WESTERN PACIFIC SURE TO BUILD

Boston Financier In Charge of Reorganization

MAY COME TO TWIN FALLS VIA RAFT RIVER ROUTE.

Financiers Say They Propose to Make Western Pacific One of the Best Roads in West.

Statements attributed to E. W. Rollins, head of the financial house of E. H. Rollins & Co., of Boston, in an interview in Salt Lake, are interpreted to mean the construction of an Idaho feeder for the Western Pacific, either from Winnemucca to Boise or from Salt Lake to Boise.

E. H. Rollins & Co. have the reorganization of the Western Pacific under their supervision, and Mr. Rollins was on his way east after attending a meeting of the bondholders' committee and receivers of the road, held in San Francisco last Wednesday, when he was interviewed in Salt Lake.

The tenor of his interview indicates that the Western Pacific is now disposed to take another look over the route from Salt Lake to Boise, which it planned when the road was projected about 10 years ago. At that time the development along the proposed route was in the prediction stage. It is now a promise fulfilled, such a route as appeals to railway builders, lined with plenty of haystacks and farm houses.

The Salt Lake Herald-Republican quotes Mr. Rollins as saying that the reorganization plan contemplated the turning in of all bonds to a holding company, to be organized. The holding company will then issue twenty million in bonds to build feeders and branches, one of which includes a route from Salt Lake to Boise, through the Raft river and Twin Falls regions. This, it is said, has been the alternative route of the Winnemucca Northern, from Winnemucca to Boise through Jordan Valley, Ore.

"As soon as the courts dissolve the receivership, and as soon as the holding company is formed," Mr. Rollins is quoted as saying, "we will go to work and make of the Western Pacific one of the best railroads in the west. The road has to beat the Southern Pacific from the California fields to the east, to get the business, and while the operating department is in charge of the movement of trains, the financial interests behind the new organization intend to take charge of the operating end and see that trains are delivered to connections in Salt Lake half a day earlier than two days ahead of these routes at delivery."

BIG WRESTLERS TO BE AT GYM SMOKER

Yokel of Salt Lake and Other Noted Men Expected—Boxing Also a Feature.

The completion of the improvements on the gymnasium in connection with the Coitland hall, under the management of Lyons and Lindrum, will be celebrated May 19 with a smoker, at which it is expected that the junior partner will wrestle with Yokel of Salt Lake City. Yokel will meet some 160 pound wrestler, while Lewis will take up with any 125 pound boy that is willing to try. The home men named will have issued a challenge for any of their weight who are willing to wrestle with them. There will be boxing in connection with the exhibit.

FILER COUNCIL IS DEFENDANT IN SUIT

Property Owners Enjoin Village Managers From Repealing Fire Limit Law.

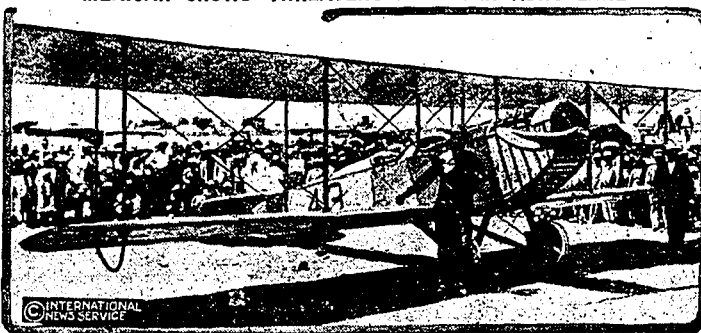

The village board of Filer will be in town tomorrow in a case before Judge Babcock, where the number of property owners have enjoined them from repealing a fire limit ordinance, which action, if permitted, they assert would increase the risk on their property. The council of Filer started to repeal the ordinance in order to allow certain extensions of the Gem State lumber company improvements and adjoining owners objected and took it to court.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

SUNDAY EVENING

The baccalaureate sermon for the class of 1916, will be delivered Sunday night at the high school auditorium by Rev. L. B. Franck of the Episcopal church. Vested with the robes of the Episcopal choir. The text of the sermon will be "The Ideal Purpose of Education." The service will be held at 7:30 p. m. and the graduating class will be present.

MEXICAN CROWD THREATENS AMERICAN AEROPLANE

A curious and threatening crowd of Mexicans gathered about the aeroplane piloted by Lieutenant D'Argue of the United States aero squadron. The aircraft was attacked by the crowd on its arrival at Chihuahua, where this photograph was made. The Mexican in the foreground is a Carranzista lieutenant colonel, commander of the guard which was placed over the plane by order of General Gutierrez.

WORKMAN BADLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Driver Runs Over Thomas Coer Near Nevada Line and Injures Him Severely.

Thomas Coer, who says that he is a North American Chinaman, is in the county hospital recovering from the results of being run over by a joy rider near the Nevada line Friday afternoon. Coer, who is a laborer, was coming toward this city from Wells, Nevada, carrying a bundle of bedding, when suddenly an auto appeared in the dust behind him and before he could dodge, struck him and rendered him unconscious. When he recovered later there was no sign of the auto which struck him. A short time afterwards a California car came along and picked him up as he was lying helpless by the road and carried him to Reno.

He was brought to this city the following day on the train and placed in the hospital where he is recovering. He has a bad cut on his head, and was badly bruised on the body, but was able to get up town yesterday.

The accident occurred about an hour before sundown. There is no clue to the owner of the machine.

FRUIT CROP THOUGHT TO BE TOTAL LOSS

Mercury Fell to Nine Below Freezing Tuesday Night—Glass Crops Were Hurt.

The fruit crop of the entire Twin Falls tract seems to have been terribly injured if not totally destroyed by the killing frosts of Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The official government thermometer at the James A. Waters farm registered nine below freezing Tuesday night, and the general belief is that this will destroy practically the entire crop of all kinds of fruit. A few who investigated it said that from the condition of the blossoms this morning they thought it possible that 10 per cent or even 50 per cent had escaped, among some kinds of hardy apples in orchards favorably located. But this idea is not generally held. E. A. Miller of Buhl, who was in Twin Falls this morning, said that the opinion in the west end city was that the fruit crop there would be a total loss. Grass crops are somewhat injured and the growth of everything retarded by the cold spell and heavy frosts.

THOMAS COPIED MUSIC FOR MAY DAY DANCE

Band Leader Does Splendid Work Under Tremendous Difficulties in Preparing Program.

The thousands who listened to the delightful music furnished by the big school band at the May day exercises last Friday, had no idea of the great pains which were necessarily taken by Bandmaster C. D. Thomas in getting the music and making the necessary preparations for the occasion. There was no music to be had for the folk tunes to which the children danced and Mr. Thomas was compelled to write it down with pen and ink while listening to the teachers hum or whistle the various pieces, and was then compelled to arrange it for the different musical instruments. He spent five days on the work, with the result that it was finally perfected, as the people heard it. The music was the spirit of the whole, as it was not only fitting and well arranged but was well played, and all concerned deserve great credit for the manner of their participation.

ALUMNI TO HAVE A GRAND REUNION

Nothing Formal, But Just Good Mix-up—Program of Notables Is Promised.

Responding to an appeal to be present at the mixer meeting next Friday members of the Twin Falls high school alumni from all parts of the tract are sending word that they will be present at the gathering, and will not wear their store clothes, or full evening attire and it is intimated that formalities of royal receptions will not be observed while it is hoped to make the reception a royal one.

