

Because the owners of the lots in question are not willing to sell the lots required for a school site in the Jonesboro Addition opened up to accept the amount of money suggested by the committee selected by the voters, the committee has suggested considerably more, and because there is a considerable amount of ground contained in the lots in question was not sufficient to make a thoroughly satisfactory school site, the committee has suggested that on Friday night determine if the meeting of the board of directors of the school at the location to the Astor corner, on the lot opposite side of Addition avenue. The board set a price of $4000 on the lots, which contains one and seven-eighths acres, and the school board has given the residents in Salt Lake City, refuse to pay that amount, condemnation proceedings will be commenced.

The proposed new site contains 1.75 acres, and the board has threatened to take the lots in the Jonesboro Addition.

MEXICAN GUERRILLAS ADVANCING UNDER COVER

HOG CHOLERA ALMOST EXTINCT IN COUNTY

Dr. W. A. Moulton Issues Circular Letter Urging Observance of Rules to Keep It Out.

In a circular letter in which he strongly urges the co-operation of farmers to keep hog cholera from this district, from which it has been exterminated Dr. W. A. Sullivan, head of the bureau of animal industry here, lays down a number of rules for observance and urges all who suspect the presence of the disease in their herd to report at once. Among other things, he says:

"The bureau of animal industry wishes to advise that at the present time there are no active cases of hog cholera within the county, and since January 1, 1916, only one infected herd has been treated. The location of this last infected herd was two miles south of Jerome, in Lincoln county, and the owner of the herd has thoroughly cleaned and disinfected his premises.

"The earnest co-operation of the farmers has been the most important factor in the hog cholera control work that has been carried out by the bureau of animal industry with the use of free serum and treatment to infected herds, and we wish your continued co-operation in lending every effort to prevent hog cholera reaching your herd."

"It would be advisable at this time to thoroughly clean and disinfect all hog houses and pens upon your premises. Accumulations of straw bedding and manure about hog lots, pens and houses should be raked up and burned or removed to fields to be plowed up and cultivated. All hog houses, pens and manure about hog lots should be thoroughly sprayed with a 3 per cent solution of cresol compound, after which a liberal application of whitewash should be applied with brushes or old brooms. Fresh air-slake lime should be abundantly scattered about the hog lots upon floors of hog houses. Locate your hog lots away from highways and see that drainage from same does not in any way contaminate irrigation streams."

TANNER LESS HOSTILE TO COUNTY DIVISION

Reception at Buhl Pals Him in State of Mind to Consider Matter Under Certain Conditions.

Elmer E. Hagg, secretary, and J. W. Tanner, president, of the Commercial club, went to Buhl last Saturday to attend a meeting of the officers of the various commercial clubs on the branch. The object of the meeting was to talk over the dates for the various fairs in the different towns, so as to do away as much as possible with conflicting dates. Filer was interested to the extent of claiming the last Saturday in September for her field day, and the entire week, possibly, if the Twin Falls county fair proposition goes through as scheduled.

The two officials from here were unable to remain until this question was settled, but have every assurance that our desires will be granted.

The Buhl people were very kind to the guests and certainly made their visit a most pleasant one. The visitors were met at the depot with automobiles, and under the supervision of Secretary Bradley of the Buhl Commercial club, were taken for a drive to some of the more important ranches that abound in the Buhl country. One thing is certain, and that is that in the section surrounding Buhl there are more fine cows, horses and homes than in any portion of the tract. It is a delightful trip to make and one that inspires the thought that it cannot be long until this section of Idaho must attain a reputation sustained by no other county or state in the Union.

We are young as yet and the growth already attained in one of the marvels of all beholders. Returning to town, the visitors were taken to the room where the ladies of the Tuesday Civic club were giving a chicken pie supper. This caught the Filer delegation and they fell for the feed like a couple of cannibals at a missionary banquet.

Somehow, we felt more like we could stand a county division debate than before we met the good people down there. If in their selfishness they shall decide to move the line a few miles west of Filer territory and "cut out" the idea of their voting the republican ticket in order to get a broken down politician in Twin Falls to vote for it, and appeal to the sober horse sense of voters, they will stand their chance to get the object of their desire. However, this is a subject for future discussion. Castleford, with a railroad coming to her rescue, wants the county seat when it is divided, and will be able to decide the question against Buhl if she goes after it. Her attitude will be awaited with interest by people living in neutral territory. Filer wants a county fairground.—Filer Journal.

KIMBERLY NOTES

(From Idaho Call.)

The Relief Society of the L. D. S. church gave a social Tuesday at the church, with a program and supper followed by a social dance.

Mrs. John Balch is in the hospital at Twin Falls, where she underwent a double operation for appendicitis and gallstones one day last week. At that reports she was getting along nicely.

"All Mixed Up," a comedy drama in three acts, presented by the Dramatic club of the high school last Friday night at the school auditorium, was well received and altogether quite a creditable performance.

A baseball team has been organized in the high school and several practice games have been played. Two games have been booked with Filer, the first to be played on the Kimberly diamond Friday, April 7.

