STATE SECURES VALUABLE LAND

Government Will Turn Over Right to Idaho

SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND ACRES OF ASSETS TO THIS STATE

Result of Work of Idaho's Congressional Representatives, With Secretary Lane.

The government departments at Washington and the state of Idaho, through State Senator Committee George A. Day, arrived at a definite conclusion as to the manner in which the land controversy of this state will be untangled. This conclusion will be returned to and placed under the absolute control of Idaho, 600,000 acres of valuable land, worth millions of dollars. The announcement of this important agreement was made last night by Commissioner Day on his return from a month spent with department heads at Washington.

In order to reach the settlement these department heads have agreed to the introduction during the next session of congress of important bills which will make the transfer possible. These bills will be laid before congress with their approval and the approval of the states. It is believed they will be passed without difficulty. It will then be up to this state and others which the legislation effects to make the transfer possible. The importance of this understanding between the government and the state is difficult to estimate. Commissioner Day, "It means that land matters are going to be straightened out and Idaho is to be given what rightfully belongs to it and will in the future control her lands. This is equally true of other states."—Capital News.

Principal Taylor of the new business college being a chess enthusiast and a lover of the game, played on the 64 squares, generously offered the use of the college rooms for this quiet and intellectual pastime. Accordingly a regular number of the lovers of the games of chess and checkers met Tuesday night at the rooms, and after indulging in many games of both kinds, which proved of great interest, decided to organize the Twin Falls Checkers and Chess club. The following officers were elected: Principally C. Taylor, president; Mr. G. C. Taber, vice president, and Rev. J. K. MacGillivray, secretary-treasurer. A committee consisting of Messrs. Kirk Boot, J. E. Hunt and R. J. Lyman, was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws and report next Tuesday evening at the club meeting. The rooms will be open for players of chess and checkers on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. All congenial players are invited to bring their board and men to make sure of a chance to play. A tournament will be held at an early date.

HOME COOKING COUNTS

Thompson Cafeteria Offers Treat to Teachers of City.

Food of home cooking has a pleasant taste that is absent from other classes of hotel, restaurant and cafe prepared viands. It has an excellence above that of the modern scientific cooking, in that it is easy and of easy digestion. For that reason home cooking is a class by itself. The teachers, who are building character in their pupils, are dependent upon for the most part the cafes and restaurants for the three meals a day that are necessary. Such a habit is not the best possible of the above class of dining places and all the while, long for mother's cooking. If they will investigate, however, they will find that the Thompson Cafeteria is combined the delicious flavored home cooking with the most economical service. The foods prepared there would be used to cook them at the disposal of the teachers at prices that will make a big saving in that monthly salary. Adv.

FAIR BOOSTERS HOLD MEETING

Will Push Plans for Big Gathering of Exhibits

WILL NOT STAND IN WAY OF FILER'S FAIR PLANS.

Will Not Ask Money of Commissioners or Put Strain in the Way of Filer Boosters.

The committee on the Southern Idaho Fair have been engaged for the past week looking up sites for grounds and on Thursday morning reported to a number of the business men the results of their canvass. Hearty encouragement was given the committee for the work. Reports on sites developed the fact that the Johnstone property across Rock Creek could be had on reasonable terms and those present thought that an option should be secured at once. Inasmuch as the Filer boosters have proposed to go far in their plans for a county fair, the business men present decided that out of friendship for the good boosters of Filer that all attempts to establish a county fair here would be given up and the Filer people told to go ahead with their plans and the demand for county aid. No money will be asked from the county for the Southern Idaho Fair association, nor is it intended to conflict with the County fair in any way.

Talks With The Business Man

By NELS DARLING

Who pays for advertising? Does advertising increase or decrease the cost of goods to the consumer? Effective advertising may reduce the consumer's cost and frequently does. Take that much advertised $3.00 shoe. We are all familiar with the likeness of the manufacturer, because advertising has made the man known the country over. The enormous out-pit, the large number of shoes sold, enables him to sell each pair on a very small margin. Advertising built up, and kept up, the demand. Without newspaper and magazine advertising the cost of introducing this shoe would have been far in proportion to the number of shoes sold. Advertising put the shoe on the market and will keep it there. Take the famous cracker, or as it is called today, it is a time when the grocer scooped all crackers out of a barrel or box, weighed them and passed them in a paper sack. Today you purchase a clean, crisp, wholesome soda cracker at less cost, and it comes in a neat, tight, sealed package. The manufacturers, by a bit of advertising would do and made the price accordingly. There was an immediate and national demand. Advertising created and is sustaining this demand. Advertisers wisely and cost effectively. Increase your sales without materially increasing your expenses. Reduce the price on your article, your cost. Advertise and make your increased business pay for it.