Speaking of the program, the chairman of the committee on arrangements said:

"The committee on entertainment has spared no pains in securing the best talent available for the evening amusement. A stellar attraction of the evening will be the Hawaiian troupe, who come direct from a tour of the Orient. The members of this troupe are all artists of real merit and have met with great favor in all the capitals of Asia and Africa. They were presented with awards of merit of favor, by the mikado of Japan and the president of China conferred upon their leader, Emmerio Benavento, the cross of the Yellow Serpent, an honor rarely given to anyone but Chinese." "Miss Carmen who for the past three years has traveled with the troupe, has been secured to give the delightful interpretation of Los Miserables. This sketch has been approved by the national board of censors."

"New York's leading vaudeville and cabaret favorite, William Russell, who made 'Swimming Down the Old Green River' so popular in the pasting show of 1915, is one of the leading entertainers of the evening. Many other celebrities will be given a chance to make the time fly before the elder and doughnuts will be served." "It will be a great affair and the best thing about it is, it does not cost a cent. Of course, if anyone insists in putting two bits in the hat that will be close to the 'this way out sign' they will not be stopped. This is going to be a mixer and not a financial meeting so let us all come prepared for a good time."

PROGRAMME PLANNED FOR W. C. T. U. MEETING MAY 12

A mothers' meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Eva Weaver, 235 Fourth avenue east, on Friday, May 12, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting will be led by Mrs. J. W. Beauchamp, and Messrs. Hibbard and Holman will assist the hostess in rendering it a pleasant occasion for all mothers who accept the very cordial invitation extended to them. The following programme will be given:

Song, followed by devotionals, led by Mrs. Wall; after which will be read a paper "The Child's Welfare Regarding Physical Hygiene," by Mrs. Charles Potter. "The Child's Welfare Regarding Mental and Moral Training," by Mrs. Laura Cole. A motion song, "My Dollie How I Love You," will be presented by Robin Finch, Dorothy Pearls, and Helen Field. "Mother's Hour," Mrs. Heartfield. "Vital Truths of Heredity," by Mrs. Finch; song, Miss Weaver and others, followed by a short talk by the leader on "Women's Responsibility in Casting Their Votes for Good and Home and Native Land"; discussion of subjects of business session will be given previous to the W. C. T. U. benediction.

FIXING MAIN STREET EXTENSION

The city is fixing up the extension of Main street along the Kimberly road to the city limits to bring it into conformity with the regulations of the state highway. This involves the removal of the ditch from the highway.

FAMOUS WATER COLORS SHOWN IN TWIN FALLS

Works by Famous Artists On Display At the Vincent Furniture Company Store.

One of the finest exhibits of water colors in America is being displayed this week at the Vincent Furniture company headquarters by E. J. Reider, a collector who has been in the business for the past quarter of a century. The display consists of the productions of the greatest masters of European and American art, including scenes from foreign countries and of American beauty spots, painted by master hands. There are marine scenes depicting faithfully the ocean and the sky, a picture of snow in a French village and the wild lavender fields of the land of the Gauls, German and Dutch pastorals and productions from England. Mr. Reider says that he is neutral and his paintings indicate that he is at least non-committal in dealing with foreign productions, but he is evidently a partisan of good paintings of all nationalities.

No effort is made to sell the visitors the paintings, which, however, are purchasable, the object being to get an idea of whether the artistic spirit prevails in the city, or not, and the knowledge obtained is taken into consideration in determining whether the future visits of a commercial nature will be made. Everybody is invited and any one who goes, whether critic or grade pupil, will be entertained and benefited.

The collection will be on display all the week and may be seen at any time during the day.

WILCOX GARAGE AT BURLEY DESTROYED

Fire Starts From Match Thrown On the Floor. Spreads Rapidly—25 Cars Burned.

The Wilcox auto garage at Burley was destroyed by fire Saturday night, 25 autos burned, in addition to the building and its contents. The fire started about 11:30 o'clock p. m. as a result of the throwing of a match on the floor under a machine, where it caught in oil and gasoline on the floor. All efforts to extinguish the flames proved worthless. Some of the autos were insured. Mr. Seligman from this city, had a Ford car, which was insured, just outside the building, but it was uninjured.

CORNET BAND TO GO WITH DEMOCRATS

Local Delegation Working to Get Crowd to Pocatello—Half Secured.

The local Democrats have decided to go to Pocatello "right" in order to meet A. J. Sprague, the new national committeeman and are arranging to take the Twin Falls band along to show the Pocatellans that they are not afraid of the heat, and incidentally to recall to their minds the fact that Twin Falls is some metropolitan city. There is a rate of one fare for the round trip and it is hoped that many besides the band can go.

INTEREST IN BAND MANIFEST AND COUNCIL LIKELY TO ACT

Interest is being manifested in band concerts for the coming season and it is anticipated that the matter will be laid before the council Monday night. The band is willing to give concerts for the season for $200, the amount paid last year.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN VOCATIONAL DISPLAY

Exhibit of Work of Different Departments of High School Shown Wednesday.

The annual vocational display of the high school, shown in the high school building yesterday afternoon and evening, consisted of specimens of the work done by the cooking, sewing, agriculture, commercial, woodwork and mechanical, drawing departments, as well as those of the Latin, English and social science departments, was by far the best exhibit of its kind ever held in this city. The display consisted of the work of the many different departments, was a credit to the high school and to the pupils and instructors of the various departments.

The work of the pupils was shown to advantage in the several rooms according to their departments. That of the sewing class and domestic science department was shown in the auditorium where it was beautifully arranged about the spacious room. Many of the pretty creations were hung on the two sides of the wall, the different articles being placed according to their classification. On the other side were placed the dairy linens, while many of the pretty dresses, hats and evening gowns were displayed on wax figures. Numerous aprons were shown among the finer street and party dresses.

All of these showed considerable skill and painstaking work as well as did the cooking, which was displayed in still another part of the room. The daintily prepared dishes were most invitingly exhibited on the long tables in the center of the room, where they might be purchased. Everything from the home-made bread to the daintiest dishes were for sale in this department.

Passing on into the agricultural display were the exhibits of farm products and a special feature of the display was the very interesting exhibit of bee culture, where in a large square screen box were innumerable bees at their task of making honey. In still another room were exhibits of bee culture, where in a large square screen box were innumerable bees at their task of making honey. In still another room were exhibits of bee culture, where in a large square screen box were innumerable bees at their task of making honey.

In the manual training department, in the east basement, excellent exhibits were displayed in the form of well finished tables, a buffet, chairs, and many smaller articles, too numerous to mention. The wood working department is deserving of great credit.

On the second floor was the work of the Latin, German, English and Social Science department, all of which had equally good exhibits and fine drawings, mechanical drawing departments were each well represented. Neat specimens of penmanship and stenography were in evidence in the commercial department at the west end of the building.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the high school orchestra and an untiring corps of paraders, and patrons visited the exhibit at different times.

SHEEP HERDER HITS CITIZEN ON HEAD

Jack Davis, Arrested For Assault on A. N. Sprague of This City, With Pistol.

Jack Davis, a sheep herder of McMillan creek, entered a plea of not guilty before Justice of the Peace Smith, to a charge of having committed a felonious assault on the person of A. N. Sprague of this city with a loaded pistol, with the intent of inflicting great bodily harm on Mr. Sprague. His bond was fixed at $200 and his preliminary set for Friday. According to current report, Mr. Sprague, accompanied by his wife and R. C. Morse and clerk, were on McMillan creek Sunday to spend the day, and during the course of his ramblings when about ready to return home, Mr. Sprague was accosted by a man who occupied by the sheep herder, who cursed him and ordered him away, whereupon, it is alleged, Mr. Sprague turned to go, when according to report, although he was not the owner of the property, it is said, Davis drew a gun and approaching in a threatening attitude, struck Sprague over the head with it, inflicting a severe scalp wound.

