GERMANS NEAR WARSAW

Russians Will Leave City Stripped of Supplies and Munitions.

Lodz, July 31.—If prodigious sacrifices of life and ammunition by the Germans count, Warsaw will probably be in German hands tomorrow. The Russian war effort was almost tonight on the fate of the Polish capital. But previous announcements have indicated the culmination of another masterly strategic retreat by the Grand Duke Nicholas. Warsaw has been stripped of supplies, of food, of munitions, of arms, of metal, and of soldiers. Only a small force, which Russia will sacrifice as prisoners, remains to harass the German hosts and cover up the retreat engineered by the Slavs.

If I spend my dollars out of Twin Falls and you spend your dollars out of Twin Falls, and all the people spend their dollars out of Twin Falls, WHAT IN THE THUNDER WILL BECOME OF TWIN FALLS? THINK ABOUT IT Twin Falls Commercial Club

The sentiment favoring a rim-to-rim bridge is steadily growing in this county and should the matter ever be put squarely to the people would result overwhelmingly in getting bonds voted. The people of the North Side now that they have learned how badly they have been deceived regarding the expense of such bridge, are turning solidly toward the rim-to-rim structure as the most feasible and the least expensive in the long run.

A great many joy auto drivers in this city think it is extremely funny to cut out the muffler and shoot by some team at thirty miles an hour. Yet it is funny all right. Funny that the fool killer has lost some of the joy drivers live so long. The joke is on the human race, which must bear the stigma of such productions. Instead of an automobile on crowded streets the speed demon should be given a dynamite stick and a hammer in some secluded spot. The result would be more satisfactory and less costly to the public.

The claim made by the National Peace party that President Wilson failed to make use of a chance to obtain peace among the warring nations does not seem plausible. President Wilson's inclination toward peace are too well known for anyone to credit any claim that he refused a chance to end the war. The Times does not agree with all of President Wilson's foreign policies, but does give him credit for being absolutely sincere in his desire to prevent war at any cost. It is preposterous to think that any man in public office would fail to make use of such an opportunity to let his name go down into history as the big man of the age.

The retreat of the Grand Duke Nicholas forces from Warsaw without the loss of arms and ammunition and only a few men, constitutes one of the most masterly feats of arms in history of nations. The lack of resistance of the Russians after their first great fighting in the early part of the war was hard to understand, but there seems to be no doubt but that every victory of the Austro-German forces is of importance by the fact that the enemy is not conquered with the territory. Russia, according to authentic reports, has twenty millions of men ready to put into the field as soon as arms and munitions can be procured. Unless Germany can in the next sixty days accomplish the defeat of Russia and her subjugation, there must come a time when the Muscovite forces will again be on the offensive, pressing her foes back to their own territory.

The great Democratic demagogue of the county who by reason of the will of the people holds a county position, says he does not like the Times because it plays politics. That is surely some compliment to the Times, coming from a man who plays politics the year around, who never makes a move except for the purpose of playing politics. Playing politics on the part of a Republican is a crime, according to this Henry Watterson of Twin Falls county. It is merely a daily pastime for a Democratic office holder. Democratic newspapers and near Democratic contemporaries can howl against the Republicans and call them thieves and robbers, according to this Democratic franchise. It is good domestic funds. Playing politics is a crime surely for all Republicans. They should remain silent in admiration of the cleverest politics ever played in the county and bow down to Democratic rule.

ENGLAND FEARS INVASION. "Invasionitis" is the word coined by a writer in the Berliner Tageblatt to describe the disease from which he asserts the English are suffering. He says that the pessimists and alarmists in the United Kingdom have laid on a great deal of medicine to the nation that is suffering from nervous depression. The fear of invasion, he alleges, is one of the forms that this nervousness takes, and he continues: "The fact that the English people are dominated by a fear that has been artificially produced can only be of advantage to us. When the moment comes for the German fleet to strike properly, the nerves of the inhabitants will be so frayed by the everlasting alarms raised by the warners and agitators that confidence in their powers of defense will be considerably reduced. These people will probably be relieved when the coming is in the country, for even the most nervous are fearful of that terrible disease of the brain—invasionitis."

