Members of the association believe that the total acreage this year to be planted to potatoes will be greatly under the 1922 figure.

DRIVER DROWNS IN AUTO WRECK

Henry Wagner Pinned Under Car in Water After Losing Control of Machine. Crushed between the top and steering post of his overturned automobile, Henry Wagner, age 15, employe of the Twin Falls Canning company, drowned Wednesday afternoon in three feet of water in the irrigation ditch crossing the state highway four miles east of Twin Falls.

Wagner and Frank Johnson, who was riding in the car, and who escaped injury, had been working for the canal company at Murtaugh and both had quit work Wednesday last as they reached the culvert over the ditch.

The car turned toward the side of the road and in attempting to turn it back again, a front wheel was broken and the car rolled over. Johnson was unable to remove his companion from his position under the car.

Both men lived in the South Park addition here Wednesday last as they were Indian, and who had changed his name from the original, came here with Walter Hays, who adapted his white car to the district in 1922, according to Dan Morris, who worked with Wagner on the Clover project about nine years ago.

Duvall, secretary of the committee, reported assignment of sub-committee chairmanships as follows: Wendell J. Allen, reception; Lee B. Chase, accommodations; Ralph B. Smith, entertainment; John W. LIQUOR CASE IS DEBATED Question of Ownership of Gallon Jug of Booze Argued by Counsel at Hearing of E. J. Murray. Testimony concerning the arrest of E. J. Murray at the Twin Falls Steam Laundry March 3 on a liquor charge was given at his preliminary hearing Monday before Probate Judge O. P. Duvall. The case was taken under advisement.

Whether or not Mr. Murray had the knowledge that the gallon of liquor, which he was charged with possessing, was made, was in his establishment was one of the principal arguments. W. Orr Chapman, counsel for Mr. Murray, contended that the liquor might have been placed in the laundry by someone other than the defendant.

His station will be located at 244 Third avenue south, where two gas tanks with a total capacity of 25,000 gallons will be installed at a cost of $1,500, according to the building permit filed with the city. CECIL ARDEN, APPEARING IN CONCERT, CAPTIVATES LOCAL LOVERS OF GOOD MUSIC

Anticipations of those who admire musical talent and talent of highest caliber were rewarded Monday night when Cecil Arden, Metropolitan opera contractor, appearing in concert at the Orpheum theater under the auspices of the Elks lodge, gave Twin Falls its most notable musical event in several years.

DAIRY SELLING PLAN IS GIVEN ADDED SUPPORT

Twin Falls County Association Soon to be Incorporated; Believe that $60,000 Can Be Saved Annually. That the Twin Falls County Dairy-men's association is to be a permanent organization, and one that will furnish good returns for the support given it was indicated at a meeting of the organization committee of the association with a number of other dairymen and local business men at the chamber of commerce room Monday night.

The meeting was presided by a conference of the committee at the courthouse Monday afternoon at which final disposition was made of the matter of incorporation and at which the by-laws were discussed. Such details concerning the incorporation proceedings will be completed during the few days and the papers will be filed within a week, according to Ben Dussman of Buhl, attorney for the association.

The meeting Monday night was held for the purpose of further explaining to the dairymen what the association means to them. At the close of the session eight signed the contract with the association and these with others already secured, will bring the monthly milk total to about 15,000 pounds, half the amount to be obtained before the association gets into actual operation.

Products Future. Gustave Runzo of Buhl, who has been a leading factor in forming the organization, gave a clear picture of what can be accomplished by the association if the dairymen will support it. It will not only mean a considerable increase in financial returns to the dairymen but the formation of a permanent association to take care of the interests of the dairymen, creameries and possibly a condenser, he stated.

Roy Smith, manager of the cooperative creamery at Jerome, operated under a similar plan as that of the local organization, showed that the proposition has paid ample returns to the dairymen. Roy Smith and Mrs. M. K. Runzo placed special emphasis on the importance of the amount and quality of cream to be handled by the association.

A. L. Swin brought up the subject of the best method of getting the milk into this district and increasing the herds that are here. Mr. Swin referred to the plan used on the north side in which business men formed an organization with a capital of $25,000 which was spent in buying dairy cattle to that district and he stated that he believed a similar plan could be followed here.

It was shown by various speakers that the Twin Falls district is far ahead of the most successful dairying districts as far as the growing of feed is concerned.

Discuss Contract. The contracts between the association and its members is based on the contract of the Weaver association. It was read and discussed at the meeting and found to be generally satisfactory.

