

TRACE PROGRESS TO RECLAMATION OF DESERT LAND

Guy Flenner, in Address to Realtors, Says "Shovel is Preferable to the Sword" for Nation's Expansion

(NOTE—Mr. Flenner is one of the oldest newspaper men, in point of service, in the northwest. In his capacity as a newspaper writer he has long had an active interest in irrigation and reclamation. As head of a civic organization in Idaho, he put over the American Falls project, and is financing cooperatively between the farmers of a large territory and the United States government, a task that engaged his time for nearly two years. This work will result in the construction of the largest storage reservoir in the world.)

PORTLAND, July 10 (AP)—Declaring that all the gold brought down from Alaska, which was territorially a United States government investment in 1867 to the amount of $1,500,000, was not worth in terms of progress and prosperity, nor in natural effect, "one agricultural valley full of American homes," Guy Flenner, of Boise, Idaho, returns newspaper news of the conditions, speaking today on the subject of reclamation before the association of the Northwest Real Estate convention, drew a sharp contrast between the expenditure of government funds in various directions and of federal loans in aid of irrigation development. "We do not urge that these expenditures or donations or gifts or what ever they may be called should not have been made, nor that they should be curtailed in the future," the speaker said, "for healthful national growth necessitates general and provincial development; but we do urge that to rivers and harbors be arid ranches and homes.

National Expansion.
"Expansion is the outgrowth of congestion in every nation. It is sought peacefully or through the conditions of war lords have been popularly supported more on account of natural conditions than because of any national desire for expansion or conflict on the part of the population.
"The requirements for expansion will become increasingly pronounced in this country. We can expand by either our own borders or through acquisition of outside territory. There is room here for all the growth the nation will experience in many generations to come in the space. That space is represented by arid and semiarid America, and the key that will unlock its doors is the loving and horse-making power is reclamation.
"Expansion is bound to come. Might we not better expand within our own borders? It is preferable to the sword. That suggestion does not seem to be inappropriate, especially at a time when the country appears to stand at the threshold of a redecision of the palace of peace.

Commercial Growth.
"Speaking in a purely commercial way devoid of all utilitarian aspects, reclamation is the keynote of advancement. To the westward, the country must have a look for future expansion. Eastern manufacturers will find in the west the largest opportunities it seeks. When official figures show that on a small government project, a little more than 100,000 acres, there was purchased in one year more than $2,000,000 of eastern manufactured products, men of affairs in the manufacturing centers of the country may well take notice; for that is but a drop in the bucket compared to the total of all projects and only a drop of the drop contrasted with future possibilities. In all the government projects that are necessary to be carried out, whereas the territory was barren, without people or production a few years ago, more than $150,000,000 of eastern manufactured products have been purchased. It may be argued that people on these projects would have bought more or less of those products, however they might be, but the fact remains that the soil tiller is a much heavier purchaser than the city tenant."

In Twenty Years.
The speaker called attention to the fact that July 17 this year completed 25 years of operation under the national reclamation act. The government had expended by that date $250,000,000. More than 1,700,000 acres of arid land had been supplied with a complete water supply and 1,100,000 acres additional had been furnished with a supplemental supply.
"Utilizing the results on the 25 government projects now in operation, Mr. Flenner stated that the acreage created to the amount of $250,000,000, having an assessed valuation of not less than $100,000,000. People on these projects had shown that more than $200,000,000 of eastern manufactured products. They owned livestock to the value of $20,000,000. They had built 60 towns, 200 public schools, 300 churches. On these tracts were 75 banks, with deposits of $15,000,000, sugar factories, saw factories, creameries, flour mills, etc.

On these 25 projects, with 31,423 farms of an average of 53 acres each, the value of the crops raised is officially given at $475,000,000 or $340,000 more than the total expenditures to date," the speaker stated. To this must be added the crops raised by reason of a supplemental water supply on over 1,000,000 acres. It is true that crop values do not constitute a direct repayment to the government; but the production of additional wealth cannot be legitimately disregarded as a very large credit on the books of national prosperity and growth. It would be remembered, too, that these government loans in aid of reclamation are being repaid as fast as it is humanly possible. The eight government projects in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, there are over 400,000 acres being irrigated out of an irrigable area of 600,000 acres. The average crop value of these projects for 1922 was $70 an acre, ranging as high as $385 on one project. The net investment to date on the eight projects is $35,000,000 and the total crop value in 1922 alone was more than $21,500,000."

