WOMEN OF IDAHO WILL ASSEMBLE AT TWIN FALLS

STATE FEDERATION TO HOLD ITS BIENNIAL MEETING HERE

Big Four-Days' Gathering Scheduled for October—Representative
Women of State to Attend

For four days in October Twin Falls and community will have the privilege of entertaining the largest aggregation of keen, capable Idaho women ever assembled in this part of the state. The occasion will be the biennial gathering of the Idaho State Federation of Women's Clubs. To this convention will come women from every part of the state and several from out of the state who are vitally interested in the affairs of the day, especially along those lines that in any way affect the homes of the people—women who are especially interested in and organized for the betterment of self, family, home, community, state and nation.

Splendid Program Arranged
The program, as outlined by Mrs. M. J. Sweeney of this city, chairman of the program committee of the state federation, in one of many promises. Although all details are not yet completed, the program in general is complete and soon will be ready for publication. As planned, it will undoubtedly be more extensive than any program presented at a previous gathering of the state federation. Mrs. Sweeney has been working carefully on the matter for some time past and her splendid ability along all such lines, with her keen grasp of conditions, demands and possibilities of the day, guarantees the interest and excellence of the program to be given.

The convention will open on Tuesday evening, October 10, at the Tuley hall, at which night the addresses of the presidents and other officers and speakers will be given. This will be a meeting open to the general public. The regular sessions of the convention will begin on schedule time Wednesday morning and will be carried out on schedule time throughout the day. Wednesday evening will be one of the big evenings of the gathering. This will be known as "presidents' night," on which occasion all the past presidents of the federation will present briefly the problems and reasons of their administrations. This will be the first biennial meeting of the federation in which all the past presidents have been invited to speak, and it promises to be a big event.

On Thursday the heavy work of the federation will be continued and sessions of officers of the state federation will be held. The afternoon work will practically finish the details of the convention work and the federation meeting proper will close with a big banquet on Thursday evening, the time and place of which have not yet been decided.

Banquet a Big Feature
The banquet will probably be the biggest feature of the gathering, and that it will be of special interest and most entertaining is assured by the fact that the chairman of the state program committee, Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Burton E. Morno of this city to act as toastmistress. It is generally conceded that the ready wit and repartee of Mrs. Morno is a well-recognized ability as a leader peculiarly fitted for the place of toastmistress at such a banquet as will be held at the state federation meeting. There will be a number of brilliant speakers present who have statewide reputations as such, and who will be heard with pleasure by those so fortunate as to have an opportunity to attend. Such banquets are held by these representative women of the state always both a culinary and an intellectual feast, as past occasions have demonstrated.

Good Music Assured
The music, which will be in charge of Mrs. D. E. Regan of the state music committee, promises to be as excellent as the program. Mrs. Regan was placed in charge by the chairman of the state program committee as being the one probably best fitted for conducting this important part of the program.

Friday, the last day of the four days' gathering, will be given over to sight-seeing and to the entertainment of local committees that every delegate remain throughout this day and take advantage of the opportunity to view the scenic beauties of the state and the state. The citizens of Twin Falls and community have generously offered the use of their automobiles for the day, and it is expected that on this day at Tuley by the club women of the hospitable community, including the women of Maroon, and dinner will be served at Tuley and return to the club women of the west-end city. Idaho Soldiers Rejoice Over Shortening of Daily Drill

LOAD OF GREEN VEGETABLES RECEIVED FROM SAN FRANCISCO—GREEN CORN FIGURES IN COMPANY D'S MESS—COMPANY K, BULL, HAS SLICED TOMATOES—COMPANY H, BOISE, GETS FRESH LETTUCE.

Special to The News.

CAMP STEPHEN LITTLE, Nogales, Ariz.—Idaho soldiers are in high spirits tonight. There are two reasons: Announcement was made this afternoon of a material shortening in the daily program of drills and ceremonies, and a load of green vegetables was received today from San Francisco. Green corn figured in Company K's mess this evening; Company K, Bull had sliced tomatoes, and Company H Boise, had fresh lettuce. Company funds made possible the securing of the vegetables, which are not obtainable at commissary.

Instead of arising at 5 o'clock in the morning, as heretofore, first call for reveille for Idaho soldiers will be sounded at 5:45 o'clock. The men are to sleep during the next 45 minutes. The last drill for the day will be over at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, according to the announcement. Drilling and physical exercises during two hours and 45 minutes, with one hour interval for rest, is provided for by the new program. Heretofore there has been drill and exercises for an hour and a half, and the men in connection with the physical exercises prescribed, the men are taking up instruction in the semaphore, or secret system of signaling, and some of them are becoming proficient at transmitting and receiving messages by this means.

Bull Short on Food
The regimental commissary is still short of many articles of food. Complaints are able to draw from it bread and meat, flour, potatoes, condensed milk and other staple articles, but without the company funds the diet could not be maintained. Rations for six days in advance are drawn from the commissary by each company. Of the requisition made by the mess sergeant of Company D, about one-half of the daily ration is supplied by the commissary for this week. The balance required was secured elsewhere by use of the company and company funds. The ration allowed for 37 men. The ration allowance prescribed by the war department for each man amounts 23.21 cents daily, and some of the daily ration is supplied by the commissary for the difference between the amount it draws and the amount it is entitled to receive. Nine men officers dine at Company D's mess, and pay 15 cents monthly for the accommodation. Rations are not drawn from the commissary for officers.

Butter Unknown
Except on occasion, butter is an unknown quantity on the Idaho soldier's bill of fare. Oleomargarine has taken its place. Tonight, though, for the green corn, butter was provided. This was the first time since the war by Cook King. In addition to the "roasting ears," it included bread, cocoa, soup, pudding and prunes. Meat is served once a day, and the commissary has been reduced in the interests of the health of the men. By order of the commissary, the diet is to be changed, and fresh fruits have been eliminated from the soldier's diet. Despite strictest sanitary precautions, the latest diet of Company D, which was prepared in a camp kitchen, was found to be contaminated by this source, though it was obtained by a section of screened kitchens and dining halls for each company. Work on these structures has been begun by several of the companies.

Not Fond of Hash
It would be difficult to persuade a member of Company D to partake of a dish of hash prepared in a camp kitchen, even though it was obtained by a section of screened kitchens and dining halls for each company. Work on these structures has been begun by several of the companies.

Regimental Canteen Opened
A regimental canteen has been opened at the headquarters of Chaplain A. Stewart. The stock in trade of the canteen includes, beside tobacco and inspected confectionery, soap, towels, paper, pencils, etc. The first customers were invited each man a bowl of cream, including Sunday, a business that will run $7000 monthly.

is reported. Profits are to be apportioned among the several company funds according to the number of men in each company. One sergeant and five privates are in charge. Frank Kendall of Company D has been detailed to duty at the canteen.

Chaplain Stewart Busy
Chaplain Stewart is one of the busiest men in camp. In addition to supervising the canteen, he has charge of the regimental postoffice. M. A. Henley of Company D, formerly a clerk at the Twin Falls postoffice, is a capable assistant to the chaplain in this work.

Also the chaplain conducts a bank for the men, cashing checks and making out pay orders. He has charge of an office for reception and delivery of telegrams. All this work is in addition to his duties as spiritual adviser to the men. Through the efforts of Chaplain Stewart, the Idaho regiment is the only one in camp here that has secured a Y. M. C. A. "hut," which is to be built near the canteen. In this hut, the men are provided with reading and writing and for various amusements and entertainments will be afforded.

Needs More Funds
Chaplain Stewart is handicapped in his work here by lack of funds. He needs money for providing reading matter and facilities for the right sort of amusement. Patriotic and kindly disposed citizens can win the eternal gratitude of the Idaho soldiers by contributing to the proposed chaplain's fund.

Today 60 men from Company D were ordered to dig further work on the new mess hall. The work consisted of digging of ditches for water and sewer pipe to base hospitals being built here to accommodate 500 men. Picks and shovels and "double jacks" were used. The work was divided into two reliefs, each working 30 minutes alternately. A tired and hungry crew of soldiers returned to camp at 5 o'clock.

