

BORAH HEAD OF INQUIRY INTO WHEELER CASE

Senate Committee Takes First Steps in Sifting Montana Man's Indictment; Daugherty Probers Still at Work.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Preliminary steps in the inquiry into the indictment in Montana of Senator Wheeler, prosecutor of the Daugherty investigation were taken today by a newly created senate committee while the Daugherty committee itself was touching briefly upon the subject.

Senator Borah, republican, chairman of the new investigating committee, was directed to telegraph to Federal Judge Pray at Great Falls where the indictment was returned on Tuesday, requesting him to forward certified copies of the indictment, the minutes of the grand jury and documentary evidence as well as a list of the witnesses.

Until this information is received the committee probably will mark time. It will not limit its examination to these documents and witnesses, however, but will call present and former officials of the department of the interior as well as a number of witnesses summoned at the request of Senator Wheeler.

The dip of the Daugherty committee into the subject of the indictment today was sudden as it was brief. Turning from an inquiry into the land fraud cases in Oklahoma, Senator Wheeler called to the stand W. J. Burns, director of the justice department bureau of investigation and questioned him about activities of department agents sent to Montana on the Wheeler case.

Burns testimony was that the men were sent to Montana three or four weeks ago at the request of the post-office department. The witness said he and former Attorney General Daugherty had talked about the Daugherty investigation on a number of occasions but he would not say that Mr. Daugherty had sought his help. Burns admitted he had reported to Daugherty that Senator Wheeler was attorney for the Gordon Campbell concern in Montana, but he would not say whether it was before or after Daugherty had left office.

FIX DATES FOR EVENTS; FIRST GAME ON FRIDAY

Contest With Buhl to Mark Opening of High School Baseball Season; Track Events Also on Schedule.

This afternoon Twin Falls and Buhl will open the baseball season for high schools of the district on Lincoln lot when the umpire duffs off the plate and says, "play ball."

Competition is so keen for positions that Coach Evans is reluctant, as usual, in giving out the lineup for today's game. Bill Hammond will not be in uniform, however, and there is much speculation as to the probable infield lineup. The battery has not been announced as yet but probably several checkers will be given a change to show their stuff in the opening melee of the season.

Buhl is reported to have some players who know their station but the blue and white nine are quite capable of taking good care of themselves. In fact, Buhl high school declined an invitation to meet the Bruins on a plea that the did not feel capable of playing such a heavy schedule (which is interpreted to mean Twin Falls).

Twin Falls track and baseball schedule for the rest of the season has been more or less definitely made out as follows:

April 11, Buhl at Twin Falls, baseball.
April 15, Wendell at Twin Falls, dual track meet.
April 18, Pocatello at Twin Falls, baseball.
April 20, Pocatello at Twin Falls, baseball two games.
April 23, Rupert at Twin Falls, dual track meet.
April 25-26, Nampa at Twin Falls, baseball, two games on Saturday.
April 29, Twin Falls at Buhl, baseball.
May 2, South Central district track meet at Filer.
May 8, Twin Falls at Nampa, baseball.
May 9-10, Twin Falls at Caldwell, baseball, two games.
May 10, intersectional track meet at Caldwell.
May 16, state track meet at Moscow.
May 16-17, Caldwell at Twin Falls, baseball, three games.
The above lineup gives the blue and white athletes full schedule for the spring season. If necessary a few additional games will be added to the above, but this will probably be the schedule without change.
More interest than usual is being shown in track this year and the meet next Tuesday with Wendell and the following week with Rupert should be interesting exhibitions.

KING WILL TRY FOR OLYMPICS

Well-Known Local Athlete to Enter Portland Competition for Trip to Paris.

The name of Philip King of Twin Falls is listed among the entries for the Olympic tryouts for places on the United States team which will travel to Paris this summer. King will compete at Portland on June 7, according to the report received from the Multnomah A. C. which has charge of the meet.

King's events are the mile and two-mile, but the local runner states that he will enter all events up to the five-mile, in order to qualify for a place on the team which travels to Cambridge, Mass., for final elimination.

Phil was a high school distance man of no mean ability. Later he attended the University of Idaho and was elected captain of the freshman team.