Unclaimed Territory.
The speaker related that in the four states mentioned consideration was being given approximately 5,000,000 acres of unclaimed lands that is irrigable and for which water is available within ability of the land to pay the cost. He classified these lands by states as follows: Idaho, 1,000,000; Montana, 99,400; Oregon, 102,000; Washington, 2,261,000. The latter included the Columbia river basin project of which 750,000 acres is irrigated by the project with gravity, 91,000 by pumping and 317,000 by pumping more than 150 feet.

The Columbia river basin project alone will cost, estimated, $255,000,000 for the gravity system, and something additional, of course, for the pumping project. The speaker continued, "but on the other side of the ledger we see more than 43,000 farms of 50 acres each, a farming population of approximately 230,000,000 in new settlements, $150,000,000 in new value and an influence that will give birth to greater city activity and industry, and make that portion of the west a thriving hive of industry."

"The 5,000,000 acres in the four states, to which reference has been made, would produce 2,000,000,000 bushels of wheat, with a farming population of over 400,000, with $750,000,000 of new value and a net of not less than $300,000,000 together with real estate and better towns, factories and, above all, those rugged stones in the foundation of an enduring American civilization—homes."

"These are not mere pictures. The figures are not based on actualities brought about under more difficult conditions than those that have experienced on future projects."
Aid to Development.
The speaker declared that "patient persistence and practical propaganda" should be the prime ingredients in the western reclamation program.
"These great objectives cannot be reached in a short time," he continued. "We will meet opposition as honest as that broken by a united opposition. Break it down with the forces of legitimate argument, vitalized and visualized facts and western unity."
"We ought to start with the latter. If Montana is fighting Washington, and if Utah is fighting Idaho and so on, we are like a lot of detached gophers, each broken by a united opposition. Remember, the other fellow is all together."

"It is also our duty to present convincing evidence to the congress and impractical suggestions and criticism. We should not say to congress, which must provide the funds, that our irrigation projects are productive of everything, but enough money to repay the government. Relief of agriculture on reclamation projects should be generally speaking, in the will necessary effort for agriculture over, however, taking into consideration the newness of the project lands. Demand for almost unending project relief, coupled with exaggerated reports of real conditions on these projects that have been sent to Washington, D. C., hardly constitute the best argument for additional appropriations."
"We should cooperate closely and unitedly with all agencies undertaking to work on the problems of reclamation. Specialization on government projects should be minimized during the period of federal control. The farm units should be held to a maximum consistent with successful operation by the average farmer and his family. Long time payments, with a low rate of interest, should be provided, but there should be firm support on our part of those authorities who insist that, under such liberal conditions, the settlers pay the government and not stand it off because of the government. With government projects under the slightest suspicion of attempted repudiation, reclamation is accented on the west."

Markets and Transportation.
"Marketing and transportation are subjects to which we should give thoughtful consideration. More transportation and lower freight rates on agricultural products are needed; and we should encourage all legitimate efforts to secure them. But are we doing so? Is it not true that we are giving support to men whose vaulting ambition and deathless pursuit of votes have led them into a socialistic attitude with relation to our carriers? If our transportation systems are to give us the service we require, they must make money. Indeed, an impoverished transportation system is about the worst cause that could be inflicted upon any section.

But we must make money. Indeed, an impoverished transportation system is about the worst cause that could be inflicted upon any section. Indeed, an impoverished transportation system is about the worst cause that could be inflicted upon any section. Indeed, an impoverished transportation system is about the worst cause that could be inflicted upon any section.

