Thousands Bow Heads in Sympathy During Simple Services at White House for Calvin Coolidge, Junior.

ON BOARD THE COOLIDGE FUNERAL TRAIN, Baltimore, July 9 (AP)—Crowds lined both sides of the tracks as the special train bearing President Coolidge's family and the body of their son arrived at this city on its way to Vermont.

The casket was on a bier in a special compartment at the rear of the last car, guarded by two marines. The compartment was tightly closed and the flower-covered casket was visible to those who silently watched it pass in the night.

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge tonight took their last journey to Vermont to be buried in the family plot of the little cemetery at Plymouth.

A simple but impressive funeral was held in the east room of the White House this afternoon attended by government officials, ranking military officers, members of the diplomatic corps and intimate friends of the family.

On the White House lawn several thousand persons stood with bowed heads during the ceremony, having come to give visible expression to their sympathy.

Typical of their New England reserve, President and Mrs. Coolidge remained outwardly calm and dignified in their grief. The family broken for the first time, drew comfort from the service and Mrs. Coolidge listened attentively to the consoling words of scripture.

The president on her left, sat with head slightly bowed. The son on his mother's right, sat and listened earnestly to the pastor.

A little later in the evening the casket was closed for the last time in the presence of the family and soon thereafter almost to the hour when three weeks ago, bidding his boy he returned home from school, the boy was carried to the funeral train.

Services at Northampton

Tomorrow morning a stop will be made at Northampton, Mass., where Calvin was born and where services will be held for him. From there the party, including members of the president's cabinet and others close to him in personal and official life will proceed to Plymouth, burial will be there late in the afternoon in the lot where the president's mother and sister lie and tomorrow night those who made the journey will return to the capital.

The services this afternoon were of short duration but the emotions of the family of the nation, who filled the east room, could not be concealed. As a quartet sang "Oh Love that Will Not Let Me Go," there were moist eyes and broken sobs came from several parts of the chamber.

Asks Divine Comfort

Then the Reverend Jason Noble Pierce of the First Congregational church, the president's pastor, prayed God "to use the precious memory to make the family strong and love enduring."

"Thy love comprehends our sorrow," he continued, "and we thank thee for thy most divine comfort. And make us to live that when our time comes we may have his bravery, courage and soldier's fortitude. And it was prayer for divine comfort and it was tribute to the memory of the youth."

Opening the service the pastor read the Twenty-third Psalm and other verses of scripture.

CORN CONDITION AT RECORD LOW

Production Indications Half Billion Bushels Less Than Last Year.

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Corn opened the growing season with the lowest condition ever reported on July 1 and indications of production are half a billion bushels less than last year despite an acreage 1.40 per cent larger than planted a year ago.

The department of agriculture's first forecast of the season, based on the latest data, placed total corn production at 2,515,000,000 bushels. An unusually cold May followed by an excessively wet June were responsible for the low condition of corn but were decidedly favorable for wheat, oats and barley which show a decided improvement in prospect over a month ago.

Wheat Forecasts Show Gain

Wheat production forecasts were increased 47,000,000 bushels over June predictions with a total crop of 740,000,000 bushels now indicated, while the forecast for the year is 2,550,000,000 bushels to 2,580,000,000 bushels.

Smaller crops than last year of white and sweet potatoes, tobacco and apples are indicated, but barley, rye, flaxseed, rice and peaches production will be larger than last year. Grain stocks on farms on July 1 were smaller than a year ago and also less than the average for that date during the previous five years.

World wheat production reported to date was announced at 1,555,000,000 bushels compared with 1,674,000,000 bushels last year for the same countries which produced nearly half of the wheat of the world outside of Russia.

ELKS PLAY BIG PART IN COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

BOSTON, July 9 (AP)—Nearly $3,000,000 was spent in the past year for charitable work by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the social and community welfare committee reported today at a grand lodge meeting of the sixteenth annual convention of the order. The report stressed the need of an intensive Americanization campaign.

The session started with memorial exercises for deceased members and included a speech of acceptance of officers by the newly-elected grand chief, John G. Price of Columbus, Ohio.

Festivities at Nantasket beach, ending with a shore dinner and fireworks, a day of golf at the Franklin park municipal links and night and day band concerts on the common provided entertainment for visiting Elks. Tonight yacht clubs along the south shore were thrown open to the delegates.

NAMESAKE COMES WITH NOMINATION TO DAVIS

New York Mother, One of 25 in Agreement to Name First Boy for Democratic Choice for President.

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—A namesake came to John W. Davis along with the democratic nomination for president.

The namesake is John Davis McLaughlin, born to Mrs. Mildred McLaughlin at the New York Nursery and Child's hospital, just six hours before Mr. Davis was nominated.

Mrs. McLaughlin was one of 25 expectant mothers who four days before the convention agreed to name the first boy for the democratic nominee. Twenty-three girls were born in succession. The twenty-fourth was a boy but the mother, despairing of a nomination, promptly named him William Alfred Casper. Mrs. McLaughlin's baby was born at 9 a. m. today.

PREMIERS SEEK AMERICAN HELP OUT OF TANGLE

French and British Leaders Reach General Accord on Questions Affecting Operation of Dawes Plan.

PARIS, July 9 (AP)—The premiers of France and Great Britain today decided upon American arbitration as a way out of their differences respecting the application of the Dawes plan. Prime Minister MacDonald conceded to Premier Herriot that the reparations commission should not be robbed of its right to say when Germany is in default on that plan and M. Herriot, in exchange agreed to give up France's preponderance of votes in the commission.

The French statesman consented that an American be called in to sit with the commission and to vote on the question of whether Germany at any time is failing to carry out her obligations under the plan.