Perhaps the outstanding characteristic of the local athlete is his persistent training, inasmuch as distance events are largely a matter of stamina and endurance his strict training has won him much admiration from local high school athletes whom he is coaching this year.

One of the features of the district track meet at Filer this year will be an exhibition event by King who has clipped the time down to 4:47, which he expects to better under more favorable conditions. Later he will accompany the blue and white track squad to Caldwell and Moscow for the intersectional and state track meets and there he will complete his training until time to go to Portland. He will be accompanied by his brother, Clarence, who starred last fall as half-back on the Idaho Tech football squad. "Clare" will also accompany Phil and should the local miler qualify in the Portland meet.

"MEANEST MAN IN THE WORLD"
IS WINNER AT THE ORPHEUM
"The Meanest Man in the World" as presented at the Orpheum theatre yesterday, proves that there is still available somewhere, sufficient material that goes toward making a highly successful plaything.

The picture was adapted to the screen from that famous stage play in which appeared George M. Cohan. August MacHugh is the author who obtained the idea of the story from the play of Everett S. Ruskay. The screen version of the story and the releasing is being made through First National Pictures.

Here is a picture that is going to please everybody that witnesses it. The cast is truly all-star and in addition to Lyell, boasts such names as Blanche Sweet, who enacts the role of Jane; Bryant Washburn, Maryon Aye, Helen Lench, Forrest Robinson, Ictor Patel, Ward Crane, William Conklin, Frances Raymond and a host of others equally popular.

IN A HEAVY SEA.

Taking pictures at sea has its drawbacks. Percy Hillburn and Robert Fraser went to Newfoundland to shoot the storm scenes for Reginald Barker's new Metro picture, "Women Who Give," which is at the Idaho theatre. They hired a fishing schooner and set out to sea in an 80-mile-an-hour gale. The waves ran 90 feet high and seemed ready to gobble up the little fishing schooner with any ease. Lashed to the deck in front of him, Percy Hillburn, the cameraman, ground away on the raging storm while the infuriated ele-

OIL BATH PUTS END TO PESTS

Experiments Made Here Give Assurance of Control of Insect Enemies of Trees

Experiments testing efficiency of miscible oil sprays in combating elm scale and leaf roller most being conducted here by H. T. Blake, deputy state horticulturist, and George F. Sprague, secretary of the Twin Falls Horticultural society, have progressed to such an extent as to give assurance of control by this means of these two pests that this season threaten serious damage on shade trees and orchards of this region.

Spraying of elm trees in Twin Falls will be started within the next few days under arrangements made by the municipal commissioners. Mr. Blake stated Thursday and amicable oil spray was used. Trees in the city park will be sprayed first, and thereafter spray will be applied to trees of private owners.

Experiments made here show that the scale cannot exist where a 3 per cent solution of the oil spray has been applied. Increasing the strength of the spray to a 5 per cent solution will eradicate aphids, Mr. Blake stated.

In the local experiments with the oil spray for control of leaf roller a 7 per cent solution has been used, and efficiency of the spray has been demonstrated by the fact that where the spray has been applied there has been no hatching 10 days after hatching on unsprayed branches.

Spray should be applied at every opportunity for control of the leaf roller and should be continued until the foliage begins to turn yellow.

When wind prevents application of spray to all sides of trees, he suggested, it is advisable to spray exposed sides of the tree and under more favorable conditions to complete the operation.

Experiments here have been conducted with infested branches placed inside a heated building in order to induce earlier development.

EXPERTS URGE BETTER RECLAMATION POLICY

compensation. Neither time nor an arbitrarily fixed per cent of cost is a sound basis for determining annual payments.

Suggest Remedy. As a remedy, the committee advocated abolishment of the 10-year installment plan now in operation and the substitution of a system whereby repayments shall be based upon the productive power of the lands irrigated without any fixed period when the total investment should be returned. The productive power would be determined from the average gross annual crop production for the preceding ten years or all years of record and the yearly acre repayment fixed at 5 per cent of this figure.

