Tax Reduction Measure Undergoes Five Hour Debate in House; Has Warm Defenders on Both Sides of Floor.

(By the Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Opposition to the provision of the bill developed again today during an five hours of debate on the measure in the House, but its friends in both parties fought off the scattering attack.

Members of the ways and means committee which drafted the bill so as to slash federal taxes by $325,000,000 next year, again stressed it through the day's discussion with words of approval.

Pointing to the non-partisan manner in which it was framed, various committee members urged its approval, although disagreeing personally, with some.

WAR DEPARTMENT IS GIVEN BLAME

More Army Air Service Troubles Heard at Mitchell Court Martial During the Day.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—More serious service troubles were heard today before the Mitchell court martial and much blame for them was laid at the door of the war department and upon the administration's equipment program.

The court placed a ban on the presenting cumulative evidence and refused to hear the prosecution's prepared examination of Major General Sherman Mitchell, trial judge advocate, cut short his questioning of General Mitchell. Before he was excused, however, he asked Frank R. Bell, of Illinois, chief of the defense counsel, turned the tables on the prosecution and made the general a witness for the defense.

Recalling the testimony given yesterday by Howard C. Bath of Los Angeles, that had weather seriously interfered with bombing trials during the St. Mihiel in Central America and caused the smokes of five or more airplanes, Mr. Bell asked General Mitchell to tell about organization of the force.

Declared Not Guilty. Major George B. Strong of the army general staff then testified that the war department had not been guilty of the "almost treasonable" charge made by Colonel Mitchell in connection with the Panama canal defenses. The department, he said, had approved air service recommendations for the establishment of an American air mail route, connecting New Orleans, Mexico ports, Central American capitals and the Canal Zone which was intended to preclude a foreign agency from getting the route into Central America to the menace of the canal.

G. O. P. MUST REBELS FROM WITHIN RANKS

House Republican Insurgents Are Thrown Out of Important Committee Places at Washington Conference.

(By the Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—House republican insurgents with one exception were swept from the more important standing committees today by the republican committee on organization.

Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, although removed from his ranking position in the foreign-affairs committee, was retained on its roll at the bottom of the republican list of members. Despite that he had been the candidate for speaker of the insurgent group, the republican leaders allowed because of his long service in the house, of which he is in this respect, the "Dean."

Representatives Lampert and Nelson of Wisconsin, the only members of the insurgent group who held chairmanships, were ejected from those offices. Representative Verdel of Indiana, being named to succeed Mr. Lampert as head of the patents committee, and Representative Vincent of Michigan, being given Mr. Nelson's place on the elections committee.

Other members of the group affected by the committee assignments made today included Representatives Howze, Wisconsin, removed from the foreign affairs committee; Volgt, Wisconsin, and Schlichter, North Dakota, taken from agriculture committee; Reynolds, from the rivers and harbors committee; and Schneider, from the postoffice committee.

Carrying Out Mandate. Representative Tilton of Connecticut, the republican floor leader, said the committee on organization by its action today was carrying out the mandate of the republican caucus of last spring to remove supporters of the presidential candidacy of the late Robert M. La Follette from republican places on committee charged with responsibility of carrying out the party's program.

Some republican leaders show a disposition to go more lightly in the treatment of the insurgents than the caucus planned if they should line up with the republicans in support of its candidate for speaker—Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. This disposition, however, apparently was dispelled when they put forward Representative Cooper as an opposing candidate and voted for him as a group.

Dawes Listens to Senator Poke Fun at Rules Campaign

Vice President Bites Through Half Hour Speech from Mississippi Man Directed at Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Vice President Dawes sat on the dais of the senate today and for a half hour listened to Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, poke fun at his campaign for amendment of the senate rules.

During the performance, the vice president sat calmly at his desk with his hands and legs crossed and smiled down benignly on the Mississippi. After the speech was over, he issued a statement in which he said:

"I enjoyed Senator Harrison's speech very much. His address was in good humor and, as far as I know, in good taste."

As the Mississippi senator dragged the presiding officer over a series of similar, ending from Ben Quintero to a "misguided man," other members and the galleries broke through the senate chamber rules by giving expression to the amusement with chuckles and loud laughter. Mr. Dawes, however, did not let his good will over a rap for order.

He expressed a hope to the Associated Press tonight that he might see his father-in-law, who lives at Defiance, Ohio, before he dies. He said that he hardly thought that they would ever meet.

