TOO MUCH WATER IS BEING USED

Nevada Engineer Draws Comparisons

CLAIMS THAT TWENTY-FOUR INCHES IS SUFFICIENT

Believers that Using Too Much Water Constitutes a Crime Against the State.

E. C. McClellan, an irrigation engineer from Nevada spent Monday in this city and gave us an interesting talk on this country and on irrigation that is worth giving our readers.

Mr. McClellan started in by stating that this arid region between the Rocky Mountains and the Cascade and Sierra Nevada ranges was populated a few thousand years ago by an agricultural people, and that as the climatic conditions were the same then as now they dry farmed the land and were able to raise a family on about fifteen or twenty acres of land to the family.

His next statement was that for eight years he had charge of irrigation on his father's ranch near Reno, where the annual precipitation is nine inches, and successfully raised all kinds of crops by the use of the irrigation.

Mr. McClellan gave two new points of view regarding the use of water. The first is that nature has adapted our food plants to a certain average amount of moisture supply to the soil.

Now in the United States, this water supply may be considered as the most available in the valley of the Mississippi river, but to illustrate his points Mr. McClellan gave two tables for consideration.

The most fruitful part of the United States is the country in the Mississippi valley extending north from eastern Kansas. The yearly precipitation at Leavenworth, Kansas, is 34.80 inches, and at Grand Rapids, Michigan, is 32.40 inches.

CAN SEE BIG LEAGUES

Opportunity Offered to Get All-American Stars Here in Contest.

There is an effort on foot to secure the All Star teams of the National and American Leagues for an exhibition game to be played here, in October, while the base teams are on their way to the Panama exhibition at San Francisco.

Should such a game be arranged all attendance records for ball games on the tract will surely be broken for nearly everybody will at least like to see some of the men who have made the national game what it is today.

"HOSTAGE OF THE NORTH"

For the last three nights of this week the management of the Orpheum theatre is offering a fine picture program. The headliner is "A Hostage of the North," a story in two acts of the gold fields of Alaska.

WOULD STOCK SALMON DAM

State Game Warden Jones Makes Offer to Sportsmen.

State game warden, L. C. Jones, while in this city, stated to some of the local men that if assistance in screening the tunnel at the Salmon river dam, could be secured through the local sportsmen, he would stock the deep waters of the dam with black bass.

ANOTHER BALL GAME.

Halley Coming Next Sunday for First Game With Locals.

Next Sunday afternoon the local team will meet the Halley base ball team for the first time this season. Halley is a pitcher that will certainly fool the local hitting boys from home.

GOLDEN ROBIN SEIZED

Police Department Gets More Wet Golden Monday of This Week.

On Monday of this week Chief of Police Taylor seized three barrels of Golden Robin beer. The wet goods were shipped by freight to a local dealer in this city, and were taken at the depot by the police.

SHEEP FOR PASTURE

Several Train Loads Arrive from the Mountains to Pasture on Tract.

Several train loads of sheep have arrived on the tract to pasture. It is becoming so dry that stock is not doing well, hence the sheepmen are looking up pasturage in the Twin Falls country.

Bushel Baskets of Elberta Peaches

SEED BEAN CROP A MONEY MAKER

Big Yields Bring Money to Ranchers

VISIT TO FIELDS OF COUNTY SHOWS SURPRISING CROPS

Ranchers Under Contract With Big Seed Companies Making Good Margin of Profit.

The ranchers who this year have planted a proportion of their acreage to seed beans stand in a fair way to make big returns. The Times reporter visited this week, in company with Mansour Coulter of the D. M. Ferry Seed company, a number of the seed bean fields and was surprised not only at the heavy stands and well filled pods, but with the uniformity of the yield.

The ranch of E. P. Danlap on the Addison avenue, was among the first to be inspected and showed that under a careful estimate would get twenty-two bushels to the acre, thus giving a gross return of $43.00. The seed planted and cared for under the direction of the seed company, will be taken at three and a half cents per pound.

Two other fields in this same neighborhood with another variety of seed beans, showed even better yields and would average easily thirty bushels to the acre. This variety was contracted for at four cents per pound.

Twenty acres on the ranch managed by Laybills and Harsh, who perhaps the banner crop for yield. As high as thirty pods measuring from seven to eight inches long, being the average per vine. Manager Coulter estimated that this crop would net the two men forty dollars per acre.

A much smaller tract of a trifling size owned by K. M. Osborne south of this city, will yield approximately fifty bushels per acre and is contracted at four cents.

In all of the territory covered but one field showed any indication of lack of care, the balance showing big thirty vines and well filled pods. In none of the fields were there any (Continued on Page 3.)

GERMANY TO AVOID A CRISIS

Has No Wish For Rupture With United States.

WILL MAKE FULL AMENDS FOR SINKING ARABIC

Fall to Grasp Real Sentiment of American People, Confused by Divergent Views of Roosevelt and Bryan.

Berlin, via London—While the situation regarding the case of the Arabic is by no means clear, indications were noticeable Wednesday of a belief that a moderate amount of optimism regarding the case is well justified and that a way will be found out of the entanglement even should it be established that the steamer was torpedoed without warning—an assumption which the German government has as yet, in the lack of any official report on the subject, no reason to accept.

The newspapers and the public seem hardly to have awakened to the nature of the situation and between the divergent views of Theodore Roosevelt and William J. Bryan, which they were given Wednesday, find little enlightenment regarding the real state of American public opinion. The foreign office, however, is evidently fully aware of the delicate nature of the situation and is disposed to avoid a crisis.

State Department Gathering Evidence in the Arabic Case.

Washington—in a receptive attitude towards any explanation or statement which the German government wishes to offer concerning the sinking of the Arabic, the state department is proceeding with the collection of all the testimony which it is possible to obtain from the ship's survivors.

Half a dozen affidavits have been received, all tending to show the liner was torpedoed without warning and that the crew was making no attempt to escape or attack the submarine. Special attention has been given the statement by the captain of the (Continued on Page 3.)

GOOD YIELD OF WHEAT

Quincy Foster Threshes Over 70 Bushels to the Acre.

