When Snowdrifts Stop Trucks . . .

Big trucks and buses have been using area highways this winter long after the roads were declared closed to smaller vehicles. But drifting snow trapped a number of the heavy machines between Jerome and Twin Falls early Monday night. Shown above are right of the big drifting snowdrifts by motorists ahead of them and behind the Highway crew worked until Tuesday night to open the Jerome-Twin Falls stretch of U. S. highway 7.

All Other Traffic Halts

This photo shows how lighter vehicles were halted between Jerome and Twin Falls by drifting snow. All stranded motorists were rescued by the U. S. Highway crew. One of the two vehicles in center of photo is an army transport truck. The other is a Dodge. The snow is more than a foot deep. Snow photo was taken from a Dodge Flying Service plane. Floods Are Feared In Southern Idaho, Travel Still Slowed

Thawing weather prevailed Wednesday over Magic Valley while residents went through the well-practiced motions of digging out again from the effects of a blizzard. Some progress was being made in opening main highways but railroad trucks were still snowed under. The forecast indicated warmer weather Wednesday with occasional showers, and cooler weather Thursday with rain or snow squalls. Thawing conditions coupled with the forecast raised new fears of a quick run-off and the possibility of floods.

Rockies Area Eyeing Flood, Slide Threats

The threat of floods and snowslides hung over much of the mountain area today, with above-freezing temperatures causing deep snow to melt rapidly. Wind, which had whipped dry snow into road-blocking drifts yesterday, continued to blow in portions of Utah and Idaho. Higher temperatures softened the snow, however, and there was little drifting. The weather bureau said considerable melt air remained over the two-state area. Rain was expected to start tomorrow but the amount of precipitation was not expected to be heavy.

U. P. Train Is Rescued After Two-Day Wait

A Union Pacific train snowbound near Haxton, a railroad, was rescued today after a two-day wait. The train, which was stuck in the snow for two days, was finally freed by a snowplow crew. The train was carrying a load of lumber and was headed for Boise. The snowplow crew worked for two days to clear the tracks and to get the train moving. The train was finally freed at 10:30 a. m. on Wednesday. The snowplow crew was praised for their hard work and for their dedication to the job.

Angry Fights Developing in Pension Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A bitter fight is developing over a pension plan for federal employees. The plan, which was approved by Congress last year, is being challenged by the American Federation of Government Employees. The union is arguing that the plan is unfair and that it will result in a loss of jobs for its members. The government is arguing that the plan is necessary to attract and retain qualified employees. The fight is expected to continue for some time.

Whitney Demands Ouster of Denham

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A bitter fight is developing over the ouster of a federal official. Whitney, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has demanded the ouster of Denham, the director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. Whitney is arguing that Denham is incompetent and that he is a threat to the security of the United States. Denham is arguing that he is a qualified and experienced official and that he should remain in his position. The fight is expected to continue for some time.

Attempts to Push Labor Bill Foiled In State's Senate

By WILLIAM B. HATCH
BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Idaho Democrats were foiled today in an attempt to force their labor commissioner bill through a state senate. The bill, which would have given the labor commissioner more power, was defeated by a vote of 12 to 10. The Democrats argued that the bill was necessary to protect the rights of workers and to improve the economy. The Republicans argued that the bill was too radical and that it would result in a loss of jobs.

CVA Program Is Rapped by John Sanborn

GOODING, Feb. 16—Rep. John Sanborn expressed his views concerning the creation of a new committee to study the CVA program. Sanborn said that the program was a waste of money and that it was not doing anything to help the economy. He said that the program was a result of the government's failure to take action to solve the problem. FISHERY PEACE GESTURE

There may be earnest, worried people who feel that the United States government protection of a Soviet peace pact by its reception of Marshal Stalin's answers to an American press correspondent's questions.

They may feel that we have missed a chance to "sit down with the Russians and talk it over."

They may feel that Secretary of State Acheson, in commenting on the Stalin answers, was content to demolish an opponent's arguments brilliantly and win another round of the cold war on his merits.

Mr. Stalin chose to issue his latest one while the North Atlantic alliance was in the process of formation. He also chose for his purpose four questions submitted by Kingsbury Smith of the International News Service.

FOR BETTER VALUES EVERY DAY SHOP AT TURLEY'S IGA

SHOVELING snow, moving furniture; or just plain housework can cause unstrained muscles to scream in protest.

And if you're in a hurry, a heat lamp will speed the drying of your hair and fingernail polish.