The London papers to some extent bear out this contention, and even the once sober and staid Times features an article by a "Neutral Observer" in which he prophesies the fall of Calais and subsequent invasion.

"Calais in the hands of Germany is a key to world-power," is a main article of the German press. Imperialists believe that Calais must be secured if a lasting peace is to be attained. It is part of their program to include in their territory to be acquired not only Belgium, not merely Calais and Boulogne, but to extend the western boundary of the Empire as far west as the English Channel. "German" fishing village and seaside resort some fifteen miles southwest of Boulogne."

"The Germans believe that by using Calais as a base they can, with their new guns, having a range of over twenty-six miles, sweep the Channel clear of hostile ships, and not merely destroy Dover, but cover a landing of their troops. This is to be carried out in small aluminum boats, held in readiness for the purpose, which could easily be transported overland. Submarines would insure further protection if needed. Germans are confident that the confusion resulting from an air raid, carried out on a stupendous scale by all available German aircraft, will permit the rapid advance of the landing force on London. "In view of the nature of present military operations and the greater difficulty that have been overcome in the fighting forces in other theaters of war, the German plan can not be dismissed as outside the realm of possibility or even probability. Calais is the key to German world-power, and it is reasonable to suppose that the Germans, believing this, will, when the occasion presents itself, endeavor to wrest this key from England."

The more emotional London Daily Mail seems to share in the epidemic. It calls loudly for the return of Lord Fisher to the Admiralty as the only hope of England against the threatened peril, and wonders whether adequate preparations have been made to withstand an attack.

"We wonder, because now that the war is in its twelfth month we find that, according to statements made in the House of Commons, all sorts of things are very insufficient—the supply of rifles and machine guns, for example. The Daily Mail frankly distrusts the authorities who have not yet provided the soldiers with rifles. "Rifles could have been obtained over and over again from the United States had they been ordered. Offers of machine guns were made last autumn and were refused. The people who muddled the equipment of the men are marching about without weapons may be muddling the invasion question. "Invasion is dependent upon one mistake, and one mistake only, of our fleet. That is exactly what it depends upon, neither more nor less. The same brains that muddled the Dardanelles operations may interfere with the operations of the fleet. Lord Fisher left the Admiralty as a protest against a phase of the Dardanelles war. He declines to return to it so long as certain muddlers are in any way connected with the government. They are still the most active members of the Coalition. "It is announced today that Admiral Fisher has been appointed chairman of the new Board of Inventions. No doubt he can do very useful work in that capacity, and we are glad to know that he will be at hand in case of an emergency; but the nation should insist upon his return to the Admiralty. Unfortunately, the nation knows practically nothing. It is being told a little more by the new Government, but as yet not much."—Literary Digest.

CHILDREN DROWN NEAR GOODING

Party of Five Wading in Big Wood River Meet With Disaster.

Gooding, Idaho—Vera and Robert Miller, age 13 and 12 years, the children of Charles Miller, a fireman in the employ of the Oregon Short Line railroad here, were drowned in Big Wood river, near here, Saturday afternoon, and two others had narrow escapes from the same fate.

There were five children in the party, all about the same age. Four of them were Miller children and the other the daughter of an engineer named Richards. The survivors are too confused by the accident to give any clear account of what happened.

The children had been playing in the shallow water about half a mile from Gooding, where the main road to the Gooding irrigation tract crosses the river. There is a rock ledge just below the bridge, which breaks off abruptly into a deep pool and it is supposed that one of the children fell off this ledge and that, one after another, the other three were drawn in while trying to effect a rescue.

Rescued by Passerby. Though traffic on this section of the road is ordinarily heavy, none saw the children in the water until Clarence Carpenter, a rancher on the North Gooding tract, came by. He succeeded in getting the Richards girl and one of the Miller children ashore, but when he returned to look for the other two they had disappeared under the water.

One Goes for Help. The child which had not been in the water managed to get to town, half a mile away, and summon aid, while Carpenter searched for the missing ones. A number of automobiles packed with people rushed to the scene of the tragedy, but it was not until half an hour had been spent in searching that the body of Robert Miller was found, by Claude Hiseck. Fifteen minutes later Haseck Thornton brought up the body of Vera Miller.—Statesman.