UTAH YOUTH TO FACE A FIRING SQUAD, DECISION

Ralph W. Seybold Sentenced to Die at Salt Lake January 15 for Murder of Policeman in October 1923.

(By the Associated Press.) SALT LAKE, Dec. 10.—Sentenced to face a firing squad on January 15, 1924, Ralph W. Seybold, spent this evening in his cell making a woman's bed pillow. This mood the youthful murderer—he is 21 years old—heard the words pronouncing his doom uttered for the fifth time. He was convicted by a jury in the Utah district court on April 1, 1924, for the murder of Porter H. Stevens, a police officer, on October 20, 1923. Various court actions have carried the case along since that time.

States Demand Right to Tax. President Coolidge and Congress Petitioned to Abandon Federal Inheritance Levy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Coolidge and congress were petitioned today to abandon immediately any form of federal inheritance tax and to "find a way to return to the 48 states dominion over their own affairs."

The petition, drawn by unofficial representatives of the legislature of ten states, declared that freedom of action of state governments "is being gradually but vitally limited by and through certain legislative policies of congress." It was addressed, in addition to the president and congress to the people of the states who were urged to join in the appeal.

Mine Explosion in Alabama Causes Death of 61 Miners Five Others Seriously Hurt

Fifteen Escape from Iron and Fuel Workings in South Out of 81 Caught Underground; Rescue Workers Hold Out Little Hope for Trapped Men.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 10.—Sixty-one coal miners lost their lives today when a gas explosion occurred in the workings of Overton mine No. 2 of the Alabama Fuel and Iron company, in the Cahaba fields south of Birmingham. Fifteen men escaped injury and five are in a hospital suffering from serious injuries.

The explosion took place a short time after the day shift had started work at 8 o'clock. According to the mine superintendent, 108 men checked in. At the time of the accident, 27 were beyond the range of the explosion and 81 in the mine at the time of the blast, 15 came forth unscathed and five were injured. The remainder, or 66 others, were held to be dead in the improvised morgue in the bathhouse or were still on the surface.

Workers Exhausted. Rescue workers who have returned to the surface, many of them exhausted and struggling for breath, declare they had no hope for any man still in the workings.

Wilford Powell and Charles Edith, members of one of the rescue squads, returned to the mine shortly after night, toppling over upon reaching the surface. The remainder of the squad survived them and they pleaded for another chance to attempt rescue work.

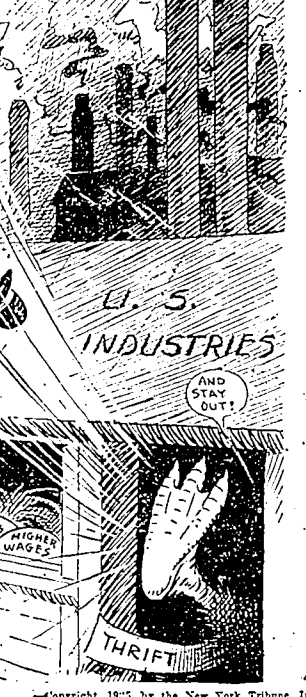

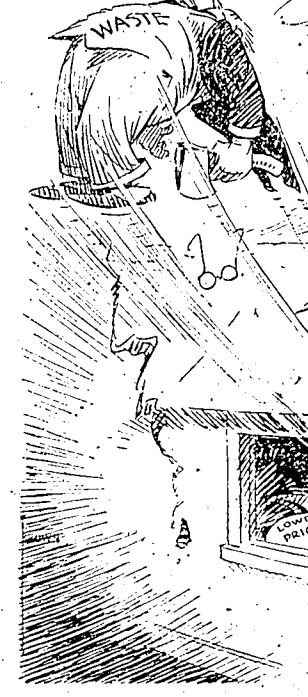

Although the ventilating equipment of the mine was damaged by the explosion, the mine still continues a great volume of gas. Officials of the company and United States mine inspectors announced tonight that rescue work will be continued until all bodies are recovered and that all gas will be drawn from the shafts before any attempt is made to resume operations.

Aircraft Committee in Special Report Seek Reorganization. Drastic Changes in National Defense Administration and $20,000,000 Budget for Aviation Recommended.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Drastic reorganization of the national defense administration and a $20,000,000 budget for aviation were recommended today in a report agreed upon by the special house aircraft committee.