Quincy Foster is one of the farmers of the Twin Falls tract who is perfectly satisfied with his yield of wheat. This week he threshed twenty-five acres which yielded over seventy bushels to the acre. Mr. Foster says that he has more to thresh which he is sure will yield just as well. Mr. Foster came here from Illinois about five years ago and he says that the Twin Falls tract is good enough for him.

"JUST JIM"

Splendid Four-Act Feature at the Isis Monday and Tuesday Next Week.

The management of the Isis theatre next Monday and Tuesday, will put on a splendid four-act drama entitled, "Just Jim." This is pronounced the strongest photoplay of the year. The story has to do with "Just Jim," a criminal, who, at last makes good. In this picture the spectator sees the sinking of a four-masted schooner, after a terrific struggle by a revenue cutter and the last plunge of the boat to the bottom of the sea. This is only one of the thrilling scenes witnessed in this great photoplay.

NEWS BUILDING STARTED

Substantial Structure Going Up Next to Masonic Temple

Ground was broken the first of this week for a building fifty by one hundred and ten feet, next to the Masonic Temple on Second street West. The building will be of brick and fully modern. One half of the ground floor will be occupied by the Twin Falls News and the other half it is rumored, will be used as a sales room for Velle automobiles.

SMITH BLOCK ENLARGED

Addition Being Built Extending to the Alley.

The Addison T. Smith block on Shoshone street South, is to be enlarged to accommodate the tenants and work will be commenced at once. Congressman Smith, the owner of the building, stated to the Times that the new structure would extend to the alley, thus giving a large amount of additional floor space.

DATE OF PICNIC CHANGED

CAPTAIN DAVIS ENTERS RING

First Governatorial Gun Fired From Boise

FORMER SECRETARY TO GOVERNOR HAINES A CANDIDATE

Makes Original and Convincing Announcement. Not the Tool of His Friends.

Captain E. G. Davis, former secretary to Governor Haines, and one of the best known Republicans of the state, is out in the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket. While the Times is not ready at present to espouse Mr. Davis' cause, it takes pleasure in announcing Mr. Davis' original declaration of his candidacy, which is given below:

The time is approaching when consideration must be given to party candidates for the next gubernatorial nomination, and I have thought it due to your position in the party that I inform you of the fact that, at the proper time I expect to become a candidate for this nomination.

I begin by avowing frankly that my candidacy does not come from "the influence of friends." It comes rather from an honest aspiration to serve the people in this high office, from the belief that I have the ability to serve them with credit, and from the knowledge that I have the courage to serve them honestly and faithfully.

I was born in Idaho. I received my early education here. I was a farmer by occupation in the arid plains of southern Idaho and I know from actual experience the trials and hardships of those who have been a pioneer in a new country. My parents were poor and I was forced to make my own way in life. Such success as has come to me has been the result of my own efforts. I earned by hard labor the means with which I provided myself with my first schooling beyond the home, where I had my primary education, and I won my appointment to West Point in a competitive examination by all the young men of my class.

I shall be the first native born son of the first absolutely home product, to aspire to the Governorship of Idaho. I have been a soldier in the army, the science of government. For four years I was on duty at West Point as an instructor of Constitutional Law, and I have been a member of the staff of the United States Military Academy at West Point, since my return, as the result of my military service. In February, 1910, I have been a close student of the governmental affairs of this state. As a member of the legislative staff of the secretary to the governor and as assistant attorney general, I have been brought into close touch with every phase of our state business, and thus, both from (Continued on Page 3.)

NEW MUNICIPAL RATES

Great Shoshone Asks For New Schedule For Acre.

Schedules of rates for incandescent municipal lighting were filed Tuesday by the Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Water Power company and the Southern Idaho Power company. The schedule of the Great Shoshone company was for the towns of Amador, Berger, Bliss, Brantley, Elbert, Fley, Gooding, Glenns Ferry, Hagerman, Hammett, Hansen, Hazelton, Hollister, Jerome, Kimberly, King Hill, Marion, Miller, Mountain Home, Peavey, Oakley, Shoshone, Twin Falls and Wendell. The Southern Idaho Power company filed rates for Amador, Bliss, Blackfoot, and Pocatello. Rates of both companies were as follows: 100 candlepower lights, $25 per light per year; 250, $38; 400, $44; 600, $52.

FALL THINGS ARRIVE

Late Styles are Displayed in Twin Falls.

This week with the arrival of Mr. Booth from New York bring new fashions and fancies of the great markets. The Booth store has received large shipments than ever before of approved styles in coats and suits and Mr. Booth has just returned to the Booth Merc. Co. with the latest things in millinery. The shoe stock is replete with new fall styles and slits and dress goods are prettier than ever before and most reasonably priced. The Booth Merc. Co. are prepared to do better than ever will make strong endeavors to please. They welcome inspection at any time. Adv.

The Times is in receipt of a communication from some of the motorcycle drivers in this city protesting against the claim of this paper that they do not observe road rules and making the counter claim that automobile drivers do not claim the motorcycles halt the road. The Times will stick to its first statement regarding the non-observance of road rules by a great many of the motorcycleists. It will admit that possibly some of this violation is due to the automobile road hogs who will not turn out. The Times would suggest that the motorcycleists gather a little fund and prosecute some of the automobile drivers who will not do the right thing. It would also suggest to the motorcycleists strictly observe road rules regardless of the other fellow's shortcomings and thus do their part toward better conditions.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE?

According to the late dispatches Germany has made instant and complete apologies to the little country of Denmark for violation of neutrality and at the same time asks for more time and delay in investigating the killing of American citizens. The difference in the two should fill every American citizen with a feeling of humility. America has no uncertain terms demanded protection for the lives of her citizens and these demands have been flatly refused by the German government in the notes interchanged between the two countries. Now as a crowning insult Germany wants further time to make excuses which will not better conditions. The Times does not want to see this country plunged into war, but if the whole series of insults offered to this country both by Germany and England does not constitute grounds for severance of diplomatic relations, then none of our past wars were ever justifiable. How is this government to protect its citizens and their rights when the idea is fixed in the minds of other powers that America is not in earnest in any of her demands and can be bluffed out at every turn. President Wilson said that unless Germany did certain things, that he would be forced to take drastic action. Germany refused. What is the answer?