TALKS ON THRIFT

No. 28.—NATIONAL ECONOMY

"Perhaps there never was a time in the history of the United States when the utmost possible stimulation of the existing habit meant so much to individual and national prosperity as it does now."—Elmer H. Youngman, Editor of The Bankers Magazine.

If our people all work harder and save more money the United States could soon become the world's banker. That is the opinion of the Bankers Magazine and other authorities on finance.

Even if the European war speedily closes it will leave in its train a vast burden of debt to be provided for, so that London, Paris, Berlin will have on their hands all they can handle for a good while to come. The United States should be in a position to take its place as international purveyor of capital.

It must not be forgotten that we shall require a large amount of money to finance our own enterprises which hitherto have been accustomed to go abroad for loans. To meet this demand, to take back our securities from Europe and to provide for the international financing already coming to us as a result of the war, and which is bound to come in an ever-increasing volume, we must bring about a prompt and material addition to the saving capacity of our population.

The idea that prevailed in Europe previous to this disastrous war was to use everything available and to throw nothing away that could be used to great or small advantage. On account of the scarcity of land in the producing sections, intensive farming had been brought down to an exact science, with the result that in these times of stress there can be enough produced upon a limited acreage to keep the people from starvation. If this habit of saving were practiced more in this country, our people would be in a far better condition to take care of themselves should some dangerous emergency arise in the future.

We repeat, there never was a time when so much of individual benefit, of national welfare, and of public profit, could be derived from the general adoption of the saving habit by the people of the United States.

PIONEER IN CEREALS

Brother of D. B. Pettijohn a Well Known Manufacturer.

The passing of Ell Pettijohn, of Minneapolis, one of the well known figures in the early life of the North Star state, is worthy of note, not only because of the prominence of the deceased but for the fact that Ell Pettijohn has a brother in this county, living near Kimberly, D. B. Pettijohn, an old soldier and one of the prominent ranchers of that section.

Ell Pettijohn, as the following article will indicate, was not only a pioneer in the manufacture of breakfast foods, but was one of the very first white men to settle about the old Fort Snelling, when the Indians were the major population of that state.

Ell Pettijohn, one of the earliest of the Minnesota territorial pioneers, died yesterday at his home in Minnetonka, Minn. He was in his ninety-seventh year. As one of the earliest of the territorial pioneers of Minnesota he had seen the state grow from infancy. He came to Minnesota in 1841.

Up to a month ago Mr. Pettijohn had been in excellent health, erect, bearing and active as a man many years younger. His last sickness was the result of a visit to the old swimming hole in Minnetonka creek near his house. He went only to view it, but got too close and slipped in. The child brought on a severe cold which led to his death.

Ell Pettijohn was born in Brown county, Ohio, Jan. 28, 1818. He came to Fort Snelling when 22 years old, eight years before the organization of Minnesota territory and seventeen years before its admission to the Union. There were two houses in St. Paul when he came, and a few hundred white people resident in what is now Minnesota.

"Home Sweet Home"

HOW dear to our hearts is that old motto: "Home Sweet Home," which hung on the wall "down to granddaddy's." It recalls childhood days to many of us and especially those who have not saved their pennies and are still enriching the landlord. If you have an ambition to own your own home, to feel that independence that naturally comes to all home owners, then I am in position to be of incalculable service to you through which I have induced to establish a branch office in this city. This Association is under (Washington) State supervision and control, and all securities are deposited with the State Auditor, and the State Treasurer is a director in the association. Its subscribed capital is $7,500,000.00, assuring ample funds for all requirements. You can apply for a loan on improved real estate after having been a member four months, or you can open a savings account for any length of time you desire. The following is an illustration of what a monthly investment of five dollars, at compound interest, will do for you:

96 Monthly payments of $5 each.....	$ 480
Profit when matured.....	620
	$1000

If at any time during the life of your contract, you cannot meet your payments, you can suspend payments for one month to a year without fines or forfeitures, by notifying the home office in writing, and resume at any time without making up back payments, if so desired.