GERMANY GRANTS AMERICAN DEMANDS

Arabic Sinking Disavowed by Kaiser Embassy

WILL SETTLE IN FULL FOR LIVES OF AMERICAN CITIZENS

Note to England Will Next Occasion Attention of President Wilson and Cabinet.

Washington, Germany has completely acceded to the American demands for settlement of the Arabic case. The imperial government, in a letter presented Tuesday by its ambassador, Count von Bernsdorff, to Secretary Lansing, disavows the sinking of the vessel, announced that it has so notified the submarine commander who made the attack, expresses regrets for the loss of American lives, and agrees to pay all indemnity to their families. Official Washington was both gratified and relieved by the diplomatic victory. The communication delivered by the ambassador, pursuant to general instructions from his government, generally regarded Tuesday night as a turning point in the submarine controversy between the United States and Germany; for the document recognized that stringent orders have been given to submarine commanders to prevent a recurrence of such incidents as the Arabic.

WILL SETTLE ALL

Since this case embraces the principles for which President Wilson stands in his aid, the following: the torpedoing of the Lusitania and the Falaba, the concessions made by Germany to the American viewpoint were generally regarded Tuesday night as paving the way for amicable settlement of all cases which have threatened severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries. Count von Bernsdorff left here Tuesday night, happy over the results of his work, expressing the confident hope that relations between Germany and the United States would continue to improve.

NOTE TO ENGLAND

With the settlement of the Arabic controversy, the dispatch to Great Britain of the long delayed American note on interference with trade is expected within a few days. President Wilson has consistently refused to send this communication with the hope that relations between Germany and the United States would continue to improve. The note, which is known, feels free to press Great Britain for a modification of the orders.

BIDS ARE OPENED

Contract Let by Canal Company for Work on Canal and Flume.

At the regular meeting of the Twin Falls Canal company held in this city last week, the bids for the enlarging of the canal were opened. The bids by the different contractors, were based upon sections about one mile each, and none of the bids covered the whole work. The total cost of the work would have run $2,110,000, which was more than the directors cared to spend. So all of the bids were rejected and the contractors were requested to submit a new bid. The new bids submitted brought the cost down to about $88,000 and was cut up in three sections. The following firms were awarded contracts: Idaho Construction Company, of Boise; Smith and Green, of Boise; Morrison-Knudsen company, of Boise. The firm of Morrison-Knudsen company acts as the contractor for the concrete work at the Cottonwood flume, the two other successful bidders got the contract for enlarging the high line canal from Cedar drive west for eighteen miles.

The cake with weight upon it resembled a hummock; but upon removing the furniture the cake resumed its normal proportions. The exhibition was held at the Twin Falls Hardware company's store under the direction of One Star of the Majestic range company. Hundreds of ladies interested in learning the merits of the Majestic were present to see the novel cake test.

The poor boob editor of the Twin Falls Weekly Centinel essayed some more of his eloquent wit this week. The emanations of his puny brain are pitiful.

Pestiferous Tommy of the Centinel has been doing the monkey act for some time, pulling chestnuts for a bunch of men who have no time for him or his paper and who laugh at him behind his back. Some of the bunch are too cowardly to come out into the open with anything over their own name. But they should worry at long as they can get Tommy to do the dirty work for them. Perhaps a glimmer of intelligence may find its way through the ossification which should contain Tommy's brain and he will wake to discover that his childlike innocence has been imposed upon.

