Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

RUPERT TEAM DEFEATED BY 33 TO 6 SCORE

LOCAL BOYS AGAIN WIN BIG VICTORY BY MEANS OF OLD-TIME FOOTBALL

TWIN FALLS' SCORING MACHINE HAS FIRED UP 131 POINTS IN FIVE GAMES AGAINST THE 13 POINTS OF THEIR OPPONENTS—TEAM IS PLAYING IN BETTER FORM THAN AT ANY TIME

Playing in better form than at any time during the season, and showing more aggressiveness and more power, the Twin Falls high school football aggregation won its fifth victory Friday afternoon by sending Rupert down to defeat by a score of 33 to 6. Touchdowns were made by Twin Falls in the first and second quarters, one in the fourth quarter and two in the third quarter. The one touchdown made by Rupert came as a result of a forward pass, successfully carried out. In straight football, the eastern team was able to make but few gains against the nearly perfect defensive work of the local boys.

In the matter of football tactics, Rupert had an excellent repertoire and showed good coaching. Their split back, used extensively during the first quarter, brought big gains, and for a short time completely baffled the Twin Falls boys. The play is a new one on the local gridiron and in sending line backs in three different directions, the backfield defense is usually caught meeting one of the two fake drives, while the third man, carrying the ball, gets through in an entirely unexpected opening.

As soon as this style of play was analyzed by the Twin Falls boys and a defense framed to meet it, its usefulness was gone and the visitors were forced to resort to forward passes and end runs. This style of play could not cope with the regular old-time straight football played by the local team, who

WOULD AID RETURN OF IDAHO TROOPS

D. W. DAVIS, AS PRIVATE CITIZEN, CAN ONLY FIGHT AGAINST TREATMENT OF SECOND IDAHO

IF He Was Governor, the Republican Candidate Would Officially Demand Their Return—Has Telegraphed Senators Borah and Brady, Who Have Promised Their Aid—Energetic Action to Be Taken

BOISE, Idaho.—The following telegram has been sent by D. W. Davis, Republican candidate for Governor, to Senator Borah and Senator Brady:

"The Idaho boys now on the Mexican border are doing only patrol duty. Other regiments, having seen shorter service, I am informed, have been sent home, but our boys have been retained, merely as policemen. From information I have just received, I am justified in stating to you that, while the Idaho boys are willing to remain an indefinite period so long as there is any real duty for them to perform, they feel their retention under the circumstances is unfair. Moreover, their parents and friends desire that they return home as soon as possible. I, therefore, ask you to take this matter up energetically with the war department and urge that the Idaho boys be sent home with the least possible delay. If I were Governor of this state, I would demand it officially, but as a private citizen I can only protest through you against the treatment of the Idaho regiment. D. W. DAVIS."

Both the Idaho senators have just replied, stating that they would do everything possible to secure an immediate return of the Idaho regiment, unless it were positively shown that they were required there for genuine duty. In his reply, Senator Brady said: "The Idaho recruits have been there long enough; they are entitled to return home. The Idaho regiment is not a squad of policemen, they are free-born American citizens, who are ready and willing to give their lives for their country and their country's needs, but we have a regular army entirely capable, whose duty it is to perform patrol service when necessary, and there is no reason why the Idaho troops, who were the first to respond, should be kept on the border any longer."

were not forced to open up their real possibilities at any time during the game.

With but one more game on the regular schedule, that with Buhl on Friday afternoon, Manager Hoover is looking around for a game with one of the larger high schools of the state, preferably Blackfoot or Payette. It is probable that a game may be secured with one of these teams for Thanksgiving on the local field.

WORK BEGUN FOR NEW EDIFICE OF PRESBYTERIANS

BRIEF CEREMONY HELD WHEN FIRST SHOVEL OF DIRT IS TURNED

MEMBERS OF CHURCH ARE WITNESSES—OFFICIERS IN DIFFERENT DEPARTMENTS TAKE PART—WORK ON NEW CHURCH TO BE PUSHED RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE—COST NEARLY COVERED

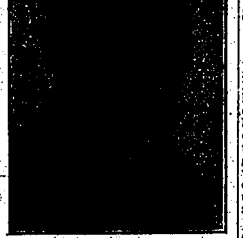

At 12:45 o'clock Monday noon a large number of the members and officers of the Presbyterian church gathered at the corner of Second street and Fifth avenue north to witness the first breaking of the ground on the two corner lots where a handsome Presbyterian church is to be built.

Scriptural readings were given by Dr. J. F. Shepherd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, followed by a short prayer, after which the first shovel of dirt was lifted by Dr. Shepherd, followed in turn by L. L. Breckenridge, chairman of the building committee; G. E. Munson, president of the board of trustees of the church; Mrs. George E. Bryant, president of the Ladies' Aid society; Mrs. H. J. Young, president of the Woman's Home Missionary society; Boyd H. Fuller, superintendent of the Sunday school; W. J. Young, clerk, and P. S. Zoll, attorney for the church.

Excavation for the church began at once, under the direction of W. E. L. Crozier, and the construction of the building will begin as soon as possible. It is the hope of the members that it may be completed by the first of March or, at least, by Easter time.

The building will be about 60x105 feet, fronting on Fifth avenue, and will cost approximately $35,000, some $25,000 of which is already subscribed. It is of unusual design and will be one of the handsomest buildings in this part of the state. During the construction of the edifice, regular Sunday services are being held in the high school auditorium.

Republican Candidate for County Treasurer

EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY are the qualifications upon which I seek the office of Tax Collector and Treasurer of Twin Falls County, on the Republican ticket.

The system of paying taxes now practiced in Twin Falls County should be changed so as to benefit the taxpayer.

Why should it be necessary for you as a taxpayer to make a trip to Twin Falls and go to the Treasurer's office and pay your taxes to deputies, employed by you with your own money, when the local bank in your town or community would and will do this work for you without additional expense to the taxpayer?

If I am elected to this office, that of Tax Collector and Treasurer, I will make every bank in Twin Falls County a Taxpaying Bank, where you can go and pay your taxes, or have your Banker pay them for you in the regular way and greatly reduce the expense and work in the Treasurer's office. If we would practice this system here now, we would reduce the expense of the Tax Collector and Treasurer's office about one-half. We can practice ECONOMY here as well as they do elsewhere.

I ask the earnest support of each and every citizen of Twin Falls County, regardless of your party affiliation, in having you wish TRUE EFFICIENCY and ECONOMY practiced in your county offices.

If elected, I will give you a Business administration, realizing I am the Taxpayers' servant, and will practice courteous and friendly service to everyone, as I have in all my business affairs.

SCHOOL CO-OPERATES WITH THE FARMERS

In response to the announcement made in The News last week, Ralph H. Musser, professor of agriculture at the high school, received numerous applications from farmers for schoolboys to help with crop harvesting last Saturday. Mr. Musser was able to supply them all, and says that the boys were glad of the chance to work during the week-end holiday and that this policy of supply schoolboy help will be kept up as long as the present urgent need for help in crop harvesting continues.

