

ECONOMIC AND ARMS PARLEY BORAH'S PLAN

Idaho's Senator Considers Revival of Proposal for International Conference; Would Discuss Finances.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, is considering revival of his plan for an international conference and he may couple with it a proposal for further limitation of armaments.

A resolution designed to bring the principal powers together in a discussion of economic questions was introduced by the Idaho senator last session, but no action was taken on it. Despite the opposition of the Dawes plan, Senator Borah believes there remain financial and industrial questions that require united treatment by the nations and he has expressed a view many times that armaments and finances should be regarded as related subjects.

Amount of Payments.

One of the questions he would like to see settled is the total sum Germany is to pay in reparations. He also desires that both Germany and Russia be called into consultation on the important international questions now pending.

The senator said today he might present a resolution for an international conference shortly, but had not definitely made up his mind and would be guided by circumstances in determining the form of the proposal and the time of its presentation.

50 PASSENGERS ARE TAKEN OFF DISABLED COASTWISE STEAMER

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP)—Fifty passengers of the coastwise steamer Humboldt of the White Star line, Captain Brougham, bound for San Francisco out of San Pedro, were transferred to two automobile stages here today when the vessel's propeller shaft broke. The accident occurred about 3 a. m., five miles off shore.

SENT FROM LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 1 (AP)—Two passenger stages were sent to Santa Barbara from here late today to pick up passengers of a San Francisco bound steamer reported in trouble off that port and to carry them on to their destination.

A Los Angeles stage system was requested to furnish cars for 50 persons but had no information as to whether the steamer had been wrecked or merely been compelled to dock for repairs.

MUMMER PARADE IN QUAKER CITY

Annual New Year's Affair in Philadelphia Participated in by Thousands of Marchers.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1 (AP)—With a light-hearted laugh for the biting breezes Philadelphia's merry makers marched today in their annual Mummer's parade, flooding Broad street with a riot of color and mirth for several miles. Thousands shivering on the sidewalks envied the Mummer's ability to keep warm by dancing to the music of multicolored bands. More than 100 spectators collapsed from the cold, a score requiring hospital treatment.

The fancy clubs, which devote their efforts to elaborate displays of flowered and embroidered draperies experienced difficulties in navigating the 25-mile gale that howled down between the skyscrapers in the center of the city.

Wife With One Another.

Captains of the various New Year's clubs vied with one another in the lavish adornment of their capes. One mantle, 103 feet long, required the services of 106 pages to keep it taut. A costume with 14,000 "pearls" worn in it was worn by one mummer.

Race Against Time to Save Bail Bond of $15,000 Begins

Head of Brewery Firm on Steamer Bound for San Francisco Must Reach New York by January 12.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1—A race between Honolulu and New York began today when Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Butler of Elizabeth, N. J., in an effort to save a $15,000 bail bond from forfeiture is being watched with interest in San Francisco, as the principal relay point of the journey.

Butler, president of the Peter Drolit Brewing company, is at under bond on a charge of violating the federal prohibition law. He must be in New York January 12 to save the bond. He recently engaged passage on the round-the-world liner Belgenland in New York in the belief that he had plenty of time to make the trip around the world, he said.

Five Days Across U. S.

When the Belgenland reached Honolulu Mr. Butler was informed by his attorney that he must be in New York on January 12. He had little time to spare and tried to book passage to the mainland on the steamer Sierra. He failed to obtain accommodations, so yesterday he took the Wilhelmina for San Francisco. The Wilhelmina is due here January 7, giving the Butlers just five days to reach New York. It can be made, barring mishaps. If, however, the steamer is late in arriving, as Pacific steamers occasionally are, the arrival here may be too late to enable the Butlers to reach New York in time.

Nothing has been heard as to the speed the Wilhelmina is making.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 1 (AP)—Postal inspectors seeking to recover approximately $85,000 worth of Liberty bonds said to have been secreted by Herbert Holiday, Bandout, Ill., were handling now serving the 25-year sentence in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., tonight maintained the attitude of silence and absolute secrecy as to the status of the investigation which already is said to have brought to light $21,000 of the hidden loot.

Mrs. Ellen Holiday, wife of Herbert Holiday, and Miss Helen McNell, his niece, were returned to Little Rock today from Memphis by postal inspectors and placed in the county jail pending further investigation.

BET GROWERS GO ON RECORD IN FAVOR OF $6.50 FOR PRODUCT

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Jan. 1 (AP)—The Fort Collins branch of the Mountain States Beet Growers' association today went on record as favoring an initial payment of $6.50 a ton for beets instead of $5.50 as has been the custom.

They also will ask for a clause in new contracts providing that the Great Western Sugar company stand the sugar shrinkage while the growers stand the beet shrinkage. A test of sugar content of each grower's beets was favored.

F. L. Pitcher, president, and all other officers were re-elected.

ALLIED ACTION STIRS GERMANY

Ill Feeling Shown, Over Prospective Failure of Nations to Evacuate Cologne Area.

BERLIN, Jan. 1 (AP)—The German valdeltories to 1924 and the greetings of the incoming year are largely colored by the ill feeling over the prospective failure of the allies to evacuate the Cologne area on Jan. 10, as foreseen from Paris.

While the retrospective views expressed concede that the past year has been one of economic and social progress and the New Year prospects are none too sanguine over the immediate outlook for the continued improvement of the nations internal affairs and its foreign relations.

Shows Recovery.