MAKE CERTAIN OF OWNING SYSTEM

Within the coming six months, which must close before the city can secure the waterworks system, a great deal must be accomplished. In the first place a bond issue large enough to pay the eighty thousand dollars purchase price must be voted. It must also in that time choose some method of furnishing a pure and adequate supply of water for the permanent system. There is danger that in the process of picking the right kind of water supply that radical differences of opinion will cause the failure of the bonds for a new system. On the other hand there is almost a certainty of the eighty thousand dollar purchase bonds carrying by a big majority.

The Times believes that the two issues while put up to the people in the same election should be made two distinct propositions. In this way the getting of the old company out of the way will be accomplished and the city left in a position to work out its own problem of the water supply. The total amount for the purchase and for the building of a new system if included in one question for the voters may lose the whole.

Let's make certain that we get the old company out of the way first. Let's get that scrap off our hands and then if we want to quarrel among ourselves it will not be very costly until the real solution is attained.

OUR VALUABLE DOLLARS

Only two countries in the world stand at the outbreak of the war, we are told, in the enviable position of creditor nations—England and France. The United States, in spite of her vast resources and immense trade, was a debtor nation, permanently owing money abroad. This state of affairs is swiftly altering and we are rapidly paying off our indebtedness and becoming a creditor nation. One of the most significant features of this process in wealth has been the unprecedented drop in the rate of sterling exchange, an occurrence so alarming to the French and British governments that they have sent a commission of their most distinguished financiers to see what can be done to reestablish the normal rate, and to thwart if possible the prophecy of British association that "the United States will have the cream after the war and Great Britain will have to be content with milk." "The whole subject," says the Manchester Guardian, "is commonly regarded by the ordinary taxpayer as so mysterious and technical that he is content to leave it to the 'experts,' but the matter has now reached a stage where the public purse and the public credit are being threatened. The ordinary taxpayer ought to try and understand it."

The London Daily Mail, however, refuses to recognize the mystery and says: "It is quite simple, that exchange question. In normal times the merchants of Great Britain have to make large payments to the merchants of the United States for imports of raw cotton, wheat, and other commodities, but simultaneously the merchants of the United States have to make large payments to the merchants of Great Britain for goods they import, for interest on money the British people have invested in American railroads, for services rendered by British shipping, and so on.

"There is thus an exchange; payments are made by bills of exchange; the British merchant can for each acre of foreign he pays here obtain, say $4.80 in New York to make payment there, the American merchant with his payments to make here, is anxious enough to pay, say 4.86 there for a sovereign here. That is average rate of exchange in normal times. . . .

"In the stress of war our exports to the United States have fallen off and our imports have increased enormously. We have sold her very little and we have bought enormously of her foodstuffs, cotton, and munitions. Since January we have been piling up our debt to her. In the rush to make remittances, our one pound sterling here does not buy five dollars and more in New York, which we have just shown was the rate of exchange at the end of last year. It does not even buy $4.86 which was the average rate of exchange before the war. It does not even buy $4.83 at which price it usually pays us to ship gold rather than buy bills of exchange.

It is admitted on all sides that the question can be solved if the financiers of England and France were to send to New York sufficient gold to pay off their present indebtedness to us, and in that case the pound sterling would again be worth $4.86 instead of $4.50, to which point it dropped recently. There are obvious difficulties in pursuing such a course, but the Manchester Guardian thinks it is the proper policy: "There is only one thing to do—to send gold. Our bankers dislike sending gold because, in the teeth of advice and exhortation, they have kept inadequate gold reserves and they do not like to see them reduced. But against this may be set several considerations: (1) The Allies have vast stocks of gold, and by economizing the use of gold in domestic consumption large quantities can be made available for sending abroad; (2) with the good will of the English business world our banks can run along quite nately during the war, so far as home credit is concerned, on a smaller gold reserve for domestic needs; (3) so long as we decline to send gold abroad freely we are to that extent suspending the free market in gold here, which is the key to our position as the money market of the world."—Literary Digest.

Dear Editor:

In my article, "Militarism in the Public Schools," which appeared in your paper some weeks ago, reference was made to the boy scout movement as having a "militaristic appearance but that the voice of 'the dragon is back of it.'"