It is said that several men in different parts of the county, who were out fishing have been abused and threatened, while the law gives them 10 feet on each side of a fishing stream. Mr. Sprague is much interested in stocking the mountain streams with fine fish and has been instrumental in securing certain consignments for use in the county.

CLOSED BASEBALL BONDS.

The baseball managers of the several cities in the Southern Idaho league met at the Territorial hotel, performance, where he had been the grand larceny. He was taken back Tuesday night.

TYLER CHRISTIN HEADS THE TEAM

Oakland Man Engaged by the Twin Falls Club

REGULAR SCHEDULE ARRANGED FOR BASEBALL SEASON.

Plenty of Interest Shown By People; Merchants Pledge $400 a Month.

Tyler Christin was elected manager for the Twin Falls team for the season at a meeting of a joint committee of the baseball club and Merchants' association held in the rooms of the commercial club yesterday afternoon and is now busily engaged in whipping the team into shape for the Kimberly game Sunday. The Kimberly boys are already hard at work and the opening of the contest promises to be a complete success for C. and Manager Christin says that he believes it will be for the home team.

The merchants have pledged $400 a month for 10 months, and a salary of $50 will be paid to Mr. Christin for the entire season. The meeting of the association Tuesday night was largely attended and the baseball spirit which has been working under the surface for some time at last blazed out and everybody has new plenty of vim and enthusiasm. The committee for the season has been appointed for the association consisted of Luke L. Wright, George Wiley and Bert Caldwell. The baseball committee consists of C. G. Faulkner, T. B. Hart and O. C. Roberts.

This is the first time that this city has been identified with a regular league, and the fact that a regular league has been organized here assures the playing of games at certain periods has done more to arouse interest than anything else. Heretofore games have been spasmodic and people lost interest between times. All this is now changed and a large attendance is certain from the start. The following is the schedule of the Southern Idaho league for the season:

Rupert—At Burley, May 14 and Sept. 3; at Kimberly, July 8, Sept. 4 and Oct. 1; at Twin Falls, May 28 and July 16; at Jerome, June 4, Aug. 20 and Sept. 17; at Shoshone, June 18 and Sept. 24.

Burley—At Rupert May 30, July 4 and Sept. 24; at Kimberly May 21 and July 23; at Twin Falls July 9, Sept. 4 and Oct. 1; at Jerome June 11 and Aug. 6; at Shoshone June 25 and Aug. 27.

Kimberly—At Rupert June 11 and Sept. 3; at Burley July 18, July 30 and Aug. 20; at Twin Falls May 14, July 4 and Sept. 24; at Jerome May 28 and July 9; at Shoshone July 16 and Sept. 24.

Jerome—At Rupert May 21 and Sept. 10; at Burley July 18, Sept. 4 and Oct. 1; at Kimberly June 25, Aug. 13 and Aug. 27; at Twin Falls June 18 and July 30; at Shoshone May 30, July 16 and Sept. 24.

Shoshone—At Rupert July 9 and Aug. 6; at Burley, May 28, July 2 and Oct. 1; at Kimberly June 4 and Sept. 17; at Twin Falls June 11 and Aug. 20; at Jerome May 14, July 23 and Sept. 3.

WATERWORKS EXPERT IN CITY TODAY

C. S. Burns of Noted Kansas City Firm, Arrives to View System and Meet Council.

Charles S. Burns, senior member of the firm of Burns & McDonnell of Kansas City, Mo., arrived in the city today for the purpose of looking over the water system and conferring with the city mayor and council at a special meeting, which has been called for tonight. Mr. Burns was in Seattle on other business and having had considerable correspondence with Mayor Sweezy about the water situation, decided to stop off here to look over the system. He indicated by telegram announcing his coming, that he would be able to make a proposition to the city while here. The firm has put in several hundred waterworks systems.

THIEF WAS PAROLED PRISONER AND WAS TAKEN BACK TO PEN

E. W. Sherman, who stole an auto from Luke Galloway and was brought to Twin Falls from Jerome by Sheriff Kendall this week, proved to be a parolee convicted from the state penitentiary, where he had been the grand larceny. He was taken back Tuesday night.

PRESIDENT CALLS OUT MILITIA

Organization of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico Responding

MOBILE TROOPS RUSHED TO THE SOUTHERN FRONT.

8,000 Additional Men Will Be Used For Reinforcements. Close Patrol To Be Maintained.

WASHINGTON—National guardsmen of three states, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, were called out by President Wilson today to aid in protecting the border against Mexican raiders.

In addition, practically all remaining mobile troops of the regular army were ordered to join the border forces. By these orders approximately 8,000 additional troops were placed under Maj. Gen. Funston's command. Behind the order is the plain intimation by administration officials that the whole strength of the national guard will be similarly employed if necessary.

The orders were issued after a brief conference between President Wilson and Secretary Baker over a joint report from Generals Scott and Funston at El Paso. The two officers stated that the El Paso Springs raid made it plain that the border guard must be materially increased.

Secretary Baker has not been advised whether a new campaign had crossed the border in pursuit of the raiders, but orders have not been changed and Gen. Funston is free to follow any hot trail across the line. Secretary Baker today issued the following statement regarding the use of the militia:

"The outbreak in the Big Bend district of the Rio Grande has so far further emphasized the danger of similar occurrences along our long border that President Wilson has called out the militia of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas and directed them to report to Gen. Funston who will assign them to stations along the border for patrol duty."

"In addition to the two additional regiments of regular infantry have been directed to proceed to the border and such further arrangements will be made as are necessary for the complete security of the people of the United States against raids of this character."

Secretary Baker said the militia of the three border states would make available about 4,000 men.

In addition three regiments of regular

GOGGLES FOR THE ARMY MULES

To protect the eyes of the army pack mules from the dust and sand of the Mexican desert during the pursuit of Villa, the big goggles shown in the photograph have been devised and placed on the animals.

ular infantry were today ordered to the border. These regiments were the Thirtieth infantry now at Plattsmouth, Mo., the Third infantry at Madison Barracks, divided between Watertown and Oswego, N. Y., the Twenty-first at Vancouver, B. C., and two battalions of the Fourteenth infantry—one at Fort Lawton, near Seattle, Wash., and one at Spokane, Wash.

The two additional forces sent to the border under these orders including both regulars and militia is approximately 7,000 men.

Secretary Baker announced also that reports that the raid upon El Paso Springs had been organized on the American side of the line, according to Mexican reports that had been telegraphed to Gen. Funston that he might investigate.

Secretary Baker said the orders sending more troops to the border were made upon the joint recommendation of both Gen. Scott and Gen. Funston and were without significance in view of the Scott-Obregon conferences.

Regarding the progress of these conferences, Secretary Baker said Gen. Scott was awaiting a communication from Gen. Obregon. Further than this the secretary refused to discuss the status of the conferences. Gen. Scott and Funston advised the war department that more troops were urgently needed along the border, as a return of the Big Bend raiders might be expected. They stated that the regulars on patrol duty were insufficient.

Secretary Baker described the new troops moving as a step merely for the protection of the border. He said he had not heard whether the American troops in the Big Bend region had actually crossed the border in pursuit of the outlaws.

While Secretary Baker's statement said only two regiments of regulars were ordered to the border, orders actually were sent to three regiments. The secretary said an error had been made in preparation of the statement.

The national guardsmen are ordered under the Dick law authorizing their service anywhere in the United States, but not beyond the border, or that law every man enrolled in the regiments who is physically able may be forced to serve. If service beyond the border should be required, the federal service as volunteers and it would be optional with the men whether they would serve.

