

COUNCIL TALKS
ON MANY THINGSImportant Matters Brought to Attention of FathersAUTO SHOW GETS PRIVILEGE OF RUNNING BANNERS.Requests Made For Extension of Short
Line Switch For Purpose of Building Warehouse.

A long session of the city council adjourned Monday night after listening to many requests, most of which were taken under advisement, granting a petition of Boyd Fuller to permit the auto show to advertise on streamers on cars and to hold their show without paying license.

The request from Boyd Fuller, who is managing the coming auto show, was the first thing taken up. Mr. Fuller in backing his request modestly said that an editorial in The Times of January 25, stated the reasons for making the concession more forcibly than he could do. The reasons seemed good to the council, who decided that the show was "of public interest and for the public benefit," and acted accordingly.

Two important petitions, one presented by T. J. Woods and the other by a number of residents of the affected district, had to do with the extension of the Short Line switch running behind the fruit growers' warehouse. The Woods petition asked only for the extension of one of the tracks across Second street, while the other asked for the extension of the other track across Shoshone street past blocks 143 and 144. The council agreed that if either should extend across Shoshone street, both should, in order that it not be torn up more frequently than necessary. All parties said that their purpose was to give the trucking for new warehouses, which would otherwise not be built at present. Mr. Woods said that he had a buyer for a certain lot who would like to purchase a new warehouse which could get switching facilities for a warehouse to be constructed at once if the concession was granted. The council took the matter under advisement for a week.

W. J. Luck said that he was out of luck in regard to the establishment of a gas tank for his auto in the street without a permit which he did not know was required. The council granted his request.

Several plumbers were present in regard to a proposed plumbing ordinance, which was laid before the council in the form of a resolution by E. Larson, who also read an amendment to the present ordinance governing the putting in of fixtures. The matter was referred to the city attorney and the plumbing inspector.

H. L. Dinkelschper brought up the matter of an amendment to the present ordinance which was referred to the proper committee and the clerk inspector.

The city clerk said that he had received a request from N. X. Wright, representative of a bonding house that Salt Lake City had sold $200,000 city bonds for a premium of $12,000. The street commissioner wanted permission to buy necessary rods for cleaning sewers, which was granted. The acceptance of N. X. Wright's request, however, was received and filed. Colonel Drake was present to ask for an arch light at the corner of Tenth and Shoshone. This was granted last year, but never carried into effect. It was granted.

B. F. Hines got $3 for digging for a "v" at the wrong spot when it appeared incorrectly on a plat.

LEWIS AND JOHNSON
SECURE ACQUITTALJury Hangs in Case of State Against J. W. Nance—(Will Case Now on Trial in Court.

The jury in the case of the state against W. T. Lewis and Orville Johnson on the charge of beating testimony brought in a verdict acquitting the defendants Friday. This is the third of the cases brought against the defendants by the state, which are the cases of Hagerman as complainants. It is understood that there will be no further prosecutions of these cases.

The case of the state against James W. Nance on the charge of having incited to his possession resulted in an acquittal.

A civil case entitled Carl L. Delong, trustee, against the Idaho State bank, has been on trial this week.

TEA FOR REST ROOM

The Mother's Surprise club will give a tea at the rest room to help raise funds for its maintenance on Saturday afternoon, February 12. Home made bread and cakes will be for sale.

WOOL CAR COMES TO TWIN FALLSWill Be Here For Six Hours Tomorrow Afternoon—All Are Urged to Visit It at Depot.

Arrangements have been made to bring the government wool car to this city tomorrow and it will be on the Short Line track at the depot for six hours beginning at 12:30 o'clock. In a circular addressed to patrons of the schools, R. H. Musser, agricultural instructor, explains the purposes of the car as follows:

It is with pleasure that I am writing you in regard to the "Wool Demonstration Car" which is to be in Twin Falls Wednesday afternoon, February 10.

There is hardly any necessity of my telling you that sheep raising and wool production are two of the leading industries of our western country.

Demonstrations in the past year have shown us that the farmer can profitably produce wool on the ranch along with other agricultural products, as well as the large producer. This being a fact, we are all more or less interested in the production of the better quality of wool.

The government has taken enough interest to send a "Wool Demonstration Car" to the west. This car has a man in charge who is a specialist in wool production. He will show us all grades of wool, their uses, and the steps in the manufacture of woolen goods from the raw material to the finished product. Live sheep will be used as specimens showing these grades of wool in the raw state. These live specimens will be secured here in our community.

By special arrangement and upon short notice, we have been able to get this car to stop in Twin Falls, Wednesday afternoon, February 9, from 12:30 p. m. until 6:30 p. m. only.

This will be a rare treat and we urge that you make a special effort to see the car. It will be on the tracks of the O. S. L., near the depot. This is free to you.

SHEEP EXPERIMENT
BILL FOR IDAHOCongressman Smith Introduces Bill for Sheep Experiments in Fremont County.

WASHINGTON—Representative Adolph T. Smith recently introduced at the request of the secretary of agriculture, a bill appropriating $30,000 to study the sheep experiment station in Fremont county, Idaho. This station is intended to investigate problems pertaining to the sheep and wool industry in this state and the ranges of the west. Of this appropriation $20,000 is to be expended in purchasing suitable irrigated land for raising hay and grain for winter feeding.

The station provided for in Mr. Smith's bill is intended to supplant a station now maintained on rented land in the state of Wyoming. That land has been put on the market and inasmuch as the station must be moved, the secretary of agriculture believes that it might better go to Idaho than to some other point in Wyoming.

If the Smith bill passes the station will be established near a town of about 200 people in the state of Idaho. The Wool Growers' association is strongly backing this measure and hopes to aid in bringing about its passage.

It has been never before known in agriculture for officials report.

