MOB APPLIES TORCH TO TOWN

Six Blocks Burned, Three Killed and 19 Injured

TROUBLE THE CULMINATION OF STRIKE AT STEEL MILL

Pitched Battle Result of Strike in Which Lives Are Lost and Business Portion of Town Burned.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—Three men were killed, 19 persons, including a woman, wounded, six city blocks were burned with a loss estimated at $500,000, and state troops were called out to restore order as the result of rioting in East Youngstown following a battle between a crowd of strike sympathizers and armed guards at the plant of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company Friday night.

Rioters stole five hundred pounds of dynamite and have dynamited several houses, it is reported. The bridge from East Youngstown to Struthers was burned to prevent rioters from entering the town. Two companies of United States regulars from Columbus are reported to have been ordered to East Youngstown because of the looting and burning of the postoffice.

The trouble was the culmination of a strike of laborers which began at the plant of the Republic Iron & Steel company the week ago and spread to the plants of the tube company, the Youngstown Iron & Steel company and the Briler Hill Steel company, all concerned in the same work.

The men demand 25 cents an hour, the companies offer an increase from 19 1/2 to 22 cents. The riot started early Friday morning when the strike sympathizers and workers at the sheet and tube plant clashed. Stones were thrown and several shots were fired, but no one was injured. Later in the afternoon a riot occurred just outside the tube company's plant and two men were injured so badly they were taken to a hospital.

The most serious trouble started Friday night when the day shift at the sheet and tube mills left work. A crowd of six thousand gathered at the entrance to the works and stoned a squad of private police in charge of Chief J. M. Wolz of the sheet and tube company force.

According to the statement made by Wolz, he fired a blank shot into the air to scare the crowd, and the looting became general. Rioters in the crowd were injured, following which, the crowd, frenzied surged into the East Youngstown hotel district and set fire to several buildings. As the torch was applied first to a clothing store and then to a jewelry store, the looting began. A saloon was fired and the crowd then drove away. The flames quickly spread and more than 15 buildings were destroyed. More than 20 houses in the reported homeless area result of the fire which at an early hour still was burning beyond control.

Sheriff Emmons found the situation beyond his control and asked that state troops be sent here. Governor Willis ordered the Fifth regiment with headquarters at Cleveland and the Eighth regiment with headquarters at Bucyrus to this city. The Fourth regiment at Columbus was ordered to mobilize and move to the scene of the trouble as soon as possible.

One man who was killed has not been identified. He was fatally shot while attempting to loot a store in East Youngstown. Some one inside the store fired the shot.

Shortly before midnight mob leaders broke into a freight car containing five hundred pounds of dynamite. They took the dynamite and started toward the residential part of East Youngstown, declaring they would blow that section of the city to pieces.

INDEMNITY FOR AMERICAN LIVES LOST IN LUSITANIA DISASTER PROMISED BY GERMANY

(Concessions Include Principal Conditions of U. S. and Include Assurances That Non-Combatant Ships in Mediterranean Will Not Be Torpedoed Without Providing for Safety of Passengers.)

Communications from Germany have reached the United States, one containing a proposal to pay an indemnity for the Americans lost in the Lusitania disaster, which may bring negotiations on that subject to a conclusion, and the other conveying assurances that German submarines operating in the Mediterranean would not torpedo non-combatant ships of any character without warning them and providing for the passengers, crews and cargo.

The communications were delivered to Secretary Lansing by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who immediately sent them to President Wilson.

Official Washington Friday night considered that America and Germany had at last reached a firm agreement on the conduct of submarine warfare. Officials made no attempt to conceal their gratification at the attitude Germany apparently had assumed. It was considered to be virtually in harmony with the American viewpoint.

Regarding the entire submarine question seemed to have lessened considerably. Austria in its reply to the last American note, having to the United States of its intentions to operate submarines with due regard for international law and the principles of humanity. Turkey and the United States of its intentions to take steps to give such guarantees. It is stated authoritatively that Germany and Austria-Hungary will use their influence to accomplish this end.

The Lusitania controversy, except for the wording of the agreement to be entered into, is considered in the Lusitania circles here virtually ended.

Under the terms of the proposal submitted for the approval of the United States, Germany, while offering to pay an indemnity, makes the reservation that no admission of wrongdoing thereby is involved. It is contended that the Lusitania was sunk as an act of reprisal for the British blockade of Germany.

