falls district sufficiently to appeal to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce for information relative to the district and its prospects. The Chicago men are Mr. J. C. Moore, a resident of Twin Falls, formerly of Chicago, who applied for the information desired by the Chicagoans. The latter have delegated Mr. Moore their representative in this city to gather data pertaining to the points in which they are interested.

"The individuals I represent are men of means, and are investigating in preparation for a trip here for a further period of time. They will make investments if things look right," Mr. Moore declared. He added that future activities by the Chicago investigators depend almost wholly on the construction of the southern rail line.

Mr. Moore also is in receipt of a letter from Schenckley, N. Y., asking for information similar to that requested by the Chicago people. He has a son in the employ of Armour and company in Chicago who writes he is daily being urged concerning Twin Falls and district. He has also written Mr. Moore has resided here 12 years.

POST SERVICE IMPROVEMENT BEING SOUGHT

Department Seeks Uniform Numbering of Buildings Throughout City

For the purpose of promoting delivery service, local postoffice authorities will open a campaign, on October 19 to secure the numbering of buildings where mail is delivered, the providing of proper addresses, and the present great numbers of people dependent for their mail delivery upon the memory of the carrier.

"When the services of a mail carrier are necessary, many mistakes and delays occur that would be avoided if patrons conformed to the postal regulations in the two particular matters. Every carrier will be expected to report all cases where patrons are delinquent in the matter of numbering buildings and providing letter boxes, and the department will take steps to secure this compliance for the postal service," stated Assistant Postmaster W. G. Thompson.

The matter of accurate addressing of letters is also stressed by the department. It is stated that 10,000 letters are every year mailed in error because of inaccuracy in the address. This represents a great annual loss of mail, which is entirely avoidable. At least 50 per cent of the mail received by the postoffice is not delivered. At least 12 hours in delivery and the labor involved in finding the correct address in the directory.

Patrons are requested in their minds of handling mail. Mr. Thompson says, and in support of his charge the following instances connected with the local office:

A man in a neighboring town made a letter to Twin Falls, Idaho, and sent it through the post office, and bearing a return address at the address of his wife. Delivery was made to a family of the same name, who had moved to another town. The letter was returned to the sender, and the sender was told that the letter was not delivered.

The next week, a letter was posted the carelessness of a family in some manner, and the letter was placed in a box, and the family was told that the letter was not delivered.

"Every day letters are received in the local office from the Twin Falls Bank. The department goes about among the various places of business that might be the likely recipients of the letter, until the correct house is located. But that takes the time of someone and costs the people a little more money."

She was brought by Mrs. Schuppert on behalf of herself and two minor children under provisions of the federal employers' liability act and was the first action brought under the act to be tried successfully in this section. Evidence indicated that the late accident occurred during a rainstorm. Schuppert was at work in the switching yards when he was struck by a train that had lately been put on the line, and which it was alleged, failed to give warning signal for lights. Mrs. Schuppert was represented by Judge J. R. Bothwell of Twin Falls.

MEXICANS BALK AT HIGH TAXES

Business Houses and Factories of Puebla Likely to Go on Strike

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Wholesale suspension of business by stores and factories in the city of Puebla was expected today, it was asserted in dispatches received here from that city. This would be in protest against alleged excessive taxation by the state government.

Adviser from Puebla indicated the economic situation there is serious. A few textile plants are still in operation today, but were said to have sufficient coal for only three days more.

The food supply has also become a real problem for the residents of Puebla, who continue their street demonstrations.

Governor Sanchez and a citizens committee, was expected to arrive here this afternoon, to confer with President Obregon. Governor Sanchez was detained in dispatches received here last night to have threatened the arrest of Mexico City newspaper men who he said were sending out of Puebla "startling and exaggerated reports of conditions."

Puebla state authorities, instead of modifying the revenue law against which protests have been made, are reported to have made new laws upon moving picture houses and theaters, which, it is said, may close immediately. The two railroads running through Puebla continue to unload goods consigned to that city, and warehouses there are overflowing, as teamsters refuse to move any of the accumulated merchandise.