It is within the knowledge of a great number of people that one great transportation company, serving a large portion of the northwest, is negotiating with certain lines and other than agricultural shippers to bring about adjustments that will permit volume agricultural rate reductions applicable to the present growing crops. At the same time politicians are urging a costly organized procedure before the interstate commerce commission, which would operate to stop concession and negotiation, and throw our farming shippers into an indeterminate conflict of a legal nature with principally connecting lines and adverse shipping interests.
"The course of direct action, it seems, is the most effective, although, of course, far less dramatic. You men are in position to aid shippers in a study of these complex subjects to the end that any action on their part may be helpful to them and not productive of further injury."

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.
The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case, he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents and a bottle of it in the home often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.—adv.

Hatch Eggs in Decaying Plants.
The Australian bush turkey lays its eggs on the top of a heap of decaying vegetation, which it has piled up to a height of fifteen feet or so. The eggs are laid at a depth of five or six feet, and left to hatch themselves by the warmth generated by the decaying matter.
Powerful Odor of Musk.
In the case of musk, as it comes to the refiner, the odor is so pungent and unpleasant that those who have to examine the pods in which it comes wear masks covering the nose and mouth.

SAYS INSURANCE FIRMS NOT FAIR

Oklahoma Legislator Claims Companies Confiscated Millions in Lapsed Payments

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Asserting that insurance companies have confiscated millions of dollars because of lapsed payments by policyholders, Representative Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, announced today he would introduce a bill in the next congress to guarantee to the public "the full benefits under all insurance policy contracts."
The money held by the companies, Mr. Thomas said, consists of funds which "rightfully belong to the estates of unfortunate persons who permitted failure of the companies to lapse after making a sufficient number of annual premium payments to give their policies a paid up or extended insurance value."
The bill would require the companies to advise policy holders of the value of their policies. Mr. Thomas said, is responsible for the condition. Many who have permitted their policies to lapse, he said, do not know such policies have a value if they have been in force for more than three years, and the insurance companies, taking advantage of this ignorance, fail to notify them of such value.

AVIATOR'S MOTHER SAYS MAUGHAN DID HIS BEST

Mrs. Peter W. Maughan, Mother of Ten Living Children, Believed that Agony of Air Test is Ended

LOGAN, Utah, July 10 (AP)—Informed tonight that her son Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, holder of the Pulitzer record for speed in an airplane, had failed in his second attempt to fly across the United States between dawn and dusk, Mrs. Peter W. Maughan, who resides here, declared tonight she was "satisfied that my boy did the best he could, although I am disappointed he did not complete the flight."
"I had great faith that Russell could make it, but since he did his best I am satisfied. I am glad the agony is all over, for it has been a great suspense," she asserted.
Mrs. Maughan, a widow and mother of ten living children, was at her home at River Heights overlooking the city of Logan and Cache county when she received a telephone message from Lieutenant Maughan at Rock Springs.

GERMAN NOTE IS BEING DELAYED

Believed Lord Curzon Seeks Compromise on Passive Resistance in Ruhr Area

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Lord Curzon is experiencing more difficulty in the preparation of his note to Germany than had been expected. It is now reported that the note and the covering letter may not be dispatched to the allies until next week, but whether the trouble has arisen from political friction within the cabinet or from the inherent difficulty of framing a reply to Germany which would not offend France, is not certain.

It is believed although nothing is known officially, that Curzon is making the greatest efforts to find a way of compromise on the question of passive resistance in the Ruhr. He has had conversations with the German ambassador, the latest of which was yesterday, probably with the idea of finding how far the German government might be willing to recede from its support of the passive resistance movement.

LIGHTWEIGHTS ALL SET FOR CHAMPIONSHIP GO

Leonard and Tendler Putting Final Touches to Training for Title Match Monday at Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Lew Tendler, his challenger, are putting the final touches to their training for their title match at Yankee stadium next Monday night, having reached the pink of condition, according to word today from the fight quarters.

Leonard, putting the finishing touches to his five weeks of training at Tannersville, N. Y., has announced he is down to the weight limit, 135 pounds. Critics had believed the champion because of his comparative inactivity since last summer, would have trouble making the weight, it being recalled that he was only once under 135 pounds when he outpointed Tendler in a spectacular fight a year ago at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

Tendler, who came close to winning the championship at one stage of his last battle with Leonard, has done his training at Delancey, N. J., and is declared to be showing exceptional form.