Kaiser Writes Pope
EASTERN LETTER ON PEACE
LONDON.—The correspondent at Rotterdam of the Exchange Telegraph company, cables the following today:

"On the occasion of the Easter feast, Emperor William sent an autograph letter to Pope Benedict, expressing the hope that the pontiff, with the blessing of Spain, would be able to construct a scheme with the object of bringing together, under the auspicious emblem of the dove and olive branch, a conference of belligerents for consideration of an immediate armistice, in the fervent hope of securing an early peace without detriment to the legitimate aspirations of nationalities."

The correspondent says he obtains this information from a circular just received by the German Embassy in London. The circular also says considerable significance is attached to the arrival in Rome of envoys from the emperor of Spain, and that he had prolonged audiences with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state.

WAR TALK ALONG THE RIO GRANDE

Gravity of Situation Is Admitted—Steps Taken to Avoid Split

MEXICAN CONFEREES ASK ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

Gen. Obregon Thinks Negotiations May Delay Him at Border Two or Three Days Longer.

EL PASO, Tex.—A critical stage apparently has developed in the conferences between Gen. Obregon for Mexico and Gen. Scott and Funston for the United States, over troop co-operation in Mexico.

That the point has not been reached and, in fact, may not be reached, where the negotiations will end in a disagreement, was indicated early today from an authoritative source.

It was said that the Mexican conference has asked for another conference with the American representatives following yesterday's brief meeting in the private car of Gen. Scott and Funston. From Gen. Obregon came the information that Gen. Obregon thought the negotiations might keep him here another two or three days.

While the gravity of the situation is admitted, it is thought that in the next meeting to be held steps to avoid a split will be taken. War talk is prevalent along the border, but it is thought that the United States will not permit hostilities should ensue they were not after some delay. It was pointed out that if the conference ended without any agreement being signed it would be necessary for the conferees to notify their respective governments that exchange between Washington officials and Gen. Carranza necessarily would follow.

This opinion of course was predicated upon the supposition that the Mexican should commit no overt act against the American expeditionary force. It is asserted that any such action, taken at a time when such tentative agreement drawn up by Gen. Scott and Obregon had not been signed, would result in decisive military action along the border by the United States. Military men here expressed the belief that Gen. Obregon does not desire to precipitate a clash.

IDAHO STEERS BRING THE HIGHEST PRICES

Carload Cattle for the Portland Market—Hogs Go Up a Notch—Sheep Are Steady.

The highest price for an entire car of steers on the open market at North Portland was paid this morning for a carload of pulp-fed Herefords marketed by the Portland Livestock Co. from their Idaho feed lot, says the Portland Live Stock Reporter of Monday. The consignment consisted of 32 head of steers, averaging 906 pounds at $9.15, or $2 per head. M. J. Gill & Co. were the buyers.

Hogs are lately coming in pretty fair number for this season of the year and there is nothing to indicate that the Portland territory will market a pretty fair supply all season. Hogs do not seem to be nearly as scarce as some hog prognosticators have predicted they would be. Those who are in a position to know say the next pig crop is large and for the most part very healthy.

Receipts today were fairly large, totaling about 3600 head, about 800 head less than was in the yards last Monday. Buyers were not early inclined to raise their bids over last week's close and the first sales indicated a steady market.

Later bidding put hogs well over the opening and a high spot of $9.25 was reached, with another bunch at $9.20. The bulk showed excellent strength.

Arrivals of sheep and lambs according to the morning bulletins, were very light. Most of the offerings were from Oregon points.

UNITED STATES CAVALRY KILLS 42 VILLISTAS

Large Force of Bandits Is Routed by Brilliant Cavalry Charge Without American Casualties.

COLUMBUS—A full squadron of 230 men of the Eleventh cavalry surprised and routed a much larger force of Villistas at Ojo Azulen, seventeen miles south of Cuahuahua, early Friday.

By actual count, forty-two Mexicans were killed and a number wounded, but there were no American casualties.

The American command, under Maj. Robert L. Howze, had been pursuing the Villistas under Generals Gracia and Julio Azules for several days when they encountered them Friday, encamped in the huddled adobe huts of Ojo Azulen. The Mexicans were utterly surprised and sprung from their pallets half clothed. After firing a few wild shots they began a flight, each man shifting for his own safety. Some of them were able to seize their horses, already laden from a hard day's ride previously, but others made their way into the hills on foot.

In Major Howze's report he said the rout had been absolute and that he was still pursuing the scattered remnants of the band. The band engaged in the largest remaining under the Villa standard and Friday's decisive victory gave much satisfaction to military men here.

While the dispatches do not state, military men on the border believe that the band is the same as that defeated at Temochic April 22 by Col. George A. Dodd's command.

REORGANIZED MORMON IS LECTURING HERE

Elder McConley Claims to Be Original Non-Polygamous Follower of Joseph Smith.

Lectures on the doctrines of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, who claim to be the original followers of Joseph Smith and legally his successors, will be delivered every night this week in the Grossman undertaking chapel by Elder M. A. McConley, of Chico, Cal., a missionary of the organization, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Weinheimer in this city. He is a brother of Mrs. Weinheimer. Elder McConley is on his way to the Hawaiian Islands to resume his missionary work, in a field where he formerly spent two years. He says that the branch of the church to which he belongs, or as he has it, the original church, has about 75,000 members.

NOTED K. C. ORATOR AT LAYERING ON MAY 16

Peter Collins Will Speak on Christian Democracy On Next Tuesday Evening.

A lecture on the subject, "What's Wrong with the World," an exemplification of Christian democracy and social reform, will be delivered at the Layering theatre Tuesday evening, May 16, by Peter Collins, of Boston, under the auspices of the Twin Falls Council, Knights of Columbus. The lecture is free and all are invited to attend. Mr. Collins is reported to be one of the foremost American orators and his lecture seems to have received praise from press and pulpit of all parties and religious denominations. Among the many testimonials quoted in advance matter are the following: "It was a splendid message and carried conviction."—Rev. Dr. Miller, Presbyterian, Shawnee, Okla. "It was a message that every American should hear."—Rev. Dr. Matthews, Christian, Palo, Kas. "It was one of the greatest lectures I have ever heard."—Rev. Dr. Watts, Episcopal, Coffeyville, Kas. "God Bless Mr. Collins, he is doing wonderful work for God and country."—Rev. Dr. Mcraig, Sioux City, Ia. "A wonderful message for all to hear."—Rev. Dr. Hart, Baptist, Eagle, Iowa. Mr. Collins lends serious weight to opinions."—New York World. His audience could hold its enthusiasm no longer and broke forth in hearty applause."—Elyria, O. Republican.