ALL SHOULDERS TO THE WHEEL

Enthusiasm was instilled into the railroad subscription campaign at a mass meeting of the campaign workers here last evening when it was announced that the Twin Falls district had subscribed its full quota of $10,000.

Figures made public at this meeting gave the Twin Falls district credit for subscriptions aggregating approximately $150,000. Elko county already has subscribed $100,000 and the Salmon River project has come through for $10,000.

On the face of these figures there still remains about $100,000 yet to be subscribed. It is entirely likely unmet subscriptions in other districts of the county will place this figure to a considerable extent, while at the conclusion of the "clean-up" campaign arranged last evening, it is entirely reasonable to suppose that the whole sum will be subscribed with some to spare.

More and more the people are coming to realize the imperative necessity for the construction of the railroad, and more and more appreciation is growing of the fact that subscription to the railroad fund offers the most profitable investment ever presented to this locality. There has been a disposition, it is said, in some other districts to wait until it was seen what Twin Falls was doing to do before going ahead with their own campaigns. What Twin Falls has done is now a matter of record that justifies pride in its accomplishment and that ought to make the raising of the remaining amount a matter of comparatively easy achievement.

One more united pull should put the campaign over. All shoulders to the wheel! Let's go!

A LEAGUE FOR HEALTH

A few days ago the Idaho State Medical Association closed a successful meeting in Twin Falls. It was a meeting filled with the polysyllabic debates and discussions. It was not lacking in the social amenities that are wont to characterize such gatherings. Through the entire two days given to the consideration of "how to make the sick man well" ran the thought of how to keep the well man well. One entire session was given to the consideration of a league for the conservation of public health. The meeting was drawing to its close, the sentiments were expressed again and again, "The best thing that can come out of this meeting is the formation of the league." It may be poor business for medical men to teach their fellowmen the way to health and efficiency, but it is a mighty fine ethics and a civil service of the highest order.

THE SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army's report of its work during its last high ended September 30, constitutes a splendid testimonial. It is hard to see how the organization could get along without this organization of help.

Each month it dispensed charity on an amount supplied at hotels and lodging than a million and a half man and women. Blankets were supplied to nearly 300,000 children. Families in the slums of the great cities, thousands of mothers and babies given health out of thousands of men and women provided with jobs. Six hundred missing persons restored to their relatives. It is apparent at the present time, when industry and depression has made it necessary to establish mutual aid and soup houses. But a certain amount of this kind of work must be done at all times, whether times flourish or not. And the Salvation Army is especially fitted for the job. It relieves cities and churches of a large part of the task of caring for the poor and unfortunate. No other philanthropic body is more worthy of public support.

MEETING THE CAR SHORTAGE

Three out of four men in an Idaho town the other day, were asked for their opinion as to what could be done to meet the annual car shortage which affects the moving of Idaho crops when the market is favorable, hopped to the transportation system.

"Double track the short line said one; we must have that right for cars—we always get cars when we have them had enough, advised the second, and the third declared for getting after the railroad commission and get them to force the cars through.

The fourth man took a new tack. The farmers and home co-operative associations, he said, and build up a storage to store their produce until the rush is over. The fifth should be compensated in a measure by being permitted to lower freight rates for relieving the railroads of a burden. To require the railroads to furnish expensive refrigerator cars all over the United States for the short space of time they are needed, he added, is asking too much.

The suggestions of the first three men, if carried into effect, would do little to solve the situation. But they do not take into account the possibility of a new conception of the problem among the producers, while the fourth man would be caught a glimpse of the only path leading to a better and brighter economic day for the producers. It is to be noted, he is not asking for the assistance of the state or any other person. He is putting the responsibility where it belongs—upon the industry itself.

