GAMBLERS LOSE MONEY IN PIRATES' VICTORY THROUGH BUM CHECKS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—A number of pirate supporters, who placed their money on the Pittsburgh club and then thought they had "cleaned up" when their favorites won the championship, now find that they did not win a cent, police having received numerous complaints within the last few days that the money was "covered" with bogus certified checks.

Among our letters, we found three checks to be worthless was a former pugilist, who bet $25,000. In another instance a theatrical manager whose $5000, but did not realize on his "investment." Other winners ranging from $50 to $500 have come to the notice of the police.

Inspector of Detectives John Barry says there is no way in which the winnings can be collected, although there might be cleaned a few crumbs of satisfaction by prosecuting the men who passed the checks as certified, but issuing worthless paper. That is, if the men can be located.

Carter, told the committee it would be unable to function after next February unless it received a larger appropriation than contemplated in the program of Director Lusk of the budget.

Mr. Carter said the budget bureau has appropriated requests for $100,000 of the estimated appropriation necessary for next year and this brought announcements from both republican and democratic members of the committee that they would fight to open the budget appropriation on this point.

Sudden Flashing of Red Light

Is Told.

BOSTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The sudden flashing of a red light was the first intimation given the officers on the bridge of the submarine City of Rome that she was in imminent danger of colliding with the submarine S-51, on the night of September 25, last.

The board which is investigating the collision will be told the sinking of the submarine City of Rome, with the loss of 33 lives, heard stories of the collision from the steamer's first engineer, chief officer, third officer, seven officers and third officer.

John L. Diehl, captain of the City of Rome, and three members of the crew will be called tomorrow.

Third Mate Bridger was standing his watch on the bridge of the steamer when the disaster occurred. He said that about twenty minutes or more a single white light, which he took to be a light on a coast guard patrol boat or other small craft, was visible "about four points on the starboard bow."

"The light was in the pilot house with binoculars. The distance of the light was estimated at three miles," Bridger said at the helm. At length, he said, Capt. Diehl told him to "pull over to the starboard. He had swung the wheel one revolution when the collision occurred."

"Port," third officer. The fellow is showing a red light," Bridger said. He saw the red light at the same instant that the captain rang the engine room telegraph for full speed astern and blew a series of blasts on the whistle. The collision followed just afterward.

Explosion in the engine room of this steamer gave the time of the crash and the order to reverse gears as simultaneous evidence of the disaster. Third engineer, said he received the reverse signal just after he felt the impact of the collision.

"The explosion was a very severe one," he said. "I heard the whistle shortly before."

on the question. A canvass of the group by preliminary specialists is denied that at least thirty of its members are opposed absolutely to a levy on capital. Such a defection from a coalition of the left in the chamber would make the government majority too scanty for success.

A similar canvass of the senate showed an overwhelming majority against the measure, while the socialists and extreme radicals insist upon and which is the price of their support of M. Painleve's second government.

President Doumergue was warned today by at least three of the men he counseled that the necessary measure to lift France out of its present sorry situation, can be put through only by a radical coalition and a fusion between the parties. The president decided, however, that the tendency of the majority in the chamber toward first is consulted, and he asked M. While General Dowley admitted he had spoken in opposition to the apparent air department advanced by General Dowley, he admitted he was hostile, prejudiced or otherwise antagonistic to the air officer and believed himself fit for court duty.

A major General F. W. Shaden was the target for the use of derogatory language the court martial has allowed a defendant to file, in which an argument is permitted. No reason was cited for the challenge of the West Point commandant and friends of the defendant admitted there was no particular objection to him.

The belief prevails that the action was taken because of the fact that Dowley being responsible for the disciplinary instructions of all officers entering the army through West Point, he naturally is a fair disciplinarian and would not condone any statements by the cadets, in his charge such as Colonel Mitchell's statement of that Air Academy, Texas, upon which his trial is now founded.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 28.—"America is suffering from a bad case of the disease, intolerance," declared Charles Potter, Unitarian Church, Yel- low Springs, O., prominent Unitarian, in an address at the opening session of the Minnesota Unitarian conference here.

