SUGAR BEET YIELD LARGE

Large Number of Twin Falls Ranchers Get Twenty Tons.

HIG YIELDS OF THIS YEAR INCREASE NORMAL PROFITS

Commercial Club Compiles Record of Ranchers Who Have Secured Average of Twenty Tons.

The sugar beet raising on the Twin Falls tract has been exceedingly profitable this year as is evidenced by a large number of ranchers. The statements made by the sugar companies in getting contracts are to the effect that at fifteen tons to the acre a good margin of profit accrues to the rancher after all of the expenses of cultivating, topping, and marketing. According to the following data furnished the Times by Secretary McMillan, of the Commercial club, a large number of Twin Falls ranchers are heading the average yield by securing five tons and making a good substantial addition to the normal profits. Below is given a partial list of the ranchers who have averaged twenty tons or more this year.

Table listing ranchers and their yields: J. S. Austin, Twin Falls 18; J. W. Delight, Twin Falls 12; C. D. Hunt, Twin Falls 12; H. Hamilton, Twin Falls 10; J. P. Herron, Twin Falls 14; W. E. TO RECALL BOISE MAYOR

Claim Made That he and Chief of Police Have Preference.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 25.—That an attempt will be made to recall Mayor J. W. Robinson of this city because of an incident which became evident tonight with the announcement that at a meeting held by a number of business men a recall petition was prepared and has been placed in circulation. The ground for recall is that preference has been shown by the mayor and private detectives which is held to recall question the result is set out that in many cases people of no influence were caught in the dragnet and were prosecuted, while in others those prominent in the city were caught were allowed to escape without prosecution.

Mayor Robinson denies the charge. His friends allege that the attacks made on him are because of his determination to enforce the law. Since the detectives started their raids the city has been in a state of great excitement.—Statesman.

Ninety per cent of the funds received is returned to this state to be used here.

GRAB TRAIN THIEVES

Valuable Goods Taken From Mindoka Yards Located in Pocatello.

A consignment of stolen goods taken a week ago from freight cars which were standing in the Mindoka yards was located Tuesday morning by Special Agent Joe Jones and staff of the Short Line, says the Pocatello Tribune. The value of the articles was approximately $1500. Three freight cars destined for the Mindoka branch and one for Portland were broken into by some thieves who selected valuable goods consisting of high priced silks, women's wear and shoes. The silks and women's wear were boxed and sent by express to Pocatello and were addressed to Wm. Kennedy on South Portland street. The Short Line agents followed the shipment which came in on No. 36, allowed the consignment to sign for the box and entered to the address on Fourth street. Judge Knowles then issued a search warrant and Special Agent Jones was accompanied by Patrolman Bob Lewis and went to the house and confiscated the stolen property. Kennedy and another individual who may be implicated were placed under arrest. The officers state that Kennedy has practically admitted his part in the affair.

Some of the goods were packed near Mindoka and were discovered. These consisted of three dozen of shoes, some blouses, coats and mackinaws.

A SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Odd Fellows' Rally Monday Evening a Successful Event.

On Monday evening the high school auditorium was well filled, in spite of the inclement weather to hear Rev. J. E. Lewis, pastor of the city, and the grand lodge of Odd Fellows for the state of Utah deliver a lecture. Rev. Mr. Simpkins is one of the most eloquent men in the northwest and he took for his subject "Fraternity," and in a pleasing and convincing manner spoke of the great work which is being done in the United States by fraternal orders. The meeting at the high school auditorium was presided over by Rev. B. C. Miller. After the meeting the Odd Fellows of the city and visiting brethren marched to the Masonic temple, where a splendid banquet was served by the members of the Rebekah order. After the banquet had been finished, Rev. B. C. Miller, who acted as toastmaster, introduced Rev. Simpkins who responded in a delightful manner. Rev. J. E. Lewis, who was introduced and spoke in a very convincing manner on the aims of Odd Fellowship.

At the warehouse, a visiting brother from Hollister, and George Schweigler, State of Idaho, were interesting, a member of the Grand Lodge of speakers, also.

SALMON PROJECT ARGUED

Bondholders' Representative Meets With Settlers to Discuss Compromise.

First Conference Results in a Disagreement Over Cutting Down of Acreage. Further Conference Suggested at Later Date.