Rev. J. Shepherd, scoutmaster of this city, maintains that I had no ground for such assertion. He assures me that if I will show him anything of a military nature in connection with this movement he will quit the movement and work against it. I have promised Dr. Shepherd that I will make a more thorough investigation of the boy scout movement and give publicity to my findings; and if I fail to find the germs of militarism or anything else unwelcome in it I will not only acknowledge having made a blunder but will apologize for committing a public wrong and try to right that wrong by giving my influence, henceforth to its support.

This investigation will be made from the viewpoint from which I consider the most important question involved which enables me to see the world divided into two kingdoms—the kingdom

There can never be any compromise between them for in so far as the one is the other is death. A COMMUNICATION

Parish Improvement for Episcopal Church of This City.

Mr. Editor:— I have been requested to attempt to give you, and through you the Twin Falls Public, some adequate and authentic idea of the enterprise just now being undertaken by Ascension Parish in this city, and which is believed will prove of great convenience and practical benefit, both to the church and to the community at large.

Reference is had to the proposed erection, so soon as possible, of what has been called a Parish house, fronting on Second St. North, at corner of Fifth avenue north and first block in rear of the Church and Rectory buildings. Minor changes will no doubt ensue, but the following is a general description of the proposed building, derived from the sketch plan of Architect B. E. Morse, who will soon provide an elevation and other details suitable for display. The building is to be of brick or wood, as may be determined later, forty feet front by ninety feet deep. The front entrance will be in a vestibule, flanked on either side by an ample cloak or dressing room, with toilet facilities. From the vestibule, as also from either cloak room, doors give upon the hall or auditorium—the great feature of this structure. The floor of this room will be forty by sixty feet, of general description and will furnish room for seating to comfortably accommodate three hundred and fifty to four hundred persons. The stage at the rear, properly elevated, will have a proscenium of twenty-four feet in width, with a depth of 16 feet, a dressing room on each side, with passage-way in rear of stage. Above the stage are two rooms in front, on a kind of mezzanine floor, will be two large class or club rooms. A suitable kitchen and pantry, in easy communication with both the hall and the basement, will also be provided; and the basement, which will be under the raised stage, will have plenty of light and air, and will also furnish room for a heating plant to supply all the Parish buildings if desired.

The need of the Parish for such an advance as the need of the woman—or a cutting tool, if the tree is to fall before him. It would not only give happy sanctuary to Sabbath school children, but it would give too many to enumerate here, would interest and attach our boys and girls, both older and younger; it would give to the ladies opportunity to enlarge their borders and help their finances through numerous avenues now absolutely closed; and would afford a better center and calling point for the social life of the Parish, without which there is little life of any kind.

It is also as true as axioms that the utility and convenience to the community at large would be equally served. There is at present absolutely no place in this city conveniently available for a minimum expense, for amateur plays, concerts, banquets, parties, or large for private residences, societies or club meetings, and many other local affairs. Although in this statement it might be added that no less than four strong and important local organizations have expressed the desire to use this building so Berlin's Latest Note.

It was not until the German ambassador submitted his letter at nearly 1 o'clock Tuesday that the change in the relations between Germany and the United States, became definite. Until that hour the suggestions which Count von Bernstorff had made were considered unsatisfactory. In New York last Saturday the ambassador had submitted a draft of a letter on the Arabic case, but since it did not include admission of liability and agreement to pay indemnity, its terms were not acceptable to either President Wilson or Secretary Lansing.

BIRDS-EYE-VIEW OF FAIR

Club Members View It From Afar. Pleasing Program Given.

With a good attendance the first regular meeting of the Twentieth Century club for the year was held at Odd Fellows hall, Tuesday afternoon, when the Panama Pacific exposition was reviewed, Mrs. H. W. Clouchock opening the discussion with an especially well-written paper on the "Panama-Pacific" from the days when the idea of a canal was but a dream until its completion recently.

Thus prepared for the wonderful exposition which celebrated its completion, the club then listened to a number of ladies who told of the fair as they saw it. Mrs. W. W. Kunkle, who had improvised a map of the city of San Francisco and the location of the exposition grounds, gave such a splendid description that even those who have never entered the Golden Gate felt at home before the grounds were reached.

Once inside, Mrs. J. H. Bradley acted as guide through the Canadian and French exhibits, which she endeavored to make the ladies see as she saw them and succeeded admirably.