SHORTHORN BREEDERS SET EXCURSION DATE

Preliminary Plans Provide for Visit to Farms Followed by Picnic Lunch and Program at Fair Grounds

Date for the annual excursion of the Twin Falls North and South Gato Shorthorn Breeders' association has been definitely set for Thursday, July 20, it was announced Thursday at the county farm bureau offices, where C. E. Henson, secretary of the association, and H. C. Hansen, assistant county agent, were in conference on plans for the affair. Itinerary and definite arrangements for the program remain to be worked out, it was stated, although it is known that Donn E. J. Iddings of the state agricultural college; Mr. Lawson representing the American Shorthorn Breeders' association, and E. F. Binchart, field animal husbandman of the state university extension division, expect to be here and take part in the excursion.

Preliminary plans provide for visits in the forenoon to farms on which Shorthorn cattle are bred, followed by a picnic lunch and program at the county fair grounds at Filer.

Deaths

Mrs. Jane D. Walker, who has made her home for some time with her daughter, Mrs. Elsie M. Blackwell of Buhl, died at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at a hospital here at the age of 80 years. The body has been taken to the P. J. Grossman mortuary. Communion of funeral arrangements is awaiting word from relatives elsewhere although it has been announced that burial will be in the Twin Falls cemetery.

AVIATOR'S PLAN FOR LONG TRIP MEETS FAILURE

To this he made another interjection to reply the characteristic "Would you if you were me?" Then he added, "Naturally I would. Asked pointedly if he would fly again in an attempt to span the continent he replied: "I don't know." He added that this was "up to the air service officials at Washington."

Lieutenant Maughan said also that it would take three or four hours to repair the plane. He said he probably would not go to San Francisco, "now that the flight has ended."

He added that he might go to Logan Utah, to see his wife and children and his mother. After that, he asserted, Mitchell field, New York, the starting point of his transcontinental flight today, probably would be his destination. He indicated he would return to Mitchell field by airplane.

Lieutenant Maughan characterized as "impossible," rumors circulated in the past that his plane might have been tampered with before he started the flight. "It was simply a case of the soldered part of the tank coming loose as a result of the vibration caused by speed," he asserted.

"It would have been impossible for anyone to tamper with the oil cooler," he declared, "and any such reports are untrue."

The leak occurred at a place within the plane machinery which could not have been reached without working a considerable time, he said, and many of the upper parts would have had to be removed if it was tampered with. It was 15 hours to the minute when he landed at Rock Springs, from the time he took off at Mitchell field, N. Y., at 4:03 eastern standard time, this morning.

The three stops he made at Dayton, St. Joseph and Cheyenne had consumed one hour and 51 minutes.

COMRADES DISAPPOINTED. MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., July 19 (AP)—Officials at Mitchell field, from which Lieutenant Maughan started this morning on his attempted daylight-around trip across the continent, stated tonight that the descent at Rock Springs, Wyo., was undoubtedly caused by loosening of the solder used to mend the leak in the oil feed pipe at Cheyenne.

The engine was overheated at the time the pipe was fixed, the officials said, and the terrific heat generated by the plane's high speed was thought to have melted the solder.

Gloom overspread the army post tonight. Officers who had gathered at a Long Island hotel for a banquet, where they expected to drink a toast to the success of their comrade, returned slowly to the field. They made no effort to hide their keen disappointment.

But there was no criticism of Lieutenant Maughan. It was plain "hard luck" the officers agreed. All were sure he would make another attempt and were just as sure he would succeed when he did try again.

Struck down by an automobile that stopped only long enough to learn that he had injured the lad, Robert Stinson, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Stinson, 740 Ash street, is lying at his home with both legs crushed and leg crushed just below the knee.