Miss Carlson, recently of Chicago, niece of County Commissioner O. E. Carlson, has accepted a position as clerk in Wilson Brothers' store. Miss Carlson has had six years' experience as a dry goods clerk.

Clarence W. Cady returned last week, after an absence of four months in Chicago and other eastern points. Mr. Cady owns a valuable farm near town and will devote his attention this summer to farming.

O. M. Milroy of Pocatello, representing the North Pacific Construction company, was in town the fore part of last week looking over the plans of some of the buildings contemplated this spring. The North Pacific company built the Buhl high school, also the Burley high school and a number of other fine structures in this section. Mr. Milroy will be pleased with the plans adopted for the proposed new high school for Kimberly.

His company will bid on the construction work.

E. V. Elington, professor of dairying at the university, in compliance with a request made by the county agriculturist, has authorized Carl A. Harder of Twin Falls to test for advanced registry in this county. This gives the breeders in this locality an opportunity to get advanced registry tests at a considerable saving in comparison to what they would have to pay if a tester were brought from a distance.

The new Ajax chemical engine was given a try-out a week ago last Thursday, the company's agent from Twin Falls coming over to conduct the test. The committee was entirely satisfied with the results and may try it again this week. Only one tank of chemicals was used and a pressure of only 60 pounds developed. A large bonfire was built of boxes and rubbish. The chemical put the fire out, but it was thought by some that the fire had not gained enough headway.

A fire-meeting was called last Tuesday to determine what should be done in the matter. O. Oliver Brown, representative of the Northwestern Fire Apparatus company of Spokane, was present and explained the advantages of the O. & H. chemical double tank. The whole matter was left over to be taken up again at the Men's club meeting at the M. E. church, when it is hoped that everybody interested will come out.

FILER HAPPENINGS

(From The Filer Journal.)

Sam Taylor will build a modern home on his acre in the Yelkum, south of the house occupied by W. W. Taylor. L. O. Hughes will occupy it.

High Demenderfer of Kalamazoo, Mich., a nephew of Mrs. Timm, arrived in Filer Tuesday. He comes here to make a home and will purchase a lot and build. He is an expert automobile mechanic and will take a position in the Reynolds garage.

Last Saturday Jacob Musser sold his farm southeast of Filer to a Mr. Patrick from Twin Falls for $165 per acre. Mr. Musser is in the market for a larger farm, but in the meantime will have a sale on the 29th and probably move to town until he secures what he wants.

Last week was a busy one for Ford buyers. E. B. Ripley reporting that he sold and delivered eight of them to the following persons: Albert Lee, Snyder Hardware Co., H. L. Swadlow, W. T. Conant, Ivan Lincoln and Rev. E. E. Crabtree. Besides these, he has numerous prospects.

Deputy Sheriff Connor passed through town yesterday on his way to Buhl on official business. He was driving the county car and as he reached the cheese factory the car refused to go further. He walked into town and phoned to Buhl for a car and after a time was able to finish the trip. While here he informed the Journal that Will Smith, living west of Filer recently purchased two bull pups in Twin Falls and that the mother of the pups had gone mad and that her head had been sent to Boise, with the word coming back that she had rabies. He telephoned the information to Mr. Smith that he might govern himself accordingly in the disposition of the puppies. The doctors say that it might be eight months before the disease showed up in the pups, all depending upon whether she contracted rabies before or after their birth.

Every once in a while a bunch of "cutups" around town imagine they are drunk after drinking a few glasses of beer and proceed to decorate the streets by changing signs, tipping over benches and otherwise deporting themselves as "bad" men. The marshal will catch up with these fellows some night and the result will be humiliation and distress. We sound this warning not so much on account of the "bad" men as on account of the grace that will follow their arrest. Some of these boys have good mothers, who will deplore the arrest of their children, as many of them have been better raised. What seems like harmless fun is sometimes viewed in a different light by men who want boys to behave themselves and not like gentlemen all the time.

Yesterday the members of the Ladies' Aid tendered Mrs. Austin a farewell reception. Mr. and Mrs. Austin will soon make their home in Twin Falls, where Mr. Austin becomes the manager of the Gem State Lumber yards. After a miscellaneous program consisting of musical numbers, readings and recitations, Mrs. Fitzgerald, on behalf of the aid, presented Mrs. Austin with a beautiful bouquet of carnations. The ladies were then invited to the parlors, where delicious refreshments were served. The ladies were then invited to the parlors, where delicious refreshments were served. The ladies were then invited to the parlors, where delicious refreshments were served.

W. T. Higgenbotham sold his farm southwest of Filer last Saturday to a Mr. Alexander of Ellensburg, Wash., for $135 per acre. Mr. Miller is a new arrival here and if he is of the same caliber that the other citizens from that place are, he will be a splendid addition to our citizenship and gladly welcomed by all. Mr. Higgenbotham was not long in buying again. Yesterday he bought J. P. Martin's forty near Filer. This is one of the best places on the tract, and in securing this splendid farm Mr. Higgenbotham comes into possession of a place that he has long desired. W. T. is not alone in his admiration of this place.

WHERE BOSSY IS QUEEN.

(The Rupert Democrat.)