Premises Full Consideration

Mr. MacDonald gave M. Herriot far greater satisfaction respecting the inter-allied debts, assuring him that Great Britain would consider the question with due regard for all of the elements bearing upon it.

Both agreed to pursue the question of security either through the league of nations or otherwise until a definite settlement was reached.

The result of the conference between the two premiers is regarded in French circles as strengthening the Herriot cabinet and likely to save it from disaster in the senate tomorrow. It is remarked, in opposition circles, however, that the abandonment by M. Herriot of French preponderance in the reparations commission may provoke criticism as it makes possible a majority in the commission representing claims of less than 40 per cent of the reparations due from Germany.

Poincare to Give Position

It is understood tonight that the inter-allied talks will take place in the senate tomorrow as scheduled, and that Raymond Poincare, former premier, will speak for the purpose of making clear his own attitude on reparations whether he assails the cabinet or not.

Democratic Convention Names C. W. Bryan For Running Mate for John W. Davis

FIRST BALLOT BRINGS SECOND PLACE CHOICE

Delegates Carry Out Wishes of Party Leaders in Selection of Nebraska Governor as Vice Presidential Nominee; Senator Walsh and Meredith Pull Out of Race.

SMITH RECEIVES GREAT OVATION

New York Governor Tells Convention He Bears No Grudge and Will Work for Davis.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—A great demonstration and while thousands sang "East Side, West Side," Alfred E. Smith appeared tonight before the democratic national convention in Madison Square Garden.

The thousands who idolize the New York governor all but burst their throats and almost lifted the roof off the great garden when he appeared on the speaker's platform.

The great crowd cheered the governor so loudly and so long that Chairman Barkley almost despaired of getting the audience quiet enough to hear him, but when the governor himself held up his hand for silence the crowd quickly quieted.

"Not being familiar with the rules of the convention," he began, "I am afraid that the applause will be taken out of my time and I request that you refrain until I finish. I feel that it would be useless for me to express any word of welcome to the delegates and their friends because the great city of New York made as complete a job as could be made of it."

"If you have been annoyed by the zeal of those who have tried to explain that I am the greatest man in the world please overlook it."

Claims Leadership for State

"In our conception of modern government, the democratic party has been the leader in the selection of a nominee for the vice presidency. Governor Bryan was chosen for second place on the ticket after his friends had placed before Mr. Davis and his conferees an argument for the selection of a western man of proven executive capacity, familiar with agriculture and in sympathy with the liberal sentiment of the country.

Leaders' Wish Prevails

The nomination of the Nebraska governor who is a brother of William Jennings Bryan, took only one ballot. The word that the leaders wanted him nominated was passed quickly about the convention hall and although active campaigns had been made for several other candidates, the result was not long in doubt. Mr. Bryan was declared nominated at 2:28 a. m., eastern daylight saving time. Then after a few last-minute formalities the convention adjourned sine die at 3:24 a. m. and the delegates for the last time filed wearily out of the old garden where their nerves had been frayed and their patience cut by the more than two weeks of the most stirring scenes in all political history.

Result of Ballot

The result of the first ballot: Owens, 10; Barry, 2094; Allen, 10; Mrs. Sprague, 15; Davis, 4; Bryan, 730; Hylan, 15; Gettard, 10; Farrell, 1; D. Clark, 42; Ritchie, 1; Morton Clark, 1; Enright, 5; Baker, 7; Whitlock, 1; Mrs. Miller, 3; Mrs. Renshaw, 3; Gardner, 1; Upshaw, 1; Pittman, 6; Meredith, 2.

DAVIS RALLIES BOURBONS FOR COMING FIGHT

Presidential Nominee Assumes Active Leadership of Party; Addresses Convention Balloting for Running Mate.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—John W. Davis of West Virginia, nominated for the presidency by the democratic national convention in this breaking up of its history-making deadlock, assumed tonight the active leadership of the party. After appearing before the convention and sounding the rallying cry of a fighting campaign he went into conference with party managers regarding the nomination for the vicepresidency. The stage of actual balloting for second place on the ticket had been reached, but just before the first roll call began, a rumormongering of a possible selection of a nominee on which all elements could unite. Senator Walsh of Montana, whom the convention had tried to nominate earlier in the day, definitely refused to be considered but the leaders continued their efforts to dissuade him. E. T. Meredith of Iowa also withdrew his name after it had been placed before the convention.

Mr. Davis appeared before the convention shortly before midnight after it had heard Governor Alfred E. Smith voice his praise for the selection finally made to head the party ticket, and promises unstinted support for his election.

During Caucus Attention

The nominee began by expressing his gratitude and appreciation of the honor that had been accorded him. "But grateful as I am, of this great honor I think even more of the duties you have given me to perform. But I take comfort when I look at the banners displayed throughout this hall and realize that they are the standards of a phantom army but that they represent an army of millions of democrats, ready as they always have been to battle for liberty and righteousness."

"We are a national party, and it must be, I believe, because we profess a national creed. The great principles of the democratic party—honesty in government, that public office is a public trust, equal rights to all men and special privilege to no one, fair and equal taxation, an open door of

Davis Puts Stamp of Approval Upon Bryan's Candidacy

Conferees Select Nebraskan for Second Place as Best Man to Swing Mid-West Vote.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Four out of the five men who tonight conferred with John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, respecting the selection for the vicepresidency declared the selection would be Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, brother of William Jennings Bryan.

Charles W. Bryan himself was amazed at the report of the result of the conference.

"It can't be true," he said when the first news of the conference action was taken to him by the Associated Press, "I wasn't even placed in nomination."

Mr. Bryan's name had heretofore been mentioned but it generally was assumed that he was out of the reckoning partly because of the attitude of his brother, who openly opposed the nomination of Davis on the floor of the convention.