A further step designed to bring permanent relief was proposed by the committee in recommending a detailed survey of all projects for the purpose of classifying lands into zones according to their agricultural value. Lands found incapable of supporting a family and repaying construction costs should be exempt from the payment requirements as also would farms in the course of development until their productivity warranted the assessments.

Would Transfer Costs. To relieve the water users of their heavy debts, the committee recommended that all unpaid and deferred charges transferred against their farm units be transferred to the construction costs of the projects, and that this figure be used in estimating costs to be paid in the future. The committee would grant this privilege, however, only upon the condition that legally organized water users' associations or irrigation districts take over complete care, control and maintenance of the projects.

To assume initial financial success of the operation of the projects by water users' organizations a credit of a year's operation and maintenance charges would be extended to be covered in the construction account and repaid later in part of the construction repayments. Accumulated profits from grazing and farm lands and sale of town sites would be credited to the construction cost when the water users take over their management.

Could Offer Loans. A credit fund under complete control to provide interest and loans secured by the land for periods not exceeding 30 years and equipment and livestock loans for not more than five years at five per cent interest would be established to assist those settlers in financial difficulty due to high interest rates and other causes.

Farmers living on non-productive lands, under the plan, would be permitted to exchange their units for more valuable lands of like size either on their own or other government projects, with cash having preference in the exchanges. Employment of agricultural and economic advisers to enable settlers to increase their farm income and formation of co-operative organizations to promote business and social relations also was urged.

The committee prepared its recommendations with a statement declaring that "unless remedial measures of a permanent character are applied several more projects will fail and the federal reclamation experiment, conceived in a spirit of wise and lofty statesmanship, will become discredited."

States Might Aid. "It is a question whether the state in which a project is located should not be required to meet a part of the expense and become an active partner in agricultural development. The partnership of state and nation in good roads and agricultural education has worked well. State participation in selection of projects and in their financing would lessen political pressure for all projects of doubtful merit and help to lessen the danger of continued control."

The following table shows the actual and probable reductions recommended for each project, the definite losses to result in case of depletion of the reclamation fund while the probable losses are based on acreage not now capable of profitable cultivation:

On the question of new projects and extensions the committee made the following specific recommendations:

Extension of the Newlands, Nevada, project by the construction of the Spanish Springs reservoir.

Extension of appropriations for the Ouyette and Vale projects in Oregon; Salt Lake basin project in Utah and Kittitas in Washington on the condition that further investigation be made of their feasibility and, if finally selected, that they be constructed and developed in accordance with the new principles laid down by the committee.

"As to these new proposed projects," the report said, "the committee does not have sufficient information upon which to base specific recommendations."

Members of the committee besides Dr. Mend were: Thomas E. Campbell, former governor of Arizona, chairman; Dr. John A. Whitson, former president of state university and agricultural college of Utah; secretary; James R. Garfield of Ohio, former secretary of the interior; Oscar Bradstreet of Ohio, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; and Clyde C. Dawson of Colorado, authority on irrigation law.

TWIN FALLS WEEKLY NEWS

Established 1904

Twin Falls News Publishing Company,

Issued on Thursday of every Week

Entered as second class matter December 12, 1904 at the Post Office at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

DO IT NOW.

In view of the seriousness of the situation with respect to the possible spread of the foot and mouth disease into Idaho, there is just one thing to be done.

The State of Idaho should declare an embargo against goods of every kind and description, including livestock shipped here from the State of California.

The gravity of the menace warrants the action, and the step should be taken, not tomorrow or a week from tomorrow, but today.

It is difficult for the average person to realize what it would mean to this State of the disease should actually gain an entrance among Idaho herds and flocks. For one thing it would mean the cutting off of an income of thirty million dollars for lambs and wool during the current year alone. It might mean the absolute bankruptcy of every stockman in the State. And if this should happen to the extent of even fifty per cent literally thousands would be carried down in the wreckage.

It is up to Governor Moore to take quick action.

What would the State of California do, supposing the positions were reversed?

ACTION IN CONGRESS

"It seems to me," remarked a democratic senator the other day, "that it is the duty of the democrats to join with the republicans to bring back the senate to its legislative functions." He expressed a hope that the senate would start working constructively on a legislative program.