It was the privilege of the writer on Saturday last to inspect a number of the dairy farms in the Buhl section. Probably nowhere else in Idaho is dairying made a more exact science than in the east there. We visited barn after barn, ranch after ranch, where the long lines of cows were being milked and where there is not an animal in line that is not a registered and pedigreed animal or else a grade of such breeding as to warrant her being retained in the blue blood society.

At the famous Kuntze ranch, owned by the president of the State Dairy Association, the big barn contains over sixty splendid Holsteins, and almost all the milk is converted into cheese in the factory on the farm.

Most of the dairy stock around Buhl seems to be Holstein. Silos are everywhere and modern methods all the way down the line. Another thing that strikes the visitor is the work that the government is doing along dairying and educational lines, and, indeed, all farming lines. Two of the government experts were in Buhl and the whole Twin Falls tract is well covered by official advisors to the farmers.

That Idaho is the richest state in the Union in natural resources is pointed out in the annual report of Robert N. Bell, state mine inspector, just made public, which shows exhaustively in 134 pages of interesting material the production of metals and minerals in the state during 1915. The zinc production for the year was enormous, aggregating $19,000,000. In the Coeur d'Alene district alone the increase was 100 per cent and there is promise of another doubling during the present year. A total lead production of 368,000,000 pounds and 7,000,000 pounds of copper is recorded. Gold and silver in the usual amounts were produced. The report tells of improvements in mines due to the introduction of modern machinery and methods and elaborates on the increased use of electrical power.

Captain Davis is certainly not a politician. He goes over the state telling the truth and puncturing the big stories of other candidates and would-be candidates. Doesn't he know that he ought to tell a bigger story than any of the others? If he wants to be governor he should not only make a taxless state but give every citizen a premium of $500. Nobody would inquire where he would get the money.

"Four New Buildings Are in Course of Construction in Nampa Today," announces the leading paper of the town in display letters on the front page. That's nothing. We sent a reporter out early this morning to count 'em here and he hasn't finished 'em. We go to press.

FOUND STOLEN HIDES IN BOY'S POSSESSION

Gordon Borg, Tracked From Buhl and Filer, Found Tying Up Stolen Property—Claims He Bought Them.

Caught Sunday afternoon with 12 hides stolen from the Idaho Butchering & Packing company and from the meat market at Filer, a young man named Gordon Borg, of indefinite age and no permanent place of residence. Inhaled, when arrested by Sheriff Kendall and Chief of Police Hann, that he had purchased the goods. He is in jail awaiting trial.

Manager Meyer of the Filer market broved five hides Sunday morning and saw a busy track leading from the slaughter house to the road, headed for Twin Falls. The rig was tracked along the road into the city. The police and sheriff's office were notified at once and a search made. The young man was found at the Gallher barn tying up the hides, evidently preparatory to shipping them. Monday Sheriff Kendall went to Buhl, where he discovered that A. M. Stangle, proprietor of the packing company, was looking for hides. The young man had hired a team from the Buhl Livestock & Transfer company and had brought five hides to this city with him. He had been at the headquarters of the packing company in Buhl two days previously, ostensibly looking for work. It is said that he tells contradictory stories about his identity and age, though he generally asserts that he is 14 years old. The officers believe that he is several years older. His preliminary hearing will be held this afternoon or tomorrow. Some of the stolen hides weighed 80 pounds.

Dr. Oliver's Challenge Accepted

Sunday Morning, March 12, 1916

In order to support a position which in the light of our day Bible students are beginning to see as more reasonable and unscriptural one, Dr. Oliver refers to the Greek as his authority and challenges (Sunday morning, March 12, 1916) "any Greek student on earth to disprove his statement"—also "preacher."

We accept the challenge, not for argument's sake, but because if the truth is not clearly seen by all Christian people immediately, their faith in God and His word, the Bible is sure to be lost as a result of the "strong delusions" in the "evil day" which has already commenced (2 Thess. 2:11; Eph. 6:12). We shall endeavor to show that the theory held by Dr. Oliver and many others positively and absolutely nullifies the great ransom-sacrifice foretold by our Lord at Calvary, and is, therefore, an "anti-Christ" spirit or doctrine. It is because of wrong views of what the ransom-price really is, what man is ransomed from, and the full benefit derived therefrom, that many of the Lord's people have lost their faith and have drifted into "evolution" and "higher criticism," etc.

We quote the texts, the translation of which in the common version (King James) Dr. Oliver maintains is not valid according to the Greek: "Henceforth know ye the Spirit of God; Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God; And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God." And the Lord's words in the "evil day," which has already commenced (2 Thess. 2:11; Eph. 6:12). We shall endeavor to show that the theory held by Dr. Oliver and many others positively and absolutely nullifies the great ransom-sacrifice foretold by our Lord at Calvary, and is, therefore, an "anti-Christ" spirit or doctrine. It is because of wrong views of what the ransom-price really is, what man is ransomed from, and the full benefit derived therefrom, that many of the Lord's people have lost their faith and have drifted into "evolution" and "higher criticism," etc.

