Stennett tops picks to replace late husband as state senator

Gov. C.L. 'Butch' Otter to appoint new Dist. 25 senator to serve until Dec. 2

Times-News

Michelle Stennett tops the list to replace her late husband as state senator for District 25.

Her name will go to Gov. C. L. "Butch" Otter, who makes the final appointment, with Betty Murphy, of Ketchum, and Julie Lynch, of Wendell, being the No. 2 and 3 choices, respectively, on the District 25 Democratic Legislative Committee's picks.

The committee met Sunday night to nominate replacements for eight-term Sen. Clint Stennett, who died Oct. 14. It unanimously voted Michelle Stennett as its top nominee.

Otter has 15 days from receiving the nominations to appoint a replacement for the seat. The replacement will serve until Dec. 2, when a newly-elected senator is sworn in.

Michelle Stennett, who filled in for her husband when he was ill last session, is also running for the seat. She faces opposition in the Nov. 2 election from Constitution Party candidate Randall K. Patterson and Republican Jim Donoval.

District 25 serves Blaine, Camas, Gooding and Lincoln counties.

Absentee voting in M.V. picks up

By Ben Botkin
Times-News writer

Absentee voting is picking up in the Magic Valley, coming close to the number of ballots cast in the last comparable elections four years ago.

With a week left for absentee voting, the ballots cast could easily exceed the numbers in 2006, the state's last mid-term elections.

In Twin Falls County, 1,891 absentee ballots have been mailed out or filled out in the courthouse, said County Clerk Kristina Glascock last week. In the 2006 election, the county had 2,137 absentee ballots.

As tiered bills near, Kimberly residents reflect on water project

Council to see suggestions for new rates at Tuesday meeting

By Emily Katseanes

KIMBERLY — The new water tank has been filled. The old one has been torn down. Meters are installed and starting to amass data. The Utility Advisory Committee will present its suggestion for a tiered charging system at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

But Kimberly's multimillion-dollar water project has done anything but calm down.

For most residents, including those who both voted for and against funding the infrastructure and pricing changes, reactions to the water project have centered around annoyance at the construction and concern about the new charges hefted on them.

Denise Fairchild, who's lived in Kimberly for 11 years, said she's NEWARK, N.J. — New Jersey's governor wants to kill a $9 billion-plus train tunnel to New York City because of runaway costs. Six thousand miles away, Hawaii's outgoing governor is having second thoughts about a proposed $5.5 billion rail line in Honolulu.

In many of the 48 states in between, infrastructure projects are languishing on the drawing board, awaiting the right mix of creative financing, political arm-twisting and timing to move forward. And a struggling economy and a surge of political candidates opposed to big spending could make it a long wait.

Voting

“We’re still getting really close to that,” Glascock said, adding that a high number of absentee ballots is an indicator of what the turnout will be like on Election Day.

The 2006 mid-term election is a better comparison to the current voting cycle than 2008 because presidential-year elections tend to draw higher numbers.

In Jerome County, absentee votes have already outpaced those of 2006. So far, 459 absentee votes have been cast, 21 ahead of the 438 absentee ballots of 2006.

Here’s what the rules are for those planning to cast ballots before or on Election Day:

Absentee voting is still going on this week, but it ends soon.

Wednesday will be the last day for applications for an absentee ballot mailed from registered voters to their county clerks. The application forms, which can be picked up at county clerks’ offices, must be signed.

That’s not the only deadline. People can still come to their county’s courthouse and vote absentee all week through 5 p.m. Friday.

Because of a new state law, all voters need to provide personal identification before voting absentee or at the polls on Election Day. You’ll need one of the following:

- An Idaho driver’s license or Idaho Transportation Department identification card.
- A passport or identification card with a photograph issued by a U.S. government agency.
- A tribal identification card with a photograph.
- A current student identification card with a photograph issued by a high school or accredited university, college or technical school located within Idaho.

If you forgot to register, don’t fret. You still can, even at the polls on Election Day. Here’s what you’ll need:

- Your driver’s license number, or if you don’t have one, you’ll need to provide the last four digits of your Social Security number.
- For proof of address, you’ll need to provide a valid driver’s license or state identification card with your current address. If your address is different from your driver’s license, you’ll need a document with a valid address and your photo identification.
- Students can use their student identification from a post-secondary school combined with a student fee statement with their valid address and a photo identification.

Idaho man to get France’s Legion of Honor award

POCATELLO (AP) — A 92-year-old eastern Idaho man who worked with the French resistance during World War II is being honored by France for his efforts to liberate the country.

Richard Yardley of Pocatello is scheduled to be honored Nov. 11 as a chevalier of the Legion of Honor by a French representative who is traveling to Pocatello to present the award.

Yardley served with the U.S. Army’s 100th Infantry Division as a platoon leader, serving in both France and Germany.