The bondholders and the settlers on the Salmon tract are a long way apart in the matter of reaching an amicable adjustment of the difficulties of that project. This was very evident at yesterday's conference between G. L. Edwards and Judge Edwards, of St. Louis, representing the bondholders, and a committee of settlers. Both parties to the Salmon tract troubles, it was understood, were prepared to accept heavy losses and to go a long way towards meeting the other on some mutually satisfactory basis that would afford grounds for adjustment without further litigation. The settlers, however, thought the bondholders were prepared to come much further than they evidently were in fact, matters of the settlers' committee expressed themselves as failing to see that the bondholders were prepared to make any substantial sacrifices.

Monday's meeting was the third conference that has been held between the interested parties during the past few days. At these meetings every effort has been made by both sides to understand the position of the other, and these conferences, whether fruitful of a settlement or not, bring the bondholders in closer touch with the settlers, and enable the settlers to better understand the problems which confront the bondholders in working out any solution of the existing situation.

At the last conference Mr. Edwards suggested for consideration of the bondholders the proposition that the price of the water contracts would be advanced from $40 to $55 per acre, and the tract reduced from 75,000 to 50,000 acres by the payment of $150,000 to the settlers for the purpose of such a reduction. Sustaining what he believed to be the fairness of his proposition, Mr. Edwards stated that the bondholders had purchased the Kuhn company bonds as an investment and not as a speculation; that they were not understanding that the State and the Carey act fully guaranteed the safety of their investment by careful supervision of the water rights, and that the bondholders had already lost around a half million dollars in defaulted interest; and that in view of these matters, the proposition was a very equitable one and should look to the value of the investment to determine the proportionate share of the loss that each party should stand. Mr. Edwards said that he had been informed that a good water right was worth going in excess of $1000 per acre, and that if the bondholders by the expenditure of their money in reducing the tract and making the water rights good, raised the value of the water rights, they should share in the advance in value to offset a portion of their losses. Mr. Edwards said that his information was that the bondholders would not undertake to purchase a delivery of 2.4 acre feet of water, as had been awarded the Salmon settlers by Judge Dietrich in a recent decision, and that the bondholders certainly would not undertake to supply that amount of water per acre. To do so, he said would be suicide on their part; and that their only reasonable proposition was to continue the litigation until one or the other party were worn out or entirely defeated.

Analyzed from the settlers' standpoint the proposition was a very remarkable contract to what is required by their contracts, as recently interpreted by Judge Dietrich, wherein the court held that the contract called for a supply 2.4 acre foot of water in consideration of the payment of $40 per acre and enjoined the company from collecting any of the installments due on the purchase price of the water rights, until the court could be shown that that amount of water had been made available for the irrigation of the lands retained in the project. The proposition as suggested by Mr. Edwards would advance the price from $40 to $55 per acre and at the same time reduce the amount of water to be delivered per acre 50 per cent or from 2.4 acre feet to approximately 1.4 acre feet per acre. This amount is not quite twice the quantity delivered on the tract this year.

The proposal was embellished by several features that would appeal strongly to the settlers and which are really needed. Mr. Edwards suggested, for instance, that all installments due on the water rights be advanced so that the first might not become due until five years from the present time, and the remaining installments be spread over a longer period than contemplated by the present contract. Mr. Edwards said he thought the bondholders would be willing to concede all back interest, carrying the charge for interest, and in instances where the interest had already been paid, to apply the payment on principal payments in future. Mr. Edwards would also turn the canal company over to the settlers for entire control of management and operation. These embellishments, however, did not overcome the main objection to the proposal, and the settlers' committee was unanimous in its disapproval of the proposition; not only in so far as the individual members of the committee were concerned, but they were also fully to try to get anywhere with such an arrangement. The committee acknowledged freely that an early adjustment was very desirable and that the settlers could probably afford to go some way towards meeting the bondholders in order to have the matter adjusted without further litigation and delay, and they suggested that if the tract or the shares of the stock in the canal company were reduced so that each share would represent approximately 2.4 acre feet, the settlers might be willing to contribute to the cost of such a reduction. It was suggested that the settlers might be willing to stand back of the expense, provided their share should not exceed $10 per acre. This suggestion, however, was rejected emphatically by Mr. Edwards, who refused to proceed along the lines of the Dietrich decision.