Come in and let's talk about that home you'll be interested. No "ifs" or "ands," just a reliable Building & Loan Association plan, which has been the greatest boon to HOME-BUILDERS.

HILLIS AN IDAHO BOOSTER.

Will Bring Party of Friends Back to Twin Falls.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis left Idaho boosting to beat the band for the Twin Falls section of Idaho, according to the North Side News of Toronto which says: Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, the noted lecturer who addressed the Chautauquin at Gooding last week, was shown over the North Side tract by I. B. Perrine and was very enthusiastic over what he saw. A visit was paid to Shoshone Falls and Blue Lakes and other points in the Twin Falls country as well as the trip among the farms. Mr. Hillis went away almost persuaded to own one of these farms himself. Later in the season with a party of gentlemen prominent in the nation, he expects to visit Yellowstone Park and declared that the whole party would visit the North and South Sides in Southern Idaho on the trip. He will use some of the information gained on the trip in his future lectures.

Big Hill Pulling Demonstration Sunday, August 8th, at 3 p. m.

On the New Buick Hill due south of the Twin Fall Ball Park, on the opposite bank of Rock Creek.

We have been sold out of cars for the past three months, and during this time some of our competitors have been making what we consider some pretty strong claims for the pulling qualities of their cars. Now we propose to give them a chance to show the public just what their cars will do, and herewith cordially invite them all to attend. It is free for everybody. Bring your car, put it on the hill and see what it will do.

We believe when a man spends as much money as he does when he buys a motor car he is entitled to know just what the car will do.

Sunday we are going to show the public what the Buick and Dodge cars can do.

RULES

All cars to be classified according to price F. O. B. factory.

Gas tanks of all participating cars to be drained and refilled out of the same tank of gasoline at the Continental Oil Co.'s storage tank (located on the road to the hill) immediately before the contest.

Nothing but strictly stock cars to be used and cars not to be altered or changed in any respect. All cars entered must be just as they come from factory.

Class 1. All cars listing under $1,000.00, F. O. B. Factory.

Class 2. All cars listing under $1,500.00, F. O. B. Factory.

Class 3. All cars listing under $2,000.00, F. O. B. Factory.

Class 4. All cars listing above $2,000.00, F. O. B. Factory.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

It's free. Put your car on the hill and find out what it can do. If you have a good pulling team, bring it along, as we contend that the Buick and Dodge cars will pull a hill with a load where a team can't pull an empty wagon.

CLAIMS HORN IS MISUSED

Judson dealer, Mr. E. S. Johnson, emphatically scores the indiscriminate and needless annoying use of the automobile horn. In many large cities, laws are being passed prohibiting the sounding of horns under certain circumstances and in certain districts. About nine-tenths of the noise produced is quite unnecessary. Drivers who are prone to the use of the horn cause under the heading of several classes. There is the nervous or ignorant driver who does not have his car under perfect control and who reflexly blows his horn every few feet to get a clear passage. This man should be shunted to the side streets or put in a cell where he will be perfectly safe. Another class of drivers should be permitted on crowded streets. Then there is the smart-Aleck type of driver who likes to dash up to a crossing, blow a blast on his horn that scares pedestrians into seven fits and sweep on his way grinning in ignorance at the constantly changing positions of the gawky youth in the first flush of his car-love, or in the pinfeather stage of growth likes to shove off to some equally silly girl beside him his ability as a motor-car driver. His delight is to tear madly around with his pompadour blowing in the wind, particularly during the twilight of a summer evening, blowing his horn like all possessed. He should be suppressed as a public nuisance and certainly his car should be taken from him. Much of the misuse of the horn is due to the fact that drivers are either indifferent or careless of pedestrians. Instead of reducing the speed of their cars to a safe margin and being prepared to stop at crossings and when passing street cars, these silly drivers keep up full speed and rely upon the use of the horn to clear a way for them. Yet there is everywhere a large and constantly growing class of common sense motorists which is doing its best to have the motor-car used in a sane and proper way. These are the people who are careful of the feelings and rights of others, who do not make unnecessary noise, who keep their cars under perfect control, who are ready to slow down for street cars for children or for aged persons, who turn the corners of the streets giving wide berth to the cars of other drivers, who do not make their cars where the police regulations forbid and who in all ways try to act as decent, sane, American citizens. Judson dealer, E. S. Johnson, says that it is the policy of the Judson Motor Car Company to try to educate owners and drivers to a membership in the most desirable class of automobile users and owners.

