SEVEN OFFICERS PUT ON LEAVE

Police: Three of the officers didn't fire guns in Dunes Motel shooting

By Andrea Jackson
Times-News writer

Seven Twin Falls city police officers are on paid administrative leave after the county's third fatal police shooting in three years happened Tuesday at the Dunes Motel.

Thursday's announcement was three officers more than police told the Times-News on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The decision to put three officers on leave who didn't fire their guns but were present at the incident was made Wednesday, because "we're really concerned about how this affects our officers," said Twin Falls Police Capt. Matt Hicks, stressing the leave is not disciplinary and could end in a couple of weeks.

Officers "present during the incident but not believed to be involved" are: Sgt. Charles Garner, who has almost 12 years on the force; Det. Ken Rivers, hired five years ago; and Dusty Solomon, hired in June 2007.

Three patrol officers and a detective, all hired within the last four years, were "involved in the shooting": Officer Tim Arredondo, Det. Dan Clements, Officer Dave Frick, and Officer Nathan Silvester.

Police haven't said which officers' bullets may have hit 20-year-old Randy J. "R.J." Holler Jr. in Room 2 of the motel, where he died Tuesday night. His body was sent for an autopsy.

Holler was listed online until his death as one of Twin Falls County's "most wanted" for a probation violation connected to a grand theft conviction.

MEAGAN THOMPSON/Times-News

'He left two beautiful kids,' said Katie Sutton (center right), R.J. Holler's 21-year-old fiancée and mother of his children. A vigil was held outside Room 2 at the Dunes Motel, where Holler was shot and killed by Twin Falls Police on Tuesday.

Police say they went to the motel to look for a suspect in a van theft, and he "produced" a gun.

Idaho State Police troopers are investigating the shooting, but they're not sure why seven officers were at the motel.

"Our investigation is a criminal investigation in nature, that's really not within the purview of what we're looking at," said ISP Capt. Kedrick Wills, the media contact for the investigation. "I'm assuming it would be the nature of the call that would dictate that."

Family, friends remember Holler

Those who knew Randy J. "R.J." Holler gathered Thursday night at the Dunes Motel to mourn the 20-year-old at the site of his death.

They placed candles, flowers and food near Room 2. They prayed and called out his name.

They cried. They remembered a young man who — despite the problems that ultimately led to his Tuesday shooting death — they called a friend, son and father.

"I just want everyone to remember that he was someone's baby," said his mother, Dori Holler. "He was my baby."

After the vigil, Holler's 21-year-old fiancée and mother of his two children, Katie Sutton, sat and cried, surrounded by friends.

"It was just the wrong part of his life," she said.

"He just needed help."

Dunes resident Robin Parker placed the first candle on the sidewalk where she said she saw Holler die. She knew he would be missed, she said.

"He wasn't a perfect kid by no means, but this boy didn't deserve to be shot so many times," said Holler's aunt, Gina Johnson. "It's wrong."

House dumps Otter's gas-tax increase

By John Miller
Associated Press writer

BOISE — House lawmakers on Thursday voted 43-27 to reject Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter's proposed fuel tax hike, with foes saying the recession is a bad time to boost taxes and that Idaho should use millions of dollars for roads from the federal stimulus first before giving the state Transportation Department even more money.

Under the rejected measure, the gas tax, now 25 cents per gallon, would have risen in three yearly steps to 32 cents by 2013, producing an estimated $61 million a year in additional revenue — money Otter says is needed to help fix Idaho's 5,000 miles of highways to improve safety, speed commerce and create jobs.

Otter, who says his roads package would address only a small portion of an estimated $240 million annual maintenance backlog, originally proposed five years of annual gas tax increases to raise $88 million, but scaled that back after lawmakers' opposition.

The opposition, however, was unabated during the House vote. Rep. Raul Labrador, R-Eagle, said he saw this as a battle between construction companies that lobbied intensely for the Police looking into day-care death

On March 9, Gabriel Ramon Aragon died in the Twin Falls hospital where he was born nearly eight months before.

Now, Twin Falls police are investigating the day care where Gabriel spent part of his last day, while family members say the facility's owner didn't do anything wrong.

Police say staff at All About Kids Childcare, 915 Sunrise Blvd., found Gabriel in his crib, not breathing. Without confirming the baby's name, Twin Falls Police Staff Sgt. Terry Thueson said day-care staff performed CPR on him. Gabriel later died at

Bill would let pharmacists refuse service based on morals, religion

By Ben Botkin
Times-News writer

A proposed Idaho law would give pharmacists the ability to refuse to dispense medications that they have a moral or religious objection to — like birth control or contraceptives.

Supporters say the proposed law is needed to add extra protection to pharmacists who face pressure to dispense medications that they are uncomfortable with. Idaho law already has similar "conscience protections" in place for doctors and hospitals. The bill, HB 216, passed through the House State Affairs

Rupert man arrested after wrong turn — into prosecutor's garage

By Damon Hunzeker
Times-News writer

BURLEY — If you're going to hide in a garage while drunk — even just to ask for help at around midnight — it's important to pick the right house.

Jade David Winmill, 24, of Rupert, was charged with unlawful entry and possession of a controlled substance Wednesday night after a series of strange decisions culminated in his arrest on the property of Cassia County Prosecutor Al Barrus.

Winmill's alias is listed on the police report as "Jade David Superman."

Cassia County Sheriff's Deputy Doug Welch responded to a possible theft in progress at a potato cellar outside of Burley shortly after 11 p.m.

The witness who made the call to police said that a male with a 1999 Chevy Tahoe had been suspiciously looking at another vehicle in the area.

The suspicious male later knocked on his door, the witness said, and asked for a can of oil. The witness refused and said that he had called the cops.

Welch found the Tahoe but not a person. After checking the area for the suspicious man, he noticed the Tahoe was gone. It was eventually found parked in Barrus' driveway.

According to Welch, Winmill walked out of the garage and approached Welch's patrol car, telling Welch that he had had too much to drink and that his friend, "Bill," had been driving.

Winmill didn't know Bill's last name but said that he left on foot.

measure and Idaho residents who would have to pay for it.

"In the middle of an economic downturn, in the middle of a recession, in the middle of a time when our constituents are having trouble putting food on the table, I do not think it's the right time to raise their taxes so we can have more transportation funding," Labrador said.

Fifteen of 18 Democrats and 28 of 52 Republicans combined to defy the governor. Some cited concerns that the Transportation Department would squander the additional cash, which, along with a separate registration fee hike proposal, would raise a total of about $90 million annually.

"They're not being frugal with their money," said Rep. Dick Harwood, R-St. Maries. "Throwing more money at the problem doesn't solve the problem."

Otter said the debate isn't over. "I'm disappointed by today's outcome, but I appreciate the constructive debate and I am not giving up," he said in a statement. "My staff and I continue to talk with legislators, as do representatives of the many stakeholders from communities throughout Idaho who support taking action now."

Otter won backing of House leadership, including Assistant Majority Leader Scott Bedke, R-Oakley. Some proponents argued the state's businesses and farms needed better roads to get their goods to market.

Shooting

Hicks wouldn't say why seven officers were at the motel, referring that question to Wills, but he said they don't usually go in seven-man groups to calls like this one.

Wills said troopers are still interviewing police officers and listening to dispatch tapes. "I'm sure that answer will come out at some point."

The officers have been instructed by the city police department not to speak publicly about the shooting, said Hicks.

Only one of the officers was involved before in a police shooting — Rivers was present for the non-fatal shooting of 20-year-old Kristopher Jenks in 2000, Hicks said.

Hicks said the officers might be able to return to work in a week or two. "It does place stress on staffing levels."

This is the third fatal police-involved shooting in three years in Twin Falls County. On June 30, 2007, Logan Brizzee, 19, a suspected shoplifter, drew a loaded handgun was shot and killed by city police officers Ben Mittelstadt and Steve Benkula at WinCo Foods. Both officers were later cleared of criminal wrongdoing.

On Aug. 16, 2008, ISP Trooper Michael Wendler fatally shot 29-year-old Cody Hanks during a traffic stop, and was cleared by prosecutors of any wrongdoing.

Idaho's Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST) doesn't track the number of officer-involved shootings in Idaho.

"Literally, no one tracks that," said POST Director Jeff Black.

Black says anecdotally there's about 12 officer-involved shootings annually in Idaho, and most aren't fatal. "When you look at the number of contacts ... Cops rarely fire their guns."

Owyhee bill gets second chance

By Nate Poppino
Times-News writer

A massive public lands bill including several Idaho projects received a second chance in Congress on Thursday, resurrected by the U.S. Senate.

The Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009 died in the House last week when Republicans attempted to amend it to allow concealed, loaded guns in national parks. But senators this week attached the package as an amendment to a small House-approved bill aimed at preserving battlefields from the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. In that form, the lands bill passed the Senate 77-20.

Among its nearly 170 provisions, the lands bill contains several items for Idaho — the most prominent of which would create more than 500,000 acres of wilderness in the Owyhee canyonlands. That section was created by Sen. Mike Crapo, R-Idaho, and a regional workgroup.

The package also includes 165 acres of federal land for a small House-approved bill

Auger Falls and money to study state water storage projects and pay ranchers who lose livestock to wolves.

Crapo, who managed Thursday's vote on the floor, again praised the people who worked out the Owyhee segment for being willing to compromise. The package now moves back to the House, where Crapo spokesman Lindsay Nothern said Democrats expect it to pass. Last week, it needed a two-thirds majority and fell only two votes short. A vote could take place early next week.

Druggists

would go on to the Senate for consideration.

Jan Atkinson, senior compliance officer with the Idaho State Board of Pharmacy, said the board is neutral on the bill because pharmacists can already turn down a prescription if they have a valid concern.

Kurt Hefner, owner of Kurt's Pharmacy in Twin Falls, said that pharmacists should have the right to not fill prescriptions they are uncomfortable with — Plan B, for example. "We should have the right to refuse," he said. "It's available in other stores."

Plan B is an emergency contraceptive, and those with anti-abortion beliefs have concerns that it can cause abortions. Pharmacists should have the option to say no without worrying about losing their jobs or being criticized, Hefner said.

Smith's Food and Drug Stores, which has stores in Burley and Twin Falls, tries to balance the conscience of pharmacists with customers, said Marsha Gilford, a spokeswoman for the company. "We do allow our pharmacists who have any strong feelings not to dispense medication," she said.

If a pharmacist is against a medication, another pharmacist in the store will help the customer, Gilford said. If all the pharmacists have an objection, they are to point the customer to another store in the community, Gilford said.

Doug Fuchs, an owner of Dick's Pharmacy in Twin Falls, said that there are other reasons that a pharmacist might want to refuse, such as a dosage he considers too high or the wrong drug. He said the current law, which allows him to transfer problematic requests to other pharmacists, works fine. "I don't think I should be forced to fill anything," he said.

Bryan Fischer, executive director of the Idaho Values Alliance, said that the bill is needed to give job security to pharmacists instead of forcing them to choose between their jobs and their conscience.

The bill's opponents argue that it puts pharmacists' rights above those of patients.

Idaho Women's Network lobbyist Taryn Magrini said the bill could cause problems for patients in rural towns with only one pharmacy.

Rep. Phylis King, D-Boise, said pharmacists shouldn't be able to override a treatment decision made by a doctor. "As a health care professional it's not my job to judge a patient," King said. "If you don't believe in it, you get out of the business."

Day care

finished. All About Kids has been licensed for up to 12 children since 1999, she said.

Police are now waiting for the results of an autopsy. Thueson said the investigation is probably close to wrapping up, barring any surprises from the autopsy, but that it's too early to say whether any charges may be filed.

The day care is cooperating with police, he said.

In a statement issued Thursday afternoon, Gabriel's family and relatives defended the day-care owner and said the missing autopsy results will prove no wrongdoing took place.

"As a family, we do not hold (the owner) responsible," said Sandra Reynoso, Gabriel's aunt. "We do not blame her for the loss of our sweet Gabriel. It was just his time."

The day care's owner couldn't be reached for comment on Thursday. A black pickup truck sat in the facility's driveway in the early afternoon, but no one answered the door.

State law requires different things of different-sized day cares. Those with between 7 and 12 children must be certified with the state, including fire inspections of their buildings and background checks on anyone age 12 and over with access to the children. But such facilities do not have to comply with all state licensing requirements.

All About Kids was certified, Thueson said. A bill that would require licenses for day cares with four or more children recently passed the state Senate and is currently in the House Health and Welfare Committee.

Day-care incidents generally are rare, Thueson said.

Recent examples in the Magic Valley include former Buhl day-care operator Betty Bridwell, who was accused of breaking a 3-month-old's leg and entered an Alford plea last June to misdemeanor injury to a child.

In December 2007, police investigated abuse allegations at Keri's Kids in Twin Falls, but the city prosecutor decided not to file charges.

But 12 years after Bill Fagerbakke's face largely disappeared from network TV, his voice has never been more in demand ...

The 51-year-old alumnus of ABC's "Coach" and Rupert's Minico High School is now the voice of Patrick Star, an animated star in every sense of the word on Nickelodeon's "SpongeBob Square-Pants" ... Dumber than a rusty anchor, Patrick exhorts Bob (voiced by Tom Kenney) to foolish behavior that frequently brings grief to both ...

How dumb is Patrick? He often mistakes Bob's parents for his own ...

Two years ago, Time magazine named "SpongeBob" one of the greatest 100 TV shows ever made ...

"Animator and marine-biology teacher Stephen Hillenburg translated the objects of his study into the Dadaist world of Bikini Bottom, where the title character flips Krabbie Patties, creates disasters and gets by on good-natured innocence," the magazine said ... "SpongeBob may not have a spine, or much of a brain, but he's all heart."

The franchise is also a marketing titan ... Merchandise based on the show ranges from Kraft Macaroni & Cheese,

Filer Council awards schools special use permit

By John E. Swayze
Times-News correspondent

FILER — Filer City Council members have granted the Filer School District a special use permit.

The permit allows a new intermediate school, a classroom expansion at the Filer High School and athletic field house facilities to connect to city sewer and water services. This access requires the district to pay utility fees of more than $128,000.

Drawing on the experience of construction supervisor Joe Reams and building projects undertaken by other Idaho districts, Filer had originally estimated a connection budget of $12,000 and asked the council to reduce the city fee.

"We just want to make it clear that we don't want to not pay our fair share," District Superintendent John Graham said. "But we also wanted to point out where we had budgeted and that's the reason for that."

The council waived only a $1,000 tap fee for the

"I think the school district needs to pay what we would expect everybody else to pay."

— Councilwoman Suellen Lammers proposed high school athletic field house.

"I think the school district needs to pay what we would expect everybody else to pay," Councilwoman Suellen Lammers said. "If we cut them a deal, we'll end up cutting everybody a deal. And I don't think that people in town should have to support what everybody in the school district is using."

The council is also considering the adoption of a transportation study that the city maintenance department and J-U-B Engineers in Twin Falls completed in 2006.

"The study's purpose is to create a road map for future projects," said J-U-B Engineer Ivan McCracken. "It's better to identify roadway, sidewalk and traffic signal projects early so you can be ready when federal, state and grant funding becomes available. This plan (a ranking of about 30 years of projects) helps you figure out where we are today and where you want to be."

The study could be approved by resolution during the next council meeting, set for 7:30 p.m., April 11 in the city offices.

The council approved one of the transportation projects Tuesday, a proposed $400,000 traffic signal at the intersection of U.S. Highway 30 and 2300 East next to Filer High School. School district and Twin Falls County Fair representatives are also working on resolutions they can take to individual boards for consideration.

McCracken said that the first step in this process is to nail down support from both the community and the Idaho Transportation Department, which controls half the intersection.

"If they don't like it, coming up with funding all by yourself would probably put the whole thing out of reach," McCracken said "You'll also have to do a traffic study to determine a safety need of when and how people are driving."

Once the criteria for national standards are met, the proposal can be placed on the statewide Transportation Improvement Program to be funded in one to six years.

In other action the council designated $4,000 to help purchase $12,000 in playground equipment for Kiwanis Park on the corner of Saddle and Bailey Avenue. Additional funding comes from the Filer Kiwanis Club, Filer Recreation Department, Filer Fire Department and the Filer Police Department.

"It's a pretty nice little park over there," Filer Kiwanis President-elect Bud Compher said "We've got the sprinkler system in, the grass growing and once the equipment's ordered we could probably put it up in one day."

Oakley woman killed in traffic accident

An Oakley woman died in Twin Falls County Wednesday evening when she failed to yield at an intersection and her car was hit by another vehicle.

According to Idaho State Police, at about 6 p.m. Rhea Goodrich, 84, was southbound on 4500 East and about to turn onto 2900 North. She did not yield to oncoming traffic and the driver's side of her vehicle was hit by a pickup truck driven by Alvin Buschhorn, 19, of Twin Falls.

Goodrich was killed on impact. Buschhorn only received minor injuries, though a 2-year-old passenger in his truck had seat-belt abrasions and was taken to the hospital as a precaution.

Alcohol is not thought to have been a factor, and the crash is still under investigation by ISP, with help from the Twin Falls County Sheriff's Office and paramedics.

New Web site for Idaho autism services

Donna Farmer wants Idaho families with autistic children to know where to look for services.

Farmer, who has a 9-year-old son with autism, had difficulty finding resources. She is in the final stages of finishing a Web site to help families hook up with autism service providers, support groups and related information across the state.

"It's going to be a resource guide for families suffering from autism," said Farmer, of Eagle. "Basically, it's going to be anything and everything."

At www.idahoautism.com, users will be able to look up information by regions, including those in the Magic Valley. The Web site will be officially launched on April 1, the start of Autism Awareness Month.

