

FRENCH FINANCE SITUATION NOW HOLDS INTEREST

Inflation Bound to Occur in November and is Leading Political Topic of Nation for the Present.

(By the Associated Press.)
Paris, Oct. 14.—The financial situation of the French treasury, with inflation acknowledged as inevitable for 1926, dominates French public opinion. The main topic of conversation is the national debt, estimated to exceed 200,000,000,000 francs.

The continued upward trend of the franc, which dropped below the Belgian standard and the reimbursement of 10,000,000,000 francs treasury bonds due in December are questions which occupied French public opinion last night. Mr. Caillaux, president of the Chamber of Deputies, announced that the bank of France was prepared to meet its obligations for October, but he would give no assurance that the government did not intend to request the raising of the limit of the franc's circulation. The Paris newspapers this evening, although they deplore the necessity, admit that further inflation cannot be avoided.

Remains Calm.
The only feature of the situation different from that of June is the refusal of the house to get excited, unbridled confidence in M. Caillaux is shown by bankers, brokers, and the rank and file of small operators and investors. M. Caillaux's commercial attitude concerning the socialist tax scheme, a capital levy, has had much to do with rallying to his support, the smaller elements of French finance. A large section of the radical party has been won over to the capital levy plan, and the assurance that the finance minister will oppose the measure at the Nièvre congress, which opens tomorrow, had a steadying effect on stock exchange operations today.

The government's life depends upon the explanation of the financial plan which M. Caillaux will develop before the radical congress tomorrow, and the confidence of the public will give some definite idea of support the government may expect a majority when the chamber reopens October 27.

The rise of the Belgian franc above the part of the French franc is being noted in financial circles as due to New York pressure, designed to show that countries coming to terms with the United States on a debt agreement will fare better in the international exchange market than without, holding out.

AMERICAN TROOPS AND PANAMA'S CANAL ZONE CLASH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—A clash between despotically minded American troops patrolling the city of Panama, in which one Panamanian died and two wounded, was reported today from the Canal Zone in a dispatch received today from Major General Lester, commanding in the canal zone.

"Entry of troops into the city of Panama to restore order was effected quickly after noon October 12," the message said.

"During the evening there was a clash between a patrol and group of disorderly elements, resulting in the death of one Panamanian and the wounding of two others. This morning (Oct. 13) there are reports and rumors that normal life of citizens is being restored, except that there still is some interference with the flow of food supplies."

Opportunity of Merchants Pointed Out by R. W. Babson

Chain Stores Not Doing So Well Now, Declares Statistician; Labor Troubles Creep In to Cut Efficiency.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 14.—About two years ago this paper published an interview with Roger W. Babson in which he advised merchants to get busy at first chain store competition. He also then advised merchants to purchase chain store stocks. Babson's advice has shown the wisdom of his advice. Today Mr. Babson takes no number one of the problem which in view of his previous forecasts, Mr. Babson's official statement is as follows:

Chain Stores Now Worrying.
About two years ago, in some comments on the store situation, I made the point that chain stores would have a tremendous growth in 1924, and 1925, and that their success would be the same as the troubles of independent stores. I called the attention of readers to the fact that the success of their chain store was related primarily to their ability to get excellent management and to purchase at very low prices. I made it clear that there is no reason why independent merchants, who are 50-100,000, could not have successful management, and said that the chain store would be up against other trouble which would, in 1925, and in the coming purchasing season. In connection with these other troubles I mentioned the fact that by the end of 1925 chain store would be cutting one another's throats and would be subject to labor troubles. Labor troubles are inevitable in large corporations with absentee management, and while independent merchants are presumably superior their own stores are almost certainly run by absentee management. Already these troubles are beginning to appear which means that the independent merchant may be again being brought into line while the chain stores may be the ones who will do the worrying during the next few years.

Great Service Wins Over Prices.
As stated above, the chain store has the advantage of buying goods very cheaply, owing to its large purchasing power; but there is no reason why a chain store should have better management than the independent merchant would attach to his business and use his head instead of merely his arms and legs. It is said that the greatest American success is $10,000,000 daily on food and that price is in a secondary consideration in the assurance that the distributor will carry a variety of American consumers are more interested in service than in price. This is the reason why such chain stores, how making deliveries and, in many instances, run which it is equivalent to large accounts, but it is not entirely true in theory but it does not work out well in practice, statistics showing that at the most, it can save the retailer only 5 per cent.

Chain stores have their functions in the economic world and it is the great retail distribution system of American life. They are here to stay but they are not going to do all the business any more than are the department stores and mail order houses. Each took its turn in causing a scare through the retail field and all thought they would go to put everyone else out of business. However, history has shown that such is not the case. Also, the future will show the retailer to be in existence one hundred years from today just as truly as he is today. As population and business increase, new lines of business will develop. These new lines create great interest for the time being, but in most cases the old lines will continue although profits often fall off. For instance, while we hear the electrical industry talked of as the only sound white-pelf utility in which to invest, we find that more gas is being sold today than ever before, while the consumption of kerosene and even candles is increasing at a very rapid rate. It is well enough to talk about eliminating the utility business, but it is the function which we pay for and not the name. I repeat, the chain stores are here to stay, the department stores and mail order houses, but I also insist that the independent merchant has as great an opportunity today as ever if he will attend to his job.