Governor Bryan was a member of the committee appointed by the chairman of the convention to escort Mr. Davis to the platform tonight when he came to address the convention.

"Bryan was agreed upon because he had made a good record as governor of Nebraska and was close to the farmers," one of the conferees explained.

"Before he was decided on it was generally agreed that the candidate would have to come from the middle west. All of the state leaders were then asked to offer their choices. Initially Senator Ralston was mentioned, but Taggart declared he would not accept. Then Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and other states were polled, and finally it was decided that Bryan was the best man to swing the middle west and the farmer vote."

FAITHFUL BAND STAYS BY DAVIS THROUGH FIGHT

Official Figures Tell Interesting Story of Nomination of West Virginian as Democratic Standard Bearer.

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—The story of the nomination of John W. Davis, as told by the official figures, is a story of the unflinching support of a handful of men and women from far and near who never lost faith that he could and would be the choice of his party.

Through the long deadlock the backbone of his strength was the little delegation of his native West Virginia, but there never was a time after the first ballot when the 10 votes of the West Virginians were not at least matched in the Davis column by those that came in dribbles from other delegations.

Almost from the first Porto Rico's vote, in whole or in part to Davis. For many weary ballots Louisiana stood solidly behind him when the pressure to leave his trailing banner was strongest. And it was the united votes of the delegation from Maryland, which had been the last to turn the final turning of the tide.

Starts With 15 Outside Votes.
On the opening ballot more than a week ago only 15 votes beside West Virginia's were cast for the future nominee. Of the total of 31, Porto Rico contributed five, Hawaii one, Pennsylvania four, Minnesota one and Illinois four. Gaining by ones and twos his total stood at 34 on the fifth and on the sixth it went to 55 by the addition of Louisiana. Then for 13 roll calls it almost stood still.

By this time the deadlock between Smith and McAdoo had become a grim tug of war but Mississippi refused to be a party to it and after complimentary votes to her own favorite son, Senator Harrison, and those of neighboring states went to Davis on the nineteenth. With smaller gains elsewhere it lifted him to 84. Missouri, tiring of the deadlock, left McAdoo on the twentieth, swelling the Davis total to 133.

On the twenty-third the votes plucked up here and there all over the convention floor, came a peak of 189. For a ballot the total remained stationary, and then, through a series of roll calls it dropped slowly to 131 as the McAdoo and Smith managers began a simultaneous assault all along the line. On the thirty-fourth Mississippi went to McAdoo, and on the thirty-ninth Missouri followed suit. The Davis total stood at 71. Then for another period of 18 ballots there were narrow fluctuations, with West Virginia, Louisiana and the five from Porto Rico standing firm but at times standing almost alone. The total reached 73 on the forty-fifth, dropped to 68 on the fifty-second and stood 58 on the fifty-seventh when Thomas Taggart put Ralston actively into the race and claimed for him the major share of attention from those who had become hopeful of a break to a dark horse.

Touches Low at 39 Votes.
On the fifty-eighth Kentucky wavered and cast a complimentary vote for Mayor Behrman of New Orleans, leaving Davis only 39. That was his lowest point between the opening ballots and the end, for on the fifty-ninth Louisiana's 10 came back again and despite the Ralston opposition Davis climbed from 39 on the fifty-ninth to 70 on the sixty-first and 78 on the sixty-fourth. After a few more ups and downs within a margin of 15 votes, he had 68 on the sixty-third.

At that point Ralston had reached his highest total, and his sudden withdrawal from the race proved a windfall to Davis. On the sixty-fourth, seven North Carolina votes and several others that had belonged to Ralston went to Davis and he had eighty-one. On the 95th he got back Missouri's thirty-six and 19 from Michigan and had a new high total of 139. Moments later he had lost one of West Virginia's sixteen in the final drive of the McAdoo forces but he got it back later.

Tide to Davis Gathers Volume.
When the roll was called for the ninety-sixth time, he gathered in enough from widely scattered sources to bring his total to 171. Ohio contributed 15 at this stage and New Hampshire 6. West Virginia, Louisiana and Missouri were standing firm. On the ninety-seventh they were joined by Oklahoma and the total was 183. It went to 195 on the next roll call as Kentucky and the Smiths' vote, their decline and small groups of their followers went over to Davis.

On the ninety-ninth Kansas contributed her twenty to the Davis column and it totalled 210. A scattered few pulled away on the one hundredth roll call, the last before adjournment at this morning's session, and when the session that was to nominate him assembled at noon Mr. Davis' total stood at 203.

McAdoo and Smith both were out definitely, but the three delegates were not yet certain where they should turn. They stood at the head of the column, the column tempered, either standing by their favorites or scattering their strength widely. But when Maryland was called, Governor Ritchie, who himself had been given the solid vote of his state through an even hundred roll calls, stood a chair propped for Maryland and at a little later North Carolina gave Davis 20 out of her 24. Ohio gave him 20, Pennsylvania 10, South Carolina 18, Virginia, breaking the solid 24 she had been holding for her favorite son, Senator Glass, gave half of them to the son of her neighbor on the west. New York took notice of his candidacy for the first time, giving him a solitary one from her ninety. In the fifty of 18 candidates he had secured on this roll call 316 votes and was in the lead for the first time.

The one hundred and second ballot saw the total swell to 415 mainly by inaction from the states that already had been voting small groups for him. At the same time he broke into several more of the disintegrating McAdoo states. Texas gave him all of her 40, and Georgia 18 of her 28.