"The year just closed has been one of conspicuous and progressive convalescence and inherent consolidation for our sorely tried fatherland. In that our currency, our state finances and our economic life have been liberated from the vicious manifestations and effects of the inflation period and given more secure foundations." MAIL OFFICIALS SUSPENDED ON LOBBY CHARGES

Six Postoffice Men Relieved From Duty as Result of Using Money to Influence Bill For Pay Increase.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—Six responsible postal officials in as many cities throughout the country have been suspended from duty, an employee of the senate postoffice committee has been discharged and the clerk of the house postoffice committee has resigned as a result of an investigation into the use of money to influence postal pay legislation.

The officials suspended are members of the legislative committee of the National Association of Postal Supervisors and held some of the most important positions in the postal service. They are:

Acting Superintendent: Peter McGarry, acting superintendent of mails, New York city, who has been in service 27 years.

James M. Greig, postal cashier, Boston, in the service 17 years.

Peter Wiggle, acting postmaster, Detroit, in the service 24 years.

Harvey M. Tittle, assistant postmaster, Springfield, Ohio, in the service 25 years.

J. J. Fields, superintendent of mails, Louisville, in the service 33 years.

William Sansom, assistant superintendent of delivery, Chicago, in the service 33 years.

Central Figure.

The discharged senate employee was E. H. McDermott, assistant clerk of the senate committee, who is described in a report of postal inspectors as the central figure in the arrangement by which he received $2,000 to work for the interests of the association of postal supervisors.

Frederick C. Biddle, clerk of the house committee, was declared in the report to have been presented with a "gift" of $1,000 by the supervisors' association and he announced today that because of the unhappy note which he had resigned.

Tucson, 40 Miles Away, Sees Glow From Blaze in Santa Catalina Mountains.

TUCSON, Arizona, Jan. 1 (AP)—An immense forest fire, visible in Tucson, 40 miles away, is burning in the Santa Catalina mountains tonight.

Rangers from all posts in the Catalinas have gone to the fire in response to an alarm. The only definite information received here late tonight was that the blaze had been located as "beyond the head of Pima canyon." This is 27 miles away in a direct line and 38 miles to the nearest road.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MURDERER

Seek to Establish Identity of Person Who Shot Cedar Rapids Man; Wife Questioned.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Jan. 1 (AP)—Police tonight were trying to establish the identity of the slayer of Armstrong J. Schrader, whose body was found this morning in Kenwood park, a suburb at the entrance of a cemetery which adjoins the home of Schrader's estranged wife.

Schrader apparently was shot to death. M. H. J. Curtes, his father-in-law, when questioned by the police declared he heard several shots fired about midnight but denied that he had seen Schrader since Monday when he ordered him to leave the house. Mrs. Schrader, 24, widow of the slain man, denied she had seen him last night. She admitted, however, that he had called on her last Monday and threatened her life if she did not return to him.

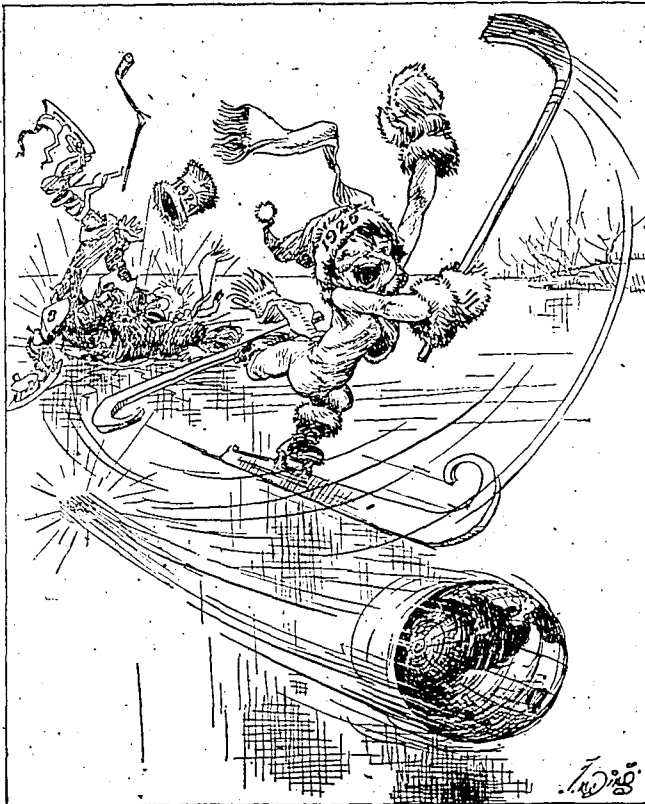

A gun with one empty chamber was found in the Curtes home.

Mrs. Curtes also was questioned by the police and the coroner.

GIVING THE OLD BALL A NEW START

MILLION SPENT IN CHICAGO ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Arrival of 1925 in Windy City Results in Three Lives Lost, Six Injured and $200,000 Fire Damage.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 (AP)—The arrival in Chicago of young 1925 tonight had cost three lives, half a dozen seriously injured and a $200,000 fire loss.

The healthy youngster himself celebrated his coming by bringing along the city's first big snowstorm of the winter.

The expense of ushering in the new year could not be accurately estimated, but hotels, restaurants, cafes and cabarets where the welcome was given last night, estimated that Chicago spent more than $1,000,000 for the reception.

Killed by Stray Bullets

Two of those killed, lost their lives when they were hit by stray bullets supposedly fired by new year's celebrants. One was killed while riding in an elevated train, the other while sitting in his home. Two others were seriously wounded by being hit by new year's bullets, one while waiting on a street car, and a woman while sitting in her home.

The third man killed was shot to death by a policeman when he became involved in a New Year's morning fight and flourished a pistol. A janitor of a large apartment building, who celebrated the new year with a few glasses of beer, was shot in the head when he started running up and down the halls firing a pistol after they had complained that there was not sufficient heat. Twenty policemen chopped down doors and finally cornered the frenzied man in a cubby hole in the basement as he fully snapped his empty pistol at them.