Band Concert in Town
The Idaho regimental band, directed by Jack Thorp of Twin Falls, gave its first concert down town Tuesday evening. In response to the invitation of the Mayor, the band of Company D, the Idaho band will continue to give concerts down town Tuesday evening of each week. Concerts also are given down town every Sunday.

The Monday morning of the Idaho band is giving a concert in the streets of the town. The band is held in reserve in quarters today. Final physical examination of the Idaho band members is being held today. The Idaho band members are engaged this week in conducting examinations of the band members. Company D Loses Mascot Company D has lost its coyote mascot. It was kept for a time tied to the door of the cook's tent. One night it pulled down the door and tore it to shreds. The next day it was released. While in camp it displayed a pronounced affection for the men, and was especially fond of the men who were selling can soldiers are permitted to cross the line without question, provided their arms are left behind, and they are to be escorted by the commissary. The population of Nogales consists for the most part of soldiers. Almost all the men who are here are soldiers. The American population is composed almost wholly of men whose business interests are connected with the army. Armed guards are maintained along the international boundary line, which bisects the town, by both American and Mexican soldiers. The American side is assumed by the regulars, although for instruction, one of the interior patrols is assigned in turn to companies of guardsmen. The Mexican side is assumed by the regulars, although for instruction, one of the interior patrols is assigned in turn to companies of guardsmen.

"Why Are We Here?"
There is nothing on the surface of things here to indicate any forthcoming conflict of arms, and a most frequent observation of guardsmen is that the men who are here are soldiers. Intense Preparation
The general opinion among both American and Mexican soldiers is that a conflict is inevitable. The atmosphere is one of intense preparation.

TO BUILD NEW QUARTER MILLION BUSHEL PLANT

CONTRACT SIGNED WITH A CHICAGO CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

Six Big Storage Tanks to Be Built on the Lots North of Present Property—Biggest Elevator Denver to Portland

Contracts were signed this week between the Twin Falls Milling & Elevator Co. and the Burrill construction company of Chicago, providing for the erection on the lots owned by the former, just north of their present site, of six large storage tanks, which will give the local company a capacity of a million bushel plant, the largest between Denver and Portland.

The new addition will be built of steel and reinforced concrete, connected with the present elevator building by means of overhead passageways built above the C. S. L. sidetrack. An engineer representing the construction company was here this morning, and the work figuring on the proposition, and before leaving for Chicago stated that his company would build for the local mill, the largest and most modern elevators in the country. Work will be begun within two weeks.

Will Store Much Grain
With their increased capacity in Twin Falls, together with their leasing of the Hardin warehouse at Kimberly, the mill and elevator company will be in position to handle a vast quantity of grain and seed, both for immediate shipment and for storage. The new addition will be particularly well taken for storage, where the grower wishes to hold for rising prices, warehouse receipts being issued which may be used as collateral for loans.

Besides the big plant in Twin Falls, the Twin Falls Milling & Elevator Co. now has elevators and warehouses at Buhl, Lucerna, and Murtugan; flour, Hanson and Murtugan; warehouses at Kimberly and Curry, and seed cleaning mill at Hansen, Kimberly and Buhl.

LOCAL HUNTER LOST IN THE MOUNTAINS

Harrowing Experience of a Twin Falls
Man Hunting Near the Nevada Line

When hunting on Elk mountain, near the Nevada line, Sunday, a party of Twin Falls and Filer men, Robert Tyer of this city, wandered over the mountain all day Sunday and a part of Monday. The other members of the party, unable to locate him, hurried to Twin Falls and notified the sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Herrieman and party started for the mountain, from which point they expected to begin their search.

In the meantime, Tyer, after spending the night in a deserted cabin, wandered over the mountain, and came to the ranch of Will Clark, at noon, and from there sent word to the Wilson Creek vicinity of his whereabouts. The word was received by Deputy Sheriff Herrieman, who went to the Clark ranch and brought Tyer to Twin Falls.

Although the country in which the men were hunting contains many sheep camps and cattle ranches, when no trace of Tyer could be found it was feared he had met with an accident and might be lying helpless somewhere in the mountains. For this reason, high searching parties were instituted in order to locate the missing man as soon as possible. After learning of the nerve-racking experience of being lost, and the fact that his feet were sore and bleeding from the long hunt, Tyer had a little more of the experience.

"Michigan, My Michigan"
The Michigan Militia will be held at the city park on August 15. The Michiganders will assemble at 1 o'clock for a splendid program, which is being prepared, and dinner will be served at 5 o'clock.

SOON TO ADVERTISE POSTOFFICE BIDS

In a letter received this week from James M. Williams, secretary of the Commercial club from Congressman Addison T. Smith, in Washington, D. C., the following is quoted: "The federal government is planning to build a new federal building to be built in Twin Falls."

TAKES STUMP TO APOLOGIZE FOR FALLING DOWN

GOVERNOR MOSE TELLS NORTH IDAHO ABOUT MILLION SAVING

Says Some of His Voters Nearly "Broke His Heart." But Graft and Dishonesty Compelled
His Actions

BOISE.—Governor Alexander has returned from a visit to the northern portion of the state, where he delivered a number of addresses to good-sized audiences. It is reported that the Governor had little to say about politics, but a good deal to tell about the way in which he had labored for the benefit of the people of the state. He has been explaining, with a good deal of fullness, the true inwardness of this enormous saving which he had promised for the state, and the reasons why he had been unable to keep his word.

Letters from the various parts of the North tell of his characterful and various appropriation bills which he had voted as instances of dishonesty and graft. In Moscow he explained how his heart bled over the necessity of voting certain bills for the improvement of the university, which he felt were of value, while finding the voters of measure looking to the improvement and increase in efficiency of other institutions in which the people of that community are expected to have no interest.

Candidacy Still Unannounced
But Governor Alexander's candidacy is still unannounced. His filing is expected within the next few days. All who are to do so must file during the coming week, as the latest close next Saturday, August 5.

Just as true of the remainder of the ticket as it is of the Governor. At the present time there are a number of bills pending in the legislature for which the Democrats have made no offering. It is readily conceivable that this will not do at all. The work is not done. The move will be made in regard to candidates for the state offices among the Democrats similar to that put into effect in Clearwater county last week. The state central committee has named the Democratic ticket and recommended it to the voters at the primary election. This, it is believed, is the only move of the Democrats of the state, and who until recently was mentioned as a probable candidate for Congress, in speaking of the matter yesterday, asserted that upward of 7000 Democratic voters are practically pledged to work against any ticket made up by the Eldor-Pence-Nugent forces. One of the men admitted that although he believed the opposition to this leadership represented a majority of the membership of the party, he was not in a proper position to make any statement, and could only wait until the Alexander gang, as he termed it, should be "hoisted by its own record."

Old Soldiers Are Made Happy
The old veterans at the "Soldiers' home" are exceedingly in a happy and contented state under the present management of that institution. Commandant R. H. Barton, who has been in charge of the institution for more than three years, has brought about a great improvement, so that the home at the present time is regarded by government inspectors and others in a position to know as equal in comfort for the inmates and skill of management on the part of the staff, as any similar institution in the United States.

The Soldiers' home now has an enrollment of 182, although there are never that number in residence. At the present time the number is 160, not the full number. But the enrollment represents old soldiers from practically every state in the Union. It is a fact that the residence of old, and it is probable the average age of those living in the home is not far from 75 years.

One of the features of the home have been made scenes of floral beauty. There are flower beds apparently everywhere, and just at present the flowers are in bloom so that any time the standards of bloom could be cut and sent a show left. Inside the home there are abundant evidences of the fact that it is being made by the state through its management to make of this a veritable home for the father defenders of the country's honor. All the buildings of the home are kept in the best of repair, and the dining room are immaculate, while the meals that are given the inmates could not be excelled in the character of the food served, or in the preparation. There are 40 acres in the home grounds. Much of this is being prepared for the benefit of the home, and in this way more in residence are very old, and most of the meat is in the way of pork and tallow is produced.