GOES TO BEDSIDE OF HER FATHER

W. J. Teasdale died of leakage of the heart and other complications at the home of his son-in-law, T. Bailey Lee, October 22, says the Burley Bulletin. Mr. Teasdale was 57 years old.

He had been bedfast almost continuously for the past year. He was little known here, his home being in Soldier, Idaho. Two of his daughters, Mrs. T. Bailey Lee of this city and Miss Nellie Teasdale of Twin Falls, were at the bedside when the end came.

THE so-called rural credit law was enacted by congress as a purely political measure, to be used in campaign material by the Wilson managers. There was no sincerity behind it, and farmers will never receive any practical benefit under it. It could have been passed two years ago, but was held for campaign purposes.

This law provides a procedure of endless red tape before any loan can be obtained. Farmers who have taken up land know what this means.

The law requires the farmer who wants to loan to take stock in these banks to the extent of 5 per cent of his loan, and if he ever gets a loan he becomes liable not only for it, but for all the losses made by the association to which he belongs. Moreover, his property, held as security for that loan, cannot be sold by him without the consent of the loan board. Think of such an absurdity!

Such a law was not intended to give the farmer cheap money, but to give an opportunity for the Democratic managers to play cheap politics in their quest for farmer votes.

John O. Rice was born on a farm in Illinois; he took his degree at Cornell; he is the leading attorney in Canyon County and ranks among the best in the State. He is fitted by training and temperament for the office of Justice of the Supreme Court.—Adv.

W. H. KARIS

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR ASSESSOR

This office affects you most of all—if your property is over-assessed, you will have to pay more than your proportion of the upkeep of Twin Falls County; your interest taxes are high enough. I have a plan by which I can save the County some money, at least the price of the Assessor's salary, as well as the price of many deputies. I shall do most of the assessing myself—as much, at least, as possible. My plan is—notify the farmers or taxpayers, appoint meetings at the different school districts, meet the taxpayers in a body, talk it over with them, and get the whole district in one evening, and so on, one evening for each district throughout the county. This plan is being used in some parts of the country with great success, and I maintain that this manner of assessing is the correct and economical one for Twin Falls County. This does away with some ten or twenty deputies. If you could see the real advantage and money saving of this system, you surely would all vote for me.

Below is one of many genuine letters of recommendation from bankers and business men of my former associates:

Dear Sir: With great pleasure I write you a few lines of credit. This is to certify that I have been personally acquainted with Mr. W. H. Karis as a merchant and business man in our city for over fifteen years. He has been a pleasant and profitable customer to our bank, a man of good habits, good business principles, honest, trustworthy, and very capable and successful in his business undertakings, an deserving the utmost confidence of the people.

WOMEN CLAIM THAT POLITICS SPOILED TALK

INFORMAL NONPOLITICAL
MEETING HELD WITH

The majority of men, doing the political season, have little in their minds except politics is the firm conviction of the women who attended the informal meeting held in the parish hall Wednesday afternoon to meet Dr. H. W. Wilson, captain of the medical corps in the Second Idaho regiment, who is home on furlough.

The object of the gathering, to every intent, so far as the women were concerned, was to give the mothers an opportunity to learn about their boys now in camp on the border. However, at the close of the meeting a number of women, after expressing their keen appreciation of the talk and general information given by Dr. Wilson, declared they wished the meeting had been announced as "for women only." One woman remarked, indignantly, when the gathering was dispersing:

"Every time a woman started a line of thought and questions about the boys down there, little personal details that all mothers wish to know, some political ideas were injected into the discussions by other questioners and our line of thought was almost sidetracked. I suppose that among the women there were Republicans, Democrats, Socialists and perhaps members of other parties and no parties, but they all went there as mothers and sisters and friends, not as politicians. But I admire Dr. Wilson for the fair and clever manner in which he sidestepped all questions of a political nature, no matter what his own personal ideas might have been. And we wish that every time we women start any movement for our own pleasure or benefit we could do it without other parties claiming it as a political move."

Boys in Good Shape

"When I agreed to speak here," said Dr. Wilson, "I did not expect such a gathering as this or I should have thought better of it. I think I would almost rather face another Mexican bullet. I am not a doctor—doctors, as a rule, are not—and, besides, I am still weak from my illness and would have been unable to prepare an address had I desired to make one."

The doctor spoke briefly on the splendid reputation of the Second Idaho regiment, and especially of the improvement noted among the boys since they went to Nogales. "You would be surprised to see them," he stated.

"They are bronzed by the wind and sun and outdoor work, and nearly all of them are better than when they left home. Those who were sort of round-shouldered have straightened up and they all look like good soldiers. The training and discipline they undergo has certainly been of much value to them all."

The doctor then stated that he could not give them the information desired if they would ask him questions in a strictly informal way. The following are a number of the questions and answers:

"First, can you tell us, please, what you were doing when you were shot by the Mexican?"

Tells of Shooting

Answer—"Yes, I think I can. I was an interested spectator. I was trying to get out of the country. I had been granted leave of absence and was that day leaving for home. We had had a big 'family reunion' that day—a meeting of all the Twin Falls men, some of whom are in Company D and some in other companies. Nicholas Wenzel had taken some moving pictures of us, when the boys were bidding me goodbye before I left the camp, and I went down to the depot, accompanied by Lieutenant C. H. Krenig, Major Constant, who drove us down, and Captain Pittenger of the medical corps. I wore a fine pair of shiny new boots that day—army boots. When we reached the depot I jumped out of the car, gave my clothing roll to a private standing there and went in to see about my reservation, then to the baggage room to see about the checking of my trunk. Major Constant was there and Rollo Crocker of this city was standing near by, just outside. I stepped out to locate my trunk and when I found it, with many others, I raised my right hand to catch the attention of the baggage man, and with my left pointed to the trunk. I was standing in that manner when I heard an explosion and instantly felt as though both my legs were nearly knocked from under me. My first thought was that some dynamite or an infernal machine had exploded in a trunk. I glanced down and saw a big hole in my trousers' leg and blood flowing from it. At the same time I felt the floor, where I was hastily given first-aid treatment by the two surgeons and hurried to the base hospital. Within half an hour I was operated upon and within three weeks was out again. I suffered intensely for some time and ever since the affair I have suffered more or less pain from the wound. That's about all concerning that affair."

Q—"Why do you suppose he shot you?"

A—"I don't know, I'm sure, unless it was because of my pride in my new boots." Everyone laughs at the doctor's remark. But I think it was a case of mistaken identity, perhaps. However, I shall always believe that it was a deliberate attempt to kill an American officer."

Q—"Can you tell us why our boys are kept down there until the very last?"

A—"No, I can not."

Q—"Some of the papers say that the boys resent our efforts to have them returned. And some of the boys write us that they want to come home. Tell us, please, what do you think—do they want to come or do they not?"

A—"Some of them do and some of them wish to stay. Some wish very much to come home, and some wish to join the regular army and continue in the service. However, I believe the majority wish to come home."