HUMANE SING SING UNDER FIRE

The threatened snuff-up of the Osborne 'new-idea' administration at Sing Sing Prison is the view of many observers, who feel that the whole future of the prison-reform in this country was involved in the issue. On the other hand, there are those journals who with the Hartford Courant hold that even if Governor Whitman had removed Warden Thomas Mott Osborne the best part of the warden's work could not be undone, for he has given such an impulse to humaneness in the management of prisons as to render it a recognized duty of those in charge of penal institutions. Less sympathetic critics, while conceding the value of Mr. Osborne's prison-idea, say that he has only himself to blame for his troubles because he is an 'agitator' rather than an 'executive.' Meanwhile, Governor Whitman states to the press that he has no intention of removing Mr. Osborne or John B. Wiley, New York State Superintendent of Prisons, with whom the Sing Sing warden clashed. Superintendent Wiley represents the old prison-idea, say several editors, Mr. Osborne the new, and hence the conflict of penal institutions. Mr. E. Kent Hubbard, a general authority of Connecticut, is quoted as saying in the New York Globe, 'was' punishment, and nothing more. The new idea is to

KNOW THY COUNTRY

II—Railroads

In discussing the commercial achievements of this great age, we shall approach the subject as the historian chronicling events. This age will endeavor to record in writing the supremacy of American men and industries in the world's affairs and perpetuate an appreciation of our marvelous industrial achievements by presenting simple facts, figures and comparisons that are overpowering in their convictions.

America holds her proud place among the nations of the earth today on account of her supremacy in transportation facilities. The mighty minds of the nation are engaged in the problems of transportation, and the greatest men in the history of the world's commerce are at the head of the transportation systems of the United States.

The discussion of transportation, let us consider separately our Railways, Telegraph and Telephone, Express, Public Highways, Steamships, Street Railways, Interurban and other forms of transportation, and this article will deal with railways. The United States has the largest mileage, the best service, the cheapest rates, pays, labor the highest wages, and we have the most efficiently managed of the railways of the world. They stand as a monument to the native genius of our marvelous builders and most of the railroads in foreign countries have been built under American orders. The railroads represent a larger investment of capital than any other branch of human activity. The mileage in the United States exceeds (the accepted distance from the earth to the moon. We had in 1911, the last year in which figures for all countries are available, on each side's surface 439,281 miles of railway divided as follows: United States 241,199, Europe 207,432 and other countries 191,350. The United States has 38 per cent of the world's mileage, seven per cent of the estimated population and about five per cent of the area. The total capital invested in the railways of the world is $50,000,000,000, divided as follows: United States $13,000,000,000 Europe—$25,650,000,000 and other countries $11,350,000,000. Reduced to a mileage basis the capital invested in the railroads is as follows: $25,000,000,000 United States $54,000,000,000 $124,000,000,000 and other countries $59,000,000,000. A comparison of rates is equally an interesting and the United States takes the lead in economy and service. The average rate per ton per hundred mile haul is as follows: United States 76c, Great Britain $2.53, France $1.44, Germany $1.44, Russia $2c, Austria-Hungary $1.30, Italy $2.30 and Switzerland $2.82.

The average yearly pay of all railroad employes in the principal countries is as follows: United States $751, Germany $392, Italy $345, Austria $322, Great Britain $279, France $260 and Russia $204.

About 30 per cent, or 188,000 miles, of the railways of the world are government owned. About half the railway mileage of Europe is government owned.

A comparison of the economy, in time and money and the convenience in travel, will be made in a later article.

Osborne administration issued to the press and signed by certain authorities on reform movements, among whom are B. J. Lindsey, Robert Erskine Ely, Henry de Forest Baldwin, Oswald Villard, Samuel McCune Lindsay and others, we quote the following: 'The work has progressed for eight months in Sing Sing, and was begun in Auburn eighteen months ago. At the end of this reasonably long period there is much positive evidence of success, and there are no charges of failure which would really discount the experiment even if they were proved.

'The chapter, both physical and mental, in the prison population is marked by every visitor and most marked by those who thoroughly knew the conditions which prevailed in Sing Sing before January 1.

'The number of escapes is actually less than the average for a similar period during the last ten years, and attitude of the mass of the prisoners toward escape has been absolutely reversed.

'The output of work has positively increased, although as yet the prison management is not able to offer any of those incentives which normal men are accustomed to in their work of every day.

'Insanity has fallen off about 30 per cent.'—Literary Digest.

No. 19—ESSENTIALS OF SAFE INVESTMENT

'In making my investment, I recommend great regard for the security of the principal and not so much for the amount of income to be derived therefrom.'—G. S. Bowdoin.

Just how to invest money with absolute security and for a definite income cannot be told in a few words.

It must be learned from experience—preferably some one else's experience.

Usually one's safest guide in investment matters is his banker. His experience in investing safely the bank's funds, his knowledge of the pitfalls, and his observance of money successes and failures, qualify him to give advice.

If one is to get anywhere as an investor, he must make a beginning—take the first step—and in doing so, he should consider these cardinal points:

- FIRST: Security of principal. It is utterly futile to invest money without having this point passed upon competently. One should go no further until he is sure he is right on this point. SECOND: Certainty of interest return. Thousands of investors are misled by vain promises, with distressing results. THIRD: Availability of invested funds in case of an emergency. Too many find, all too late, that they are in possession of securities for which there is no market, which no bank will accept as collateral, and which the promoter who sold them refuses or is unable to redeem. A point which is often placed first but really belongs last is the interest rate. As the interest rate rises, security, interest return and availability usually recede, often to the vanishing point. Do not take chances with your money. An unusually high return for a

Why Does She Want a Piano? Can You Tell? A $350 Piano For the Best Answer!

FOR the best single sentence answering this question, not over twenty words in length, we will present a Lyon & Healy Piano free. This prize piano will be exactly as shown in the illustration above and is known as the Lyon & Healy, Style "K." It is sold by over 400 dealers at a fixed price of $350. It is the best piano value in America. In your answer, it is not necessary to mention Lyon & Healy because what we wish is the best answer to the question why a woman wants a piano.