IDAHO SOUTHERN R.R. PASSES TO THE LONG SLEEP

NORTH SIDE ROAD FILES ITS OWN DEATH NOTICE

Single Engine Owned by the Company Gave its Last Toot Late in June—Brief Funeral Services

After struggling against great odds for about six years, the Idaho Southern railroad Saturday officially gave up the ghost, turned up its toes and went to rest with its fathers. The death of the road did not come as a surprise, since it had ceased to operate June 27.

The death notice of the railroad was filed with the public utilities commission at Boise Saturday afternoon by owners of the transportation line when they cancelled all tariffs of effective September 1 and advised that the road would quit operating on that date. There has been no service over the line since the latter part of June. It was said at the office of the public utilities commission, and indications are that no more trains will be run over the road before the date set for the cancellation of the tariffs.

What action the commissioners will take with reference to the discontinuance of service by the railroad is a matter that has not yet been decided. No complaints have been filed by citizens of the towns served by the road, and since owners of the line say it has been operating at a loss, the commission may decide to allow it to lie idle.

Last Engine Condemned
The death blow was struck for the little railroad late in June, the public utilities commissioners said, when a boiler inspector in the service of the federal government condemned the only locomotive the line boasted. Owners of the road, unable to purchase another engine, shunted their locomotive, their handful of freight cars and the passenger coach onto a sidetrack and, closing their stations, quit business.

The Idaho Southern reaches south out of Gooding for a distance of 12 miles to Wendell, where it turns south and east and continues to Jerome, probably 8 or 10 miles away. It was built in 1909 and 1910 by the Kuhn interests of Pittsburgh, Pa. The road is almost surrounded by the Oregon Short Line, and paralleled by that road from Wendell to Jerome.

Inasmuch as the Short Line serves with one exception all towns entered by the Idaho Southern, the passing of the miniature road will work a hardship only on the village of Bennett. Bennett is but six miles from the main line of the O. S. L.

The Idaho Southern is the second road in the Twin Falls district to "go under." The Milner & North Side having ceased operations November 27 last. The latter road had been built south out of Milner to Oakley, a distance of about 20 miles.

FAMOUS RACER DRIVES A HUDSON

Ralph De Palma Takes His Family to the Races in a Super-Six Touring Sedan

Ralph De Palma, who has shared honors with Dario Resta for the American speedway supremacy this season, is the owner of a Super-Six touring sedan. This car is used for touring and general utility by De Palma and his family. His pit men go to the speedways in it. Mrs. De Palma and her friends who race in French star famous husband competes from its luxurious seats.

A Hudson representative chanced to see De Palma in a garage, inquiring about the touring sedan one day, and asked him why he had selected the Hudson Super-Six touring sedan.

With his characteristic broad smile, De Palma replied: "Because I liked its looks."

Asked if the car had run up to its looks, De Palma said: "It certainly has. I like the car very much indeed. I have been able to get 65 miles an hour out of it over ordinary roads, despite the big top. I think this type of car is gaining friends among those who appreciate its many advantages and are willing to pay the difference in price. The Super-Six carburetor is splendid and in the same class with its smooth-running compensated crankshaft."

This is one of the highest-priced camera machines on the market and will have all of the latest filming devices, including a spindle and a device for producing the "streak" effect.

The arrival of the new camera will give the company two machines as part of their working apparatus.

NO WONDER

Before the passage of the present strict banking laws in Wisconsin, starting a bank was a comparatively simple proposition. The surprisingly small amount of capital needed is well illustrated by the story of a prosperous country-town banker told on himself, when told how he happened to enter the banking business.

"Well," he said, "I didn't have much else to do so I rented an empty store building and painted BANK on the windows. The first day I was open for business a man came in and deposited a hundred dollars with me; the second day another man dropped in and deposited two hundred and fifty; and so, by George, along about the third day I got confidence enough in the bank to put in a hundred myself!"

IS MADE VICE- PRESIDENT OF STATE BODY

B. E. MORSE HOLDS SECOND OFFICE IN ASSOCIATION

State Organization Perfected at Meeting of Prominent Idaho Architects, Held in Po-cattello

At the meeting of prominent architects of the state, held last week in Pocatello, the Idaho Architects' association was formed. J. B. Boyer of Pocatello was elected president and Burton E. Morse of Twin Falls was chosen first vice-president.

The meeting was most successful and plans were formulated for the forming of a permanent state organization. Another meeting of the architects will be held in this city on August 15th and constitution and by-laws will be accepted and the organization perfected.

Two meetings were held yesterday, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. Before the later meeting a banquet was given the architects at the Bannock hotel. Frank Paradise, Jr., acted as toastmaster. At the evening session a committee was appointed on constitution and by-laws, also a judiciary committee and one to formulate plans so that the state association may become a branch organization of the American Institute of Architects. The following are the officers of the organization:

J. B. Boyer of Pocatello, president.

B. E. Morse of Twin Falls, first vice-president.

J. H. Walker of Payette, second vice-president.

Slack Winburn of Idaho Falls, secretary.

F. H. Paradise, Jr., of Pocatello, treasurer.

In the afternoon the visiting architects were shown around the city and inspected several of the many new buildings going up here. They were royally entertained at the Elks' club, and all stated the gathering here was a most successful business meeting, but also a very enjoyable event. Several architects who were not present at the afternoon meeting arrived later in the day and attended the banquet and evening session.

Remittance of Dues for Members at the Front—Lieut. Col. P. H. Crow Belongs to the Local Chapter

Twin Falls lodge, No. 46, Knights of Pythias, in common with all other lodges of the order, has received a copy of a grand lodge resolution that special concessions and benefits be given members who are now in the service of their country on the Mexican border. The local lodge has only one member at the front, Lieut.-Col. P. H. Crow. The resolution, which advises the remittance of dues, the enrollment on the roll of honor of all members at the front, and the appointment of a war relief committee, is as follows:

"Whereas, This nation is in a state of war, to the extent that the militia of the various states, including Idaho, have been called to the colors; and whereas, Many members of our order are members of the state militia and are now on their way to the front; and

On this Prodim Process Rubber Tire

Wonderful new rubber that wears down as evenly as fine steel

The illustration above is a section from a Prodim Process Tire that ran 9,467 miles on a heavy car. Note the thickness of tread still remaining.

Prodim Process Rubber (the new tire tread stock used exclusively on Republic tires) is practically chip proof and cut proof. Thousands of miles of service leave its surface in perfect condition. Rotting of fabric and resultant blow-outs are reduced to a minimum. Think of what this means in tire bills.

Get a sample strip of Prodim Process Rubber. Try to break it. Its wonderful tensile strength is but one of the reasons why Prodim Process tires give such excellent service.

WILL HAVE BIG BRANCH HOUSE AT KIMBERLY

T. F. MILLING & ELEVATOR CO. LEASES HARDIN WAREHOUSE

John W. Hardin Will Be Manager of the New Plant—Big Double Roll Monitor Cleaner Installed

With the leasing of the big Hardin warehouse and the employment of John W. Hardin as manager of their Kimberly branch, the Twin Falls Milling & Elevator company is making a strong bid for the grain and clover seed business from that section of the Twin Falls country.

Covering a space 50x50 feet, with two floors, an electric elevator and a newly-installed cleaner, a big double roll monitor, with a capacity of 600 bushels per day, the biggest cleaner in Kimberly, the new plant will be equipped to handle a big volume of business for immediate shipping, as well as providing the farmers with farmers wishing to hold wheat and clover seed for midwinter prices. The warehouse was leased and operated last year by Penny and the apple commission house, but the shortage in apples this year led them to cancel their lease and enabled the local company to secure a good warehouse and truckage site for the expansion of their business east of Twin Falls.

Mr. Hardin, the new manager for the elevator company is one of the wealthiest settlers in the Kimberly neighborhood. He is a practical farmer and business man and has on his farms here and at Filer 100 acres of alfalfa, about 140 acres of young red clover and another fifty acres of young alfalfa.