Buhl News

(From the Buhl Herald)

The car load of caskets for the Buhl dower company has arrived, and will be prepared to open an unloading business as soon as their lease arrives. Messrs. Evans and Johnson have leased a fine new eight column machine which is expected to arrive some time next week. Mr. and Mrs. Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brennan, and student in the high grade, had the misfortune of breaking his leg last Sunday morning when he was playing on the swings at the Frank H. Buhl school building. A breakage occurred in the left ankle when he was taken to Twin Falls Monday morning where X-ray examination showed that both bones were injured. The meeting of the Buhl Business Association last Tuesday evening a vote was taken whether or not to should plan an extensive Fourth of July celebration. Practically everyone present and most of them expressed themselves as favorable to a celebration by a rising vote. Plans are being worked out to put such a celebration as has never been held in Buhl before. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kiles moved to the Falls Monday, where he has purchased town property. Mr. Kiles has several farms in the Buhl country, and of them it is said to be among the best around here. It is hoped that Mr. Kiles will return to Buhl again. Decoration Day will be observed in Buhl, Tuesday, May 30, if the present plans are carried out as they are being proposed now. The local company of national guards will take the matter up at the next assembly Monday evening, and at that time they will decide if the company will appear on parade that day or not. The films for the Buhl Pioneer Day celebration have been completed, and the motion picture film company, and they are in Boise now, according to a telegram received by Secretary Bradley of the Buhl Business Men's association, Wednesday, and they will be shown here in Buhl as soon as the legend has been written and developed to put on the screen. C. G. A. Divilbiss, who opened a law office in the Monahan building, returned Friday from Alton where he went to help conduct a claim suit in a water distribution matter. He expects to confine his time to this end of the street, since opening up the office Monday. Tom Morris took up the duties of chief of night marshal, Monday evening of this week. Mr. Morris was awarded the sprinkling contract in Buhl last year, and during a part of the spring he has been foreman of a ditch cleaning crew for the Canal company. The judging for the birdhouse contest which was to have taken place May 1, has been postponed until the morning of May 26, the closing day of school. A prize of two dollars has been offered by Mrs. A. F. McCluskey for the best birdhouse which is built by a boy under fifteen, and she will give a second prize of one dollar for the best one. It is announced that last week that the contest would be open to all boys under sixteen, but that has been changed to all those under fifteen to give the smaller boys a better chance.

YELLOWSTONE HIGHWAY MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

POCATELLO, Ida.—The completion of the new highway from Salt Lake to Yellowstone is assured and will, in all probability, be open for this season's travel, commencing about June first, due partly to the offer of Mrs. E. H. Hartman and her associates on the big Island Park railroad branch, to assist the forest service and the country of Fremont in the construction of their portion of the highway. The highway from the Blenheim county line to Salt Lake is already in good condition for automobile travel on the Malad and Logan routes, with a probable addition of scenic attractions in the Bear Lake route. Arrangements are being made by both Jefferson and Bonneville county to keep the roads dragged and in good shape. Over five thousand cars are expected to make use of the highway this summer, and it will undoubtedly be a means of drawing great crowds to that section of the state.

country, twenty miles west of the Salmon river, forty odd miles beyond Hokenon, became ill of a gripe in November and though seriously ill from the first, he seemingly and gradually became well, but in early March he showed signs of complicated conditions that caused him and his wife to move into Hokenon so that he might have the immediate services of a physician, Dr. R. D. Joldersma. Despite the cure he secured thereby, he was soon to be hopelessly affected with dropsy, and he lingered and suffered until Friday, May 5, when he passed away. The funeral service was held Saturday, May 6, at the residence in Hokenon, being conducted by Rev. John D. Kelth of the Presbyterian church at 10:00 a. m., and the interment being made in the Hokenon cemetery. He came to this part of the country from the northwest portion of Washington. He leaves a wife and some children who reside in a distant part of the country, who were not found by wire in time for the commitment of the body.

ANIMAL LOSSES HEAVY IN WESTERN STATES

The monthly crop report of the United States department of agriculture, issued April 15, 1916, makes a number of interesting statements in regard to the loss from disease and exposure in sheep and cattle in the western states. "The losses from disease in horses and mules in Nevada were 25 per 1000 head, the heaviest percentage loss from any of the western states. Arizona had the smallest loss with only 12 animals per 1000, while Idaho ranked next to Nevada with a loss of 22 head per 1000. This record shows about three per cent increase loss during the last ten years. In the loss of cattle, Nevada ranks highest of any of the western states in the matter of disease, while Oregon had the greatest amount of losses in sheep.

THE TROUBLE OF DESERVING DEMOCRATS.

James M. Sullivan, erstwhile minister from the United States to Santo Domingo, and protégé of William J. Bryan, has been arrested in Dublin on the charge of complicity with the attempted Irish revolution. Sullivan was appointed through the activity of former Secretary of State Bryan, who about that time wrote to Receiver General Vick, American collector of customs in the Dominican republic, asking if there were any places for deserving Democrats at his disposal. General Vick was collector of customs by reason of our practical domination of the Dominican republic whereby the revenues from the tariff levied on imports were to be divided between European creditors and the recognized government of that country.

The circumstances of the case, considering the fact that the little nation is really a ward of the United States, made the phrase sound badly and in its practical working out, the appointment justified the misgivings of the prudent. Sullivan proved to be incompetent. When the charge of incompetency, which was later proven, and other charges which are not supported by evidence on investigation, were first made, Bryan defended his position and his appointee. Later, Senator James D. Phelan, a Democrat, was sent to investigate and found enough evidence of incompetency to induce Sullivan to resign.

The truth of the matter seems to have been that Sullivan was a veritable "Bull in a China Shop" and quite unfitted to look after the interests of the United States in any country, and peculiarly so in a nation in which relations were in such delicate condition as ours were there, and where by example as well as by precept we seemed to be going wrong. The administering of the affairs of the republic was paid for by this country, and when an incompetent was sent as minister and a letter was made public which even the charitable must construe as implying that the same sort of men, if useful for partisan purposes might be placed in positions where the highest degree of competency was required to prevent mismanagement and loss, the people there were justified in assuming that instead of controlling their affairs to benefit them, we were handing them to pay partisan political debts.

There is nothing wrong in appointing Democrats to the places provided that they are deserving in the sense that they are competent and conscientious. While as a general proposition, those with diplomatic experience are to be preferred for places in the diplomatic service, there is a danger in applying civil service rules to the positions of ambassador, minister or secretary of state, as this might lead to the establishment of a bureaucracy and add still more red tape to the already tangled skein. Elihu Root was a great secretary of state, yet was without diplomatic experience when appointed. Henry Morgenthau was not a trained diplomat when appointed ambassador to Turkey and yet is spoken of today as the most successful minister sent out by any nation in recent years. For Republicans who are deserving in the sense that Elihu Root was, or Democrats who are deserving in the sense that Henry Morgenthau is, there should always be places.

Unfortunately, this was not the sense in which the term was used by Mr. Bryan. It was not so much a reflection on his intention as on his reasoning powers and his tendency to occasionally confuse things which are essentially unlike. Nevertheless, Bryan's letter constituted the greatest blot on his reputation as a statesman, and showed that he had limitations which prevented his rising to real heights.

Sullivan seems to have been innocent of intentional wrong doing in Santo Domingo. He was probably innocent of intentional wrong doing in Ireland. His penchant for unconsciously doing the wrong thing and the innocent thing had probably led his feet unwittingly into traps and snares set by more sophisticated men. He is likely harmless and if the minister to the king can give him a serious talking to which will keep him out of mischief and will then allow him to remain quietly in Ireland where he can be forgotten, they will receive the thanks of the American people in general and William Jennings Bryan in particular.

After a thorough investigation postal officials have directed the authorities at San Francisco to stamp "fraudulent" and return all mail addressed to Chamlee & Company whose advertisements of a sure cure for cancer have induced the susceptible in many sections of the country to part with their money. Readers of THE TIMES may recall a statement in these columns several weeks ago in which we mentioned our policy of rejecting advertising of objectionable character, our endeavor to protect subscribers, and that an advertising contract sent us by the Chamlee company had been returned.

The Theatres

EDITH STOREY IN "THE TWO-EDGED SWORD"

At the Isis theater Friday and Saturday will be shown the five-reel picture, "The Two-Edged Sword," featuring Edith Storey and other well-known Vitagraph players. In addition to the five-reel picture will be shown a one-reel comedy in which Frank Daniels stars.