STORAGE COMPANY
FURNISHED IN CITYF. C. Spencer and His Son Open Garage and Store Room in Old Central Garage on Shoshone.

A general storage, auto livery and garage was opened today in the old Central Auto company stand at 315 Shoshone west, by F. C. Spencer and his son, A. C. Spencer, under the firm name of Spencer & Spencer. The back part of the building will be fenced off for general storage while the front will be used for the general auto livery and garage business. The Central Auto company moved Thursday afternoon to its new quarters on South Second and the Spencers at once rented the building which they began to operate Monday. They are well known in this city, having lived here many years. F. C. Spencer was at one time street commissioner.

School statistics for the county have been collected by County Superintendent Noel, showing the increase in the county 29 years old and over of 1332 over two years ago.

TRUSTEES IN SESSION.

The meeting of the school trustees of this county opened today in Buhl for a two-day session. The movable school will be in Buhl all week, opening Wednesday in Piler and Kimberly for three days, beginning today.

TABERNACLE WAS DEDICATED SUNDAYImmense Crowd Gathers to Witness the CeremoniesExcursion of 100 Comes From Kimberly and Hansen.Singing Proves Magnificent—Mayor Calls Attention to Safety of Structure in Case of Fire.

In spite of bad weather and oceans of sleet, 1500 people collected in the immense Silver Tabernacle for the dedicating service Sunday afternoon, 10, for the purpose. The choir singing, led by George H. Hedden, was magnificent and assured the people of the success of that part of the festival. The Kimberly and Hansen contingent came into the tabernacle singing, to the edification of those present.

The program opened with a scripture reading by Rev. C. L. Bent, followed by a prayer by Rev. S. S. Neher. A solo, "Christ Is My All," was then given by George Hedden. The formal address of welcome was delivered by Mayor E. M. Sweetley who spoke words of greeting, and incidentally he stressed the safety of the tabernacle, calling attention to the fact that it had stood successfully the extraordinary strain of the great snow and that the means of egress were so perfect that the hall could be emptied in 30 seconds in case of fire.

George H. Hedden then spoke of the tabernacle, whom he described as the greatest practical orator living. He gave the following facts relative to the church leader who will have charge of the music during the meetings: Charles Butler, the soloist and chorus leader, is undoubtedly the greatest gospel song leader and singer of today. He is known the world over. Torrey and Alexander's world tour some years ago. Later he was associated with Billy Sunday for two years. He will conduct a thirty minutes song service every evening and the musical talent of Twin Falls county will enjoy singing under this religious musical leader. Mrs. Butler will accompany Mr. Butler and they will sing duets together. Their rendering of the duet "God Will Take Care of You" is a treat to the world over. The congregational singing at these meetings will be a big feature for when Charles Butler leads an audience they can sing like a choir and this alone will draw crowds to the tabernacle for miles around.

He also mentioned with praise, Miss Josephine, a Scotch soprano, and Mrs. J. S. Sorrell, leader of the women's meetings during the campaign.

Addresses by Rev. Stewart of Kimberly and by the local pastors, and the singing of several hymns by the choir, closed the meeting.

ASSURANCES NEEDED
SAYS HORNIBROOKAttorney Declares That Land Board
Plan Should Only be Considered if It Can be Carried Out.

"I have not thoroughly examined the proposition put before the land board for the solution of the difficulty on the S. 100 tract," said Attorney E. J. Hornibrook Monday. "I think that before the settlers would consider it seriously, they would want to have some definite assurance that the plan would be carried out. If they received such assurance and the amount of land were cut to the 32,000 acres mentioned over the above the hands of the state and schools, they might at least consider the proposition, but I am not prepared to say that they should adopt it even then. It would be foolish for them to enter into any agreement with those with whom they contracted might fail to carry out their pledges as the old company has done."

WATSON AND BEAL TAKE THE
OVERLAND AGENCY IN CITY
Harry Watson and H. S. Beale, the former as agent and the latter as salesman, have taken the Overland agency and have just received a load which are now on exhibition at the Central garage in its new location at 133 south Second.

The new 1916 Overland of the 75 and 85 models, according to Mr. Beale, several new features, one of which is a reduced price. Others are the new electric lighting system, with head rail dash lights and head lights, a new electric horn, a new electric current, a revolving oil indicator and one-man motor. The Twin Falls Auto company has charge of the service.

BONDS CARRY BY AN IMMENSE MAJORITYOnly Eleven Out of Two Hundred and Sixty-Five AgainstPEOPLE CAME THROUGH SNOW
'STORM TO CAST THEIR VOTES.Voters Are Counted at Special Session and Results Wield Bond Attorney—City Acting Promptly.

That the people of Twin Falls are overwhelmingly in favor of doing over the present waterworks system, at a cost of $80,000, was evidenced Thursday by the overwhelming majority given the waterworks bonds, as only 11 out of 265 votes counted, were against them. One ballot was decisively marked and thrown out. People came out through the blinding storm to express their preferences. In the first ward 136 votes were cast, of which only two were against the bonds. In the second ward there were 127 votes of which all but one were for the bonds. The council met at a special session and counted the ballots after which City Attorney Herriott telegraphed to the bond attorneys in Denver giving the results. The council then adjourned. The council met in regular session last night, so it is assumed that all the action will come to this city in a few days. The city is acting as expeditiously as possible in order to get the bonds moving, as nothing definite has been done until the transfer is formally made, although it is practically only a matter of form.

SAXON CAR OPENS A
NEW HEADQUARTERSJ. W. Laubenheim Comes to Reside in City and Take Charge of District of Five Counties.