Tourist Park Lacks Needed Facilities

Inauguration of "Pay" Basis Seems Probable Result of Growing Volume of Travel

Twin Falls' tourist park is likely to be put on a "pay" basis, unless another method can be found to raise funds to provide additional facilities made necessary by the present season's increased volume of automobile tourist travel passing through this city.

SEARCH FOR OIL IS PROMISING

Operator in Goose Creek Encounters Hard Rock Believed Top of Dome

At a depth of 850 feet in a well he is putting down in the vicinity of Onley for the Goose Creek Oil and Development company, composed of Pennsylvania investors who are interested in the search for oil in the region, Mr. Carpenter has encountered a hard sand stone formation which he regards as a probable dome under which oil will be found in quantity.

Storm Area Small

The thunderstorm apparently was confined to the vicinity of Kimberly and Hansen. Reports to the power company officers here tell of no other damage elsewhere.

County Wins Suit on Hospital Water

Court Rules City Must Not Serve Other Consumers to Institution's Injury

Twin Falls county won its suit in district court here Friday to compel the city of Twin Falls to furnish adequate water supply to the county general hospital.

Arrangements Near Completion for Ten-Days Outing and School at Cabin in Shoshone Basin

Members of four Twin Falls Boy Scout troops, with their leaders, and boys friends between the ages of 12 and 18, who are not Scouts, will set out Thursday afternoon with camping equipment and supplies for ten days' camping and school in scoutcraft at the Scout cabin in Shoshone basin, under arrangements announced Tuesday.

Strander in Charge of Texas Oil Station

Management of Distributing Center Here is Delegated to Well Known Young Business Man

Management of the Texas Oil company distributing center lately established in Twin Falls has been delegated to Eugene E. Strander, it was announced Tuesday evening. Buildings for the complete service business and warehouses here have been completed and erection of tanks is awaiting the arrival of material.

Jerome Farmer Gored; Severely Hurt by Bull

Suffering from severe injuries inflicted Wednesday evening by a bull, William F. Jacobs, leaseholder in a district court Saturday against the Milner Low Lift Irrigation district for judgment in the sum of $800. Kidd alleges that his contract bore date of July 1, 1922, and was for a term of one year. Under the contract, he says, he was to receive a salary of $150 a month, together with house rent, fuel and other incidentals, but was paid at $5 a month.

Girl Looks for Lincum

One member of the stricken little group, fourteen years old—Dorothy Lancaster—made it her business to learn the number on the license plate of the car. The number she obtained is believed not to be strictly accurate because records show it was issued to a 1918 model Ford car, while the car which she stricken down was an almost new Star or Chevrolet, the children say. The number, however, is expected to play an important part in the apprehension of the offending driver.

Outlander in Charge of Texas Oil Station

Management of Distributing Center Here is Delegated to Well Known Young Business Man

Management of the Texas Oil company distributing center lately established in Twin Falls has been delegated to Eugene E. Strander, it was announced Tuesday evening. Pumpman Claims Breach of Contract for Work

Claiming that he had been discharged without cause and was discharged without contract to operate the district's pumping plant, R. J. Kidd, through his attorney, E. C. Hazel, filed suit in district court Saturday against the Milner Low Lift Irrigation district for judgment in the sum of $800. Kidd alleges that his contract bore date of July 1, 1922, and was for a term of one year. Under the contract, he says, he was to receive a salary of $150 a month, together with house rent, fuel and other incidentals, but was paid at $5 a month.

Meeting at Meeting

The meeting, which was presided over by W. T. Bell, president of the club, was one of the best attended of the year, and a number of the members were present in addition to the railroad party.

President Gray, who was the only speaker, gave a more or less intimate account of the attitude of his company with respect to its Idaho program.

Outlines Benefits

"One of the finest things about the railroad business is the benefit and development which follows the extension of railroad activity through and over new territory. The satisfaction that comes from this serves to compensate to some extent for the fact that personal contacts in the railroad business are difficult of accomplishment and that with the growth of the railroad systems of the country necessary organization has done away to a large extent with the close personal connections between railroads and the public of a decade ago.