The report, recommending some other changes, creation of a bureau of civil aeronautics, advanced a proposal also placed before congress today from another source—the annual report of the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Coolidge in Letter. President Coolidge in a letter recommending the advisory committee's proposal, declared a statement by the committee that "America is at least abreast of other progressive nations in the technical development of aircraft for military purposes, should not give the impression that this country is lagging in this respect."

The house committee proposed creation of a department of national defense, which would supplant the present war and navy departments. It would necessarily give aviation a equal status with land and sea armaments. Its primary business would be carried in by all members but Representative Reed, republican, Illinois, court-martialed soldier, and William Mitchell, who will file a supplemental bill advocating a unified air force.

Need for development of commercial aviation, urged by both the house committee and the national advisory committee, was further stressed.

LANDIS SETTLES LEAGUE TROUBLE

September 26 Is Set by Commissioner as Closing Date for Baseball Season.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Disagreement of the American and National leagues over abbreviation of the playing season was settled decisively this afternoon by high Commissioner K. M. Landis, who announced September 26 as the closing date.

With that bold and decisive stroke came Landis' decision, which thus broke a tie in which leagues of the National league voted solidly against the new date, routed the opponents which hung threateningly over the joint session of the two circuits and carried his stern rebuke at the expense of forces of nature which had so disastrously poured rain upon baseball's annual festival.

Commissioner Landis was a conspicuously dejected spectator at the past season's struggle between the Senators and the Pirates.

Facts Opposition.
The sixteen clubs went into the closing meeting of the three day session today, the commissioner was faced with solid opposition from the National league, but he was backed by the complete lineup of American league clubs.

Action on the closing date was the outstanding feature of what was the most bitter and peaceful meeting. The substance of an outbreak of the National league, but he was backed by the complete lineup of American league clubs. ## FRESH PLANS MADE FOR BOUT BETWEEN WILLS AND DEMPSEY

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (AP)—A host of reports on plans for a boxing match between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills next summer came to light today after a conference between Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan City, Ind., promoter, who claimed Jack Wills' signature and Ray Cannon, Milwaukee attorney, Dempsey's legal adviser.

It was reported that there was a possibility of the fight being held in the Thirty Acres in New Jersey for the match, which would put it in the hands of Tex Rickard.

Reports from Los Angeles indicated with the withdrawal of the South Bend, Ind., syndicate from the Dempsey and Wills signature deal fall might be announced at any moment. Those reports were based on the announced willingness of the South Bendites to post suitable forfeits.

WASHINGTON INFIELD PLAYER WILL RESIGN OPINION OF MANAGER

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Everett Scott, Washington utility infielder who created a major league record of play in 1917 consecutive games being played in 1916 and 1917 as a member of the Red Sox and Yankees, is ready to announce his voluntary retirement from the game.

Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington Americans, revealed this today while discussing the resignation of the Washington club for next year.

Roger Peckinpach will be back at his old berth at shortstop next year, but it is expected to hear of the voluntary retirement of Scott at any time," he said. "Scott has earned up a splendid old bowing alley business in Port Wayne, Ind., and I don't expect him to repeat it in the spring. I had a letter shortstop in the American league than Peckinpach and I'll use him if I can get it. I also have 'Red' Weaver to use in an utility capacity. Meyer is an infielder of wonderful ability, I expect to get him into one of the stars of the game."

GRANGE MAY BE OUT OF FOOTBALL PLAY FOR TWO MORE WEEKS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 10. (AP)—The Pittsburgh All Stars, added insult to injury here today in their game with the Chicago Bears, who were defeated 21 to 0 after their star, Harold H. ## GOVELESKIE IS NAMED TO PLACE

Washington Senators Player Gets Coveted Title, According to Announcement.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (AP)—Frank Goveleskie of the Washington Senators and not Herb Lehman of the Yankees was the most effective pitcher in the American league in the 1925 season.

It was announced tonight at League headquarters that Goveleskie, 29, recently published gave the New York newspaper the honor, but a checkup on the record of Goveleskie, 29, ranked 1.25 plus, while the Washington star allowed 28.1 earned runs per game.

The error was due to duplication in the records of a fifteen inning game of July 1, which gave Goveleskie a record of 292 innings, which has been changed for the official records to 291 2/3 innings. Goveleskie was charged with 91 earned runs, and his percentage average is not 2.51 as carried in the averages which have been released. Incidentally Goveleskie led the league in the percentage of wins and defeats, thus giving him double honor for the season.