Shot at Party

One man was shot when outsiders attempted to "crash" a New Year's party where he was a guest, and another was stabbed during a family celebration.

More than 30 fires, doing a total damage of $200,000, were reported during the first four hours of the new year.

More than a score of robberies and holdups and a loss of several thousand dollars indicated the manner in which the underworld was celebrating.

Two youths, each from another city, celebrated the new year by surrendering to the police, announcing that they wanted to start the year right. One was Lloyd Irvine, 18, who said he was wanted in San Francisco for talking about $300 from the Bishop and Buhler Steamship offices where he was employed. The other was Prentice Hon-

GOVERNOR SMITH ASSUMES DUTIES

Ceremonies Held in Albany, N. Y., as Executive Takes Office For Third Time.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 1 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith was inaugurated today as governor of New York for his third term. Faced by a politically hostile legislature, surrounded by six state officials of opposite political faith, the governor, in his brief inaugural address, pledged himself to conduct a non-partisan administration and he sought the co-operation of his colleagues in making the ensuing two years "a government for all the people."

To Give His Best

"My sole and only wish is to give the state the best of which I am capable," Governor Smith declared, "and although the incoming state officials are not of the same political faith to which I belong, I am satisfied that we are all thinking alike."

Significance given the inauguration ceremony today by the swearing in of the first third term governor since the days of DeWitt Clinton, in 1825, was heightened by the presence on the inaugural platform of the first woman state official elected in the history of New York state—Mrs. Florence E. Knapp of Syracuse—who administered the oath of office to the governor.

IDAHO STANDS HIGH IN WATER POWER VALUES

State Ranks Fourth in Resources; With but 7 Per Cent of It Developed, Says Publication.

MOSCOW, Jan. 1.—Idaho stands fourth among the states for the nation in potential water power, but has developed only about seven per cent of it, according to J. Hugo Johnson, professor of electrical engineering, in the December number of the Idaho Engineer, published by the Associated Engineers, University of Idaho. Washington heads the list, with California following in second place and Oregon in third place.

The water area of Idaho is divided by Mr. Johnson into the following divisions: The Coeur d'Alene district, the Middle Snake and Salmon rivers and tributaries, and the Southern Snake district. Of the Coeur d'Alene district, Professor Johnson says:

Post Falls Plant.
"The Coeur d'Alene district at present has only one development of importance and that a large one of 100,000 kilowatts at Post Falls. There are many other possible water power sites, easily accessible and of moderate powers, so that this district probably will be fully developed in the near future, since it is near to the markets of Spokane and the transcontinental railroads.

The middle district is as yet practically untouched, the present developments being one 3000 kilowatts at Oxbow on the Snake river and some minor powers around Grangeville. In reality the Snake river in the 70 miles below Lewiston rivals Niagara Falls with its 870,000 horsepower, as there are 17 possible sites where more than 900,000 horsepower could be developed 90 per cent of the time; estimating an overall efficiency of 80 per cent, 800,000 horsepower would be the result even if the water was partially withdrawn for irrigation purposes. If the Salmon river be diverted from the Snake at a point about 77 miles up from Lewiston, 345,000 horsepower may be obtained 90 per cent of the time or 298,000 horsepower if the river be regulated for irrigation purposes. Above this point there are 20 suitable power sites on the Salmon where 250,000 horsepower could be developed 90 per cent of the time.

Snake the Deepest.
"The canyon of the Snake river is more than 1000 feet deeper than the bottom of the Colorado between Yavapai Point and Buddha Temple and considerably narrower. The average fall of the river is about 12 feet to the mile, the low water discharge about 8000 second feet and frequently a width of a scant 100 feet. Since the rocks that form the canyon walls are such as to make good foundation walls for dams of any height, it is easy to see that this portion of Snake is well adapted to the development of large blocks of power. On the other hand, the cost of construction and of maintenance would be high as it would be expensive to transport equipment and the river is subject to enormous floods.

"In the southern part of Idaho the Snake river already has been developed to a considerable extent. The latest figures show more than 200,000 horsepower developed in some 18 plants, mainly under contract to the Idaho Power company, the Utah Light and Power company and the United States reclamation service. There are possibilities for development of some 250,000 horsepower more in the territory and as this is near a growing market it probably will be made available sooner than the power in the lower Snake."

Undeveloped Region.
It will have been noticed that the great undeveloped region is that of the lower Snake and the Salmon, remarks Professor Johnson. This territory is extremely rugged, rough and inaccessible. However, as the power near the coast becomes less and less able to care for the rapidly increasing demands of industry and as the mountain divisions of the transcontinental railroads become more electrified, the value of this section will be realized more fully.

"The development of this water power means much to Idaho," continued the writer. "It will make available huge blocks of cheap power, which, in turn, will hasten the industrial development of the state. The growth of local industries will diversify the source of income and alleviate the bad effects of periodical low prices for agricultural products and poor crops. The industrial workers will increase the population of the state, thereby improving the local market for the farmer and the mercantile alike, lower the per capita tax and make a still more attractive appeal to Idaho's children to remain within her inviting borders."

But Be Sure
It's all right to throw dull care to the wind if you are sure the wind is blowing in the right direction.

DEPARTMENT OF AERONAUTICS IS URGED FOR U. S.

Persons Interested in Aviation Would Have Cabinet Officer in Charge of All Aerial Equipment and Men.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—A department of aeronautics in the federal government, with a cabinet officer at its head, is the goal of many persons interested in aviation development. Brigadier-General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, and the most outspoken exponent of this idea, expects a bill to accomplish this to receive consideration at the present session of congress.