A Lyon & Healy PIANO FREE

There is only one condition in regard to this piano and that is, you must be in the market for a piano. Any one who desires a new piano is eligible to contest. There is no red tape of any kind; and the one who gives the best sentence will receive the prize. Letters will not be judged for literary excellence. A letter from a child will stand as good a chance as a letter from an adult. The expressions will be weighed strictly upon their merits by the judges and the 20 words or less which seem to be the best answer to this question, 'Why Does She Want a Piano?' will bring to some one an instrument that will give pleasure and satisfaction for a lifetime. If you have a piano, but will not buy another, send in an answer. Simply fill out the coupon, place your name on a separate sheet of paper with your answer.

This piano will be awarded October 1st by a committee consisting of A. H. Messing, Business Manager of the Chicago Examiner, Frank R. Hussey, Business Manager of the Chicago Evening Post, and Homer J. Buckley, Esq. The piano will be shipped freight prepaid, to the fortunate contestant.

If you have bought and paid for a Lyon & Healy Piano while this contest is on, and if you win the prize you will receive $350 in cash.

Some simple sentence of five or ten words may win the prize.

short time will not compensate for the loss of your principal.

Experience gained at the cost of reduced capital is too dearly bought.

Mining stock 'investments' are typical of many precarious schemes that small investors are invited to get into 'on the ground floor.'

You remember Mark Twain's definition of a mine—'A hole in the ground into which a lot of fools throw their money.'

There are many wild schemes promoted for the sole purpose of separating fools and their money, but the lure of getting rich quick seems to be especially strong in the case of mining stock.

If your subscription to any such 'investment' is solicited, you will have no difficulty in refraining from putting your money into the proposition if you bear in mind these facts: The stock of a mine known to be good does not need to be peddled around.

It is hard to turn into money the stock of any other kind of mine. Every ton of ore removed from a mine reduces its value just so much. If the mine is exhausted before your principal has been returned to you in dividends, you are a loser.

A safe rule to follow in choosing an investment is to go to your banker and inquire what proportion of his face value he would loan upon it as security. Being stern critics of collateral, the officers or loan committee of your bank can give you a pretty good idea of the degree of safety, convertibility and the availability of the proposed investment possessions.

A savings bank account itself offers an ideal investment. It has the cardinal features of security of principal, certainty of interest return and availability in an emergency.

It has an additional feature which is often denied the investor in securities, namely the possibility of accumulating small, odd amounts, and immediately reinvesting interest returns by adding them automatically to the principal.

The saddest thing we know of to have occurred near us, was the disastrous fire at our neighboring town, Church Hill, on Friday night the home of John Toth got a fire from what source is not known as Mr. and Mrs. Toth were away from home on the way to a dance. They had four children, the oldest eight, whom they had left at home in bed, also a neighbor's little girl, by the name of Harris, was with them. The house was all ablaze when seen and by the time help arrived the roof was falling in. The children all burned to death, so there was no one to tell how the fire started.

The entire community extends their sympathy to both families in their bereavement.

duce the best results from. Look at it. The arid regions are receiving from 9.50 to 12.00 inches for crop purposes now. An addition of a little over half an inch carries us out of the arid region—into North Dakota.

Chris puts us into middle California with a supply of 16.50 inches. Our best agricultural country receives from 24 to 26 inches of water for its crops. When you increase to 27 and 30 inches the crops are not so good.

The editor here interjected the reply to these tables by stating that irrigation produces far better crops than the best agricultural part of the United States, and was confronted by the reports from the Agricultural College of Logan, Utah, showing that irrigation did this thing, but that they produced the best results by application of less than 24 inches to the acre, and that this was due to the fact that man applies for that very reason and not more; and that actually from eleven to eighteen inches applied partly by man and partly being in the ground, and the seven and one-half of the irrigation season, produces better results than 26 inches applied irregularly as nature generally does it. In fact that the irrigation water is an average from this irregular supply made by nature, but man can cut off the excess, and by making the supply regular, produce the best results with a less amount than nature gives.

A second point that Mr. McClellan brought out is this—in this country of large areas of agricultural land needing a small quantity of water to be applied to create proper crop producing results and limited water supply the point we should strive to attain is not the amount that can be produced per acre, regardless of the water supplied to it, but the amount that can be produced per acre inch or acre foot. The Agricultural College at Logan, Utah, has taken 30 inches of water, and applied the full amount to three, four, five and six acres—per ten, seven and one-half and five inches per acre—and proved that while the amount per acre was less when the water was spread over more than one acre, the yield per acre inch was far more for each acre cultivated.

For illustration, take the Twin Falls tract of say 240,000 acres of land and given three feet per acre. The precipitation of twelve inches, makes a yearly supply of 48 inches per acre. This is nearly twice what nature gives for the best part of the United States, and when properly applied by man the 24 inches is more than sufficient. Nine inches is ample with the nine inches that can be produced, and that amount can be properly applied with not too great an expense for ordinary crops. There would then be 108,000,000 acres of land that can be irrigated with the same amount of water as is now guaranteed the Twin Falls settlers for their 200,000 acres.

Now, Mr. McClellan says this is no pipe dream, but a fact. He has the father's ranch for eight years. Agricultural experiment stations in different states of the arid region are proving that it is the United States, and water supplied to the plants that produce the best results in food values in the plant by practical demonstration and are showing that there is a very small margin of water supply between crop failure and crop success. A study of these two tables proves the same thing. And there is not one proof that can be brought forward that will show that the water supply furnished by nature and added to by man should exceed 30 inches for the best results when there is an ample supply of water; and when water is in any way scarce, as it is in this country, the less water man supplies up to the point where the cost of application would be excessive, the better crop will be produced.

Mr. McClellan ended his interview by stating that in his opinion any man who wasted the main asset of the agricultural part of our country was as great a criminal as the man who ran a bank. In some ways, a worse one, as he can hide behind the fact that his neighbor is doing likewise, and that the laws and the state is backing his robbery.

INSTITUTIONS OF STATE READY

Interest in School Work This Year Owing to Changes in Courses.

With the rapid approach of September, plans are being made for the opening of the state educational institutions and the public schools in all parts of Idaho. The 1911 school year is looked upon as one of the most promising of any in the history of the state due to the advancement that has been made along all lines. The work in the higher grades, the high schools and the colleges will attract more attention at the coming school year than ever before owing to the fact that the state board of education and the department of education have decided to drop the dead languages from the course of study.

Several Dates Set.