We quote the texts, the translation of which in the common version (King James) Dr. Oliver maintains is not valid according to the Greek: "Henceforth know ye the Spirit of God; Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God; And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God." And the Lord's words in the "evil day," which has already commenced (2 Thess. 2:11; Eph. 6:12). We shall endeavor to show that the theory held by Dr. Oliver and many others positively and absolutely nullifies the great ransom-sacrifice foretold by our Lord at Calvary, and is, therefore, an "anti-Christ" spirit or doctrine. It is because of wrong views of what the ransom-price really is, what man is ransomed from, and the full benefit derived therefrom, that many of the Lord's people have lost their faith and have drifted into "evolution" and "higher criticism," etc.

Dr. Oliver's claim is: (1) That the Greek words in these texts rendered "is come" signify "is coming." (2) That with this change the Apostle's words would signify that any teaching which denies that the second advent of our Lord will be in the flesh is an anti-Christ spirit.

We reply to this claim: (1) It is true that the word "erchomai," the root word from which is derived "eschatology" (1 John 4:2) and "eschaton" (2 John 7) signifies coming or arrival; but whether the coming referred to is a past or a future event must be determined by the construction of the sentence. Just as we may use our English word "coming" in referring to matters past and future and say, "Faith in the first coming of our Lord is general among Christians, but not so general is the faith in his second coming." The context proves beyond peradventure that an occurrence of the past is referred to for the record in "many deceivers are gone forth" or "went forth," and the two statements quite evidently refer to the same thing.

(2) This claim is put forth by some who have an object in claiming that the text refers to a future event; they claim that our Lord is not "changed" to the divine nature, that he is still flesh and that he will continue to be a man, a human, fleshly being, and bear the scars of his humanity to all eternity. They deny, or at least ignore, the many Scriptural declarations to the effect "Him hath God highly exalted"; "Now the Lord is the Spirit"; and "Though we have known Christ after the flesh (yet) henceforth know we him no more" (Phil. 2:9; 2 Cor. 5:16). Their wish to find some Scriptural statements to support their unreasonable and unscriptural position deceives them as respects these passages. In doing so they may not be aware of the fact that the same people hold this erroneous view, among them nearly all who have ever had anything to do with translating the Scriptures.

Finally, we may note that the vast majority of Christian people hold this erroneous view, among them nearly all who have ever had anything to do with translating the Scriptures. In doing so they may not be aware of the fact that the same people hold this erroneous view, among them nearly all who have ever had anything to do with translating the Scriptures.

The following translation of the first quotation is, therefore, essentially correct: "Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh, is of God."

(2) The word "erchomai" in the second quotation is the accusative, singular, masculine, of the present participle of the verb "erchomai," and is subject to the relative clause "as the word above." Its relation to "eschaton" through homoeopieuton, as well as the context, justifies its translation as of past time. (Ibid., 1289.)

Finally, we may note that the vast majority of Christian people hold this erroneous view, among them nearly all who have ever had anything to do with translating the Scriptures. In doing so they may not be aware of the fact that the same people hold this erroneous view, among them nearly all who have ever had anything to do with translating the Scriptures.

Yours sincerely for truth,

TWIN FALLS A SUGAR CITY

(From the New West Magazine.)

IT MAY or may not be a well-known fact that there is sugar in the meek and lowly potato, and that be that as it may, the people of Twin Falls, Idaho, in convention assembled, do not know a potato that, together with the fact that it always makes good, is why Twin Falls is up and a-coming all the time.

Five years ago there was instituted in Twin Falls a function known as the Potato Breakfast. This came about because at that time the Twin Falls country was just beginning to realize the possibilities in potatoes, and when Louis A. Snyder, one of the progressive farmers, reached out with his strong right hand and grabbed a check from D. E. Burlier, the general passenger agent of the Oregon Short Line, giving as his reason therefor that he had grown 645 bushels of potatoes on one acre, the other farmers began to stop, look and listen.

General Burlier, in a fit of absent-mindedness, offered the sum hereinafter mentioned for the largest and best crop of potatoes grown on one acre, and Farmer Snyder decided he needed the money to educate his children and pay for some of the other necessities of Twin Falls life. So he raised the potatoes and pulled down the check, which the Twin Falls municipal club, after sending some of the Twin Falls potatoes to the president of the United States and to every governor and receiving chairman of these dignitaries, along with several hundred yards of newspaper notices, instituted the Potato Breakfast. President Taft, while not being able to be present at the first breakfast, did the next best and ate his Twin Falls potatoes in the White House—and for breakfast, as directed.

Every year, since 1910, Twin Falls has eaten its Potato Breakfast in January. This breakfast is partaken of at eight o'clock in the evening, does not worry the Twin Fallers a bit. The first breakfast was put on in Twin Falls at this hour so it would about coincide with the breakfast of the president and others scattered over the earth who also indulged in Twin Falls potatoes. That is one reason put forth by the originator, but it is probably not the right one.

we desire now that "Harry" Davis announce at once, so that we may have a trinity in unity for gubernatorial honors.

Mrs. C. R. Tappan has returned from a visit with friends in Nampa and Caldwell.

Mrs. Dowler of Boise, mother of Mrs. S. S. Champlin, is visiting here, to the delight of her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Douglas and Mr. Powell of Hagerud attended church here Sunday.