Republican Candidate for County Commissioner

Those who know E. T. Newbry (most people call him Tom) regard him as a good, safe man to tie to, whether it be in the matter of running a farm or serving the people in a position of public trust.

Mr. Newbry makes his home at Kimberly, where he has lived for a good many years now. Back in the early days he held the position of watermaster of the South Side canal system, and later on he served as County Commissioner, to which position he now asks re-election on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Newbry is an enterprising and progressive farmer and business man. He has been successful largely by reason of his ability to depend on his own judgment. His previous experience as County Commissioner constitutes one of his soundest claims to preferment, but even without this there would still be plenty of justification for his candidacy.

Mr. Newbry is known from one end of Twin Falls County to the other as a public-spirited citizen, a good neighbor and a first-class friend, and as one of the Commissioners of the County he would prove a safe and sound public investment.—Adv.

HAYLOWERS IN CELEBRATED

good fun, but there was plenty of it in all parts of town, the grunts being those usually indulged in by all wide-awake, live-wire youngsters, as much now as 50 years ago.

About midnight City Policeman Ham headed off a bunch of boys parading up Shoshone street with several of the wagons of the Warburg Transfer company and the Outing Transfer company. Ham called the attention of the boys to the fact that these wagons would be needed early in the morning to conduct the regular transfer business of the city and that their removal to the country and other sections far remote would greatly inconvenience many people. The boys immediately saw the reasonableness of the request and, giving Ham three hearty cheers, transferred their efforts to fields less detrimental to the common good.

Main Street Well Decorated

Wednesday morning found Main street in the vicinity of the Shoshone street intersection, where autos usually wait their owners, parked with nearly every variety of farm implement, such as buck rakes, wheel scrapers, mowers, and even a big gas engine mounted on wheels. In front of the Perrine had been drawn one of the pioneer stage coaches, which for the past few years has been spending the twilight of its days reposing in the rear of the Alex. Whyte blacksmith shop.

In the social line there were two big affairs for the exponents of the light fantastic. The Elks' dance drew a large attendance and a big public dance at Oatman hall proved exceedingly popular.

Fruit Cakes to the Front—Thanksgiving will not go unremembered by the boys at the front, nor is it likely that Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pribe will soon be forgotten by the home boys with the Second Idaho. Monday evening of this week Mr. Pribe expressed to Jack Thorp, band leader, a gigantic fruit cake, weighing exactly 61 pounds. The big cake was well boxed and should reach its destination the latter part of this week or early next week.

Have a Second Son—Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Franck are rejoicing over a second son, born to them at St. Luke's hospital, in Boise, on Sunday, October 29.

On Monday night at the Leaning theatre, Congressman Addison T. Smith and M. J. Swaley, Republican candidate for Attorney General, will address the voters in what will probably be one of the biggest meetings of the campaign.

The local candidates will have a place on the program and music will be furnished by the Twin Falls band.

To the "Old Timers":

This is the friendly way we designate those of you who have come to us regularly, year after year, for your Christmas portraits. Some of you have been coming every year for ten years and all of you know just how busy we are in the months of November and December.

Many of you said last year, "We will come in earlier next year. Get these out for us this time and we will surely be in early for our next holiday pictures."

And we did get your work finished, and on time—you all remember it, don't you? But we would so greatly appreciate a longer time to put upon your portraits this year. We do not want to be hurried; we want plenty of time both for your sitting and for the finishing. That means—Come early.

We know you so well, you who are on our "old-timer" list, we have made so many negatives for most of you, that we feel we can emphasize the resolution you made for yourselves last year—Come early. It will be better both for you and for us.

FRANK L. STEPHAN

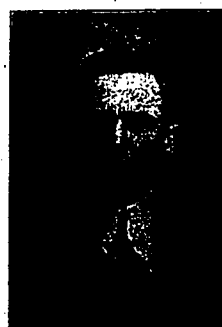

Republican Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Twin Falls County

Frank L. Stephan was born on a farm in Indiana and comes from one of the prominent Republican families of that state. He received his early and high school education in the public schools of his native state and entered the University of Michigan, from which he graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts and later with the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

While in college he was prominent in literary, oratorical and debating circles, being a member of the variety debating teams against Chicago and Northwestern universities, and carrying away honors and cash prizes in the oratorical contests that decided the championships of the University of Michigan.

During his residence in Twin Falls, by reason of his ability, honesty and integrity, he has become well and favorably known, and among the younger members of his profession has become recognized as a leader. He is eminently qualified in training, experience and character for the position of prosecuting attorney and is deserving of the support of the voters of this county.

A STATEMENT

Republican Candidate for Assessor, Explains His Views

GEORGE W. WILCOX
In presenting myself as a candidate for Assessor to the voters of Twin Falls County, I have but one indorsement—my past record as Chief Deputy for the past four years. It was my personal request three years ago to Mr. Beauchamp that I be allowed to do a portion of the assessing in the county. Since that time I have assessed a large portion of the county, collected practically all the personal property and automobile tax in the county, which has added much to the work of the office. On top of all this, we have reduced expenses considerably in this office, even though the work has been increasing each year.

I feel that, as deputy, I am entitled to some credit as to what might be of interest to the taxpayers of this County.

As I have always had their interest at heart, I have one thing to say to the people of this County: I am satisfied that I am entitled to some credit as to what might be of interest to the taxpayers of this County.

MARGUERITE CLARK IRELAND

Star in Beautiful Famous Players Production to Be Shown at the Idaho Next Monday

When lovers meet and woo and wed do the silly geese think that they are determining their own fate? So do the swains believe that they are so handsome before that the girls cannot resist them, and do the ladies think that it is their laughing black eyes and sunny smiles that lure the men to propose? Then they ought to pause in their laughter and think that they are ill-used, they will quarrel and part. If they seem to the little eavesdropper to be ideally matched, then they will kiss.

That, at least, is what the Little Lady Ellen firmly believes in the Famous Players production of that name in which Marguerite Clark is starring at the Idaho Theatre next Monday.

For Ellen is Irish, with all the Irish charm and all the imaginative gifts of the Irish—and she believes in the fairies with all her heart and soul.

And why should she believe it if it were not for them how else would she have found her true love and how would she have been rescued from the drunkard's brute of an employer who married her for her money when she never knew she had any herself? Only the good fairies could have brought big Stanley back to her, and she never knew that he existed and only the air of the air could have rolled the giant boulder down upon his fleeing brother as he galloped away in cowardly fear.

So it is only natural and right that the Little Lady Ellen should utter prayers of thanks to the fairies for all her happiness and for her safe deliverance from misery now that she and Stanley are "living happily ever after."

And it is only natural and right that the Irish girl, Little Lady Ellen, should bring the Irish—she as proves by her exquisite interpretation of the character of this happy, mischievous, charming Irish girl. It would be manifestly unfair to Miss Clark and to the producers to call "Little Lady Ellen" a second "Molly Bawn."