Needless to say, the public entertains the same hope, and applies the principle to both parties and both houses of congress. There is pretty general agreement at the capital and throughout the country, as to the principal things that congress ought to do before adjournment. Delay in enacting a tax reduction law, an immigration law and certain other laws is due more to struggling for partisan advantage or efforts to pay off old grudges than to honest differences of opinion. Continued bickering may prove as fruitless to the strugglers as it is disappointing to the public.

Pyramids of Egypt.

The pyramids of Egypt, some 75 in number, date from the period between the fourth and twelfth dynasties and were built as tombs for the kings. The most important group at Gizeh which includes the great pyramid and tomb of Cheops, its perpendicular height is 451 feet and its base length is 750 feet. The pyramids are built of stone, the material for which was taken from the hills on the opposite bank of the Nile.

Tormenting.

"Lois—"So you nearly drowned in the sea? I suppose you were terribly frightened?" Louise—"Heaven, yes! All the life guards I'd ever flirted with fished before my eyes."—New York Sun.

Tuning Forks.

It is said that if two tuning forks of the same pitch are placed facing each other, the one sounding and the other silent, in a few seconds the silent one will be giving out a distinctly audible note.

FISHING

By DADDY

Jack and Janet have a fishing race with King Fisher. They win, because Giant Muskellunge has scared the small fish into deep hiding places where King Fisher cannot dive, but into which the hooks of the children are able to sink.

CHAPTER V.

They Catch a Giant.

JACK and Janet were anxious to see the fish giant. But while Giant Muskellunge was visible to King Fisher, who was seated on a log overlooking the lake, the children could not see him from the bank.

There he goes, rattled King Fisher, close above. "Battley-rattle-rattle, he is a big chap! Get into the boat and you can see him.

The boat of which King Fisher spoke was drawn up part way on the shore. Its bow was shallow water and its stern reached out over deep water.

Jack and Janet had been warned not to get into a boat. But now in their eagerness to see Giant Muskellunge they forgot the warning. They jumped into the boat and crept out to the stern. They looked over the side.

For a long time they saw nothing for Giant Muskellunge was at the farther end of the watery path he was traveling. Presently, however, King Fisher above them growled "Muskellunge! He is coming!" said King Fisher.

"Look closely and you will see him." The children did look closely, and presently they saw Giant Muskellunge. Janet shuddered. "He looks like a monster fish, not such a fierce looking one."

"What awful teeth!" she whispered, to Jack. "Let us get out from here. The giant might catch us."

But Jack's eyes were gleaming. It was a true fisherman. The sight of a big fish made him anxious to look him. "We will not let him catch us," chuckled Jack. "We will catch old Giant Muskellunge. Folks will be surprised when they hear him come."

Jack baited his hook with worms and cast it into the water. "Look out!" warned King Fisher above. "It isn't safe to fish for Giant Muskellunge. My cousin Fredrick King Fisher did it once. He dove in to grab Giant Muskellunge, and that is the last we saw of him. I guess Giant Muskellunge grabbed him instead."

"Come away," urged Janet, but Jack

Proper Brewing of Tea Told by Chinese Poet

High tea would have been deemed an abomination by the Chinese poet Lu Wuh, who held that do food should be taken in conjunction with the most delicate of all beverages. Lu Wuh maintained that only three ingredients were necessary for its perfection—tea, water and salt—but each should be selected with care.

"The leaves of the tea plant must have creases like tip feathers, those of a Tartar foreman, must curl like the down of a mighty bullock; must unfold like the mist rising out of a ravine, must gleam like a lake touched by a zephyr; and be wet and soft like the earth newly swept by rain." According to his authority a masterful cup of cold water is the best water for use in making, with river water and ordinary spring water next in order of excellence.

"There are three stages of boiling," Lu Wuh goes on to say. "The first boil is when the little bubbles like the foam of cold water are on the surface. The second boil is when the bubbles are like crystal beads rolling in a fountain. The third boil is when the billows surge wildly in the kettle."

Salt is put in the first boil, tea in the second, and at the third a dipperful of cold water is poured into the kettle to settle the tea and revive "the youth of the water," after which the decoction is poured into cups and drunk.—Manchester Guardian.