A secretary of aeronautics, with an assistant secretary, would preside over the proposed new department, as it is envisaged by its advocates. Among the duties of the department would be: The supply of personnel and equipment for aerial mail routes; responsibility for national defense; preparation of aerial photographs; granting of aviators' and aeronauts' licenses to all pilots; promulgation of rules and regulations to govern aviators and aeronauts; supervision over international, interstate and intrastate flying; establishment of landing fields; preparation and distribution of weather data; training of personnel and equipment for coast border and forest reserve patrol for any other department.

In times of peace and war the secretary of aeronautics would assign to the war and navy departments for duty aeronautical units which the president might deem necessary.

Air Academy.
Commissioned officers of the air force would be appointed to conduct an air academy or academies to train officers in various lines of technical work. Enlisted men of the air force would be recruited after the present manner of the army and navy.

The commissioned personnel of the air force, it is declared, need not exceed 2000; not more than 500 warrant officers would be needed, and not more than 20,000 enlisted men. Provision would be made for an aviation reserve.

England and Italy, Brigadier-General Mitchell points out, have separate air forces. Germany has had one for some eight years and Japan is engaged in formulating her own department of aeronautics, although not as completely separated and independent as the others.

"I am now ready to act," Shepherd said. "My first move will be in the form of damage suits for slander against the instigators of this inquiry and the terrible insinuations that have been hurled in my direction. I have gathered sufficient information on which to base my suits. I shall pursue them to the finish and I will make those people pay. Today was an extremely happy New Year's for me, because I knew I had already been cleared of these foul suspicions," he said in a 1000 word statement.

Is He "Most Notorious Crook in World?"

CAPT. CHARLES W. A. ARTHUR

DURING THE SENSATIONAL "Mr. A." trial in London, it was testified that the British army aide-de-camp of Rajah Sir Hari Singh, heir to the Maharajah of Jammu-Kashmir, had "framed" his master, and led the band of blackmailers who collected $750,000 from Rajah Sir Hari when he was found in a Paris hotel with Mrs. Maude Robinson. The aide-de-camp, whose identity was kept as secret as that of the Indian potentate, was branded "the most notorious crook in the world" by the attorneys. With the official admission that the potentate was the rajah, it became known the aide-de-camp was Captain Charles W. A. Arthur, who was immediately arrested in Paris. He denied his guilt emphatically, but it was testified at the trial he received a large share of the $750,000 blackmail.

SPURNED SUITOR SHOOTS WOMAN

Kills One, Wounds Another and Slashes Own Throat in Love Disappointment.

DENVER, Jan. 1 (AP)—It was "fourney's end in lover's meeting," last night, when Carlos Bodner, spurned suitor, met Mrs. Mary McNulty as she was returning from a New Year's party with her sister and two male escorts.

Bodner opened fire, shot and killed Mrs. McNulty, fired another shot at Mrs. Pauline Ludebeck, Mrs. McNulty's sister, wounded Antonio Gjoivick, and then slashed his own throat. At the general hospital physicians today declared Bodner has but a slight chance for recovery.

Meets Quartet.
Bodner met the quartet and went with them to Mrs. McNulty's apartment where the shooting occurred. The two men grappled with Bodner after he had fired the fatal shot at Mrs. McNulty and in the scuffle Gjoivick received a wound in the hand. Breaking away from the men Bodner then drew the knife across his throat.

Over One Hundred Thousand DOLLARS

Is invested in the printing industry in Twin Falls county, of which more than half represents actual value in type and machinery.

The combined payrolls in the industry in Twin Falls county amount to not less than $1,900.00 or $2,100.00 a week, of which probably $1,600.00 is paid out in Twin Falls.

These are figures which are worthy of thought—for one thing, they prove that Twin Falls may be safely regarded as the center of the printing industry in this part of Southern Idaho.

We repeat—no better printing is obtainable anywhere than may be had in Twin Falls. There are no better workmen, no better material, no place where more attention is paid to the wishes of the customers—no more satisfactory market in which to buy printed matter than the home market—Twin Falls.

Twin Falls printers are actively soliciting the patronage of those using printing.

OXFORD TREATS GIRL STUDENTS WITH CONTEMPT

Hardships Endured at English School* by Women; Thirty-Two Americans Graduate; Men Rude in Classes.

OXFORD, England, Jan. 1 (AP)—

Thirty-two American girls have this year taken the short gown and attractive mortar-board cap, without the board, that make up the uniform of an Oxford woman student. Only eight are in women's colleges, the rest being members of a curious organization called the Society of Oxford Home Students, which is not a college, although remarkably like one, and not a society of home students. Most of the girls live in the cold and uncomfortable lodgings for which Oxford is famous.

The lot of the woman student or "undergraduate" in Oxford is not a very happy one. The four women's colleges are all very poor, badly situated and scantily furnished. The Society of Oxford Home Students, poorer still, cannot even afford a college.

The grand old men of the university, the dons, fellows and heads of colleges who lived through the suffragette days when enthusiastic women poured acid on college lawns and carried up into college letter boxes, still mistrust and suspicion. While there is not among Oxford undergraduates the feeling of resentment against women students which leads Cambridge men to smash the gates of women's colleges and to stamp and groan when a woman enters a lecture room, yet their regard for the new-comers is far from kindly. At best it may be defined as an uneasy consciousness of unconscious superiority.

To the university journals women students are fair but for much more humor and harsh criticism, and the average undergraduate would no doubt prefer to see them go.

The company of the undergraduates is not greatly desired by the male, and his life is hedged about by the most exacting and harassing restrictions. American students are excluded from the most popular of their English sisters, partly because they dress much more stylishly, and partly because the Oxford man shares the pleasant notion that all Americans are millionaires.