A harmonious conclusion was consequently reached that Monday's session be the last session, and that the parties agree to discontinue; and attention was given to other matters of interest to both settlers and bondholders, which were worked out much more satisfactorily. The operation of the canal system was given consideration and it was suggested that the entire control could be given to the settlers until all question were ultimately disposed of, but he did not think that three years would be sufficient. The bondholders by the settlers, and that the three men should constitute an executive committee in which should rest the management of the canal project. Four directors retained by the company under this suggestion, would give the bondholders means of knowing all that was going on in the canal project, and if in their opinion an emergency arose wherein it was necessary for them to interfere to protect the interests of the settlers, they would give them the required power. It is understood that this arrangement is to take effect in the very near future.

Mr. Edwards is also willing that this committee shall have an audit made of all expenditures in the past, and that the bondholders would be inclined to adjust any charges that were deemed unfair. This will settle in a manner probably satisfactory to the most annoying factors in the Salmon situation, outside of the water shortage. The friction that has existed between the settlers and the management of the canal company under the direction of the Water company will thus be eliminated; and practices which were highly dangerous to the settlers, and which the settlers might view as senseless from any point of view, will thus be done away with. Mr. Edwards left Monday evening for Boise, where he had consulted with his attorneys relative to the details by which such an arrangement can be carried out. The settlers were represented there by a committee appointed by W. F. Mikese, vice-president of the Association, and consisted of F. Hertz, V. E. Morgan, W. F. Mikese, W. Beauchamp, of the Board of Directors; O. H. Robbins, of the Desert Entryman's association; and L. E. Finney and Harold S. Smith, of C. O. Holtz, secretary for the association.—Hollister Herald.

On December 7th, Peter Hof will sell at his place 1/2 mile north and east from the northeast end of Shoshone street, his fine bunch of Jersey cows which he raised from his herd while he was in the dairy business. He has only first class stock which will prove to be money makers.—Adv.

INTERPRETS SEARCH LAW

Attorney General Minimizes Powers of Legislative Act.

Because of numerous inquiries as to the duty of peace officers and prosecutors in enforcing the new liquor law to go into effect in this state the first of the year and commonly referred to as Senate bill 50, Attorney General Peterson last issued a statement bearing upon the search of private residences in which he declares that such search could be legally made unless there were advance evidence of violation of the law and that any search warrant attempted to be issued under these circumstances would be a legal nullity and would afford no protection to the officer acting thereunder.

The attorney general's statement is as follows: "Since the decision of the supreme court in the case of In re Crum, which held that the entire enactment of the last legislature, commonly known as Senate bill 50, and which had to do with the liquor question in the state, was unconstitutional, and that the authority of the court's decision, the duty of peace officers and prosecutors under said decision, and especially the question of search of private residences in the absence of any evidence that liquor is being sold or illegally disposed of in such residences.

"This inquiry has raised a very grave and serious question throughout the entire state, and it is for the purpose of giving such officers the benefit of what I conceive to be the law and avoiding future legal entanglements and serious personal expense, that I feel impelled to give my views in the matter this publicity. "Senate bill 50, above referred to, which the entire state is studying as liquor in the state of Idaho, is unconstitutional, and there is no question but what this possession extends to a private residence as well as a place of business. "The question naturally recurs, therefore, whether an officer in the possession of a search warrant issued by a magistrate to issue a search warrant to him for the purpose of searching a private residence to procure evidence of the illegal possession of liquor, in the absence of any showing of the illegal sale of such liquor in or from such residence.

Search and Seizure Act.

"Senate bill 50 provides (Sec. 23) that the entire act of 1915, commonly known as Senate bill 50, is hereby specifically extended to and made applicable in the enforcement of this act. Chapter 1, of the laws of the state of Idaho, this state as the 'search and seizure act,' and was intended to make effective the liquor law of the state as enacted at that time. The act of 1915, which was being illegally disposed of therein, and had no reference to the question of the possession of liquor, was not being sold or illegally disposed of.

"It would seem, therefore, that in applying the act concerning the portion of the 1911 law, and making no direct provision for the issuance of search warrants for searching residences where liquor is being illegally disposed of, and by a specific reference to this chapter of the 1911 law it would seem that the intention of the legislature was to give effect to the searches authorized by said chapter.

If I spend my Dollars out of Twin Falls and you spend your Dollars out of Twin Falls, and all the People spend their Dollars out of Twin Falls, WHAT IN THE THUNDER WILL BECOME OF TWIN FALLS?

THINK ABOUT IT

Twin Falls Commercial Club

The negotiations which have been going on between the water users and the bondholders of the Salmon tract this week will be watched with great interest by the people of Twin Falls county. It is to be hoped that some way may be devised whereby the settlers can secure the water to which they are entitled and these who have not given full monetary compensation, by no other way can the bondholders expect to get out of the financial entanglement of the present.