Profits Come From Work.
The real difficulty with independent merchants today is that they are not working as they used to. This especially applies to the native stock who are operating stores which have been inherited from a previous generation. These native Americans complain about the Hebrews, Greeks, Italians, and other nationalities who they claim, with the chain stores, are putting them out of business. An analysis of the facts, however, shows that the reasons why these foreigners make good merchants are first, because they are willing to work hard, and second, because they seek to find out what people want and deliver the goods. A 100 per cent successful merchant is never interested in manufacturing goods, or in creating a demand for any special opportunity. The facts in finding out what the public wants and then securing for the public the best quality of such goods at the lowest possible price. The successful merchant, therefore, will consider himself the agent and buyer for the consumer rather than the salesman and manufacturer. He will keep up with the new developments in his customer's and food preservation, and will serve as his protector of his customer against poor quality goods. There is just as much opportunity today for a merchant who takes this attitude, as there ever was, and no chain store system can put such a merchant out of business.

SECURITY PACT NOW FAVORABLE

Decision of Leaders to Solve Frenchi Guarantee Helps Powers Toward Agreement.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 14. (AP)—The European security conference took on a distinctly favorable development tonight by the decision of the leaders to solve the problem of a French guarantee for the eastern states, Poland and Czechoslovakia, by the adoption of special additional direct treaties between France and Poland and France and Czechoslovakia.

By these treaties France recognizes her right to protect the territorial integrity of her allies and to defend them in event of the frequent aggression. This is said to be satisfactory to the Germans, who are not forced to agree to the arrangement. Further, the jurists reached an agreement on a formula for Germany's arbitration treaties with Poland and Czechoslovakia, which will be admitted to the plenipotentiaries tomorrow.

Berlin advices received here say that the German political leaders will offer no obstacles to agreements reached in principle by Chancellor Luther and Dr. Stresemann. Hence, the feeling throughout all of the delegates late tonight was one of optimism.

MARYLAND BISHOP NAMED PRESIDENT OF EPISCOPALIAN CHURCH

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. John Hardner Murray, D. D., bishop of Maryland, was today elected presiding bishop and president of the council of the Protestant Episcopal church.

The election came late this afternoon a day of hallooting. The new primate is 68 years of age, a native of Maryland, and has been a bishop since 1905.

She waited on three Presidents in old Dixie years ago

The glory of the old hotel in Nashville lives again in her speech. Statesmen, soldiers, nobles from across the sea, the great folk of long ago, move before us.

"I waited on all the notables of the time," says Maggie Dowd, "including three Presidents: Andy Johnson, Mr. Cleveland and Mr. McKinley when he came with Mrs. McKinley. All of them enjoyed the food at the Maxwell House. And like all the rest they praised the coffee."

From the years of the Civil War, the Maxwell House of Nashville was the most famous hotel in the old South—celebrated throughout that land of good living for its hospitality, its marvelous food and particularly for its coffee.

Those who once tasted it could never forget it.

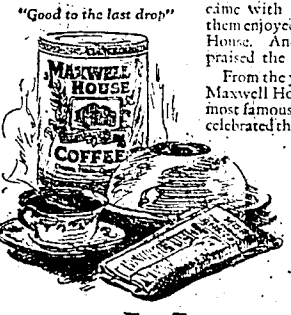

A special blend of "fine coffee was served at the Maxwell House, full-flavored and fragrant like no other kind. Those who once tasted it carried the memory of it with them. No one could forget it.

In their own homes the patrons of the Maxwell House thought of the rich, alluring flavor of this coffee and waited it for their own use.

From the South its fame has spread year by year to all parts of the country. Everywhere the families who care most for the fine things of life have taken steps to secure Maxwell House Coffee. And today this same blend is on sale throughout the United States. It is the favorite in most of America's leading cities. It has pleased more people than any other coffee ever put on the market.

Its mellow smoothness, its rich fragrance are now offered to you. When you raise your first cup to your lips, when the first breath of its aroma reaches you, you will understand why it has become so famous. Ask your grocer for one of the blue tins of Maxwell House Coffee. Check-Neal Coffee Company, Nashville, Heaton-Jacksonville, Richmond, New York, Los Angeles.

To the Citizens of Twin Falls

One year ago the Representatives from Twin Falls Lodge, No. 33, I. O. O. F., to the Grand Lodge, were authorized by the people of our City to request that Honorable Body to convene here this year, which was done.

As we expect 1000 visitors at that time (October 19 to 23, inclusive) we find the hotels and rooming houses can not accommodate all, therefore we must ask that the residents aid us in caring for these people.

WHEAT MARKET

Farmers Selling Stored Grain on Every Rally Send Bread-stuff Down.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Indications that farmers in the leading wheat producing states are selling their grain on every rally did a great deal today to depress the wheat market. Wheat closed unsettled at 1 1/2 for December, 1 1/2 for 1926, and May 81 3/4 to 3 1/2...

Selling of farmers' storage tickets tended to reduce premiums in wheat available for immediate use. At Omaha the wheat market was reported as being 2 to 3 cents a bushel lower. Meanwhile, better weather in Canada and virtual lack of response at Liverpool to yesterday's advance here, put the buying edge on the market.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Price downturns were but little regarded by investors that weather was causing delay to husking in many sections.

Date is Fixed for Formal Submission of Application for Authority to Construct Blue Lakes Bridge.

Rival applicants for authority to construct a 750-to-800 foot bridge to span Snake river canyon at Blue Lakes arranged Wednesday to begin publication today of notices of application for such authority.

The rival applicants are R. M. Murphy of Spokane, representing Portland interests, and the Dravo Construction company of Pittsburgh, represented recently by Dr. B. H. Sigelman of New York.

Applications will be made simultaneously on November 20, next, to the commissioners of Jerome and Twin Falls counties, acting together in this matter under provisions of state law at a joint meeting at Jerome.

Length of the bridge will be approximately 1400 feet and will span the canyon at a height of more than 400 feet above the river. Estimated cost of the structure ranges from $300,000 to $500,000.