J. W. C. Deake Returns to Twin Falls to Vote, After Four Months in the East—Talks With Mr. Hughes at Hornell, N. Y.—Impressed With His Forceful Personality and Decisive Character

After an extended sojourn of nearly four months in the East, Colonel and Mrs. J. W. C. Deake returned home on the noon train Wednesday in order to register their votes in the general election on next Tuesday.

That Hughes will carry New York state and that Whitman will be re-elected governor was the good word brought back by the colonel, who, when not engaged in pursuing the elusive yellow pike, black bass, pickerel and northern pike at Lake Oconee, occupied himself by mixing into politics, and, incidentally, met and talked to Judge Hughes at Hornell. The impression he gained of the Republican candidate, declared the colonel, was that he is an exceedingly forceful man with a strong personality and a decisive character. If Hughes is made president, Mr. Deake is confident that there will be nothing wishy-washy or dilly-dallying about his policy.

Regarding the flabing, the colonel declares that it was good and that he enjoyed his four months in the East immensely.

CAUTION CARE IN VOTING

States, the rim-to-rim suspension bridge over the Snake river at Hansen can be built for $60,000. Of this sum, $20,000 has been raised by the sale of the bonds of the Hillsdale Highway district and the money is in the bank, waiting for Twin Falls county to redeem its promise to vote its share.

By means of this bridge the Millner segregation, a tract of 20,000 acres in the heart of the north side, will be added to the trade territory of Twin Falls. By this bridge, traffic will avoid the grades at Shoshone falls and the sand which blocks the road for some miles above the falls. The rim-to-rim feature means that there will be no sharp pull to limit the size of the cross-country load.

The proposed bridge will be 276 feet

THERE'S A REASON WHY LINK'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

Promises to have this year the best enrollment in the history of the school. We have made good for twelve years—this year our aim is to beat any previous record—and we'll do it because:

1. We conduct our business on sound business principles.
  2. The managers of this institution have a record for honest dealing and strict business integrity.
  3. Our teachers and methods of instruction are the best.
  4. Our students are successful—they boast for us.
  5. We fill more positions than all other agencies in Idaho.
- Since September 16 we have filled more than twenty-five positions, paying from $50 to $100 per month. Recently a young lady student accepted a position paying $100 per month. She was selected because she improved her time—because she qualified herself thoroughly. Young men, young women, are you improving your time? Are you thoroughly qualified? Then enter our school now and secure a thorough business education that will fit you for the most difficult positions. We guarantee courses of study. You take absolutely no chances. ## A COMPARISON

PROBABLY a large percentage of those who will vote next Tuesday have already made up their minds as to what, for the most part, they will do with their ballots. Eleventh-hour conversions to any cause are not, as a rule, altogether successful and it is therefore with little thought of the political effect that The News offers this partial comparison of the respective merits of the two principal candidates for the position of Governor of Idaho.

By and large, we consider that, as Governor during the past two years, Mr. Alexander has failed to make good. He has given but little attention to any of the various problems of State government which constantly come before an executive, and in a majority of cases such action as he has taken has been shown later to have been ill-advised, impracticable and altogether beside the question of permanent cure or improvement. Certain savings in the administration of the affairs of the State have been effected—at a cost to Idaho which Idaho could ill afford. These savings do not in any manner show in lower taxes in this the year of our Lord nineteen hundred sixteen, but in the interests of justice let it be admitted that certain expenses have been cut off and that the actual disbursements for the work of operating the State of Idaho are less than they would have been had not the veto power been exercised so strenuously.

Now this gives the right to no particular claim as to merit on the part of the Governor. It is just exactly as if any ordinary business were to decide to cut expenses by lopping off certain branches of activity in which it had heretofore dealt. Suppose a local coal company, operating five delivery wagons, should decide to cut expenses by dispensing with two wagons. Undoubtedly it would require less money to operate its business with two-fifths of its expense eliminated, but would the stockholders be at all apt to receive any larger dividends under such an arrangement?

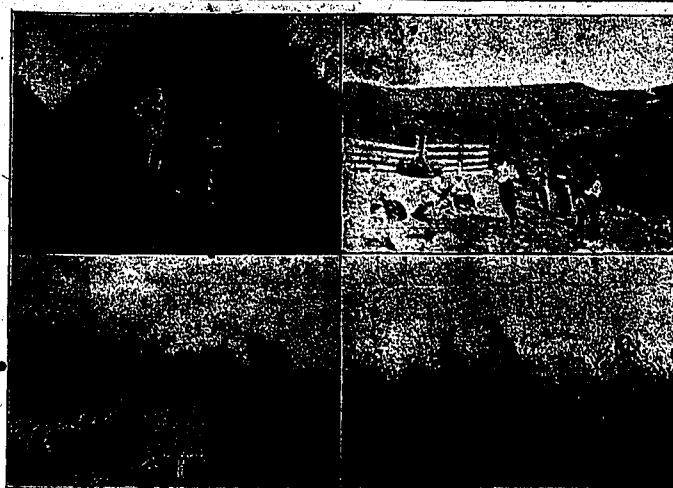

If Mr. Alexander has today a single claim to re-election it must be on the ground of the economies he has brought about. In no other single direction has he even attempted any action for the benefit of Idaho.

In the matter of his vetoes (which admittedly is where the "saving" was effected) he appears to have been the recipient of extraordinary good luck. Here is the way he himself describes the method by which he selected those bills which were to be honored by his approval. (Those Twin Falls persons who listened to his last speech here will probably recall the exact wording.) When the session had adjourned he asked the advice of his Secretary as to what should be done with those measures. His Secretary could not tell him, so he proceeded to divide the bills into two piles, the thick ones in one pile and the thin in another. Then he read and signed the thin ones.

Here is something distinctly new in statesmanship and executive ability. Merit or demerit had nothing to do with the selection. It all depended upon whether the bills were voluminous or quite brief—and upon tricks such as this Mr. Alexander has the effrontery to stand up before an audience composed of intelligent men and women and base his claim to another two years in the position of Executive of a sovereign State.

There is nothing in the record of D. W. Davis to warrant the belief that he is actuated by other than worthy motives in seeking the Governorship of Idaho, and The News believes that the honor, the integrity and the dignity of Idaho would be safe in his hands. His whole career is such as to inspire confidence. If he makes mistakes, they will be honest mistakes. If he sees fit to veto certain bills, it will be upon ground other than the number of printed pages contained in the measure. If he suggests legislation, it will be because his own broad experience shows him the benefit to be gained and not upon the map judgment of political expediency. If he devotes any part of the State's time to speechmaking during the term for which he is elected, it will be with a view to putting before the people at first hand information which belongs to the citizens of Idaho for the benefit of Idaho, and not for the purpose of furthering his own political ends and attempting to curry favor with the electorate in the campaign to come. Those who have not made up their minds, if there be any, will do well to study the records of the two men, and then ask themselves honestly which of the two they prefer in the chair of the Executive of Idaho. There is no use wasting adjectives in eleventh-hour character study with election barely a week away.