When You Purchase Your Electric Range

Remember the range is merely an incidental---economy in fuel bills, decreased labor and increased protection to life and property is what you really pay for. An electric range in your home means no "kitchen worry;" less of the nerve-deadening heat and toil. Your kitchen should be as cool, clean and pleasant as any other room in the house. There is no necessity for smoky walls, or the intolerable heat and fire hazard incident to the use of all other cooking mediums.

"An Electric Range for $11.00 Down and Then $4 Monthly Payments"

From all angles---safety, economy, cleanliness---the electric range has no equal. Remember the terms---$11.00 down with $4.00 monthly payments. An electric range is an investment; one which pays big dividends in safety, health, happiness and convenience every day in the year.

Give our demonstrator an opportunity to visit you in your home, and tell you about the electric range.

ROOSEVELT DAY AT FAIR

Newspaper Letter From San Francisco by Judge J. L. Fleener.

San Francisco, July 23, 1915. "Roosevelt Day" at the exposition passed off with great zest. There was an unusually large crowd of people and all seemed delighted to hear the great apostle of preparedness, Roosevelt is very popular in California. He was introduced by Governor Johnson as the greatest living American. In contrast to the "peace at any price" speech of William Jennings Bryan, the doughty champion of San Juan Hill was quite emphatic in his expression of opinion that the United States should have a larger standing army, a more efficient navy and a general military policy somewhat resembling that of Germany in which every young man should be made a compulsory soldier and receive military training and experience. He hit Mr. Bryan and David Starr Jordan body blows. The Colonel was strenuously applauded all along the line and the San Francisco papers published a very full report of his address.

The International Purty Congress has held a very stormy session and is now adjourned. The session of last Thursday was unusually interesting because for the first time in the history of the movement the survey of the police woman's movement was made. Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, president of the International Association of Police Women of Los Angeles, presented some very interesting statistics and facts with reference to the work of women in police affairs. Some six different states now have laws permitting city authorities to put women on the police force. Over a hundred women are now thus engaged in different cities in the United States and the movement is growing. Mrs. Wells expressed her conviction that in a few years police women would be as common as are now police men. In Los Angeles the police department is aided by a "mother's" commission composed of altruistic and influential ladies who give their time gratis to the city paying special attention to the aid of young girls and deserted women. This body is responsible for some of the great reforms now going on in that city. Under their auspices a municipal hall is given twice a week under proper supervision to which the young people are invited and where they can enjoy the dance free from the temptations of the modern dance hall. Mrs. Mabel Avery of Boise, was honored by a place on the program at this meeting.

One of the distinguished guests at the Idaho building last week was Mr. R. W. Childs, secretary of the Boise Commercial club. Mr. Childs spent several days visiting the important buildings of the exposition and paying more special attention to the Idaho exhibits. He was entertained at tea in the Idaho building by the hostess, Mrs. W. H. Ridenbaugh, and the wife of executive commissioner Cizek. Mr. Childs expressed himself in most enthusiastic terms concerning the beauty of the location of the Idaho building and the building itself with its appointments for social gatherings and entertainment and also of the magnificent exhibits our state has put up. Executive Commissioner Cizek on his part is most pleased with the efficient work rendered the Idaho commission in his official capacity as secretary of the Boise Commercial club.

Mrs. John P. Vollmer of Lewiston, was assisting Mrs. Ridenbaugh last week as hostess of the Idaho building; her wide acquaintance with Idaho people and her genial personality were much appreciated. Miss Marie Cady and Margaret Danaher were recent visitors at the Idaho building. Leo Park and his sister, Mrs. Mandlin, took tea with the hostess last week.

Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Aurelia Henry Rhinhardt, formerly of the faculty of the University of Idaho were recent visitors at the Idaho building as were also Captain George Steenberg and Lieutenant E. Rauka, commandant of the cadet corps of the University of Idaho.