The versatile heat lamp is invaluable for farm use too, and so inexpensive.

It's the type that you use under the summer sun, and for the cool lamp and ten year-round use from its healthful rays.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLER
NEA Staff Writer

Want your husband to shine as a host? All right, then give him half a chance.

When you invite guests over for an evening, be sure they are people you know as well as you do.

Don't keep reminding him of his duties, the way you remind Junior of his. Give him a chance to notice that glasses need refilling, that the coffee is getting cold, that he's not set yourself up as a censor of his conversation. If he starts to talk too long, let him talk.

If he's the quiet type, don't talk constantly to try to "cover up" his silence. That will just make him feel further into his shell.

Treat him like the head of the household. If you don't, you can't expect him to act like it.

Don't deflate him if he's in an expansive mood.

Don't nag him, for putting what you regard as his "minor" mistakes into his mind is really unwise of you. Let him say that way.

Don't insist on entertaining only at your convenience. Remember most men are better hosts when they are not the ones to get ready for the moment than they are at more formal parties their wives have planned.

Give him a chance to be the kind of host he wants to be, and he will be.

That's the idea of the perfect host, and he'll let you down.

Taperlight Rites Wed Miss Sumner And C. Jennings

Uplifting wedding ceremony at the home of Mrs. W. A. Sumner, united with Mr. C. Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jennings, 212 1/2 First Street.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended in a lace-trimmed pink tulle gown with a white gardenia corsage and a white gardenia surrounded with pink roses and white carnations falling from the bouquet.

As tokens of sentiment the bride bestowed pearls and wore a lace veil which belonged to her maternal grandmother.

Maid of honor was Nadene K. Sumner, sister of the bride. She wore a light blue tulle gown.

Best man was Bill Carson, nephew of C. Jennings, brother of the bridegroom. W. A. Jennings, brother of the bridegroom, was the officiating minister. He read "I Love You Truly" and "Blessings" accompanied by Donna Rose Singers, who also played the wedding march.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a light green afternoon dress with a pink rosebud corsage. The bride's mother wore a white afternoon dress and a corsage of orchids.

A wedding reception for 75 guests was held at the home following the ceremony. In charge of the guest book was Connie Joyce Sumner, sister of the bride. Mrs. C. Jennings presided in pink, carnations. Reception assistants were Mrs. Evelyn Myers, Mrs. Joyce Bankard, and Mrs. Walter Todd.

For the wedding trip to an unannounced destination, Mrs. Jennings was attended in a red wool crepe suit with black accessories. The couple will be in California.

The former Miss Sumner attended high school at Twin Falls. She employed at the telephone office. The bridegroom attended Twin Falls high school and is now employed in the oil company.

A pre-nuptial shower was given in honor of the bride at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Myers at the home of Mrs. Myers, east of town.

Sweetheart Fete Honors Fathers

Jerome, Feb. 15—A "sweetheart" party honoring their fathers was given by girls' groups of the Buttercup troop Sunday evening at the American Legion hall. Fathers and daughters got acquainted upon receiving "pinks" and "chump" pins.

Girls found their places at the banquet table decorated with red lilies, valentines, cutups and place cards made by the Scouts.

Carole Hoeman, acting as toastmistress, welcomed the fathers and each in turn introduced her father. A parody on "Smiles" was sung to dad. Russell Peltz responded for the fathers and expressed appreciation for the efforts put forth by the Scouts to make the party a success. The fathers surprised the girls by singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Mrs. Dudley L. Stroud, assistant leader, was presented with a corsage and in turn honored her father by a birthday anniversary.

Following the dinner, Cheryl Hill, dressed in a red and white Valentine costume, announced the program. Cheryl asked for volunteers to do a kind of dance. Two girls from the troop then presented a shadow pantomime "The King of Siam," assisted by Cheryl Hill, who carried flash cards and a large red heart to announce the change of scene. Ann Shirley played the part of the king and Ann Hill played the part of the queen. Cheryl Hill managed the stage and made the announcements.

An Ann Hoff entertained the guests with a piano solo "Dorothy" and "The King of Siam." Cheryl Hill presented the program. Each member was given material to make a Valentine. Mrs. Frank Davis was prize winner for the most clever Valentine.

Happy Feet Are "Aids to Charm"

By BETTY CLARK
NEA Newsletters Beauty Editor

Have you got happy feet? Or don't you realize that the key to facial beauty sometimes lies within your feet?