Any Oxford don or professor who sees fit to exclude women from his lectures, and who are not excluded, must attend with such zeal that men students complain bitterly that they take all the best seats. Women are admitted only to part of the university libraries. This is no great hardship, for Oxford libraries are notorious for bad cataloging and lack of heat. It is no uncommon sight in the great Bodleian library of all sorts of college to see a student dressed in overcoat, muffler and fur mittens carrying a great book of black leather.

Altogether and opposition on the part of the men of the university have driven the women to rely more and more upon themselves, and they are slowly developing a social, academic and athletic world of their own, like that of Smith or Wellesley. Meanwhile the life offered to an American girl student is an attractive one.

"YOU AND I"

There is no doubt that there is one thing common to all of us who have passed the stage of being in love and entered the stage of matrimony. That is the thoughts of what we might have done had we kept single and continued along the path of so-called single blessedness.

It is because of this that "You and I" is destined to be one of the most enjoyable of the offerings by the Moroni Olsen Players at the Lavington theater during the current season.

Philip Barry, author of "You and I," the Harvard prize play of 1922, has based his play upon the life story of an artist who forsook his art for love and at the age of 40 tries to gain that which he believes he has lost, only to find that there is danger of his learning that he has lost nothing but mediocrity. The author has further complicated the situation by adding to it the artist's son who has to go through the same sort of a love-romp comedy. As the son is about to go abroad to study architecture he falls in love with a girl as did his father before him and decides that the author has been happy if he marries and goes to work in the soap factory where his father is employed. This, in brief, is the theme of the plot of "You and I" and in its evolution the author has provided for the two hours of amusing, fascinating and thoughtful entertainment.

The Moroni Olsen Players have been extremely successful this season and there is no doubt but that this success will be continued, if not increased, with their production of "You and I" Friday evening.

"THE TEN COMMANDMENTS"

"The Ten Commandments," Cecil B. De Mille's gorgeous epic spectacle, will begin on Monday evening, January 5, an engagement of two nights and two matinees at the Orpheum theater. The showmen will be given daily with full musical accompaniment by a traveling orchestra of 20 pieces. The splendid film of 20 pieces. The splendid film of 20 pieces. The splendid film of 20 pieces.

Although "The Ten Commandments" was shown for the first time only last season its fame has spread throughout the country and it is well established as the greatest triumph so far attained in the art of the photoplay.

The scenes of the big picture are of the most colorful showing the flight of the children of Israel from Egypt, their safe passage through the divided waters of the Red Sea, and the pursuit by the Egyptians of Pharaoh's chariots, surges in splendor any similar scenes heretofore produced.

The modern story, written by Jeanie Macpherson, is a masterpiece of absorbing melodramatic presentation of American life at the present time, in which is revealed the inevitable doom of those who set aside the moral laws in their pursuit of wealth and pleasure. The pictorial episodes in the modern narrative—such as the falling of the dome of a great cathedral and the wreck of a motor boat in a storm at sea—are no less thrilling than the miraculous scenes in the Biblical part of the picture. The love story that is woven through these episodes of high excitement is infinitely appealing and there is much fine sentiment and delightful humor in the picture.

The chief roles in "The Ten Commandments" are played by Theodore Roberts, John Wayne, Robert Dix, James Neil, Robert Edison, Charles De Roche, Lillian Burt, Leatrice Joy, Nita Naldi, Estelle Taylor, Edythe Chapman, Julia Faye, Clarence Burton and Agnes Ayres. The musical score was arranged by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld.

AT THE IDAHO.

The final long-horn cattle drive in the history of the world took place recently when the last great herd—over 4000 in number—started from Texas, toward the railroad in Abilene, Kansas.

The journey was made in connection with the filming of the historical Emerson Hough novel, "North of 36," an Irvin Willat production for Paramount, now playing at the Idaho theater.

Headed by Lois Wilson, Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence and Noah Berry, who have featured roles in the production, and followed by an army of cowboys, chuck wagons, oxen and Indian guides, the tremendous herd of long-horns swung out of the big ranch yard and started across the country in the direction of Abilene, Kansas.

The herd of 4000 long-horns is the only remaining one in the world—stockmen having replaced them with a superior breed of beef. According to the owner of the cattle the drive is the first one of its kind in almost 40 years. It will also be the last. Almost immediately after "North of 36" was completed he marketed the stock.

"North of 36" was adapted for the screen by James Hamilton. The screen play is said to be the best brought to life.

There's a high class cast playing in support of the principals.

ORPHEUM.

What everyone wondered who saw Harold Lloyd's latest feature Pathé-comedy, "Hot Water," at the Orpheum theater yesterday, was when is this great comedian going to have a heart and stop making people laugh so hard that their sides ache. Just as "Girl Rhy" was greater than any previous Lloyd comedy, so is "Hot Water" greater even than "Girl Rhy." When it comes to making people shriek and roar with laughter, Lloyd stands head shoulders above any other comedian in the field of screen comedy.

And once again Lloyd has lived up to his enviable reputation for originality. Not only is the story original, but the way in which he makes you laugh is also unusual and novel.

Nothing but the highest praise can be given to this latest of Lloyd's masterpieces of wit and humor and there is not a shadow of a doubt that he will continue to be known as the greatest comedian of all time.

Beside Lloyd and Miss Ralston, the exceptionally fine cast includes Josephine Crowell, Charles Stevenson and Mickey McLean. The picture was directed by Sam Taylor and Fred Newmeyer.

NOTRE DAME IS VICTOR IN GAME WITH STANFORD

South Bend Football Eleven Buries Westerners Under Score of 27 to 10; "Four Horsemen" Show Speed.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP)—A typhoon of speed whirled out of South Bend, Indiana, and landed here today swamping Stanford university's football team under a 27 to 10 score. Notre Dame had speed.