The Secretary Lansing is understood not to have indicated to Count von Bernstorff whether the proposal was satisfactory, a number of officials in a position to be familiar with the American attitude indicated that it would be accepted.

The assurances regarding the conduct of submarine warfare in the Mediterranean were prompted by the sinking of the British steamship Persia with a loss of two American lives, are much broader in their scope than the promises made after the Lusitania disaster covering the operations of submarines in the North sea and adjacent waters. The latter guarantee only that "they shall be immune from attack without warning."

The assurances regarding the Mediterranean operations, include the sinking of every clearly owned ship, freight as well as passenger vessels, provided, of course, they do not attempt to escape or offer resistance.

It has been repeated, too, that in the reply to the last note regarding the Lusitania, the German government agreed with the American view that small boats cannot under all conditions be considered a place of safety for persons leaving a ship about to be attacked.

The German government apparently is not certain whether a German submarine sank the Persia and promises the United States in Friday's communication that should it develop that such was the case, the matter would be investigated and submitted to prize court proceedings, and that if the commander disclosed his orders he would be punished and reparation would be made for the death of or injury to American citizens.

Consideration of the German assurances and of the apparent attitude of Austria-Hungary as reflected in dispatches from Ambassador Penfield at Vienna, led officials to believe that the sinking of the Persia might not result in difficulties so grave as at first were feared.

Information regarding the circumstances of the Persia still were lacking, however, Friday night.

The fact that in that particular locality the formation is clay and dirt, there being no lava rock. Several theories have been advanced as to the cause. The most plausible seems to be that a settlement of the earth's crust following the earthquake of last fall resulted in a shifting of the canal.

It is supposed the earth was opened at that point a week ago last Saturday night. At that time Mrs. Parke, who lives on the Cleveland ranch, heard a loud report. She supposed blasting was going on and paid no more attention to it. Investigation disclosed the fact there had been a blasting in that vicinity, and on Monday morning the crevice was discovered.

This crevice is from a few inches to three or four feet wide. At the point where it broke the canal workmen went down 40 feet and discovered a large cave, the dimensions being as great as several fair-sized rooms. At another place a man was lowered down 50 feet and saw water. He was thrown out at that depth and he was unable to proceed lower.

GREENS ANXIOUS TO MIX IN EUROPEAN SCRAP

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Athens says:

"The last 10 days have seen the biggest drop in German prestige since the war began and this despite the intense allies' evacuation of a portion of the Gallipoli peninsula. The causes of the German slump have been external and internal. The fall of the Teutonic forces, to advance in Macedonia, together with General Castelnau's confidence in the strength of the entente allies' position at Saloniki, and the impatience of the Greek troops to resist any attempt of a Bulgarian advance in Greek territory, which has compelled the government to give the commanders on the border the necessary orders to be prepared for action against the Bulgars, are necessary."

"Moreover through the queen, who has been depressing letters from her sister, the Empress Charlotte of Saxony-Meiningen, King Constantine is learning the true state of affairs in Germany."

PROPOSES GO-AHEAD HOME-STEAD FOR STOCK RAISING

WASHINGTON.—The stock-raising homestead bill which proposes to allow the entry of 640 acres by each entrant is to be pressed before congress in the near future, this measure having been made a part of the administration conservation program.

This bill, however, will apply only to lands that can not be entered under the quarter section homestead law or under the 320 acre restricted homestead law—that is, to rough mountain sides and to lands so arid that they can be utilized only for grazing purposes.

The stock-raising homestead bill is third on the list of conservation measures, to be considered after the water power bill and the general leasing bill.

WILSON ENDORSED BY CONGRESS

Interpretation of Monroe Doctrine Approved by Congress

CALLS FOR CO-OPERATION OF ALL AMERICAN NATIONS

True Americanism Should Promote a Spirit of Harmony Between Countries of North and South Continents.

WASHINGTON.—Formal approval of President Wilson's reference to the Monroe doctrine and Pan-Americanism was voted Wednesday by the International law section of the Pan-American scientific congress. A resolution adopted for presentation to the executive committee of the congress—the first recorded expression on the subject which has been uppermost in the minds of many of the delegates since they gathered here 10 days ago—characterizes the president's utterance as a true definition of Pan-Americanism.