Mrs. Norton confined herself to no special feature but referred to the musical treats as well as the exhibits. She told of the admiration which Mrs. Crozier's article work is exciting.

The San Diego fair was referred to in a very short talk by Mrs. Pike, who evidently saw it all and was able to speak on it intelligently, accompanying herself on the ukulele. Miss Iona Martin sang two very catchy Hawaiian songs, well suited to her sweet voice.

Before closing the meeting, the president again spoke of her great desire that something worth while in the interest of the community may be accomplished this year. To that end she appointed a committee to investigate the matter and report next week.

All are most enthusiastic and were pleased to learn that twelve have sent applications for membership during the week.

A treat is in store next Tuesday when Mrs. Crozier will have charge and, assisted by Mrs. Boyd Fuller will review "Every Woman's War." Mrs. Hart will give the first letter from South America.

Washington Satisfied. Tuesday's satisfaction every where, not only at the White House and state department but the German embassy as well. The recent critical state of the negotiations which threatened rupture of diplomatic relations had raised to the keener point the tension at the embassy. It is a diplomatic victory for the United States, the ambassador remarked to a friend, "but credit must be given to Germany, I believe, for nobly accepting the word of British General Balfour that they did not intend to ram the submarine." PRINCE ALBERT is such good tobacco you feel like you could just eat the smoke!

Yes, sir, P. A. puts a razor edge on your smoke-appetite-division that's nobby enough to be photographed!

The toppy red bag, 5c

No other pipe and cigarette tobacco can be like Prince Albert, because no other tobacco can be made like Prince Albert. The patented process fixes that—and removes the tongue-bite and throat parch! Let that digest!

And that line of conversation is 24 kt., whether you play P. A. in your old jimmy pipe or roll it into a makin's cigarette.

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy 'us to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke you or any other man ever did roll and put the fire to! Men, we tell you to-wise up.

P. A. is crimp cut and stays put—which means rolling P. A. is as easy as falling off a log. And it's good to remember P. A. is put up in the toppy red bag especially for you "rollers." Sells for the price of a jitney ride, 5c.

Now, will the "pipers" kindly open both ears? Here's tobacco that has made it possible for three men to smoke pipes where one smoked before!

DODGE CROSSES DEATH VALLEY

Detroit Car Completes Perilous Trip Without Mishap.

A recent issue of Motor West, the Pacific coast motor car publication, contains a story of conquering the western deserts, particularly Death Valley, with an automobile.

The trip, which embraced 1,000 miles, was not planned as a car test, but the party, headed by O. K. Parker, an engineer, was proceeding for molybdenite, a rare ore used in steel refining.

The car used was a stock Dodge Brothers touring car and was nicknamed "Death Valley Dodge."

Motor West says: "Not only did the 'Death Valley Dodge' party dare death in most awful forms but they covered a region generally considered outside the pale of the motor car."

"The topography consists of mountain ranges with desert valleys, or sinks, between the mountains, these sinks being separated by uplifted volcanic ridges. The region is the most desolate and barren in America, and there are no roads but the trails of the occasional prospector."

"The article here describes the trip across the Mojave desert and the approach to Death Valley by way of Wildrose canyon.

Continuing it says: "Wildrose canyon grades, are so steep that they seem almost impossible for an automobile. In fact, it is right there that many of the cars which have essayed the trip have come to grief, and perhaps this is as well for if they cannot negotiate Wildrose canyon they could not live through the greater strain to come in the fight with the sand dunes of Death Valley."

"The Parker party found even worse conditions than those that led to the death of Pete Bush, who fell a victim to the desert last year when his water gave out miles from a supply. The winter storms had piled up the boulders and gravel in Emigrant canyon until the way seemed impossible for a burro. However, they fought their way through, only to find that when Death Valley was reached that the whole flat had been swept with fierce winds until the sand dunes were a veritable sea of sand waves.

"It was a 24-hour struggle, where their only aid was the stanchness of the car. Suffice it to say that they won, with never a break nor even a falter in the flight across Death Valley and up the mountain slopes of the Funeral range to Daylight Springs, and an altitude of 4,307 feet.

"The return trip was without incident. There were no mishaps and no motor troubles, and the closing run of 407 miles was made in two days."