In "The Two-Edged Sword," the heroine succeeds in her purpose when she brings sorrow to the heart of the woman, who, by evil flirtations, caused her brother to end his life. This little girl of the hills, by constant study, fills the position of secretary to the husband of this vampirish woman. She does not mean to marry him, for he is the kind of man god women love. Blinded by what she has started out to accomplish, she does not realize her plans have misfired until, in the presence of his carious smile, he confesses his love for her. Heart-broken she is compelled to give him up, and return to her home in the mountains where her only comfort is found at the side of her brother's grave.

ANOTHER TRIANGLE KEY-BEE FEATURE AT THE ORPHEUM

When a play sets forth its argument in a foreword, we watch the development of the theme with close attention for the least flaw in its logic. "The Moral Fabric," a Triangle Key-Bee picture at the Orpheum next Monday evening, at its outset, challenges the audience to the so-called advanced thinkers who declare that one may with perfect right defy all law, and tear aside "the moral fabric" when love calls and that one who defies laws and conventions proves himself greater than they. And the play is a masterly argument, carrying every point with keen logic to its meretricious conclusion.

The answer which this play gives clearly is that the best way to disprove these individualistic theories is to really follow them, that the worst punishment to be given the people who plead for freedom of this sort is to grant them the freedom. Suddenly given the liberty they wish, the "radicals" in this story use it to wreck their lives; then the tables are turned, and their own arguments, word for word, are used against them. The thing is exquisitely done.

The story, in short, is of the woman who, tired of her husband, follows the theorizing of the leader of the "Invictus Club" regarding the soul's freedom to follow its destiny, etc., and in a short time is willing to elope with him. The husband not only gives his wife her freedom, when he learns how matters stand, but forces the two to live up to their ideal of "defiance of the law" by publishing the whole affair.

A few years later, when the elopers, now married, are living abroad, the ex-husband comes into their lives again. This time he, as "a friend of the family," is the one who wins the wife, and although the two had made a sorry affair of the second marriage, the present husband is unwilling to free his wife. Word for word, the former rant is answered by his own arguments, until he is thoroughly shown up in all his meanness. Then that is accomplished, Winthrop coolly turns away Amy, whom he had won back, telling her he despises both her and her husband, and merely wanted to see whether their "higher idealism" would bear investigation. Brutal, but even at this point sympathy is with Winthrop.

The subplot in the play are very important. There are not too many, and they are used most effectively to drive home the point in each tense situation. There are many pretty scenes in the play, which is unusually interesting as a story. The fanciful dissolves of the building and crumbling of air castles and interpretative designs used with the subplot are very effective.

INVASION OF NEW YORK CITY SHOWN IN MOTION PICTURES

Written and designed chiefly to aid the propaganda in favor of national preparedness, "The Battle Cry of Peace," an eleven part motion picture spectacle, will be shown at the Isis theatre four nights and at three theatres commencing next Monday, May 15th. The first matinee on Tuesday.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" is modeled principally after Hudson Maxims book, "Defenseless America," but there is a substantial vein of romance and a strong human interest story running through it. Its author is J. Stuart Blackton, who received many suggestions as to the scenario from a number of army and navy officers and officials of the federal government who were glad to co-operate in its making. A special orchestra is engaged for the accompaniment of this picture.

In the same category with "The Birth of a Nation," "The Battle Cry of Peace" is a spectacular offering, bringing home to the general public some astounding facts concerning the unpreparedness of this country in time of war.

Some idea of the size of the offering is gained when it is said that in support of the company there was introduced 16,000 national guardsmen, 800 O. A. R. members, 5,000 horses and seventeen aeroplanes, with Zeppelins, submarines, dreadnoughts, battleships, torpedo boats and armored motor cars.

It attempts to show how New York city and the entire United States would be made subject to an alien invading host. There is a series of thrilling pictures of the siege of New York, showing bombardments from the land, sea and sky, the Wall street district in flames, a covering army marching through the streets and the dynamiting of public buildings, to say nothing of a score of other sensational happenings.

Of the many factors destined to cause "The Battle Cry of Peace" to be popularly for it is a picture of worth seeing is the personality of the chief actor, Charles Richmond. With Mr. Richmond in bringing out the human interest of the picture, which consists of the adventures of two families caught in the maelstrom of invasion, were Joseph Kilgour, Thelma Lyton, Lionel Braham, L. Rogers Lyton, Telf Johnson, Mary Maurice, Belle Bruce, Lucille Hamill and other players.

What Is Wrong With The World Explained

Famous Lecturer Will Give Free Talk at Lavering, May 10-11. Invited.

"What's Wrong With the World" will be the subject of the lecture under the auspices of Twin Falls Council of the Knights of Columbus at Lavering theatre, Tuesday, May 10, by Peter Collins of Massachusetts. Mr. Collins is well qualified to discuss in a comprehensive manner the great problems of our day, and to set forth constructive remedies that aid in the advancement and progress of civilization.

During the past five years alone Collins has spoken to over 1,000 people in the United States and Canada, and has traveled nearly 100 miles.

Peter Collins needs no introduction to the men and women of America interested in the great constructive movements of Christian democracy and social reform. His experience and activity in the cause of social legislation well qualifies him for his former work, having served for years as international secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, editor of the Electrical Workers, and as a member of the first industrial commission, one of the first commissions in the U. S. made possible a great code of law for the health, safety and comfort of the workers in that state. This code of laws has been copied by states and has received the approval of sociologists and statesmen world over.—Adv.

Missionary society meets tomorrow with Mrs. Son.

The members of the K. D. S. society were entertained last Saturday evening at the home of Miss Pauline Evans. The hostess served dainty refreshments.

Mrs. M. C. Ware entertained the members of the R. C. B. club at her home on Denver avenue last Monday. The prize, as usual, was given the hostess, and the year-end first prize was won by Mrs. Senator.

Mrs. Wilbur S. Hill entertained the eight members of the Luncheon club last Thursday. Cards followed and first prize was won by Mrs. M. J. Swenson and Mrs. E. J. Ostrander carried off second.

Mrs. W. S. Hill was hostess at a very pretty spring luncheon the Wednesday afternoon complimentary to the Wednesday afternoon bridge club. The centerpiece for each of the three tables was an artistic basket of pampas and covers were laid for twenty-four. In the delightful season of cards which followed, Mrs. B. A. Hamilton succeeded in capturing the prize.

The Presella Sewing society met Thursday with Mrs. Hollingsworth who lives one mile east and two miles north of Kimberly. The party, numbering fourteen, left Twin Falls at ten o'clock in the morning for an all-day meet at the Hollingsworth home, returning home at five o'clock. The hostess served a sumptuous "course dinner" to her guests and the day was spent very enjoyably.

Mrs. Burkhalter was a gracious hostess to the members of the Acirems club Wednesday of last week. An interesting program was arranged for the day. Two papers were read, the first on "American Art Treasures," was presented by Mrs. Rowan, while another on "The American Pulpit," was given by Mrs. Nims. A delicious two-course luncheon was served later by the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kaylor.

PROF. FIELEDST BADLY HURT BY CAR TURNING TURTLE
As a result of his auto turning turtle from a broken radius rod in American Falls this morning, Professor

J. J. Fieledst, who has charge of university extension work in this city, is suffering from a broken arm, three broken ribs and several severe though not dangerous bruises. No other member of the party was hurt. The facts were telephoned to Dr. W. A. Sullivan at once.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Sheridan's attempt to make a business man of his son Bibbs by selling him in the machine shop and in Bibbs going to a satisfaction, a nervous wreck.

CHAPTER II—On his return Bibbs is met at the station by his sister Edith.