At a recent meeting of the state board of education, the determination was reached as to the approaching sessions of the various school institutions of the state. In addition to the state university, which opens in the colleges of letters and science, agriculture, engineering and law, there are two splendidly equipped normal schools at Lewiston and Arden. The Technical Institute at Pocatello, and the state school for the deaf and blind at Gooding. The date of registration for these different institutions has been fixed as follows:

State university at Moscow—Registration, September 20 and 21; classes begin, Sept. 22.
Lewiston normal school—Registration, Sept. 14; classes begin, Sept. 15.
Arden normal school—Registration, Sept. 13; classes begin, Sept. 14.
Idaho technical institution at Pocatello—Registration, Sept. 20 and 21; classes begin, Sept. 22.

The school for the deaf and blind at Gooding—Opens Sept. 15.

School of practical agriculture at Moscow—Registration, Oct. 11; classes begin, Oct. 12.

Attendance Satisfactory.

With the Lewiston normal and the state university, the facilities of both have been practically perfect. In the exception of the dean of women of the Lewiston normal. This important position has also been, in all probability, filled, but no announcement of the fact has yet been made. It is known that President Black, of the Lewiston normal has given a good deal of attention to this matter and that he has felt for some time that he was certain to secure a dean capable of valuable service in this important position.

At the normal school it is already known that the upcoming attendance will be entirely satisfactory, in numbers at least, and it is believed in the personnel of those who will present themselves for registration. The record of the school, as it can be read in the record of its attendance, has been a wonderfully effective advertisement evidenced from year to year, not only by the number of its students but also by their character.

THE COWS AND THEIR CARE

To have healthy cows is one of the first essentials of the production of clean milk. If the cows are diseased, their milk is apt to contain disease-producing bacteria or to be otherwise abnormal. Such milk is not clean and is not safe as an article of food, even though there is no visible dirt in it.

The cows should be tested for tuberculosis by a capable veterinarian at least once a year, and if diseased animals are found, the herd should be tested twice a year. All cows which react, showing that they are infected with the disease, should be removed from the herd and the stable and premises thoroughly disinfected.

No additions should be made to the herd without subjecting all animals purchased to the tuberculin test before they are brought to the farm. They should then be kept separate from the other animals for at least sixty days and retested. No other dairy cows should be allowed in the stable.

Special attention should be given to the condition of the udder, and any milk which appears slimy,ropy, watery, or otherwise abnormal should not be used as food. As a rule, milk should not be used until three or five days before calving or during the first five days after calving. It is well not to use milk from cows which have been given powerful drugs, as these may pass through the tissues of the mammary glands into the milk.

The external condition of the cow is the most important factor in the production of clean milk, and dirt on the outside of the animal's body is one of the greatest sources of milk contamination. It is therefore essential that extra care be given to keeping the cow free from accumulations of mud and manure. Cows on pasture usually keep cleaner than those in the barn, but thought they are clean they may be very dirty, and it is well to brush them before each milking. When kept in stables they require a thorough cleaning at least once every day. It is a good plan to clip the long hairs from the udder, flanks, and tail in order that dirt may not cling to them. It is desirable that the bedding be clean, dry and used in sufficient quantities to promote the comfort of the cow, especially where the floor is of concrete.

The cow should not be groomed, bedded or fed immediately before milking, as these operations fill the stable air with dust and bacteria. Frequent attention to the distribution of bedding is just as important as to supply a large amount of it. Often a hour through the stable the last thing at night and a few minutes attention to the distribution of the bedding at that time will save half an hour's work of cleaning the cows in the morning. If after each milking the manure is removed, a considerable distance from the stable, the odor of manure will be kept from tainting the milk, and the danger of contamination from (flea-bitten flies) will be diminished. The manure should be removed at least twice daily and never ignited in the stable immediately before milking. The fly nuisance is caused by accumulation of manure at least twice the flies breed, and when conditions permit, the manure should be removed daily to the fields. Flies carry bacteria and other germs which should be made to keep the stable free from them. If the stable and its surroundings are clean, free from accumulations of manure, other matter which attracts flies, the stable can be kept fairly free of them by the use of fly poison and traps. A liberal supply of salt should be provided in a place where the cows can have ready access to it. It is of prime importance that the cows have abundant access to fresh, pure water. Cows which produce twenty-five pounds of milk a day require seventy-five pounds or more of water daily, and sometimes as much as 100 in which heavy milkers have consumed more than 300 pounds of water a day. This large quantity of water is necessary not only for digestion and assimilation of the quantities of food consumed, much of which is roughage. It is not wise to permit cows to drink the amount of ice-cold water, and in order to encourage them to drink a sufficient amount of water in extremely cold weather it is necessary to warm the water slightly.—Rural Spirit.

It is not wise to permit cows to drink the amount of ice-cold water, and in order to encourage them to drink a sufficient amount of water in extremely cold weather it is necessary to warm the water slightly.—Rural Spirit.

The food for cows should be palatable and nutritious. Moldy and decayed grain and feeds as may injuriously affect the cow's health or the character of the milk should be carefully avoided. The odor and taste of milk is readily affected by rape, cabbage, turnips and if these are used they should be given after milking, in which case the odor of the milk is not so unpleasantly affected. Where pastures are overrun with garlic or wild onion, the cows should be removed from the pasture several hours before milking and given a foddering of hay in the barnyard.

Owing to the dust and odors which arise from the feeding of hay, grain, and silage in the stable, it is best, from a sanitary standpoint, to feed after milking rather than before. A liberal supply of salt should be provided in a place where the cows can have ready access to it. It is of prime importance that the cows have abundant access to fresh, pure water. Dr. Fromm Receives Letter From Brother-in-Law in Mexican Capital.