The famous four horsemen were pitted against Ernie Nevers of Stanford and the gallant Cardinal, although he covered himself and his alma mater with glory, could not offset their repeated charges.

At that, the huge red shirted Stanford outcharged the stout blue jerseyed line of Notre Dame and it was owing to their work that the Palo Alto institution was able to register 10 points in the face of the fierce galloping of the cavalry from South Bend, Ind.

Scores First Victory.

Notre Dame also added to its list of honors that of having scored the first victory of the east in four intercollegiate games played on the Pacific coast this season.

For the first time in a number of years the Bear howl was packed to capacity. It was estimated that upwards of 52,000 watched the contest.

At every moment throughout the four periods the Notre Dame men lived up to their reputation for speed in foot and hand.

Inauspicious Start.

The start was inauspicious for the easterners. Coach Rocco went in his second string men to open the fight, but Stanford, strong, aggressive and beefy, shoved them steadily down the field. Then Rocco called on his stars and the real battle was on.

Stanford's errors, which might not have been very costly against his opponents, were fatal when pulled in the face of Notre Dame. When the Cardinal foot slipped the South Bend hand was there to take it.

Stanford started the scoring by a placement kick off Cuddeback's toe in the first period.

In the second period, for the only time during the game, Notre Dame was able to gain consistently through the big red line. A prolonged drive ended when Layden bored through left guard three yards to a touchdown.

A few minutes later Layden came to the front again, pulled Nevers out of the air and sprinted 70 yards for the second South Bend touchdown. Crowley converted it. In the third period occurred one of Stanford's expensive errors. Solomon fumbled a punt on his own 20-yard line. He stooped to recover when he might have played safely falling on the ball. Hunt-singer swooped down on him, shoved Solomon aside, grabbed the pigskin and ran unopposed to a touchdown. Crowley again converted. Later in the period, Notre Dame, defying rule and fate, boldly attempted a forward pass with its 20-yard territory, and Nevers pulled it down. The following series of line bucks, nearly all of them featuring the hefty Nevers, who savagely shoved, heaved and ground his way to Notre Dame's eight yard line.

The horsemen from the east were set for another buck but it did not come. Walker passed over the line to Ted Shipkey and Stanford chalked up a touchdown. Cuddeback kicked goal for the extra point. That ended Stanford's scoring.

Fourth Quarter Chance.

In the fourth period Stanford had another opportunity. An intercepted forward pass on Notre Dame's 25-yard line put the ball in Baker's hands.

Nevers was called on and in a succession of plunges carried the sphere to Notre Dame's eight-inch line. The stands erupted in a loud howl for Stanford, but when Referee Thorpe unscrambled the heap of players he found the goal mark had not been crossed.

The last scoring play of the contest gave Layden another chance to show his speed. He intercepted a pass from Nevers' hands and led a chase all the way for 35 yards across the Stanford chalk mark. Crowley's toe did the rest.

The four horsemen cantered, trotted and galloped with all the abandon expected of them. Harry Stachurski was handicapped when he twisted his left ankle early in the opening period and it slowed up his play during the remainder of the game although at no moment did it appear that any Cardinal buck could make any South Bend backfield in point of speed.

Layden and Crowley were the most effective carriers for Notre Dame. Don

CALIFORNIA IS VICTORIOUS IN BERKELEY GAME

Pacific Coast Football Team Trims Pennsylvania University by Score of 14 to 0; Lead Throughout.

CALIFORNIA STADIUM, BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP)—There was a Quaker meeting here this afternoon and the congregation, numbering some 50,000, was confirmed in the belief that football is a great sport and that the faith of five years in the impracticability of the University of California was justified once more. The crowd was reaffirmed by a 14 to 0 victory over the University of Pennsylvania, otherwise the Quakers.

California outplayed Pennsylvania almost, but not quite, from start to finish, the exception being made in the third period, when the visitors made a desperate but unavailing spurt.

Price Ring Jargon.

In the jargon of the prize ring, the game might be summed up in this fashion:

Round One: The boys sparred, but not for long. Cal rushed in furiously, chasing Penn toward his corner. Four longed several hooks to the body, but soon was dropped by Cal for a count of seven.

Round Two: Penn had the best of Miller performed well but his mark did not quite reach the high mark set by his team mates.

The Lineup and Summary:

some in-fighting, but Cal's long range punches had a telling effect. There was a hot exchange of close quarters, but Cal had Penn groggy and ready to fall for a count at the bell.

Round Three: Penn came back strong chased Cal around the ring with long rights and lefts. Cal weakened and covered up, but staggered. Cal floored Penn for another count of seven. It was too late for Penn to recover and Cal got the decision by a wide margin.

Shows Its Stuff.

Chucking metaphor to its figurative winds, California at the outset started to show its stuff when Young on a delayed buck, traveled 25 yards, a half first down to Young put the ball in Pennsylvania territory. The Penn resistance stiffened and the Bears carried out the strategy of grounding a short punt within inches of the opposing goal line, thus requiring the enemy to line up in front of its crossbar.

A little later the same scheme was worked. Both times McGraw punted out but the home team continued to bring the ball back far into Quakerland. Finally, on a fake dropkick, Young got to the four-yard line. Then he plunged over guard for a touchdown. Carlson kicked the goal.

Start Punting.

The Quakers could not gain and started punting on the second down. But they made a pretty rally when Krouse emerged from a pileup and ran 11 yards.

Carlson then on the next play, but that was all.

In the second period they continued their kicking game. After several exchanges, however, they started bucking pigskin. The Bears carried out the strategy of grounding a short punt within inches of the opposing goal line, thus requiring the enemy to line up in front of its crossbar.