Farmer said she saw the need for a one-stop place to find help after her son was born.

"We lost a lot of time trying to find out what we needed to find out for our son," she said.

Other features will include sections where people can give feedback about providers.

Idaho Democrats to hold public forums

District 25 Democratic legislators will host forums to discuss the Legislature and answer public questions in Fairfield, Gooding, Hailey and Shoshone on March 28.

Representatives Wendy Jaquet, D-Ketchum and Donna Pence, D-Gooding, will attend, as well as Sen. Jon Thorson, D-Sun Valley, who is filling in for Sen. Clint Stennett, D-Ketchum.

"We know that involved citizens are the key to a successful democracy and that it's important to get out of Boise during the session and hear from our constituents," Jaquet said. "I always look forward to meeting and talking with District 25 residents."

The forums will be held at the following locations:

Fairfield: 9 a.m., breakfast at the Fairfield Senior Center, 125 Willow Ave. W.

Gooding: 11:30 a.m., lunch at Sally's Cafe, 334 Main St.

Shoshone: 2 p.m., coffee, tea and milkshakes at the Manhattan Cafe, 133 S. Rail St.

Hailey: 4 p.m., sushi at Zou 75, 721 S. Main St.

The Fairfield, Gooding and Shoshone events will be no-host events.

Free appetizers will be provided at the Hailey sushi and politics session. Each event will last between 60 and 90 minutes.

Astronauts successfully install solar wings

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Spacewalking astronauts installed the last set of solar wings at the international space station Thursday, accomplishing the top job of shuttle Discovery's mission.

Steven Swanson and Richard Arnold II struggled with some cable connections, but managed to hook everything up.

"It wasn't quite as smooth as we had hoped, but those guys did a great job," astronaut Joseph Acaba told Mission Control.

Mission Control radioed its praise: "We're delighted to accept delivery and installation."

The next milestone will be today, when the folded-up solar wings are unfurled.

Manpower was needed inside and out to attach the $300 million segment to the space station. Swanson and Arnold helped their colleagues inside the shuttle-space station complex cautiously move the 31,000-pound, 45-foot-long girder into position with a robotic arm.

"Keep coming," one of the spacewalkers said. "It really looks good to me."

The actual attachment occurred an hour into the spacewalk, and the hookups were completed two hours later.

Discovery delivered the new wings earlier this week. It's the final set of solar wings to be installed at the 10-year-old space station and will bring it to full power. It's also the last major American-made piece of the space station.

Before winding up their six-hour spacewalk, Swanson and Arnold released and removed the locks and cinches holding down the wings. That will allow the 115-foot wings to be extended on Friday, an even more nerve-racking procedure than the one Thursday. The last time astronauts tried to unfurl a solar wing in 2007, it snagged on a guide wire and ripped. Emergency repairs were required.

Six solar wings already are in place. The new ones will bring the number to eight, with four on each side.

The space station "is almost symmetric, looking forward to that becoming permanent today," Mission Control said in a wake-up message to the astronauts.

NASA needs the extra electrical power that the new wings will provide to boost the amount of research being done at the space station. The pace of science work will pick up once the number of station crew members doubles to six; that's supposed to happen in two more months.

"Give us some more power," the space station's skipper, Mike Fincke, told the spacewalkers as they floated out early in the afternoon.

By evening, the space-walkers wrapped up their work in record time. They hurled four thermal covers from the new framework out into space, away from the station, then watched from a safe distance as the accordion-style radiator on the segment unfolded.

QUOTABLE

"We, at AIG, want to believe that we are all in this together."
 — AIG chairman Edward Liddy to members of a subcommittee of the House Financial Services Committee

EDITORIAL

Let the sunshine in on URA deliberations

It's a flawed bill, but we like a proposal approved by the Idaho House Revenue and Taxation Committee this week that would hold urban renewal agencies more accountable.

The legislation, now headed for consideration by the full House, would require the Idaho Tax Commission to review proposals for new and expanded urban renewal districts, as well as annual reports by the agencies.

For more than a year, the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency pursued a controversial project that included a new downtown city hall and retail space, spending thousands of dollars on consultants and property purchases. Editorially this newspaper strongly questioned the accountability of the URA in pushing the ambitious four-block project, which has been dramatically scaled back in light of the recession.

And Twin Falls hasn't been alone. In Coeur d'Alene, the Lake City Development Corp. is under suspicion and attack. A vocal group has taken on the agency, accusing it of subsidizing wealthy developers.

And Rexburg resident and retired Brigham Young University-Idaho professor Ken Hart sued the Rexburg URA to halt its plans to spend $6.3 million on a park and swimming pool. Hart contends the URA is really an arm of city government, so the proposal should be presented as a bond issue requiring a two-thirds voter approval.

The URA bill in the Legislature "will serve the people of Idaho well if there were more eyes looking at these proposals and scrutinizing them," said its sponsor, Rep. Phil Hart, R-Athol, a leading critic of URAs in Idaho.

His legislation also mandates that any local taxing districts must approve a proposed revenue allocation area if their boundaries would overlap, and addresses a requirement that the base assessment tax rolls in revenue allocation areas not exceed 10 percent of the currently assessed valuation of all taxable property within the city's limits.

The latter are mechanisms to make it harder to create or expand urban renewal districts, and are unnecessary, in our opinion. The point is not to discourage URAs; it's to make sure they do their business in the light of day.

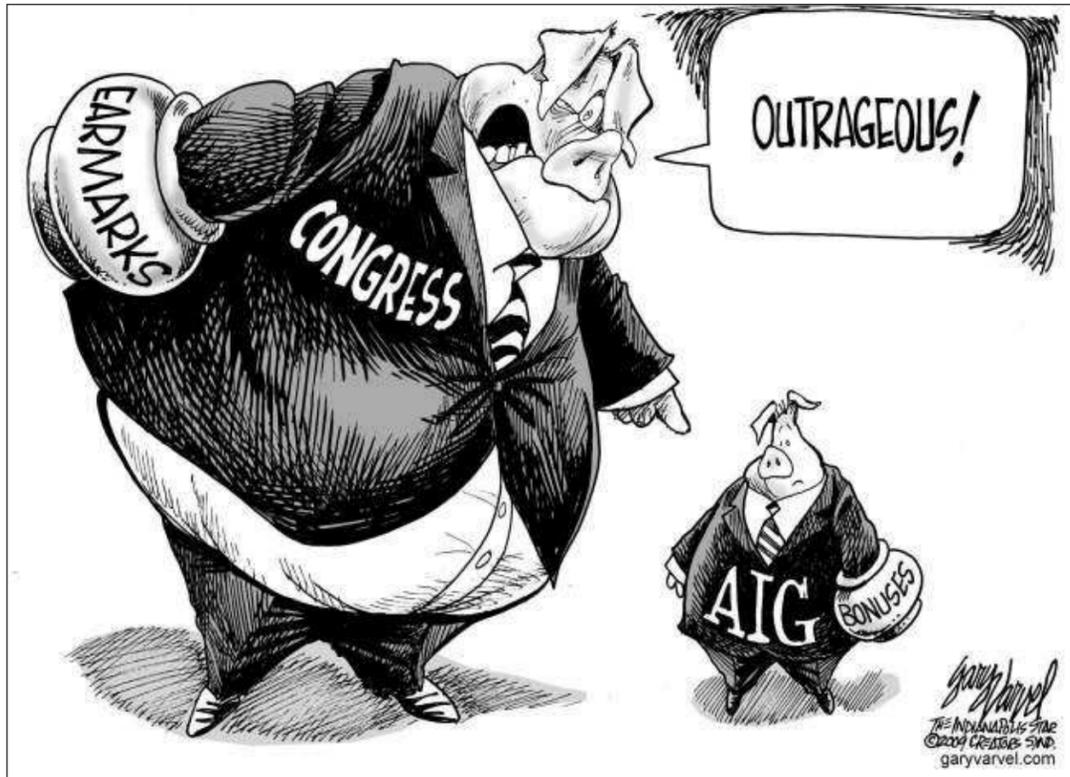

Hart's legislation faces solid opposition from Idaho's cities, so its prospects of surviving in the House and then being approved by the Senate are clouded. But the bill is a starting point for a long-neglected discussion for shining light on the shadowy deliberations of urban renewal authorities.

Our view:

Local urban renewal agencies at least should have to justify their actions in an annual report, available to the public.

What do you think?

We welcome viewpoints from our readers on this and other issues.

Washington outrage over AIG bonuses is hypocritical

When politicians get on their high horses about something, it is almost certain that a considerable amount of horse manure will get spread around.

Such is the case with the giant insurance firm American International Group, Inc., which was declared "too big to fail" during the Bush administration.

The Obama administration has denounced bonuses received by top AIG executives. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner has been jaw-boning — apparently with some success — to get AIG to re-negotiate some of the $165 million in bonuses.

Even House Financial Services Committee Chairman Barney Frank, D-Mass., who failed to provide proper oversight for some of the entities that got into financial trouble (Frank famously reported in 2003 that Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac were "fundamentally sound" mortgage lending institutions), went on the "Today" show Monday and ranted about the supposed evils of AIG.

This is all populism, of course, since the amount of money Congress wastes every minute makes what ever earned or unearned money paid to AIG employees, pale by comparison. For politicians to complain about misspent tax dollars is like one of those tabloid honeys lamenting the decline in family values.

This play within a play is ultimately not about AIG, corporate aircraft, fancy resorts and partying executives, all of which have been denounced by President Obama and members of his administration, along with many fulminating members of the media. While some people rail against "greed," some of the less affluent operate according to another of the "seven deadly sins," which is envy.

I don't care how much money someone else makes. I simply want the opportunity to make the same, or more, should I choose to.

Just how much this attitude of envy has sunk in with so many was on display last Monday on Rush Limbaugh's radio program (stay with me non-Rush fans because this is an important point no matter who makes it). A man named Nathan called the show, upset about the AIG executives who received "bailouts with taxpayer money."

After making several points and getting nowhere, Rush asked Nathan how much he would like to make. Nathan said, "$250,000." "What's keeping you from earning that much money?" asked Rush.

Nathan replied that he didn't have enough education. Rush asked him his age. Nathan answered, "31." Rush said, "The only thing keeping you from making that much money, or more, is you."

Nathan hung up. He didn't want to hear this. He'd bought the fiction that there are limited amounts of money available and if an AIG employee is making more than he is, Nathan is being deprived of money that could be his.

Limbaugh said that making $250,000 is difficult, but not impossible with the right education, experience and most importantly, persistence.

Who teaches such values today? If you don't succeed, it's someone else's fault, not yours. Others who have succeeded owe it to you to make things "fair." Instead of attending to ways in which our own lives and circumstances might be improved, too many try to bring others down to their level.

That never improves conditions for the ones at the bottom, but it makes them feel better, which is the objective of liberal politicians who want to keep people in sufficient misery so they'll continue to win their votes. It apparently doesn't occur to the miserable that they have a ticket out of their circumstances, if they will only climb aboard the right train.

Secretary Geithner wants AIG and executives at other companies that receive tax dollars to be paid according to performance.

That is a standard most of us would like to see applied to Congress, which enjoys annual pay increases no matter how much incompetence, malfeasance and misfeasance it demonstrates.

If it is a good idea to tie teacher pay to performance (and it is), it is a better idea to link the pay of politicians to performance. Look for that about the time Congress votes for term limits.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

American flags should be in good condition

For several months now, I have been paying attention to the United States flags that are on display throughout our community. I see them flying at government buildings, businesses and private homes.

It is great and makes me proud to see the flag when it is flown with respect to our nation and what it stands for.

However, in far too many instances, flags are flown in such torn and tattered conditions that they display total disrespect for our country, our freedoms and for what the flag and our nation stands for.

As a reminder, the colors on our flag have specific meaning to them: White means purity and innocence. Red is for valor and hardiness. Blue is for vigilance, perseverance and justice.

In these trying military and economic times, may I remind you that as long as the red, white and blue flies over our land, we are still one nation under God, indivisible and with liberty for all?

I am asking those that fly our United States flag to take a look at it the next time you go to work or come home and ask yourself, does the flag I am flying outside represent how I view my country, does it show the respect it deserves, does it represent the values I hold for my business and am I proud to have it flying as it looks?

In Section 8-k of the U.S. flag code, it states, "The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

If you answer no to any of these questions, please replace it or take it down. Our country, our place of business and our homes deserve better.

Fuel tax increase would hurt many

I am dead set against any raise in fuel tax. It will hurt our farmers, the trucking industry and folks that have to drive long distances to work daily. Ultimately, it affects what we all pay for goods at the checkout counter.

The Idaho Transportation Department is ineffective; more money won't fix the problem. I really could care less about all the work going on in the Boise area on I-84 with our tax dollars. This work is costing millions while ITD claims it doesn't have money for sand.

The roads in southern Idaho have been a mess this winter, some of the worst in the Nation. ITD needs dismantled and rebuilt from the top to the bottom.

Before I give more money to the ITD, it is going to have to be able to do basic things like keeping the roads cleaned off in the winter.

Why should we shovel more money to an incompetent organization? No matter how much money ITD gets, we will still have to drive on roads that are unnecessarily dangerous in the winter.

More money to ITD will not improve the roads that most of us have to drive daily, rain or shine — unless you live and drive in Boise.

I say no to fuel tax and yes to revamping ITD.

Cut Idaho's personal, corporate income taxes

Political sages keep telling us supply-side economics is dead. They say the "trickle-down" theory, which can stimulate the economy by putting money into the hands of people, is dated.

The economic theory now in vogue is to let Washington politicians spend our way out of the economic doldrums. Apparently, this is the new and creative thinking America voted for - the change we had been waiting for - solving a problem caused by extended credit by simply extending more credit.

We don't buy the new Washington economic theory. In fact, we don't believe for a minute that politicians from Washington are going to solve our economic problems, and we would be foolish in Idaho to emulate these Washington politicians. At the moment, our national and state leaders are responding to cries to do something - anything - to stop the economic bleeding. So we end up with a stimulus package that won't work and has no realistic hope of ever working.

Since December 2008, far more than $11 trillion has been allocated to create economic stimulus, with more than $2.3 trillion already spent. The Bush-Obama economic theory was enacted to get us out of the recession. So far, it has failed.

Obviously, there is not a great national groundswell for supply-side economics in the near future. But Idaho can lead the way by putting more money in the hands of businesses and individuals, and cutting government spending. We can - and we must - offer quality services for less money.

READER COMMENT

What we would like to do is make the best of that stimulus train wreck and put a significant amount of that money into the hands of individuals and businesses, those who will produce meaningful economic recovery. If we really want to stimulate the economy in Idaho and set the course for long-term economic recovery, we should significantly reduce the corporate and individual income tax.

Our individual income tax is one of the highest of our neighboring states. Idaho's corporate is among the highest in the West, not far behind California. We all know how well that is working for California.

We've heard criticism about cutting taxes from a number of sources. They wonder how to pay for the tax cuts. The answer is simple: Payment would come in the form of more businesses staying open, industries coming into the state and more people going back to work. All that would result in more money for education, transportation, health services, public safety and other programs that are important to Idahoans.

Critics, of course, would say we're trying to return to the days of supply-side economics. The critics, however, are mistaken. True supply-side economics never had a chance to live - even during the Reagan and Bush years in the White House.

The plan worked to some extent as reductions in taxes brought more money to the Treasury. Still, deficits ballooned because there was something missing from the implementation of supply-side economics even during Republican years. Government did not resist its insatiable and uncontrollable appetite for increased spending! Unfortunately, Republicans often put Democrats to shame on the spending spree. It's no wonder Americans have been demanding "change." If we take the right steps, Idaho can become an economic beacon of opportunity for the nation - a role model for other states and an example of what one state can accomplish with a sensible economic plan.

Charter schools moratorium is needed

Superintendent of Public Instruction Tom Luna has called for lifting the cap on charter schools.

I think that's the wrong idea during this current economic downturn, and I have introduced legislation to put a three-year moratorium on new charter schools.

The Senate Education Committee agreed to print Senate Bill 1085 in mid-February, but it's been languishing there ever since.

That's a shame, because it's needed at a time when Idaho's traditional public schools face historic cuts.

When a new charter school starts, most students moving to the charter school district come from the traditional school district in which the charter school district resides.

When students move to the charter school district, the money allocated per child under state formula follows the child.

Yet costs for teachers, administration, facilities, maintenance, transportation and other support functions have to be maintained as they were before, but with the shift of funds to the charter school district, the traditional district has fewer dollars to cover essential costs.

If the traditional public school district loses 1 percent of its student population during the first year of the new charter school district operation, the traditional district in which the charter school district resides will be compensated for 99 percent of the revenue lost to the charter school district. So six new charter school districts could drain about $8 million a year from K-12 schools.

SB 1085 would put a moratorium on starting new charter school districts for three years, starting July 1. If we don't do this, up to $24 million over the three years will have to be taken from state funding for K-12 schools.

If you agree that this would do grave damage to Idaho's children, contact Senate Education Committee Chairman John Goedde and ask that the committee hear SB 1085.

(Dick Sagness, a Democrat from Pocatello, represents Bannock County in the Idaho Senate).

Six words can tell you all you need to know

There's a little book that has been on my desk for months, "Six-Word Memoirs on Love & Heartbreak," inspired by Ernest Hemingway's contention that a story can be told in half a dozen words (His famous line? "For Sale: baby shoes, never worn.") The book is full of six-word tales, some good: "I thought we had more time"; "I have never been in love." Some not so good: "I told you it affects me."