If you are one of the millions of people who say "happy feet" make a victim of tight shoes or tight hose. The tight-foot people go through all day with aches and pains, victims of ingrown toenails and calluses. The tight-shoe crowd is not the only one who suffers. Modern Cinderellas have found that simple hose can cure minor foot ills in a short time.

What to do about those miserable toes? If your toes are just beginning to squeeze, you can't wear an excellent hose strictly. Usually the big toe that sticks out at the beginning and does the damage, so take care of that first.

Use a pair of nail clippers and cut a V-shaped groove at the center of your toenail. This will take pressure off the corners of the nail as it grows toward center. Keep making the V as the nail grows back to normal growth. While doing this always file the nail straight across.

If the nail is particularly difficult, rub an emery board down the middle section from outside to tip of the nail. This will leave a small groove which as the nail grows will help to fill in the nail to relieve pressure on the toe.

This home remedy also is effective in treating toenails which may from injury grow in an abnormal way.

Calluses frequently can be relieved by soaking in foot-soap baths. Under no circumstances should a raw or other impregnation of the nail be used to remove the growth. If calluses do not respond to home treatment a foot specialist should be consulted.

Blisters often are the result of wearing tight shoes. If the condition is particularly painful an orthopedic surgeon should be consulted. He may be able to relieve the condition by massage and special treatments. In any case he will certainly recommend shoes which will relieve the agony while the cure is being effected.

Guide to Charm

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Study the following guide you for clues that help you to make more of your personal charm. Personal charm is a complex quality, developed by compulsion and we accept them completely and unconsciously.

For example, you are complimented on how lovely you look. Try analyzing the reasons that prompted the praise. Perhaps the hair or cut of the dress you are wearing is more flattering than your other clothes or the color sets off your eyes or your hair more effectively. Use either or both clues as a valuable guide to future clothing purchases.

Perhaps you have tried out a hat but your appearance will serve as a guide to other tricks which you will want to try out. If necessary, a new hat does pass unnoticed if compliments are reserved you have chosen an unflattering style.

Members who associated with the banquet were Mrs. Oscar Fort, Mrs. Russell Paris, Mrs. Edna Capra, Mrs. John Doe and Mrs. Frances Smith.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Children are really confused when more than one person directs them. They are very quick to take advantage of the confusion of orders and select whom they prefer. Their mother says "no" and father says "yes," they will do as father says. That leads to disobedience and disregard of both parents.

A father and mother should agree in advance on the policy they shall adopt in relation to the children and stand by it. Because the mother often has the policy during the day, as a usual thing it is she who is in charge of them. She will refer some matters to the father—usually in private and there will be no conflict of policy nor of direction. When the father is present, he should ask for a privilege. His father usually asks, "What did your mother say?" and after the child tells why come to me?" When that is the practice there will be no conflict. If you would you, father? Sonny, you know you can't have fish."

"Grandpa gave it to me," said Sonny smartly.

"Yes, I know he did. And let me tell you, sonny, that the next time I know you to disobey my orders, I'll spank you well—no matter who told you or who gave you what. No remember. And you can go to bed right now for you're going to be in a bad way."

Well, what can one do? There should be one voice in the family at a time to which children listen and which they obey, but that's an ideal situation and most of us can but hope to reach it.

Pat's main idea is reasonable for a small family. He says the mother should be the one to discipline the child.

U. S. Investments Aid Chile Copper

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 18 (AP)—United States investments in the Chilean copper industry are being increased this year by $60,000,000, according to some $100,000,000 in the next three years to a total of more than $400,000,000.

The copper company has launched a three-year improvement plan calling for an investment of $120,000,000 in its El Teniente mine, while Chile exploration company is building a $60,000,000 sulphide copper refinery, described as the largest of its kind in the world.

It is expected to be completed this year. Copper mining is, with nitrate, the basis of Chile's economic life. The country is estimated to get a return of 67 per cent of the total value of copper exports, the remainder 33 per cent going to the United States owners.

Pope Denounces Totalitarian Aims

ROME, Feb. 18 (AP)—Pope Pius today denounced totalitarianism, which he accused of trying to destroy the concept of society based on the will of God and dignity of man.

The pontiff spoke out again on the Hungarian trial of Joseph Goebbels, the Nazi propaganda chief, in his condemnation of it in a week. He addressed his diploma to the world, the holy see, who called on him for an extraordinary mass audience.