Idaho Deserts Walsh.
As the clerks began to call the roll for the one hundred and third and last time, larger and larger blocks of delegates came sweeping into camp. Georgia this time gave Davis 27. Idaho went to him solidly, leaving Senator Walsh. He got 19 in Illinois, 25 in Indiana, 25 in Kentucky, 59 in Michigan, all of Nevada's six, four in New York, 41 in Ohio, 27 in Pennsylvania, Washington, a McAdoo state and Rhode Island, a Smith State, went over to him bodily and before the roll call was completed he had more than a majority. In the scramble to change votes to him that followed no one knew exactly when the total had reached the 730 necessary to nominate. A dozen delegates were seeking through the universal tumult to get recognition and to record unanimous votes for Davis. George E. Brennan, speaking for Illinois, swung over the state's entire 58

Designed for wear in the spring of 2000, the styles of millinery shown at a ball in Paris were composed of massive

Hyena Strong but Cowardly, Runs from Small Dog

Although it is one of the strongest mammals, the hyena is a notorious coward and will often flee when pursued by a small dog. Only when cornered will it offer fight but then it defends itself desperately. Because of its skulking nature and its habit of living from refuse on village dumps and carrion left by other scavengers, the hyena is held in contempt among the natives of Asia and Africa, where it is most commonly found. The strength of its jaws is said to crush the shin bone of a horse.

Josephus Daniels followed with the entire vote of North Carolina, a woman delegate announced a similar change for Pennsylvania and Governor Branford of Alabama, whose "twenty-four for Underwood" had awakened all the echoes of the old garden at the start of more than a hundred roll calls shouted up "twenty-four for Davis."

Taggart Calls for Unanimous Vote.
The count had gone far past two-thirds and the convention floor was in a tumult as the delegates realized that their long task was done at last. But over the noise of the beginning of a "Davis-for-President" parade around the hall that Thomas Taggart of Indiana, who had played a leading role of compromise through the midst of the trying fight made himself heard with emotion to declare the nomination unanimous. It was adopted with a roar, and the longest deadlock of political history came to its official close as Chairman Walsh pronounced these words:

"By virtue of the vote just taken the chair declares the Honorable John W. Davis of West Virginia the nominee of the convention."

Wear on Gold Coins Results in Loss of Millions

What becomes of gold? It has many channels of disappearance, according to experts. Figures show that more than half of the annual output is employed in the fine arts and jewelry trade. Thousands of pounds also are used by dentists, one estimate being that over a ton is needed every year for the filling of teeth. Then money is worn away in handling, this loss being placed at $1,250,000 annually. Bank of England coverings are often tested and found to have lost much of the original weight. Of the immense quantities of the precious metal that have been buried away in the earth, it is believed comparatively little has ever been recovered.

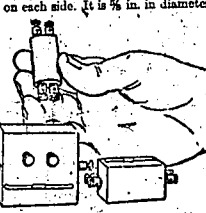

The prices of Peru are said to have buried approximately $10,000,000 worth of treasure to preserve it from the clutches of their persecutors. None of this has been found. The tombs of the old kings of Egypt were treasure houses, and the hoards of gold and jewels being interred with them. It has been estimated by historians that Alexander the Great became the master of great hoards of gold, all of which, so far as is known, has vanished.

A Kink for Paperhangers
When hanging wall paper on a side wall it is necessary to see the edge of the paper from top to bottom in order to get the correct lap. This is very difficult to do when working on a side wall, for it is impossible to see through them as well as with the naked eye. It has been found that this difficulty can be eliminated to a great extent by driving a small nail half an inch into the wall on the edge of the paper as far from the edge as necessary to get the correct lap and at a point about one-third of the length from the top. The nail can readily be seen and the paper hung smoothly. Only the slightest fraction of an inch lap is needed in taping, and this lap can be nailed down so as to prevent the appearance of a perfect butt joint.

The Smallest Radio Set?

What is claimed to be the smallest radio set in the world has been built by an amateur in Providence, R. I. Spurred on by accounts of what others had accomplished in building small sets, he first built a set 2 in. long, 2 in. wide, and 1 in. high. This contained a fixed capacitor, a high condenser and a single-side band-wound coil. His next attempt resulted in a set 2 in. long by 1 in. square, containing everything but the phone condenser, which was discarded as unnecessary. Slider bars on top of these sets permit tuning up to 600 meters.

Even the second was not small enough, so a third set was built, which can be covered completely with four postage stamps, one on each side. It is 1/2 in. in diameter and 1 1/4 in. long. On this set concert broadcast within a radius of 20 miles can be heard distinctly.

Cleaning and Peeling Potatoes

In some parts of the southern states, a novel and interesting method of cleaning and removing potato skins is used. The potatoes are placed in a pail half full of water and a number of rough stones are added. By shaking the potatoes and stones around in the water, the skins soon wear off due to the abrasive action of the stones, and the potatoes are washed clean.

3 1/3c a Meal for Electric Cooking

Isn't it almost unbelievable that an average meal for an average family can be cooked electrically for 3 1-3 cents? Yet, this was the average amount paid during the month of May, 1924, by the 5098 Idaho Power customers who use electric ranges for cooking.

The Average Amount Paid for Electric Cooking During May, 1924, by 5098 of our Range Customers Was $3.14

This was even lower than the average amount paid by 4990 customers during the month of April, which was $3.23. The average rate per Kw. H. of 2 1/2 cents is a much lower cooking rate than that which prevailed in more than 6000 other communities in the United States.

Why Dread Warm Weather Cooking?

There is every possible advantage to Electric Cooking and none of the objectionable features connected with other methods. Your kitchen is as clean and cool as any other room in the house. THE GUMPS—SAY IT WITH SILENCE

SEES BOND OF UNITY IN ROAD

Guy Flenner, Dean of Idaho Newspaper Men, Speaks at Grangeville Celebration.