Aliske Looks Good

After a fairly complete canvass of the whole Twin Falls country, Mr. Hardin states that he finds the alfalfa very little damaged by the clover aphid, and believes that it will be the best clover crop raised this year, although white clover is also good, and occupies four times the acreage it did last year, while there has been very little new seeding of alfalfa. Red clover, he finds, is in many places damaged as high as 50 per cent from the honey dew formed by the aphid.

In the grain crops wheat, oats and barley he finds better crops and better quality than last year, although there has been considerable cutting down in acreage. As regards markets, he believes that indications point to good prices as last year. In alfalfa the prices at the Toledo market, the basis of all clover markets, have during a good part of the summer averaged nearly a dollar higher than at the same time last year.

Clover in Orchards
Mr. Hardin, besides being a clover man, owns two of the largest apple orchards in this section, one two miles south of Twin Falls and one at Filer. With regard to clover in orchards, he makes a statement from his own experience which is likewise born out by the experience of many orchardists, but which marks a new departure in methods of combining the two crops. Mr. Hardin states in the first place that the best orchard clover because it can be cut early enough to permit irrigation for the apple crop. The defect in red clover arising from the necessity to dry out the ground just at the time when the trees need water for the growing apples, can, however, be overcome by clipping early in May, not for a hay crop, but just to cut off the heads, then watering heavily and harvesting the seed crop in July early enough to permit running another irrigation for the benefit of the growing apples.

BELIEVES THE SILO IS A NECESSITY

Agent of Ada County Considers Silos Indispensable to the High-Price Lands of Southern Idaho

In the weekly news letter sent out by the University of Idaho, F. L. Williams, county agent of Ada county, discusses briefly the need of more silos on the high-priced lands of Southern Idaho. His summary of the situation is as follows:

How shall we make our high-priced land pay a good interest on the money invested? This is the problem that confronts many of the farmers of Idaho, and the solution must be found in intensified farming, soil improvement, and a study of feeds and feeding to insure profits.

The silo makes intensified farming possible through the fact that more live stock can be raised and fed, and the soil enriched through the use of manure. The silo not only increases the farm income but decreases farm labor.

In those sections of Southern Idaho where sand and gravel can be had for the hauling, it seems that the concrete silo is the most practical. It is light, permanent, durable, wind and fire proof. Concrete grows tougher with age, outlasting almost every other known material. The first cost is the one big thing that stands before the prospective builder; however, the silo has proven the best investment that a farmer can make. The cost is small when divided by the number of years that the silo will of service, and, in many cases, it pays for itself the first year.

The silo is no longer an experiment. That silage is one of the best feeds that can be had is a conceded fact. The addition of silage makes a better balanced ration, insures better health, a larger milk flow and in beef cattle a more rapid increase in weight. It lowers the cost of butterfat from 5 cents to 8 cents per pound, and beef production from $1 to $1.50 per 100 pounds. It enables the farmer to produce a larger tonnage at a smaller cost, economizes on labor and storage space, and makes possible the maintenance of a larger herd for the number of acres.

CATTLE MARKET SHOWS STRENGTH

KANSAS CITY REPORTS REDUCTION OF 5000 IN BEEF SUPPLY

Has Good Effect in Bringing Market to More Even Basis—Prices In All Lines Show Advance

KANSAS CITY STOCKYARDS.
The cattle market settled down to a more even basis today, 20 to 35 cents above the worst point last week. A reduction of 5000 in the supply, as compared with last week, was instrumental in effecting the improvement, although commission men believe the outlet will prove ample from now on for all the cattle that come.

Beef Steers

Nothing strictly in the dry lot class was had, but some of the prices would sell upwards of $10.25. Good Missouri corn and grass steers sold up to $10.05, medium and plain ones to $9.45 to $9.75, choice and prime fed steers $9.25 and $9.35. Kansas wintered steers of best grade sold at $9 to $9.75 this week, and medium steers brought $7.40 to $7.75, weights of the latter up to 1150 lbs. Medium fresh grass steers from Kansas and Oklahoma weighing 950 to 1100 lbs. sold at $6.50 to $7.25, and common light Oklahoma steers sold as low as $5.75. About 35 cars of good fed Texas steers were received and they sold at $7.50 to $8.25. Cows are comparatively scarce, and best fed cows bring $7 to $7.50, good grass cows $5.50 to $6.50, medium and common cows $5 to $6.50, bulls $5.50 to $6.50, veals up to $11.

Stockers and Feeders

Plenty of buyers came in the first of the week to clean up everything that came in at an advance of 25 to 40 cents, and commission men had no chance to work on their accumulated orders, which are heavy. It is possible that a heavy week might break prices again, but dealers believe the demand will be ample from now on. Most of the stock steers are selling at $6.50 to $7.25, feeders $6.75 to $7.75, a few choice steers in each class up to $8 or better, stock cows and heifers $5 to $6.75.

Hogs

Hog prices have averaged slightly higher this week than last, although packers say the hot weather has cut down consumption immensely and that the main trade now is in smoked meats and products. Receipts are larger than a year ago, but not excessive. Light hogs have sold better this week, wiping out part of the margin between lean and heavy hogs. Pigs are scarce, as health among hogs is widespread. Receipts were only 2000 today, market strong, top $9.77 1-2, bulk $9.50 to $9.75, light weights up to $9.70.

Sheep and Lambs

The market showed strength Monday and has advanced steadily, buyers' orders Thursday and Friday being extremely urgent and with most elastic price limits. Receipts are largely confined to natives and are very light. Prime Idaho lambs would sell up to $10.75, Arizonas and natives only slightly less, nearly a dollar above a week ago, readily at $3.25 or better, wethers $3, ewes $7.65. Breeding ewes brought $9 this week, for anything good under five year old, and a drove of choice feeding lambs would bring $9.25.

THE BOTTLE AND THE TWINS

A Hartford physician, who fishes for recreation, recently took along a friend on such an expedition.

Early in the afternoon the physician lost his slinker. For a moment it seemed that he was in a dilemma, and that there would be no more fishing for him that day. A happy thought, however, came to him, for he had a bottle in his pocket. This was carefully filled by the doctor with sand, corked and sent down on its mission.

In a little while the doctor had a bit and pulled in his line at racing speed, finding a pair of fish, one on each hook. "Ah! Twins!" shouted the friend.

"Yes," grinned the doctor, "and brought up on the bottle, too!"

OPERATING NOTES

A certain representative in Congress from the West is very fond of music, and it annoys him to a degree that he opera to perceive the inattention of the fashionable part of the audience. One night, when he had slipped over to New York to find the Broadway tan, a friend found him supping at a Broadway establishment.

"I have been to the opera," said he, in response to the other's inquiry.

"What did you hear?"

"I heard," said the Representative, "that the Twillers are going to get a divorce; that young Vick and her married an English barmaid, and that Mrs. J. C. Sprackmeyer is gradually pawning her jewels."

MAJESTIC

Whipple and Huston: "Did you ever have money left you?" "Yes, I had money, and it left me quick."

"Well, I have money—lots of it—a million."

"Will you marry me?" "I should not do it."

"O, very well. I just wanted to know how it felt to lose a million."

"Are you talented?" "Yes, I paint."

"Yes, you ever paint a natural picture?"

"Indeed, I painted a picture so natural that the barber came to shave it three times a week."

The Best Laxative.

To keep the bowels regular the best laxative is outdoor exercise. Drink a full glass of water half an hour before breakfast and eat an abundance of fruit and vegetables, also establish a regular habit and be sure that your bowels move once each day. When a medicine is needed, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are pleasant to take and mild and gentle in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

RUPERT WILL HAVE NEW COURTHOUSE

Ground Broken for Splendid Edifice for Mindkoda County—Work Will Be Pushed

Ground was broken last week for the new courthouse for Mindkoda county, to be erected at Rupert. If the contractor can get materials as he needs them, it is certain that the work will be rushed. The courthouse is to be one of the most attractive buildings in the city, and Rupert people will watch building operations with interest.

Owing to the forthrightness of the Civic club, who, with co-operation of other women, beautified the grounds, as soon as the building is completed there will be another beautiful park in Rupert for the grown-up and the younger set to spend an idle hour. While the trees are yet small, they are being well cared for, and within a very few years the square at the end of Front street will be one of the beauty spots of the Mindkoda project.