The Saxon car will open headquarters in this city at the old King headquarters on Main avenue north at once, under the management of J. W. Laubenheim, who comes here from Vernon, Ill., to make his home and to take charge of the distribution of the Saxon motor cars for the five counties of Twin Falls, Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine and Cassia. He will also handle local distribution. His family is now visiting in Colorado, but will be here shortly. R. J. Hahn, of Pocatello, is also here, and will probably be sent to Bull to take charge of the sub-station there, though he will temporarily be city salesman in this city. Mr. Laubenheim has only a touring car here at present, but will have a carload of machines here now on the road, in the city tomorrow.

Mr. Laubenheim says that the Saxon was the first car to cross the continental divide, and that he is now claiming much for it in the way of cheapness and efficiency. He carries good recommendations as a business man, banker and others where he has lived.

NO INQUEST NEEDED
IN THE BAUER CASELumberjacks Who Died Suddenly Evidently Submitted to Natural Causes, Nothing of Past Known.

Having ascertained that the cause of death of John Bauer, found dead at the small house on Second avenue south on the night of February 1, was due to heart failure, a coroner's inquest was deemed unnecessary. Otto Hauer, who roomed with Bauer, left the man in good health in the evening only to find him dead on his return here on Monday. On Tuesday Mr. Bauer publicly gave the affair a woman in Salt Lake City wrote this week to the local police saying that she thought perhaps it was her missing husband, but a description accompanying the letter showed that she was mistaken. Bauer was about 45 years old and was employed by the Twin Falls Forest and Ice company last summer. Nothing was known of his past career.

MERCHANTS TO PLAN
THE PAYUP WEEKMeeting of Association Tonight to Take Steps Toward Organization for the Affair.

The Merchants' association meets tonight for the purpose of making final preparations for Payup Week from February 21 to 25 and plans to organize systematically for the work. Speaking of this matter a gentleman connected with the work said on a cash basis and millions of indebtedness paid in this way.

"This plan is for the business man to pay the farmer and laborer if he owes them anything; for the farmer and laborer to pay the business man if they owe him anything; each to pay the other, the preacher, or anyone else, and thus pass the dollars around until a single piece of coin may during the week find its way to twenty times its value in debts.

"No one can say an occasional ball game of accounts is not a good thing, but how many bills they owe or the total how even a small debt will become a burden to the man carrying it at times and few there are who realize how many bills they owe or the total amount of such indebtedness. Very often it happens that a man will have owed ten or fifteen dollars and when he comes to pay he finds he really owes twice that amount. This causes retrenchment until he is paid up, and the other man gets his bearings and curtails his expenditures, where necessary the better he is off in the end.

In addition to getting people in the habit of being more thrifty this national season of liquidation will most certainly put money in the markets of trade which is probably the most important at the present time doing nobody any particular good. Let's all try the plan and beginning with the least of graphic design who closes his playing our surplus to paying the other fellow. It will be a great benefit to everybody, and those of us who owe help will be helped our neighbors will feel better."

CABARET SINGER
REGRETS LEAVINGMiss Estelle McNeil Goes to Honolulu
But Will Return—Public Reception
Tomorrow Night.

"Yes, I am going to leave Twin Falls Thursday evening with my mother, Mrs. McNeil, who has secured a contract for a two months engagement with the Alexander Young hotel," said Miss Estelle McNeil, the popular cabaret singer who closes her engagement with the Regency Cafe at a reception tomorrow night.

"I want you to say," added Miss McNeil, "that I regret to leave Twin Falls and that I shall return here immediately on the completion of my engagement there, which may extend a month longer than the terms of my contract. I do not because my health is not the best and my mother believes that the sea air will do me good. I am a poor sailor, however, and fear I shall not enjoy the voyage. While the engagement there seems quite advantageous, and will be profitable to me, I am personally rather sad in this city, were it not for my health, and shall be glad to return, I am sure, at the end of my trip."

There will be a reception for Miss McNeil tomorrow night from 9 o'clock until midnight to which a general invitation has been extended to the public. Another singer has been engaged by Mrs. Arroll, and will be here in a few days.

SALMON WATER
BREAKS CANALManager Portfield of the Canal Company, Called to Buhl by Break
Caused by Water From Salmon.

That water from the Salmon tract could cause enough trouble to do any damage need not be said to many, but Manager J. C. Portfield of the Canal company, was called today to Buhl to repair a break in the high levee, which he says resulted mostly from surplus water from the Salmon. The break is 50 yards wide, but the banks are shallow and great difficulty is anticipated in fixing it.

NEW FURNITURE AT TWIN FALLS
AUTO CO'S HEADQUARTERS
The Twin Falls Auto company this week installed a new show case at its headquarters in order to more conveniently display its increased stock of furniture. The company has received a large shipment of tires and now carries perhaps the largest tire stock in southern Idaho.

SOCIETY DEMANDS
NONPARTISANSHIPState Horticultural Association
Passes Strong ResolutionsSPEECHES ATTEMPT TO INJECT PERSONALITIES.Mrs. Harvey of Buhl Reads Excellent Paper—Interesting Program Completed.

Having squelched in its incipency, the attempt to inject politics into the 1916 resolution offered by C. J. Shedd asking E. F. Stephens and C. F. Hartley to explain whether or not they had any understanding with Governor Alexander leading to their appointment, the state horticultural meeting in session here last week, the horticultural association, asking that the legislature take steps to remove all appointive officers from politics and after carrying out the advertised program, except so far as presented by the legislature, to remove the legislature from politics.