"He sold his boat for me." These are my six words. He sold his boat and it was a lifetime ago, ancient history now. And it was a little boat. But it was a big act of love that I didn't recognize for a long, long time.

Not until I wrote those words. For the boat was just a boat in my eyes. But in my husband's? He could tell you the horsepower and the color of the seats and how many people it held and how much he paid for it and how much he got for it - because it was his youth, his plumage, a speedboat that he hitched to the back of his shiny GTO.

He took it to New Hampshire sometimes but mostly to the lake in Sharon, where he took me now and then. He tried to teach me to water-ski, but I continually failed.

We got married anyway. He sold the boat a few years later in the middle of a summer in order to get the money we needed to turn our garage into a family room. He was 24 and I was 23 and we had an 8-month-old whose bedroom had been our family room. I said, "We need more space." And he said, "I'll sell my boat."

And that was that. He never moaned about giving up something he loved, and I never said, "Don't" or "Are you sure?" My husband gave up his boat and picked up a hammer to please me.

The things we give up and take on for the people we love. And then we forget.

Time goes by and life goes on and there are arguments over dirty dishes in the sink, laundry that needs to be folded, kids who need to be driven to the mall, and who is in charge of the remote.

It's as if the boat thing never happened.

But it did.

It happens for everyone. Everyone who is married or living together or just going together started off sweet-talking. What do you need?

How can I help? I can do that. No problem! Flowers for no reason. Poems. Chicken soup when you're sick. It's all sunshine and roses. Until it isn't.

That's when it's important to remember the beginning.

"He sold his boat for me." This was my beginning.

Thank You

to Tom and Mary Heida and family for all your love and support, Barry Wood for just being there, and Colleen and New Life Community Church - also Charlie Bouge, my best friend. I couldn't have done it without you!

And for all you people who took things that didn't belong to you, you will meet your Maker.

House passes bill taxing AIG bonuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Denouncing a “squandering of the people’s money,” lawmakers voted decisively Thursday to impose a 90 percent tax on millions of dollars in employee bonuses paid by troubled insurance giant AIG and other bailed-out companies.

The House vote was 328-93. Similar legislation has been introduced in the Senate.

“We want our money back now for the taxpayers,” said House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif. “It isn’t that complicated.”

The outcome may not have been complicated. But the lopsided vote failed to reflect the contentious political battle that preceded it.

Republicans took Democrats to task for rushing to tax AIG bonuses worth an estimated $165 million after the majority party stripped from last month’s economic stimulus bill a provision that could have banned such payouts.

“This political circus that’s going on here today with this bill is not getting to the bottom of the questions of who knew what and when did they know it,” said House Republican Leader John Boehner of Ohio.

He voted “no,” but 85 fellow Republicans joined 243 Democrats in voting “yes.” It was opposed by six Democrats and 87 Republicans.

The bill would impose a 90 percent tax on bonuses given to employees with family incomes above $250,000 at American International Group and other companies that have received at least $5 billion in government bailout money. It would apply to any such bonuses issued since Dec. 31.

The House vote, after just 40 minutes of debate, showed how quickly Congress can act when the political will is there.

It was only this past weekend that the bailed-out insurance giant paid bonuses totaling $165 million to employees, including traders in the Financial Products unit that nearly brought about AIG’s collapse.

AIG has received $182.5 billion in federal bailout money and is now 80 percent government owned.

Disclosure of the bonuses touched off a national firestorm that both the Obama administration and Congress have scurried to contain.

Topic No. 1 raised by Republicans during the House debate was the last-minute altering of a provision in President Obama’s $787 billion stimulus law to cap executive compensation for firms receiving government bailouts.

The measure might have forestalled payment of the AIG bonuses.

But Senate Banking Committee Chairman Chris Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat and the author of the provision, says the administration insisted that he modify his proposal so that it would only apply to payments agreed to in the future.

That, critics claim, cleared the way for the AIG payouts.

“The idea came from the administration,” Dodd said Thursday.

Dodd said he was not aware of any AIG bonuses at the time the change was made.

Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner confirmed such conversations with Dodd.

Population growth slows in south-central Idaho

Region still among fastest growing in Idaho

By Joshua Palmer
Times-News writer

Population growth in south-central Idaho slowed during 2008, according to new U.S. Census Bureau estimates. However, the region still remains one of the fastest growing in the state. The population report released Thursday showed Twin Falls fell seven spots from being the fifth-fastest growing county in 2007 to become the twelfth-fastest growing county in 2008. Twin Falls County reported a growth rate of 2 percent in 2008, or more than 1,400 additional people compared to the previous year.

Population growth rates in Cassia, Jerome and Camas counties surpassed Twin Falls — Camas reported the fastest growth rate in the region at 2.7 percent.

Only 12 counties had growth rates higher than the statewide rate.

Labor officials said Idaho's population grew by about 28,000 people from 2007 to 2008, or more than 1.8 percent. Almost half the growth was the result of people moving from other states.

New jobless claims fall more than expected

By Christopher S. Rugaber
Associated Press writer

WASHINGTON — New jobless claims fell more than expected last week, but continuing claims set a new record for the eighth straight week and few economists expect the labor market to improve anytime soon.

The Labor Department said Thursday that initial requests for unemployment insurance dropped to a seasonally adjusted 646,000 from the previous week's revised figure of 658,000. That was better than analysts' expectations.

But continuing claims jumped 185,000 to a seasonally adjusted 5.47 million, another record-high and more than the roughly 5.33 million that economists expected.

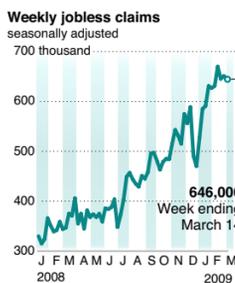

The four-week average of jobless claims rose to 654,750, the highest since October 1982, when the economy was emerging from a steep recession, though the labor force has grown by about half since then.

Economists said the signs of life that have cropped up in other areas of the economy in the past week, such as upticks in retail sales and housing starts, aren't yet apparent in the labor market.

"There is no sign of even a temporary easing in the downward pressure on employment," Ian Shepherdson, chief U.S.

Jobless claims

Initial claims for unemployment benefits decreased by 12,000 in the second week of March.

economist at High Frequency Economics, wrote in a client note.

Initial claims have topped 600,000 for seven straight weeks, a level that many economists say is consistent with another huge drop in net payrolls when the Labor Department issues its monthly employment report next month.

Net job losses could top 700,000 in March, Shepherdson said, which would bring total losses to above 5 million jobs since the recession began in December 2007.

More job cuts were announced Thursday when FedEx Corp. said it's planning an undisclosed number of layoffs as the company reported its fiscal third-quarter profit dropped 75 percent amid severe weakness in the global economy. The Memphis, Tenn.-based company also plans to scale back some workers' hours and wages.

Mexican tariffs take effect

A truck drives out of the Otay transport customs office after crossing into Mexico from the United States in Tijuana, Mexico. Mexico said it will increase tariffs on about 90 U.S. products in retaliation for last week's decision to end a pilot program that allowed some Mexican trucks to transport goods in the United States.

Lawmakers call on Obama to resolve dispute

By E. Eduardo Castillo
Associated Press writer

MEXICO CITY — U.S. officials are assessing the total cost of new Mexican tariffs in retaliation for a U.S. decision to cancel a cross-border program that gave Mexican truckers access to their northern neighbor's highways.

The tariffs affect about $2.4 billion in annual trade and 89 U.S. products, ranging from fruit and wine to washing machines, according to the Mexican government. Assistant Economy Secretary Beatriz Leycegui warned the list could grow unless there is progress toward resolving the trucking dispute.

The U.S. was required under the North American

"In good times, an economy may be able to weather this kind of thing.

But now it's devastating."

— Rep. Dave Camp of Michigan

Free Trade Agreement to grant Mexican trucks full access to its highways by January 2000, but domestic opposition led U.S. legislators to delay the opening until a pilot program allowing some trucks was instituted in 2007.

The U.S. ended that program last week — a move that Mexican Economy Secretary Gerardo Ruiz Mateos called "wrong, protectionist and a clear violation" of NAFTA. The 1994 agreement allows Mexico to introduce retaliatory tariffs equal to the amount of trade lost by the truck ban.

Many U.S. officials and exporters responded with concern.

"In good times, an economy may be able to weather this kind of thing. But now it's devastating," said Rep. Dave Camp of Michigan, whose district is home to cherry farmers, manufacturers and chemical producers such as Dow Chemical Co. that will be affected.

The tariffs apply to 36 agricultural and 53 industrial products, including onions, strawberries, shampoo, toothpaste, pet food, books, pencils and dishwashers. The only item facing a 45-percent tax is fresh grapes. Some 55 other products will be taxed at 20 percent, and the remaining 33 items at 10 to 15 percent.

NAFTA normally exempts agricultural products from such duties.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture was still assessing the cost of the tariffs.

"We have alerted all the industry associations that represent these producers, the state regional groups and agriculture trade advisory groups so that we can continue to work with them as we assess the effects the tariffs will have on the markets," said Nayyera Haq, a USDA spokeswoman.

Taking steps to make SBA loans easier to get

Small business owners who have watched banks and automakers get assistance from the government can now receive some help too.

The government is making it easier for companies to get loans from the Small Business Administration. It's eliminating fees on its most popular loans, known as 7a loans, and guaranteeing a larger portion of the amount borrowed. It's also eliminating fees on what are called CDC/504 loans.

Small businesses will also benefit from the Troubled

SMALL TALK
Joyce M. Rosenberg

Asset Relief Program, or TARP, that's been used to bail out banks. The government will use $15 billion in TARP money to buy already issued small business loans in what's known as the secondary market.

That plan, according to SBA spokesman Mike

Stamler, will enable lenders to get old loans off their books and allow them to create new ones. The slowdown in credit markets has made it harder for banks to sell their loans and move on to the next borrower.

"Maybe that pulls the twig out that's holding the logjam up," Stamler said.

Small business lending as measured by approvals of 7a loans has plunged over the past two years. In 2007, when the economy was still doing well, just over 99,600 loans totaling $14.3 billion were approved, according to the SBA. Last year, those numbers dropped off to 69,434 loans and $12.67 billion.

So far this year, loan approvals are down 50 percent from the same period of 2008. More than 15,400 loans totaling $3.2 billion have been approved.

The SBA's 7a loan program is intended to help small businesses borrow for a variety of reasons when they haven't been able to get a loan otherwise. The key feature of these is the

Mortgage rates sink; likely to fall further

By Alan Zibel
Associated Press writer

WASHINGTON — Rates on 30-year mortgages plunged this week to the lowest level since January, and may fall further after the Federal Reserve launched a new effort to prop up the flailing housing market.

Mortgage finance giant Freddie Mac said Thursday that average rates on 30-year fixed-rate mortgages dropped to 4.98 percent this week, down from 5.03 percent last week.

It was the lowest since the week of Jan. 15, when it was at 4.96 percent, the lowest point in the history of Freddie Mac's survey, which goes back to 1971.

The rate quotes included in Freddie Mac's survey were taken before the Fed

SERVICE PROJECT COMPLETED

Hormone-replacement therapy should be a temporary solution

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 72 years old. I had a hysterectomy in 1983 and have been on hormone-replacement therapy (HRT) almost since then. I have read many articles lately about the dangers of HRT, both long and short term. However, my primary-care physician is adamant that the benefits outweigh the dangers, and he continues to prescribe them for me. I respect and trust this physician and have been his patient for more than 40 years, but given the fact that my sister had a double mastectomy (of which he has been made aware), I wonder whether continued use of the hormone is safe for me. I would appreciate your thoughts on this matter.

DEAR READER: I must congratulate you on the research you have done, as you are extremely well informed.

Levels of female hormones can vary before and during menopause and can result in hot flashes and vaginal dryness. HRT is prescribed to lessen or substantially reduce those unwanted symptoms. Therapy should be prescribed in the lowest possible dose for the shortest possible time to accomplish this. On the positive side, I must say that HRT may protect a woman against osteoporosis.

On the downside, however, it can increase the risk of breast cancer, stroke and heart disease. Certain types of HRT present a higher risk, and each woman's personal risk will vary, depending on lifestyle and family history.

You have a sister who underwent double mastectomy. I don't know of a stronger family tie than that. In my opinion, you have been on HRT far too long. I am sure all symptoms of menopause have passed at this stage. If vaginal dryness is a concern, there are over-the-counter medicines available. If osteoporosis is a concern, add calcium-rich vegetables to your daily diet or take calcium supplements.

You have a legitimate and legal right to advise your physician you are stopping the medication. I would have done so a long time ago if I were you. However, giving him the benefit of the doubt, you might get a second opinion from another physician. In this way, you might feel more comfortable in going against his recommendations. If the action causes ill feelings with your long-standing physician, so be it. He's wrong. He could have taken you off the medication more than 20 years ago, if even for only a trial period. He didn't.

We are often fearful of angering a physician or someone in authority. What isn't taken into account is that you have only one body and, as long as you are in a proper frame of mind, you have every right to be in complete charge of it. Take a firm stand, advise him of your wishes, and be sure to stick to your guns. Enough is enough.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope and a check or money order for $2 to Newsletter, P.O. Box 167, Wickliffe, OH 44092. Be sure to mention the title.

Readers who would like to contact Dr. Gott, may send their mail to Dr. Gott c/o United Media, 200 Madison Ave., 4th fl., New York, NY 10016.

Emma Bernice Eldredge Dille Goates

OGDEN, UTAH — Emma Bernice Eldredge Dille Goates, 88, returned to her heavenly home on March 18, 2009, in Ogden, Utah. She left behind her pain and loneliness and went to a richly deserved reunion with her dear loved ones. Bernice will be remembered for her honesty, forthrightness, incredible work ethic and her positive attitude in the face of difficult circumstance and tragedies. She had a great love for her family and extended family. She cherishes her membership in the LDS Church.

Bernice was born March 13, 1921, in Declo. Her parents were George Gardner Eldredge and Barbara Marie Eckerdt. Her dear father died at age 68 and she devotedly cared for her mother in her later years till her death on July 5, 1994, at age 93.

Bernice married Joseph K. Dille in the Salt Lake Temple Oct. 5, 1939, and started a life of farming in Wendell. By the early 1960s, through hard work, the dairy farm became one of the largest dairies in the Magic Valley.

Their greatest joys were Verna, Carl, Wanda, Alice, Val, Lynn, Clinton and darling Paula. She said how good it was to have two loving grandparents, George and Rose Dille, right across the road, who so lovingly helped raise their family in so many ways. They had many great years of work and family fun with all the uncles, aunts, cousins and friends coming to the farm for great times.

In 1964, mainly because of Joe's allergies, they traded their farm for a motel, so with Val, Lynn, Clinton and Paula, they moved to Tucumcari, N.M. On Nov. 16, 1965, our dear Paula, 3, drowned in the motel swimming pool. With their incredible faith and fortitude, after a short stay in Iowa, they moved back to Idaho to start over.

Bernice always had a great love for learning. In 1971, she graduated from ISU with honors in education and accounting.

In 1973, while Joe was working on the Kimberly LDS Church farm, they bought their own farm in Hansen, with Joe's talents and help from Carl, Val, Lynn and Clinton; it became a very successful farm.

On April 16, 1976, Joe was killed in an automobile accident. Bernice faced this with her incredible spirit.

After 10 years of widowhood, traveling and keeping busy and working for Dr. Pond, she married Max Lynn Goates and inherited a lovely family of three daughters, two sons and their families, Sandra (Vernon) Freeman, Renee (James) Rogerson, Diana Goates, Brent (LeAnn) Goates and Michael (Susan) Goates. They spent many hours doing genealogy, temple work, and traveling to family reunions, weddings, graduations and missionary farewells. She always remembered everyone on their birthday and at Christmas. Her wonderful meals and a comfortable bed were enjoyed by many and her Thanksgiving dinners will always be treasured! She will be dearly missed.

Bernice had a memorable 80th birthday celebration, and we all marveled at how great she looked and all she could do. She said everything went downhill after age 85. Max became her constant care giver even though he was having health problems, which was diagnosed in January 2008 as cancer, and he died two months later on March 16, 2008, at his daughter, Renee's home in Layton, Utah. Bernice went to live with her daughter and son-in-law, Jay and Wanda Ney in Ogden, where she was lovingly cared for.

Bernice leaves behind a great legacy; eight children, 40 grandchildren, 61 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren. She is survived by her children, Verna and Jerry Medinas, Carl and LaNeice Dille, Wanda and Jay Ney, Alice and Duane Nielsen, Val and Charlotte Dille, Lynn and Dea Dille, and Clinton and Anna Dille; and also survived by her brother, Max and Rosenea Eldredge; her sister, Marjorie and Harvey Knuteson, brothers-in-law, Lewis and Edith Dille and Tharon and the late Alisha Dille; sisters-in-law, Vivian and Ray Bray, and Ruth and the late Merthin Dille; and numerous nieces, nephews, cousins and their families.

She is preceded in death by those mentioned above; her infant grandson, Joey Hugh Nielsen, son of Alice and Duane Nielsen; and Derek Dille, 16, son of Anna and Clinton Dille; and two brothers, Edgar and Donald Eldredge.

The funeral will be held at 1 p.m. Monday, March 23, at the Kimberly LDS 2nd Ward, 222 Birch S. in Kimberly. The family will greet friends and family one hour prior to the service at the church. Interment will be at Sunset Memorial Park in Twin Falls. Services are under the direction of Leavitt's Mortuary in Ogden, Utah. Online condolences may be sent to the family at www.leavittsmortuary.com.