Noted Contralto Charms Audience

Cecil Arden, Appearing in Concert, Captivates Local Lovers of Good Music. Anticipations of those who admire musical talent and talent of highest caliber were rewarded Monday night when Cecil Arden, Metropolitan opera contractor, appearing in concert at the Orpheum theater under the auspices of the Elks lodge, gave Twin Falls its most notable musical event in several years.

From the time Miss Arden opened her concert with Mozart's "Don Giovanni" until her final encore was given, the audience expressed approval and numerous encores were demanded. Probably the greatest contributing factor to the welcome she was given was found in the universal appeal of her program, which included selections ranging from catchy airs to several that afforded the noted singer an opportunity of proving her high technical and artistic accomplishments.

SHERIFF TELLS OF RAID UPON RED CONCLAVE

Reference to Herrin Massacre Brings Clash in Opening Argument of W. Z. Foster on Syndicalism Charge

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 15 (AP)—William Z. Foster's trial on charges of criminal syndicalism got under way late today when Sheriff George Bridgeman of Berrien county, took the stand as the state's chief witness and described how he, with a posse of 20 deputies, four federal agents and a number of the state constabulary, raided the communist convention held near here last August.

The jury was completed early this noon, with one woman and 11 men seated to try Foster, first of the 70 persons alleged to have attended the convention, to go on trial. Nine of the jurors are farmers, one a grocer, one a crossing watchman and the twelfth a housewife.

O. L. Smith, assistant attorney general of Michigan, in his opening statement, declared the state would show that Foster had helped to organize, become a member and voluntarily assembled with the communist party, which taught and advocated the doctrine of crime, sabotage, violence and other unlawful means of overthrowing a means of accomplishing industrial or political reform.

Reviews Foster's Activities.
The evidence will show, he said, that Foster was a paid organizer and official of the organization and editor of the Labor Herald of Chicago, official publication of the Trade Union Educational league, an offshoot of the communist party.

Mr. Smith and Frank P. Walsh of New York, chief of counsel for Foster, clashed when the assistant attorney general declared the evidence would show that the Herrin, Illinois mine war, in which more than 20 persons were killed, had been lauded at the convention as a "valiant defense" and that an official of the communist party attending the convention had declared the workers throughout the country must "take their guns and close down the scab mines and paralyze the state machinery in military action."

Mr. Walsh objected to Mr. Smith referring to the Herrin killings as "murders" and contended that in the only completed case growing out of the affair the defendant was acquitted. Judge Charles White ruled that as the attorney general said, he had the documents to support his statements it was admissible.

Mr. Smith described the speech the state claims Foster delivered to the convention and repeated part of it, in which he said Foster had, at a union meeting at Chicago, which was debating the question of buying an automobile agent for his business agents. A substitute motion to buy a bicycle was presented when the speaker demanded to know how a "business agent can throw bricks through windows from a bicycle."

Mr. Walsh in his opening statement said the defense would "endeavor to show that Foster attended the convention as a fraternal delegate and did not hold a card or pay dues to the communist party."

Charges Double Crossing.
He described the organization of the party in 1919 and the federal raids on its members on January 1, 1920. The evidence, he said, would show that federal secret agents at the party's so-called meetings for that day, and that when the members had assembled in response to the call, they were raided and some 600 arrested, few of whom were ever brought to trial.

The raids, he said, drove the party underground, but that the Bridgeman convention was the party's "re-organization of legality for the express purpose of voting on a resolution to come out in the open again as a legal group. The evidence will bring out, Mr. Walsh told the jurors, that government secret agent, Francis Morrow, alias Ashworth, of Camden, N. J., was a delegate to the convention and that among the speakers was one of the extreme radical wing which opposed the move, and that the motion was defeated by one vote.

"The deciding vote against it was cast," Mr. Walsh said, "by my representative of the secret service of the United States."

Morrow, who was arrested at the time of the raid, but later released when he established his identity as a government secret service agent, is to be a witness for the state in the trial here.

Sees Doctrine on Trial.

Mr. Smith, in his statement, declared the prosecution is not aimed at the beliefs of Foster, at organized labor or at Foster as a "labor agitator," but that it is aimed at the advocacy of the doctrine, "that the government of the state of Michigan and the government of the United States shall be forcibly overthrown by the workers by means of armed insurrection and will be supplanted by a form of government known as the "dictatorship of the proletariat."