The Idaho building was honored recently by the presence of Edward M. Holman, who occupies the chair of English in the Idaho State University. Mr. Holman has been connected with the University for ten years. He is a distinguished writer and has written the book, "The Renaissance of Italy," is recognized as authority on art by the leading artists of the country. Being in many of the leading educational institutions of the United States, Mrs. Ridenbaugh had the pleasure of entertaining him at tea and he expressed himself as charmed with the Idaho building and Idaho exhibits. J. D. FLEENER.

PRESS BULLETIN

State Board of Health Works for the Individual.

The first public health laboratory in the United States was opened by the New York City Department of Health in 1892, and no advancement in public health science has been more significant than the development of the work of such laboratories during the past twenty years. Yet few who have not studied the matter perhaps realize what such laboratories are doing for the people of this and other states.

Suppose a school child has a sore throat. It may be a light attack of tonsillitis requiring no very special care. On the other hand, it may be the beginning of diphtheria. It is vitally important for all the other children that the child should be at once taken out of school and isolated, so that it may not spread infection to others. It is just as important for the child itself if it is diphtheria that it should receive a dose of antitoxin promptly, since each day's delay makes the danger more serious. The physician can not always tell at first whether it is diphtheria or not, and the laboratory would be called on often wait until both the patient and the other children were in serious danger. Today the tests which indicate the source of a typhoid epidemic, sends it to the Board of Health Laboratory and in a few hours may receive by telephone or telegraph a definite report as to whether diphtheria germs are present or not. If it is a case like that one obtains the antitoxin, which will cure the patient and protect other persons in the family who may have been exposed to the danger of an attack of the disease. Again, a man on a dairy farm shows signs of suspicious illness or suspicion may point to a dairy farm as the source of a typhoid epidemic, although no one on the farm seems to be sick at all. Whether there are any signs of illness or not, samples of blood and of discharges may be taken from all the people on the farm, and the laboratory examination will determine whether any of them is carrying a carrier of typhoid germs. Not only diphtheria and typhoid fever, but malaria and tuberculosis and many other diseases, may be diagnosed most quickly and certainly by the Public Health Laboratory. It is the laboratory which makes regular chemical and bacteriological examinations of water and milk and food supplies so that their purity may be insured. The work of the laboratories of the Idaho State Board of Health at Boise has been completely reorganized during the past year. Improved outfits for the diagnosis of disease have been provided which distributed than ever before and special arrangements made for getting reports back to physicians as promptly as possible, while provision has been made for diagnosing many diseases for which no provision was made before. Typhoid vaccine has been distributed for the second time. There is now no person in any community in the state who cannot by calling on the State Board of Health through his physician or through the local health officer obtain the advantages of the latest and best scientific methods of the laboratory in the diagnosis and control of communicable disease. NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS Scaled bids will be received up to 6:00 p. m. of Friday, August 6, 1915, for the repairing of the school house in school district No. 23. Contractor to furnish all materials and do all the work connected with such repairs. Plans and specifications can be seen at the ranch of W. J. Calkins, clerk, Hansen, Idaho. All bids are to be accompanied by certified check for five per cent of the contract price, to be held by the school district as guaranty for the successful bidder. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 23, W. J. Calkins, Clerk, Postoffice address, Hansen, Idaho. July 30, 1915.

NOTE—So much comment has been aroused among cigarette smokers by the sensible suggestions in this advertisement that we have received several letters from Twin Falls men; suggesting that the advertisement be reprinted for the benefit of those who missed seeing it in last week's paper. Clip this out and keep it as it will not appear again. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Get all the smoke-pleasure you pay for. Find the right cigarette—a SENSIBLE one that fits your own likes and dislikes.

It may or may not be Fatima

—but this will help you find it.