Jovita Salinas

KIMBERLY — Jovita Salinas, 100, passed away peacefully Wednesday, March 18, 2009, at Oak Creek Rehabilitation Center in Kimberly.

Jovita was born Feb. 15, 1909, as Jovita Fuentes in Rosita Coahila, Mexico. She married Ventura Salinas in 1927. Jovita moved to Twin Falls in 1954, where she resided since that time.

Jovita was a dedicated homemaker and mother who loved to garden and to travel, especially back to Mexico to see her family. Jovita's grandchildren especially remember her love of bright colors and jewelry and her gift of making homemade "leche quemada" candy. Jovita was joined by many members of her family in celebration of her 100th birthday on Feb. 15, 2009.

Jovita is survived by her children; Librado (Irma), Altigracia, Manuel (Bertha), Encarnacion (Carmela), Ventura (Maria) and Roberto (Paula); 31 grandchildren, 58 great-grandchildren, and 36 great-great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, Ventura, and two sons.

The family would like to give special thanks to the staff at Oak Creek Rehabilitation Center. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to La Posada Inc., 355 Fourth Ave. W. in Twin Falls. Donations may be left with funeral chapel staff or mailed to Reynolds Funeral Chapel, P.O. Box 1142, Twin Falls, ID 83303-1142.

A prayer vigil with rosary will take place at 7 p.m. Friday, March 20, at Reynolds Funeral Chapel, with Margarita Partida reciting. The funeral Mass will take place at 11 a.m. Saturday, March 21, at St. Edward the Confessor Catholic Church, with Father Camillo Garcia as celebrant. Friends may call from 4 p.m. until the time of the rosary Friday at Reynolds Chapel.

Kip Householder

PAUL — Kip Householder, 45-year-old Paul resident, passed away Wednesday, March 18, 2009, in his home.

Kipp was born July 20, 1963, in Burley, to Jim and Dawnee. After growing up in Albion and graduating from Declo, Kipp moved to Burley with his family and finally settled in Paul after his accident.

Kipp worked at Stone's Coin Machines and TCI Cable. He loved being outdoors camping and hunting and enjoyed working with his hands as much as possible on cars, model airplanes, dirt bikes and computers. He also loved spending time with his children and teaching them the things he loved.

He is survived by his children, Skye, 26, of Paul; Tawnee, 19, of Chewelah, Wash.; Tyson, 22, of Colville, Wash., and Mario, 28, of Paul; his mother, Dawnee Goodman of Boise; sisters, Krystal of Boise and Tanya of Utah; one brother, Kelly (Christine) of Boise; two nephews; grandfather, Harold Carraway of Boise; and many extended family members. He was preceded in death by his father, Jim; stepmother, Marty; stepfather, Clyde; and grandmothers, Wanda and Estelle.

The family would like to thank Dr. Swanson, Michelle and his many other caregivers, and the many friends who were a part of his life.

A celebration of his life with a potluck will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 21, at his home at 228 E. Clark in Paul. Cremation arrangements are under the direction of Hansen Mortuary in Rupert. Condolences may be left to the family at <http://www.hansen-mortuary.com>.

Brett 'Spiffie' Hanway

Brett "Spiffie" Hanway, 35, of Twin Falls, passed away Monday, March 16, 2009, in Twin Falls.

He was born Sept. 24, 1973, in Washington, D.C., to Lewis and Barbara Hanway. Brett met Debbie Sousa in October 1996, and they spent 12 years creating a beautiful life and family together. To this union, two daughters, Tyra and Bryanna, and a beautiful son, Daryl, (who blessed us all for just a short time) were born.

In addition to his two daughters, Tyra and Bryanna, he is survived by his parents, Lewis and Barbara Hanway; brother, Robert (Rhoda) Hanway; sister, Kathy (Jeff) Logan; significant other, Janie Hamilton; several nieces and nephews; and a wonderful assortment of very special friends.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, March 21, at Parke's Magic Valley Funeral Home, 2551 Kimberly Road in Twin Falls. A graveside inurnment will follow at the Twin Falls Cemetery Memorial Columbarium. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the "Tyra and Bryanna Hanway Donation" fund at any Zions Bank.

Court blocks rule allowing guns in national parks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge on Thursday blocked a federal rule allowing people to carry concealed, loaded guns in national parks and wildlife refuges.

The decision by U.S. District Judge Colleen Kollar-Kotelly overturns a rule issued in the waning days of the Bush administration.

The rule, which took effect Jan. 11, and allowed visitors to carry a loaded gun into a park or wildlife refuge as long as the person had a permit for a concealed weapon and the state where the park or refuge was located allowed concealed firearms. Previously, guns in parks had been severely restricted.

The Obama administration had said it was reviewing the Bush rule but had defended it in court.

A spokeswoman for Interior Secretary Ken Salazar declined to comment Thursday, citing the ongoing court case.

The Bush administration issued the gun rule in December in response to letters from half the Senate asking officials to lift the restrictions on guns in parks, which were adopted by the Reagan administration in the early 1980s.

The rule went further than a draft proposal issued a year ago and would have allowed concealed weapons even in parks located in states that prohibit the carrying of guns in state parks.

Just right for you!

Clancy Carter

Clancy Carter, Manager of the Twin Falls cemetery and Head Cemetarian has been with the Parke's Magic Valley Funeral Home and Crematory and Twin Falls Cemetery for the past 11 years. He opens or supervises the opening of every grave, keeps records of the cemetery and oversees personally a wide variety of operations that involve the day-to-day maintenance of running the cemetery. Clancy is one of our most valuable employees at Parke's Funeral Home. Clancy and his wife, Tara and sons Kyle and Cameron live in Twin Falls. They are very happy to call Twin Falls and the Magic Valley home. Clancy grew up in Buhl and has lived in this area for close to 20 years. He is one of the people you will see, if you ever have a need and he generally works every service at the funeral home in one capacity or another. We at Parke's feel blessed to have Clancy as part of our funeral home family.

GREGG MIDDLEKAUFF'S QUOTE OF THE DAY

PUERTO RICO
Ex-Bush admin. official: Many at Gitmo are innocent

SAN JUAN — Many detainees locked up at Guantanamo were innocent men swept up by U.S. forces unable to distinguish enemies from noncombatants, a former Bush administration official said Thursday.

"There are still innocent people there," Lawrence B. Wilkerson, a Republican who was chief of staff to then-Secretary of State Colin Powell, told The Associated Press. "Some have been there six or seven years."

Wilkerson, who first made the assertions in an Internet posting on Tuesday, told the AP he learned from briefings and by communicating with military commanders that the U.S. soon realized many Guantanamo detainees were innocent but nevertheless held them in hopes they could provide information for a "mosaic" of intelligence.

"It did not matter if a detainee were innocent. Indeed, because he lived in Afghanistan and was captured on or near the battle area, he must know something of importance," Wilkerson wrote in the blog. He said intelligence analysts hoped to gather "sufficient information about a village, a region, or a group of individuals, that dots could be connected and terrorists or their plots could be identified."

country's national statistics agency said Thursday the economy is shrinking at the fastest pace in more than 30 years.

The Interior Ministry said 1.2 million protesters turned out for about 200 protest marches around the country. Union officials put that figure at 3 million and said that 350,000 marched through the capital.

WASHINGTON
Ex-Nazi guard living in Wisconsin deported

A former Nazi concentration-camp guard was deported from Wisconsin to Austria on Thursday, despite objections from his lawyer that the guard was simply present at the camp but committed no acts of persecution.

Prosecutors said 83-year-old Josias Kumpf (yoh-SEE'-uhs KOOMF) served as a guard at the Sachsenhausen (ZAHK'-zen-how-zen) concentration camp in Nazi-occupied Poland and slave labor sites in occupied France.

U.S. investigators alleged that he participated in a 1943 mass shooting in Poland in which 8,000 Jewish men, women and children were murdered in pits at Trawniki in a single day.

"Josias Kumpf, by his own admission, stood guard with orders to shoot any surviving prisoners who attempted to escape an SS massacre that left thousands of Jews dead," Acting Assistant Attorney General Rita Glavin said in a statement.

Peter Rogers, Kumpf's immigration attorney, said Kumpf was stationed at Trawniki, "but he never laid a finger on anyone, he never shot at anyone."

once stalked by the fearsome tyrannosaurus rex. In 2000, he famously discovered a mummified, 77-million-year-old duckbilled hadrosaur known as Leonardo, considered the best preserved in the world.

But after previously denying wrongdoing, court documents filed Wednesday show Murphy has reached a plea deal on a federal charge that he stole bones from public land near Malta. Prosecutors have not disclosed how many were taken.

He faced up to 10 years in prison if convicted.

Murphy's case offers a rare glimpse into the illicit underside of paleontology, in which wealthy collectors are willing to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars for rare or unusual specimens. This weekend, a 150-million-year-old dryosaurus fossil taken from private land in Wyoming is expected to be auctioned for up to $500,000 in New York through the I.M. Chait Gallery.

School accused of staging fights

DALLAS — The Dallas school system was rocked by allegations Thursday that staff members at an inner-city high school made students settle their differences by fighting bare-knuckle brawls inside a steel cage.

The principal and other employees at South Oak Cliff

High knew about the cage fights and allowed the practice to continue, according to a 2008 report by school system investigators.

"More than anything, I'm in shock and disbelief — shocked that this could ever occur and shocked that it would be condoned by a professional administrator," said Jerome Garza, a member of the Dallas school board.

The report, first obtained by The Dallas Morning News, describes two instances of fighting in an equipment cage in a boys' locker room between 2003 and 2005.

Mini-Cassia's mega talent

A sampling from the First Thursday studio tours

Story and photos by Melissa Davlin • Times-News

Looking for an art-filled outing?
If you're free on the first Thursday of every month, Mini-Cassia is the place to be.

On the first Thursdays, artists in the Burley area open their studios to the public to show off and sell their wares. Between ceramics, metal sculptures, graphic prints and paintings, there is something for everyone's taste and budget. Watch the Times-News' Entertainment section each month for details.

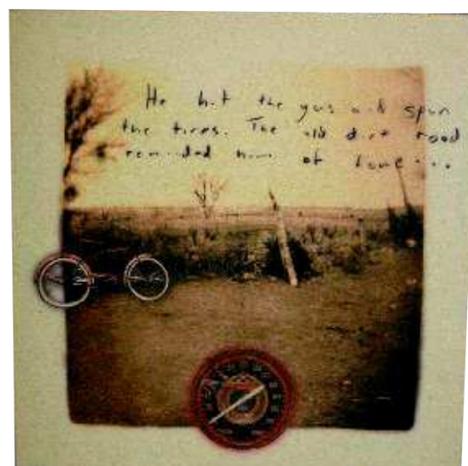

Here are my picks — an appealing assortment of these artists' offerings.

'Old Dirt Heel'

Graphic print on linen, $390, by Sean Fox, 208-878-4949

Southern Idaho native Sean Fox recently opened a studio to produce graphic linen prints, stretched on wooden frames. The bold, modern images come in limited edition series, and each is numbered and signed.

Fox sells a lot of his work to furniture and home accessory stores, but southern Idaho residents can buy wholesale from him out of his studio. Lucky for us, too. His prints are perfect for anyone who wants to make a statement with their art collection.

Palm trees on Snake River mussel shell

$10, by Donna Arbogast, 208-678-5056

'He Dreams His Ex-Wife in the Grave'

Oil, $396, by Heywood Williams, 208-679-1065

When Donna Arbogast was a child, her father taught her to look for images in the clouds. As a painter, she uses that skill to look for pictures on natural canvases, then exposes those images with oil paint.

In Snake River mussel shells, she saw flowers, palm trees and Christ. On a board of plywood, she saw dogs — their eyes and noses represented by knots and swirls in the wood.

Arbogast also uses traditional canvases to portray gorgeous images of Idaho scenery. All of her art is displayed primarily in her Burley studio, along with her daughter Heywood Williams' work. Williams' style is more abstract, while Arbogast's is a bit more traditional. Both are worth the visit to First Thursday.

Oil painting

$432, by Everett Spencer, 208-436-5888

When you pull up to Everett Spencer's Rupert home, chances are an array of cats will greet you. You may notice one kitten with streaks of blue in his white fur.

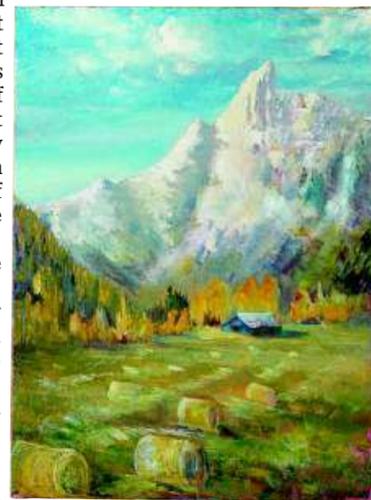

The tiny feline is just as interested in color theory as Spencer. Last week, he got into Spencer's paints and rolled around in them.

"He tracked it all over," including on the new carpet, said Spencer's wife, Judy.

The colorful kitty is just an introduction to Spencer's vivid work. Spencer, who uses oil for his Idaho landscapes, draws much of his inspiration from fellow Northwest artists.

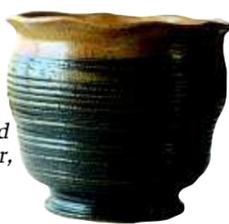

Spencer describes himself as critical of his work, and strives to constantly improve.

"I work on that sucker until something clicks in here and says OK," he said, motioning to his head.

Pot

Speckled buff clay and glaze, $16, by Nicole Maier, 208-219-1384

Cabbage jar

Speckled buff clay and glaze, $75, by Kathleen Hawkins, 208-878-2222

Nicole Maier and Kathleen Hawkins met at a College of Southern Idaho pottery class. They opened a joint studio on Maier's property outside Burley last year, and have been throwing themselves into the art since.

Both ceramic artists like experimenting with different techniques, glazes and clays, but they often fall back on their favorites. Maier prefers crackle glazes, while Hawkins loves rich colors. Their studio is filled with pots, tea cups, bowls and jars to fit any ceramic lover's taste.

'Genesis 1'

Oils, $300 each, by Marilyn Miller, 208-878-7540

Marilyn Miller's sunny studio is in the side yard of the home she grew up in. Her parents built it for her in 1991 before they died.

Although she does still lifes and landscape paintings, much of Miller's most striking work is religious in nature. Her series "Genesis 1" depicts abstract scenes from the first book of the Bible.

While visiting Miller's studio, make sure to say hi to her chihuahua, Lily. If you're lucky, the diminutive dog will treat you to her soprano singing. Looks like Miller isn't the only talented one in the family.

Tree

Exhaust pipes and paint, $1,500, by Scott Razee, 208-678-8125

A quick tour of his property outside Burley will change that impression, however. His office is filled with metal art both whimsical and traditional. Most of it is western, like metal depictions of cattle skulls, trees and elk. Others, like a chic hair dryer and curling iron holder, appeal to a different audience.

"If you just want to do western, you're limiting yourself pretty good," Razee said.

Razee uses recycled metal and found items for much of his work, like fire pits out of oil barrels or chandeliers from old wooden tires. For a real treat, visit his outdoor pasture of large sculptures. A park bench fashioned from a '57 Chevrolet and a fountain made from a '59 Studebaker are just some of the highlights.

An honest boy among thieves, on the Oakley stage

By Judy Albertson
Times-News writer

Director Harlo Clark will lead a cast of 31 kids and 23 adults as Oakley Valley Arts Council presents "Oliver," the classical Dickens tale of a London orphan, opening Thursday at Howells Opera House in Oakley.

"There are 20 young people under the age of 14 — they're in the orphanage. Ten of the older ones are in Fagin's den," Clark said.

Young Oliver Twist, played by Jordan Nilsson, has spent 13 years growing up in a charity workhouse of orphans run by the heartless Mr. Bumble and the greedy Widow Corney.

Daring to ask for a second helping of gruel, Oliver is soon sold to Mr. and Mrs. Sowerberry, the local undertakers, to work as a coffin follower. However, the undertaker's apprentice has no liking for Oliver, and after a scuffle Oliver escapes to the streets of London. Hungry and homeless, he is befriended by a boy who introduces himself as The Artful Dodger, played by Michael Phipps. Dodger invites Oliver to meet his family, who turn out to be a gang of thieves run by a wizard of pickpocketry named Fagin, played by John Craner. Fagin takes a liking to young Oliver and invites him to be part of the gang.

Oliver soon meets Nancy, played by Lisa Koziol, another of Fagin's older pupils, who takes an instant liking to him. After a brief lesson, Oliver sets out to earn his keep. His first attempt goes badly when trying to relieve Mr. Brownlow, a wealthy older man, of his wallet. Oliver is caught in the act — and the scene is set for a struggle between the worlds of respectability and crime.

Working with a younger cast was not new for Clark, who directed "Annie"

NEXT WEEK

Watch next week's Entertainment section for a special package of Times-News photos from the Oakley production of "Oliver."

"It's always a challenge to work with youth. It's a little harder for them to understand directing and how they look on the stage. It takes a little more time to get that across to them. And the older ones have really been easy to work with," Clark said.

One of the special challenges of this performance is that the leading actor, Nilsson, lives in Grouse Creek, Utah. "He goes to school there. It's grades 6-8 and there are only 14 students. That's an hour's drive each way," Clark said.

Nilsson's teachers, Cathe and Duane Runyan, are also in the play, so they have helped Nilsson with his part.

"He studies lines during the day for that evening, and on the drive to the theater. His grandmother also lives in Burley and is part of the cast," Clark said.

Clark was approached about four years ago by Zane Mitton, his assistant director in this production, to direct this play.