"The article relates that the party was successful in finding traces of the precious molybdenite ore sought and that another expedition will be fitted out to more thoroughly prospect for the mineral."

HARVEST DRY FARM CROP

American Falls Will Ship Million and a Half Bushels of Wheat.

J. M. Hardley, lecturer for the agricultural extension department of the University of Idaho, and who has traveled the state over within the past few months, published an article recently on the dry farm products of the Snake river valley from Ashton on the north and east to Wetslar on the south and west, in which he told of the great production of the state this year, and that the man who came to Idaho as many as seven years ago and "stuck" on either a dry farm or an irrigated farm, is the man who is making good and will make good.

The wonderful demand and the great development of the dry farm sections during the past six or seven years and the hundreds of thousands of acres which have been brought under cultivation is responsible for the lack of demand for land in the irrigated sections.

The land in the irrigated sections is just as good and even better than it was seven years ago, but farmers and ranchers, beginning to realize the wonderful possibilities and the opportunities of the dry farm lands took up that kind of farming and as a result the demand for irrigated lands at high prices fell off.

The irrigated lands have "come back" however, and now as the best sections of dry farm lands anywhere near close in have been taken up the interest in irrigated lands is again in evidence.

American Falls, which has earned the distinction of being the second place in the world in point of importance for the shipping of wheat, will ship one and one-half million bushels this season.

The dry farm crop the full length of the valley of the Snake river through Idaho and for miles on either side of the bench lands is producing a crop of grain which in itself alone will make Idaho wealthy. — Idaho Falls Register.

Connecting the Towns

A town without adequate local telephone service is handicapped in the promotion of local commercial and social activities.

Likewise, without Long Distance connections, it suffers a severe handicap in its commercial and social relations with other communities.

Every business community is entitled to this modern and popular means of transmitting intelligence.

In the very nature of our business, and under our charter obligations, it is the duty of this company to afford facilities for Long Distance communication, so far as our ability may permit.

We must do this, notwithstanding that the towns are often separated by rugged mountain ranges, and the cost of construction and maintenance is enormous.

And every town connected helps to round out our system, thus adding to the value of the service.

OPPOSE ISSUE OF PATENT

Protest Entered by Entrymen on North Side Project.

Vigorous protests have been made by the North Side settlers' union on behalf of its members, to the secretary of the interior, against the issuance of patent to lands under the Twin Falls North Side Carey act project. Copies of the protest as sent to the secretary of the interior have been forwarded to Governor Alexander and to other members of the state land board. The settlers believe that patent should not be issued as they say the project is not yet completed and the canal system is inadequate.

Notification had been received several days ago that patent had been issued by the government to the state to 153,000 acres of land under the project. The first notice to this effect was received by Judge Walters, counsel for the North Side Twin Falls Irrigation company. Manager Shephard for the bondholders on the project, brought this information to Boise, Commissioner George A. Day, of the land department, on his return to Boise from Washington, corroborating the report.

Has Deposited Guarantee.
The settlers, through their organization, are opposed to the issuance of this patent on the grounds stated above. However, issuance of the patent by the government to the state does not mean that the irrigation project will not be completed. On the contrary, the company which has the project in hand now has on deposit with the land board $450,000 worth of securities as a guarantee that the project will be completed and there will be delivered as much water as is called for under the contracts. These deposits were made this summer in order that patent for it might be believed that when this is done the financial strain on the company as well as the settlers will be relieved in part. In fact, it has been persistently claimed that it would mean new life for the project. Assurances of sufficient water supply were given the government when the arrangements were made for extra storage in the Jackson Lake reservoir.

Protest Wined.
The protest wined to the secretary of the interior by the settlers' association is as follows:
"Hon. Franklin K. Lane,
"Washington, D. C.
"The North Side Settlers' union protests to the issuance of patents to the state of Idaho for the lands of the Twin Falls North Side Carey act project on the grounds of insufficiency of water right and inadequacy of the canal system and earnestly request withholding these patents until we can furnish proofs. We maintain these lands are not reclaimed. The losses in the canal are so great that water cannot be delivered in adequate quantities.
"THE NORTH SIDE SETTLERS' UNION.
"W. P. RICE, President.
"A. B. STEVENS, Secretary."