Dr. J. C. Fromm, of Boise, has received a letter from his brother-in-law, Alfred Cooper, of Mexico, a suburb of Mexico City, in which he contains many interesting details of conditions in the Mexican capital. Dr. and Mrs. Cooper went to Mexico 15 years ago as missionary nurses in the sanitarium of Guadalajara and were later employed to teach the nurse in the largest hospital in Mexico City. Since the death of Mrs. Cooper in Mexico City eight years ago, Mr. Cooper has been engaged in the real estate business. He was the first to start fruit canning in that part of the country and has developed a large enterprise. He employs 300 native help each year and they have learned to respect him. Their loyalty is shown by their actions mentioned in Mr. Cooper's letter. He writes: "I received yours of March 18 about two weeks ago, but as the trains only ran for two days I could not get an answer before traffic stopped. I was sorry to receive the news of their bills. If it were not so tragic, the state of things would be laughable. "The Mexican soldier get only $7.50 per day (Mexican money) less than 70 cents in gold, and must feed him-

COYOTE ATTACKS SLEEPING MEN

Arco Men Hit by Animal Believed to Have Had Rabies. E. Hobbs, a victim of an attack by what is thought to have been a rabid coyote, arrived in the city Wednesday, bringing the head of the animal with him. He told his story to the reporter. Hobbs, who was also attacked by the animal, Dr. Laubach immediately wired to Washington, D. C., for the Pasteur treatment for Mr. Hobbs and his son-in-law. Hobbs, who was also attacked by the animal, Dr. Laubach has commenced a test of the coyote's head, but in such a state of decomposition that he said it was doubtful if the test could be properly made. Mr. Hobbs, Mr. Pershall, and a third man were sleeping in a cabin near

Arco, where they were camped with some horses when the attack was made on them. Mr. Hobbs and Mr. Pershall being in bed together, they awoke at 1 o'clock in the morning to find the coyote in the bed. According to the story of Mr. Hobbs the animal first attacked his son-in-law, biting him on the nose and forehead. Mr. Hobbs attempted to grapple with the animal and bit him on the hand. It then took hold of Mr. Pershall's hand and bit him severely, but the third member of the party finally killed it with a butcher knife. Mr. Hobbs has gone to remain with friends in the Gem Irrigation district, pending the arrival of the serum from Washington. After his talk with Dr. Laubach, he wired his son-in-law to come to Boise. The treatment is expected to arrive Saturday morning, and both men will be on hand to take it.

GERMANY TO AVOID A CRISIS

(Continued from Page 1) Arrive that his ship when attacked was at least two miles distant from the steamer Dunsley, which already had been torpedoed. This was regarded as of the most important because of its having bearing upon suggestions that a torpedo directed at the Dunsley might have struck the Arco. Some of the first statements said that the Arabic was steaming to the assistance of the Dunsley and gave credence to the report that the German submarine commander might contend he feared an attempt was being made to ram him. Secretary Lansing declined to state whether he would invite Count von Bernsdorff to come to Washington to confer with him. He has made no reply to much speculation as to whether he would transmit instructions from the Berlin foreign office urging that the United States take no stand in regard to the Arabic until Germany could be heard from. "THE DIAMOND FROM THE SKY"

ger, compelling desire, a desire that held her in provincial Richmond, was her desire for a star—her desire for the diamond from the sky.
Once in all this blinding magnificence it had shone upon her breast. Vivian Marston longed to again hold and possess the diamond. Her thoughts were upon it by day, and at night her dreams were bright like gold and red like blood.
She had heard its story and knew that, after Arthur, Blair was next in claim for its possession.
Vivian sank her head upon Blair's breast beneath the wistaria bough. She tempted him with languorous glance and alluring lips. "Get and give me the diamond and I will be yours," she whispered. And Blair, much as he had longed for the beautiful jewel himself, now longed more for this woman.

"I shall never rest till I get it for you!" he replied fiercely. And he would have kissed her to seal the contract, but she drew herself from his arms, and he knew that her caresses were only to be purchased by the diamond, be the price of the diamond lives, souls or honor.
But the luxurious and vivacious Vivian was a practical person. She did not depend upon the romantic, if desperate, efforts of a lover alone to secure for her the star of her desire.
She counted the businesslike and equally eager brothers Bloom. To the game mouthed Abraham and Isaac she counted the romantic story of the diamond and the continuation of its story, intrinsic value, which she had learned from Blair Stanley and others while in Fairfax.

"The diamond from the sky, as they call it, disappeared in Richmond, torn from your neck by the hands of an unscrupulous thief," the night of Mrs. Randolph's ball," said Abe Bloom, the gambler. "The chances are a hundred to one it is still hidden in this town. Whoever stole it will want money on it. That's reasonable enough, so assume it will turn up."
"It is fit enough to make a man put a thin/lin with windwhistle thaying 'High-eth Pritheth Paid' For Big Diamondth and No Questionth Athked," remarked Mr. Abe Bloom, who lapsed when he was excited, and excited he was when he had the romantic history of the diamond from the sky and its price. "But especially did its price excite him. 'It shan't thip through my handth again If I get hold of it,' he added. 'I wouldn't lent it to the queen of Thupain.' And as he said this he gave his brother the 'diamond' from New York, as he called her, a meaning glance.
"Let bygones be bygones!" Abe Bloom snarled at his brother. "I didn't lose it on purpose. I have telephoned for Tom Blake, whom I consider the smartest detective in this country. He does what you pay him to do and keeps his mouth shut. If the diamond is in Richmond Blake will find it."
In a few moments the suave and reticent Mr. Blake arrived. Pinned in possession of all the facts, the Blooms and Vivian could give him, he remarked that he would do his best, and the first and last meeting of the syndicate to find the diamond from the sky broke up and the detective departed.
He was followed shortly afterward by Miss Marston of New York, whose Richmond society friends would have been shocked beyond expression if they knew she paid an occasional secret visit to the establishment of Abe Bloom.