"Between my wife and I, we have probably been involved in about a dozen productions for OVAC," Clark said.

Watch old moving pictures of rural Idaho at Brown Bag Lecture

Times-News

Curtis W. Johnson will speak on "Preserving Visual Records of Pioneer Resiliency in a Changing Rural World to Modern Day" as Magic Valley Arts Council presents the third lecture of the 2009 Brown Bag Lecture Series.

It's set for noon March 27 at the Twin Falls Public Library.

The program shows early moving pictures of ranch and family life in south-central Idaho from a time when traditional practices and activities were changing with mechanization. The films are from an extensive collection of Gladys Stricker, daughter of 1870s pioneers Herman and Lucy Stricker.

Johnson will narrate the film with a look at family dynamics of the time.

the Oregon Trail in what is now Magic Valley. Then, as now, the area was a major transportation crossroads to the Pacific Northwest. The Stricker Store and homesite is now owned by the Idaho State Historical Society.

Film topics include: harvesting potatoes by hand in the early 1950s; cattle ranching in early Idaho circa late 1940s; the 1963 Idaho centennial celebration at the Stricker Ranch; community parades, dedications and memorials around Magic Valley; entertainment of rural Idaho; and lost agricultural techniques.

Johnson has been president of Friends of Stricker Inc. since 2003. As the great-great-grandson of Herman and Lucy Stricker, Johnson has spent more than 15 years researching and documenting historical facts and photographs concerning the Stricker home-site and family history.

The free lecture is open to the public, and organizers encourage attendees to bring a bag lunch. To pre-order a box lunch, call the arts council at 734-2787 by Thursday afternoon.

Young musicians highlighted during honor concert

Times-News

More than 700 performances in voice, strings, winds, piano and instrumental ensembles made up the Twin Falls Junior Music Club festival, March 7 and 14.

Just 17 of those performances were chosen for the festival's honor concert, held at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts theater, giving Magic Valley an opportunity to see a few rising stars among its youth musicians.

Those making the cut included pianists Andrew Greenman, Sarah Brown, Jonathan Rasmussen, Truman Whitney, Merissa Berry, Elizabeth Papac and Maggi Jones. Vocalists were Nick Overton, Tiffany Long, Andrew Bortz and Bryce Allen; Tillie Millican was invited to sing but was not able to perform. String players were Nicole Allen on cello and violinists Jennifer Allen and Kelli Waite. Haley Peterson on flute and a clarinet quartet of Hannah Biedenbach, Jared Berry, Courtney Lowe and Linda Aufderheide rounded out the instrumental performances.

While not accompanied by an invitation to perform at the honor concert, honorable mentions were given to pianists Chelsea Stevens and Lauren Smith and to vocalists Alexandra Drummond, Kambrie Nield, Rachel Williams and Jacqueline Brennan.

These musicians were chosen by festival judges for giving stand-out performances, and the club considers them the cream of the crop among festival participants.

Half a century of musical theater

Times-News

Half a century ago, a few arts lovers decided the young city of Twin Falls needed musical theater, and they made it happen.

Since then, the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley has produced 51 shows, raised money toward construction of a civic auditorium, helped give birth to Magic Valley Symphony and Magic Valley Chorale and donated more than $150,000 in scholarships to promote the arts in Magic Valley.

Some of the early Dilettantes gathered last week for a reunion in downtown Twin Falls, as their successors performed once again at the College of Southern Idaho.

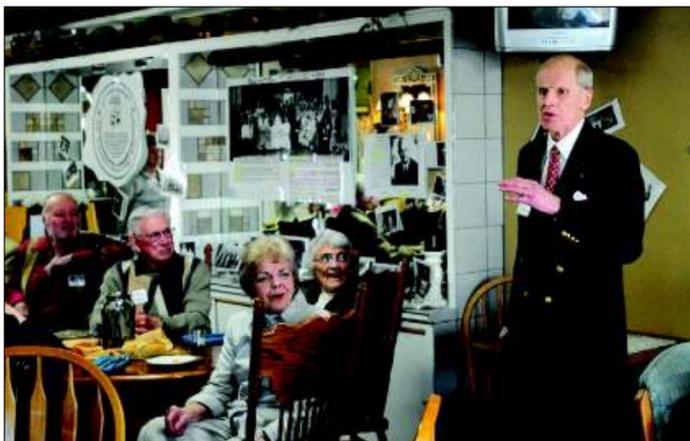

Helen Lee takes a quick photograph of Diane and Brad Hickerson during the Dilettante Group reunion. 'Once a Dilettante, always a Dilettante,' David Mead, one of the founders, said before the reunion. 'Some of the 'older' group are coming from Hawaii, Minnesota, Iowa and many from the Treasure Valley. Many have not seen each other for decades.'

Photos by JUSTIN JACKSON/Times-News

An old photograph of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley performing hangs on the wall during a reunion of the group's early members, held the evening of March 13 at Catering House in Twin Falls. Participants planned to attend 'My Fair Lady' the next night — the Dilettantes' 51st annual musical.

David Mead, right, speaks at the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley reunion. He and his wife, Marty, were among four couples who put up the money to produce the group's first show, 'Carousel,' in March 1959.

Project asks you to consider modern farming – and your own eating

Times-News

The Sun Valley Center for the Arts is inviting southern Idaho to take a close look at what's on the dinner table.

The Center's new multidisciplinary project, "Farming in the 21st Century," explores the changing nature of farming through visual arts exhibitions in Ketchum and Hailey, panel discussions, a film, classes and even a local canning competition.

"As we began to talk about doing a project around the idea of farming it became clear that it was hard to separate farming from a larger discussion about what we eat and how it connects to our health and the health of the planet," said Kristin Poole, The Center's artistic director, in a press release. "People are questioning the nature of agriculture as the world becomes sensitive to the carbon footprint of each citizen. Will we see the rise of small-scale organic farming after a century in which family farms were absorbed into agribusiness?"

Last fall, The Center offered a sold-out lecture by Michael Pollan, author of "In Defense of Food" and "The Omnivore's Manifesto," as a kind of appetizer to the "Farming in the 21st Century" project.

"The phenomenal response to Michael Pollan's lecture was confirmation for us that we had landed on a topic that was not only of issue throughout the world but also top of mind in our own health-conscious community, where people are concerned about ways to tread more lightly on the planet," Poole said.

Exhibition in Ketchum

In The Center's Ketchum facility, the "Farming in the 21st Century" exhibit will open March 27 and run through May 23. Poole said it was surprisingly easy to line up an exhibition of contemporary art that touched on the topic of farming.

"I started with Julie Moos, who in 2001 and 2002 made a series of monumental-scale, formal portraits of pairs of farmers – husbands and wives, fathers and sons, brothers – who all use Monsanto products in the Midwest," she said in the release. "Her model for her documentary approach was James Agee's and Walker Evans' work in 'Let Us Now Praise Famous Men' (1941). Although Moos, unlike Agee and Evans, did not set out to make political work, at the time there were news stories about Monsanto's use of bioengineered seeds and how this was making it impossible for people to farm successfully outside of a corporation.

It's never explicit in her photos, but there is this underlying sense of a disconnect between the people and the setting."

A CROP OF RELATED EVENTS

Classes, a film, panel discussions and a free Family Day activity complement the Farming in the 21st Century exhibition.

Film: "King Corn" with producer/actor Curt Ellis; 7 p.m. Thursday, Community Library, Ketchum; free. "King Corn" is a documentary film about two college buddies, Curt Ellis and Ian Cheney, who move to the heartland to better understand where their food comes from. Ellis will be present to answer questions.

Class: "Grow Better Vegetables," 5:30-7:30 p.m. April 9, Sawtooth Botanical Garden; $15 for members of the Sun Valley Center and Sawtooth Botanical Garden; $20 for non-members.

Learn how to grow a successful garden in this high-altitude climate. To register, call the garden at 726-9358.

Panel discussion: "Idaho Farming Today," with local growers; 7 p.m. April 16, Community Library, Ketchum; free.

Panelists Mary Roling from Morning Owl Farms, Janie Burns from Home Grown Poultry, Mike Heath from M&M Heath Farms and Jeff and Carol Rast from Prairie Star Farms will discuss how they farm, the challenges they face, the hopes they have for sustainable farming in the future and the ways in which eaters affect these issues.

Trip: Hagerman Valley Greenhouse Tour, presented by Idaho's Bounty Co-op; 1-7 p.m. April 18; $30 (includes transportation & samples). Tickets available from Idaho's Bounty, 721-8074 or www.idahos-bounty.org.

The co-op is hosting a tour of Hagerman Valley greenhouses that take advantage of local geothermal energy.

Teen workshop: "Digital Photography" with Dev Khalsa; 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 18, The Center, Hailey; $10, pre-registration required.

Students will visit local farms and photograph the valley's food growers as they go about their business.

Class: "Beyond the Garden: Cooking Locally" with Raspberry's Catering; 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 2, Wood River High School; $75 for members, $125 for non-members. Cost of food will be added. Registration deadline is April 17.

Visit a local farm, then join the experts from Raspberry's Catering as they teach you how to prepare delicious but uncomplicated recipes featuring local, seasonal and mostly organic ingredients.

Family day: "Farming in the 21st Century," 3-5 p.m. May 2, The Center, Hailey; free.

Families will have an opportunity to tour the show in Hailey, talk about the artwork and create a portable garden of their own.

Panel discussion: "Eating in the 21st Century," presented by Community Rising; 7 p.m. May 21, The Center, Ketchum; free.

We no longer have to wait until spring for asparagus or summertime for berries, but the price we pay for this luxury is enormous. Community Rising partners with The Center to lead a discussion on the growing movement toward local, sustainable food choices.

Festival: Idaho's Bounty Locavore's Special; CK's, April 6-12; Glow (lunch), April 13-19; Globus, April 13-19; 310 Main, April 20-26; Ketchum Grill, April 27 to May 3; and Ciro's, May 4-10.

Enjoy fresh, sustainably grown and raised food from southern Idaho and Idaho's Bounty producers, prepared by seven local chefs at participating restaurants. Purchase a $20 pass toward 10 percent off those menu items for the six-week festival. Proceeds go to the Sun Valley Center for the Arts and Idaho's Bounty Co-op. Or just stop in and enjoy a new special prepared with local foods at a participating restaurant during the festival weeks.

Information about the multidisciplinary project: www.sunvalleycenter.org or 726-9491, ext. 10.

Poole also chose painters Michael Gregory and Geoff Krueger.

"I have known of and admired Michael's realist paintings of barns, silos and country churches for a long time. They are beautiful, haunting pictures, and even though there are no animals or people in them it's clear that these are farm buildings. If you grew up in the Midwest like I did, then these buildings seem to be a natural part of the landscape – not an intrusion like a skyscraper would be," Poole said.

Geoff Krueger, a Boise-based painter, shows a personal response to growing up in Southern California and his memories of lush fields that are now suburban strip malls.

"There's something almost ghostlike about the figures in his paintings," Poole said. "They sort of disappear around their knees, which matches his memory of seeing workers kneeling or bent over amid crops so that the lower part of their body wasn't visible."

Rounding out the exhibition is Montana-based artist Tracy Linder, who grew up on a farm near Billings, Mont. She received her fine arts degree the same year her family lost their farm, and much of her art is an homage to family farming.

The Center is displaying shovels that Linder fashioned out of beeswax and leather gloves coated with resin and wax.

"Her art is about the labor of farming. She takes dirty work gloves, worn overalls and tools that are crucial to farmwork and treats them like devotional objects," Poole said.

In Ketchum, gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The gallery will also be open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 28. Admission is always free. Free exhibition tours are given at 2 p.m. every Tuesday or by appointment.

A special evening gallery tour will be at 5:30 p.m. April 16.

A closing celebration will be held from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. May 23, with drinks and hors d'oeuvres from local producers and a tasting and award presentation for the local canning competition. The gallery will stay open until 8 p.m. that day for Ketchum's Gallery Walk.

Exhibition in Hailey

"Everything Forgotten," paintings by Chris Binion, will be on display at The Center's Hailey facility from April 3 to May 29.

Boise-based painter Chris Binion has spent much of his career painting still lifes, but a trip to Fairfield inspired a new body of work. This series of watercolors depicts the architecture of farming: barns, grain silos and the other structures that dot the agricultural landscape. Binion places these buildings against white backgrounds, eliminating their surroundings. He writes that "the familiarity of these totem-like objects carries the memory of the landscape."

An opening celebration with drinks and appetizers is set for 5:30-7 p.m. April 3; Binion will speak about his paintings at 6 p.m.

Get your dose of barbershop harmony next weekend in Burley

By Judy Albertson
Times-News writer

BURLEY – The Snake River Flats Barbershop Chapter of the Barbershop Harmony Society will present "Love Makes The World Go Around" next weekend in Burley.

The Mini-Cassia chapter, celebrating 41 years of barbershop harmony, was chartered in 1968 with The Society For Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQSA).

With 16 members, it has one charter member still singing.

The national group's long name "must have been a little bit too much because now they focus on Barbershop Harmony Society," said Paul Brown, the chapter's marketing and publicity chairman.

This year the evening will highlight the award-winning quartet Hangtime from Salt Lake Valley. Also appearing will be The Snake River Flats Barbershop Chorus, School Board Quartet, 4 Sure Quartet and Oakley High School quartets.

The local group will sing "God Bless the USA," "Five Foot Two," "Till we Meet Again," "Amazing Grace" and "Keep The Whole World Singing"; 4 Sure Quartet will sing "MOTHER" and "Mary Lou"; and Oakley High quartets will sing "Good Night Sweetheart, Good Night."

This annual event is Snake River Flats' only fundraiser. Although they sing at numerous functions, they do not charge a fee.

"We consider ourselves a service club," Brown said.

HARMONIOUS

- What: Snake River Flats Barbershop Chapter of the Barbershop Harmony Society presents "Love Makes The World Go Around"
- When: 2 and 7:30 p.m. March 28
- Where: King Fine Arts Center, 2100 Parke Ave., Burley
- Admission: general, $6; seniors, $5; students, $3; and families, $18. Tickets are available at Golden Heritage Senior Center, Welch Music and the Book Plaza in Burley; Minidoka County Senior Center and The Book Store in Rupert; from any member or at the door.

The Flats are known to perform for Memorial Day celebrations, Festival of Trees, funerals, weddings, care centers, parades and other special occasions. They are also available to deliver singing valentines and Mother's Day songs.

"We contribute to Special Olympics and music education in local schools," Brown said.

SPEBSQSA was founded in 1938, when Tulsa tax attorney Owen C. Cash ran into a Tulsan investment banker, Rupert I. Hall, in a Kansas City hotel lobby, stranded when a storm closed the airport. Striking up a few chords (after tipping the bellboy to find them a tenor), the men bemoaned the decline of the barbershop quartet.

They formed a club gaining more than 2,000 men the first year. The lengthy name and initials was Cash's way of poking fun at the New Deal's alphabet soup of initialed government agencies.

The dozen that delight

One of my goals for 2009 (notice I did not call it a resolution) is to completely de-clutter my house. I plan to conquer every closet, empty every drawer, even attack the Planet of Whyami-savingthis (better known as the basement). What I no longer need or use will be recycled or repurposed, donated or dumped.

I have been steadily working my way from room to room — OK, I am still in the kitchen where I started, but I have great plans for summer. But when I walked into my family room a few weeks ago, I heard a little voice in my ear: "And are you going to de-clutter your bookshelves, too?"

Ouch! You have got to be kidding! Any bibliophile will tell you that permanently removing a book from your collection is tantamount to swearing off chocolate. I have tried weeding out titles in the past. Once, I even went so far as to remove all the books from the shelves — and we are talking several hundred tomes — and seriously review each one before deciding whether to reshelve it. I managed to donate 15 titles to the library.

So I gave myself a challenge: If I could keep just a dozen books, which ones would they be?

The first six were easy; then it became increasingly difficult. I quickly decided it would have to be 12 fiction and 12 nonfiction. Then I decided to rule out the classics. The books would have to be those that spoke to me in some way: touched my soul, made me laugh out loud, took me to new worlds, evoked wonder and amazement, made me cry or simply blew me away with the writing. Books I could read over and over.

The longer I thought about it, the harder it became. Then I whispered to myself, "Remember, it's just for fun — you really do not have to keep just 12." That took the pressure off.

So, here is my list — for today. Next year, it will probably look different. In alphabetical order (surely you didn't think I could rank them):

"The Art of Racing in the Rain," by Garth Stein.

I reviewed this heart-warming and captivating tale earlier this year (BookChat, Jan. 2). Life wisdom in the voice of a special dog, woven together with his owner's passion for auto racing. Bark twice.

"Bel Canto," by Ann Patchett.

An unusual story delving into the relationship between a group of people and the terrorists who take them hostage. Rich and imaginative, Patchett weaves a tapestry of art, politics and love in language that is lyrical and unique.

"Crossing to Safety," by Wallace Stegner.

I have read this Stegner title three times since its publication 20 years ago. His immensely moving narrative of two couples and their friendship, idealism and passion for life eloquently resonates more with each reading. Few authors are in Stegner's league.

"The Elm at the Edge of the Earth," by Robert Hale.

I know I am prejudiced about this book, because Bob Hale was my first mentor when I entered the book business 30 years ago. But this beautifully crafted, semi-autobiographical novel is poignant and funny and transports the reader to a time long gone. The (retired) Honorable Judge Dan Hurlbutt described it as one of the best coming-of-age novels he had had the pleasure of reading.

"Gone to Soldiers," by Marge Piercy.