The Pope said his heart was filled with deepest sorrow over the trial and the sentence, the result of the Catholic primacy of Hungary.

Retired Navy Officer Slated By Town Hall

Rear Adm. Ellis M. Zacharias, who retired from the U. S. navy in 1940, will be the guest speaker at the Twin Falls Town Hall next Wednesday at 8 p. m. next Wednesday at the high school auditorium, according to Dr. Wallace Bond, president.

Having acquired expert knowledge of the Japanese as a student in Tokyo as early as 1920, Zacharias was enabled to forecast with pinpoint accuracy the actions of Japan.

Forecast Pearl Harbor He prophesied that the Japanese would open hostilities with an air attack on the American fleet, without any declaration of war "on a weekend and probably on a Sunday morning" by launching planes from carriers.

Because of his qualifications, Zacharias was appointed to lead the important work of psychological warfare against the Japanese high command in the summer of 1941. He conducted a one-man radio war against the enemy in which he undertook to clarify unconditional surrender.

Program Successful For his successful warfar, Admiral King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet, congratulated him on "good work in making the Japanese see the light and bringing surrender."

Zacharias has been decorated three times by the Legion of Merit and was recommended by three war admirals under whom he served for preparation to flag rank that of rear admiral.

Author of Book He is the author of the book, "Secret Missions," which tells of his 23 years as an intelligence officer in the U. S. navy.

He states he is of the opinion that Japan will rise again as a leader in the Orient, but her influence this time must be directed toward good rather than evil. The re-orientation of the Japanese mind, he believes, will be accomplished but that the United States must maintain her leadership in hastening the process.

Jerome Boy Scout Group Makes Plans

JEROME, Feb. 16—Jerome district Scout leaders met here to complete plans for unit goals in the winter-come crusade to "strengthen the arm of liberty," outline plans for organizing additional Cub and Scout units, and discuss summer camping preparation, according to Tom Mahan, district chairman. Seventeen key Scouters attended the session.

Bob Peterson, district organization and extension chairman, outlined steps to be taken to organize additional units and reported 15 churches, Granges and other groups had been contacted and requested to consider sponsorship.

Groups Represented Three of the groups contacted—the Women of the Moose, Methodist church and Odd Fellows lodge—were represented at the meeting.

District Commissioner Tom Peterson led the discussion on establishing unit goals and Dudley Stroud, American Legion representative, announced a troop committee and Scoutmaster Harold Harris had made to complete goals.

Frank Humbach and Al Drake, neighborhood commissioners, outlined final arrangements for the rally program.

Board of Review It was announced the next board of review for all boys desiring to advance in rank would be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Mint cafe basement. Jess Quier will be in charge of the review.

Robert W. DeBahr, field executive, outlined the council's new manual "Winter Plans for Summer Camps" in the absence of Parker Fillmore, council chairman. The group also set policies on the hospital drive and discussed the Devil's Corral camp site.

Verle Sullivan, H. Dale Munk, Boy Scout Freeman, Guy E. Kennedy and Lee Larsen also gave reports on unit activities for Boy Scout week.

8 to 2 Vote of Magic Valley representatives in the attempt to bring the slot machine act repeal measure to debate was 8 to 2 in favor of the act, the Associated Press reported.

Water Is Forced Over Creek Bank CAREY, Feb. 16—Flood threats and starving farm and household animals are among the highlights of winter in this community.

Silver creek has frozen from the bottom, forcing water over the banks. Lester Brown and his family have been forced from their home by the water and several other families are threatened.

Another winter difficulty came when Alton P. Slayton, Bill Duff and Cecil Pinder and their families came here several days ago from the Black River mine for provisions and were directed to the hospital.

IN BOHNE HOSPITAL WENDEL, Feb. 16—Mrs. Wayne Sleson was taken to a Boise hospital recently for medical treatment.

Acts At ONCE to Relieve and 'Loosen' BAD COUGHS and HOARSENESS (CAUSED BY COLDS)

Persevere gently stimulates natural secretions in the respiratory tract to soothe dry irritated membranes. It acts at once to relieve bad coughs caused by colds—helps loosen phlegm and makes it easier to raise. Pleasant-tasting!

They had laid a horse and a dog at the mine, and fearing the animals were starving, sent feed there two times by air.

Another winter difficulty came when Alton P. Slayton, Bill Duff and Cecil Pinder and their families came here several days ago from the Black River mine for provisions and were directed to the hospital.