A pass, McGraw to Thayer, gained 25 yards and thrilled the Penn supporters. An attempt at a place kick failed.

California had the ball and a toss from Dixon to Imley netted 30 yards. Imley continued to gain on reverses plays. Dixon threw one to Young that traveled 27 yards. But the Bears had hard luck and were stopped short on two completed passes and lost the ball on downs.

Regain on Punt.

A moment later they regained it on a punt. Most of the time, one of them from Dixon to Moll for 16 yards, brought the ball close to the opposing goal. Young started plunging through the half ended, apparently robbing California of a score.

The Quakers came back for the second half all pepped up.

They went through for 13 yards. The ball was advanced steadily. McGraw made 15 yards on a reverse. Leth dashed around end. The ball was taken to the California one-yard line, where the Bears held for downs and punted out.

The Bears then kept the ball out of danger.

Fourth Quarter.

In the fourth quarter there were several fumbles. Captain McGraw of Pennsylvania made what the official announcer said was his first fumble in three years. The reliable Imley, too, fumbled. In the Quaker backfield, Leth and McGraw began rallying. But Carey of California knocked down a long pass. Later the visitors completed several passes but they were for such short gains that the ball was lost on downs.

California scored the other touchdown after Imley had made spectacular runs around end.

Griffen plunged straight through the line for the score. Again Carlson kicked the goal and the score was 14 to 0.

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 1 (AP)—A crew of invaders from the east today accomplished what southwestern football teams have been trying two years to achieve—when the West Virginia Wesleyans defeated Southern Methodist university 9 to 7.

The southerners, however, outplayed the visitors almost all of the game. The breaks of the game accounted for the two touchdowns, leaving the final goal registered by Wesleyan in the third period as the only bit of legitimate scoring.

LOST BUT ONE BOUND.

TORONTO, Jan. 1 (AP)—Freddie Vincent of England lasted just one and a fraction rounds with Jackie Johnson, former Canadian amateur bantam-weight champion of Toronto, in an eight-round bout here this afternoon.

Evacuation.

Discussing the subject of the evacuation of the Rhineland, the president said:

"Whatever be their political faith Germans everywhere are today free in their feeling of bitter disappointment of a new and painful injustice. Under pretences which we are yet unfamiliar with and which we therefore are unable to examine, but of the inconsistency of which we are convinced, we are to be deprived of the sole advantage vouchsafed us in the immeasurably oppressive peace treaty, the evacuation of occupied German soil."

Germany's new year wish, he added, was that a spirit of justice for reconciliation among nations might prevail.

EXPERT PRAISES CONTACT MINES

Done, French Engineer,
Made a valuable Report to European Investors.

French and English investors who commissioned J. Done, Paris, mining engineer, to investigate the Copper Shield mining property at Contact, Nevada, and the Contact region in general, have been advised by him that "on the whole I have never seen a proposition equal to this."

This statement concluded M. Done's report, that was forwarded from here Thursday to the European investors. The report incorporates the results of M. Done's investigation of the Contact mining district during the past 40 days. Reference is made in it to the fact that M. Done had devoted 40 years of study of mining and has investigated mining districts throughout the world, including many in the United States.

M. Done's report is expected to bring about decision by the European investors to purchase the Copper Shield property upon which an option for purchase for $500,000 was taken last fall by Mrs. Evelyn Aldrich, who recently returned here from a European trip in the course of which she succeeded in interesting the foreign capitalists in the proposition.

TWIN FALLS WEEKLY NEWS

Established 1904

Twin Falls News Publishing Company,

Entered as second class matter December 12, 1904, at the Post Office at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

EASY COME, EASY GO.

A few months ago Lieutenant Osborn, of the General Leonard Wood, stationed in the Philippines as his father's aide, was much envied because he had won more than half a million dollars speculating in stocks. His example, no doubt led hundreds of other men, young and old, to gamble in hope of similar fortune. Every such bit of luck brings its aftermath of initiators.

But it is the same old story. Lieutenant Wood, resigning from the army with the announced intention of "entering the diplomatic service," went to Europe, probably with the honest intention of learning the diplomatic languages and ropes. The pleasant experience, however, of getting something for nothing, was hard to forget. According to recent cables, he plunged in European gambling centers as he had done on the New York Stock Exchange, and for a while, with equal success. He is said to have won two million francs at Monte Carlo and one million at Biarritz. His confidence in his own hand became fixed. Then he started in on bacarat at Paris. And bacarat got him and all his winnings. It was reported lately that he had cashed home for money.

"Easy come, easy go," seems to be almost a law of nature. The man who gets something for nothing does not appreciate it. Worse still, he imagines that he can keep on getting something for nothing. At least ninety-nine times out of one hundred he loses in the end, flashing his loss, and then he is left with a few pennies, and he has been content to work, according to the basic law of the universe, for what he got.

GRANDDEUR.

Chicago is going to do a "biggest" thing again. It will erect the largest building in the world, shaming the builders of the Tower of Babel and the Egyptian pyramids and all their successors.

It will be a Temple of Agriculture, which is fitting for the city dominating the great rich plains of the Middle West and gathering and distributing their crops. It will cost thirty million dollars and contain a hall seating twenty thousand people, along with an enormous hotel, a great suburban transportation station and numerous other record-breaking features.

All of this will be not only very imposing but very useful, and will be duly appreciated. Yet even Americans begin to weary of superlatives and lose their zest for size, and wonder whether, after all, Greek Temples were superior to a Roman Coliseum, and whether a miniature hotel isn't better than a poster and a perfect diamond isn't preferable to a Crystal Palace.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS.