Yardley tells the Idaho State Journal he’s proud to receive the award, and that thousands of soldiers deserve it.

Napoleon Bonaparte created the legion in 1802. It recognizes military, cultural, scientific or social contributions to France, including by people who are not French citizens.

Traffic at left heads northbound on the Alaskan Way Viaduct, above the southbound lanes below, through downtown Seattle in December 2008. New Mayor Mike McGinn is threatening to hold up construction of a massive highway tunnel to replace the waterfront’s dilapidated, earthquake-damaged Alaskan Way Viaduct because he fears city taxpayers will be on the hook if costs spiral beyond the $4.2 billion price tag.

presidential election when then-Alaska Gov. Sarah Palin was criticized for initially backing the plan, which was eventually scrapped.

The other cautionary tale of the past few years is Boston’s Big Dig, the highway and tunnel project that was originally envisioned at less than $3 billion and wound up costing nearly $15 billion.

The Big Dig has made it far easier for motorists to get to and from Boston’s airport, and it eliminated a noisy and unsightly elevated highway that cast a shadow over some of the city’s neighborhoods. But construction was plagued by years of delays, corruption and shoddy workmanship that resulted in the death of a motorist in a ceiling collapse.

A report this month by the Treasury Department and the Council of Economic Advisers paints a picture of a country dissatisfied with the state of America’s aging infrastructure and in favor of improvements, but not necessarily eager to commit the dollars to fix it.

Standing in New York’s Penn Station on Thursday in front of a sign touting the proposed tunnel, commuter Bill Mischell of Plainsboro, N.J., gave voice to those conclusions.

“You could make the argument that it will make New Jersey a better place to live, but you also have to weigh it impartially against the huge cost,” Mischell said. “The state’s in pretty significant financial trouble, and the money’s got to come from somewhere.”

Infrastructure spending in the U.S. stands at 2 percent of the country’s gross domestic product— half what it was in 1960 — compared with approximately 9 percent in China and 5 percent for Europe, according to the government report.

“During recessions it is common for state and local governments to cut back on capital projects — such as building schools, roads and parks — in order to meet balanced budget requirements,” the report concluded.

“However, the need for improved and expanded infrastructure is just as great during a downturn as it is during a boom.”

The American Society of Civil Engineers calculates that the U.S. would need to spend an additional $1.1 trillion over the next five years to restore roads, bridges, dams, levees and other infrastructure to good condition. In its latest report card, the engineering society gave the nation’s public works a “D” grade.

“Somehow we believe if we ignore it, it will go away,” said Blaine Leonard, the society’s president. “And it won’t. We have to stop hitting the snooze button on this problem.”

He said now is a good time to spend money on infrastructure because construction companies in this weak economy are hungry for work and the costs are relatively low as a result.

Major infrastructure projects of the past benefited from strong leadership, notably the interstate highway system pushed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in the 1950s, he said. Today, though, “there isn’t any high-level leadership about infrastructure,” so there’s no agreement about priorities, Leonard said.

CG/LA Infrastructure LLC, a Washington consulting firm, recently put together a list of the worthiest 100 large infrastructure projects in North America, totaling about $400 billion. Among the suggestions: a next-generation air traffic control system; high-speed rail linking Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago; a pair of highway projects in Texas; and the tunnel that New Jersey’s governor has threatened to scuttle.

To be sure, there are large-scale projects under way, notably in California, where a combination of federal dollars and voter-approved bonds and local tax increases are funding improvements, from highway widening to the $6.2 billion renovation of the Bay Bridge between San Francisco and Oakland. And this week, Arizona and Nevada hailed the opening of a $240 million bridge that bypasses Hoover Dam.

However, many projects recently completed or in the pipeline secured funding before the economy went into a slide. Some of them might not be approved today.

In New Jersey, construction on a rail tunnel connecting New Jersey and New York City — the largest transportation project under way in the U.S. — began in 2009 under then-Gov. Jon Corzine, a Democrat. It is projected to double train capacity at peak times as well as provide 6,000 construction jobs immediately and up to 40,000 jobs after its completion in 2018. About $6 billion of the cost is being covered by the federal government and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

Earlier this month, Republican Gov. Chris Christie announced he was pulling the plug because the cost had escalated from $5 billion in 2005 to more than $9 billion by the federal government’s estimate, and as much as $14 billion by Christie’s reckoning.

“I simply cannot put the taxpayers of the state of New Jersey on what would be a never-ending hook,” he said.

Christie later agreed to reconsider. The two-week review period expires Friday.

In Hawaii, Republican Gov. Linda Lingle announced recently that she wouldn’t sign off on a federally subsidized rail line until an updated economic study is conducted. And that may not be completed before she leaves office in less than two months. That means the project’s fate could be in her successor’s hands.