$200,000 INDIAN DIES AT FORT HALL

BIG JIMMIE WAS THE WEALTHIEST ON THE RESERVATION

That the Good Indian is Always a Dead One Not True in This Case—Aged Man Had Not an Enemy

That the good Indian is always a dead Indian was not true in the case of Big Jimmie, the oldest and wealthiest Indian on the Fort Hall reservation, who died very suddenly last week near Blackfoot. He was an exceptionally good and provident Indian, and Ralph Dixie, his secretary, stated that he did not believe he had an enemy.

The deceased was born near Boise about 70 years ago and leaves a wife, a 45-year-old son and two other children. He was one of the first denizens of the reservation, and his estate, consisting of land and stock, was appraised in the neighborhood of $200,000. Big Jimmie was buried in the reservation cemetery.

"Please, won't you stop drinking for your wife's sake?" "I'm not drinking for my wife's sake."

BLIGHT RAINFALL DURING JUNE

Murtaugh and Twin Falls Report the Least Rainfall in the State, According to U. S. Report

In the pamphlet of climatological data for Idaho, just issued by Edward L. Wells, section director for the U. S. department of agriculture weather bureau, Murtaugh reports the least rainfall for the month of June, only a trace being recorded, while Twin Falls is second with .08 of an inch, falling on three different days—.02 on the 5th, .04 on the 27th and .02 on the 28th.

The monthly mean for the state, as shown by the records of 101 stations, was 1.43 inches. The greatest monthly amount of rainfall was 4.42 inches at Wallace. The greatest snowfall in 24 hours was 8 inches, at Burke, in Shoshone county, on the 23th, when there was in all 14 inches of snow fall during the month.

There were 17 clear days recorded at Twin Falls, one cloudy, and 12 partly cloudy days. The prevailing direction of the wind was southwest.

"Where are your husbands?" "O, they're traveling men." "So?" "Yes, they are home every Monday between 2 and 4."

The Call To Breakfast

Has a new appeal for those who awake to a breakfast of

New Post Toasties

These new corn flakes bear a unique deliciousness because of their self-developed flavor and improved form. The flavor is the true essence of choice, ripe Indian corn. Unlike ordinary "corn flakes," the NEW POST TOASTIES do not depend upon cream and sugar for their palatability.

Try some dry—they're good that way and the test will demonstrate their flavor. Then try some with cream or rich milk. Note that NEW POST TOASTIES are not "chaffy" in the package; and that they don't mush down when cream is added.

NEW POST TOASTIES are known by the tiny "bubbles" on each flake, produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making. They come in a wax-sealed package that preserves their oven crispness and delightful flavor—the most perfect corn flakes ever produced.

IDAHO ROADS BENEFIT BY BIG APPROPRIATION

NEW FUNDS WILL BE IM- MEDIATELY AVAIL- ABLE

Congress Passes Bill for Federal Aid in Good Roads Construction—
Provides for Next Five Years

In a recent letter from Congressman Addison T. Smith, the recent bill passed by Congress providing federal appropriation for aiding the states in the construction of good roads was completely summarized. The passage of the bill came after many years of constant effort on the part of the farmers of this country, aided more recently by the business men and owners of automobiles.

After many years of constant effort on the part of the farmers of this country, aided more recently by the business men and owners of automobiles, Congress has finally enacted the bill providing federal aid in the construction of good roads. I am sure that every Idahoan will be interested in knowing definitely the direct benefits that our state will receive by reason of the adoption of this measure.

The new law provides an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1916; $10,000,000 for 1917; $15,000,000 for 1918; $20,000,000 for 1919, and $25,000,000 for 1920, which sums are to be expended by the secretary of agriculture, co-operating with the state highway departments, in the construction of rural roads over which the United States mails are or may be hereafter transported.

State Must Co-operate
In order to obtain the benefits of this act, the state must by act of the Legislature assent to its terms, but until the Legislature meets the governor can assent. The state must also contribute at least an equal amount in money, material or labor toward the construction of any proposed road. The money appropriated by this act will be apportioned among the various states according to three factors: One-third in the ratio which the area of the state bears to the total area of all the states; one-third according to the population; and one-third according to the mileage of rural delivery roads. The state of Idaho with the total mileage of such routes in the United States.

Idaho has of the total in the United States 2.50 per cent of the area; 350 per cent of the population; and 59 per cent of the postal route mileage of these States. By consolidating the three factors and dividing by three we find that Idaho is entitled to 1.255 per cent of the total appropriations made under this act, which means that the following sums of money will be available for road construction in Idaho for the next five years as follows:

1917	5,500
1918	8,250
1919	11,000
1920	13,750
Total	$41,250

Nearly $100,000 will be contributed from the federal treasury to assist in building highways in Idaho during the ensuing five years outside of the state funds.

But this is not all the benefits that Idaho will receive by the enactment of this legislation, for section 8 of this act appropriates $1,000,000 each year for the next ten years, to be expended under the supervision of the secretary of agriculture, upon the request of the state or county authorities, in the construction and maintenance of roads within or partly within the national forests. The states or counties in which the forest reserves are located are required to enter into co-operative agreements with the department of agriculture to pay for the roads that they want built upon a basis equitable both to them and to the United States. The federal government is to be reimbursed for the money thus advanced by depositing in the treasury 10 per cent of the revenues received from the timber and forage resources of the forests where the roads are located until the loan is paid. This forest reserve provision is in no way interfering with the present law whereby the state and counties are now receiving for road and school purposes 25 per cent of the gross receipts of the national forests and an additional 10 per cent for road construction within such national forests.

Columbus Allsop began this week on the task of practicing up to play the bass fiddle while Miss Fuzzle Allsop sings at the Wild Onion school-house entertainment to be given next February, when the teacher and his pupils will celebrate the event of Gen. Washington's having successfully crossed the Delaware.

Jefferson Potlocks has discovered that a large bump of cautiousness is developing on his head since he engaged in a fight with Standard Hancock at Rye Straw.

The postmaster, political leader in Hogwallow, has of late been considerably disturbed over the political situation. He announced yesterday that he would remain neutral until he knew what Roosevelt was going to do about it.

Raz Barlow shot at Jefferson Potlocks on Musket Ridge Tuesday, but Jefferson is deaf and has not heard of it.

Dock Hocks has purchased a looking glass, which is to be used when he wants to talk to himself.

The Dog Hill Preacher announces that he hasn't any political bias, and will vote according to the dictates of his conscience and his congregation.

The drove of snails that the mail carrier reported to have overtaken on Musket Ridge five weeks ago, have arrived in Hogwallow and this week they are passing the postoffice.

Miss Hostetter Hocks is getting ready to play for the musical entertainments and yesterday took her accordion to the blacksmith shop to have it charged with wind from the bellows.

Council Meets Tonight.—At a special meeting of the city council tonight, the application of the Twin Falls Milling & Elevator Co. to have a part of the alley vacated in block 154 will be considered. It is not likely that there will be any objection raised, as the elevator company owns all of the lots on both sides of the alley and a part of the alley, together with a connecting alley parallel to Shoshone street, will be left open. Following the action of the council, the elevator company expects to build a $20,000 addition to its plant on lots 17, 18, 19 and 20, in that block. The small buildings now on these lots will be torn down.

The Best Time to Build Poultry Houses

is spring or early summer. Cement floors and foundations must have a chance to dry. Otherwise, the house will be damp, and poultry does not do well in a damp house. The hot days of mid-summer will dry the house, making it warm and healthy for fall and winter use.

It is not necessary to build expensive houses, but they should be serviceable, fairly roomy, well lighted, well ventilated, and dry.

Maybe we can help some on the plans also. We are always glad to be of the utmost use to our friends.