Every day is the beginning of a new year to the wise person who has learned how to live usefully in the present, to look with constructive vision to the future and to turn to the past only for profitable experience and happy memories.

Nevertheless, the first day of a calendar year has special significance to most human beings. It marks a suitable occasion for casting off the sorrows and mistakes of the past year and turning eagerly to the New Year in which many good things may happen. Every one expects, with the aid of a few good resolutions to make progress along many lines in the next twelve months.

A resolution to get more real joy out of life is one that most Americans ought to make. And it is not such a selfish resolution as it may sound at first.

Some of the things which have lessened joy in this country and which give Americans in general a reputation of being less prosperous spiritually than they are materially could very comfortably be dispensed with. These are worry, over-work, pessimism, self-indulgence and doubt, the by-products of too much concentration on material prosperity as a goal in itself. It is New Year's resolutions started a lot of irritable mortals to thinking and acting with courage, leisure, optimism, unselfishness, temperance and faith, the year, as it advances, would be one of the most satisfactory years on record.

Don't Get Together

Jud Tunkins says a man who thinks of nobody but himself is sure to get lonesome, owing to the fact that he and most other people are not interested in the same subject.

Cooks Prefer Gas

According to a recent estimate, half of the cooking in the United States is done with gas.

DIES AT FOOT OF TWIN FALLS

E. E. Dentler, Former Resident of Eden, Succumbs to Sudden Heart Attack.

E. E. Dentler, 65, pioneer settler of the Eden, Idaho, vicinity, and for two years past a resident of Boise, died Tuesday from effects of a sudden heart attack. Death occurred while Mr. Dentler, with his son-in-law, Dallas Gordon, who had visited him here, was in the city. Mr. Dentler had been in the city for about a month, was inspecting Gordon's plastering claims at the foot of Twin Falls on Snake river, about eight miles northeast of here. Death came without warning. Mr. Dentler's health apparently had been good. He was proceeding to his father-in-law when he heard the older man groan and turned to see him fall to his knees and then to his side. Death apparently was almost instantaneous.

Physicians, after an examination of the body made Tuesday evening, stated that the death had been from aneurism of the aorta, and probably had been instantaneous.

Difficultly was experienced in removing the body from the canyon. P. J. Grossman, coroner of Twin Falls, and a number of assistants being employed for about three hours in the undertaking. The body was lifted over high rock walls by means of ropes and was carried more than a mile along a steep and icy and snow covered trail to the top of the canyon.

The body was brought to the Grossman mortuary here. No arrangements for further services had been made last evening.

Besides his wife, decedent is survived by three sons, one, Frank Dentler, residing here; another at Boise and at third at Bend, Oregon. He is survived also by his daughter, Mrs. Gordon of Eden.

GROCERS WIN TAX DISPUTE

Court Decides in Favor of Oakes and Company Against County Commissioners.

Dispute between Oakes and company, wholesale grocers, and Twin Falls county commissioners, involving difference of approximately $2150 in the 1920 personal property tax assessment against the company, was decided in favor of W. A. Babcock in district court here Tuesday in favor of Oakes and company and against the commissioners. Certificate of tax delinquency covering the company's property here, time for redemption of which would have expired January 3 next, was ordered cancelled and the county treasurer was directed to accept as full payment of 1920 tax assessment the amount that the company had offered and that had been rejected because of the dispute.

The court's decision sustains an order made January 29, 1921, by the commissioners that reduced the assessed valuation of Oakes and company property here from $105,000 to $74,811.80 and lowered tax from $3765.85 to $6011.55 and it declares null and void a second order made March 15, 1921, rescinding the order for the reduction and setting the valuation and tax figures back to their original value.

Intimidation Hinted.

Evidence was introduced by J. R. Bothwell and W. Orr Chapman, attorneys for Oakes and company, to show that the commissioners had adopted the order of March 15, 1921, after demand that they do so had been made upon them by the Taxpayers' league, and that the commissioners had been subjected to threats by officials of that organization.

The original valuation, Judge Babcock held, had been made at a time and under conditions when no accurate estimate of the value could be made, an arbitrary figure being fixed by the assessors and assurance being given the company that error would be corrected by the commissioners upon presentation of proof.

Members of the board of county commissioners at the time were W. W. Paglia, W. P. Brecken and T. E. Moore. Oakes and company appealed to the district court from the commissioners' order of March 15, 1921, rescinding the reductions previously ordered in valuation and taxes.

The case for the commissioners was defended in the first instance by Frank L. Stephan, former county attorney, and Homer C. Mills, then attorney for the Taxpayers' league. When the case was reopened December 22, last, for presentation of further evidence on behalf of Oakes and company, and for argument, the present board of county commissioners was represented by J. W. Taylor, county attorney.

WOLFE TELLS ROAD EXPENSE

Sometime Promoter of Rogers-Wells Line Itemizes His Claims Against I. C. Official.

Conrad Wolfe, according to his statement filed in district court here Tuesday, contracted expenditures in the sum of $24,265 in connection with surveying, promoting and financing the Rogers-Wells railroad project, which has been taken over and is being pushed to completion by Oregon Short Line. Wolfe, a resident of I. C. Street for this sum, together with $150,000 claimed as loss of profits resulting from sale of the Idaho Central Railroad company's stock and assets by Stewart to J. A. Keefer of Twin Falls and E. F. Day of Contact, agents for railroad fund raised by sale of bonds of south Idaho and Nevada for purchase of the Idaho Central holdings, in order to clear the field for building of the line by the Short Line. Wolfe's claim is advanced under provision of a contract with Stewart whereunder he was to survey the line and finance the project, to be paid by Stewart on the grounds that Wolfe failed to comply with various provisions of the contract.