The Shedd resolution was seconded by Walter E. Wood, but was lost after several speakers, led by Senator O. G. Zuck, had vigorously protested. These gentlemen interpreted the resolution as a slam at Governor Alexander, whose record with reference to fruit growers and fruit inspection Senator Zuck defended. The question of the adequacy of the present appropriation for fruit inspectors was also discussed with some spirit, the majority of those participating in the meeting stating that if each fruit grower would act as an inspector for his own and his neighbors' orchard, the appropriation was large enough. The resolution finally adopted read as follows:

"Whereas, in the enactment of the horticultural law, it was the intention of the authors that members of the state board of horticultural inspection should be appointed in accordance with the recommendation of the State Horticultural association; and

"Whereas, for the first time since the original enactment of the law in 1892, such resolution offered by C. J. Shedd, in a resolution at the last meeting of the association, were ignored by the governor of the state; and

"Whereas, in the proceedings instituted to test the legality of the action of the governor it was held by the supreme court of the state that the present law did not make it mandatory upon the governor to follow such recommendations of the association; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the next legislation be asked to enact such legislation as will carry out the intent of the authors of the present law in connection with the appointment of members of the state board of horticultural inspection.

"Resolved, further, that it is the desire of this association that the state board of horticultural inspection shall be a non-partisan body, and the commission should therefore be instructed to prepare a bill for presentation.

BUHL AT OUTS
WITH COMMISSIONPublic Utilities Commission Gives Orders Which City Will Fight to Supreme Court.

The city of Buhl is tangled up with the public utility commission over the right of that state body to dictate in regard to the price to be charged by municipal plants which do not come in contact with any competitive concern in the same business, the question at issue being raised by the attempt on the part of the commission to force the city to report in a certain way relative to its waterworks system. The commission sent notice to the west end city to file a report in conformity with the rules governing private corporations. The city failed to comply with the commission's order. As a result City Attorney W. R. Green and Councilman Thomas Clinton went to Boise yesterday with a view of contesting the order for the purpose of fighting the law and carrying it to the supreme court if necessary. The Buhl people contend that their attitude is in the line of self preservation and that they understand conditions in their community better than the commission does. Should the commission be sustained for their action it can not only put the city to considerable expense, but can dictate in regard to all matters pertaining to the governing of the city.

At present Buhl has the same man in charge of the water system and the same crew of men, the first on one and then on the other. To segregate those works it is asserted would cause a big increase in expense of the city.

WYOMING PLAN IS

ENDORSED BY LANE

Secretary of Interior and Commissioner of Education Favor System For School Drill.

WASHINGTON—Volunteer military training camp for high school pupils, and a general plan for volunteer military organization and drill in all high schools, are urged as a part of the preparedness program by Secretary K. Lane, of the Interior department, and by P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education.

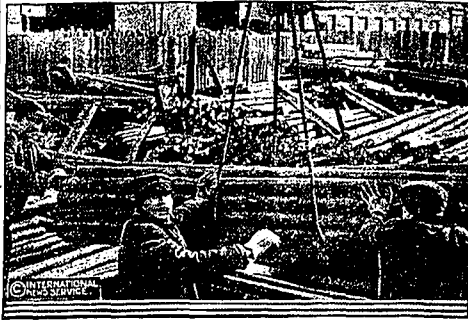

In a letter to Senator McCumber endorsing the bill the latter has introduced providing for the establishment and management by the secretary of war of training camps for high school pupils, Secretary Lane calls attention to a plan for military training for high school pupils which has been drafted by Lieut. E. Z. Stever, of the United States army.

The Stever report is known as the Wyoming plan, because it has been put into effect in the high schools of that state. It is at present being introduced in the high schools of the city of Washington.

While service in these high school military organizations is voluntary, it is said that from ninety to ninety-eight per cent of the students adopt it.

In a draft of the Stever report sent by Secretary Lane to the senator, Senator McCumber, attention is called to the fact that military drill does not necessarily accompany preparedness.

TIME CONSERVATORY CLEARLY EXPLAINED

Paper by E. F. Stevens Tells How Spraying is Done in the Orchard of Company He heads.

In order to save time and make progress in the work of spraying its three hundred acres of commercial orchard, at Nampa, Idaho, the Stephens Orchard company erected an elevated tank, which is kept filled from a nearby well by a gasoline engine. This elevated tank discharges through a four-inch pipe, quickly filling the service tanks used in field work.

Each of the two spraying outfits has a three and one-half horse power engine developing two hundred pounds pressure, and each is equipped with two leads to hose and drives elongated tanks. The tank in orchard service is sprayed out in about twenty-three to twenty-five minutes. That the three men with each power sprayer may not be delayed in their work each outfit is followed by a helper tank, filled either from the elevated tank or from a nearby irrigation ditch.

To enable the helper tank to discharge its contents quickly into the tank of the power outfit, it is elevated about thirty inches above the hose to the service wagon, enabling it to empty in it in two and one-half to three minutes through a four-inch pipe. The power tank drives elongated tanks, and the helper tank discharges its load into the tank of the power outfit while the horsemen are spraying the last four trees, causing but little delay to the work.

An equipment of this character requires a four-inch outlet pipe bolted into the end, at the bottom of the helper tank. This pipe has an elbow screwed in, and on top of the elbow a four-inch tin pipe in two sections gives a length of eight feet, reaching from the helper wagon to the power outfit and discharging its load, as above noted, with very brief delay. Equipped in this manner we find that nine men and eight horses can apply four tanks per hour, or 7000 to 8000 gallons per day.

The acreage of land of the highest obtainable quality, costs at Nampa $2.50 per hundred pounds. Using eight pounds per tank of 200 gallons the solution in each tankful costs 60.8 cents. The cost of application for each tankful is from 65 to 75 cents. The amount of orchard covered each day depends upon the age and size of the trees.

The bulk of our orchards are in five-year form; about sixty acres in seven-year form, and we have sprayed our neighbors' trees in twelve-year form. In making the entire spray we use high power and the Bordeaux nozzle, in the hope of driving the poison into the calyx of the apple.