BAPTISTS WILL BUILD AT FILER

TWO LOTS PURCHASED—PARSONAGE TO GO UP IMMEDIATELY

West-End City Now Has Six Churches
Magazines Sent to the Filer Boys Now at the Front

FILER.—Filer will soon have her sixth church. Twenty-five families of Baptists have been holding weekly meetings in various homes during the past few weeks. The denomination seems to be so well represented in this community that it was last week decided to build a church. Two lots, three blocks from the center of town, lying back of the Nibley-Chambers property, have been purchased upon which to build the church and parsonage and $10,000 will be expended. The parsonage is to be erected at once and will be used for services during the construction of the church. The board of directors have decided definitely that no soliciting will be done for funds, but that all contributions must be voluntary.

The Misses Hazel, Rose and Ruby DeKlotz are home from summer school and are visiting under the parental roof.

William Maurer has purchased the interests of his partner, R. L. McCaw, in the meat market business conducted by them under the firm name of Maurer & McCaw. Mr. McCaw will continue to buy stock.

The farm of E. E. Brennan, south of town, was sold last week to William Sumner, consideration, $175 per acre. What was declared to be the most enjoyable dance ever held in Filer was given last Friday evening at the Tanner hall. Music was furnished by the Bolger orchestra. Sixty-one couples were in attendance.

Mrs. S. A. Boen has returned from Livingston, Mont., where she was called by the serious illness of her mother. This is the second time she was called to the home of her parents within the last two months, her father's death being the occasion of her previous visit.

In response to inquiry, the Filer boys now stationed with Company K, Second Idaho, at Nogales, Ariz., report that they are in need of stamps, stationery, pencils, pens and magazines. Fifty pounds of magazines have already been sent to them. A fund is being raised for the purchase of these needed articles.

Private Noble Fisher writes that the 13 Filer boys are departing themselves as soldiers and are highly appreciative of the courtesies of the people of their home town.

MANY CAMPERS IN HAILEY COUNTRY

113 Camps Were Counted on Warm Springs Creek at One Time Last Week—Many From Twin

Counting exactly 113 camps within 14 miles of Warm Springs creek, out from Hailey, in one day, V. H. Decker declares that last week was Twin Falls county week in the whole resort section around here, and that more than half the people picnicking there were from this county.

Mr. Decker and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilcox and Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, Sr., enjoyed a week-outing in the Wood River country, in the vicinity of Warm Springs, returning home Thursday of last week. They report most fishing, owing to the high waters prevailing at this time of the year.

A few of the Twin Falls people whom they met on their trip were: Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Young, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burkholder, and L. C. Thompson and family. Among the week-end parties enjoying the coolness of the Wood River country were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ostrander and daughter Beatrice; Ashes B. Wilson, wife and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Smith; and a party composed of the Misses Pannell Hart, Leslie Williams, Vera Amos and Miss Beemer of Hailey, Messrs. Dave Girdner, Harry Benoit, Eugene Hart and Mesdames Hart and Williams.

Just the Thing for Diarrhoea.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within ten days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

WEST END CITY WILL LIGHT UP

Contract Let for New Lighting System for Buhl—600 Candle Power Lights on Each Corner.

A contract was let for the new lighting system which the city council adopted about three weeks ago, and the new and greater candle power lights will be put on every street corner of the city, says the Buhl Herald. The arc lights will be replaced by new incandescent light bulbs, and each will be suspended over the center of each street crossing. The lights will also be placed so the leaves of the trees will not hide them.

In all, the number of lights for the city will be increased about five or six times. They will extend throughout the entire length of Broadway from the corner of the opposite end, and on Main street to the Johnson corner. Outside the city limits the lights will be placed at intervals of about a block at the high school building.

It is said that Buhl will be one of the best lighted cities in this part of the state when the new system has been put in.

FOR STATE AUDITOR

CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF, REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES

GEO. W. LEWIS

Primary Candidate on the Republican Ticket.

In announcing my candidacy for the office of state auditor on the republican ticket, subject to the vote of the party at the primary election, it is my desire to state frankly my position and to set forth some of the reasons why I consider myself entitled to your consideration.

Three successive terms as chief deputy to, three state auditors has given me unequalled opportunity to thoroughly familiarize myself with the work of this office. I feel that I have made good and can give the office the most efficient service by reason of long experience and knowledge of details.

Should I succeed in securing the nomination on September 5th, I will go before the people asking for their suffrage unhampered by association with any clique, combination or individual, and without having made any promises whatsoever.

I hope to succeed on my reputation for ability and integrity, sincerely believing that I can fill this highly important office with credit to the state of Idaho, and to myself.

To the warm personal friends throughout the state who are aiding my candidacy I wish to state that I will make every honorable effort to secure the nomination and election, but if honorable methods will not avail I do not want the office.

Having lived in Idaho practically all my life, the interest of the state and her people are my interest and concern.

Your favorable consideration will be gratefully received.

MYSTERIOUS PAINS AND AGES

Make Life Hard to Bear for Many Twin Falls Women.

Too many women mistake their pains and aches for "menstrual troubles." Most often disordered kidneys are causing the aching back, dizzy spells, headaches and irregular urination. Kidney weakness becomes dangerous if neglected. Use a trusted kidney remedy—Donan's Kidney Pills. Hundreds of people testify to their merit. Read a Twin Falls case:

Mrs. J. M. Dimond, Fourth Ave. & E. Third St., Twin Falls, says: "I was all run down from attacks of kidney trouble. I had terrible headaches and dizzy spells and my back ached so severely. I was also nervous and couldn't get a good night's rest. A couple of boxes of Donan's Kidney Pills restored me to my usual good strength and I have since been well. Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Donan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mrs. Dimond had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y."

CHAPTER XXXI.

At once we moved aboard the Quaker, occupying our old stateroom and cooking in the kitchen. The movement of Wolf Larsen had happened most opportunely, for what must have been the Indian summer of this high latitude was gone and drizzling stormy weather had set in. We were very comfortable in the new quarters, with the foremast suspended from them, gave a businesslike air to the schooner and a promise of departure.

And now that we had Wolf Larsen in front, how little did we need it! Like his first attack, his second had been accompanied by serious disablement. Maud made the discovery in the afternoon while trying to give him nourishment.

"Do you know you are deaf in the right ear?" I asked.

"Yes," he answered in a low, strong voice, "and worse than that. My whole right side is affected. It seems asleep. I cannot move arm or leg."

"Feeling again?" I demanded anxiously.

He shook his head, his stern mouth shaping the strangest, fiercest smile. It was indeed a twisted smile, for it was on the left side only, the facial muscles of the right side moving not at all.

"That was the last play of the Wolf," he said. "I am paralyzed. I shall never walk again. Oh, only on the other side," he added, as though divining the suspicious glance I flung at his left leg, the knee of which had just then drawn up and elevated the blanketed foot.

"It's unfortunate," he continued. "I'd liked to have done for you first. Hump. And I thought I had that much left in me."

"But how can you account for it?" I asked.

"Where is the seat of your trouble?"

"My brain," he said at once. "It was those cursed headaches brought it on."

"Symptoms," I said.

He nodded his head. "There is no accounting for it. I was never sick in my life. Something's gone wrong with my brain. A cancer, a tumor, or something of that nature—a thing that devours and destroys. It's attacking my nerve centers, eating them up, bit by bit, cell by cell—from the palsy."

"The motor centers, too," I suggested.

"So it would seem, and the curse of it is that I must lie here, conscious, mentally unimpaired, knowing that the lines are going down, breaking bit by bit, until I am a helpless idiot. I cannot see, hear, and feel as I am leaving me, at this rate I shall soon cease to speak; yet all the time I shall be here, alive, active and powerless."

"When you say you are here, I'd suggest the likelihood of the soul," I said.

"Boh!" was his retort. "It simply means that in the attack on my brain the higher physical centers are untouched. I can remember, I can think and reason. When that goes, I go. I am not. The soul!"

He broke out in mocking laughter, then turned his left ear to the pillow as a sign that he wished no further conversation.

Maud and I went about our work unapprehensive of the fearful fate which had overtaken him—low fearful we were yet fully to realize. There was the awfulness of retribution about it. Our thoughts were deep and solemn, and we spoke to each other scarcely above whispers.