Paine Helped Create and Named the U. S. A.

To the average American Thomas Paine is known merely as an "infidel." He has been told that Paine wrote a book entitled "Age of Reason" that assailed orthodox Christianity. He may not know that two decades before the "Age of Reason" Paine, a native of England, wrote a pamphlet that started the American colonists really to think of separating themselves from England and joining themselves together as a new nation, says the Detroit News. When the revolution first started it was only a revolt against oppressive measures of taxation and unjust political discrimination. Even Washington as late as May, 1773, declared himself against separation.

Then, early in January, 1776, Paine published "Common Sense," in which he not merely proposed an independent nation to the dissatisfied colonists, but raised the rebellion to the higher plane of a war for liberty. Washington was converted immediately. Paine declined to accept any profit from the work for himself, but gave all the financial proceeds to the patriot cause. It was in "Common Sense" that the present name of the nation, "the United States of America," first appeared.

Handicap

The totally deaf may hear by touch, announced Prof. Robert H. Gault of Northwestern university. He has been working on this line for several years, and has almost perfected a mechanism by which sound waves are conveyed to the brain through the fingers. Much more experimenting remains to be done. Deaf people must wait before becoming too hopeful.

Parasit Has Double Growth.

A parasit which extended its growth through the neck of a bottle, is among the garden freaks of the year. This unusual growth is reported from Byde, Isle of Wight, and it was a healthy specimen when displayed. It resembles a double parasit in that from the surface down the parasit grew to good proportions, then pointed a course through the neck of a broken bottle, and again grew to fair proportions on the other side of the temporary obstruction.

Dangers

Thirty-nine people in a year slip on soap in the bathtub and are injured enough to collect insurance damages. This is the record for just one company, the Aetna, which also pays damages to 505 injured in a year by tripping over rugs and 300 who fell down stairs. Sixteen golfers collected damages for being hit by golf balls and nine others for falling into bunkers. Five dancers had valid claims from colliding with other dancers.

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband gets spring fever. He's naturally lazy to begin with, and I guess he just has no resistance to it. Anyhow, I never saw anybody come down with it quite so hard as he does.

He's tired when he gets up in the morning and he's tired at breakfast. He's more tired when he comes home for dinner and he's all worn out in the evening.

It's all he can do to answer questions, and anything in the way of voluntary conversation is entirely beyond his strength.

High is just about as lively these April days as a correspondence school campus.

He doesn't want to go out anywhere, and he doesn't want to have anybody come to see us. All he does is sit around and give an imitation of Calvin Coolidge, being a little less talkative than usual.

Tomorrow: "My wife comes home and tells me about all the new clothes her friends are buying."

What is useless to you may be valuable to others—advertise it in the classified columns.

BUYING MOVEMENT PUTS GRAIN ON UPWARD TREND

Wheat and Corn Score Advances; Government Crop Report Has Influence; Investment Field Improved.

CHICAGO, April 10 (AP)—Wheat and corn scored something of an advance in price today chiefly as a result of late buying in which one of the larger houses took a bullish position. The buying movement was apparently due more or less to indications that selling had been overdone. Wheat closed firm, at $1.01 7/8 to 1.02, and July $1.01 1/2 to 1.02 5/8, with corn at 1 1/2 to 1 1/2; oats showing 1 1/8 to 1 7/8 gain, and provisions, varying from unchanged figures to 5 to 7c.

At first the wheat market was considerably influenced by the government crop report, and was forced down under $1.00 a bushel. It then rallied within a fraction of the lowest level for this season. Sellers declined to let the government report (54) figure on the basis of the final year yield suggest production of 71,000,000 bushels more than the official estimate. On the decline in prices, however, talk became current that weakening factors had perhaps been taken into account, and that a chance for some investment purchasing was open.

Gossip that rehabilitation of German finances would ultimately have a stimulating effect on commodity markets was given rather increased notice today among wheat traders. During the past week and a half, the market has been fixed on Indiana and Illinois reports pointing to heavier losses in acreage than has heretofore appeared likely.

Reports of a better cash demand for corn at Omaha helped turn the corn market upward. There were predictions that the market would be fixed by the opening of lake traffic. The oats market was stimulated by word of enlarged inquiry northwest.