THE ATTORNEY GENERALSHIP

IN the person of Marlin J. Sweeley the Republican party of Idaho has a candidate in whose case there can be no question whatever as to general all round fitness for office. Mr. Sweeley will, in all human probability, be elected to the Attorney Generalship by a splendid majority. The fact that he is a Republican is, of course, in his favor, but, apart altogether from political affiliation, The News believes that it would be exceedingly difficult to find a man in the State on either ticket better qualified for this particular position than Mr. Sweeley.

There is little room for question but what the post of Attorney General in Idaho will prove the pivotal point about which will swing during the next two years some of the most important and far-reaching questions which ever confronted a State. The Attorney Generalship carries with it membership upon half a dozen of the principal State Boards, boards which are called upon at intervals for far-reaching and constructive action. No man without a thorough grounding in the law could hope to succeed in such a position; in addition to which a knowledge of the State's resources, the conditions under which these are held, the requirements of the State and its people and a hundred and one other branches of applied understanding are absolutely requisite to the carrying on of the duties of the position.

In Mr. Sweeley we believe that Idaho will have a man in the position of Attorney General whose occupancy of such position will amount to one of the chief assets of which the State can boast. We believe him to be eminently qualified and superlatively endowed for

FALSE CLAIM OF PROHIBITION

Governor Alexander claims to be "the father of prohibition." This is an absurd claim, in the light of the fact that all parties were pledged to prohibition and that the legislature which passed the law would have passed it over his veto.

Moreover, in the campaign of 1914, at Nampa, he was challenged at open meeting to state his position on prohibition and he did not do so. He never came out on prohibition until it proved popular.

On the contrary, D. W. Davis, Republican candidate for Governor, has always been for prohibition and was successfully fighting for prohibition in his home town of American Falls when prohibition was unpopular.

He put the saloons out of business in that town when it was not only unpopular to be a prohibitionist, but when it resulted in serious business loss to him.

About that same time, Governor Alexander, as mayor of Boise, was permitting that city to run wide open. So flagrant was this that on his retirement from office the Capital News referred to the Alexander regime as a shameful administration, saying "two years of incompetence, of bluster and bluff, of playing fast and loose with gambling and the social evil (under Alexander's administration) have passed like a hideous nightmare."

FLAG OR RAG?

(National Hughes Alliance.)

Mexico is either a nation or a mob—to be estimated and dealt with by the standards of civilization or to be treated as an ungovernable barbarian.

For the first time since the founding of these United States, our citizens have been deserted by their own government, abandoned to persecution, robbed and massacred with impunity.

Every species of shame that can be heaped upon a proud republic has been inflicted upon us by a people whose de facto head, the successor of Washington and Lincoln, dares to honor with the consideration due only to political and mercenary ends.

A weak and vacillating administration persists in the fulfillment of Bryan's fanatic and fantastic ideals of benevolence.

Are we so cheap and shoddy stuff as to forget the stain upon our flag, the martyrs born in the faith the post. We regard his forthcoming election as entitled to the support of the citizenship of Idaho as a whole, as a step forward in the march of progress for Idaho as a State. On the broad ground of ability, merit and fitness for office, Mr. Sweeley should come close to leading the State ticket.

A COMMUNITY NEED

A CORRESPONDENT in Jarbridge writes the following to The News:

There is a great need of a church of some sort here. A Sunday School was started by local people, but lack of equipment caused it to fail. It might be an excellent plan for some of the wealthy churches in Twin Falls to co-operate in sending a missionary to Jarbridge, and install a mission, somewhat on the plan of a sailors' mission such as is in New York harbor, and which are usually non-sectarian. When a congregation is formed it should not be hard to establish a branch church here. The Commercial Club would undoubtedly be extremely glad to offer the use of its hall for services.

Many people have expressed a desire for church influence, and a town of several hundred inhabitants without a church or mission is a reproach to Christianity.

Here is a call which should not be allowed to go unheeded. Apparently there is no particular demand for the establishment of a branch church of any particular religious denomination, but that there are men in Jarbridge who would welcome with open arms a movement looking to the founding of some means of public worship to which all might subscribe, apart altogether from the exact question of church affiliation, there seems little room for doubt.

CHARITY

THE poor we have always with us—and it would seem a part of the general plan of things that these are among us to prevent the human race from growing too selfish and self-centered; to encourage those qualities of mercy, justice and kindly sympathy with-that the blood of Americans is precious and priceless, that the Stars and Stripes spell heaven and that the "ground upon which we tread is holy, consecrated!"

How many more Americans must be massacred, how many more women violated, how many more miles of property seized before the strange arithmeticians at Washington will be able to count the game of retribution worth the risk of alienating the support of peace-at-any-price adherents?

Because Woodrow Wilson has failed to establish order and exact satisfaction from Mexico—because his unresponsive policy of interference and non-interference is directly responsible for existing conditions along the border, because he has demonstrated incapacity to deal promptly and adequately with any international problem—because he holds cheap what we hold dearest—we oppose his re-election and support the candidacy and the convictions of Charles E. Hughes.

CANNOT POOL REPUBLICAN WOMEN

Wilson's campaign managers are trying to fool the women of Idaho, and especially Republican women, with the plea that he "kept us out of war." He might as logically claim that he "kept us out of the poorhouse" and the high cost of living, which Wilson promised to reduce, might give some other wily politician a chance to claim that before long.

The American people kept themselves out of war with the European powers by going on record as strictly neutral; that no President could disregard the orders from them.

The American people wanted to keep out of war with Mexico, but President Wilson's bungling has created a condition of war with that country.

If Wilson is re-elected, there will be "war with Mexico" for the reason that his vacillation, his partnership with the variety of headlits, his unswerving interference with the internal affairs of Mexico, and his absolute failure to demand protection for American citizens has earned for the United States not only the contempt but the hate of the Mexican people.

The women of Idaho know the Mexican story well, and they will not be fooled by the Wilson campaign blarney.

On the contrary, at least those who are Republicans will vote for Hughes, who will compose the Mexican situation and bring about peace with honor.

out which no human life is well rounded out. The attention and consideration of all good citizens in the community is called to the appeal of the Associated Charities; and their protest against the aid given by Twin Falls citizens to outside solicitors, when pleas for aid for local ill and needy people go unheeded is worthy of action on the part of the citizens, if not of the city officials. We have need to keep in mind the oft-repeated admonition that "Charity begins at home."

THE DAVIS SPEECH

THIS here temple of art, as the Governor called the Lavering theatre, was surely filled by an appreciative audience last week when D. W. Davis told his hearers why he offers himself as a candidate for Governor of Idaho.

The address contained much that was good, sound common sense and, while there may be points upon which his hearers did not always agree with him, none could fail to be impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of the man. Throughout the entire address there was nothing of boast or bombast, no personal note in his reference to his opponent, no promises aside from the pledge of hard work and honest effort for the benefit of Idaho and her people.