The new spray is the foliage spray and is applied while the eggs are being deposited by the first brood of codling moth, from the 15th to the 25th of May, depending upon the warmth of the season.

It is not usual for the moths to deposit their eggs until the night temperature reaches sixty degrees. This second, or leaf spray, is applied in the form of a mist, using a different type of nozzle.

The object of this particular spray is to coat the foliage and the outside of the young fruit with poison. The eggs of the codling moth are usually deposited on the foliage of trees bearing fruit. It is expected that the larva, which hatches in eight or ten days after the egg is deposited, will eat a little on its way to the apple, and thus be destroyed.

For the leaf spray we plan to increase the strength of the solution to ten pounds of arsenate of lead to two hundred gallons, making the arsenate of lead for each two-hundred-gallon tankful cost 65 cents.

The third spray is applied when the eggs of the second brood are being deposited, using ten pounds of the best arsenate of lead to the 200-gallon tankful.

FARMERS TO GO STATE MEETING

Many of Those at Horticultural Meeting and Many Others Say They Will Attend—Program Good.

Much interest was manifested here during the meeting of the state horticultural association in the forthcoming state-wide farmers' conference, which will meet in the state capitol at Boise, February 14, for a three-day session, and many from this part of the state who were at the association meeting declared that they would likewise attend the conference. The importance of this meeting will, it was stated by horticulturists, be greatly enhanced by the presence of representatives of the government office of markets, and the federal trade commission who will offer their views on the solution of commercial problems. The interest in this meeting, however, is not confined to horticulturists as the program covers practically every department in which the people of the country are interested.

Among the subjects considered will be: A better system of fruit marketing; The livestock market situation; Co-operative packing plants; The grain situation; Farmers' elevators and flour mills; Farmers' stores; Crop and market reports; Rural credits and legislative needs of the farmer; Potatoes, dairying and other matters.

The meeting will be conducted by farmers and not merely for farmers and the people of the state are said to have a fine program ready for the entertainment of the agriculturists and the wives during the three days which they will be there.

RUNS INTO A BRIDGE

Last Saturday night, says the Fiber Journal, Ed Ripley started to the basketball game in Twin Falls in his big Garford car loaded with ten people. His lights were so dim, and the ground covered with snow that he had difficulty in seeing the road. When he reached the couley near the Hogg place he hit the end of the bridge. Ray Lee, who was riding in the front seat with him, went through the windshield, while those in the rear were badly shaken up. The car was knocked out of commission and the basketball players and others in the car were compelled to walk to Curry where they telephoned to Twin Falls for cars to come and get them.

They arrived in Twin after ten o'clock and as a consequence of being out in the cold so long, could not play the game in the hall of candles. The candles were badly defeated. The return game will be played sometime in the near future when the boys hope to make a better showing.

SNOW TROUBLED MINISTER

ON HIS NORTHSIDE TRIP Rev. J. D. Keith of Hollister, was in this city Saturday on his way back from a trip to the northside on which it was intended to deliver a series of talks. He went to Eden and spoke there to a small crowd, but the next morning found the road closed to Hazelton. He started to walk the six miles intervening between the two towns, but found the snow so deep that he played out at the end of a mile. He then hired a sleigh which took him to Hazelton where he caught the train and rode to the caboose to the road and rode in the caboose to Hazelton.

Ask for S. & H. Green Trading Stamps—They Are Valuable

There is a new breed of lumberman in the land. He is quite an improvement over the old variety.

He has gotten it pretty firmly into his cranium that he has to become more than a board peddler——or the public will kick him off the job.

The lumber yard will continue to be an institution for profit, but it is a new conception of things that the profits have to be earned—not "taken."

As far as this outfit is concerned, they are starting in right now to qualify themselves to do the earning. A step at a time, all our people are becoming more helpful to the public they serve. Their advice on little or big building problems is going to be worth something.

BULL NEWS

(From the Bull Herald)

At a meeting of the Bull firemen Monday evening, it was decided to have the annual firemen's ball at the Bull opera house, on St. Valentine's day, Monday, February 14th. The committee have been appointed and no effort will be spared to make it one of the big events of the year. The hall will be decorated with colors appropriate to the occasion, and good music has been arranged for. Each member of the fire company has been designated as a committee to see that all strangers are shown a good time. The question of engaging a band was discussed, and it was decided that it would be of advantage to not do so. Haggling will be frowned upon, and it is desired that the ball be a success. Practically all the people in Bull attend the annual firemen's ball, and many of them look forward to it with much anticipation. Frank Fading was the master of the ball for the last year.

C. A. Iden closed the deal with Jas. Machacek, February 1st, and immediately took over the Sanitary Bakery, which he will operate in connection with the Home Cafe, and he moved the show cases from the Sanitary Bakery building to the cafe room, from which he will sell bread. Frank Fading was formerly proprietor of the Sanitary Bakery, but he moved to his farm northwest of Bull, and he sold his fixtures to Mr. Machacek, the owner of the Sanitary Bakery building. Mr. Machacek, in turn leased the building and the fixtures to Mr. Iden, who will continue to conduct an up-to-date bakery business.

About fifty-one members of Company K attended church services at the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening, and most of them wore their uniforms, though they did not carry side arms. Reverend Van Patton is a member of the local organization, and his sermon Sunday night was addressed to the members of the company. It was a good sermon, full of common sense, and the members of the company are glad to have attended.

At a meeting of the Tuesday Civic club February 1st, after an animated discussion of the rent room, it was decided the policy of running the room must be changed. Miss Chamberlin consented to take charge for one month. In connection with the rent room she will conduct a "Woman's Exchange," an employment bureau and a tea room. As this is for the benefit of the public, she would like for the ladies of the country and town to call in and talk it over with her. Give her suggestions and advice. She will be glad to explain the plans to you. We hope the exchanging of ideas may be beneficial to all. This is for the comfort and convenience of the public. Let us all boost and make a success of it.