GETTING RESULTS

During a brief time it has been in operation the national conference on unemployment called by President Hoover. It has made what is probably an unprecedented attempt in dealing with a great emergency. It has been lost in academic discussion, and the value of the president's significant suggestions has been lost. The conference is being held at Washington to co-operate with Col. Arthur Woods, Colonel Woods is an organizer of the ability. He brought the

New York police force up to a standard of efficiency it had never before attained. He has devoted his life to public service and his selection for this position will command the confidence of employers and employes alike.

It is Secretary Hoover's hope that this conference will have the effect of organizing the whole country on a community basis to deal with the pressing problem. That is the only way to grapple effectively with the emergency. Private charitable associations cannot do it, however admirable their aims. They will have their part in relieving the inevitable distress, but in the main what are needed are jobs, not alms. Each community must mobilize its resources for this emergency of peace as it did for that of war.

In the light of the many practical plans now in operation to relieve the situation the public realizes more clearly the indispensability of the separation methods adopted by professional agitators, such as the one who staged a demonstration before the white house the other day. To exploit the unemployed in this manner does nothing to help their plight. The authorities do not need to be impressed with the seriousness of the situation. They are doing their best. Demagogues are not helping a bit to better it. Their clumsy sensationalism only tends to make matters worse.

CHILD HEALTH

The United States bureau of education is urging a nation-wide campaign to teach health rules to the 25,000,000 children in the country through the medium of the public schools. It is proposed to make health instruction as fundamental a part of the child's education as are reading and arithmetic.

How tremendous a task this is and how necessary may be gathered from the fact that no fewer than 15,000,000 of the 25,000,000 now in the schools throughout the country are suffering from physical defects which might be prevented or at least corrected. Three out of every five children have ailments which need attention. The fact that in many cases such ailments may be sufficiently slight to escape the notice of the casual observer does not mean that they may not end in a serious affliction; it only means that the observer ought to be less casual. For in most of these cases it is of importance to detect the ailment in the initial stage.

Time was when we thought a child none the worse off for having a few things the matter with it now and then. Some people even sought comfort in the belief that minor afflictions made the child stronger, rendered him immune to others which, but for present evils, might come later on.

Fortunately this belief is not so widely held as it was years ago. But it has not been an easy task to dispel this ignorance on matters of child health. That we have not, altogether dispelled it is seen in the fact that 15,000,000 children today still suffer from preventable ailments. Lack of funds in the home may explain this situation in part. The figures given out by the bureau are convincing proof that much remains to be done. Working separately at this task the home and the school seem not to have accomplished much. But if the bureau can bring the home and the school together in the endeavor there is little doubt that we shall presentise see a healthier childhood.

More Truth Than Poetry

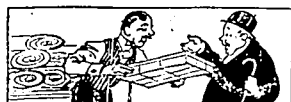

IT SOMETIMES HAPPENS

"I'm just a minute I'll be down," she called when he stood at the door. His face was darkened by a frown. For he had heard that said before; He looked out sadly at his taxi. By deep sighing he was stirred, And then the strangest thing took place; A glad smile lighted up his face— By golly, she had kept her word!

"B'Y C & D," the broker said, "It's sure to rise; I've got a tip." So Davis plunged. That night, in bed, His confidence began to slip. Next day he stood beside the ticker His face was pale, he nerves a wreck. He bought the stuff at seventeen. And at the close he felt events— It went to thirty-six, by Heck!

"Next Thursday," said the tailor when Briggs asked what day he might come in; "Your suit will be all ready then;" Briggs grinned a very doubtful grin. On Thursday, not that he expected. His finished suit to be in sight. He stopped to call the tailor's bluff, But got a shock, for, sure enough, The suit was done, all right, all right!

"TOMORROW, if I'm still alive, I'll hand this back!" His eyes were dim With moisture as he took the "five" For which it had been touched by him. I bade a silent farewell to it, But something strange has just occurred— The strangest thing I ever knew; It seems too pleasant to be true— By golly, he has kept his word!