If there was any particular point which made a deeper than usual impression, it was probably the reference of Senator Davis to his views on the liquor question. Slowly, in few words, but with the stamp of sincerity upon every syllable, the speaker told of his own boyish experiences in a town where saloons flourished. By inference rather than by direct statement, he allowed his audience to see with him the scenes which were a familiar part of his boyhood days. Later, grown to man's estate, he told of his efforts to eradicate the saloon from the business life of American Falls, the success of the movement and the final act in the drama which made American Falls the first dry territory in the State of Idaho.

Liberal applause followed this phase of his remarks, but perhaps not more than was accorded to other passages of an address more notable for its quiet earnestness than for oratorical flights or flowing periods.

Evidently the Senator desired to go upon record as to his attitude upon the question of prohibition, and it is difficult to see where his utterances lacked anything of completeness.

Probably the most amusing feature of his remarks was to be found in his account of a visit paid to a small logging and sawmill town in North Idaho, where it developed that eight out of a crowd of sixteen persons encountered during the noon hour sitting about the general store had commissions of appointment as delegates to the National Dry Farming Congress held annually at El Paso, Texas, signed by Governor Alexander. The first appointee encountered offered his commission as evidence of the fact that he was surely interested in dry farming. Later investigation, through the office of Secretary of State, showed that some three hundred of these "commissions" or appointments, all handsomely engrossed and embellished with the great seal of the State, had been sent out by Governor Alexander—as a rule, former governors have contented themselves with six or eight, out of which it has sometimes been possible to find one man sufficiently interested in the subject to pay his own expenses to the Congress.

MEN

AFTER all, man owes a higher duty to society than the mere collection of dollars. And as a rule the right of choice belongs to the individual. It is rather a pity that there are so few examples of the combination of goodness and riches. As a rule, each classification carries its own peculiar penalty. The man who is merely good is a fool in the eyes of the rich. The rich man a criminal in the eyes of the poor. Sometimes each is right. Sometimes neither.

The world cries out for well-balanced men. Men sufficiently idealistic to be able to see the good in all things and to foster, encourage and establish it. Men who, with a proper regard for the rights of all, will yet be men enough to secure sufficient of this world's goods to afford an unbiased prospect, unhampered by the sting of poverty or the petty worries of unpaid debt.

This is the type of man which constitutes the true rulers of the world. Environment makes and unmake. Sometimes stultifies. The highest point on the highest building is never the best place from which to view the procession on the street below, as in exactly the same sense the man in the street obtains but an incomplete and broken picture.

Perhaps only once or twice in a lifetime does one meet with this type, and yet it is easily recognized. The man with enough selfishness to realize his duty towards himself with a proper appreciation of the value of literature, a broad understanding of the mission on earth and a sense of charity to all is embracing.

There are such men.

ACTIVITY IS SHOWN BY VOTING WOMEN

CAMPAIGN OF NATIONAL WOMAN'S PARTY AROUSES INTEREST EVERYWHERE

Prominent Women of the Country Are Giving Time and Money to Gain the Passage of the Federal Suffrage Amendment—Score Democratic Party for Lack of Interest and Support—Want Aid of Western Voting Women

Throughout the states where women vote there is the greatest activity on the part of the National Woman's party. Practically every county in our own state has been visited, and committees of local women formed. This past week two headquarters have been opened up in Boise. One is at the land-Bolsheviks of New York on her five-weeks' tour has spoken at four places in this state. Mrs. Sara Bard Field of California, one of the most active workers in this cause of nationwide suffrage, and one of the most beloved and able speakers, spoke on the 24th of October at the Flannoy theatre in Boise. From there she went to Twin Falls to speak at a woman's party meeting, while the state federation was holding its session there.

Women Held Convention After the woman's party convention was held, last June, in Chicago, leading papers and magazines commented editorially and otherwise on the fact that there was a group of women not only leading in action but in the power of "party government" in all sorts of national legislation. Previous to 1910 women voters helped to choose only one-third of the electoral vote, whereas, in 1910 and 1914, there was such an increase that they now help to choose one-fifth of that vote, which is one-third of what is necessary to elect any president. Consequently, during the past three years and a half of active work at Washington, their policy has been one of holding the party power responsible for the passage of the federal suffrage amendment.

Democrats Oppose Women The Democratic party's record is exceedingly interesting to everyone sincerely interested in the freedom of American women. In the Sixty-third congress President Wilson opposed the passage of the amendment. In the senate the democratic leaders, many months before adjournment, forced it to a vote on a day when they openly said it would be defeated, because there were not enough supporters present. And in the house, the judiciary committee would not recommend its passage to the house, and the rules committee would not give it a place on the calendar. Because of this hostile record, the women went into the campaign of 1914 in nine suffrage states against the Democrats. So when congress convened, a month later, the leaders of the house allowed it to be voted on. But it was defeated because the Democratic leaders gave it no support, and only 31 per cent of their number voted "yes." It is significant that some of the Democrats campaigned against voted "no." The other parties did not block it, for 64 per cent of the Republicans and 93 to 100 per cent of the Progressive and independent vote was favorable.

Democrats Prevent Action When the Sixty-fourth congress convened, last December, the federal suffrage amendment was again introduced this time by two or three senators and four congressmen. The Democratic majority was considerably less than in the Sixty-third, and so the President and Democratic leaders have this past session prevented it from coming to a vote. In spite of this attitude, the judiciary committee of the house would have reported it had the leaders not resorted to a trick whereby they forced a combined vote on the indefinite postponement of all federal amendments, thus preventing separate action on the suffrage and prohibition amendments.

Woman's Party Organized This treatment on March 14th led immediately to the sending of 20 women on the "suffrage special" for a day trip through the "free" states to make an appeal to voting women to assemble in convention and there consider how they could use their voting power in the event of a measure. The result was the adoption of a one-plan platform: "The National Woman's party, convinced that the enfranchisement of women is the paramount issue, pledges itself to use its united vote to secure the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment, irrespective of the interests of any national political party; and pledges its unswerving opposition to all who oppose this amendment."

President Opposes Enfranchisement Following this declaration, all national parties made pledges. But promises from the Democratic party, whose machinery controlled the congress that was still in session and could not be adjourned, were little sincerity. The President, moreover, interprets their plank as meaning that the states should settle it for themselves. What place, as such a plank in the national platform? Mr. Wilson is thus in the unenviable position of being the presidential candidate who opposes the enfranchisement of women. It is absolutely impossible to amend at least 19 or 20 of the state constitutions.

INJUNCTION Colonel Smith was under the painful necessity of administering a sound thrashing to his son-in-law, who had been stirring up his suffering victims. "Now, tell me why I punished you," said the father. "That's it," sobbed the young man. "I nearly killed the life out of me, and now you don't even know why you did it."

DISCUSSES SUBJECT "OUR IDAHO GIRLS"

Miss Fernand French, Dean of Women at Idaho State University, Urges Special Training

That the girl of today should have special training to fit her for the service to be demanded of her in the great reconstruction period after the war, and for all lines of work into which women are going these days, is the keynote of numerous addresses given recently in various places in the southern part of the state by Miss Fernand French.