Tastes differ—in fashions, foods and pretty girls. Also in cigarettes. A cigarette that started out to please every man's taste would end up by pleasing none. Most of us like our cigarette smoke deliciously cool and refreshing. The Mexican likes his hot and dry, with a nice little peppery sting in it. Some men like a cigarette wholesomely, fragrantly mild. Others of us hunt for a cigarette almost as heavy as a black cigar. Most of us want an "easy" cigarette—a SENSIBLE one, so that no matter how steadily or how many we smoke, we'll feel as fit as a fiddle. Other men, though, don't care about that. They smoke only a few—so they want a kick like a mule's in each puff. All of us want our smoke "full-bodied"—it must satisfy that smoke-hunger. But the cigarette that just fills the bill for you may not do at all for your next-door neighbor.

Somewhere—among all the brands on the market—is the one just-right cigarette for YOU! Maybe it's the very one you have now in your pocket—but are you SURE? Maybe it's some entirely "different" cigarette—it may or may not be Fatima. But "find it!" Until you do, you're cheating yourself out of a whole lot of smoke-pleasure. Also you're wasting some money.

How to Find "yours"

To avoid blindly trying too many different cigarettes, ask yourself, first of all, this question: "Just what do I like in a cigarette?" If you smoke only a few every day, you may prefer a cigarette which is rather rich or heavy and "oily." Or you may like one which has a rather strong "oriental" taste with a pungency almost like perfume. Or you may want a cigarette with that noticeably "sweetish" Egyptian flavor. But if you smoke quite often—if you would like to smoke whenever you feel like it and without any effect on the tongue or throat or any fear of a heavy or "heady" feeling afterwards—then you should choose some cigarette such as Fatima, a cigarette composed of all-pure tobaccos of considerable aroma, mellowed by being aged and carefully blended to produce a fragrant and wholesomely mild, yet "full-bodied," smoke. And the smoke must be noticeably COOL. For otherwise your tongue or your throat will soon signal you to stop smoking so often.

If you will ask any Fatima smoker, he will tell you that Fatimas never make him "feel mean"—no matter how many he smokes.

That is why Fatimas are considered the most sensible cigarette by such a large majority of smokers. And that is probably the main reason why hardly any Fatima smokers ever switch! They like a sensible cigarette—and one with a good, pure taste to it.

But the Taste is up to You

All cigarettes are pure, but when it comes to the taste, nobody can help you choose. You simply have to decide for yourself.

Of course, Fatima's taste may not appeal to you. But most men who try Fatimas like the taste so well that they seek no further—otherwise Fatimas could never have won and held their enormous and growing leadership amounting to over one and a half BILLION cigarettes a year.

The one purpose of this advertisement is to ask you in a fair and square way to give Fatimas (20 for 15c) a good trial. If they don't happen to suit your taste, you'll quit smoking them of course. But if you like Fatimas as well as MOST men do, you'll be mighty glad you read this advertisement—and ACTED ON IT!

Below are two simple tests which you can easily make and which may help you find your sensible cigarette.

It may or may not be Fatima. But be fair to yourself and find "yours."

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. Largest cigarette manufacturer in the U. S. as shown by Internal Revenue reports.

TWO TESTS FOR ANY CIGARETTE. The taste of the cigarette—according to the leading tobacco journal—is up to the smoker. But there are other qualities that you should look for in your cigarette. Here are two—how do you feel about them? 1. The tobacco in the cigarette should be of the finest grades and of the best quality. 2. The tobacco should be aged and carefully blended to produce a fragrant and wholesomely mild, yet "full-bodied," smoke. ... Clip out these tests and try them on Fatima

Profit-Sharing with Retail Buyers

On August 1, 1914 we made the announcement that if we could make and sell at retail 300,000 Ford cars between August 1, 1914 and August 1, 1915 we would share profits with the retail purchasers, to the extent of from $40 to $60 on each car. We have sold over 300,000 Ford cars in the time specified, and profit-sharing checks of $50 each will be distributed as rapidly as possible after August 15, 1915. Retail purchasers who have not yet mailed us their profit-sharing coupons, properly endorsed, should do so without delay.

Our plan to profit-share with retail purchasers of Ford cars during 1914-15 has been most successful. We thoroughly believe in it, but, realizing the uncertainty of conditions generally makes it advisable to defer any announcement of future profit sharing until a later date.

We are, however, confident of our inability to reduce costs for several months, and therefore can offer no profit-sharing for cars delivered during August, September and October, 1915.