Dr. Potter, who was an expert witness for the defense at the Scopes trial in Tennessee, launched an attack on the holding of text books bearing on evolution, in Tennessee and Texas, declaring Governor Ferguson and the board of governors of Texas in handling evolution text books have followed Tennessee's bad example.

"This intolerance is manifest in the attitude of the people of Tennessee as well as in the attitude of the people of Texas," he said. "It is a disease which is spreading throughout the country."

Dr. Potter declared that if all South is manifested for present a religious fight will occur at the next presidential election and "the most dangerous South" will split wide open. He added that the people of Tennessee have been "much maligned and misunderstood. They have also been terribly misled by the late William Jennings Bryan. They are fondamentalists because they haven't had a chance to find out anything else."

NEED OF WATER TOLD COMMITTEE

Senate Board at Los Angeles
Informed of San Diego's Condition at Hearing.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 28. (AP)—San Diego's vital need for an assured permanency of water supply for domestic use was related to the United States senate committee on irrigation and reclamation here tonight at a public dinner of welcome. Mayor John L. Bayan pointed out to the committee that San Diego is an extremely scarce position in relation to its water supply.

"It is necessary for San Diego to store water for a sufficient supply for seven, some say nine, years," Mayor Bayan said. "At present we have but three years of city water supply stored."

The mayor said that the committee already at Los Angeles was supplied with statistics and data relating to San Diego's plea for development of water storage on the Colorado and that the only remaining matter was to permit the committee to visit San Diego and apply its statistical growth of doubling population in ten years to realize the water crisis.

Representative Phil Swing, one of the authors of the Johnson-Swigg bill in congress proposing construction of the Boulder Canyon dam, also addressed the committee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The federal power commission today placed the weight of its influence behind the Colorado river seven-state compact and laid down a policy of holding up all development of the river's resources for a reasonable time to hasten ratification of the pact by California and Arizona. The pact has been accepted by all the other states of the river basin.

The policy was laid down in a resolution, passed by the commission, withholding action on the application of James H. Grand and associates for the development of a project at Diamond Creek, Arizona, and of 25 other applications. The commission in its resolution urged the states of the river basin to speedily reach an agreement for the division of the river's waters so that this grand's development might proceed.

That the decision will have an effect in bringing about an agreement between the states was freely predicted by opponents of the Grand application. Most of the objection to its being granted was voiced at a recent hearing on the application, being based on the grounds that if the power commission established a precedent by granting the Grand application, there would be little hope of ever obtaining the ratification of the seven-state pact.

FOUR GAMES TO HOLD INTEREST

Eastern Fans to See Big Football Games Saturday in Clashes Well Worth While.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Football rivals that go back into the more or less dim past of the game, will bloom forth in their 1925 revivals this Saturday in four of the contests that hold the interest of eastern fans.

There is no traditional color conflict with the outstanding two inter-sectional clashes of the week, those involving Michigan-Navy and Pennsylv. vs. Yale, but there is a wealth of background to the contests that bring together Army and Yale at New Haven, Cornell and Columbia at the Polo Grounds and Dartmouth and Brown at Providence. In addition there is the rivalry of the dispute between two old New England schools, Trinity and Wesleyan which goes back to 1885.

Yale holds a big edge over the Army in their series of gridiron conflicts started in 1893, but the male is primed for revenge on the budding this week as well as on a fair chance of gaining it, in the opinion of many critics. Not since 1911 when the Army was by 6 to 0, have the colors raised the victory cheer at New Haven. In 21 previous games, Yale has won 15, the Army three, while six battles ended in ties.

Dartmouth starts its warfare with Brown back to 1894 and the big green eleven, acknowledged to be among the most powerful in the east this year, is out to square the count with the Bruins. In 1924, the year before the game was dropped here, but Coach Charles Crowley's protégés are conceding a good chance of breaking the spell this week. Columbia undoubtedly has the best eleven it has produced.