In its preamble the resolution declared that the words of the president were "of such importance to the relations of the countries of this continent that we deem it opportune and of unquestioned advantage that the American scientific congress should in some way accord them its approval." Then it resolved:

"The second Pan-American Scientific congress applauds the character made by the Honorable President Wilson in his message of December 7, 1901, to congress, explaining and amplifying the Monroe doctrine, because it regards them as a true definition of Pan-Americanism."

The president in his address proclaimed it a duty on the part of the United States to prepare for the defense not only of its own rights, but of those with whom it had made common cause and spoke of the evolution and honorable association of partners between ourselves, and our neighbors in the interest of all America, north and south.

Unreserved co-operation of the different governments of the two continents, even in case of war, was advocated frankly by Juan de Dios Garcia Kohly, Cuban minister at the Hague, in an address before the International congress of jurists provided for by the Pan-American conference of 1910. This body should be called immediately and remain in permanent session as a congress of neutrals until the close of the war."

A suggestion by Secretary of State Lansing to the new initiative of international law that it discuss neutrality laws with the idea of securing a clearer definition and greater uniformity was referred to a committee instructed to report Friday.

Mr. Lansing said that ordinarily questions of neutrality were defined by the governments but that it appeared desirable and logical that the governments of the Americas formulate and agree upon laws instead of waiting for that to be done by belligerents.

Delegates to the Institute representing Argentina and Brazil opposed immediate discussion of the subject.

IDAHO RANKS THIRD IN WOOL PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON.—Wool production in the United States during 1915 was estimated by the department of agriculture at 28,777,000 pounds, with a value of $67,573,214, or $14,000,000 more than last year.

Production was 1,415,000 pounds less than last year and 7,328,000 pounds less than in 1913. The price of unwashed wool paid to producers has averaged 23 1/2 cents per pound, compared with 18 1/2 cents last year and 15 1/2 cents in 1913.

Montana led in production with 2,940,000 pounds, Wyoming was a close second with 2,852,000 pounds, and Idaho third with nearly 2,000,000 pounds. Other states producing more than 1,000,000 pounds each were: New Mexico, 1,821,000; Oregon, 1,500,000; Utah, 1,455,000; Utah, 1,320,000; and California, 1,150,000 pounds.

A repetition of your want ad, in course of your quest for a cook, can be good policy.

THE CASTLE GARDEN GATES

No right-minded citizen of the United States can read the account of what took place last Friday at Youngstown, Ohio, without mingled feelings of indignation and alarm, in which indignation comes easily first and foremost.

The employees of two large steel manufacturing concerns had struck a week previously upon a demand for wage increase from 19 1-2 to 25 cents per hour. The employers offered 22 cents, which was refused. But in the meantime had secured enough non-union help to keep the works running. After considerable trouble during the day, at the time the day shift left work, Friday evening a crowd of six thousand strikers and their friends assembled at the entrance of the Tube mills and stoned the departing workmen and the private police, who were there for their protection. This developed into a battle in which firearms were used and over a hundred persons were more or less injured. Two are dead and twenty-two are in various hospitals. The mob then began firing the city, setting the torch first to a clothing and then to a jewelry store, quickly followed by other fires and by breaking and looting promiscuously in all directions, including several stores and the East Youngstown postoffice. For six hours this frenzied mob rushed through the streets burning and looting indiscriminately, destroying the public lighting plant, leaving a score of families homeless and causing a property loss estimated at $1,500,000; very little of which falls upon the mill owners.

Of course, militia arrived during the night, and up to this writing no further rioting has taken place, but the community feels that it is standing over a volcano, liable to break into fury at any moment. In the meantime, the works are closed and the children of the men who are willing to work, as well as the children of the strikers, are liable to suffer hunger!

Do you ask how are such things possible in free, prosperous and enlightened America? This insane mob was neither free, prosperous nor enlightened! Could you have hovered above it on the wings of a bird, in all that valley of talk and impregnation, there would have been hardly a single word of understandable English! It was a crowd of foreigners of low degree, enslaved by venal agitators, impetuous by habit and enlightened only by the ignis fatuus of anarchistic teaching!