BERLENBACH WILL MEET DELANEY IN BATTLE FOR TITLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Futurist Berlenbach, world light-heavyweight champion, will step into the ring in a scheduled title match at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night against the only man who ever knocked him, Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn. Prior to Delaney's victory—March 13, 1922, at the old Madison Square Garden—Berlenbach had achieved a mark of 23 consecutive knockouts.

After this setback Berlenbach rallied against the best in his division and reached the height of his form when he outpointed Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, in a listless exhibition at the Yankee stadium June 30, 1923, since winning the crown. Berlenbach has protested it against young Marcelino, Jimmy Slattery and King Collins.

Delaney finished work yesterday, weighing 165 pounds, while Berlenbach completed his training at 175 pounds.

JOHNSON GETS RAISE

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—The $10,000 salary increase and the five-year extension of contract given Dan Johnson, president of the American league yesterday was adopted by a vote of 7 to 1. Harry Graham, secretary of the Chicago White Sox said today.

"Chicago voted against the proposition when it was recommended by the board of directors," he said, "because we feel that his salary is high enough and his contract already extends to 1930."

What's What in The Sport World

Copyright, 1925, King Features By FRANK G. MENZIE

If you don't think that baseball has changed since "the good old days," harken to this tale and there try to fancy what would transpire unobtrusively, as it happened in this dignified and stern era.

Thirty years or so ago, a built morose, just graduated from a neighboring gin mill, parked himself in the Orioles bleachers, and for want of something else to do demonstrated his frolicsome spirit, he began hurling frolicsome greetings and salutations at Steve Brodie who was trotting the right field garden for Baltimore.

Brodie endured it in silence for some time, but when the fan began to leer and call him "Ya veller stiff" because Steve did not return, Steve became a bit fretful. He moved up near the stand and asked the fan to "lay off". For answer the fan looked at Steve with a wilder and more profane thrash.

Brodie had a turn at the bat in that inning, and struck out when he went to assume his position in the outfield, the drunken fan let loose with newer broadsides, and then things began to happen.

With a air of utter nonchalance Steve leaped over to the nearby score board, he saw that the batter was scored "lubber, tucked it under his moral fin, trotted across to the bleachers, he took his hat, climbed it and leaped into the stand.

The fan decided about that time that the matter was better left of valor. He stroked it off by the nearest exit. Steve stroked after him, trying to head him off by the simple process of leaping over the heads of the seated crowd. Unfortunately, one of his legs wasn't high enough. It only carried him, head first, into the face of an innocent customer. The customer was knocked overboard and Steve fell on top of him, picked himself up and continued the pursuit.

By that time the fan had a 50 foot start on Steve—and he was establishing new world's running records with each yard that ran Steve did like wise. The fan got out of the stands, leaped along a little alley way, out of the park and up the street. So did Steve. Steve pursued for a quarter of a mile, overtook his quarry, wallowed him profusely, and then, with out being dislodged and sobbed, snatched back to the park.

He leaped to his position in the outfield, kicked his glove and called it, yelled "let's go, boys", the audience said nothing, no report was made, the league president and club was rumored that as if Steve hadn't delayed it nearly ten minutes for the purpose of larrupping a customer.

This one sounds like fiction—but it isn't. Memphis was playing Atlanta in 1919, Memphis was at bat and had Canavan and Block on the boxes. Christy Mathewson, great pitcher, led off for one in the right field fence. Fred, playing right for Atlanta, grabbed the ball on the rebound and hit the pitcher.

Meanwhile, Canavan, who had been on first, and who was the faster runner of the two, jumped up with Block just as third base was rounded. Clinging hands, Canavan and Block, wholly unaware that Fred had snatched the rebound and already had tossed the ball to the catcher, rumped for home side by side.

Four jumps from the plate the ball and the catcher met them. Before Canavan could straighten, Fred tried to think the Atlanta catcher slapped the ball against Block's ribs and performed similar rites for Canavan, giving the catcher one of the rarest things in ballroom—a double play at the plate.

A TRICK HOMER

The very same Canavan figured in another play that was freakish in an extent. He was with Memphis and his team was playing Nashville. The error was that when Canavan went to bat in the 12th.