OAKLEY WINS FOOTBALL GAME IN LAST SECONDS OF PLAY AFTER PASS

OAKLEY, Ida., Oct. 28.—The Oakley high school football team here today triumphed over Albion in one of the most dramatic gridiron contests ever witnessed on the local field. The game, which was played in the second of the play, the Oakley team completed a forward pass for a 30-yard gain, and then raced in for a touchdown. During the quarter the game was all Albion's. With a fluke the Albion team made a touch down, but during the second quarter and from then on the Oakley team managed to get an even break and in the last few seconds of play Albion managed to complete a desperate aerial play for score and the game ended. Oakley, converting both touchdowns for the extra point needed to prevent the game from going into overtime, the Oakley today showed much better form than it has in the past and in the rest of its games will undoubtedly be exceedingly tough meat for the teams it meets.

COLORADO FOOTBALL COACHES DREAD OGRE OF UTAH GRID KING

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 28.—Colorado College football coaches dread the ogre of Utah, Rocky Mountain conference gridiron king. In symposium of views by this football mentors only one coach, Myron Witham, with the University of Colorado, directly declares that conference's football laurels will rest in the eastern state of the continental division. His choice is Utah University. "I don't see how any one can beat Utah out of the championship," he says. Coach Henry Hughes of the Colorado Aggies views his team's opponent next Saturday, Utah Aggies, as "a tough game for us and they have a strong team this year."

PIRATES CHOOSE EMBLEM

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Nationals, world baseball champions, finally have decided upon the emblem they want to mark them as the title holders. It will be a Pirate's head, in the form of a cap button or a watch charm.

LOUISVILLE IS AGAIN WINNER

San Francisco Defeated, 6 to 2, in Fast Baseball Game Played on Home Field.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Louisville Colonels, playing in masterful fashion, took the seventh game of the baseball series today defeating the San Francisco club, 6 to 2. Outlop was a good farm although touched for two bingles was never in any great danger. The Reds used three pitchers and were fouled for 14 hits.

In the Colonels' half of the second inning, Tyson hit for a double and went to third on Shorner's high fly. After singled several Tyson and Myers followed suit bringing in Cotter. The outscored called in the fifth, ending Mitchell to the showers after hitting added three more runs to lead. Chockley gave away for a pinch hitter in the seventh and was relieved by Geary who was found for me run in the eighth.

San Francisco, Oct. 28 (AP)—Louisville Colonels, 6 to 2. H. I. J. Batteries—Cotter, and M. J. Mitchell, Chockley, Geary and Agnew.

"Passion Play" in History. The "Passion Play" is a survival of the mystery and miracle plays of the later middle ages celebrated by the church at Christmas, Good Friday and Easter. These ancient entertainments were first given in Latin and afterward in the vernacular tongue, and with this innovation rather more than a spirit of the comical was interwoven, for which reason the performance was removed to the open air. In 1527 a nine-story stage was erected at Metz. The matter of congruous costume troubled at all and the jugglery of the burgomaster's robe was borrowed for Judas, one of the angels, or any character that stood in need of it. But the "Passion Play" as given by the Basilians is performed solemnly and is as solemn and consistent as its actors can make it.

SPORTS AT IDAHO.

By LES ROBINSON

It certainly looked good to see little Idaho leading the Pacific coast conference in the standings published in the big papers Monday morning. This hardly looks as if the Vandals will be fighting Montana for the cellar, although the season is young. The teams Matty's boys defeated were not helped by any means, one being predicted for third place and the other for fourth or fifth. Idaho, Washington State and Montana are the only schools in the conference to play two games, but to get away with the first two big battles is something for a green team.

Although not missing Gonzaga in the heart, Matthews and the Vandal and the student body are pointing for the Southern California battle on the Idaho campus Friday, October 30. This is the biggest game on the Vandal schedule and the one that every one would most want to see Idaho win. The fans have come to feel that Idaho will have a chance against any football team in the country and so the Vandals are being given a chance even to defeat the big team from California on its first visit to the state. As Matthews tells his boys before a game: "There are only eleven boys on their team and there are eleven of you—and you are from Idaho."

High school football is moving along uneventfully in the southern part of the state. None of the big teams have met yet and all the spectators can do is guess which team is the strongest. Nampa is looking good in southwest Idaho but both Boise and Caldwell will be contenders. Scores last week in this section were: Nampa 10, Ontario 0; Caldwell 6, Emmett 0; Boise 7, Alamosa 0; Weiser 13, Fayette 0; Parma 20, Weiser Institute 0.