That the settlers are willing to negotiate at all and meet the bondholders representative half way, when by sitting tight within their legal rights they could cause the bondholders serious loss, speaks volumes for the high type of citizenship which has made all of the development on the Salmon tract.

There is no question but what the acreage must be cut down to the point where it safeguards the actual settlers' interest. The Times believes that such cutting down should be made a part of the state Land Board records so that the disputed point may be settled and thus leave the way open for further negotiations. The state let the Salmon settlers into a bad fix by the bad faith of the land board, now it should do everything in its power to right the wrong.

SHOULD REVISE BUILDING ORDINANCE

Twin Falls is having considerable activity in building on both business and residence property. The amount of money thus spent for improvements amounts to thousands of dollars and adds materially to the city's growth and prosperity. Yet there is not a single place where the true story of such improvements can be obtained because the city has no ordinance requiring the taking out of building permits. It is true that the city has an ordinance requiring the services of a building inspector, but has not been enforced because of the expense. The Times does not believe a building inspector is necessary, but an ordinance requiring the filing with the city clerk of all needed information regarding every building and the issuance by the clerk of a permit would prove valuable. In this way the exact cost of every improvement can be learned and used for advertising the growth of the city.

THE NEW SUBMARINE WARFARE

Beating the foe with his own weapons is always a very satisfactory procedure and just now the papers in England are indulging in no little exaltation over the success of the British submarines in the Baltic. After the Germans had so long wanted British commerce by submarine attacks they must be particularly exasperated, say the London papers, to find their shipping with Sweden almost suspended by the activity of these underwater mosquitoes—a case they say, of the bitter bit. How active the British submarines are can be judged from a dispatch in the Copenhagen Berlingske Tidende, which tells us that the ferry boats on the great railroad ferry across the Baltic between Trølløng in Sweden and Sussnitz in Germany have to run under protection of a convoy of Swedish and German torpedo-boats. The same paper announces that in two Swedish ports, Skarvgaarden and Dagero, over seventy German vessels are waiting for a safe opportunity to return home. Another great paper, the Copenhagen Politiken, writes: "The tables are now turned on Germany in waters where the Germans have hitherto been unchallenged masters. This form of English warfare is doubtless exceedingly inconvenient to Germany, though it is considerably mitigated, as no neutral ships are molested, but Great Britain, nevertheless, hits harder because the effective isolation of Germany is resulting. The torpedo-war against England in reality was a mere pipracket warfare, as the English supplies were in no way crippled, while a similar loss of tonnage would seriously affect Germany."

The papers of the Allied Powers are delighted with what has been accomplished. For example the Petrograd Pravdetstvenny Vestnik observes: "While the Germans during the past ten months have been boasting of isolating England by submarine warfare, which has been carried on regardless of all considerations of law or of humanity, but which has not succeeded in producing any effect upon British shipping, England has borrowed a hint from their methodical efforts and has blockaded the German coasts in the Baltic. But the British boats act in strict accordance with international law and the usages of humanity."

"This invaluable service has already deprived Germany of tens of thousands of tons of badly needed war-materials, especially copper and iron ores. The results can not fail to be speedily manifest in crippling Germany's war-supplies. The blockade is so effective that all traffic between Germany and the Swedish and Danish coasts has, it is reported, been stopped. Occasionally a ship carrying contraband for Germany ventures to sea after lying low for a time, but it is generally caught by the vigilant British."

The London Daily News, with gentle satire, congratulates von Tirpitz on the fulfillment of his prediction of submarine success:

"It must be a matter for profound gratification to Admiral von Tirpitz to find his confidence in the effectiveness of submarine warfare at last triumphantly vindicated. It is true that the justification of his predictions is the work, not of his own audacious fleet (most of its units indeed have been long incapable of so active a function), but of British vessels operating at will on the domestic side of the German mine-field barriers. But so far as the principle of the submarine is at stake it will be agreed, at Kiel as at Harwich, that it is being convincingly established."

"In land bound waters like the Baltic, the destructive power of the submarine is great. Already it appears that cargoes of indispensable materials for German munitions are being held up in wholesale by Swedish ports, the principal cargo merchant vessels in groups will only transfer the risk to the patrolling cruisers."—Literary Digest.