The question as to whether the original demands of the strikers were reasonable, or otherwise, has nothing to do with the case here presented. The laboring man, individually or collectively, in unions or out, has a perfect right to demand what he pleases for the wage of a day or an hour; and if compliance with such demands be not made, he has the unquestioned right to refuse to work—to "strike," if you will. But when the laboring man, either organized or unorganized, attempts to decree that other men, who may have no stake in the world save potential days' work, shall not sell them for a price less than that fixed for himself, nor shall not take up the work he has thrown down, and to enforce that decree by violence, he attempts a tyranny and monopoly that is as bad and iniquitous as that charged to the capitalist or employer.

The statement last above made is too simple and fundamental to require either repetition or amplification. The pertinent question is, what can we do about it? It is stated that out of fifteen thousand population in East Youngstown, where this destruction took place, only four hundred are voters; and a local magistrate has been commissioned with the United States district attorney to see if these foreign murderers and fire-bugs may not be legally deported and sent back to their homes in Central Europe, where they would doubtless get all the fighting they needed. This sounds well, but it is only scotching the snake. It has been our proud boast that "the gates of Castle Garden only swing inward" and to turn them outward just long enough to let a few thousands of undesirable from Youngstown, Ohio, through, might have some contemplative value, but little else. The plain fact is that both the suggestion and the naturalization laws of this country need revision and amendment. In just what way and manner is the problem of the statesman and the duty is his also!

THE EMERGENCY LAW DECISION

There is no reason for criticizing the supreme court for declaring the emergency employment act unconstitutional, as it did Saturday, but it is fortunate that the statute was not drafted so as to avoid such a decision, for it was a good law, inasmuch as it provided for the employment of needy workmen without leaving any stigma upon them or injuring their self respect. That it is the duty of the supreme court to declare unconstitutional all laws which violate the plain terms of the constitution, as this seems to have done, is unquestioned. It is unfortunate that the constitution provides in our state constitution as that which is found in the constitution of Colorado and some other states, which permits the legislature to secure a decision on a point of constitutional law in a proposed measure while pending in the legislature. When a proposed measure is held unconstitutional for a certain reason in such states, the legislature can then amend it so as to meet the objection and gain substantially the results desired, instead of having to wait a year for a decision which may render a statute inoperative at a time when the legislature which passed it is not in session to enact another law to meet the emergency which the unconstitutional law was intended to meet.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS PAY-UP WEEK IN TWIN FALLS

The following proclamation has been issued by Mayor E. M. Sweeley, announcing Pay-Up Week. Whereas, the week of February 21st to 25th has been designated as National Pay-Up Week by the National Pay-Up Week Association, and whereas, people in cities, towns and communities in all parts of the country are unwilling to make Pay-Up Week a memorable occasion conducing to the good of all, and, Whereas, a spirit of optimism is abroad throughout our entire country, due largely to the abundance of last year's crops and the favorable prices that they have commanded, and, Whereas, an event of this kind is bound to prove beneficial to every citizen in every city, town and community, therefore, I, by the authority vested in me as mayor of Twin Falls, Idaho, do hereby designate and proclaim the week of February 21st to 25th, inclusive, 1916, as Pay-Up Week in this community and I do sincerely trust that every man and every woman in our city or community who owes a debt will endeavor to pay it during this week and thus aid in the great national movement for prosperity.

NOT SIMILAR SAYS MAYOR SWELEY

fact, this point is conceded by defendant's attorneys. They claim that while the employment of the detectives by Compton, at the instigation of the mayor, did not create a valid claim against the city, still the acts of the council in allowing the bills after the services were rendered, constituted ratification.

"If the words of a statute clearly bear only one meaning, it is not pertinent for a court to resort to construction in order to defeat that meaning. The demand upon which the warrants in question are based was created by the employment of the detectives by Compton at the instigation of the mayor and by the services performed pursuant to that employment. It will not do to say that the claim is based upon the resolution ratifying the claim, because, to say that, would be to make section 27 inoperative in any case. The purpose of the section is clearly to defeat ratification in certain cases. To hold that ratification constituted the claim itself would make the statute meaningless and without force. The resolution allowing the bill is not the creation of the claim, but is a ratification of the claim which had previously accrued. At the time of the employment and of the rendition of the services a claim was created but it was a valid claim, not one for which the city was liable under the plain language of section 27. It therefore was a claim which the council could not later allow, make valid or in any manner recognize.