World War II through the stories of six women and four men. It's like nothing I had read before about that time period and the remarkable survival of the human spirit. It is on my nightstand now to read again.

"Handling Sin," by Michael Malone.

I laughed so hard while reading this on a plane that I thought the flight attendant would ask me to step outside. A two-week road trip through the South searching for a wayward parent becomes a discovery of love, life and self. Few stories can match the sheer joy of this one.

"Pillars of the Earth," by Ken Follett.

The building of a cathedral in 12th-century England took me to a world of political upheaval, dreams, determination and architecture. Visiting a cathedral shortly after reading it for the second time became an even more incredible experience.

"The Poisonwood Bible," by Barbara Kingsolver.

Set in the Congo in the late 1950s, Kingsolver's multidimensional novel is emotionally resonant and powerful. Did missionaries do more harm than good in their determination to Christianize the world?

"Snow in August," by Pete Hamill.

Hamill's best. Unsurpassed writing. Haunting and eloquent. One of my all-time favorites.

"The Story of Edgar Sawtelle," by David Wroblewski.

To know this is the author's first novel truly blows me away. The writing is indescribable. The picture of a young, mute boy reading (signing) stories to his dogs is permanently etched in my mind.

"Kite Runner" and "A Thousand Splendid Suns," by Khaled Hosseini.

I simply had to choose both of these books. Hosseini opened our eyes and hearts to life in Afghanistan, and we will never be the same.

"Water for Elephants," by Sara Gruen.

A colorful and fascinating story set in the world of a traveling circus during the Great Depression. A hard read at times for this animal lover, but I was transported to an unknown world that amazed, entertained and, at times, angered me. And what a great ending.

So which 12 would you keep?

Beer, ski-hill poker and dancing in the street

Sun Valley's spring break party ready for the sun

By Karen Bossick
Times-News correspondent

KETCHUM — Can you keep a poker face while schussing down Baldy?

Get a good hand and you could win a pair of goggles, sunglasses or some other prize.

It's all part of SolFest, a weekend of music, dancing, pool parties and apres ski specials. Ketchum will become party central for three days, March 27-29, with club nights at downtown Ketchum bars and restaurants, and street dances.

The idea was to fill some of the void created when 48Straight — a weekend of SkiCross and halfpipe competition and street dances — was cancelled after Jeep withdrew its sponsorship.

"It's a small attempt to bring people in for spring break — a fun party weekend," said Stefany Mahoney, visitor center manager for the Sun Valley/Ketchum Chamber and Visitors Bureau.

The new event has nothing to do with the old SolFest, which showed off the high-flying antics of twin-tipped skiers and boarders who performed tricks off jumps on Baldy.

This one is down to earth, by comparison.

To join in on the fun, pick up a free all-access badge at the Sun Valley/Ketchum Chamber Visitor Center at 491 Sun Valley Road in Ketchum or at the Clarion Inn, 600 N. Main St. The badges aren't necessary, but they do bring discounts — such as $10 off a lift ticket for Baldy and $1 PBRs at Grumpy's.

"People like to have badges. And, besides, they have a schedule of events on the back," Mahoney said.

The fun kicks off March 27 with a Welcome Party with complimentary drinks and snacks at the Clarion Inn.

A free Poker Run will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. March 28 on Bald Mountain. Poker players should sign up at 10:30 a.m. at Apple's Bar

THE SOLFEST SCHEDULE

MARCH 27

8 a.m.-10 p.m.: Papa Hemi's Hideaway offers farm-fresh breakfasts starting at $5.99 and a special soul food menu.

4-7 p.m.: Drink and appetizer specials at Clarion Inn.

5-9:30 p.m.: Dinner discounts at The Roosevelt Grille with a SolFest badge.

5-9:30 p.m.: Live music at Papa Hemi's with $1 PBRs around the firepit.

SolFest all-access pass holders will receive $10 off a lift ticket. College students with ID will get lift tickets at $30, and season pass holders to other ski resorts will receive $55 lift tickets. Complete schedule: www.visitsunvalley.com.

and Grill on the Warm Springs side of Bald Mountain. Players will receive a card at each of five designated spots on Bald Mountain. Players with the best poker hands will receive prizes.

The Roosevelt Grille will hold a Spring Break Party with free late-night munchies and music at 10 p.m. March 27 and 28. And the Clarion Inn will hold a Hot Tub and Hot Toddys Pool Party from noon to 4 p.m. March 29 with specials on food and beverages.

There also will be a variety of live music and dinner and drink discounts throughout the weekend at other venues.

The event is so new that many Wood River Valley residents don't even know about SolFest yet. Among them is Franny Hjort, who will likely serve up burger specials in conjunction with the event at Apple's Bar and Grill.

"SolFest — didn't they cancel that long ago?" she said.

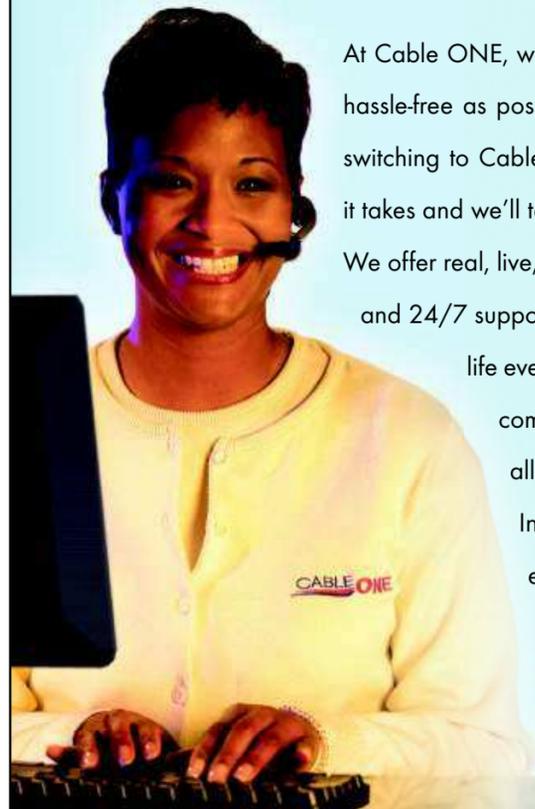

Boisean Jim Emery said it sounded like fun — enough that he might be persuaded to make a return trip that weekend.

"It sounds kind of like Sun Valley's version of spring break in Florida," he said.

Twin Falls saxophonist Jensen to perform April 3 for Great Basin Jazz Camp benefit

Times-News

Twin Falls soprano saxophonist Brent Jensen will headline a benefit concert April 3 in Elko, Nev., on behalf of Great Basin Jazz Camp.

Jensen will bring his quartet to Elko's Western Folklife Center, 501 Railroad St., for a benefit engagement at 7 p.m. Admission is a $10 minimum adult donation and $4 for students.

All proceeds will be used to create scholarships for Elko County music students to attend the 3rd Annual Great Basin Jazz Camp, to be held July 27-31 at the College of Southern Idaho.

Last year, two students from Spring Creek and four from Elko attended the non-profit camp, held at a different Idaho location. Camp directors want to increase the number of students by raising scholarships for needy musicians.

Jensen will be joined by

drummer Lael Cherry, a CSI music major; CSI graduate and guitarist Michael Frew; and bass guitarist Jesse Hadley, all of Twin Falls.

Jensen is fast becoming one of the most recognizable soprano saxophonists, Great Basin Jazz Camp organizers said.

His recording "The Sound of a Dry Martini: Remembering Paul Desmond," on Origin Records, charted at the No. 1 position on jazz radio stations across the country. "Dry Martini" was also featured on NPR's JazzWorks' Top 25 list for 2002. "Stay Cool," Jensen's second release on Origin Records, made Jazz After Hours host Jim Wilke's "Favorite Jazz CDs of 2002" list.

His most recent CD is "One More Mile" (Origin Records), one of Wilke's "Favorite Jazz CDs of 2007," and it made Village Voice magazine writer Tom Hull's "Top 50 Jazz CDs of 2007" list.

Theater: 'My Fair Lady,' by Dilettante Group

Seen March 15 at College of Southern Idaho

Audrey Hepburn and Rex Harrison themselves couldn't have done it better. I had to marvel at the professionalism and accents of the lead actors. Impressive sets, delightful music and breathtaking costumes pleased the crowd. The horse racing scene enchanted everyone with its black-and-white theme and stop motion situation.

Near upsets aplenty as NCAA tourney begins

The Associated Press

Robert Sallie had a career day in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

The sophomore guard from Memphis had 35 points as the Tigers' survived for an 81-70 victory over Cal State Northridge on Thursday.

Sallie came into the game averaging 4.5 points with a career high of 13. His 35 in the first-round win was almost one-fourth of his season total of 150 entering the game.

He knocked Larry Kenon, who

CSI baseball tries to hit its stride

Eagles host CNCC today

By David Bashore
Times-News writer

College of Southern Idaho baseball players strode onto Skip Walker Field on Wednesday, clad in shorts, team-issued practice shirts and sneakers. The air was crisp, the temperature hovered in the mid- to upper-50s, and there was no wind.

For a few fleeting hours, it finally felt like baseball season. And the on-field product is starting to catch up to the weather.

After struggling through the first 24 games of the season, CSI (11-15) has won two games in a row – a dramatic walk-off win last Saturday over Western Nevada and a 13-5 drubbing of Dawson (Mont.) on Tuesday – and, with the “tough” part of its schedule in the rearview mirror, the Golden Eagles are poised to break out of their slide in a big way coming down the stretch of the Scenic West Athletic Conference season.

That's something for which they have prepared all season, armed with the knowledge it was coming but uncertain of the timing.

Bronco offense blooms in first scrimmage

By Dustin Lapray
Times-News correspondent

BOISE – Thursday's scrimmage at Bronco Stadium was more like a sixth spring practice for the Boise State Broncos. The young team went through warm-ups and individual drills, eventually working up to an hour-long scrimmage: offense versus defense, and all special teams.

For the first time since December's Poinsettia Bowl loss to TCU, the BSU defense got to play total defense.

“It's the first time you can get real-live reps,” line-backer Derrell Acrey said. “You don't really go live that often in practice. It's not drills anymore. It's the real game and it's time to see who the playmakers are.”

Acrey and his fellow defenders got their chance against the Bronco offense. Both sides had moments of greatness and fallibility.

One drive shows it well: Kellen Moore hit Titus young on a 51-yard pass.

Spartans come alive at plate, rout Preston

RYAN HOWE/Times-News

Minico's Barak Frank (2) and Chris Joyce, right, are congratulated by teammates after scoring on Alex Moon's double during the third inning of the Spartans' 15-5 win over Preston Thursday at Minico High School.

By Ryan Howe
Times-News writer

RUPERT – Minico's bats came alive Thursday and the Spartan baseball team earned its first win of the season with a five-inning, 15-5 rout of Preston in the second game of a two-day home-and-home series with the Indians.

With his slider missing its mark, Minico pitcher Landon Barnes relied mainly on his fast ball and changeup. He had a rough second inning – magnified by a pair of Spartan errors – as Preston took a 5-2 lead. But after that, Barnes settled down and allowed just one hit the rest of the way while striking out three.

“It was good enough to get the win, but I can't give up five runs in one inning,” Barnes said.

Minico (1-3) had been struggling this season with runners in scoring position, including in Wednesday's 3-1 loss at Preston. On Thursday, however, the Spartans capitalized on every opportunity they got.

Casey Christiansen had five RBIs, Alex Moon went 3-for-3 with three RBIs and Chris Joyce was 2-for-3 with an RBI.

Moon's two-RBI double sparked a nine-run third inning and Barnes helped his own

Burley swept by Pocatello

By Ryan Howe
Times-News writer

BURLEY – After a successful trip to St. George, Utah, earlier this week, the Burley baseball team couldn't bring the mojo home as it dropped both games of a doubleheader with Pocatello on Thursday.

Despite a strong showing on the mound by Kace Redder, Burley let Game 1 slip away 5-2 in extra innings.

Garrett Lyons scored on an Alfonso Sanchez RBI in the third to tie the game 1-1, where the score would stand until the eighth inning.

Redder struck out four while allowing just two walks through the first seven innings. Things fell apart in the eighth, however, as Redder gave up four hits and the go-ahead run. Burley then committed three errors to allow three more runs to score.

Burley coach Devin Kunz did not regret keeping Redder on the mound in the extra inning rather than bringing in relief.

"He was the best chance we had," Kunz said. "If our best pitcher, a senior, wants the ball and he feels good, I'm going to let him have it. Redder should have had a W, but I can't believe we can't score more than one run."

In Game 2, Christian Winnill pitched well, but didn't get much help from his defense as the Bobcats committed seven errors.

"It got ugly. There was no urgency and no fight," Kunz said. "They think just because we went down to St. George and played good there (Pocatello) is going to roll over for them. You cannot come nonchalant or that's what's going to happen. You have to make the routine plays, and we didn't."

Burley will host Skyline and Idaho Falls on Saturday.

WENDELL SWEEPS SODA SPRINGS

The Wendell baseball team showed no mercy to a Soda Springs squad stepping onto grass for the very first time this season, sweeping the visiting Cardinals on Thursday, 11-4 and 15-4.

Keith Mowery gave up four hits to pick up the win in the opener for Wendell (1-1), also going 2-for-4 with a triple, a home run and five RBIs in the game.

The nightcap went just five innings before Wendell invoked the mercy rule.

Wendell head coach Jesse Koopman said he sympathized with Soda Springs being unable to practice and play due to snow, but added that it was good for his young team to enjoy some success.

"It was good in the sense that our kids had a chance to loosen up and take some good hacks today. But things will be a lot different beginning next week," Koopman said. "We have a lot of first timers on the team, and it was good for them to experience some success and get some experience."

Wendell hosts Kimberly on Tuesday.

LeBron James leads Cavs to overtime win

CLEVELAND – LeBron James had 26 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists for his 24th career triple-double, leading the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 97-92 overtime win over the Portland Trail Blazers on Thursday.

Cleveland committed only two turnovers, tying an NBA record, while setting a franchise record and marking the lowest total in the NBA this season.

James scored six points in the overtime period, with his driving basket in the lane after the Cavaliers won the jumpball putting them ahead for good. Zydrunas Ilgauskas added a free throw and a basket, giving the Cavaliers a 91-86 lead with 3:15 left. James hit two more baskets as the Cavaliers outscored Portland 11-6 in the extra session.

Brandon Roy led the Trail Blazers with 24 points.

HAWKS 95, MAVERICKS 87

ATLANTA – Joe Johnson scored 24 points, and reserve Flip Murray had 19 in Atlanta's seventh straight victory.

The Hawks moved four games ahead of fifth-place Miami in the Eastern Conference standings.

Dallas, which has lost three of four to drop 1½ behind seventh-place Utah in the Western Conference, but the Mavericks are still 3½ ahead of Phoenix for the eighth and final playoff spot.

Dirk Nowitzki scored 23 points and 12 rebounds for Dallas, which was without two starters, swingman Josh Howard, who has a sore left ankle, and forward Erick Dampier, who has a swollen left knee and missed his first game of the season.

North Idaho women bounced in quarters

Times-News

One word sums the North Idaho College women's basketball team's second-half performance against No. 1 Jefferson (Mo.) Thursday at the NJCAA national tournament in Salina, Kan.: thud.

After leading by one point at halftime, the NIC women were outscored 49-20 in the second half, crumpling to a 78-50 defeat in the national quarterfinals.

Kia Gibson scored 15 of her team-high 19 points in the first half for North Idaho, including nine of the team's first 11 in the game. But Jefferson went on a 28-4 run to start the second half and settle matters.

Danielle Adams led Jefferson with 36 points, 21 of those coming after halftime.

North Idaho moves to the fifth-place bracket, where it will face Walters State (Tenn.) today at 3 p.m.

In consolation action, Martika Hull scored 20 as East Mississippi eliminated Sheridan (Wyo.) 64-60.

Shoshone graduate Kori Bingham returned from a one-game suspension (violating team rules) to score 10 points in defeat for the Generals, who were led by 28 points from Tahnee Robinson.

Sheridan led 34-28 at the half but was outscored 36-26 in the second stanza.

Notre Dame edges New Mexico at buzzer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. – Tory Jackson hit an under-handed shot with 2 seconds left as Notre Dame survived squandering a 14-point first-half lead to beat New Mexico 70-68 in the second round of the National Invitation Tournament on Thursday night.

New Mexico (22-12) had a chance to win at the buzzer, but Tony Dandridge's 3-pointer rattled in the rim and fell out.

Jackson drove the length of the court for the winning basket, finishing with 16 points. Luke Harangody had 26 points and 11 rebounds to pace the Irish (20-14), who were 21-of-25 from the free throw line. New Mexico was 15 of 25.

Notre Dame will play the winner of Monday's game between Kentucky and Creighton in the third round.

Jackson scored the game-winner after Dairese Gary, who is from nearby Elkhart, made a pair of free throws with 7 seconds left to tie the score at 68. He drove deep into a crowd and put up the winning shot.

The Lobos opened their biggest lead at 66-60 when Gary made a

Notre Dame closed to 66-65 on a three-point play by Harangody with 66 seconds left and tied it on a free throw by Zach Hillesland.

PENN ST. 83, RHODE ISLAND 72

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. – Stanley Pringle scored 19 points, Andrew Jones had 14 points and 10 rebounds and Penn State withstood Rhode Island's backcourt pressure in an 83-72 victory Thursday night to advance to the NIT quarterfinals.

The Nitnany Lions (24-11) didn't hit a field goal the last 8:53 of the game, and the Rams (23-11) closed a 16-point deficit to 72-66 with about 2 minutes left. But Penn State sealed the win at the foul line, making 14 of 17 chances down the stretch.