That war had been declared by the United States and that Company K of the Second Idaho Infantry had been ordered to proceed to Boise for three months intensive training preparatory to mobilization at San Francisco was the second division, was a rumor in circulation in Bull Tuesday afternoon. It was given considerable credence owing to a dispatch read by Lieut. Stoe, color was also lent to the rumor when Capt. Biggs called the lieutenant by phone to Dr. Wederbee's office to confer with General Crow who was in town between times. In the evening about twenty members of the company together with a number who wanted to enlist, met Capt. Biggs coming out of a restaurant and asked for verification of the rumor. He was at a loss to understand what they were driving at but happened to think of the weekly "field problem" just received from headquarters. He tumbled then to what was in the air. He read the "problem" to them but did not explain that it was similar to ones received by the officers each week to be solved as a part of their regular course of instruction. By Wednesday morning the rumor had been twisted in all kinds of shapes. Red blood came to the surface. Had the officers of the second company opened the muster rolls they would have been filled in a few minutes. The truth finally leaked out—the disappointment of many.

The students of the Bull high school entertained the rest of the school last Friday evening at a dancing party in the school gymnasium. Music was furnished by the Holmes orchestra, and at eleven o'clock they said their good nights, but everyone present had a delightful time.

Much has been added to making the stage of the Bull opera house more beautiful, by putting in a new set of scenery, consisting of a parlor scene, which is readily converted into any other room scene, and a grand Drapery of several shades of red and green has been hung across the top and front of the stage. The work was done by L. G. Chapman, who lives three miles west of Bull, and it is a neat piece of work.

The team of John Jacoby, Sr., ran away from Charley-somebody, and Pat Trumpfetter last Monday noon, and dashed down the road from the northeast corner of the townsite, and down the street to the Jacoby home where they were caught by John Jr. No injury resulted, and no damage was done to the wagon.

A dance was held in the school Saturday evening at which time a dancing club was organized. W. B. Morrison was elected president, Lee Hoover vice president, and Charles F. Watkins secretary and treasurer. We understand that the membership is to include all the residents of the district who wish to attend but that others must present invitations. This is to do away with the crowded conditions that has prevailed at a number of the late dances.

As Mr. and Mrs. George Drommerhausen were leaving the Kueckert corner Saturday afternoon, on their way home from town, a part of the buggy broke which lowered the vehicle and caused it to become frightened. It began kicking and continued at a great rate until it succeeded in freeing itself of the buggy. Mrs. Drommerhausen was fortunate enough to escape unhurt, but Mr. Drommerhausen was kicked on the limb by the animal and at present writing is suffering considerable discomfort because of the injury. He was able, with the aid of his wife, to mount the horse and proceeded to the home of L. A. White, who kindly took his neighbors to their home.

Some of the friends of Mrs. G. N. Davis, sister of Mr. C. H. Finest, were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Tuesday evening, and happily surprised her by reminding her that it was her birthday. Each family brought something good to eat, and after a delightful time spent in playing cards and with social conversation, the table was laden with the edibles, and all enjoyed the feast.

R. C. Morse, manager of the Bull Milling and Elevator company, left for Columbus, Nebraska, Monday evening in response to a telegram to the effect that his sister, Mrs. Charles Campbell, had died. His sister had been suffering from heart trouble, but he thought that she had been improving for the month past, until he received a telegram Monday morning saying that his sister was seriously ill. Mr. Morse prepared to start for Nebraska the same day, and he received another telegram just before the train left, that she had died. Mr. Morse will be gone about ten days or two weeks.

COLDWELL GIRL IS KILLED BY TRAIN

CALDWELL — Killed morning at about 8:45 the belated morning Pony ran into a horse and two-wheeled cart at the Oregon Short Line crossing, just west of the Union stock yards. The horse was thrown upon the south side of the track, about 50 feet, and the carriage on the north side. The horse was instantly killed, says the Caldwell News. The carriage contained two occupants, Mary and Genevieve Garvin, aged respectively 16 and 13 years, who were on their way to school.

The girls were put upon stretchers and brought to the depot and given in to the hands of Agent Farrar, who immediately called the company's physician at this place. The older girl, Mary, sustained a broken collar bone, and a wrenched back. The younger girl, Genevieve, had her arm and leg broken and she was injured about the hips. About midnight Friday night the younger child died.

A PROPOSED PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT.

Being about to sell the tract of land that has passed as a county poor farm, although not well situated and without any of the necessary buildings, and the state health officers having closed, upon sanitary grounds, the city building heretofore used as a poor house, it was up to the commissioners of Twin Falls county to make the next move. Under such circumstances, although no record action was had, at a meeting of the board held recently, it was agreed, unanimously, to erect a county, or public, hospital—provided the same could be done within the amount of money at present available for the purpose. And in order to positively determine with regard to the cost, it was further agreed to at once invite from contractors competitive bids for a building of substantially the desired size and character, which will be done so soon as the necessary plans and specifications can be prepared.

The plans now under consideration are, of course, only tentative—the details as to convenience and adaptability presumably to be worked out under expert advice. They contemplate, however, a five-story building, ninety-eight by thirty-eight feet on the ground, with but a single floor above the basement, which is substantially all above the ground. This will accommodate some twenty patients, and can be enlarged to a growing demand, either by additional stories or by wings.

Interviews with a number of the medical profession in our city indicate that they welcome the proposed improvement quite unanimously and very heartily. Many points of interest and seeming importance were also brought out by their comments on the project. "We are out of the sage-brush period," said one, "and while a small hospital is sufficient to begin with, it should be absolutely modern and up-to-date in construction and equipment." All who were seen favored an arrangement by which, so long as room remained not needed for the public use, any reputable physician could there house and treat patients of his own, who would, of course, pay for the accommodation—thus not only materially reducing the cost of maintenance to the taxpayers, but also insuring the presence at all times of nurses and a hospital staff. The county hospital at Pocatello, we were told, is in this way made actually self-supporting.