"The defendant's counsel contend that section 27 refers only to claims which were ultra vires, or inherently unlawful at the time of their creation, that is, claims not created or authorized by the council itself. And they argue that, since the council could have authorized the employment of the detectives in the first instance, the council could later ratify their employment by allowing the bill after services were rendered. It has always been the law that a council or any other legislative body could not make valid by ratification an act which it could not have authorized in the first instance. "Council for the defendant contend that, if section 27 bears the construction which I place upon it, it is implicitly repealed by sections 3 and 4 of the Black law. Section 3 provides that cities operating under the Black law shall have all the powers, rights and privileges usually exercised by or which are incidental to, or inherent in such municipal corporations of the same character and degree. This omnibus clause simply means that such cities shall have the power granted to similar municipal corporations by the laws of this state, and it must be read in the light of all these laws, including section 27.

PASSENGER HAD BOOZE—LIVERYMAN GETS JAILED

North Side Paper Vouches for Freeman's Reputation, Says Liveryman is Being Made the Goat.

J. H. Freeman, of Jerome, was bound over at a preliminary trial in Twin Falls last week to appear for trial at the higher court under a charge of bootlegging, says the North Side News.

This will likely be as much of a surprise to his many friends in Jerome as it was to himself. Mr. Freeman owns an automobile which he operates for hire in the effort to make an honest living. Some time since a Twin Falls man who was over to Jerome broke down with his machine and hired Mr. Freeman to take him home. The man had some automobile repairs and packages with him in Mr. Freeman's car. It was a night trip and next morning Mr. Freeman was arrested charged with bringing intoxicating liquor into dry territory. It seems that during the night the Twin Falls officers arrested his passenger on a bootlegging charge.

Mr. Freeman claims he did not know that his passenger had any liquor with him, but he has been bound over just the same. Mr. Freeman bears an excellent reputation in this community and none of his friends believe that he would knowingly break the liquor laws or any other laws of the state.

But Twin Falls has been hit after the North Side people on the liquor business and it looks as though Mr. Freeman was to be used as a horrible example.

GAME DEPT. SHOWS GAIN

Deputy Game Warden Joe Fitzsimmons has received the annual report of the fish and game department of the state for the year 1915. He placed that the department with which he is so actively connected has shown a gain of $11,514.83, while the expenditures were $45,810.04, leaving a balance of $3,993.44. The gain for the year in records was $4,514.83, and the reduction in expense $6,247.69, making a net gain of $11,514.83. As the horses sales and fipos are placed together under the same head it is impossible to tell the amount of the loss from the report, but whatever it is, more than $100 was paid in through the activity of Joe Fitzsimmons.

MUSICAL PROGRAM CONTINUES

The popularity of the singing of Miss Estelle McNeal at the Robertson cafe is attested by the large crowd in attendance at every meal since her engagement here. She has been delightfully sweet voice which has been cultivated so as to bring out all its most excellent qualities. The musical program will continue at both luncheon and dinner. Miss Vesta Thomas as accompanist on the piano, is receiving due share of the praise bestowed by critics and music lovers.—Adv.

STOCKHOLDERS ARE IN SESSION TODAY

to hire how much land he had, but how he could do the required work. He said that managers of railroads and mines frequently owned stock in the concerns managed. He said that somebody last year made a similar motion for the purpose of cutting out an efficient director and that the man who did it did not own enough land on the tract to contain a good sized chicken coop. He added that the man was in the meeting this year. Monahan said that if anyone without interest was there he should be deprived of a vote or voice. Connor named D. M. Denton, who promptly responded that he did own land in several places and had interest in other lands on the tract, and vigorously denied the implication in the speech of Connor. Denton questioned the issue of county division and such things should not be considered. Monahan said that his understanding was that the officers of the great corporations were stockholders. The situation was confused by a point of order that the whole was out of order, but the Monahan motion was carried and the meeting adjourned. The ballot boxes were opened while the secretary proceeded to read the annual report.

When Secretary Taylor had finished reading his report, it was accepted and an adjournment taken until 1:30 p. m.