Jimmy Baron had 24 points to lead Rhode Island, including several from well behind the 3-point arc, while Kaheim Seawright added 17.

Rhode Island never led, but got to within single digits several times late in part because of withering defensive pressure.

Jim Furyk waves to the gallery after making birdie on the No. 2 hole during the first round of the Transitions Championship golf tournament Thursday at Innisbrook in Palm Harbor, Fla.

Furyk takes his first lead in nearly 20 months

PALM HARBOR, Fla. (AP) — After a late start to the year, Jim Furyk might be getting up to speed. Furyk made two long birdie putts and was equally thrilled with a 10-foot par save on his final hole Thursday, which gave him a 6-under 65 in the Transitions Championship. It was the first time he has held the outright lead since his last PGA Tour victory 20 months ago. “Something I can try to build on,” Furyk said. Stephen Ames was one shot behind after a 66 on a Copperhead Course that was demanding as ever, but one he enjoys far more than the Blue Monster last week at Doral that favors the big hitters. The group at 67 included Kenny Perry, who sandwiched birdies on the tough 16th and 18th holes around his only bogey on the round. The 48-year-old Perry is playing his eighth event of the year and is worn out. Innisbrook is not exactly a working vacation. “It’s tough out there. It’s U.S. Open conditions,” Perry said. “There’s no breather holes out there.” Ryo Ishikawa, the 17-year-old from Japan making his second PGA Tour start, birdied his opening two holes but never got any lower and settled for a 69, leaving him in much better shape than at Riviera, where he missed the cut. “I was more relaxed compared with my first event,” he said. “The key was the first hole.” Furyk took a five-week break to start the year. Having to failed to win last season — only the third time in the last 14 years he gone an entire PGA Tour season without winning — he decided not to start until Pebble Beach. His scores have improved each week, and Furyk really hit his stride last week at Doral with four rounds in the 60s to finish third.

UCLA survives VCU's upset bid

PHILADELPHIA — A long way from home, UCLA barely kept alive its quest for a fourth straight trip to the Final Four.

VCU's Eric Maynor missed a contested 17-footer at the buzzer and the sixth-seeded Bruins held on for a 65-64 victory over the Rams on Thursday night in the opening round of the East Regional.

UCLA (26-8) advances to play Villanova (27-7) on Saturday.

Josh Shipp scored 16, Jrue Holiday had 13 and three other Bruins scored in double figures. Maynor led Virginia Commonwealth with 21.

TEXAS 76, MINNESOTA 62

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A.J. Abrams hit eight 3-pointers and scored 26 points to help Texas win its NCAA opener for the fifth time in six seasons.

Damion James added 18 points and nine rebounds for the seventh-seeded Longhorns (23-11).

Texas had lost seven of its last 14 games dating to late January, but now heads into the second round of the East Region to face the Duke-Binghamton winner Saturday.

VILLANOVA 80, AMERICAN 67

PHILADELPHIA — Dwayne Anderson and Dante Cunningham each scored 25 points, and Villanova rallied back from a 14-point hole.

The third-seeded Wildcats (27-7) lost their home-court advantage and nearly lost the game, needing a late 19-2 run in the East Regional to fend off the Patriot League champions.

The 14th-seeded Eagles (24-8) sizzled from 3-point range early and pushed Villanova to the brink of a monumental upset.

DUKE 86, BINGHAMTON 62

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Jon Scheyer and Duke weren't about to let another one of college basketball's little guys scare them again.

Scheyer scored 15 points to lead six players in double figures, and the Blue Devils made Binghamton's first appearance in the NCAA tournament a quick one by routing the Bearcats 86-62 Thursday night in the first round of the East Regional.

W. KENTUCKY 76, ILLINOIS 72

PORTLAND, Ore. — Western Kentucky is at it again.

The 12th-seeded Hilltoppers, who made an unexpected run in the NCAA tournament last year, pulled off a first-round upset of fifth-seeded Illinois.

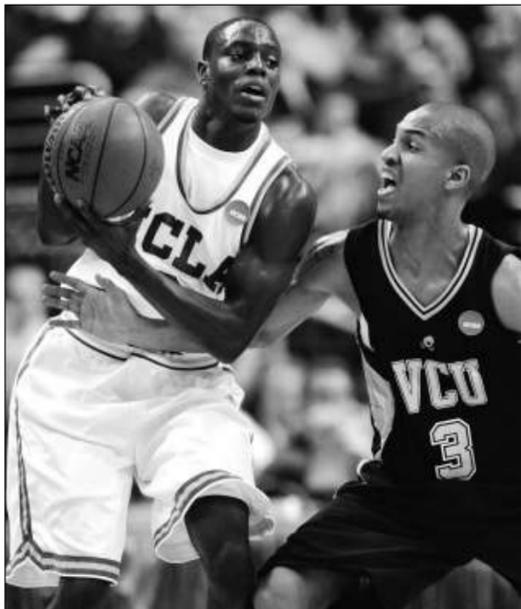

Steffphon Pettigrew had 17 points to lead Western Kentucky (25-8) which led by as many as 17 points but had to hold off a late charge by the Illini (24-10). It was the 19th time in the last 21 years that a 12 seed has beaten a No. 5.

Illinois made a late run to close to make it a one-possession game in the final minute.

Meacham had a season-high 24 points for the Illini, who were without senior defensive specialist Chester Frazier, who had surgery on his right hand last week.

since a booster scandal rocked the program in the 1990s, handling — for the most part — Clemson's frenetic press to move onto the second round.

Stu Douglass added 12 for the Wolverines, who will face Oklahoma or Morgan State on Saturday.

GONZAGA 77, AKRON 64

PORTLAND, Ore. — Josh Heytvelt scored 22 points — seven during a decisive late run — and the Bulldogs rallied to get past determined but ultimately overwhelmed Akron.

Micah Downs added 15 points for fourth-seeded Gonzaga (27-5), which won for the 19th time in 20 games. The Zags are in their 11th consecutive NCAA tournament, but had lost in the first round of the last two.

Getting zapped in the first round by the 13th-seeded Zips seemed possible for a while. Akron (23-13) was up six in the second half.

Nate Linhart scored 13 points in the first half, but had no field goals after half-time for the Zips, who won the Mid-American Conference tournament to get in to its first NCAA tournament in 23 years.

OKLAHOMA 82, MORGAN ST 54

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A dominant Blake Griffin had 28 points and 13 rebounds and survived an ugly fall that got another player ejected Thursday night as Oklahoma rolled past Morgan State 82-54 in the first round of South Regional on Thursday night.

Griffin missed most of two games because of a concussion he sustained on Feb. 21. The player of the year favorite took another hard tumble when Morgan State's Ameer Ali flipped him over his back and on to the court in the second half after the two became entangled.

Ali was immediately ejected. Griffin stayed in the game and finished 11 of 12 from the field.

TEXAS A&M 79, BYU 66

PHILADELPHIA — Bryan Davis scored 21, Donald Sloan had 14 and the ninth-seeded Aggies handed the Cougars their seventh straight opening-round loss in a rematch from last year. Both teams drew the same seeds last March when A&M won 67-62.

MEMPHIS 81, CAL STATE-NORTHRIDGE 70

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — After overcoming heartbreak and tragedy just to get to the NCAA tournament, the Matadors of Cal State-Northridge could not get past the greatest game of Roburt Sallie's life.

Sallie, averaging 4.5 points all year for Memphis, scored 35 and the second-seeded Tigers dodged what would have been one of the biggest upsets in tournament history.

Sallie kept Cal State-Northridge at bay during a lackluster first half for Memphis (32-3) and wound up hitting 10 of 15 3-pointers, a first-round tournament record.

The Matadors (17-14) never seemed intimidated despite being 19-point underdogs.

Taking advantage of miserable shooting by most of the Tigers, Northridge led much of the second half and went up by six points with 10:08 to play.

CONNECTICUT 103, CHATTANOOGA 47

PHILADELPHIA — With their coach in the hospital, A.J. Price and Hasheem Thabeet scored 20 points apiece to lead top-seeded Connecticut to its first postseason win in three years.

Associate head coach George Blaney coached the Huskies (28-4) in Jim Calhoun's absence. Stanley Robinson topped the Huskies with 24 points. They'll meet Texas A&M in Saturday's second-round game of the West Regional of the NCAA tournament.

PURDUE 61, NORTHERN IOWA 56

PORTLAND, Ore. — E'Twaun Moore had 17 points and fifth-seeded Purdue held off a late charge to advance.

Jajuan Johnson added 14 points for the Boilermakers (26-9), who led by as many as 14 in the West Regional at the Rose Garden Arena before the Panthers made it interesting down the stretch.

Kwadzo Ahelegbe had 11 points for Northern Iowa (23-11), which closed to within 56-54 on Kerwin Dunham's 3-pointer with 17.4 seconds left.

MARYLAND 84, CALIFORNIA 71

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Grievius Vasquez had 27 points and Maryland shut down the nation's best 3-point shooting team.

Tenth-seeded Maryland (21-13) disrupted Cal with its pressure defense, rarely giving the Bears a good look from the perimeter.

Vasquez controlled the offense and Dave Neal chipped in 15 points, helping the Terps advance past the first round in their ninth straight NCAA appearance.

Cal (22-11), which shot a nation-best 43 percent from 3-point range during the regular season, was 7-for-24 in this one. Theo Robertson led the Bears with 22 points and Jerome Randle had 14, but took just three shots in the second half after scoring 11 points in the first.

WASHINGTON 71, MISSISSIPPI STATE 58

PORTLAND, Ore. — Quincy Pondexter scored a season-high 23 points and fourth-seeded Washington took advantage of early foul trouble to Mississippi State's menacing Jarvis Varnado.

Jon Brockman had 14 rebounds and 10 points for the Huskies (26-8), who looked far better than the last time they played in this city, losing to Portland of the West Coast Conference to begin the season.

Barry Stewart had 11 points but was able to get off just five shots for Mississippi State (23-13).

Marquette the latest tough draw for Utah St.

BOISE — Utah State coach Stew Morrill has gotten used to the daunting matchups the Aggies have drawn in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Washington, Arizona, Kansas ... Morrill can recite the list from memory as he tracks Utah State's most recent tournament berths.

"When you look at who we have played in the NCAAs, it's like a who's who of college basketball," Morrill said.

Who's next? Marquette, another team from a powerhouse conference.

"It's been a challenging game every time out," Morrill said. "It's no different than it's been in the past when we have been here."

The Aggies are back in the field for the first time since 2006 and have one very important distinction from the past teams: This has been the best season in school history.

Utah State (30-4) has already eclipsed the school record of 28 wins and is trying to cap that by making a run in the tournament. And the Aggies are doing it all with a squad that features only one senior and nobody who has played in an NCAA tournament game.

"We'll just play the way we have played all year," said forward Gary Wilkinson, the Aggies' only senior.

The Aggies, who lead the nation in field goal shooting at almost 50 percent, are seeded No. 11 in the West Regional after sweeping the Western Athletic Conference regular season and tournament titles. It's their best seed since they were a No. 10 in 1988.

For once, Utah State may have gotten a break in the pairings in Marquette (24-9), which has been reeling since losing point guard Dominic James to a foot injury against Connecticut on Feb. 25.

The Golden Eagles lost their last four games of the regular season and five of their last six. The only win was a blowout over St. John's in the Big East tournament, which was followed by a heartbreaking loss to Villanova in the quarterfinals on a last-second layup.

BIG MEN TO HAVE BIG SAY ON ARIZONA-UTAH MATCHUP

MIAMI — Arizona forward Jordan Hill described the Wildcats' NCAA Tournament opener in the simplest of terms.

"It's all the B's," Hill said. "All the biggest." Biggest game. Biggest stakes. Biggest opponent, too.

A big man himself at 6-foot-10 and 235 pounds, Hill will be dwarfed by 7-2, 265-pounder Luke Nevill today when Arizona (19-13) meets Utah (24-9) in a first-round South regional matchup. Hill has never played anyone bigger, and said he can't wait to take on the tall order.

Hill averages 18.5 points and 11 rebounds, yet his biggest chore Friday might come on the defensive end. If he can find a way to elevate to the level of Nevill — who averages 16.9 points and 9.1 rebounds on 61 percent shooting — the Wildcats might be in good shape; they were 8-1 when Hill blocked three or more shots in a game this season, 10-12 when he didn't.

It's the matchup getting plenty of attention, but Nevill shook off any notion that this is a glorified game of 1-on-1 for a trip to the second round.

"I don't need to have, you know, a stellar game offensively for us to be successful," Nevill said. "You know, defensively, I have to have a great game, but offensively we have a great bunch of shooters. We can score from a lot of different areas on the floor. You know, offensively, I'm just going to go out there and do what I have to do to win."

Brigham Young and Texas A&M met in the first round. The big difference was the site: They played in Anaheim, Calif., in 2008 and in Philadelphia on Thursday.

Otherwise, the games were a lot alike.

Both years BYU was a No. 8 seed and the Aggies were No. 9.

Last year, it was the Aggies winning 67-62, and they made it two in a row with a 79-66 victory Thursday.

This was BYU's third straight year as a No. 8 seed. In 2007, the Cougars lost 79-77 to Xavier. They've lost seven straight first-round games, last advancing in 1993.

A.J.'S 3S: Texas' A.J. Abrams is the Big 12's career leader in 3-pointers and even though he came into the tournament shooting 38.9 percent from beyond the arc, he hadn't had the kind of shooting season expected of him.

Until Thursday's 76-62 first-round win over Minnesota. The senior was 8-for-15 on 3s, one 3-pointer shy of his career high. He hit six in a row at one stretch including four on as many Longhorns' possessions.

CALHOUN HOSPITALIZED: Jim Calhoun kept track of his top-seeded Connecticut Huskies from a hospital instead of a sideline bench.

All he missed on his sick day was one of the biggest routs in NCAA tournament history.

Calhoun was admitted to the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania on Thursday afternoon for tests and will be kept overnight for observation.

An unnamed source told ESPN.com that the 66-year-old Calhoun was treated for dehydration and received IV fluids at the hospital. The school did not say what was wrong with the coach.

QUIET REGIONAL: The only one of the four regionals not to have any games Thursday was the Midwest. The East Regional split its first-round games evenly between Thursday and Friday, while the South and West both had six games Thursday and two each on Friday.

know when, but we needed to keep working and preparing so that we'd be ready when it came. This is the time of year where we typically start playing really well," said CSI head coach Boomer Walker.

"We've got four of the last seven series at home, and we've got our two toughest road trips out of the way — that's not to say Western Nevada isn't tough, but we've played pretty well there and Salt Lake and Southern Nevada are two places we've really played poorly."

A couple of important wins might prove to be just the tonic for rousing CSI from its doldrums.

More important than the victories, perhaps, was the timing of CSI's final non-conference game against Dawson.

After Tyler Chism's walk-off grand slam Saturday evening, the Golden Eagles were able to cut loose and build some confidence against a road-weary Dawson club that was forced to leave its starter, former Madison High pitcher Mike Woolf, in for more than eight innings due to a heavy game load.

"You want to win every

CSI baseball on deck

This weekend's doubleheader: Colorado Northwestern Community College (6-19, 2-10 SWAC) at CSI (11-15, 4-8), 1 p.m., Friday, noon Saturday.

CSI last week: 3-1 vs. Western Nevada (L 6-4, L 9-8, L 4-1 in 11 innings, W 5-4).

CNCC last week: 0-4 vs. Southern Nevada (L 10-0, L 11-5, L 12-1, L 13-2).

Last time they met: CSI swept a four-game set at Colorado Northwestern on April 18-19, 2008, winning 3-0, 7-3, 14-3 and 12-9.

About the Spartans: Colorado Northwestern has a new coach and largely a new roster this season, accounting for some of the growing pains this year. The Spartans are near the bottom of almost every significant pitching and hitting category, yet they did take a game from both Eastern Utah and Salt Lake this season. CNCC is hitting .211 as a team, led by sophomore catcher Tucker Hinchliffe's .267 average. Todd Kruse has two of the Spartans' six wins on the mound, and his 4.35 ERA is the best among CNCC pitchers with at least 10 innings pitched — the Spartans have a 7.07 team ERA.

Boomer's breakdown: "I've never seen that team quit. They really battle out there. They know going into the season that they're probably not going to win the league and they'll have to play one of the top teams at the region tournament, so a few losses for them doesn't beat up their confidence too much, whereas we lose a few games and the sky is falling. They strike out a lot, which shows they might not be really patient at the plate, and their pitchers give up a lot of hits. I think we'll play well this weekend."

—CSI head coach Boomer Walker

On deck: CSI hosts Eastern Utah next weekend.

Batting Average (minimum 30 at bats): Tyler Chism .422 (No. 1 in SWAC), Victor Spencer .337. Hits: Chism 38, Spencer 28, 28; Spencer 10 (tied for No. 1 in SWAC), Chism 8, 38; Chism 3 (No. 2 in SWAC). HR: Chism 2, Cameron Cushing 1. RBI: Chism 22, Spencer 18, Tanner Craswell 15. Runs: Garrett Wolff 19, Chism 18, Craswell 17, Spencer 16. BB: Wolff 12, Spencer 10. SB: Ryan Lay 15, Chism 11, Spencer 10. Pitching Record: Sam Armstrong 3-3, Tyler Curtis 2-2, Colby Robison 2-2. SV: Curtis 1, Kasey Jeroue 1. ERA (minimum 10 innings): Armstrong 1.35, Robison 3.29. Innings pitched: Armstrong 40.0, Curtis 33.2, Preston Olson 32.0, Tyler Barrett 31.1, CG: Armstrong 3. Shutouts: None. SO: Curtis 41, Armstrong 31. Opponents average (minimum 10 innings): Armstrong .385, Olson .244.

game, but there's a certain pressure that's gone when you play nonconference and you're able to just relax and have some fun," said speedy freshman outfielder Ryan Lay, who is tied for second in the SWAC in stolen bases with 15. "We knew that if we could have some fun, (Tuesday's) game was ours to win, and hopefully that will help us relax and start to have more fun out there."