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho, July 9.—(Special to The News)—The future of Idaho will owe much to the north and south highway, "the connecting link over which we will reach our destination of a complete understanding and most profitable bond of common purpose," Guy Flenner, dean of Idaho newspapermen, declared in an address here today at the dedication of a monument in connection with the north and south highway celebration, which was attended by more than 100 persons here to attend sessions of the Idaho State Editorial association.

"This," Mr. Flenner said, "is particularly a pleasing occasion to me. Anyone here could most truthfully say that, but in my case there are reasons that lend emphasis to the statement and that remove it from any suspicion of being a mere pleasantry. In the summer of 1877, when Chief Joseph and his warriors were taking scalp in these parts, a family of Idaho folks came tenderfooting into Idaho. The train brought them to Kelton, Utah, and the stage, via Boise, Baker, Pendleton, Walla Walla, Lewiston to Grangeville—my first home in the West.

See Dream Fulfilled.

"Ever since I reached maturity, having moved to the southern part of the state, I have dreamed of a link that would connect, at least in sympathy and unity if not commercially, my present home, Boise, with my first home in Idaho—the south with the north. Today there is witnessed a realization, a fulfillment. Today we see the two extremes of our state connected by a magnificent highway. We are here to aid in dedicating the opening of the highway to continuous travel. I regard it as a high privilege to be present. I hope I shall be present when the final completion of the highway is celebrated. Mountains I renew a pledge to assist the highly important development in every way within my power.

"Grangeville has grown considerably since my boyhood eyes first beheld it. I have grown somewhat, too, and I trust my growth has been as substantial and beneficial as that of my early home. I recall the straggling buildings of the then business section; the pioneer hotel, the Jersey House, the town hall, surrounded for a time by logs set on end in a trench as a refuge, a refuge a protection from Indian attacks. Again I see the pack trains moving to and from the mines. "Many familiar faces seem to hover near me. I call the roll. Hugh Robinson and his boys and girls, the Crooks folks, the Pearsons, the Schmadakas, the Schmadakas, the Schmadakas and others. And there is no response from the elders, and none can be excepting it come from the windowless Palace of Peace.

"But I would not inject any note of and retrospection into this occasion, but rather a glad tone that those and other pioneers laid so well the foundations upon which you have erected such a splendid super-structure.

Distance Breeds Differences.

"The differences between men have been described, as quite often the difference of distance. Lack of acquaintance breeds many misunderstandings. It is so with a state. Divided, the various units can hardly be expected to be in sympathy with each other. There is lack of knowledge as to the needs and resources of the one on the part of the other, an distrust that situation may develop, has developed, most harmful prejudices, jealousies and conflicts. At best, under such circumstances, there can hardly be a concrete plan of state development.

"The future of Idaho, in my judgment, will owe much to the north and south highway, the connecting link over which we will reach our destination of a complete understanding and

A most profitable bond of common purpose.

"The only objection I have to the north and south highway is its name. It ought to be changed to the Idaho Unity highway, or to something that would more clearly indicate the important part it is to play in cementing Idaho interests. It is high time without speaking in any to discredit our neighbors, that we talk and act Idaho! If we would go as far in advertising Idaho as we do in advertising California, Oregon, Washington and Utah, we would witness a marked growth in our own state. If we spent as much money for even our pleasures and recreation at home as we do outside there would be less occasion for the cry of hard times. Let us all register a vow to put Idaho at the head of our list.

"The welcome that has been extended the visitors from the south is received in the spirit in which it has been uttered. Speaking for the newspaper fraternity, these here and those absent, as well as for your other guests, I desire to express the deep appreciation we feel for the splendid entertainment you have provided for us and for the warm handshake. We come to you imbued with the full meaning of our motto: 'No North, No South—Just Idaho.'"

Montana Senator Tells Convention He Could Serve Party Better in Senate Than as Vice President.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, July 9 (AP)—Senator Walsh of Montana tonight formally "declined" the vice presidential nomination.

He made known his decision in a letter which was read for the day's closing convention by Representative Barkley of Kentucky.

In his letter Senator Walsh expressed appreciation of the "desire manifested by so many of the delegates that I accept the nomination as its candidate for vice president."

He continued, "Reflection has confirmed me in the view that it would be wise neither from a party nor a personal point of view to transfer me from the first to the second office."

He said that he was looking for the best of leaders to tell them that he would not run.

Mr. Meredith made the statement shortly before the convention convened as he stood in the entrance to the hall. He said that he was looking for some of the leaders to tell them that he would not run.

TWIN FALLS WEEKLY NEWS

Established 1904

Twin Falls News Publishing Company,
Lith. Publisher

Issued on Thursday of every week

Entered as second-class matter December 15, 1904, at the Post Office at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

WELL, ANYWAY

America established another world record yesterday. This time in the field of politics. The Democratic party has set a new standard in the matter of a choice of a party nominee. Mr. Davis was selected on the one hundred and third ballot. Heretofore the record has been held at the seventy-seventh.

It is not a particularly good opening note for a campaign, yet from the standpoint of party success at the polls it is probably a better thing than would have been the nomination of either Mr. McAdoo or Governor Smith. To be sure this happy augury is more or less dispelled by a brief review of the happenings of the convention. There is the Klan issue, for instance, the handling of which satisfied neither the pros nor the ants but left a trail of dissatisfaction in the ranks of both elements.

One of the really good things about the Convention is the fact that it did finally come to an end. A few more weeks and the struggle would have begun to partake of an element approaching monotony!

FUTURE MEN

When a boy has had a good mother, he has a good conscience; and when he has a good conscience he doesn't have to have right and wrong labeled for him.

The above appeared recently in the advertisement of a Twin Falls teacher and, in the judgment of The News, it is worth emphasis.