CARLOAD OF TURKEY DINNERS

Big Shipment of Dressed Fowl Made From Jerome to Thanksgiving Market

One might have considered it impossible were not the actual figures available, but the first of the week nearly 2,000 turkey dinners were shipped from Jerome to the outlying markets. H. E. Vogel of Butte, Montana, appeared on the ground last week and through agents bought turkeys to be delivered in Butte on Saturday. Mr. Vogel bought over 2,000 of the birds right in the Jerome district and the bulk of them were delivered on Saturday. However, some were brought in even on Sunday, quite a batch on Monday and a few stragglers were still coming in Tuesday morning. At that time the birds had been delivered, and it was believed the 2,000 mark would be nearly reached.

Mr. Vogel had been buying on the South Side and learned through a North Side farmer that there was quite a crop of turkeys as well as other crops on this side of the river. He came over at once and investigated and started his agents out buying. Mr. Vogel paid 13 cents per pound, live weight. The birds run in weight from 10 to 15 pounds, those brought in Saturday averaged 11 pounds. It is apparent, therefore that around $3,000 were paid out by Mr. Vogel for this shipment of turkeys. Mr. Vogel worked day and night killing the birds and preparing them for shipment. They were shipped in barrels, and it may be noted that the birds were shipped in in these same barrels. About 18 birds were packed in a barrel, but notwithstanding this there seemed to be a very plentiful supply of barrels.

Mr. Vogel was very well pleased with the quality of birds brought in, pronouncing them first class in quality, although not running so heavy as birds raised in a lower altitude where they may be started earlier in the season. As soon as this shipment of turkeys is disposed of, Mr. Vogel expects to return and buy a large shipment of chickens.

This shipment of turkeys does not represent the entire season's crop by a long way. The later hatchings are being held by the growers for the Christmas trade, so that the birds may take on size and weight, and besides there are numerous small flocks that are being held for the local trade.

The birds were brought in in two-horse wagons, sometimes as many as fifty birds to a load. It is likely that fully 3,000 turkeys were raised in the Jerome district this season, and at an average price of $1.50 live weight this means $4,500 from this one by-product of the farms alone.—North Side News.

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT.

Portland, Nov. 22, 1915.

Cattle.
Today's trading was very brisk in all lines, and was said by buyers and shippers both to have been the best for many days. Two cars of steers went at $7.00, the day's top, with a good run of the medium kind at around $6.50. All lines were exceptionally strong and somewhat higher than last week.

Hogs.
Brisk trading kept hogs at $5.10, last week's closing price. Bulk prices were $5.00 to $6.10, about 7,000 were on the market, and were quickly taken by the buyers.

Sheep.
No change in the general sheep situation. Lambs could still be good enough to bring $7.50.

WILL SUPPORT ADMINISTRATION

Congressman Smith in Favor of Reasonable Increase of Army and Navy.

Congressman and Mrs. Addison T. Smith will leave for Washington, D. C. on Tuesday morning the 30th, to remain until the adjournment of Congress next year.

During the summer and fall Mr. Smith visited the every section of the state, delivering addresses and meeting the people. He has made a special study of the good roads problem, the land laws and their application to the arid regions, and also the needs of the farmers for a rural credit system, similar to those in operation in foreign countries, which will give the needy farmer who owns his own land, an opportunity to borrow money on long time at a low rate of interest. No other legislation, he contends, will so stimulate the development of the agricultural resources of the country.

Congressman Smith proposes to introduce a bill for the establishment of a rural credit system which will make available to the farmer the funds deposited in postal savings banks, which is now loaned to the bankers of the country at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent. interest; also a bill providing for federal aid in the construction of roads; bill excusing residence on dry farms where water for domestic purposes is not available, but require cultivation for a period of three years; an evidence of good faith in reclaiming the land; a bill providing that homesteaders and desert entrymen may pledge their entries as security to secure money to construct irrigation works; and a bill for the relief of Carey Act entrymen, where water cannot be secured, either because of a shortage of water supply or the failure of the irrigation project.

Mr. Smith expresses himself as being in favor of a reasonable increase of the army and navy, and will support the program of preparedness which the administration proposes, on the theory that if we are to maintain our peaceful relations with other countries, we as a nation must be in a position to enforce our rights; especially since some of the nations disregard their treaty relations when it is to their advantage to do so.

PLAN RECLAMATION FOR IDAHO

Six Hundred Thousand Acres of Pine Land.