CLARK NEWS

(From the Kimberly Call)

A pouring rain Monday was heartily welcome by the farmers.

Mrs. S. K. Nott was called to Omaha, Neb., last week owing to the dangerous illness of her sister, who lives there. Her sister was injured in an automobile accident three weeks ago, from which she never recovered, but steadily grew worse.

John Ault and wife of Twin Falls were guests at the Franklin Brown home Sunday to dinner. In the afternoon they autoed up to Murtough and report the road to be in fine condition for cars.

Farmers are busy here with spring crops, the ground being worked into shape and ready for planting.

Mr. Erskine, veterinarian of Twin Falls, was called into our neighborhood professionally last week.

The well which was being drilled at the sugar beet factory site has been abandoned and a new one started, which is now down to a depth of 30 feet. The drillers lost the drilling apparatus in the first well when it reached a depth of 77 feet, with water up to within 20 feet of the surface.

Mrs. Percy Wislaw is visiting with her husband at Trevo, Utah, where she holds a position as head dyer in the Knight woolen mills of that place.

The spur is now reaching out to the factory, the site of the building that already been marked out and work begun on it. Thirty-five men are working there now, but from 200 to 300 are to be employed in a short time. Twenty-six carloads of cement and machinery arrived there last week over the new track.

R. Griffith was a Kimberly business man last week.

It is reported that Frank Johnson, former field man of the Amalgamated Sugar Co. for this section, has been transferred to the Burley country. Mr. Ritchey takes his place here.

Work has been opened up at the experimental farm several experienced men under Mr. Slocum busy plowing and getting the grounds in shape for the different crops.

D. E. Clark and family were guests to dinner at the home of Richard Negls Sunday.

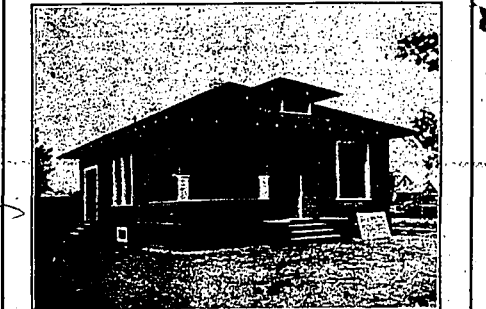

MAXWELL CLUTCH SAID TO BE MECHANICALLY PERFECT

According to E. S. Johnson, manager of the local Maxwell agency, the most noticeable refinement of the mechanical construction of the 1916 Maxwell, and the one that has brought out the most favorable comment of users of the Maxwell, is the new clutch assembly. It is the only one clutch that has ever been designed to run in a bath of oil, eliminating all possibility of grabbing or jerking.

"The velvety action of the clutch in our 1916 Maxwell is the wonder of every purchaser who has ever driven an automobile," said Mr. Johnson. "In fact, it is the wonder of all mechanical men, for the construction is such as has long been sought as ideal and yet has not before been achieved by any other manufacturer." The Maxwell clutch spider is of cast aluminum and the facing, a woven asbestos fabric, is attached thereto in one piece by means of rivets. The unit is entirely enclosed in an oil-tight case and the entire mechanism operates in a bath of lubricating oil. The self-starting unit is mounted flush to the flywheel housing and all starting gears and mechanism run in the bath of oil contained in the clutch case, which insures long life for all of those parts through abundant lubrication.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR HOSPITAL

Architect and Chairman of Physicians Committee Busy.

WILL BE PRESENTED AT THE MEETING OF BOARD, APRIL 3.

Architect Gates Make Exhaustive Report on Condition in Pocetello, as Found on Investigation.

Complete plans for a new county hospital, embodying such features of the institution in Pocetello as are applicable to the needs of this county, will be presented to the county commissioners at their April meeting by Architect E. H. Gates, who, with the committee representing the physicians, will draw up the plan and the report. Dr. John F. Conquelin and Mr. Gates discussed the matter informally with the board last week. Mr. Gates already has gone over the situation quite thoroughly and has drafted the outlines of several tentative plans. He and Dr. Conquelin accompanied the county board on its trip to Pocetello last week and made extensive note while there.

Relative to the Pocetello hospital Mr. Gates has drawn the following note:

"Pocetello has had in operation since 1907 a city and county hospital very similar in its organization and work to what is now proposed for Twin Falls county. It was for the purpose of investigating this institution that the commissioners made a trip to Pocetello last Wednesday."

"In matter of organization the Pocetello hospital has a governing board of five directors. This board is appointed three by the county and two by the city. They are at the present time composed of business men about town, who give their time, as much as may be required, without pay. They meet regularly once each month. These people constitute the active government of the institution and are to a great extent responsible for the past success of the hospital."

"The direct management of the building is vested in a matron, who has direct charge of all matters or business that pertain to the actual operation of the plant. She has under her four graduate nurses and these, together with a nurses' school that is conducted in connection with the hospital, constitute the force of nurses. A cook and janitor are also employed, which completes the working force."