Possibly The News is to be forgiven for its constant harping on the same old theme, and yet it is difficult to see where any more important subject exists anywhere than the matter of the education of the generation of young people who in a few short years will take up the work of the men of today.

Declarers, ministers and students generally agree upon the proposition that the American home has broken down and they offer this basic fact as one of the main reasons for the work of the Boy Scout and Camp Fire Girl organizations. They would fire the present generation of parents to give their own way and attempt to provide for better material among the parents to come. If it is a fact that the standard of parenthood today is below normal then the reasoning is sound enough. But the question presents itself as to whether anything in the world can take the place of the family circle in the building of conscience and the inculcation of the ideals of honorable citizenship in youngsters.

The formative years of a boy's or a girl's life are not those of the Scout or Camp Fire period; they are the years which precede this period and they begin with the first year. Character is moulded, conscience developed and morals taught between the first year and the end of the next eight or ten. Given the proper teaching then and it will indeed be true that no boy requires a label upon his hand and wrong; neglect this period and there is room for question as to whether the mischief caused by this neglect can ever be repaired.

Henry Prough Returned to Jail Following Chase in South Park, Hiding in Cellar of Store.

Henry Prough, parole violator from the Twin Falls county jail, who took French leave some three weeks ago, was taken into custody Monday afternoon at a grocery store just south of town. Sheriff Plinch and Deputy Sheriff Prater, Sheriff Plinch and his assistant were driving out the Hollister road looking for a carload of liquor reported coming into Twin Falls from the store. Prough was sitting behind the grocery store.

Prough, according to the sheriff, saw the officers when they stopped the car and disappeared. Sheriff Plinch and Deputy Prater immediately started in search of the vehicle. It was the elusiveness of the grocery store disclosed Prough hiding in the cellar. He was arrested and taken back to jail. Though escaped three weeks ago while a trusty and serving 60 days on a charge of "boozing," he has but 20 days to serve when he disappeared.

BOARD DISCUSS BRIDGE ACROSS RIVER CANYON

Chamber of Commerce Directors Believe Rim to Rim Bridge Near Twin Falls Is Essential; Other Matters.

Feasibility of a rim-to-rim bridge across Snake river canyon a short distance above Blue lakes which would be an almost invaluable asset to both north and south sides, was discussed at a meeting of the directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce held at the chamber of commerce rooms Tuesday evening. Such a bridge was favorably considered by the board and two means of building such a bridge were discussed.

When the Hansen bridge was built, it was brought out, plans were drawn for a bridge from the city of Twin Falls and in more direct line with the country lying opposite the Twin Falls section. Surveys were made and the most feasible place for such a bridge both from bridging features and from approaching roads was made into consideration. The board of directors after discussion came to the conclusion unambiguously that it was an essential bridge for southern Idaho.

Two plans for financing the bridge building were discussed. One was to form a corporation and build the bridge and then turn it over to the state and get a return on the money expended. The second plan was to get it financed by county and state. No conclusion was reached, however, and the matter is still open for discussion. Members of the board expressed themselves as believing that with the possible exception of the building of the railroad line from Rogerson to Walla, no other single feature was so desirable and so essential to the bridge.

Many Accidents

Numerous accidents have occurred on both nearby grades, it was pointed out, and such a bridge would eliminate loss of life from this cause. The amount of time and effort it would save would be taken into consideration and the great convenience it would be to both north and south sides of the canyon.

C. E. Lind, chairman of the chamber of commerce roads committee, reported to the board on a meeting held recently at Rupert at which time Dean Russell, building of a road from Minidoka into the Orators of the Moon with an outlet to the north to Yellowstone park was discussed. All cities, he said, reported favorably upon the road. Reported Sunday, this was again brought up at a dedication ceremony held at Arco under the auspices of the Arco Chamber of Commerce. G. W. Witham, representative of the chamber of commerce here, addressed the gathering at Arco and told of the necessity for cooperation between cities for the building of such roads.

R. C. Letsch and L. C. Cio, members of the tourist park committee, reported that within the last month an average patronage of 10 cars a day had stopped at the park.

The terms of the forum committee of the chamber of commerce having accepted a new committee consisting of C. D. Thomas as chairman and Roy Gardner and W. H. Burkholder as members of the committee were elected. In their hands was placed the matter of arranging for the luncheon to be held Thursday afternoon at which time Dean Russell of the Wisconsin Agricultural college will be the guest and to which all citizens are invited.

A letter from the Oakland Chamber of Commerce relative to sending a chamber of commerce committee to Twin Falls was read and the committee was invited to take steps toward entertaining them in the event they accepted.

The resignation of M. C. Mitchell, former superintendent of schools of Twin Falls, was read and the board regretfully accepted his resignation from the chamber of commerce. A number of bills were read and allowed by the board.

D. D. Alvord presided as chairman and members present were T. J. Lloyd, William Simpson, C. E. Lind, R. C. Letsch, J. E. White and W. T. Leslie.

An Absorbing Theme

The woman with the biggest eucrasia is the one who was the first in the club to have her hair bobbed. The others follow around to hear what he has to say about it and they are as interested in the subject as the man from a daring polar expedition—Kansas City Star.

Wheat Feed

Approximately 475,000 tons of wheat feeds are annually produced by four mills in the United States. It would require 225,000 fifty-ton cars or a train about 1,800 miles long to transport this material.

The Sucker Fish

A strange creature is the sucker fish which clings to larger fish and to hulls of vessels by means of "vacuum cups" on the back of its head, solely for the purpose of eating. It is found off the coast of Australia.

ROOTS OF TREES GLOG UP SEWERS

Council May Pass Ordinance to Cut Down Trees Where They Interfere.