Miss French is dean of women in the Idaho state university and is a forceful and interesting speaker. She gave a splendid address on "Our Idaho Girls" at the recent meeting here of the Idaho State Federation of Women's Clubs, and on her return trip to Moscow she has delivered the message of the address at various places. Among other things, Miss French says:

"What are our young women to do in the state of Idaho, particularly in our rural communities? The great majority do not receive cultural and often home infatigable. Thus it is the duty of women to take the girls in the shop and in their homes and help them find wholesome amusements, organize juvenile clubs and help bring the cultural side of life into their lives and to be genuinely interested in their welfare.

"We are living at a mad pace and do not begin to digest our varied experiences. Women, in a measure, are responsible for this by competing in fashion and mode of living they are driving men onward. The ending will be disastrous unless women step in and change the day, which they must do. Organize simpler amusements, devote more time on the tennis courts, on the golf links, and in the swimming pools, developing brains, and through these, extend a welcome to all women and girls."

FIVE CENTS STRAIGHT AND WORTH IT!

Owing to the greatly increased cost of quality tobacco, in fact, everything pertaining to high-grade cigars, the makers of the San Felice cigars, The Deisel-Wommer Company, have advanced the selling price to the jobbers and dealers, and henceforth this cigar will positively be sold to the consumer at 5 cents straight instead of six for a quarter as previously.

The SAN FELICE is national in its scope and character, having justly attained this eminence through its unequalled excellence. To maintain this unequalled standard of quality, the advance in question is absolutely unavoidable. The generous support of all men using quality cigars is earnestly desired.—Adv.

Mr. DeLong states that they now have another shipment of ten carloads on their Castorford ranch, which will be ready for shipment in a few weeks, which he believes stands a good chance of again topping the market.

Miss Boston arrived in Twin Falls Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, having sailed from Glasgow on October 14, her only stop being in Philadelphia, where she visited a day with Mr. MacKay's brother and family. When asked if she had not been fearful of submarine danger, Miss Boston declared that she sailed on an American ship and felt perfectly safe under the American flag. Big flags were hung on each side of the vessel and at the bow and stern. At

Fears War Will Last

When asked about war sentiment and conditions in Great Britain, Miss Beaton stated that the universal opinion throughout England was that the European war would continue a full two years more. Scotland, she declares, is not suffering very greatly from shortage of provisions, and sugar, one of the commodities which must be imported, costs but little more than in America.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Mackay will make their home in Twin Falls, and now have rooms at the Egerson hotel. The first of March the newly-wedded couple expect to locate on one of Mr. Mackay's ranches, near Ellers.

Market Staggers Under Load and Declines of the Past Two Weeks Have Been Record Breakers—Total Receipts for October Will Exceed Two Hundred and Fifteen Thousand Head—Sheep Prices Advance

OMAHA.—Following last week's record-breaking cattle receipts of 56,000 head, there was another heavy run of 53,000 cattle this week and it is now certain that October receipts will exceed 215,000 head, making this the heaviest month's supply of cattle in the history of this market.

history of a market out in good shape, with a vigorous demand from both packers and feeder buyers and prices strong enough to hold all around, but later in the week the demand from both packers and feeders and buyers appeared to be somewhat choakier and values suffered a sharp decline all along the line. Strictly choice, weighty grass calves such as are bringing $3.25 to $3.75 have been scarce and have sold at $3.75. Values for the week have ruled steady to strong right along, but the right good kinds, selling at $5.75 to $6.00 for fair, are lower than last week. On the other hand, good to choice, heavy calves are fairly to good cattle, bringing $4.75 to $4.70, as well as the good to fair, heavy calves, selling at $3.75, values show a decline, the $3.75 calves for the week.

Cows and heifers also sold well this week, but later suffered a 15c to 25c decline, owing to the successive offerings of butcher and cannery stock. It takes choice, heifery steers to bring $6.80 to $6.75 now and the bulk of the fair to good butcher and beef stuff is selling around $5.75 to $6.25, the cannery and cutters going at $4.25 to $5.50 and on down. Veal calves have been quotably steady all week at $8 to $10 and there has been a very good outlet for bulls, stags, etc., at $5.25 to $6.50.

Supplies of sheep and lambs have been very scarce this week, about 50,000 heads, and the big end of the receipts have been comparatively limited and under the influence of a vigorous demand from all the packers and dealers have firmed up sharply, lambs showing a 60c to 65c advance, and aged stock selling around 35c to 40c higher than a week ago. Fat Wyoming lambs sold at $10.90 as against $10.25 at the close of last week. Yearlings up to 100 lbs., western, and aged at $7.25. All sheep advanced and demand is healthy and strong at the finish.

Miss Eleanor P. Barker, Representing
Woman's Party, Says Sentiment
in Idaho Is Changing

After a speaking campaign of three weeks, which covered most of the leading cities and towns of Southern Idaho, including two trips to Twin Falls, Miss Eleanor P. Barker of the Woman's party returned to Boise Sunday. The attendance at her meetings and the interest manifested by men and women leads her to believe that Idaho will be a safe for Prohibition.

Meetings were held at St. Anthony, Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Pocatello, Preston, Franklin, Malad, American Falls, Rupert, Burley, Shoshone, Gooding and Twin Falls. Miss Barker traveled alone, but at Blackfoot was assisted by Mrs. A. V. Scott of Idaho.

After again with the women of the East have placed their cause with the women of the West," said Miss Barker. "I was amazed at the interest manifested whenever I went, not only among the women but among the men. I have seen men who were the largest hall we could secure in each town and they were filled to capacity on every occasion. The closest attention was accorded to the presentation of our case and everyone stayed until the very end. The men also evinced their interest by asking many intelligent questions. On various occasions women as well as men came forward after the meeting wanting to know but, unfortunately, they were pressed for time and were unable to express their desire to join the Women's party. They seemed to see in our movement a definite thing to be done and appeared glad of the opportunity to become active workers in the

At the Christian church in Boise, on November 3, 4 and 5, will be held the state Christian Endeavor convention. A large attendance from all parts of the state is expected, and while the delegation from Twin Falls has not yet been entirely made up, it is certain that this town will be well represented. A number of prominent speakers have been secured for the convention, including Rev. Mr. Bowerman of Salt Lake City.

But Hays merely shivered and stubbornly shook his head. "No, sir."

"Am I to understand you prefer jail to home?" the judge demanded. "Have you no conscience?"

"No, sir," said Hays. "Conscience? Judge, I have no conscience."

"You have no conscience?" "Yes," answered the judge, "but you have a head. The head, yes, to come back."

WE have a number of partially improved farms, principally on the Richfield and Dietrich Tracts, upon which we will place tenants for terms of from three to five years. Will lease these places under agreements providing for completion of improvement under the direction of the Company and an equitable division of expense and income. Terms and conditions can easily be met by men of small means. We are prepared to enter into mutually profitable arrangements with the right parties. Applicants who have not had farming experience on this or the Snake River projects will not be considered. Men with families will be given the preference. Both husband and wife must like the country and have ambitions to eventually own a farm of their own here. We will require from applicants references as to honesty, industry and farming experience, unless they are known to us personally. The more capital, livestock and farm tools a man has the more profitable arrangement he can make. While we are not offering this as an inducement, it is an excellent opportunity for the man of small means to gain a foothold which may enable him to become an owner at the end of the lease period. A few farms are ready for occupancy now. Others will be ready early in the spring.