Hugh Graham, the Nashville pitcher, caught up with the pitch. As he did so he fell slipped in a hole, he tumbled and fell, and as he did so the ball shot high into the air but reached perfectly toward home plate. Canavan waited for it, and as it came down, stepped forward and the catcher, with all his power. The result was a home run that won the game.

But the earlier part, from the Bostonian viewpoint, was that Stahl was so confused by the relay work of Harry and Collins that he failed to remember the rule that a runner is out who passes another on the base.

MEN GASED IN WAR ARE NOT IN DANGER OF T. B.

Army Chemical Warfare Service Launches Fight Against Popular Belief Surrounding Uses of Gases.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Armed with a mass of statistics and scientific data the Army Chemical Warfare Service has launched a campaign to slay a ghost that came back with the army from France.

War veterans declared against the haunting specter that hovers in the minds of thousands of those who got a whiff of gas over there, that some day because of being injured done by gas to their lung tissues, they will fall victim to the dread white plague—tuberculosis.

This specter is a pure figment of fancy, said Major General Amos Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service. Exhaustive scientific investigation during and since the war, General Fries maintains—and has demonstrated equally figure and the records of British, French and American doctors to sustain his assertion—has not shown a case of tuberculosis.

General Fries admitted the fact that gas, when used in the manner of a chemical warfare agent, is a most effective weapon of war. It is a big job to convince 100,000,000 people, nearly all of whom think otherwise.

Beans Lay Claim To Holiday Attention

South Idaho's New Crop Appears as Rival To State Apple On Christmas List.

It is a bid for favor for the Southern Idaho bean as a rival to the Southern Idaho apple, a long established favorite of Idaho Christmas shoppers is being made this year by the Southern Idaho bean growers' association, which has placed on the market especially for the holiday trade, a five-pound pack of selected beans in an attractive container decorated with view to delivery by parcels post.

The holiday bean bag, according to association representatives, is being marketed with a careful reception, and it is believed that it will be the means of acquainting many hundreds of persons this season with the quality of the Idaho bean and the Twin Falls country which produces it.

Attached to each bag is an envelope that contains a card loaned by Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce which bears the following greeting: "Twin Falls sends you the season's greetings and invites you to come and investigate its wonderful agricultural resources."

"Twin Falls also offers many very attractive industrial opportunities," the wonderful scenic attractions of this section are not surpassed by anything in the west. They are the Shoshone Falls, Twin Falls, Blaine Falls, Balanced Rock, Hansen bridge and many others."

The envelope bears on its reverse side this message: "That part of Southern Idaho surrounding Twin Falls, Plover, Kimberly and Jerome produced this year 60,000,000 pounds of these Great Northern beans."

The crop brought the farmer an average of $75 per acre. "They are now marketed in nearly every section of our country and because the irrigated farms of Southern Idaho have a dependable supply of water, exceptionally fertile soil and abundance of sunshine, they produce Great Northern beans of the highest quality and so abundantly that they supply most of those that reach the consumer."

"It would seem apparent," the surgeon general commented, "that tuberculosis did not occur any more frequently among the soldiers who had been gassed than among those who had not been gassed."

"Deaths from gas are at least twice as many as those caused by other war weapons, permanent disabilities are practically negligible and after effects are of no moment." General Fries contended, adding that compared to other methods, gas warfare "cannot be commended instead of being condemned."

"SUIT GOES TO JURY." DENVER, Colo., Dec. 10. (AP)—The libel suit brought by Frank C. Seibert, circulating manager of the Kansas City Star, against the Post Printing and Publishing company, asking $200,000 damages for an editorial published in the Denver Post, accusing him of contributing money to the German government during the world war, was given to a jury in district court here today tonight.

The jury was instructed by Federal Judge J. Foster Byrnes that "the article in the Post is a libel" and told the jury it "should determine to what extent of damage the plaintiff is entitled."

The editorial that formed the basis for the suit was published in the Post March 10, 1922, and also accused Seibert of having dealings with Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States and other German agents.

SLURRING COYOTE REPLACES LION AS MENACE IN MONTANA.

MISSOULA, Mont., Dec. 10. (AP)—The mountain lion has yielded to the slurring coyote as the greatest menace to wild life in Montana.

To save himself and his stock, the lion-skinning pioneer of the Rockies fought the lion. In modern days, the state paid a bounty of $20 for each of the animals killed.