Members of Twin Falls city council at a regular weekly meeting Monday evening at the city hall discussed ways and means of eliminating clogged sewers within the city caused from tree roots breaking through the walls. Action may be necessary through the passage of an ordinance, it was intimated, to cut down trees which interfere with the system. Popular trees, members of the council declare, are found to be causing the greatest trouble.

Monday night's session of council was short. Bills amounting to $189,954.40, divided as follows, were all passed: Street lighting, $10,000.00; waterworks, $475.00; sprinkling, $10,785.00; general fund, $378,000.00; waterworks, $437,950.

The report of the city police department was read, showing 19 arrests made during the month. Application for a building permit to construct a sheetiron building was made to the council. Following some discussion it was decided that it was not within the power of the council either to grant or to withhold such permit so long as fire regulations were complied with.

BEAN DISEASE DISAPPEARING

Cooler weather is believed to have materially helped in obliterating a disease of bean plants in the west end of the Twin Falls project which for a time threatened to materially damage the 60,000 yield of beans on the Twin Falls project this fall, according to R. E. Broadard, Twin Falls county agricultural agent. Further examination Monday and Tuesday of fields in which the disease has shown up shows a gradual clearing up of the diseased section and lessening of the spread to new fields.

While an exact definition of the bean disease has not yet been made it is believed that exceptionally hot weather may have had considerable to do with the disease and that cooler weather which followed may have served as a cure for that condition. J. M. Raeder, plant pathologist of the University of Idaho, will arrive here today as the 1 o'clock train on an investigation of the disease will then be made.

While several fields were plowed up in the west end due to the ravages of the disease, the per cent of loss was not great and the soil was not a more marked stage will not affect the yield materially. Some of the farmers who plowed up their fields have again planted to beans and it is expected they will have a considerable crop. E. B. Bennett, field horticulturist of the university extension division, who has been in Twin Falls on business has left for Cassia county where he will make an inspection.

CONTACT ONE OF GREATEST MINE ZONES, REPORT

Mining Man Tells of Copper
Camp and Possibilities; Describes Region Railroad Will Go Through.

Declaring the Contact, Nevada, mining district to be one of the largest surface mineralized areas known, E. F. Gray of the Gray Mining company, has sent out a report on the Salton River region. Contact mining development work is now being carried on in the region to large extent, he declares, which has been stimulated by the building of a railroad from Rogerson to Wells, which will pass through Contact and serve as a means of getting copper ores there to smelters at small cost.

Shifting sands on properties in the Contact region, says the report, which is contained in the prospectus of the Salton River Tunnel company of Contact, which is incorporated for $1,000,000 for the purpose of running a tunnel some five miles or more under a number of properties on the south side to furnish a proper outlet, all have shown good ores at varying depths. Mr. Gray declares himself as believing that at deeper depths even better grades of ore will be struck than those appearing closer to the surface.

Situation of District.
"The Salton River mining district, commonly called Contact," says the report, "is a history and outline of the camp, 'is situated on the north-eastern part of Elko county, Nevada. The town of Contact is near the center of the district at an elevation of 5525 feet, 15 miles south of the Idaho state line, about 25 miles west of the boundary, 35 miles south from the Idaho, the nearest railroad station on the Oregon Short Line, and 54 miles north of Wells, Nevada, on the Southern and Western Pacific railroads. Daily stages run into the camp from Rogerson and Wells."

A bulletin issued by the United States Geological survey, says the report, outlines the mineralized area, as lying in the form of a horseshoe, approximately 50 miles from tip to tip and from 1 to 20 miles across. The principal landmarks of the outer tip of the horseshoe, the Chinese and Middlestack mountains. Middlestack mountain is on the eastern tip of the horseshoe, China mountain at the southern curve and the L. & D. mountain at the northwestern curve of the horseshoe. Mountain elevations are 7900, 8100 and 8500 feet, respectively.

Mining Work.
"Mining development work is being carried on adjacent to all of these mountains," continues the report, "and at various places on the contact around the horseshoe, and on cross-fluores in the core or center. But the principal workings are on the eastern tip and north side of the horseshoe. The core or center of the horseshoe is an intrusive granite formation, intersected by cross-fluores veins of syenite and granodiorite dikes. Many of these dikes, especially the granodiorite, have been opened up to a depth of from 100 to 250 feet, and the ore showings made in some of them are encouraging for further development. The majority of the dikes intersect with the lime outer wall of the horseshoe, and it is apparent that these dikes have the channel through which the thermal waters were forced up through and re-deposited the mineral values along the contact between the granite and lime and formed the contact deposits around the entire outer rim of the shoe, being very pronounced and making back in the lime at the inner margin of the cross-fluores with the lime, and thinning out to leaner seams where the distance between the intersection of these cross-fluores is greatest."

Started in '70's.
"The camp was first located in the early '70's, and the first workings were worked through shallow shafts and tunnels, and shipments were made from various properties, but the distance from the railroad necessitated sorting the ore to a grade where it would bear the cost of freight to the railroad, transportation to the smelter and working charges, and prevented the camp from being worked on a large scale. All the workings were shallow, the deepest of them not exceeding 300 feet. A fair tonnage had been opened up by these shallow workings, but the greater part of this ore was an oxide and carbonate. The distance from the railroad and lack of proven depth of the ore bodies would not justify the building of a smelter, and as most of the ores opened up were oxide and carbonate that could not be treated successfully by concentration, and as the camp was near the ore, they could not be treated successfully by the ordinary leaching methods, and the ammonia leaching process is complicated, and with the exception of the Kennecott plant in Alaska, has been unsuccessful."