"The building now has a maximum capacity of 25 patients. It was built ten years ago at a cost of about $10,000. The rates charged are $25 per week for private rooms, $15 for ward beds and the county pays for all county patients $12 per week, $25,000. A general reduction of these rates is contemplated as soon as they get settled in their new building. "On account of the past success of the institution and the imminent demand for more room and more modern facilities, it is planned to erect this summer a large addition to the building. This will be modern in every way, and our commissioners were fortunate in having an opportunity for studying these new plans. The plans carry with them a complete remodeling of the old building, and the amount to be expended in this work is estimated at $30,000 or $35,000. "The commissioners were also fortunate in being able to attend a meeting of the board of directors and thereby gained much valuable information, which will aid materially in the organization of our own hospital and a correct solution of the problem as now presented. "It was also gratifying to learn of the substantial success of the Pocetello institution. It is absolutely self-sustaining and made enough profits during the year 1915 to build and pay for a nurses' home and also buy a great deal of new equipment for the building. The nurses' home is a neat frame structure, built on an adjoining lot at a cost of $2,000. "The board of directors are given a very free hand in the running of the institution and they have the county and city back of them in case a deficit occurs. This condition, fortunately, has not prevailed as yet. "All doctors are privileged alike as to the use and benefits of the hospital and this practice has been eminently satisfactory. "The commissioners came Monday, Thursday morning and continued their session here, feeling that they had profited by the trip."

COUNTY AGRICULTURIST GIVEN DEMONSTRATION TO FARMERS. County Agriculturist W. N. Birch and E. J. Fieldsted, working with P. R. Shriver, are giving demonstrations of the use of government vaccine for the prevention of blackleg among young cattle. They vaccinated cattle at the following place: W. M. Shriver's farm, one-half mile south of the Deep Creek schoolhouse, Monday. Gustave Kunze's farm, two miles east and one mile south of Buhi, Monday. W. M. Reed's farm, two miles east and one south of Filer, Tuesday.

OLIVER MEETINGS ARE ARRANGED FOR BUHI

Dates for Bellingham, Wash. Are Postponed in Order to Grant Request of West End People.

Arrangements were completed this week whereby Dr. French E. Oliver and his party, who have been conducting tabernacle meetings at Twin Falls for the past five weeks, will open a series of similar meetings in Buhi, commencing April 3, says the Buhi Herald. The news will, no doubt, be welcomed by many people from the west end, as there are many who have taken an interest in the meetings at Twin Falls and who attended generously.

The opening of the evangelist comes as a surprise to most of the people of Buhi, as the party had expected to go from Twin Falls directly to Bellingham, Wash. That engagement was postponed, and upon learning of this the ministers of Twin Falls recommended that Buhi engage the services of Dr. Oliver and company. The matter was taken up at once by the churches and immediate steps were taken to hold the tabernacle meetings.

Plans were formulated on such short notice that they must necessarily be imperfect. However, the committees have been selected to begin the preliminary work. Representatives from the three churches, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist, and from the business men of the town who are in neither church have acceded their services on some of the committee. The three churches named have united for these services, and it is likely that the Christian church will lend its organized co-operation when it has had time to hold an official meeting. The tabernacle will be erected on the vacant lots on Broadway, east of the old school building, and construction work will be begun next Tuesday, March 28. It will be 70 by 130 feet. Dedication services will be held Sunday evening, April 2.

Mr. Redden will secure a chorus of 500 voices and practice will begin next week. All the singers in Buhi and the surrounding community are invited to join the chorus.

John E. Musser's farm, one and a half miles east and one-half mile south of Filer, Tuesday.

The object of these demonstrations is to give those interested an opportunity to handle and administer. Young cattle six months to two years old which are to be sent to the ranges should be vaccinated, as the vaccination can be done at a cost which is a cheap insurance against blackleg, the only cost being the work of vaccination and the instruments, if not already on hand. A subsidy is made by the United States government for free distribution to owners of growing cattle. Anyone in the county wishing a supply of the vaccine has only to get in communication with the office of the county agriculturist in Twin Falls.

The Play's Message OF PEACE

If this graphic presentation serves no other purpose, its message for universal peace marks it of great importance. Morally and educationally it establishes the futility of armed conflict. A member of the senate of the United States expressed the foregoing sentiment.

"Anyone contemplating war should see this picture," added the senator. "I sincerely believe it will do more to deter people from engaging in war than anything written or spoken on the subject in years."

Great care has been taken not to glorify battle. Even the music stops in its motif of glorification to sound the note of terror and desolation which is the real truth of war.

Armies seldom settle disputed questions of state. But, where they accomplish this much, in the wake of conflict arises newer and more terrible questions. But for the hatreds engendered in the Civil war, the suffering of the Reconstruction period would never have been known.

GOVERNMENT BULLETIN TELLS OF CHEESE MAKING IN IDAHO

THE OFFICE of information of the United States department of agriculture has issued the following statement covering an investigation on cheese making possibilities in Idaho and other western states, which will be of particular interest to residents of southern Idaho:

The possibilities of cheese making in different sections of the western states, particularly on the irrigated projects, received considerable attention from specialists of the United States department of agriculture during the summer of 1914. A representative of the dairy division spent a number of months among factories in Idaho and Montana studying the troubles experienced in making cheese of a satisfactory quality, and in seeking means of overcoming these difficulties. In Idaho, very successful factories are now in operation near Boise and Buhl. At Boise a large co-operative company owns two cheese factories and one creamery. The factories have proved so popular with the farmers that the company intends to build other factories of the same kind. This factory at Buhl at one time last summer paid for butter fat 17 cents a pound more than was paid in any other market in the same locality, and at no time was this difference less than 6 cents.

Owing to an inadequate milk supply and poor management, there have been failures of cheese factories in both Idaho and Montana. The climate and all other natural conditions, however, are good for a cheese industry throughout Montana and in the higher parts of Idaho. On the intensively farmed irrigation projects the dairy cow furnishes a good medium through which to market bulky crops of alfalfa and corn.

The prices which a cheese factory is able to pay for butter fat, in competition with other markets, can readily be estimated if the price of cheese is known. Milk makes 27 pounds of cheese for each pound of butter fat. The cost of manufacturing is about 2 cents a pound in factories of ordinary size. Cheese at 13 cents a pound would allow the payment of 25.7 cents a pound of butter fat; at 14 cents for cheese, 24.4 cents for fat; at 15 cents for cheese, 23.1 cents for fat; and at 16 cents for cheese, 21.8 cents would be paid for butter fat. During the past summer great quantities of cheese were sold in the Rocky mountain states at a price higher than 16 cents a pound, while probably none brought less than 13 cents.

In certain localities, some farmers not familiar with cheese factories are inclined at first to oppose the industry because it uses skimmed milk formerly available for calves and hogs. This opposition is not well founded, as nearly every farmer in the great cheese factory district of Shoshone county, Wisconsin, is able to raise excellent dairy cows. The irrigated regions of the west, moreover, produce great quantities of alfalfa, which furnishes a cheap substitute for the protein of skimmed milk for pigs. Experiments by the New Mexico experiment station have demonstrated that where alfalfa pasture is available and corn is worth 30 cents a bushel, a hundredweight of skimmed milk is worth only 14 cents, as compared to nearly 30 cents where it is no alfalfa. It is probable that, with pigs on alfalfa pasture, it will give almost as great gains as would skimmed milk.

In the flush of the season a cheese factory can be operated economically on 8500 pounds of milk, or the product of about 200 cows. The milk should be produced within four miles of the factory, as a longer haul is not economical and increases the danger of bad milk and poor cheese. A cheese factory to handle 500 pounds of milk can be built for about $1500, including equipment.

As so little of the country is naturally suited to the manufacture of cheese, and as the possibilities of increasing its consumption are so great, the department believes that, as a rule, consideration should be given to establishing factories wherever conditions are favorable to the development of this industry.

business at large is considered by them more than individual profit."

"A prominent magazine editor replied:

"Our ideals are:

"Honesty and integrity.

"Intellectual achievement.

"Beauty in art and music as a source of life.

"Domestic happiness."

"A congressman had this to say:

"Extravagance in living. Most Americans prefer to spend more money rather than not to spend it, and therefore very many spend money foolishly and upon things which were better not purchased."

"The feeling that what we do ought to meet the approval of other nations, for example, rather than our own approval. This is because as a nation and as individuals we are still rather more vain than proud."

"A Boston banker wrote:

"The passion for 'getting on' with accompanying failure to see what one is getting on toward."

"Pride in power and in ownership of things. Too great reliance on the finality of material."

"The lust for spending and having others know that one spends."

"A religious director of a university students answered:

"One weakness is that of indulgence. Our life is crammed too close with opportunities for relaxing; the picture show, the ball game, the theatre, the novel, and the chance grip the lives of a great many, and absorb their best energies."

"A bank examiner gave this list:

"Materialistic tendencies."

"Striving for effect at the expense of any or all ideals."

"Lack of simplicity."

"Lack of serious application to present or future problems."

"Loss of early ideals through the breaking up of what formerly constituted home life."

"Lack of interest in religious thought."

"The president of one of the largest life insurance companies answered:

"In business."

"To succeed. Success means more than more money; it means the power to advance methods and thereby benefit others."

"Socially."

"An utter contempt for society as that word is usually applied. No special program that does not aim directly at intellectual quickening and social betterment."

The object of the trip is to arouse interest in the building of a great military road over the route followed by the man who settled and reclaimed the Pacific coast.

TALKS ON THIRTF AMERICAN IDEALS AND WEAK- NESSES

Opinions may differ materially as to what is the leading motive in the life of the average American and what the leading ideal. We have been charged with being a nation of materialists, bent on getting money, getting money all the time and all we can do is not to save particularly, but to spend. Our aim is not to save more, but to earn more. If we cannot have what we want, we do not do without, but work harder for it. We believe in gauging our pleasures by the cost and not the satisfaction we get out of them. When we make up our minds that we want something and flattered away our possessions, we try to recoup, not by spending less, but by earning more.

It must be admitted that we can, as a people, make money. We can save only a small part in comparison with other nations, but we do have the knack of getting it. The salaries paid our officials and leading business men would make some European princes envious, and the wages of American workmen have attracted hordes of European laborers to our shores.