The cold weather in no way intimidated the stockholders, who came in large numbers from all parts of the tract. There are several matters of interest to be thrashed out before adjournment tonight.

The meeting after lunch was characterized by the expeditious and harmonious transaction of business. The matter of the unwieldy character of the meetings and the fact that voting by proxy has not proven wholly satisfactory, resulted in the statement by Attorney Monahan, which he presented later as a report, that the legislative body of Idaho to change the law so as to provide for the absence of proxy voting or for the division of the tract into districts. He said that they succeeded in having the tract taken from control of the public utilities commission.

A motion by J. H. Barnes that further efforts be made to secure a committee of nine selected by the stockholders was carried and was followed by motion by Sweeley that a committee of nine be selected to draft plans for a special measure covering practicable reforms to report next year at the annual meeting which will be held on the eve of the legislative session. This was carried and J. M. Sweeley, J. H. Barnes, D. A. Welby, Fred Nihart, H. M. Van Dreppel, S. P. Atterton, John Frank, Carl Hoch and J. A. Waters were chosen as members.

Mr. Nihart suggested that a possible way out of the difficulty was to organize as a public corporation under the irrigation district laws, which would let only those present vote and give each stockholder but one vote, regardless of his holdings. Motions to commit all sink holes before May 1, that the board have some office employee take out material, and that ditch riders give their whole time to their work, that ditch riders be forbidden to collect delinquent fees, and that the secretary be authorized on payment of amount on margin were carried unanimously. Several other plans were referred to the legislative committee that had been appointed.

A committee of nine to select an audit committee of three, to get experts to audit the books was selected as follows: F. W. Fisher, F. C. Gray, A. C. Boone, Ray Brown, H. W. Herms, E. E. Sweeley, C. C. Beck, E. H. Hobbs and George McNeer.

It was announced that this special train would leave for its destination at 7 o'clock tonight instead of at 9 o'clock as originally scheduled. A discussion over the repair expense amount of $30,000 practically closed the active business of the day. The canal board stated that all the items of expense were on the books of the company in detail. A motion was carried that all items be forth in detail and mailed an attorney hereafter, with the call for a report on the treasurer's report, and the most harmonious meeting in the history of the company closed for all practical purposes except in the matter of directors. At 7 o'clock the ballot boxes will be moved to the headquarters of the company, where the ballots will be counted after the directors who desire to do so, have all voted. The votes will probably not all be counted until long after midnight.

WORK ON SHOOSHONE GRADE

As a result of the supreme court decision declaring the emergency employment act unconstitutional, the commissioners who had planned on putting at work in accordance with it, have been forced to give up the idea of giving employment to those temporarily out of work. The plan which they contemplate adopting involves giving them work below that paid in summer, but enough to live on. Chairman Carlson said yesterday that they had 50 applicants for work under the emergency act.

A Beautiful Home for the "Only Girl"—It's a Duty

When you own your home you know you have a refuge at all times. You take a pride in beautifying YOUR dwelling. Your children instinctively turn toward HOME against outside attractions.

Your merchant looks on you with favor, because he knows that a HOME-OWNER is permanent; that he will strive to keep his bills paid and his credit good; that his example will induce others to do likewise, thereby insuring greater communal permanence and stability.

Should reasons of business or health necessitate a change of location, you have a bankable resource to secure needed funds, which rent receipts, no matter how numerous, can never afford.

In your OWN HOME you can live as you want to live without interference from anyone, and without considering the whims of an owner who might have different ideas from your own.

You are your own master—you are free to do as you will—and this very independence of material conditions gives you an independence of thought that makes you a better father or mother, and a better citizen.

One hundred designs of Modern, convenient, Moderate-priced Beautiful Homes ready for your inspection, together with interesting information on HOME BUILDING.

EDITOR TELLS SUBSCRIBERS ABOUT HIS PHONE SERVICE

There is nothing more exasperating than to attempt to talk over a "bum" telephone. We say "attempt" advisedly, for the reason that the instrument called a telephone in this office is about as near a useless piece of appliance as one could find in the travels of a lifetime. People who have business with the postoffice or The Herald office are informed that we have made every effort to have an instrument installed that would be of some service at least, but without success. Patience is said to be a Godly virtue and the person who can stand for a lifetime in this office without taking an axe to it is saintly indeed. The instrument is neither useful nor ornamental, but seems to be a thing of exasperation forever.