Typical men representing the largest copper companies in the world have visited the camp at various times since its discovery and their reports are almost unanimous in classing it as the largest mineralized surface showing in

Storm Brings Added Supply Water Down

The Twin Falls project within the next 24 hours will have between 80 and 90 per cent of the normal irrigation flow for the tract, according to an announcement made today by Assistant Manager, Duran Smith at the Twin Falls Canal company's offices. This condition which will increase the flow 30 to 40 per cent above what it has been during the last 10 days is entirely due to the rain storm in the mountains which sent great quantities of water into the river.

While the flow during the next 24 hours will be close to normal, it will gradually recede, until the 50 per cent level has again been reached, it was announced.

America, and are almost equally unanimous in closing their reports with 'lack of transportation' and the query 'does the ore go down?' Either of these problems is sufficient to cause concern to hesitate to invest money, but the two combined prevented the large companies from coming into the district for many years.

Depth Values.
"In 1918 work was begun for the purpose of testing the value of the ore bodies in the district between the granite and lime. A tunnel was driven for a distance of 2300 feet. At 1205 feet in the tunnel, and at a vertical depth of 390 feet, the lime contact was out. Fair values and substantial ore bodies were out on the surface, but the tunnel was abandoned in the line to intersect the second contact lying back under the quartzite capping, which runs parallel with the main contact along practically the entire north side of the horseshoe, varying from 50 to 300 feet back from the granite as shown on the section at the end of this report. The bodies and better values of ore were out. Drifting on this ore, and at a distance of 2800 feet in from the mouth of the tunnel, and at a vertical depth of 1050 feet from the surface, at the intersection of a cross-fluore from the granite striking back into the lime body of ore, a better grade and larger than heretofore cut, were opened up, which conclusively proves that the ores are deep seated and permanent."

"The principal values cut occurred in the form of a chalcocite with some chalcophyllite, but carrying a large amount of copper. The ore was found to be of a high grade, and sufficient to show that the main sulphide ore bodies occur at a still greater depth. "This deeper working is located on the south side of L. & D. mountain on the north contact, and the mouth of the tunnel is at an elevation of 7100 feet. The horseshoe of the contact on the north contact from the eastern toe of the horseshoe to the point where these deep workings are opened up, and for several miles south and west of this working is similar, and the various properties lying on the north side have shown, in every value in the ore, and in the bodies of ore, the same high grade. It is my opinion, based on more than five years active operations and study of the geological formation of the district, including both surface and underground workings, that larger and better ore bodies will be opened up at these places at a great depth."

Speaking of the railroad, the prospecting says:
"The contract for the building of this road has been let and grading crews are on the line. Eleven camps have been established, scattered between Rogerson, Idaho, and the Hub ranch, 40 miles out, and more supplies and material for additional camps are being pushed to the front as rapidly as possible, with the assurance that 75 miles of this grade will be completed by November 1, 1924, and the entire line between Rogerson and Wells completed, and in operation by June 1, 1925."

REPUBLICAN WOMEN TO MEET AT COURTROOM

Plans for a permanent organization of Twin Falls republican women will be made at a meeting of republican women to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the probate court rooms. It has been announced by Miss Gladys Terhune, one of the most active republican national committeewomen for Idaho. Every woman interested in politics and in the republican party is urged to attend the meeting to be held this evening.

Party policies and the coming presidential campaign, as well as the state elections will be discussed at the meeting. CANAL BOARD TO ATTEND MEET

Attempts to be Made at Idaho
Falls to Adjust Water Storage Difficulties.

Members of the Twin Falls canal board will attend a meeting at Idaho Falls Saturday at which time discussion of storage water difficulties will be taken up and an attempt made to adjust such differences without litigation, it was announced Wednesday by W. O. Taylor, secretary of the company, following a meeting of the board held Tuesday evening, which was attended by W. G. Swendsen, state reclamation commissioner.

While the Twin Falls project and others interested in seeing the matter brought to a satisfactory conclusion, the Minidoka project officials have decided to take the matter into court and attempt to gain a satisfactory settlement in that way, ignoring the meeting to be held at Idaho Falls Saturday evening. Following out this decision will be filed in the Eleventh judicial district by the north and south side districts of the Minidoka project to force Watermaster Baldwin of the Snake river division water users to deliver such storage water due them from Jackson Lake.

At the meeting attended here by Mr. Swendsen he was unprepared to commit himself inasmuch as he has not yet had an opportunity to get at all of the facts in the case. He however told members of the board that he intended what he could in straightening out the difficulties at the Idaho Falls meeting, which he hopes to attend. Mr. Swendsen arrived late Tuesday evening and following the meeting returned to Boise.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR COMMERCE LUNCHEON

Wisconsin College Men to be Guest of Honor at Rogerson Hotel; Expect 150 to Attend Meeting.

Plans have been completed and all is in readiness for the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce luncheon to be held this noon at the Rogerson hotel in honor of the Wisconsin college men who are here for the purpose of gathering first hand information on the dairy possibilities of the Twin Falls project. Approximately 150 officials of Twin Falls and members of the chamber of commerce will be present at the luncheon at which time there will be several speakers who will tell Dean Russell of the advantages this section of Idaho boasts of as a dairying section.

Accompanying Dean Russell will be R. E. Shepherd of Jerome, who has been instrumental in the promotion of the dairying enterprise on the north and south sides. Dean Russell will behold of the great quantities of alfalfa that can be grown here above that raised in other sections and of the number of cows that can be fed to the acre here which is practically three times the number of that in Wisconsin. The object of Dean Russell's visit here is for the purpose of carrying back to Wisconsin dairymen the opportunities they have in this region. It is understood that a number of Wisconsin families are planning upon moving here in the event that statements made about the Twin Falls section are true.