Provisions were without any decided support.

OFFICIAL GOES ON RECORD FOR EMBARGO RULE

State Veterinarian Indorses Stockmen's Request for State-Wide Ban on All Products from California

Indorsement has been given by Dr. Wendell B. Smith, Idaho state veterinarian, to request of Idaho wool growers' association and other organizations for a state-wide embargo against all California products to prevent the spread of foot and mouth disease. A telegram received Thursday by Clyde Bacon of Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Wool Growers' association, Mr. Smith stated, "In answer to your letter regarding the embargo rule, I am glad to hear that you are taking this step."

Dr. Smith's message followed a conference in Boise Wednesday at which the livestock men's request for the embargo was carried to Governor Moore and other state officials, who promised an investigation. This conference was called by Mr. Bacon, and was attended by representatives both of the wool growers and cattle and horse growers' associations.

The proposed embargo would prevent importation into Idaho of all California products including vegetables and fruits. An existing embargo prohibits bringing California livestock and chickens into the state.

Affects All Interests: "Many persons think that because they do not own livestock they do not need to be alarmed over the situation," Mr. Bacon said today. "The overlooking of the embargo rule of the subject which should be of the greatest concern in every line of commercial activity. An absolute embargo should be placed upon every product of California soil, upon all shipments of any sort from that state, and upon tourist travel until this epidemic is completely stamped out."

R. Hansing Says He Paid Commission in Deal for Farm After Convicted of Fraud

Trial was begun Thursday in the district court here in the case of Ansel Hansing against J. W. Laubenheim, wherein Hansing seeks judgment for $500, which sum, he alleges, was unjustly appropriated in connection with a real estate deal in which Laubenheim was agent. The deal was made about two years ago for Ansel Hansing, then a resident of Oklahoma, by his father, Richard Hansing. It involved exchange of Twin Falls residence property for farm land then owned by W. S. Starr, now a resident of Vancouver.

The $500 in dispute represented the amount of a mortgage on the residence property. Richard Hansing testified that he delivered this amount to Laubenheim to pay off the mortgage. Laubenheim's testimony was to the effect that this money was delivered to Starr in accordance with an agreement to which Starr was a party under which Starr was to make certain concessions.

Richard Hansing testified that he was convinced that Laubenheim had misappropriated the money before he paid Laubenheim's commission as

IDAHO WOMAN PIONEER ANSWERS DEATH'S CALL

Mrs. Nellie Nare, Resident for 18 Years of Twin Falls, Dies at Home in Virginia City, California

Word of the death in Virginia City, California, March 26, of Mrs. Nellie Nare, a pioneer and for 18 years a resident of Twin Falls, was received here Thursday. Announcement of Mrs. Nare's death was made by the Virginia City Journal in the following obituary:

Mrs. Nellie Nare, whose home has been on Morningstar and Elm, departed from this world on Wednesday, March 26, after six years of suffering. During the long time she has been sustained by an unflinching trust in her Maker and was ready to answer the welcome call. Having been conscious until the last two days she made all arrangements for her funeral even to the selection of the hymns to be sung.

Mrs. Nare lived for 18 years in Twin Falls, Idaho, being one of the pioneer ladies of that city. She was loved by a host of friends there who knew her intimately. Sixteen months ago she came to Long Beach and for the past eight months has resided at Virginia City.

Besides her friends, Mrs. Nare leaves to mourn her departure her loving husband, Fred C. Nare; three sons: a previous marriage, Frank, Arthur and Sidney; and three stepsons, Robert, Orley and Paul Nare.

Funeral services were conducted in the McFadyen chapel. Many friends were present. The Rev. Mr. Rolsey of the M. E. church officiated. Interment was made at Artelea. The community extends its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Wind Recalls Early Days in Twin Falls

Wind that induced memories of sagebrush days, persisting throughout the day and dying down with nightfall, was an outstanding characteristic of the weather conditions here Thursday. The sun was hidden under clouds most of the day. Mercury scored its top reach at 59 above, a decline of six degrees under the high mark of the preceding day, and was low at 41 above, a decline of one point, according to the government weather observer's station here.