We still have hopes of receiving a better instrument in the sweet bye and bye. Nevada State Herald

MEDDLING WITH FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Unfortunate That Congress Meets at This Time Says One Senator

WILLIAMS TELLS SENATORS TO LET WILSON ALONE

Diplomatic Affairs Have Been Wisely Handled by Present Administration Southern Senator Declares.

WASHINGTON—Mexico furnished the vehicle Thursday for another discussion of foreign relations on the floor of the senate. It preceded the session without comment on the resolution offered by Senator Fall calling on President Wilson for all available information bearing on the recognition of the Mexican government by the United States.

Senators Fall and Lodge spoke in favor of the resolution, indicating that the president should inform congress fully concerning the state of affairs before the naming of an ambassador to Mexico was confirmed.

Senator Williams diverted attention from Mexico in the course of the debate by commenting at length upon questions arising from the war. He said an embargo on exports of munitions would "hamper the United States more than any other first class power."

Senator Borah wanted to know whether the Mississippi senator thought that after the war some European government would attack the United States out of pure spite or enmity.

"I am not anticipating an attack in the first place," Senator Williams replied. "I am anticipating bullying first and I am anticipating the fact that the American people will not consent to be bullied."

He declared that he would be plenty to quarrel about, referring to reports of torpedoing of unarmed merchant ships by one nation and by the ally of that nation after the question involved apparently had been decided by diplomacy.

"They are in the field of diplomacy and the president of the United States has wisely attempted to keep them within the field of diplomacy," he added. "I am sorry for the fact that congress had to meet right now. I think the management of our diplomatic affairs would have been more wisely handled by a man more widely respected and more widely loved."

He has all three of them. They are apt to be mismanaged when they are made a game of battlefields and shuttlecocks. I am one who plays the game."

DRAW BIG CROWDS AT IDAHO FALLS

Tabernacle Meetings Held in Large Temporary Building. Excellent Choir, Much Interest Shown.

The big building erected by nearly 40 volunteer workers in one day in the lot in the rear of the Methodist church is well filled at all of the sessions presided over by Dr. Taylor, who conducts the meetings.

Interest in the meetings has increased from the first to the last. Last Sunday evening there were almost, by actual count, a thousand people in the building.

Dr. Taylor, who is conducting the meetings is well pleased with the interest shown and his co-workers predict that by the end of the month the big building will be filled with people who will desire to attend.

He is assisted by his wife and son as musical directors and the big choir is doing a splendid work. Several churches of the city have united in this work and the campaign being conducted is for the good of all, and it is hoped and expected that before the meetings close the good which is being done will become so widespread that the interest will include all within the city—Idaho Falls register.

MARKETS STILL SOARING

That the stock markets opened with a continuing upward tendency, this week shown by the following quotations from the Portland Live Stock Reporter:

Sheep market is on the upward trend in all classes. Every grade shows good and strong. Compared with other points the market here is away ahead of anything quoted anywhere else. Western prices are attractive and a better movement should start this way. The prices now being quoted for lambs are fully 50 cents over prices a week ago. Cattle supply is barely up to an average and as compared with a year ago is showing up at the beginning of the new year. The shortage this year, however, is but temporary and will no doubt catch up before the end of the month or as soon as this year gets its start. The exceptionally strong prices of the week begin to bring cattle in with a little more freedom.

The bulk of the hog market today was at $6.55, an advance in bulk price over Monday of fully 15 cents. Hogs have not shown up exceptionally large in receipts. Since Monday the supply has been only moderate. Prices have, however, been excellent. The week started out strongly, exhibiting itself at the $6.50 level, Tuesday going to $6.60 on a bunch of well finished stock. Wednesday $6.55 was the top, which remains today. Mining reports indicate a steady tendency in the price of copper. The daily Mining and Financial Record notes George L. Walker, the New York authority, as saying that the limit of production has been reached for the time being, showing that prices must continue high in view of the great demand.

JEROME DRY AND EVERYBODY HAPPY

North Side Town Sends Surplus booze to Jarbidge, via Twin Falls. Jerome Pleased With New Order.

So far as the liquor traffic is concerned every day is like election day in Jerome now, reports the News, of Jerome.