Southeastern Idaho has in prospect the development of the greatest area of land ever open to irrigation, in the announced plans of George A. Baird...

Mr. Baird states that money is not wanting for the undertaking of new land enterprises in Idaho, but at the present time there is not the demand for irrigated land which will justify the big expense of reclamation...

The land in question is what is known as the big Bruneau tract of about six hundred thousand acres and located in the Twin Falls country. It will cost thirty million dollars to reclaim the land and put it in shape for cultivation.

It is the opinion expressed that there will have to be a readjustment of some of the waters of Idaho, as it is stated that there are conditions and proper growing of crops, to the detriment of the water.

FACE ADDITIONAL DEFICIT

Government May Lose Twenty Million
as Result of Loose Legislation.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—The Democratic administration is approaching a very awkward situation.
There are on the docket of the United States Supreme Court, the so-called five per cent rebate cases. They involve a tremendous sum in customs revenues, loosely estimated at between fifteen and twenty million dollars, collected under the provisions of the Underwood tariff law. On the court's decision hangs the fate of these millions.

If the Supreme Court upholds the five per cent rebate provision in the Underwood law then the sum in dispute belongs to the foreign importers and must be paid back by the government. The treasury deficit long ago became alarming. If this enormous additional sum has to be paid out, it will still further emphasize the failure of the Democratic fiscal policy.

On the other hand, if the Supreme Court decides that the five per cent provision of the Underwood law is invalid, the highest court in the land will have convicted the Democratic Congress of a humiliating blunder and will further emphasize its record of legislative inefficiency.

The fact that the attorney general in order to save the revenue involved, is attacking the validity of the law Congress worked six months to pass, makes the situation still more complicated.

From a political standpoint, the best thing that could happen to the Democratic party in this case would be to have a decision go over until after election.

Whether or not this happens depends largely upon the time the case is heard. It is up to the government to take the first step to advance the date of hearing. Litigants on the other side of the case have complained bitterly over what they term an unreasonable delay, and for weeks have been urging the government to move more quickly.

Meanwhile, regardless of when the hearing may be held, Democratic leaders are wondering what can be done to offset the attack that will be made on their fiscal policy on the one hand and their legislative efficiency on the other.

BUILDING JUST THE HOME YOU WANT.

In speaking of the home you want to build
one writer has said:

"The house he is to build is the house of his hopes and dreams, probably the fruit of long years of work and study and contemplation; it is to be a home for his soul as well as his body, a little corner of the world that is essentially his own."

In other words, to be just what you want, your new home must be vastly more than an example of practical construction of good quality materials. Its whole makeup, interior and exterior, must interpret and express you—it must harmonize with your individuality.

The floor plans and sketches comprising our "Cottage Home" Plan Service are chock full of sensible suggestions which the architect or builder can carry out at a modest outlay.

The home of your hopes need not be an expensive home.

VISIT INDIAN HERO'S GRAVE
Friend of Early Settlers Buried Near Glenn's Ferry.
Many of the citizens of Glenn's Ferry are doubtless unaware of the fact that there lies buried in the cemetery near town, the body of that valiant red man, Bruneau John, about whom much has been written since his great service to the white settlers during the Banuack fights of 1878. To visit this grave the departed hero's wife, now blind and aged, accompanied by her son, last week journeyed all the way from Duck valley, a distance of almost 100 miles and one which it requires four days to travel. While here Saturday, Bruneau John's son, who, by the way, is an intelligent young man, stated that there is still considerable talk among the pioneer settlers of Bruneau valley in regard to erecting a fine monument over the grave of Bruneau John, out of remembrance for the service which the noble Indian rendered them at a great risk to himself.
As the story goes, Bruneau John, who spoke some English and who had formerly lived in the Bruneau valley and knew the settlers there, was camped with his family in 1878 at the head of Cold Springs creek in this county. Learning of the advance of the bloodthirsty Banuacks, he at once set out for the Bruneau country where he knew the settlers unless warned would be easy prey for the red men. The whole journey he made on foot and at night. The most of the settlers, when told of their danger, withdrew to a large cave on the Abram Robertson ranch and were not hurt by the Indians. A few, however, were killed, some because they failed to heed the warning in time and some because they were not warned. One young man, who had been sent at night to the home of an Irish settler and who had stayed until the next morning with the settler, was last seen there when he went out during the morning to get some horses with which the two men might get to the cave. He was later found lying beside the road with a butcher knife in his throat.