Meanwhile where is the diamond from the sky? It is not a pearl to be cast before swine, nor is it fated to remain the fabled plaything of a negro lad who is a hewer of swine.
In the fray and dirty dress suit, all the duster for his fall stuns, Mr. Strap McGee makes across country, cursing his luck. He pauses by a pig pen to play a grim and intensely practical joke on a negro boy bent over the sty. Mr. Strap McGee picks up a barrel stave and applies it to the person of the negro.
"Then Mr. McGee notes the boy in sudden pain and fright, has dropped some bauble plaything into the swill of the swine. Mr. McGee is not fastidious. He fishes out the bauble. It is the diamond from the sky! And it looks good to Mr. McGee, and he sees with it at his best speed, followed by a shower of rocks from the colored pig boy, bereft of the sparkling gem he found in an owner's hand. Richmond is not far away, and Mr. Strap McGee has some loose change he won at gaming in the jail. He proceeds to imbibe, biding his time to dispose of the bauble hidden in his rags.
But when he drops into the curio shop, he finds the gem maintained by Chinese acquaintances, his pity impels him to show the bauble to the ebullient Hung Li, priest, den keeper and tong leader.
It is a fatal thing to do, for Jack has been had with Hung Li and his friends. The police have closed their gambling joint and shut down on opium smoking. Hung Li believes that the god of the sky, the great god Lung, needs propitiating, and then he will bring back good luck in plenty.
He was wined with the diamond from the sky traveled to China and back? The effigy of the great god Jang is in his sanctuary in the next room, and Lung is the god of the sky. The body of a tramped tramp is dropped through a trap door, and the diamond from the sky hangs about the neck of the great god Lung.
This night Mrs. Burton Randolph would a stunning go. Blair and Miss Marston are all the little party, and Tom Blake, the detective, is to be their guide. A significant glance of caution and silence passes between the detective and Miss Marston when they meet again.
The Chinese quarter, with its joss house, is the first place they visit. The wily Hung Li wishes no visitors to the inner sanctuary of his joss, the great god Lung, but Blake will not be denied.
He says his friends have come especially to burn incense for good luck before the great god Lung. And so they enter the sanctuary and behold on the breast of Lung the diamond from the sky.
Detective as he is, and possessing great and evil powers in the eyes of Hung Li, Blake and his friends are forced from the place. The ladies, Mrs. Randolph again in a "state of nerves" are sent home, and Blake from the nearest telephone summons Abe Bloom and his brother.
Meanwhile an English lawyer has arrived at the Randolph house, seeking Blair Stanley. Determined upon his quest, the lawyer gets directions and arrives at the joss house. Hung Li and his confederates will have none of the London lawyer.
But the exasperated Marmaduke Smythe will not be denied. He says he knows the persons he is searching for are inside this beauty Chinese place.
Here now he is, re-enforced by the excited and money proffering Abraham.

RENOVATING AN OLD ORCHARD

Ground Should Be Broken Between Trees and Sown to Some Quick-Growing Crop.

Where there is a mat of grass and weeds in an old orchard the ground should be broken between the trees, taking care not to approach too closely to the trunks for fear of injuring the angle of roots that usually run near the surface. For the first year after the orchard's renovation the strips that are plowed should be sown in cowpeas or some other quick-growing crop.
The aeration of the soil is the principal thing that is sought through this cultivation. It should be kept up for a couple of years, and where it is possible to do so the ground should be broken sufficiently to seed a cover crop.

Of course, all dead and diseased wood should be taken out. It will interfere with spraying and picking, as well as offering a harboring place for all manner of insects and tree enemies. During the work of renovation all hanging bark, clinging loosely to the trees, should be pulled away and burned.
The weeds and trash that have gathered around the trunks of trees should be pulled away and burned with trash, dead limbs and other debris. All these things shelter hibernating orchard enemies, and by burning them the bugs and lice are destroyed.

and Isaac Bloom and the equally urgent but more self-controlled private detective, Tom Blake.
"The investee allies, English, Irish and Hebrew, surge in upon the entrenched Chinese. The struggle of the invaders to gain the sanctuary and get for money or by force the diamond from the sky is now at its fiercest.
But all the while a desperate man is climbing the fire escape at the back of the Chinese den. He has noted a certain draped window behind the joss. A crash of glass is heard within.
"The frenzied Hung Li breaks from the invaders and rushes into the sanctuary, followed by the other Chinese, the two Blooms, the detective and the bewildered Englishman.
A hand through the broken glass behind the idol has torn the diamond from the sky from the neck and breast of the great god Lung. With a demonic scream the frenzied Hung Li seizes a keen Chinese sword at the foot of the idol and aims a swift blow at the disappearing band.
"Woe and bad luck forever for the unrepentant Hung Li. The blow has missed the despoiling white band and has severed the head of the great god Lung!
Another slash in excited frenzy and down comes the burning altar light, and the three furnishings of the sanctuary and the whole den itself are a roaring blaze of fire!

DODGE BROTHERS ROADSTER

Utility was not sacrificed in order to secure a dashing design—nor was the design slighted in order to attain the practical.

The luggage space at the rear is extraordinarily large, and the seats are unusually wide, deep and generous.

But, as you will see, these result have not lessened, but enhanced, the beauty of the car.

The wheelbase is 110 inches

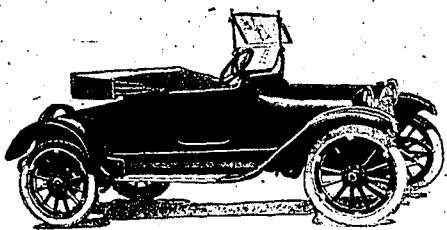

The price of the Roadster or Touring Car complete is $785 (f. o. b. Detroit)

Our next carload including two roadsters is due here next Monday.

BORAH A FACTOR

Supporters of Burton of Ohio Favor Idaho Man as Second Choice.

Washington — If Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, is not nominated by the next Republican national convention, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will be the nominee.

This is the declaration of one of Mr. Burton's most loyal and earnest supporters, a man who is one of the most intimate terms with the former senator from Ohio and who has been in close touch with him since he left the senate.

Whether large significance attaches to the remark, or whether it is the personal view of a single individual, can not be positively stated, but the remark occurred in the midst of a discussion of the presidential outlook during which the Burton supporter indicated that there was great friendliness towards the Idaho senator in the Ohio camp.

If Senator Burton finds himself unable to land the nomination and throws his support to Senator Borah, the Idaho senator will have a fair nucleus around which to build for Burton unquestionably will have the Ohio delegation back of him and he will have many delegates from other states, notably in the Ohio valley and scattered throughout the east.

Senator Borah will go into the Republican convention with support rather than that of his own and neighboring states," declared the friend of Senator Burton. "In Massachusetts, recently, I was assured by men who are well informed on political subjects, that Senator Borah will have some of the Massachusetts delegates, notwithstanding the Massachusetts will put forward Senator Weeks as her favorite, and I found that Senator Borah is popular and well regarded in New England and it would not surprise me if, on the first ballot, Senator Borah got a number of New England votes other than those he will get from Massachusetts.