For a number of weeks the managers of the bars had been making provision for the closing. There was the usual crowd about the streets on New Year's eve, no more than would ordinarily be the case on such an occasion. The town council had authorized the employment of an additional officer, apprehending that the night would be an attempt made to have an hilarious time and a "rough house" at the closing. But nothing of the kind developed. The officers had nothing to do and there was no unseemly demonstration.

One of the bars wound up with a considerable stock of liquor on hand. The surplus was shipped on the morning closing hour, some by rail to Salt Lake City and some by wagon to Nevada. That which went to Nevada went out in four-hour teams by way of Twin Falls. The sheriff of that county even threatened to confiscate these shipments, but when it came to the test he decided he had allowed the consignment to go through without molestation.

Those lately engaged in the liquor business in Jerome express themselves as glad that they are out of it, and admit that one experience is enough for them. All are substituted citizens and most of them realize that there is an odium attached to the business that is not pleasant for them.

TO MAKE REPORT ON SALMON TRACT

Order Issued by Land Board at Request of Bondholders

BONDHOLDERS REPRESENTATIVE SAYS 45,000 PROPER ACREAGE

Manager of the Company Tells Land Board Question of Reclaiming Entrymen Is Sticking Point.

G. M. Hall, representing the bondholders of the Twin Falls Salmon River project and O. O. Higa, counsel, appeared before the state land board Friday and renewed a former request that the board have the state engineer inspect the project, and, if the construction work met with the approval of the board, approve and accept as much of it as has been completed. The state engineer was ordered to make the report.

According to Mr. Hall, it is rather a difficult matter to determine just how much of the project should be cut down.

"It is a hard matter to determine what shall be done with water rights on a project that has been reduced in acreage," said Mr. Hall. "Mr. Edwards, who made an investigation of conditions for the bondholders, thought the project should be cut down to forty-five thousand acres. Should this be done, it will mean a loss both to the settlers and bondholders, but in just what way the settlement can be effected is a matter confronting all who are interested in the project."

PROSPECTS BRIGHT BEYOND PRECEDENTS

Dunn's Review Sees Only Prosperity For the Year Which Is Now Beginning.

That business prospects for the year 1916 are bright beyond precedent, that there is scarcely a full trade on account of the holiday season, and that the year will be one of the greatest in the history of the country, are the conclusions of the review.

The review, which is now being published, is a full and complete statement of the business conditions for the year 1915-1916. It is a review of the year which is now beginning, and it is a review of the year which is now beginning.

welcome development. Consumers are covered months ahead, and a disposition is shown to make reservations for the last half of 1916, but most producing interests are not inclined to name prices for such an extended period. Unlike the last half of 1914, the year just ended was notable for constructive developments in American finance. After meeting and surmounting many trying situations, this country has established itself upon a more solid foundation than ever before and now holds the position of leadership in the money markets of the world.

Not a week passes without either the resumption of deferred payments or the declaration of increased and extra disbursements, and railway and industrial corporations will distribute their $250,000,000 to shareholders this month.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR IDAHO SEED GROWERS

Conditions were never more favorable for seed growing in Idaho than during the coming year. This is due to existing conditions in Europe which have practically destroyed the seed trade with the continent. The magnitude of this business has not been realized by the people of this country, not even by the people engaged in the seed trade themselves. The value of seed imported into this country represents many millions of dollars. During the year 1912-1913 the United States imported from France and Germany, over $12,000,000 worth of alfalfa and clover seed. The value of other seeds, as grass, grain and flower seeds, exceeds the above amount.

Some varieties of seeds have ceased to be listed by the wholesalers, while others have doubled in price. The same complaint of scarcity and high prices is heard from Canada and South America. The problem is before the country to grow their own seed and establish the seed growing industry in America. Canada is alive to the situation and is offering financial aid and a bounty to seed growers to help develop the industry in the Dominion.

It has already been demonstrated that successful seed growing can be carried on in Idaho. It is possible to establish the industry on a still larger scale. Seed growing is one of the most profitable forms of agriculture. The returns per acre from crops of seeds are almost unbelievable.

Idaho growers should become fully awakened to the situation and make a strenuous effort during the next two years to extend and establish the industry, thus insuring larger additional incomes for the farmers of the state.