"We will show you," Mr. Smith continued, "that at the time of the raid all the documents and materials used at the convention were buried in two barrels sunk in the ground and carefully concealed; that this literature shows the nature, kind and character of the assembly and shows the purpose of violent and forcible overthrow of all existing forms of state and national government in the United States; and supplanting the same with the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Divorce Shakes English Society

Mr. & Mrs. Tom Furness, wife.

English society is being shaken by the trial of the divorce proceedings instituted in London by Tom Furness, member of the immensely wealthy membership family. Drugs, whiskey and indiscretions are alleged. Mrs. Elizabeth Furness, an American girl, sued first, but her husband answered with a cross-petition, alleging she mis-conducted herself with Maurice Mauvoit, the noted dancer. She vehemently denied his charge.

held under the most secret and guarded conditions, and the reasons were held in such place that detection was almost impossible; to make the secrecy of their convention doubly sure, they had lookouts or sentinels posted to warn the location of any approach of strangers.

"We will show that among the papers seized was a pamphlet entitled the 'Program and Constitution of the Communist Party of America,' which teaches, advises and advocates the duty and necessity for the forcible and violent overthrow of all existing state and national governments in the United States, and substituting therefor the dictatorship of the proletariat.

Teaches Hatred as Duty.
"We will show that this document teaches the duty of hatred on the part of the working class against the employing class; that it teaches throughout the necessity of the class struggle of the workers against the land owning and employing classes, characterizing this struggle as a political struggle which inevitably develops into civil war; that this document teaches the inevitability of and necessity for violent revolution and will prepare the workers for armed insurrection as the only means of overthrowing the capitalist state.

"We will show you from the printed documents seized at the second national communist party convention that the Herrin massacre at Herrin, Illinois, where innocent miners were murdered, is lauded as a valiant defense on the part of the striking miners and the workers against the land owning and paralyzing the state machinery by military action—revolution by bullets, not ballots."

Describes Raid.
Sheriff Bridgeman was still on the stand under direct examination when court adjourned tonight. He told the jury that the raid on the headquarters of the national bureau of the department of justice in Chicago, came to him August 18, of last year, and requested his aid. The raid was made on Tuesday, with Spolansky, Maurice Wolf and Edward Shanahan, federal agents, helping the sheriff's posse.

The sheriff described the scene of the convention as a deeply wooded ravine hidden away among the Wolfskil dunes, 20 miles south of St. Joseph, and on the shore of Lake Michigan. Here the communists, he said, had taken over the cottages of the Wolfskil summer resort and were holding their sessions in a dance pavilion.

Mr. Smith described the method of digging up of the evidence which had been buried in two barrels specially prepared to protect their contents from moisture. The evidence was brought into court and piled before the jury.

Besides the 76 document files, in which the delegates kept their papers, there were piles of printed documents, one of two leather brief cases, half a dozen typewriters and two duplicating machines.

SEES CAPITAL ON LAST LEGS

Leader of Labor Party in British Parliament Preaches the Adoption of Socialism

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—"Labor should do itself the justice of ceasing to be negative, anti-capitalist, thinking only of its shares," writes Ramsey MacDonald, leader of the labor opposition in the House of Commons in the February issue of the Socialist Review. His article is called "The Outlook for Trade Unionism."

"Every counsellor who advises labor contrary to the spirit of social cooperation is misleading it," continued Mr. MacDonald. "The building up of an organization devised exclusively to fight capitalism is an error. The fight against capitalism has to be carried on by applying a better spirit than that of capitalism to social and industrial problems and difficulties."

After stating that political and moral weapons alone can undermine the walls of capitalism, Mr. MacDonald adds: "Organized labor, trade union executives, parliamentary parties, should each in their own way and in respect to their own trades and jobs make the conspiracy of capitalism against the community—not always against the labor party—clear. This has to be accomplished by a persistent explanation of the work of capitalism, its watered stocks, its flotation expenses, its useless payments, its methods of keeping up prices, and such like."

"Capitalism is decaying owing to its moral bankruptcy. It is at war with social production, with common well-being, and with the spiritual level of liberty. If the labor struggle is conducted in the same spirit as capitalists have shown, and on a class basis, the decisive battles will be fought with economic weapons alone and labor will gain a great victory; but as soon as labor loses its mind so as to come under the influence of the spirit of its historic role to create a social economic organization that will secure liberty and make a single minded pursuit of commonwealth interests practicable, it will equip itself with weapons and hold a position which will make its final victory certain."