Other Guests

R. W. Yenta, sales manager of the Utah Independent Gas and Oil company of Salt Lake; Mr. Bradford of the "Producers and Refiners" association of Denver; A. J. Allen of Elgin, who will shortly engage in the insurance business in Twin Falls, and Miss Coleman of the Chautauque office, were guests of the Glen Bell club at the Norton, Kansas, and Sam Christensen of Logan, Utah, both Republicans, were visitors.

TWIN FALLS WEEKLY NEWS

Established 1904
Twin Falls News Publishing Company, Ltd., Publishers
Entered as second class matter December 12, 1904 at the Post Office at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

IN WHICH CLASS?

Surely a sad commentary upon human nature is presented in the action of the man who, on Sunday last, ran down a child with his car and then, after stopping long enough to learn that serious injury had been inflicted, hurried back into his machine and drove rapidly away from the scene.

There is an element of downright moral cowardice in the picture which leaves an ugly feeling in the breast of the average man. Perhaps the fault was not all upon the side of the driver; possibly he is a man who at heart is a careful driver, as such things go. The evidence is too incomplete to warrant a hard and fast opinion, but there can be no two opinions as to the character of such a man—either he is a weakling without enough moral stamina to enable him to come forward like a man, tell his story and stand by the consequences, or a two-legged skunk with all the trimmings of the word implies.

Probably he will be discovered to be in the former rather than the latter class, when and if his identity ever is discovered. But how much better it would have been if he had had the nerve to play the man in the first place.

In the meantime public sympathy goes out to the little victim and to the members of the family.

A SHAKED UP PRESS

A Russian-born representative of the New York World, Samuel Spowack, presents an almost incredible picture of the Russian press.

He has been reading the leading Soviet newspapers for a year. He has spent much time in their offices. He knows their editors and reporters, and speaks their language. He should know, therefore, what he is talking about.

Now, safely outside of Russia, Mr. Spowack reports that every newspaper in that country is the organ of the Soviet government and every newspaper editor is bound by the discipline of the Communist party. There is no pretense of presenting news. The newspapers are published solely "to create public opinion which will favor what the government favors."

"Accordingly, every editorial is a government pronouncement, every story a government interpretation. News is distorted, faked and colored as a subsequent press anywhere else would attempt. No opposition press exists."

As a result, the people have no means of judging events, domestic or foreign, and know nothing about what is going on outside of Russia. That is why the Bolshevik leaders retain their power. It may take a long time for such a drugged population to wake up. But when they do, what will happen to the present regime?

FRATERNAL CO-OPERATION.

A newspaper writer tells of a family which he considers "the most wonderful family in the world." It consists of nine brothers. One Sunday every month they all get together and have a business meeting, in which they discuss what they can do to help each other along. Then they spend the rest of the day in sociability.

"There are no jealousies," says the writer, "no petty bickerings. There is good will and charity and co-operation and brotherly love."

The brothers, by the way, all seem to be prospering, besides enjoying their relations. "But nations cannot do that!" is the retort, when someone applies a rather obvious moral. Well—has it ever been tried?

Calendar Curiousities.

The calendar offers certain curiosities which are little known. No century can begin on a Wednesday, Friday or Saturday. The month of October begins always on the same day of the week as the month of January; February, March and November begin on the same day of the week. May, June and August begin on different days of the week and do not apply to leap years. The ordinary year always finishes on the same day of the week as it began.

Woman's Death in Maryland Is a Mystery

Lulu Bicketts Bevard Kepner.

Mrs. Bevard Kepner, of Frederick, Md., was found shot to death in her home last April. A justice of the peace, in accordance with the Maryland law, signed a death certificate declaring she was a suicide. Little was heard of the case until her brother and sister started an investigation, which resulted in the body being exhumed and an inquest held. A Miss Lulu Bicketts created a sensation when she declared in court that Bevard Kepner, the dead woman's husband, had frequently proposed that she run away from home with him, while his wife was still alive.