This warfare has progressed to the stage where only one deer, a favorite prey, has been killed by the mountain lion this year. The coyote, however, has claimed several victims.

If you want to see how Rough Cut tobacco stacks up against Granulated, then your old pipe bowl's the proper place to stage the battle... Yes sir, once you've seen Rough Cut in action you'll back Granger for the rest of your life.

There's a definite reason for that Rough Cut Granulated tobaccos burn fast and hot because they're cut fine. But Granger burns slow and cool, because it's cut coarse. It just naturally makes the coolest, smoothest smoking you ever experienced.

KNOTTY LEGAL ISSUES TANGLE LIQUOR CASES

United States Commissioner Is Presented With Puzzling Questions In Connection With Raid On Nevada Still.

A tangle of knotty legal questions involved in the case of 11 men and one woman taken in custody about a month ago by federal prohibition agents and deputy sheriffs of this county in connection with raids on two big moonshine stills in Three Creek and Cottonwood canyons in the hills of northern Nevada, is presented for decision by H. E. Powers, United States commissioner, at hearings today in connection with bench warrants issued by the United States district court in Nevada under bench warrants issued by the United States marshal Monroe of Boise. The accused persons were brought here by the prohibition officers and lodged in the Twin Falls county jail. Two of them, Maroni, A. Wilson, Mr. Maroni and Wilson, alleged owners of the Cottonwood canyon plant, were released by order of the district court under writ of habeas corpus before some plan had been lodged against them. They were arrested here Thursday by Deputy Marshal Monroe under bench warrants issued by the federal court in Nevada.

Declines to Interfere.

District court here declined to issue writ of habeas corpus, to order release of seven of the accused persons subsequent to filing of charges by violation of the federal prohibition enforcement act, and they are still held prisoners in the county jail. They are E. A. Hudson, alleged owner of the Three Creek plant, and his alleged associates in the enterprise, John Ward, O. E. Christiansen and Melvin Gillette, and G. J. Hilde, Claude Friebe and Evan Taylor, alleged associates of the Wisconsin in the Cottonwood plant. Walter Bros. T. O. Jones and E. N. Whitney, arrested in connection with the raid on the Three Creek Canyon plant, on arraignment here before Commissioner Powers furnished bonds which subsequently were approved by the United States commissioner at Elko, Nevada.

Issues Involved.

Principal questions involved in the hearing here today are: 1. Whether in view of their removal under arrest from Nevada where the offenses charged are alleged to have been committed, the accused persons who are detained in the county jail are to be considered fugitives and as such to be held under the bench warrants issued by the court in Nevada. 2. Whether the accused persons are entitled to preliminary hearing in this state or in Nevada, and whether the commissioner here or the commissioner in Nevada has jurisdiction to admit them in jail in the event it is determined the jail is admissible. Local authorities in San Francisco, however, have ruled that trial in these cases must be held in the federal court in Nevada.

In addition to these issues, and complicating them, it has been learned, some of the prisoners are endeavoring to arrange for trial in federal district court in Boise rather than in Nevada.

APPEALS DISMISSED IN THREE CRIMINAL CASES

Three criminal actions appealed by the defendants from judgment on conviction in district court here have been dismissed by order of the state supreme court entered November 29, last, copies of which were received here Thursday.

By agreement of counsel the appeal of John W. Atkins, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of a Haagen fellow employe in a sheep camp, was dismissed. Atkins is now serving a sentence in the state prison.

Because of non-appearance of applicant, appeal was dismissed in the case of E. M. Van Eaton, convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated, and Lew Martin, convicted of illegal possession of liquor.

Mercury Fails to Rise Above Freezing Point

Forecast for today - Cloudy probably rain in north portion; normal temperature.

Temperature Thursday, for the first time this winter, did not rise above the frost line, but attained a maximum mark for the day at 21 above, which was 22 degrees under Wednesday's high mark. Low was 24 above, representing an advance of four points as compared with the preceding day's minimum. Light rain and sleet that fell and froze during the night covered sidewalks and pavements with an icy glare that was held responsible for a number of minor automobile accidents and for much inconvenience to pedestrians.

many, many dentists today recommend Life Savers.

They're safe for tiny teeth.

"This is the only kind of candy I like my own children to have," the dentist told the mother. "These little Life Saver mints are much better for little folks. Try the new Violet flavor. Children love them."

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat. Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life-saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are chime-hard and deliciously flavored. This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors
