President Coolidge Turns Attention to Condition of Vermont Homestead; Does Several Odd Jobs About Place.

(By The Associated Press.) TWIN FALLS, Aug. 5. (AP)—The first of the president's odd jobs today. Here for a visit of a few days at the Coolidge homestead and farm of 275 acres, for the first time in many months, he turned his attention to the condition of the place, and all through the day worked at odd jobs.

In a business suit of dark gray, and wearing a straw hat, Mr. Coolidge frequently took up a new and exciting line of work, and repaired places that close inspection showed needed attention.

Repair Fence. The fence caught his eye at once. Working with a crowbar and sledge hammer, he pulled out a decayed post and set another in its place. Again he entered the woodshed with an axe and set wood for mending a weak spot about the house.

At yet another time he went into the orchard with a long-handled cut-off saw and a long limb of an apple tree which had outlived its usefulness. Then he went into the garden with a hoe and attacked weeds for an hour.

The day, however, did not pass without him and Mrs. Coolidge, visiting the hillside cemetery, not far from the house, where are buried four generations of the Coolidge family, including the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and the father of the president.

BABSON OPTIMISTIC OVER FARM OUTLOOK AFTER INSPECTION TRIP

Noted Statistician Believes Agricultural Output This Year Will Compare Favorably With Any Season Since War; Business Men Feel Better.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 5. (Special.)—The statistician W. E. Babson today returned from an inspection trip. When asked as to what were the most interesting facts brought to his attention he replied as follows:

Farmer More Optimistic.—"Owing to the terrible talks which have been going on in Washington relative to the conditions of the farmers, one is prepared to expect most anything when visiting the agricultural sections. Of course there are some sections which are suffering from poor agricultural conditions, but I believe the crop for 1926 will compare favorably with any year since the war. The farmer who owns his farm and who is working and tending in business is doing well. Great farmers and those who expect to hire everything done, and those who are loaded up with mortgages are of course in an unfortunate condition. Statistics, however, clearly indicate that considering both production and price, a substantial amount of new wealth will come from the ground during 1926."

"One of the most interesting things in my travel is to note how the average business man is influenced by the New York stock market. Even the hopes of farmers, who are supposed to be immune from such market influences, are very susceptible to the rise and fall of the New York market. The same man who was pessimistic three months ago, when the stock market was going down, are now optimistic with the stock market going up. Personally, I feel that there is too great a tendency to depend on barometers of consumption and too little interest in the volume of production such as crop statistics. It is, however, fair to say that there is much more optimism in the agricultural communities than for many months and this is a very good sign."

Money Rates Still Low.—"The money situation is paradoxical. The ultimate consumer seems to have used up all his ready money and through installment purchases has nearly used up his credit. Cash purchases seem to be becoming a lost art. Certainly the average man in the street has very little money to-day, notwithstanding that savings banks are bulging with deposits and the life insurance business is very flourishing."

"Funds for investment have not been so plentiful for many years. Last week a public utility bond was offered on a 1 1/2 per cent basis, an event which has not happened for 20 years. For the past two years new bond issues have been put out at a tremendous rate and yet constantly absorbed. With an output of new bonds averaging several million a day

The mercury stayed from four to a dozen degrees lower than on the week's third summer weather, July 29, but the humidity ranged to 20 per cent greater, weather bureau records showed. Chicago's maximum today was 91 against marks of 87 the night before.

The highest official temperature reported today in the midwest was the 98 degrees recorded at Centralia, Ill.

Thirteen deaths from the heat wave had been recorded in Chicago tonight and elsewhere. Although partially due to effects of the heat, a change in the wind brought cooler weather tonight.

Century Mark Passed.—KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 5. (AP)—Temperatures skyrocketed over the century mark in many points in the southwest today.

Water, which was claimed one life in Kansas City and one death at Sedalia, Missouri, was indirectly attributed to heat. Hot winds from the south caused much suffering.

More than 16 points in Kansas reported temperatures exceeding 100 degrees. At Sedalia, Kansas, the government thermometer touched 109. Farmers in some parts of Kansas were driven from the fields by the scorching sun and wind. Corn and other crops were reported to be suffering. With streams drying up, several towns reported water shortage as imminent.

Record breaking temperatures were experienced in Oklahoma, the mercury reaching to 109.12 degrees at Tulsa and Sapulpa. Other cities in the state recorded temperatures of 100 and higher.

To reach the necessary minimum below the century level at most places required only 100 in the Texas (and although that mark the maximum in most, it was comparatively cool, the maximum at Galveston and Corpus Christi being 88.

Hagar's Well in Mosque.—The well from which, according to a Mohammedan tradition, Hagar drew water for her son Ishmael, is within the great mosque of Mecca, and its water, used by pilgrims, is said to have miraculous powers.

Great Jewish Scholar.—Leopold Zunz, the celebrated Jewish scholar, generally considered the founder of the modern "science of Judaism" and that he had studied in the study of Jewish literature. He died at Berlin March 18, 1886.

Political Situation.—"I am finding much more interest in politics than has been evident for some time. During the past few years the Republican party seemed to have a complete makeover and Democratic have been hard to find. Today, however, the republican have real opposition and must wake up if the party is to be successful in 1928."

The general feeling throughout the country seems to be that the candidates in 1928 will be Coolidge and Smith and that the great battle ground will be New York state. People wonder if this is one reason why President Coolidge is spending the summer in New York state.

"General business continues about the same. The Birmingham steel plant, which at seven per cent above normal compared with one per cent above normal in July of last year. A large volume of business is being done, but it is being done on a very small profit. There is still uncertainty in the minds of most business men as to what the winter will bring forth, but there is much more optimism today than there was three or four months ago."