From another quarter came the suggestion that the municipality might, if desired by the county authorities, join in the project, thus enlarging its scope and dividing the expense. This came with thought of the name that would attach to the institution—it being premised that "County" Hospital smacked too much of the poor house, and that "Municipal," "Public," or "People's" would be a more desirable prefatory word. When a man is down and out, for some reason he is sensitive about anything that suggests "poor house," that synonym for wretchedness and hardship. Then there might be prospective patients who would be able to pay a part of the expense of support and treatment, and would undoubtedly be more ready to enter an institution that did not, by its very name, stigmatize them as paupers.

Of course the proposal to receive private and pay cases assumes that it would be under proper supervision by some adequate authority, in order that moribund cases might not queer the undertaking at an early stage by fatalities, nor contagion be introduced with the same result, and to avoid the possibility of illegitimate practice, all or any of which would have a very damaging effect, especially at an early period in the life of the undertaking.

"The Modern Hospital," a magazine which is the mouthpiece of the American Hospital Association, and which is devoted to the scientific and technical, as well as the practical, in hospital construction and management, was brought to notice by one of the physicians in our city. In an article devoted to the smaller hospitals it says that out of 6,500 hospitals that were existent in the United States, only 400, fewer than two hundred had capacity for over two hundred patients each. Evidently a great work is being done by the small hospitals; and there is no reason to doubt that when this purpose of our county commissioners shall come to fruition it will prove not only a great practical benefit to both town and county, but also something of which all will be proud and which will further enhance the fine reputation that is already had abroad by both Twin Falls county and city.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM ASKED.

Although there are a few constitutional opponents of all sorts of regulation in no way interested in public utilities to be found among those leading the fight against the sort of national regulation of franchises of power companies provided for in pending legislation before congress, and although there are a number of extreme states rights men lined up on the same side, the backbone of the opposition consists in those identified with the great power companies as stockholders, owners or attorneys. This does not imply personal dishonesty on the part of such opponents, even if their criticism should be found erroneous, as their occupation might unconsciously bias their minds. The plea made by the attorneys and friends of the companies is that the sort of regulation proposed by the bill will entirely prevent development, but there is at least room to doubt this unless it is conclusively demonstrated, and it is deserving of careful examination before being finally accepted. Years ago the same plea was made by railroads, who claimed that any attempt at effective regulation would mean the cessation of railroad building and development. Whether it is true or not that the railroads are correct in saying that regulation is sometimes carried too far, the creation of railroad commissions with power to act did not prevent the further construction of those modern highways. Finding that settlement of the question of regulation there is no doubt that there was a temporary lull in some cases, which the roads pointed out as an alleged proof that no progress would be made thereafter were the supposedly destructive legislation enacted. A superficial reading of the proposed power regulation law does not indicate that it is so formidable, and it is quite possible that should it be enacted, the men of money would not be quite so hesitant about investing as they now pretend that they would be.

A franchise is the giving away of a value that belongs to the community as a whole and the corporation receiving one becomes quasi-public by reason of the fact. Unregulated these tend inevitably toward unrestricted monopoly. While it is within the legitimate province of government to operate all branches of industry that are natural monopolies, and while some standard economists assert that it will eventually be necessary for the government to own and operate them in order to avoid either socialism or the domination of monopolies, it is quite clear that the government is not at this time prepared to exercise all its undoubted rights in these cases. On the other hand, it would be a hardship, indeed a calamity, to tie up natural resources indefinitely for governmental operation which might never take place. Under such circumstances, it would seem that the proper thing to do would be to grant franchises in such way that the country would be developed and at the same time the rights of the people would be protected. This is undoubtedly the purpose of the law now pending which has received the unbounded denunciation of the public service monopolies of this state and the honest criticisms of those who apply the doctrine of laissez faire in a manner not intended by the standard economists of that school. Whether the law is designed to secure the results desired is a question of fact. In this respect the critics have been to blame to indulge in generalities in regard to the weak points said to be found in the proposed measure and to ignore the sort of protection which any law of this kind should give to conserve public interest. The law should be fair to the public as well as to the investor.

If it is not, then its critics should point out wherein it should be amended so as to get such result. Mere denunciation of the law means nothing. It would be a serious mistake to enact a law which would not permit the development of natural resources in such way as to redound to the benefit of the people. It would be criminal to permit the granting of perpetual, unregulated and exclusive franchises to private interests that might use them to oppress the people in the future. Those who object to tearing down, should in this case not content themselves by merely trying to tear down proposed legislation, which may indeed be defective, but should be prepared to offer feasible amendments to build up such measures so that they would protect the people no less than favor private interests. The attitude of most critics of this measure, both the interested and the disinterested, has been destructive and not constructive.

CERTAIN ADVERTISING NOT IN FAVOR.

Responding to an inquiry from the Duke Advertising Agency as to why the advertising matter of the Dr. and Mrs. Dr. Chanley Co. had been discontinued and requesting its reinstatement in the columns of the paper, THE TIMES replied refusing to reinstate the advertisement, giving as a reason that the Chanley company virtually promised to cure cancer and that medical advertising making such broad assertions could not find place in its columns. The Chanley company advertisement starts out with the statement: "I will give $1000 if I fail to cure any cancer or tumor I treat before it poisons deep glands or attaches to bone." Who the "I" is the reader is left to infer if he can. The advertisement also says that any tumor, lump or sore long on the lip, face or body is cancer. Any lump on a woman's breast is cancer." Both statements palpably untrue. The cut sent carries a horrid picture which may either be taken for a picture of a cancer, or for some supposed microbe assumed to be responsible for the disease. Advertising of this sort does not go.