Applications IN WRITING should state fully extent, character and location of farming experience, size of family and age of children; amount of capital, livestock and farm tools; kind of crop and livestock with which applicant has had most experience. Applicant must furnish names of at least three references (not relatives) who have personal knowledge of his standing and reputation, at least one of which must be a banker or merchant with whom he has done business. Applications will be received up to Nov. 1st, for immediate consideration and up to January 1st, 1917, for consideration in the spring. The first applicants will be in line for the best places. ## ASSOCIATED CHARITIES AROUSED OVER SOLICITING BY OUTSIDERS

AID GIVEN TO SUPPORT POOR OF OTHER COMMUNITIES—LOCAL TREASURY IS ALMOST EMPTY—CALLS FOR MONEY, FOOD AND CLOTHING NOT MEETING WITH SATISFACTORY RESPONSE—ONE OF HARDEST WINTERS YET EXPERIENCED IS ANTICIPATED

Officers and members of the Associated Charities are indignant over the soliciting of outsiders from Boise, Pocatello and even Salt Lake for aid from Twin Falls citizens in the care of the poor. These places, where the treasury and supply room of the local charities association are almost empty.

These solicitors are coming into Twin Falls every week and taking out goodly sums of money that, in all justice and fairness, should go to the local association to meet the demands made upon them for the poor and suffering people of our own community. A member of the local association states that for 11 years the Salvation Army of Boise has sent a representative to Twin Falls twice a year to solicit aid for the poor of Boise, and representatives have also come from the same organization in Pocatello and Salt Lake. The object, of course, is a worthy one, but the local workers feel that when there is not enough donated in Twin Falls for the poor of this community, outsiders should not be allowed to come in and reduce the supplies still less. Last fall a solicitor collected $75 in only a day and a half. That $75 would have assisted the local charity workers very much to meet the many demands made upon them by local sufferers.

Potatoes Greatly Needed

A call was recently made for potatoes—only the calls were asked for—but not a potato has been donated. The price is exceedingly high; however, there are always a few, calls that are thrown away, and the associated Charities states that even the smallest want must be gratefully received.

In the supply room there is not one article of underwear, nor a woman's skirt. The calls for shoes for school children must inevitably be met by the purchase of new shoes, and with the price soaring high for shoes, as for everything else, the local association is in a quandary.

"There was a time," said one of the officers, when I could go to a store, purchase 50 cents worth of potatoes, 50 cents worth of sugar and the same price for a few other necessities and have sufficient supplies to last a family for some time, but now many potatoes do you get now for 50 cents, and sugar, flour, lard and everything is going up by leaps and bounds." A worthy woman, seeking assistance recently from the Associated Charities, stated: "My husband works all the time, but this fall, with the price of everything so much higher, and wages no higher than before, by the time we have paid $8 for rent and paid for our

Governor Alexander and the Irrigation Projects

Excerpts From Speech Delivered by George B. Barker, Secretary of State
—Fallacy of Claim by Alexander That He Discovered and Enunciated New Principle of Law of Water Is Hopelessly Shattered

Governor Alexander has posed as the friend of the settlers upon the irrigation projects. He has discovered for you that the waters of the state belong to the state. According to his newspaper, he is saying in his speeches:

"The great principle that the waters of the state belong to the people of the state will live long after I have passed on. This principle will become nationwide in effect, and if I had done nothing else while Governor than enunciate this principle and have it made the law of this state through action of the supreme court, I would feel that I have performed a great and sacred duty for the lasting benefit of the settlers under our Carey act projects."

This quotation is made from the Governor's subsidized paper on the date of Saturday, October 1, and purports to quote verbatim the statement of the Governor, and I have no doubt that it does so quote him verbatim.

Pinning On New Medals

The Governor not only desires to claim for himself any praise which may result from the actions of the executive departments of the state, but we now find him invading the realm of the judiciary to find fresh laurels to place upon his own brow.

Governor Alexander discovered nothing about the sacred duty of water. Our fathers, who carefully and intelligently wrote into the constitution our sacred rights, made full provision for your care, for article 1 of section 1 of the compendium of our state liberties says: "All waters now appropriated or that may hereafter be appropriated for sale, rental or distribution; also all water originally appropriated for private use, but which after such appropriation has been taken, or may be hereafter be sold, rented or distributed, is hereby declared to be a public use, and subject to the regulation and control of the state in the manner prescribed by law."

Now the legislature, as early as 1901, prescribed the manner of our law when it said: "All waters of the state, when flowing in their natural channels, including water in natural springs and lakes, when within the boundaries of the state, are declared to be the property of the state." Furthermore, in 1912, in the case of Walbridge vs. Robinson, 52 Idaho, page 236, said in its decision: "We think it is clear that the title to the public waters of the state is vested in the state for the benefit of all citizens of the state."

So, again, one of the claims of Governor Alexander vanished away, and we find that, instead of thanking our good Governor for the integrity of our possessions, we must go back to one of the fundamental principles we attained with statehood.

He Is the Constitution

The Governor has claimed many things, but this, peculiarly enough, is the only instance where he has claimed to be the constitution of the state.

Now, then, this statement of the Governor was made in reference to a suit which was brought by the state for the settlers on the Oakley-Twin Falls project. Last spring, through their attorney, the settlers protested to the state land board that the company had sent out notices that, unless the settlers paid their contracts for the year in advance, the water would be shut off. A meeting of the land board was held, and there were present the Governor, attorney general, secretary of state and state auditor. Governor Alexander made a motion that a suit be instituted in the supreme court for the settlers to restrain the company from thus coercing the contract holders. The supreme court held that the company could not shut off the water upon the non-payment of contracts for the year 1916, and that remedy for collection would have to be by lien or foreclosure. No right to the water by the state was argued in the case. It was set up that the company was not fulfilling its obligations by furnishing the amount of water in the settlers' contracts, and therefore it could not enforce a non-payment of contract when it was a non-performer itself, or, in other words, the company would have to furnish the amount of water in its contract before it could shut off the water for non-payment.

A Similarly Valid Claim

I voted for this resolution in land board, with the Governor, and I have not endeavored to lay any claim that "I have discovered the principle which will become nationwide in effect, and if I had done nothing else while secretary of state than enunciate this principle and have it made the law of this state through action of the supreme court, I would feel that I have performed a great and sacred duty for the lasting benefit of the settlers under our Carey act projects." and, yet, I have just as much right to make this claim as the governor.

HIS CONSTANT THOUGHT

They thought by the time the waiting room of a railway station. "My friend," began the man with the bag full of tracts, persuasively, "have you ever reflected on the shortness of life, the uncertainty of all things here below, and the fact that death is inevitably?" "Have I?" replied the man, cheerfully. "Well, I should say so. I'm a life insurance agent!"