CHAPTER III—He finds himself in an uncomfortable and unconsidered figure in the "New House" of the Sheridans. He sees Mary Vertrees looking at him from a summer house next door.

CHAPTER IV—The Vertreeses, old town family and unimpaired, call on the Sheridans, newly-rich, and afterward discuss the matter with their friends. Mary Vertrees' unspoken wish that she marry one of the Sheridans boys.

CHAPTER V—At the Sheridan household, Mary Vertrees' unspoken wish that she marry one of the Sheridans boys.

CHAPTER VI—Mary tells her mother about the language and attitude of Bibbs by talking of him as a matrimonial possibility.

CHAPTER VII—Jim tells Mary Bibbs is not a lunatic—"Just queer." He proposes to Mary, who half accepts him.

CHAPTER VIII—Sheridan tells Bibbs he must go back to the machine shop as soon as he is strong enough, in spite of Bibbs' idea to be allowed to write.

CHAPTER IX—Edith and Elvyn, Roscoe Sheridan's wife, quarrel over Bibbs' lameness. Edith goes to Mary for help to keep Bibbs from marring Edith, and Mary leaves her in the room alone.

CHAPTER X—Bibbs has to break to his father the news of Jim's sudden death.

CHAPTER XI—All the rest of the family help in their grief. Bibbs becomes temporary master of the house. At the funeral he meets Mary and rides home with her.

CHAPTER XII.

Bibbs went home pondering. He did not understand why Edith had laughed. At home, uncles, aunts and cousins found him out of town were wandering about the house, several mournfully admitting the "Day of Naples," and others occupied with the Moor and the plumbline, while they waited for trains. Edith and her mother had retired to some upper fastness, but Bibbs' friends viewed Jackson and had, the various groups of relatives summoned to the dining room for food. One great-uncle, old Gideon Sheridan from Louisville, could not be found, and Bibbs went in search of him. He ransacked the house, discovering the missing antique at last by accident. Passing his father's closed door on this, Bibbs heard a murmured sound, and paused to listen. The sound proved to be a quivering and rickety voice, monotonously bleating:

"The Lord's giveth and the Lord's taketh away! We got to remember that; we got to remember that! I'm agittin' along, James; I'm agittin' along, and I've seen a-awny of 'em go—two daughters and a son the Lord took up, and I've seen 'em all away. For the Lord's giveth and the Lord's taketh away! Remember the words of the Shubites, James. Bidded the Shubites say, 'Ye shall have neither son nor nephew among his people, nor any remainder in his dwellings.' Bidded the Shubites—"

Bibbs opened the door softly. His father was lying upon the bed, in his underclothes, face downward, and Uncle Gideon sat near by, swinging backward and forward in a rocking chair, stroking his long, white beard and gazing at the ceiling as he talked. Bibbs beckoned him urgently, but Uncle Gideon paid no attention.

"Bidded the Shubites spake and he says, 'If thy children have sinned against him and he have cast them away.'"

There was a muffled explosion beneath the floor, and the windows rattled. The figure lying face downward on the bed did not move, but Uncle Gideon leaped from his chair, "My God!" he cried, "What's that?"

"There came a second explosion, and Uncle Gideon ran out into the hall. Bibbs went to the head of the great staircase, and, looking down, discovered the source of the disturbance.

Gideon's grandson, a boy of fourteen, had brought his camera to the funeral and was taking "flashlights" of the Moor. Uncle Gideon, reassured by Bibbs' explanation, would have returned to finish his quotation from Bidded the Shubites, but Bibbs detained him, and after a long argument persuaded him to descend to the dining room whether Bibbs followed, after closing the door of his father's room.

He kept his eyes on Gideon after dinner, diplomatically preventing several attempts on the part of that comforter to remonstrate the stairs; and was a relief to Bibbs when George announced that an automobile was waiting to convey the ancient man and his grandson to their train. They were the last to leave, and when they had gone Bibbs went sighing to his own room.

He stretched himself wearily upon the bed, but presently rose, went to of being hitherto unknown in his experience. Sometimes in the process of waking there is a little pause—sleep has not been so coherent thought has not begun. It is the moment, as we say, before we "remember"; and for the first time in Bibbs' life it came to him, bringing a vague happiness.

However, it was a brief visitation and his gone before he had finished dressing, and he had to try to get a hazy recollection of it and the puzzle of it, which remained unsolved. And, in fact, waking happily in the morning is not usually the result of a drive home from a funeral. No wonder the sequence seemed so strange.

His father had gone when he came downstairs. "Went on down to 'office, Joe's name," Jackson informed him. "Cause sat breakfast table, all by 'imself; eat nothing. George bring nice breakfast, but he didn't eat a thing. Yessuh, went on downstairs, Joe was he yoozin do. Yessuh, I reckon putty much 'er'ything goin' on same as it yoozin do."

It struck Bibbs that Jackson was right. The day passed as other days had passed. Mrs. Sheridan and Edith were in black, and Mrs. Sheridan cried a little, now and then, but no other external difference was to be seen. Bibbs went with his drive, and his mother went with him, as she sometimes did when the weather was pleasant. Altogether, the unusualness of things was rather startling to Bibbs.

During the drive Mrs. Sheridan talked fragmentarily of Jim's childhood. "But you wouldn't remember that," she said, after narrating an episode of the day. "I don't know. I've always a good boy, just like that. And he'd save whatever papa gave him, and put it in the bank. I reckon I'll just about kill your father to put somebody in his place as president of the livery company. Bibbs, I know he can't move Roscoe over; he told me last week he'd already put as much on Roscoe as any one man could handle and not go crazy. Oh, it's a pity—"

She stopped to wipe her eyes. "It's a pity you didn't run more with Jim, Bibbs, and kind of pick up his ways. Think what it'd meant to papa now. You never did run with either Roscoe or Jim any, even before you got sick. Of course you were younger; but it always did seem queer—and you three, my brothers, like that. I don't know I ever saw you and Jim sit down together for a good talk in my life."

"Mother, I've been away so long," Bibbs returned, gently. "And since I came home—I was busy, you see, and I hadn't much to say about the things that interested him, because I don't know much about them."

"It's a pity! Oh, it's a pity!" she moaned. "And you'll have to learn to know about 'em now, Bibbs. I haven't said much to you, because I felt it was all between your father and me, but I honestly do believe it will just kill him if he has to have any more trouble on top of all this! You mustn't let him, Bibbs—you mustn't! You don't know how he's grieved over you, and now he can't stand any more for just that. Well, just he says for you to do, you do it, Bibbs, you do it! I want you to promise me you will."

"I would if I could," he said, sorrowfully.

"No, no! Why can't you?" she cried, clutching his arm. "It's worse than you to go back to the machine shop and all on earth he asks is for you to go back in a cheerful spirit, so it won't hurt you! That's all he asks. Look, Bibbs, we're gettin' back near home, but before we get there I want you to promise me that you'll do what he asks you to. Promise me!"

In her earnestness she cleared away her black veil that she might see him better, and it blew out on the smoky wind. He readjusted it for her before he spoke.

"I'll go."

"No, no! I can't let you go," she cried, clutching his arm. ### TALKS ON THRIFT

SHE DIDN'T RAISE HER BOY TO BE A LOAFER

"One of the most important lessons that a child can learn is that money is the representative of labor; a reward for services rendered; compensation for doing something, and not a gift to be had for the asking. The penny that is earned has a vastly different aspect from the one that is doled out. When the child grows up he will find that the world will not hand out money for the asking, but only in return for value. The growing boy or girl can have no better lesson than to be compelled to return something for their spending money. Even though the service rendered be trivial, such as carrying wood, washing dishes, dusting, etc., the value of the lesson remains."