We failed when this was written to get last week's scores from southeastern Idaho, but Twin Falls, Picher, Pocatello and Porth look like big games so far. Soon the inter-sectional games will be played and the champion of the south will be coming to the light. Lewiston, St. Maries and Bonanza Ferry are all undefeated in the north. Last week's scores in north Idaho were: Lewiston 9, Coeur d'Alene 7; Kellogg 20, Moscow 11; Bonanza Ferry 6, Porth 6; Pocatello 6, Cheney Normal 13; Plummer 13, St. Maries 0; Wallace 21, Plummer 0; Denmore 23, Pocatello 0.

We were pleased to see that Andy Correll's fighting eleven at Caldwell came through and beat the strong Cheney Normal. The score was not impressive, but the Coyotes played without their star, Lowell. The Tech had some little trouble with the Irish Aggies, but won out in the final quarter, 7 to 0.

THREE FIGHTS ARE SHELVED

Championship Matches Proposed by Tex Rickard Postponed by Unexpected Obstacles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Three championship fights tentatively arranged last week by Promoter Tex Rickard for initial shows in the new Madison Square Garden, have been temporarily shelved as a result of unexpected obstacles.

Following close on the breaking off of negotiations for a Harry Greb-Mickey Walker middleweight title fight, announcement was made that a proposed featherweight bout between the champion, Louis (Kid) Kaplan, and Ralph Herman, California contender, as well as a light-heavyweight contest between Paul Berenbach and Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., were in doubt.

"The Kaplan-Herman fight must wait the outcome of Herman's fight with Honeyboy Jimenez in Boston, November 3.

"The Berenbach-Delaney bout, scheduled for December 11, hinges on the condition of Delaney, who recently underwent an operation for infection of the throat. Mike McTigue, former champion, has been asked by the promoter to hold himself in readiness to substitute.

JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

Answer to William Hoops' Claim for Damages From C. B. Janks Proves Baffling.

A jury in district court here in the trial of a case of William Hoops against C. B. Janks for $25,000 damages for alleged malicious prosecution, failed to agree upon a verdict after nearly five hours' deliberation. The jury at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening was directed by Judge W. A. Hulbeck to deliver to the plaintiff its signed and sealed verdict. In the event of an agreement before convening of court this morning. The case was given to the jury at 12:15 a clock. Wednesday afternoon following arguments by the plaintiff and the defendant. The evidence was reviewed by Frank L. Stephens, Shad L. Hodgins and C. A. North, attorneys for Hoops, and by Judge J. H. Hulbeck of counsel for the defendant Janks.

Claim for damages in this case was asserted by William Hoops of Hollister and Ely Nevada, ranchman and stock raiser, on the grounds that C. B. # MAN EATERS NOW STUFFED

The man-eaters of Texas, two boys, credited with killing 125 Hindu coolies and laborers, took their last stand here today—in an exhibition case in the Field Museum.

The animals, resurrected in taxidermy, have been presented to the museum by Stanley Field, president of the institution. The historic career of the man-eaters of Texas, who were of terror up and down the spines of the East African personnel of the British foreign office, stopped contact with the Ugandan railroad and worried the British parliament.

There were killed in 1905 by Colonel J. H. Patterson, English sportsman, after they had invaded the construction camp of the Ugandan railway right after night for many months, carrying luckless natives until the laborers refused to work longer.

Slaying of the boys was made the subject of a speech by Lord Salisbury before the house of lords.

O. S. L. PUTS UP DEPOTS

The Oregon Short Line has completed construction of depot buildings at Ellettsville, Vineland and Contact on the line of the Bignona-Wells railway, on which laying of rails will be completed within a few days, according to A. R. Anderson, manager of the Oregonian theater, who returned Tuesday evening from a business trip to Contact and Wells.

In anticipation of the early completion of the road, Mr. Anderson stated, several moving interests in the district are making arrangements for active operations. Work is in progress at the present time to have the station property from which several car loads of ore have been shipped since rails reached Contact early this fall.