"You might remove the handcuffs," he said that night, as we stood in consultation over him. "It's dead safe. I'm a paralytic now. The next thing to watch out for is bed sores."

He smiled his twisted smile and Maud, her eyes wide with horror, was compelled to turn away her head.

"Do you know that your smile is crooked?" I asked him; for I knew that she must attend him, and I wished to save her as much as possible.

"Then I shall smile no more," he said calmly. "I thought something was wrong. My right cheek has been numb all day. Yes, and I've had warnings of this for the last three days; by spells, my right side seemed going to sleep, sometimes arm or hand, sometimes leg or foot."

"So my smile is crooked?" he queried a short while after. "Well, consider henceforth that I smile internally, with my soul, if you please, my soul. Consider that I am smiling now."

And for the space of several minutes he lay there, quiet, indulging his grotesque fancy.

The man of him was not changed. It was the old, indomitable, terrible Wolf Larsen, impudently asserting within that flesh which had once been so invincible and splendid. Now it bound him with insistent fetters, walling his soul in darkness and silence, blocking it from the world about him, so that he was a riot of action. No more would he conquer the world. He was dead to the world and to men.

"To be" was all that remained to him and he, as he had defied death, without movement; to will, but not to execute; to think and reason, but in the spirit of him to be as alive as ever, but in the flesh to be dead, quite dead. And yet, though even removed the handicaps, we could not actuate our souls to his condition. Our minds revolted. To us he was full of potentiality. We knew not what to expect of him next, what fearful thing, rising above the flesh, he might break out and do. Our experience warranted this state of mind, and we went about our work with anxiety always upon us.

I had solved the problem which had arisen through the shortness of the shears. It was the morning of the third day that I swung the foremast from the deck and proceeded to square it to fit the step. Here I was especially careful, for the wood was chipped and chiseled the weathered wood till it had the appearance of having been gnawed by some gigantic mouse. But it fitted.

"It will work, I know it will work," I cried.

But I knew Doctor Jordan's final test of truth? Maud asked.

I shook my head and paused in the act of dislodging the shavings which had drifted down my neck.

"Can we make it work? Can we trust our lives to it?" he asked.

"When I dismantled my old Pantheon and cast out Napoleon and Caesar and their fellows, I straightway erected a new Pantheon," she answered gravely. "And the first I installed was Doctor Jordan."

"A modern hero," Maud asked.

"And a greater because modern," she added. "How can the Old World heroes compare with ours?"

I shook my head. We were too much alike in many things for argument. Our point of view and outlook on life at least were very like.

"For a pair of critics we agree famously," I laughed.

"And as shipwright and able assistant," she laughed back.

But there was little time for laughter in those days, what of our heavy work and of the awfulness of Wolf Larsen's living death.

He had received another stroke. He had lost his voice, or he was losing it. He had only intermittent use of it. As he phrased it, the wires were like the stock market, now up, now down. Occasionally the wires were up and the spoke as well as ever, though slowly and heavily. Then speech would suddenly desert him, in the middle of a sentence, perhaps, and for hours, sometimes, we would wait for the connection to be re-established. He complained of great pain in his head and it was during this period that he arranged a system of communication against the time when speech should leave him altogether—one pressure of the hand for "yes," two for "no." It was well that it was arranged, for by evening his voice had gone from him.

By hand pressures, after that, he answered our questions, and when he wished to speak he scrawled his thoughts with his left hand, quite legibly, on sheet of paper.

The fierce winter had now descended upon us. Gale followed gale, with snow and sleet and rain. The seals had started on their great southern migration, and the rookery was practically deserted. I worked feverishly, in spite of the wet weather, and of the wind which especially hindered me, I was on deck from daylight till dark and made substantial progress.

I profited by my lesson learned through raising the shears and then climbing them to attach the guys. To the top of the foremast, which was just lifted conveniently from the deck, I attached the rigging, stays and throat and peak halyards. As usual, I had underrated the amount of work involved in this portion of the task, and two long days were necessary to complete it. And there was so much yet to be done—the sails, for instance, which practically had to be made over.

While I toiled at rigging the foremast, Maud sewed on canvas, ready always to drop everything and come to my assistance when more hands than two were required. The canvas was heavy and hard, and she sewed with the regular sailor's palm and three-cornered sailmaker. Her hands were soon sadly blistered, but she struggled bravely on, and in addition doing the cooking and taking care of the sick man.

"A fit for superstition," I said on Friday morning. "That must go in today."

Everything was ready for the attempt. Carrying the boom-tackle to the windlass, I hoisted the mast nearly clear of the deck. Making this tackle fast, I took to the windlass the shears-tackle which I connected with the end of the boom and with a few turns of the crank I raised it.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by irrigating the nostrils with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bower, Minneapolis, M. J.

few terms had the least perpendicular angle.

Maud clasped her hands the instant she was relieved from holding the turn, crying:

"It works! It works! We'll trust our lives to it!"

Then she assumed a rueful expression.

"It's not over the hole," she said. "Will you have to begin all over?"

I smiled in superior fashion, and, slacking away on the boom-tackle, I brought the butt of the mast into position directly over the hole in the deck.

Then I stepped aboard and went into the lower part of the mast and held the hold to the step on the schooner's bottom.

I called to her, and the mast moved easily and accurately. Square fitted into square. The mast was stepped.

I raised on my knees, and I was down to sea. In the yellow lantern light we peered at what we had accomplished. We looked at each other, and our hands felt their way and clasped. The eyes of both of us, I think, were moist with the joy of success.

"It was done so easily after all," I remarked. "All the work was in the preparation."

"And all the wonder in the completion," Maud added. "I can scarcely bring myself to realize that that great mast is really up and in; and that you raised it from the water, swinging it through the hole, and deposited it here where it belongs. It is a Titan's task."

"And they made themselves many inventions," I began merrily, then paused to sniff the air.

I looked hastily at the lantern. It was not smoking. Again I sniffed. "Something is burning," Maud said, with sudden conviction.

We sprang together for the ladder, but I raced past her to the deck. A dense volume of smoke was pouring out the stern hatchway.

"The Wolf is not dead yet," I muttered to myself, as I sprang down through the smoke.

It was so thick in the confined space that I was compelled to feel my way; and so potent was the spell of Wolf Larsen on my imagination, I was quite prepared for the helpless giant to grip my neck in a strangle hold. I hesitated, the desire to race back and up the steps to the deck almost overpowering me. Then I recollected a lesson.

"The vision of her, as I had last seen her, in the lantern light of the schooner's hold, her brown eyes warm and moist with joy, flashed before me, and I knew that I could not go back."

I was choking and suffocating by the time I reached Wolf Larsen's bunk. I reached my hand and felt for him. He was lying motionless, but moved slightly at the touch of my hand. I felt over and under his blankets. There was no warmth, no sign of fire. Yet that smoke which blinded me and made me cough and gasp must have a source. I lost my head temporarily and dashed frantically about the stateroom. A collision with the table partially knocked the wind from my body and brought me to myself. I reasoned that a helpless man could start a fire only near to where he lay.

I returned to Wolf Larsen's bunk. There I encountered Maud. How long she had been there in that suffocating atmosphere I could not guess.

"Get up on deck!" I commanded peremptorily.

"But, Humphrey—"

"Please! please!" I shouted at her harshly.

She drew away obediently, and then I thought. What if she cannot find the steps? I started after her, to stop at the foot of the companionway. Perhaps she had gone up. As I stood there, hesitant, I heard her cry softly:

"Oh, Humphrey, I am lost."

I found her tumbling at the wall of the after bulkhead, and, half leading her, half carrying her, I took her up the companionway. The pure air was like nectar. Maud was only faint and dizzy, and I left her lying on the deck when I took my second plunge below.

The source of the smoke must be very close to Wolf Larsen—my mind was made up to this, and I went straight to his bunk. As I felt about among his blankets, something hot fell on the back of my hand. It burned me, and I jerked my hand away. Then I understood. Through the cracks in the bottom of the upper bunk he had set fire to the mattress. He still retained sufficient use of his left arm to do this. The damp straw of the mattress, fired from beneath and denied air, had been smouldering all the while.