NOTHING TO IT.

The Boise Daily Statesman gives the Komment a nice little write-up, closing with the assertion that "if the man at his head is not a newspaper man he ought to be."

To which we enter a plea of not guilty, and, assuming the burden of proof, we offer as Exhibit A: the average newspaper man—a sal-low-fused, tired appearing individual whose days are spent in writing long-winded editorials advising the people to patronize home merchants and whose nights are spent in devising schemes to prevent the home merchants from ordering their printing from the cheap-john printshops of Zion City and Los Angeles.

No, we are not a newspaperman, neither had we nor anyone else ought to be. "Company Kay Komment," Bah!

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE THEATRE GOERS

TO NEW YORK and entered musical comedy.

In 1908 he joined the Biograph as an extra and filled in for about two years

"The Devil's Daughter" is a screen play of tremendous and undeniably powerful in its depiction of an evilly beautiful Greek, who like the Leda of ancient Greek mythology, is half serpent and half woman in her nature. Miss Bara's work in parts of this type has become world famous from such William Fox productions as "The Cleopatra Case," "A Fool There Was," etc., in each of which the French leading woman in the part of a fascinating diabolical temptress has won international fame. Miss Bara's striking and beautiful face has been called "The Wickedest in the World."

"The Devil's Daughter" opens with the theft of La Gioconda's jewels by Lucio, a former lover while she is being embraced by Antonio who has just returned from his exploits as a thief. Lucio leaves a note telling her that he has stolen the jewels out of vengeance and she will never see him again. La Gioconda discovers the note after Antonio has left. Her passionate rage is terrific over the theft.

Time passes and we see Gaddi, an old sculptor, modeling the beautifully formed hands of Sylvia. Lucio, the daughter of a neighbor, while Francesca, her sister, looks on. Lucio, a young sculptor and pupil of Gaddi, is struck by Sylvia's pure beauty, as fragrant with youth and sweetness as the white lilies she is holding. With Sylvia and Lucio the countess of love smoothly and they are married. Lucio becomes a great sculptor.

Then in an evil day La Gioconda comes to the quiet seaside retreat of the famed sculptor. Suddenly he comes upon "The Devil's Daughter" stretched out in the sun with an animal-like enjoyment of life. She transfixed Lucio with a glance from her heavily-lidded eyes and sculptor returns her glance. Gioconda determines to ruin Lucio, who, as a cultured sculptor, is a shining mark for her ambition.

Struck by her extraordinary beauty Lucio begs her to pose for him as The Sphinx. Sylvia becomes jealous of the beautiful model with whom Lucio is more and more fascinated every day. Finally the Vampire dominates his life completely. At last driven insane by The Vampire's wiles Lucio tries to end his life by shoving himself before the statue of The Sphinx which is now completed.

Finally Gioconda rushes at the statue of The Sphinx seeking to destroy it. Sylvia intervenes. The statue is saved from its base and falls upon Sylvia's beautiful hands, crushing them into shapeless pulp. Lucio goes insane when he learns what has happened but La Gioconda glazes over the wreck she has made of two lives. Sylvia Lucio as soon as she is able, taking with her little Berta. Lucio is a prey to fearful visions and constantly seeks the mocking form of La Gioconda taunting him in his fits of delirium. The climax startlingly and rises to great dramatic heights. La Gioconda's evil career marked by ruined careers and withered hopes suffers a fearful end in a scene of overwhelming power and another sensational climax brings this most impressive modern drama to a dramatic close.

as it will be presented in all its magical grandeur and simple stillness, at the Lavington Theatre Monday, February 14, by the Broadway Amusement Co.'s New York company of players and singers, were constructed under the Alexander system first introduced in this country by Charles Frohman. When Mr. Frohman announced to the New York press his intention of using a new scenic equipment which could be unbolted and placed in canvas tarpaulin measuring 14 feet long, his sixty managers looked askance and with deep skepticism "push-probed" this advanced idea in doing away with the cumbersome frame work, parallel platforms and battens, used in his previous offerings.

During Maud Adams' tour last season, her great forest scene in Peter Pan and the gigantic oaks used in Chanticleer were made so realistic in appearance, that many of the skeptical fraternity were not convinced of the genius of Alexander of London, the inventor of stenciled scenery, until allowed back of the curtain line on the opening performance to examine the canvas.

This feature alone is another triumph in stage craft and a total century stage lighting methods, and has been licensed by the management of "Freckles" as will be seen in this city.

The play is superbly mounted and amply cast and will afford theatre patrons an opportunity of witnessing a unique spectacle and presentation of a most charming, wholesome and delightful song play. The attraction is booked for one night and should prove interestingly entertaining.

net was fond of burlesquing everything that Griffith did.

Some of these off-hand burlesques were so amusing that the management decided to let Sennett do a picture in the comedy department. He both acted and directed. Other members of the same department were Mabel Normand, Roscoe Arbuckle and Fred Mace. These were the big four of the comic film.

Mr. Sennett went from Biograph to Lubin and produced further comedy pictures. Then in the fall of 1911 Kew and Bauman sent him to California to establish a comedy studio. It was a primitive affair on the site where the great Keystone studio now stands. Mr. Sennett took with him Miss Normand, Mr. Arbuckle and Mr. Mace.

Soon Keystone became the most popular comedies in the world, the chief actors and characters in them being more universally known than any stars who do not speak the universal language of the screen. Sennett's gift of satire and burlesque is probably unexcelled in any of the arts. He not only has his own great productions to his credit, but he has drilled practically every prominent film fun-maker in America.