No one denies that we make money, but is that the leading motive in American life? The question is: "What in your opinion are the leading ideals of the men with whom you associate?" and "What do you consider to be the chief points of weakness in American life?" were put to about one hundred leading men—lawyers, bankers, editors, business men, farmers, scientists and others, and the replies show that 46 consider service to one's fellows to be the leading ideal, while 28 think the making of money for selfish enjoyment or personal power is the leading motive.

A Wall street financier and vice-president of a large trust company said:

"I think that the leading ideals of the men with whom I associate are in general the chief of Wall street, where a man's word is of greater value than anywhere else in the country. I feel, too, that the attitude has become much less provincial than heretofore, and that often the good of the country, the state, and

FIFTY BEST SELLERS.

In a list of the 50 best-selling novels for the year 1915 in this country, compiled by the Publishers' Weekly, there is no book of absolute trash or of shady character. Many tastes are represented, and there are long step-downward from Mr. Tarkington's "The Turmoil," which leads the list, and from Mr. Churchill's "A Far Country," which is a good second, to Mr. Chambers' "Who Goes There?" and Mr. Hughes' "Empty Pockets." But each book in the list is at least a whole some specimen in its own class of stories.

Moreover, the popular taste as revealed in this compilation is stable. "The Turmoil" was published in February and "A Far Country" in June, the one having therefore a whole year and the other a generous half year of consistent support.

It is a showing for American fiction and for popular support of honest fiction which is of no small significance in respect to the development of American literature. Editorial in New York World.

TRAGEDY OF WAR

MASTERFULLY PRESENTED

In this never-to-be-forgotten spectacle, "The Birth of a Nation," which is scheduled for presentation at Twin Falls for three days, starting Monday, April 3d, D. W. Griffith, the world's master producer, has painted the grim tragedy of war in the vivid colors it deserves.

It is a thrilling and awe-inspiring revelation of war—war in all its cruelties. It is not only the tragedy on the field of battle, where fall the dead and dying, but in the home, where wait the aged parents and little brother and sister, daughter or son, for the message that too often comes telling that the dear one has died for the flag—the Stars and Stripes, or the banner of blue with the single star.

On goes the story. It pictures the departing of the boy from home—gay, light-hearted, happy. It shows him dying under the fire of the enemy in the miles of flame-streaked trenches, over which hurstling shells carry death to the little force so gallantly defending the line of earthworks, and over which shriek the deadly shrapnel. It is all there—in desperate defense, the determined assault, the fierce charge, the dramatic retreat—the field covered with the dead, as men in gray and blue fall by scores and hundreds. Daylight fades, and still the fight goes on. The scene is illuminated by bursting shells, the blaze from the mouths of big guns and the red glare from burning homes. The blue of the flag of the south flutters here, while there the red, white and blue of the nation's emblem shows through the smoke in the red tinge of battle flame.

These are but a few of the myriads of flickerings of our national travails in its new birth that are shown in this sublime, grand, impressive spectacle.

POPULAR MOVIE ACTORS

TO BE SEEN AT ISIS

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, who are probably known to more motion picture lovers than any other stellar combination on the screen, will be seen in "Pennington's Choice," a Quality Pictures corporation production just released on the Metro program, when it is presented here at the Isis theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

"Pennington's Choice" is a thrilling and dramatic tale of the Canadian Northwest. Mr. Bushman's portrayal of a wealthy New Yorker, who is obliged suddenly to quit a life of leisure and prove his courage and manliness in the Canadian wilderness to win the girl of his heart, is one of the best performances he has ever given. Miss Bayne has no equal opportunity to display her fascinating dramatic talents in a role that carries her from the drawing room of the metropolis to the wild life of a carefree, hoydenish girl in the woods. There are many intense situations, in the wilderness of the northern wilderness and a novel love story is charmingly enacted. The cast appearing in support of Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne is exceptionally strong, and includes Wellington Playter, Helen Dunbar, Lester Cuneo, Morris Cytron, H. O'Dell and William Morris.

MAURER SISTERS ORCHESTRA

NEXT LYCEUM COURSE NUMBER

The Maurer sister orchestra, the sixth number on the local Lyceum course, will appear at the Lyceum theatre on Monday evening, March 27th. This company of musicians is just closing its tenth year on lyceum and chautauque platforms. It is hard to find their parallel for veracity on musical instruments. Some of the features of their program are cornet solos with orchestra accompaniment, flute solos with piano accompaniment, violin solos with piano accompaniment, whistling solos, violin and flute duets, humorous songs, orchestral numbers with piano, violin, flute and cornet. Ensemble vocal numbers rendered in conjunction with orchestra music.

"PARTAGNAN" IN FILMS

IS A SCENIC DELIGHT

From a scenic point of view, "Partagnan," the Ince-Triangle drama shown at the Orpheum Thursday and Friday, is a delight to the eyes. There are streets shown of a bygone Paris, the Paris of the Grand Monarchs. The quaint old lanes with sharply pitched thatched roofs appear prominently. In contrast to the rudeness of the furnishings of the inns are set some interiors of the King's palace. The ceilings and walls are decorated with beautiful pastoral scenes, and the furniture is of the lightest pattern and carved in exquisite fashion.