Bruneau John was previous to this time a guide for the settlers, and, as recognition for this fact and his acts of bravery, he was presented by President Garfield with a medal which he prized very highly. The medal was stolen by another Indian who sold it at Glenn's Ferry to persons on board a train.
Bruneau John's people who were here last week stated that they had tried very hard to find and obtain the lost medal but that so far their efforts had been of no avail.—Glenn's Ferry Gazette.

GREECE TO BE AT PEACE
Minister of Justice Issues Bitter Arraignment of British Policies.
London — "The only thing we want is peace and you are trying to force us to make war," said D. G. Rhalis, the Greek minister of justice and guiding spirit in the cabinet of M. Skoulofidis, in an interview last Thursday with the Daily Mail's correspondent at Athens.
"The British government and the British press," continued M. Rhalis, "are taking a disgraceful and infamous attitude toward us. You are starving us; only today two more wheat vessels have been stopped by you."
"Your government, having piled fault on fault and delay on delay, with only a few thousand troops to help us, want to force us to step in and die. You want us to succeed you when no English soldiers have shed their blood in Serbia—when scarcely an English rifle has been fired."

"We don't wish to be another Belkum or Serbia. We love Serbia, but before attempting to rescue a wretched friend one should be sure his effort is not merely a useless sacrifice."
Retreat Way Open
Regarding the attitude of Greece in the case, the allies should be forced over the frontier, M. Rhalis said:
"Certainly no attempt will be made to disarm them. They are in the trenches and defend themselves if they want. We will even go to the extent of establishing a cordon to safeguard the retreat."
The daily Mail's correspondent says he believes the attitude of M. Rhalis reflects that of a majority of the Greek people, who are unanimous in their desire for peace.
"The king does not love Germany," says the correspondent. "He offered to join the allies last April on condition that the Balfour project be abandoned and an advance be made through Thrace. Since that date the king has gained implicit belief in German promises. He said a few days ago: 'They cannot beat Germany; they will never conquer her. They tell me that I am between the devil and the deep sea and that I may as well throw in my lot with the allies, whose pressure can be immediate. But France and England, whatever their attitude toward my country, while Germany will be invincible. It is my duty to save my country from the horrors of Belgium.'"
Wood Alcohol Frequent Cause of Blindness.
Wood alcohol is a poison and exceedingly dangerous, according to a circular recently issued by the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness. The circular says: "Wood alcohol is a poison which may cause blindness or death if swallowed, or its fumes are inhaled in an inadequately ventilated place."
Further information is given with the sale of wood alcohol and that people use denatured alcohol instead as it is safer and cheaper than wood alcohol.
On account of the extreme danger that attends the use of wood alcohol, the Journal of the American Medical Association has issued a campaign to secure the prohibition of the manufacture of methyl alcohol, commonly known as wood alcohol. For the same reason, the druggists of New York City have been prohibited from the use of wood or methyl alcohol in any toilet or medicinal preparation to be used internally or externally and are required to label all containers of wood alcohol with the unmistakable skull and crossbones sign. A bill making the use of the wood alcohol in the household to be introduced in the New York legislature.
Wood alcohol appears to be quite especially dangerous to the eyesight, especially in cases of acute inflammation. Dr. James A. Campbell of St. Louis, in a paper read before the Ophthalmic Society last June, said: "Wood alcohol blindness may occur by inhaling the fumes or by absorption through the hands, and one case was caused by being splashed into the eyes. The symptoms are pain, burning, irritation, weakness, nausea, prostration, blindness and death. Blindness is a late symptom. Wood alcohol blindness is curable, but only if treated at once until nerve degeneration takes place the blindness may be permanent and complete."

"I have no hesitancy in saying that the searching of private residences for the purpose of ascertaining whether intoxicating liquor is there, without evidence of its being sold or illegally disposed of, in such a wide departure from what has heretofore been considered a citizen's inalienable rights that no officer is justified in making such searches and issuing such warrants, the legislature would be compelled to be explicit and certain in all its directions to such officers."

The Constitution.

"Our constitution provides that the officers of the state shall be protected against unreasonable searches and seizures. The protection in the constitution referred to is as follows:

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be infringed; and no warrant shall issue without probable cause shown by affidavit, particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or thing to be seized."