In view of the fact that Senator Borah has declared he is not seeking the nomination and remembering the further fact that he is making no campaign it is significant that he should be so favorably regarded in the Borah camp and that New England should be conferring a sincere interest in him. It would be an unprecedented thing for a national convention to go to the far west for a candidate but when the next convention assembles Senator Borah will be recognized as the oldest member of the United States senate, Senator Borah having retired from that body, and that distinction together with the support he will unquestionably have, will most certainly make him a big factor in that assemblage.

RAISE IN PRIVATE CAR VALUES

Pullman Company Will Pay Taxes on More Than Twice Former Sum.

The valuation on which the Pullman Car company pays taxes in Idaho was increased from one hundred and fourteen thousand to two hundred and fifty thousand dollars by the state board of equalization at its meeting Friday. Valuations of all other private car companies except the Pacific Fruit Express company were doubled. That of the Pacific Fruit Express company was increased from less than three hundred thousand to four hundred thousand dollars.

In 1914 all the private car companies in the state paid taxes on only $462,792.88. Reports made to the board of equalization by its special agent were to the effect that their valuations should be materially increased. Most of the companies had failed to submit an annual report, so the report of the special agent was accepted without discussion.

The board spent a considerable portion of the day wrestling with the problem of valuing the lines of the Boise Railroad company, and the Idaho Traction company. In the end it was decided to leave the valuations as they were a year ago, and assessed the property at nine thousand dollars per mile.

The valuation of the Washington Water power company was increased from two million seven hundred and eighty-two thousand dollars to an even three million, and exactly the same valuation as the latter figure was placed on the property of the Utah Light and Power company, which had previously been assessed at two million seven hundred thousand.

The board has practically finished its work, and after a short session Monday to clean up the details, will probably adjourn sine die—Statesman.

the standpoint of theory and practice, I have been favored with opportunities to know the needs of the state and to qualify myself for efficient service. As with all good men are ever fortunate enough to enjoy. As to my character and reputation I hope I need say but little. I have spent nearly twenty years in more or less active public life, I have filled many positions of trust and responsibility, and if either my honesty or integrity has ever been questioned, it has never been brought to my attention. Even my political opponents so far as I know, have never questioned my honesty or my loyalty to principle and conviction.

CHECK TO COVER SHORTAGE

Bonding Company Will Make Good Shortage in State's Official Accounts.

The claim of the state of Idaho against the bondsmen of E. F. Van Valkenburg, former state insurance commissioner, to recover from them the amount of shortage found in the insurance department after an investigation was made by an expert auditor, for the responsibility of which Van Valkenburg was tried and acquitted in the Third judicial district court for Ada county, has been allowed and check covering the full amount, $59,55, is now on its way to Boise and will be deposited to the credit of the state in its treasury.

Information to this effect had been received by the governor through Wesley King, of Salt Lake, general manager of the Aetna Insurance company, surety on Van Valkenburg's bond. Mr. King was in Salt Lake a few days ago. He took occasion at that time to call on the governor and state to him that the state's claim was laid before the state insurance commission for the recovery of shortage in the insurance department while Van Valkenburg was commissioner had been allowed and check covering the full amount should be in the hands of the state within a few days, as it was now on route.

The Van Valkenburg case attracted unusual interest due to the fact that charges of responsibility for the shortage in violation of the laws of the state were made against him. There were several published intimations that he would not fight the charge. He was given a preliminary hearing and bound at the district court, where he was tried and found not guilty. In the meantime the state proceeded to have the books of the department examined and the itemized statement of the shortage was sent to the bondsmen for Van Valkenburg, asking for a settlement. The assurance given by Mr. King on the first trial that the shortage would be made good, whether or not the bondsmen will proceed against Van Valkenburg to recover Mr. King did not say.

It is understood that the itemized statement submitted by the state was referred to Van Valkenburg prior to the time of deciding on the settlement—Capital News.

NATIONAL GUARD FOR BUIH

Sergeant Bennett, U. S. A., Visits West End City.

Buhl now has an opportunity of organizing a National Guard company. Sergeant E. Bennett, U. S. A., visited the city yesterday and stated that there were several other cities in Idaho that desired a company and that the effect of the organized units of those interested will be considered by Adjutant General Crow in selecting a city for the new company.

It is understood that the equipment required to land the company in Buhl. Those interested in the organization must secure the moral support of every bur and volunteer which will include the national government.

The Federal Pay Bill, a bill to pay members of the Guard, will very likely pass during the coming session of Congress, and when this is brought about every man will receive a certain amount of money for each drill or formation he attends, according to his rank. Buhl has a number of ex-regiment and ex-volunteers which will make a nucleus upon which to build the organization if it is placed here.

Buhl can readily support one of the best companies in the state and if the work is carried out as in Twin Falls, the city will get ever lasting advertisement through the medium of the company. For further information those interested in the movement should apply to C. V. Biggs, 1401 S. E. or E. A. Landon—Buhl Herald.

seeds, this part of the work being done by the seed company to insure pure seeds. Altogether on this tract about 3500 acres of seed beans had been planted this year of which the D. M. Ferry company hold contracts upon 1100. One rancher upon the Salmon tract with only the amount of water available for irrigation obtained about eleven bushel yield.

CAPTAIN DAVIS ENTERS RING

I was trained and educated in the greatest school for moral discipline in the world, I was tutored under such men as Governor and Senator and the Panama Canal and I formed my ideas of public duty in a branch of the service where even an official statement which varies from the truth is an offense.

My training and, I believe, my natural talents should make me especially qualified for the administrative work which pertains to the Governor's office. If I am elected I hope to introduce a system of honesty, efficiency and dispatch into the transaction of the public business, to insure the honest performance of duty on the part of every subordinate official; and I shall hope, further, to be able to lead in the work of unmasking sham and unbecome and hollow honors and lack of candor in public affairs, and in the work of driving from the public life of Idaho every individual whose ideas of proper public service are not above reproach.

I expect, if I finally become a candidate, to make an active and aggressive but within the clearest campaign ever made in the state. I shall do nothing to gain office which could possibly bring a thought of shame or regret to anyone who may support me. If elected I shall enter office untrammelled and unpledged, and shall endeavor to perform my duties in such manner as to merit the approval of every honest man and woman in the state.

Upon this basis I solicit the support of yourself and friends, and I should appreciate, you are so inclined, an expression of your views.

Yours very sincerely,