American Relief Workers Marry Daughters of Former Noblemen

Americans Stationed in Russia Will Bring Foreign Girls Home as Their Brides

MOSCOW, July 18 (AP)—One princess and one countess and 19 other girls having no titles but mostly members of former Russian aristocratic families are on their way or some day will go to the United States as brides of Americans, in consequence of the two years' occupation of Russia by the American relief administration.

Princess Chokolayeva was married nearly a year ago to Ivor W. Wahren of East Woburn, Mass. She still is in Russia awaiting the return of Mr. Wahren, who is coming back on business. Countess Brodnikava, the bride of Philip Baldwin of Great Bend, Pa., left last week on a honeymoon with her husband to western Europe.

The last American relief administration bride left Moscow yesterday and the relief administration directors looked a sigh at the ending of the roll tape which exists with regard to Russian women leaving the country and which has been further complicated by the new American law which provides that a foreign woman does not automatically become an American citizen by marrying an American citizen.

SAN FRANCISCO WOMEN TO WEAR MEN'S CLOTHES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19 (AP)—The women and girls of San Francisco may now wear trousers, pantaloons, breeches, trows, spatterdashies, breeches, knickerbockers, bloomers, or pants on the streets here without fear of arrest or official disapproval. For many years thousands of trouser-clad girls have filled the downtown streets, cars and ferries on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. These ladies, young and old, have heretofore chief knickerbockers, bloomers, or pants on the streets here without fear of arrest or official disapproval.

TRIPLET LAMBS BORN

ELY, Nevada, July 19 (AP)—A mother, who with triplet lambs have been the pride of the home ranch of Joseph Luzzetti, in Steptoe valley, near here, since they were born recently. Mr. Luzzetti states that it is the first instance of the kind they have ever had among the sheep, although some years ago they had a goat with triplet kids. There is a white lamb or ewe in the color scheme, the mother being white, two of the lambs black with white star foreheads, and the other pure white. The white lamb or ewe is a good candidate for the bottle feeding, as the other two cannot be told apart. The bottle-fed baby is outgrowing the other two lambs, Mr. Luzzetti says.

NATURE'S WARNING

Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature generally warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If the urine is stringy and sediment. Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to fear serious kidney trouble. It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have done great work in Twin Falls. Ask your neighbor, A. Wallner, carpenter, R. F. D. No. 2, Twin Falls, says: "I had a lame back and a soreness over my kidneys that made me miserable all over. When I got down I could hardly get up on account of the sharp, stabbing pains. My kidneys were so swollen and the secretions scalded in passages, due to my bladder being inflamed. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and a short use soon cured me entirely of the complaint. I have had no trouble since."

THE MARKETS

WHEAT DELIVERIES RISE ABOVE ONE-DOLLAR MARK

Market Closes Strong Following Week Opening; Corn Finishes One Cent Up; Report Canadian Crop Poor

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—All deliveries of wheat rose today to above $1 a bushel as a result of commission house buying based largely on advices about black rust in Canada.

At first the wheat market showed a downward tendency owing more or less to enlarged receipts here and a poor report in Liverpool to western wheat upturns in America.

Provisions were depressed by the arrival of larger receipts of hogs here than had been looked for.

UP TO THE WIFE

In Her Hands Is the Power of Home Happiness.

Good Old Proverb Has "Home, Sweet Home Is Something Two Can Make and One Can Sour."

The above little bit of borrowed wisdom should be revised to "Home, Sweet Home, is something that one can make in two ways."

It may be said, of course, that it is his duty to push all the above on one side when he gets home, but is that not making a very big demand?

Here it is that the truth of the old adage—"Where one won't quarrel, two can't"—applies.

What was his wife going to do? Some women, taking the line that it is a pity if a man who has been away

They might remember, too, that as with birds, so with men—ruffling can be done in a minute, but it takes much longer to smooth the feathers out.

It is not his wife's duty—it ought to be her pleasure—to be in a superior mood? She should smooth him down, not ruffle him more.

Birds Laugh at Scarcrows. Artificial scarcrows are of little, if any, value in Egypt.

It's the Same Thing. It probably is correct to say that the average wife keeps her husband under surveillance, but it is so much easier to spell "thumb."—Exchange.