After earning money by labor, it becomes necessary that it should be well spent in order that the benefit, both morally and financially, be lasting. If the child is merely taught to earn in order to spend, he is acquiring spendthrift habits which will mar his life as the years go by, and be disastrous. Every parent owes a duty to the child in training it first to earn largely and then to spend wisely.

The Circle Publishing Company of Philadelphia employs over 50,000 boys in selling their publications in odd moments. Such training inspires them with the instinct of saving, and leads to a very creditable degree. The company offers to secure good positions for all those who show marked training and interest in business. It is earning $5 a week out of school hours, and has $100 in the bank. Such opportunities are an every hand for the boy, particularly for profitably use his spare time, which might otherwise be frittered away to a damageable degree.

During selling of papers, running of errands for a store, and work of this order does not reflect on the standing of the parents—it is simply good training and those who regard it as such will recognize this fact as worth having will recognize this fact as worth having.

A certain mother in Staten Island whose boy used his out of school time in delivering packages for a dry-goods establishment and earned $1 a week had the right idea. She insisted that he put a part of his earnings in the bank. As his career progressed he increased his savings. He thought it hard at first to bank rather than spend his money, until he got the habit, but now he is glad his mother was strict. He has recently bought an automobile out of his savings, which might appear extravagant, but with such training he is sure to turn it into an earning power.

A boy trained in such surroundings must be thrifty. This mother did not raise her boy to be a loafer, spending his time in the pool room, organ streets, wasting time, and earning bad habits; she helped him capitalize his spare moments for substantial results later on in life.

On the home training depends largely whether or not the boy is to be thrifty or spendthrift; a savor of a waster; a soldier in the great army of those who work, or a loiterer straggling in the rear.

The Most Noteworthy Achievement in the History of Motion Pictures

Written by and Vitagraphed Under the Personal Supervision of J. Stuart Blackton, with Acknowledgments to Hudson Maxim for Facts Contained in "DEFENSELESS AMERICA."

A Call to Arms Against War

That deals with America's unpreparedness in such a way that it touches the heart strings of your emotion, awakens patriotism within your bosom.

It is more than a picture. It is a great national propaganda which deals with the most important problem that has confronted this nation since the Civil War—the problem of unpreparedness.

WHAT MAYOR THOMPSON OF CHICAGO SAYS:

"I do not think there is now in existence a stronger plea for the patriotic feelings of our men and women than 'THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE.' Commodore Blackton has written a lesson that no true American can fail to heed. He has written himself into the list of America's truly patriotic citizens. I would urge every man, woman and child who can do so, to see 'THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE.'"

BISHOP SAMUEL FALLOWS WRITES:

"A great patriotic lesson taught by a true American patriot, a lesson in preparedness that cannot be improved upon. Every American should see it. No true American will miss it. It is the greatest argument for preparedness ever conceived."

Some of the Things You Will See

The most beautiful sky line in the world in flames.
The metropolis of the western hemisphere devastated.
The fall of New York.
The enemy approaching.
The defeat of the meager American forces.
The landing of the invaders.
Our forts destroyed.
Our fleet beaten in battle.
And many other wonderful spectacles.

ROBINSON'S

Store News

Have you good folks been wondering why I have not been talking to you through the papers lately? It is not because I have not thought of you, nor because I have not wanted to, or because my good friend Read of the News or Sims of the Times have not reminded me that they had space for my advertisements, but to tell you the "honest injun" truth, I have not seemed to find the time when I had any ideas worth mentioning, at just the same moment.

We really have been very busy for the past few weeks, doing almost as much business as last fall when we were selling heavy goods, that count up much faster in sales, than the goods we sell at this time of the year.

The good part of it is that you have been coming in just the same and bringing in your friends, or sending them here, and buying more than ever, and everybody seems pleased to find the same good qualities, and plenty of goods at the same low prices. You see I bought plenty last year, when prices were low, and I am not only willing, but glad to share these benefits with you.

You folks in the other towns, or out in the country who have not tried sending your mail orders to me can save money by doing so, and take no risk, as every purchase must be satisfactory. Just try and see how easy, pleasant and profitable it will be for you.

WESTERN PACIFIC SURE TO BUILD

points. We are going to make the Western Pacific a road which will pay its own way, and at the same time give service.

"The Boise line" will be built, but whether it will go through the Twin Falls country or from Winnemucca is to be determined.

About 11 years ago when the Western Pacific was started, E. J. Yard, then chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, which was back of the Western Pacific, conferred with R. W. Faris of the Paria-Kest Construction company, which company was then completing the Twin Falls Land & Water company's line at Millner. Mr. Yard was telling into the feasibility of a Western Pacific line from Salt Lake to the coast via Boise, which would be the company's main line to the Orient.

At the request of Mr. Yard, Mr. Faris played a reconnaissance party in the field to run a line from Twin Falls to Boise. The plan of the Western Pacific was to start from the west side of Great Salt Lake, pass over the Kelton divide to Raft river; down Raft river through the south side of the Minidoka project; through the South Side Twin Falls tract; across the Snake river and over the North Side tract, by way of Gooding; up to Camas prairie; down the Boise watershed to Boise; over to Ontario or Nyasa, and through to the Oregon coast.

It was found that by skirting the foothills from Camas prairie and striking the Boise river near the mouth of the canyon above Barber, a feasible route with comfortable grades could be obtained. This line, it was discovered, would be superior to a water grade by way of the south fork of the Boise.

At that time the Twin Falls country was in sagbrush. It had not been demonstrated. Nor had the North Side Twin Falls project been launched. The Raft river country had not been developed, nor were there any dry farmers along the route. Conditions have improved wonderfully along the proposed line within the past 10 years, and the extension now has something substantial behind it.

Those who are familiar with the route suggested when the Western Pacific was started, draw attention to the fact that since it was first proposed, the Oregon Short Line has built from Durley to Marshfield and is extending to Raft river in the direction of Kelton, Utah. It has also built from Richfield across Camas prairie to Hill City, likewise up the Malheur river to Juniper, which would indicate that it appreciated at least portions of the route selected by the Western Pacific.

apropos of the reorganization of the Western Pacific, the Tribune of Casper, Wyo., says:
"Eastern papers are commenting to some extent on the Chicago & North-western railroad assuming control of the defunct Western Pacific road from Salt Lake to the Pacific coast, and now in the hands of receivers. It is assumed that in the event the Northwestern successfully bids for the Western Pacific, its road to Casper would be extended through the South pass district to Salt Lake, thereby forming a junction and linking the gap for a through line. Local officials of the road say the plan is not in the least improbable, but are non-committal in advancing further information.
"Should the Northwestern acquire the Western Pacific it would have a continuous line from Chicago to the coast with the exception of the gap between Lander and Salt Lake, a distance of about 300 miles, which, it is said, would not be a difficult matter to build, with the exception of about 40 miles of precipitous grade. A fair agricultural and livestock tonnage would eventually be tributary to such a line."

PRAIRES TWIN FALLS SPIRIT. W. G. Sholtz state director of farm markets gave out an interview Monday to the Capital News on his return from Southern Idaho, in which he made special mention of receiving courtesy from the Buhl Commercial club, adding:

"At Twin Falls and the other towns in that district the commercial club and farmers were fully as willing to extend all possible courtesies to me as my work, but I didn't happen to have the pleasure of being in the district of the meeting nights of any of the communities. The Twin Falls spirit of hospitality is plainly in evidence, however, in all parts of the Twin Falls country."