"The provision of the constitution is almost uniformly construed to prevent violation of a man's home, even under most extraordinary circumstances and under specific and direct legislative direction. This provision would have the effect, I am satisfied, of causing our courts to look strictly into the right of an officer to search the home of a citizen for the purpose of this state, and, as stated above, no specific authority or direction is given, but on the contrary, the requirement of clear proof, as stated in 1911, would seem to imply beyond question that the legislature intended searches to be had only in cases involving other and private residences. It must be understood that what is here said has reference to private residences only, and would not apply to a dwelling house that has been converted into a saloon or was being used for that purpose."

"It might be contended that the old established law of the state on this subject of search warrants contained in chapter 3, title 12 of the revised codes, would apply to a search warrant to be issued for the purpose of searching a private residence or intoxicating liquor, but a close inspection of this statute (section 8391) reveals that it was not intended to apply to circumstances of this nature. The language therein used sufficiently explicit to justify the court, in my judgment, in holding that its provisions would not apply to searches of private residences under the 1915 liquor law."

Not In Mind Then.

"Surely when this provision was enacted in 1891, the search of private residences for possession of intoxicating liquor was not in the mind of the territorial legislature. But after the enactment of section 8391, the old law on the subject of search warrants, would apply to the new warrant under question here, is met by the legislature specifically repealing chapter 16 of the session laws of 1911 as an adjunct of the 1915 law, implying the exclusive application of the statute."

"I have gone into the authorities on this question fully, but have not room to make citations thereof in this statement, and trust that my conclusions thereon would be sufficient for this purpose."

"I conclude, therefore, first, that no substitute or other in the state has authority, under senate bill 50, so-called, to issue a search warrant for the purpose of searching a private residence in the absence of having evidence of its being sold or illegally disposed of therein; and, secondly, that any search warrant attempted to be issued under these circumstances would be a legal nullity and would afford no protection to an officer acting thereunder."

J. H. PETERSON,
"Attorney General."

BOARD OF HEALTH BULLETIN

No School Should Close on Account of Epidemic of Contagious Disease.

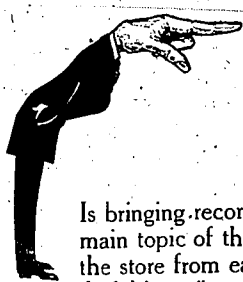

"The plan of closing school in case of an epidemic of some contagious disease is the old and ineffective way of dealing with such a situation, and was adopted for the reason there was no other way to deal with it. But, according to the State Board of Health, there is another way, a scientific and an efficient means, of dealing with an epidemic of this kind. This does not close the school at all, but keeps the children under observation, that early cases may be detected and removed before they become a source of infection to the other children. In case a school has no nurse or school physician," says the bulletin, "a physician's services can be secured for the daily examinations while the epidemic lasts and both parents and the health officer or quarantine officer can be notified and the epidemic soon brought under control."

"On the other hand, if the schools are closed when an outbreak occurs, the children are turned loose from supervision; they mingle freely with one another in the streets and in each other's homes; they are unwilling to admit they feel ill for the reason it will be the end of their good time and consequently when one does 'come down' with the disease, usually it was not detected until he had infected his brothers and sisters and perhaps his playmates. Oftentimes, in such cases, the parents call the physician too late."

"No school should close on account of contagious diseases. If the teacher is alert and the health officer on the job, an epidemic can be avoided or controlled that there will be no loss of time on the part of the school as a whole. Not for four years has a school of New York City closed on account of an epidemic of a contagious disease."

RAISED ON FARM.

Fine Point Settled by Pure Food Commissioner.

Pure Food Commissioner White has issued the following bulletin regarding meat inspection:

"There seems to be some question as to the construction of the word 'raised' as used in section 27, of the meat inspection law and the opinion of the attorney general on this matter may be desired."

"This is to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 22nd inst. relative to construction of section 27, chapter '34, session laws of 1911, as amended in 1913. The entire question upon which we are asked to pass depends upon the meaning of the word 'raised.' The Century dictionary in defining the word 'raise' as used in this statute defined it to mean—to promote the growth of, bring up, rear, grow, breed, as to raise crops, plants or cattle. The Standard dictionary defines it as follows: 'To cause to come up or into being and grow; to care for and direct the growth up to maturity; bring up, rear, etc.'"

"I think the meaning of the statute is plain on this point, which is to the effect that the cattle which a farmer slaughters and sells must be ones that are born and bred to maturity upon his farm in the ordinary pursuit of farming and stock raising, operations. This would exclude from the right to slaughter and sell without inspection such animals as he had purchased with the intention of slaughtering and selling."