While it has the moral victory of nine 1- or 2-run defeats, CSI has yet to win three consecutive games this season, and it's only won back-to-back games three times.

Walker knows that the midway point of the SWAC schedule is where teams start to figure each other out, and with a four-game series against each of the two worst teams in the conference — both this season and in recent history — left before the halfway juncture, the time is now for the Golden Eagles to make their move if they want to be in the conversation for the Region 18 championship at the end of the season.

That means a solid showing in a homestand against Colorado Northwestern this weekend and a trip to Eastern Utah next is an absolute must as CSI looks to better its 4-8 SWAC record into one that's at or above .500 heading into the second half.

"If we don't do that, we've dug ourselves a huge hole and we'll probably have to win 18 or 19 (of the 20 games left after the Eastern Utah series) to be up there, and that's a real uphill task," said Walker. "But I think we'll come out and perform well this weekend. We just have to take Game 1 with Colorado, then Game 2, then Games 3 and 4."

Notes: Chism, who was held out of Tuesday's win over Dawson (Mont.) for what Walker termed a well-earned day off, leads the SWAC with a .422 batting average. Victor Spencer, owner of a .337 average through Tuesday's game, is the only other Golden Eagle hitting above .300 through at least 30 at bats. ... Sam Armstrong, who is third in the SWAC (and first among starting pitchers) with a 1.35 ERA, approached Walker during Tuesday's game and asked to start Game 1 of this weekend's series, the traditional slot for the ace of SWAC pitching staffs. Walker confirmed Armstrong will start Game 1, with Tyler Curtis going in Game 2 on Friday. Tyler Barrett and Preston Olson are slated to pitch Games 3 and 4 on Saturday.

BSU

2. Moore hit Tommy Gallarda for 20 yards. 3. D.J. Harper lost a yard on two consecutive plays (Harper later scored a 1-yard TD). 4. Austin Pettis dropped a pass and a fourth-and-goal pass was knocked down at the line.

Some good, some bad.

Moore (11 of 16 for 141 yards) demanded defensive attention. When he came on the field — the three BSU QBs rotated — it showed.

"He's got a pretty good command of what we're trying to do and he's an accurate thrower," BSU head coach Chris Petersen said. "Those two things always make for a nice combination."

Moore looked more in control, more vocal and simply better than his backups.

"It's just getting out here, getting back to a game-like situation," Moore said. "It's the coaches stepping away, letting us make mistakes if we do it, just playing fast and having fun."

Drew Hawkins (10 of 17 for 188 yards) and Michael Coughlin (7 of 17 for 67 yards and a rushing TD) also fared decently, albeit against second- and third-string defenses. Hawkins' first throw of the scrimmage scored from 76 yards out, a skinny post to Mitch Burroughs. He also made a bunch of plays out of the pocket and later hit Tyler Shoemaker for a 24-yard TD on a flag route.

"Drew is fast, first of all," Petersen said. "He's fast, and not just quarterback-fast. He's becoming a more accurate thrower and learning the system. You see when things break down. Those are always scary guys to the defense."

Hawkins followed his touchdown throw with eight consecutive plays that failed to gain a first down. Hawkins also hit Aaron Burks for 53 yards. Burks, a freshman out of Grand Prairie, Texas, was in high school last semester.

The penalties were down as only one long play was called back for illegal formation. The referees also rotated two crews and threw few flags. The only turnover came on a third-string wide receiver screen, a fumble recovered by Tyler Jackson. Brandyn Thompson returned a kickoff for a touchdown.

Doug Martin also returned kicks and played defense exclusively. Matt Kaiserman had four runs of 10-plus yards. He also got knocked to the sideline by a blitzing Garcia Day.

Cedric Febis, Kyle Wilson, Michael Atkinson and George Iloka broke up passes. Wilson, Chase Baker, Iloka, Acrey, Day and Travis Stanaway each made tackles for a loss.

2009 BUICK ENCLAVE CROSSOVER

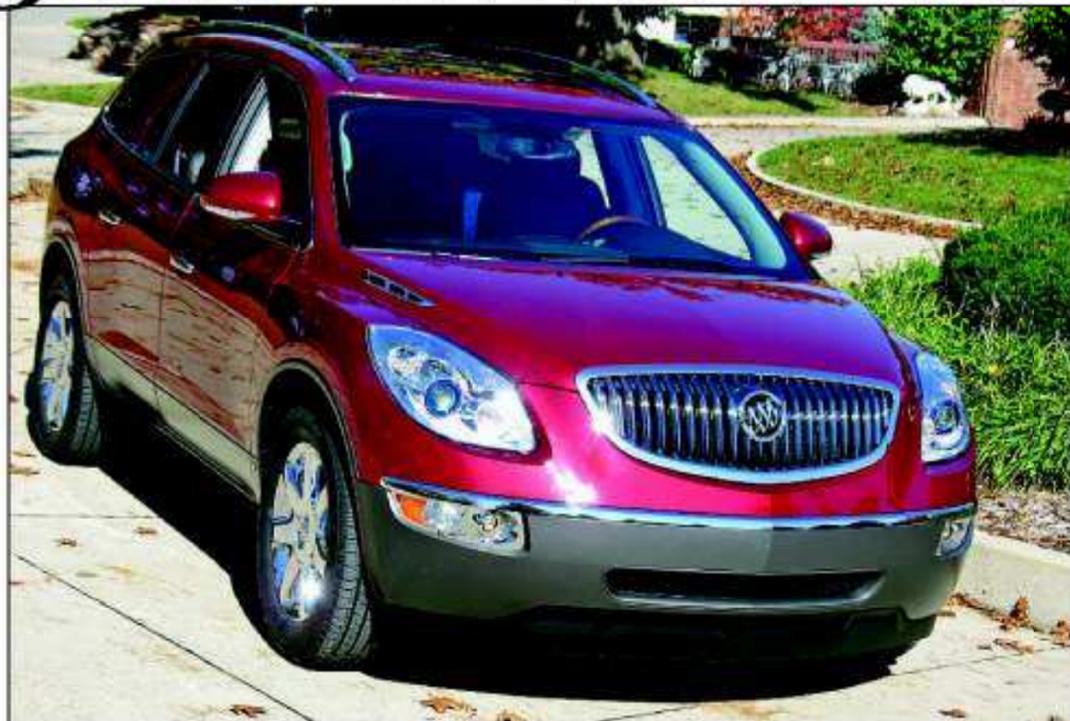

Elegant Functionality!

RoadWorthy!
By Ken Chester, Jr.
Motor News Media
Corporation

Introduced last year as the nameplate's first luxury crossover, the Buick Enclave melds elegant interior and exterior design with a confident ride in a quiet, well-crafted roomy cabin capable of carrying up to eight occupants with space for cargo.

Offered in CX and CXL models, this crossover is designed to impress. If there is a tipping point at Buick, the all-new Enclave will be leading the way in the nameplate's renewed popularity. Built on an all-new crossover architecture in a brand-new manufacturing facility, the Buick Enclave is powered by a sophisticated new-for-2009 3.6L V6 prime mover with direct injection technology. Available in front- and all-wheel drive variants, torque is transferred to the ground through the advanced Hydra-Matic 6T75 electronic six-speed automatic transmission.

At speed, the Enclave is comfortable, luxurious, impressively nimble, responsive, and whisper quiet. The new Buick crossover features a body-frame integral design that enables lower step in heights and generous interior space. The integral structure is reinforced in numerous areas with high-strength steel, including a stiff steel cross-car beam welded across the floor between the B-pillars. It also uses dual phase steel in select areas, such as the lower engine compartment rails. Billed by the automaker as the quietest crossover in its segment, the Enclave employs unique QuietTuning technology.

Buick's exclusive QuietTuning engineering process reduces, blocks and absorbs unwanted noise from entering Enclaves cabin. Some noise-reducing components include an acoustic-laminated windshield, laminated safety door glass, triple door seals, flat-blade windshield wipers, strategically placed sound-deadening material in various locations throughout the vehicle and outside rearview mirrors and tires designed to minimize noise.

Suspension hardware for the Enclave includes coil-over-MacPherson struts, a direct acting stabilizer bar and a full perimeter isolated engine cradle in front; linked II-arm independent suspension and coil springs with twin tube shock absorbers mounted on an isolated subframe at the rear.

Like its exterior design, the Enclave interior exudes style and refinement. Complementary curves and warm, inviting colors are integrated with premium, soft-touch, low-gloss materials. The instrument panel and other interior elements have precise attention to fit, finish and flushness throughout. Enclave can be configured for seven or eight passengers, including two front bucket seats, a 60/40 split second-row bench (three passengers) or two second-row captain's chairs (two passengers) and a 60/40 split third row bench seat (three passengers).

GM's industry-first Smart Slide feature is standard on all second-row configurations, allowing quick and easy access to the third row seating area. The second-row seat cushion flips up while the seatback slides forward, effectively compressing the space occupied by the seat. It operates with one hand and enables adjustable fore/aft positioning of the second-row seat. When adjusted rearward, the second-row seat provides more legroom for taller passengers; when adjusted forward, it provides more storage space.

Buick added the following creature comforts and conveniences for 2009: heated and cooled driver and front-passenger seats, available as stand-alone options; a new Bluetooth for Phone hands-free phone interface, standard for all models; XM (satellite radio) NavTraffic which delivers real-time traffic information; OnStar Destination Download to enable touch-screen navigation system users to quickly input their destination at the touch of a button; and a 110-volt inverter is added to all entertainment equipment packages.

Man sets sail after dream as wife watches from shore

DEAR ABBY: My husband, "Mike," and I have been married for 18 years, but for the last few we have been growing apart. Mike has recently expressed a desire to quit work and sail around the world. He bought an expensive sailboat, took lessons, and is teaching our kids to sail. I tried it, but I'm afraid of the water. I have, however, been supportive of my husband's dream.

I knew Mike was looking for a "crew" for the boat because he couldn't sail with just the kids. Today he told me he has found someone. This crew consists of a married woman and her two kids. Mike invited her to crew after she first asked her husband. He did not ask ME first. He simply announced he had found a competent sailor.

I expressed vehemently that I am against this. I have never met the woman or her kids, and I'm hurt that I wasn't consulted. Mike says he is hurt because I "don't trust him."

By the way, the sailboat is only 37 feet long, and they're planning their first two-week trip this fall. What do you think?

— LANDLOCKED IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

DEAR LANDLOCKED: I think you should start taking sailing lessons immediately.

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

For the sake of your marriage, I advise you to remember that YOU are first mate, so haul anchor and get moving. If you think you and Mike are drifting apart now, it will be nothing compared to when he starts living his dream and sets sail without you.

DEAR ABBY: My mother and I attended the funeral of my great-uncle "John." Afterward a reception luncheon was held for everyone who attended. The general atmosphere was like a family reunion, but under unfortunate circumstances.

Because it happened to be my cousin's 24th birthday, all of my aunts, uncles and cousins decided to sing "Happy Birthday" to her. I did not join in and later said something about it to my mother, who assured me that no one was being rude.

Abby, was it inappropriate to publicly celebrate the birth of one person while mourning the death of another?

— REFRAINED FROM THE CHORUS

IF MARCH 20 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Inspiring thoughts and ideas may be a key factor for your part of the zodiac in the year ahead, so you may be involved with a hobby, interest or job that puts you in touch with younger people. For the next few months you may be somewhat gullible and eager to enjoy a romantic experience, but should make no important business or career decisions. People might not give you any leeway where the rules are concerned so it is essential to fulfill responsibilities to the letter during September and October.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The best things in life are free, as well as easy. However, a sudden inspiration or impulse involving your piggy bank or heart can prove costly. Don't make any snap decisions for the next several days.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't be fooled by glamorous appearances. Anything that appears to be too good to be true probably needs careful examination and a time consuming appraisal. Put key decisions on the back burner.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Frank discussions act like an emery board to smooth out the rough spots. It might be time to change your tune about a business relationship or career objective. Cut some corners and put a lid on spending.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Waste not, want not. Fill up the piggy bank with spare change and clip the coupons from the newspaper. In the long run, small economies will help you achieve the security you hope to achieve.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Don't make important investments, rack up credit card bills or borrow money. You can't afford to daydream or gamble where finances are concerned. It is easy to misinterpret relevant terms and conditions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Avoid participating in a tricky situation. It is always best to be as truthful and honest as possible. You may have an opportunity to pull the wool over someone's eyes, but you might not like the results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Learn the art of saying no. Everything will work out for the best if you remain polite and as nice as pie, but don't accept proposals or propositions now. It is easy to overlook a troublesome loophole.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Put your plans on hold. You may be gripped by an obsession that revolves around your money or your assets, but this isn't an auspicious time to put anything of great importance into motion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Guard your reputation. You don't want to do or say anything that can impact your standing or undermine your position. If you don't make promises, you won't be tempted to break them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Sow exactly what you reap. A lack of response from others may be due to your own exacting or suspicious attitude. Don't make any alterations in your personal money management habits.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Some things are best left unsaid. It isn't necessary to act on every idea or thought that runs through your mind. Rather than a quick retort, perhaps you should wait and give a thoughtful answer.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Friday, March 20, the 79th day of 2009. There are 286 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On March 20, 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte returned to Paris after escaping his exile on Elba, beginning his "Hundred Days" rule.

On this date:

In 1413, England's King Henry IV died; he was succeeded by Henry V.

In 1727, physicist, mathematician and astronomer Sir Isaac Newton died in London.

In 1828, poet-dramatist Henrik Ibsen was born in Skien, Norway.

In 1852, Harriet Beecher Stowe's influential novel about slavery, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was first published in book form after being serialized.

In 1899, Martha M. Place of Brooklyn, N.Y., became the first woman to be executed in the electric chair as she was put to death at Sing Sing for the murder of her stepdaughter.

In 1956, union workers ended a 156-day strike at Westinghouse Electric Corp.

In 1969, John Lennon married Yoko Ono in Gibraltar.

In 1977, voters in Paris chose former French Prime Minister Jacques Chirac to be the French capital's first mayor in more than a century.

In 1985, Libby Riddles, of Teller, Alaska, became the first woman to win the Iditarod Trail Dog Sled Race.

In 1995, in Tokyo, 12 people were killed, more than 5,500 others sickened when packages containing the poisonous gas sarin were leaked on five separate subway trains by Aum Shinrikyo cult members.

Ten years ago: Bertrand Piccard of Switzerland and Brian Jones of Britain became the first aviators to fly a hot-air balloon around the world nonstop. The Yugoslav army, taking advantage of the departure of international monitors from Kosovo, launched a furious offensive against outgunned ethnic Albanian rebels.

Five years ago: Hundreds of thousands of people worldwide rallied against the U.S.-led war in Iraq on the first anniversary of the start of the conflict. The U.S. military charged six soldiers with abusing inmates at Abu Ghraib prison. The Rev. Karen Dammann, a lesbian Methodist pastor, was acquitted of violating church doctrine in a trial held in Bothell, Wash. Taiwanese President Chen Shui-bian narrowly won re-election. Former Dutch Queen Juliana died at age 94.

One year ago: In a setback for Democrat Hillary Rodham Clinton, a drive for a second Michigan presidential primary collapsed as the state Senate adjourned without taking up a measure calling for a do-over contest. Mao Asada of Japan won the women's title at the World Figure Skating Championships in Goteborg, Sweden.

SUDOKU

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE® Bobby Wolff

"Reading is sometimes an ingenious device for avoiding thought."
— Sir Arthur Helps

The Spring Nationals at Detroit last year was open to all players. If and when you get eliminated, you can play in regional events, but the knockouts, which are bracketed so that you meet a team with an equivalent number of masterpoints, might be even more challenging.

In the top bracket of the knockouts, you can expect to see more than a few world champions competing, but not necessarily in their regular partnerships.

In the Monday knockouts, Drew Cannell, playing with Carol Kasle, defended well. He imagined a hand that his partner might hold that would set the opponents, then proceeded on that basis.

As East, defending two spades, he won the opening heart lead with the ace and decided a club shift was necessary. It looks natural to shift to a low club, but that might not have been sufficient as the cards lie.

Going for the jackpot, Cannell played the club queen, hoping to find today's exact layout, and was rewarded. The defenders cashed three clubs, then went back to hearts. When declarer crossed back to his hand with a diamond to play a spade to dummy's 10, Cannell won and played another heart, forcing dummy to ruff and giving the defense their second trump trick for down one.

ANSWER: Were you tempted to bid two spades? Bear in mind that your first call was not exactly an underbid — you do not have a robust opening bid. Once you have shown the unbid suits and values, you must rely on partner to compete to the appropriate level. To bid again now would require your complete lack of faith in partner's short-term memory.

Do-It-Yourself Ideas

Cupola

Inexpensive and easy to build, cupolas not only improve the appearance of a home but can improve ventilation, too.

This project is excellent for do-it-yourselfers who want the aesthetic qualities of a cupola, as well as for those willing to do the extra work for ventilation. (It is, however, a good idea to consult with a professional before cutting a hole in the roof.) The finished cupola measures 25 inches square by about 36 inches tall and adjusts to fit any roof pitch.