As I dragged the mattress out of the bunk it seemed to disintegrate in flames; at the same time bursting into flames. I cut out the burning remnants of straw in the bunk, then made a dash for the deck for fresh air.

Several buckets of water sufficed to put out the burning mattress in the middle of the stateroom floor; and ten minutes later, when the smoke had fairly cleared, I allowed Maud to come below: Wolf Larsen was unconscious, but it was a matter of minutes for the fresh air to restore him. We were working over him, however, when he signed for paper and pencil.

"Pray do not interrupt me," he wrote. "I am smiling."

"I am still a bit of the ferment, you see," he wrote a little later.

"I am glad you are as small a bit as you are," I said.

"Thank you," he wrote. "But just think of how much smaller I shall be before I die."

"And yet I am all here, Hump," he wrote with a final flourish. "I can think more clearly than ever in my life before. Nothing to disturb me. Concentration is perfect. I am all here and more than here."

It was like a message from the night of the grave; for this man's body had become his museum. And there, in so strange sepulture, his spirit fluttered and lived. It would flutter and live till the last line of communication was broken, and after that who was to say how much longer it might continue to flutter and live: (Continued next week.)

CHURCH SERVICES BY THE BAPTISTS IN IDAHO THEATRE

DENOMINATION TO OCCUPY PLAYHOUSE TEMPORARILY

First Services to Be Held Next Sunday—Eastern Minister to Fill Pulpit During the Month of August

Beginning with next Sunday, August 6, the services of the First Baptist church of Twin Falls will be held, morning and evening, in the new Idaho theatre, on Shoshone street. The move of the Baptist people was made following the turning over of the church property, on Fifth avenue east, to the Latter-Day Saints' church, on Tuesday, August 1.

Monday was moving day at the old Baptist church, when the furniture retained by the Baptist people was removed from the church building and a small Sunday school building at the rear of the church was moved to the rear of the lots on Shoshone street and Sixth avenue, which are owned by the Baptist people, and on which they are planning within the next year or two to erect a fine new church.

On next Sunday the Rev. O. T. Anderson of Marley, Ill., will begin a month's pastorate with the local Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Anderson is planning to spend his vacation month of August in this way. He comes highly recommended, both as a speaker and as a man.

The church during the past two, or three months has been in charge of the Rev. A. B. Minaker, field pastor of the state. In recognition of his good work while here and of the high place he won in the hearts of the people during his temporary pastorate, a unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Rev. Mr. Minaker Sunday by the congregation present. The demands of the field work were such that he was compelled to leave Twin Falls the first of the week to attend to urgent matters.

QUIET WEDDING OF TWIN FALLS GIRL

Miss Dorothy Dinkelacker Becomes Bride of C. M. C. Scott on Tuesday Afternoon

A quiet wedding took place at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dinkelacker, on Seventh avenue north, when their daughter, Miss Dorothy, became the bride of Cassius M. C. Scott. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. L. Dent, pastor of the Methodist church, in the presence of a number of relatives of the bride. A delicious wedding dinner was served after the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Scott left on the evening train for Savannah, Ga., where they expect to make their home for the present.

The bride came to Twin Falls from Chicago some four years ago and has assisted in the office of the American Electric company, of which office her brother, Harry L., is manager. She was an active member of the Business Girls' club, a worker in the church, and, because of her cheery personality, was popular at every gathering of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Scott did not reside in Twin Falls, but in his frequent visits here he has many warm friends. The many friends and acquaintances of both Mr. and Mrs. Scott join in extending the best of good wishes.

WOMEN OF IDAHO

the enthusiasm of the members of the rural clubs of the community have been a source of extreme gratification to the Twentieth Century club of Twin Falls, which is to be hostess to the convention, and to the committee in charge of the arrangements for the federation meeting," says Mrs. M. J. Swalley. "We have been delighted and encouraged by the attitude of all these clubs, and by the enthusiasm of the people of the community generally and of the entire tract. This will be one of the greatest events in the history of the Twin Falls country, and it is really a most pleasant surprise to me—the manner in which the whole tract has arisen to the occasion with an expressed determination to make the federation meeting a real joy occasion."

Although the federation has offered to pay the expenses of the delegates while here, the members of the Twentieth Century club of Twin Falls are inviting the delegates into their homes and entertaining them at both breakfast and luncheon, leaving only dinner to be paid for by those from out of town.

Arrangements are also being made whereby those taking the trip to Thousand springs and Hagerman valley may board the train at Buhl and have their baggage placed on the train at Twin Falls. Every detail making for the comfort and enjoyment of the delegates is being worked out by the local committee, and every effort made to have this federation meeting a grand success in every way.

Twin Falls' Opportunities

Two important facts mentioned in regard to the meeting to be held in Twin Falls are: First, the state federation is divided into three districts and the biennial meeting goes to these districts in turn. Thus, the First district, to which Twin Falls belongs, will not have this privilege again for six years, and at that time the convention will undoubtedly go to Pocatello, making it most probable that Twin Falls will not have such an opportunity again for 12 years to entertain the women of the state; hence it is the desire of the local committee that every effort be put forth by the people of the community to make the most of the opportunity presented this year.

The second fact of importance is that to the entertaining district is given the choice of president. Through this courtesy shown to the district entertaining, Twin Falls may be able to present the name of a local club woman for this honor. This is a matter which is drawing the attention not only of the women of Twin Falls, and community but of the club women throughout the state, and its outcome is awaited with interest by all concerned.

STUDEBAKER SIX MAKES A RECORD

H. F. Hornstra and Family Travel Through Middle West—Crop Failures in Nebraska, Dakotas.

Leaving Twin Falls in a series of 17 Studebaker six, on the 26th day of May, driving through to Ogden and from there on to Omaha over the Lincoln highway, then north into the Dakotas, northwesterly through the Black Hills, over bad roads all of the way, fording many streams where the bridges were washed out, turning west over the Yellowstone trail, and returning home through the Yellowstone park, arriving here on July 28th, after a trip of 3400 miles, with a total cost of 60 cents for machine repairs, was the record made by H. F. Hornstra, formerly proprietor of the East Tenth Avenue Grocery store.

Of this expense, 50 cents was incurred in replacing a bolt in the windshield at Ogden and 10 cents was spent in repairing the fan belt on the homeward-bound trip. There were no punctures or tire trouble of any kind. Mr. Hornstra was accompanied by his wife and two children, and the party camped out all of the way.

Studebaker Not Stuck.

The Studebaker did not have to be pulled out anywhere on the 3400-mile trip, although it pulled but many other machines which were stuck in the bad roads in Nebraska and the Dakotas, where heavy rains had put the roads in very bad shape.

Mr. Hornstra reports very poor crops in all of the Middle-Western country through which they traveled. Bad hailstorms in the early part of June and hot winds and drought throughout all of July has made the crops of the western parts of Nebraska and the Dakotas almost a complete failure.

Accompanied by his family, Mr. Hornstra will leave soon for Los Angeles, expecting to drive through in the following car which he made his Middle-Western trip.

MRS. ETHEL H. MEADOWS, Entryman.

Republican Candidate for Congressman, Primary Election.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY

I am a candidate for nomination for sheriff of Twin Falls county at the coming primary. I am a Republican because the defeat of that party has always brought on a period of instability, chaos and disorder to the industrial life of our people, while its success has always created confidence in business activity and prosperity throughout our country. I am a candidate because I want the job and feel that I can render the county valuable service, having served a term in that office in Hensdale county, Colorado, and having experience with all classes of people, and having been private detective for the district attorney's office, which was composed of six counties of Western Colorado.

I was born in Missouri and am 48 years old, having lived all my life on the frontier in Western Colorado; am the son of a civil war veteran; am a member of Dan Cook Sons of Veterans of this city. From experience knows the trails of the law breaker, having been in the cattle and horse business; was engaged in the live business while sheriff in Colorado.

I recommend the voters to these, who know me best, for further information. Very respectfully, Adv.

A. P. TRUESDALE.