PLEDGE GIVEN. TRAIL BLAZER FOR MEMORIAL

Twin Falls Citizens to Subscribe at Least $1000 for Oregon Trail Coins, Ezra Meeker Is Told.

Ezra Meeker, 80 years old patriarch of the Oregon country, was the guest of honor at a luncheon meeting of more than 50 Twin Falls business men...

Secretary Charles F. DeWight of Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce was authorized to receive subscriptions for the memorial coins. A trust fund is to be created for this purpose...

Tells Objections. Issuance of the memorial coins, Mr. Meeker stated, had been authorized by congress as a means of collecting funds for restoration of historic forts and buildings and erecting monuments...

In a single year, he said, 35,000 persons traveled over the Oregon Trail to build homes in the Oregon country and 50,000 persons died on the way...

He referred to his trip back over the Old Oregon Trail to Washington, with an escort 20 years ago beginning a campaign for recognition of that historic road.

"We ought to hold in memory the sufferings that went to save this country as a part of this great nation; and we are making you now to come with your dollars," he said.

Others Pay Tribute. Mr. Meeker was introduced by Donald McKay of Twin Falls, an attorney for 21 years and by Shad L. Hodge, former Twin Falls mayor and resident of Idaho for 40 years...

Mr. Meeker has come to the president and all members of the cabinet and of congress, Congressman Smith said, and it was Mr. Meeker's efforts against obstacles that could not have been surmounted by any congressional delegation that made possible the Canal Company Announces Cuts in Accordance With Conservation Policy.

Water delivery through the Twin Falls canal system will be reduced beginning today from 2800 acre-feet per day to 2000-acre-feet or 70 per cent of full water right...

The announced reductions are in line with the policy of water conservation adopted by the canal company early in the season, which, it is believed, will make possible the maturing of practically 100 per cent crops this season in the territory under the Twin Falls canal system.

When Ezra Meeker, venerable trailblazer of the northwest, leaves Twin Falls today he will resume his trip to the Pacific coast in the house motor in which he left New York 18 days ago and left at Granger, Wyoming, to make the trip to south Idaho by train.

The house motor that represents a covered wagon mounted on the chassis of a motor truck was piloted into Twin Falls late last evening by Mr. Meeker's companion on the trip, Daniel H. Mace, journalist, author and veteran of the world war. It had been driven more than 200 miles from Bluffton that day.

It is Mr. Meeker's purpose after visiting several Pacific coast points to return by motor to New York. His present trip is in the interests of the Old Oregon Trail Memorial association in the furtherance of a work to which he has devoted more than 20 years.

he will be present at the unveiling of a monument erected in his honor in the city park which was given to the city by the family of Mr. Meeker and his wife.

In his journey through southern Idaho, Mr. Meeker retracing his steps on his first trip 74 years ago to the Oregon country, and all along the way he is encountering familiar landmarks and in this region he is renewing acquaintance with old friends.

Not the least of the familiar landmarks to be his companion on the trip is a native of Minnesota, a former editor of Twin Falls newspaper and graduate of the Columbia university school of journalism and winner of a Pulitzer scholarship by virtue of which he spent a year in France, returning to New York only a short time before settling out with Mr. Meeker on this trip.

He served in France during the world war as a member of the 1st field artillery regiment and bears a wound stripe.

Not the least of the considerations that induced him to make the trip, Mrs. Mace said last evening, is the opportunity it affords for gaining familiarity with the traditions and institutions of the northwest and for intimate association with an outstanding figure in its history.

Opera house theatre Thursday evening, a number of Twin Falls young men and women produced, under direction of Manager Smith of the Berkova Productions, a new motion picture picture play. Action was under the glare of great Klieg lights with the camera man cranking his machine at intervals between rehearsals. Two plays were filmed to the vast amusement of the audience. Eight or 10 young men and women staged "Ten Nights in a Barroom," and Miss Fay McCarley of Twin Falls played opposite Bud Lyon of Hollywood in a found comedy, Anthony and Cleopatra. James D. Whelan posed for the scene in his impersonation of Woodrow Wilson.

Home town movie players at the Opera house this evening, it was announced, will produce "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."

Wet gas is a mixture of atomized liquid gasoline globules and vapor. Wet gas floods certain cylinders at the expense of others. It chokes the power and gives a characteristic "drag" on quick acceleration

Dry gas is a completely vaporized mixture of gasoline and air with no liquid globules. It is a perfect motor fuel. Dry gas equalizes cylinder distribution and gives maximum acceleration without flooding

The public has accepted dry gas as an unmistakably superior motor fuel. Texaco is a dry gas. It is something that automotive engineers have long wished for and petroleum engineers for years been trying to produce. The Texas Company's success in the manufacture of the new and better Texaco, a gasoline that forms a dry gas under engine conditions, is a distinct achievement.

THE public has been quick to notice and appreciate the easier start and quicker pick-up with the new and better Texaco Gasoline.

Motorists everywhere tell us of cleaner spark plugs and the better lubrication resulting from the complete vaporization of this product. That is to say, there are no "heavy ends" to foul the engine and dilute or impair the lubricating oil.

From all over the country we get reports of the better acceleration and mileage, and the freedom from carbon-knock.

The new smoothness is a result of the even distribution obtained through the characteristic low distillation range and anti-knock quality of this fuel — produced by The Texas Company's Holmes-Manley Gasoline Process.

Its anti-knock quality is a decided accomplishment, obtained, as it is, without the addition of chemicals or poisons.

The new and better Texaco Gasoline is not only safe to use—but economical. Remember this—no poison—no knocking, better hill-work and more mileage—then go to the nearest Texaco pump to begin a new era of more pleasurable motoring.