In Seattle, new Mayor Mike McGinn is threatening to hold up construction of a massive highway tunnel to replace the waterfront’s dilapidated, earthquake-damaged Alaskan Way Viaduct because he fears city taxpayers will be on the hook if costs spiral beyond the $4.2 billion price tag.

“The issue of the overall cost of the tunnel has been a concern to voters since before the recession, and I think the severity of the state’s and the city’s fiscal situation is causing people to take a harder look at ... an expensive and risky project,” McGinn said.

In Wisconsin, Ohio and California, Republican candidates for governor have vowed they won’t endorse high-speed rail projects, despite the promise of billions of dollars from Washington.

Other countries are spending heavily on job-creating infrastructure. Projects include Algeria’s $11.2 billion east-west highway; a planned $10 billion bridge linking the Indonesian islands of Java and Sumatra; and China’s $60 billion Yangtze River diversion project.

Australia plans to spend $38 billion to relieve traffic congestion in Melbourne, while Britain is preparing for a $45 billion high-speed rail link between London and the West Midlands. Japan is building a $70 billion highway from Tokyo to Osaka, scheduled for completion in 2020.

In the U.S., it often takes a catastrophe to give infrastructure improvements more urgency. The Minneapolis bridge collapse in 2007 that killed 13 people prompted reviews of aging bridges around the country.

“Unfortunately, our attention span is short,” Leonard said. “You would think the Minneapolis bridge collapse would have sent repercussions throughout the system that would have resulted in a transportation funding bill, but it didn’t. Even bridge funding bills didn’t get through Congress.”

Kimberly’s new tiered system of billing. Stimpson wants the committee to allow residents a certain amount of water before the charges begin. She has called neighboring cities to find out the amounts they charge and how many gallons are free, and plans to attend the council meeting to speak out.

Driving her is concern that she, like other senior citizens on fixed incomes, will be dealt a huge blow when the new bills roll out.

George Plew, chairman of the committee and a former councilman, said last week that though members hadn’t settled on an exact number for the tier rates or whether there will be any free gallons, they were working to make the charges affordable.

“We’re trying to make it most equitable for everybody. We all live in the city and we want to make the bond payment and keep the water flowing,” Plew said.

But many Kimberly residents echoed Stimpson’s concern, regardless of whether they had fixed incomes or not.

Pauline Eldridge has a fixed budget and said she didn’t vote for the project, in large part because she was worried about water bills going up. She’s now thinking about letting the grass in her backyard die.

“I’m sure a lot of people are going to do the same,” Eldridge said.

Fairchild didn’t vote for the project, but Stimpson did and said that, despite her concerns, she doesn’t regret it. Stimpson thinks the tiers will make it so that people like her friend, a single person in an apartment, will pay less than her and her husband in a house with a yard.

“I do not regret voting for it because it’s going to help a lot of people,” she said.

Of course, some Kimberly residents, like Tim Hayes, are still waiting to make a decision about the new system.

“I don’t really have an opinion on it until I get my first bill,” he said.

St. Luke's Health System shifts rates

Few customers will feel any direct impact

By Ariel Hansen
Times-News writer

If you're planning an elective outpatient service at St. Luke's Wood River Medical Center, you might be paying a little less than you would have before Oct. 1. Otherwise, your pocketbook is unlikely to see any effect of a recently enacted rate change across St. Luke's Health System.

The system is adjusting fees across its operation, which includes medical centers in the Treasure, Magic and Wood River valleys, and as of Oct. 1, McCall.

"We believe, from a consumer and patient perspective, we need to align our prices across the system so we don't have substantially different prices in different markets," said Jeffrey Taylor, St. Luke's chief financial officer and system vice president. "When we talk about alignment, that doesn't mean we have the same prices, but that it would be consistent with the cost of living in those markets."

The rate changes will clear up confusion as patients travel between different St. Luke's locations, said John Groesbeck, St. Luke's Magic Valley CFO and chief operating officer.

"In today's scenario, if someone wanted to have a chest X-ray, they could call Wood River and get one price, call Boise and get another price, and call Magic Valley and get a third price," he said. "That dilemma will go away for people as we move forward."

However, insurance companies negotiate annually with hospital systems to determine how coverage is reimbursed and which costs get passed on to patients, and Medicare and Medicaid costs are determined by the government. And patients not covered by those insurances are often assisted by charity, so most customers, including those in Magic Valley, are unlikely to see the change quickly reflected on their invoices.

Wood River, which joined the St. Luke's system in 2000, is leveraging its participation with the system to reduce prices for some elective outpatient services, including lab work, radiology and surgery.

With an average cost decrease of 20 percent for those services, the hospital hopes to retain potential patients who may previously have traveled to receive them. St. Luke's Wood River spokeswoman Tanya Keim said that the hospital is aware that doctors have recommended that option to some patients, due to cost.

Carl Hollingsworth, St. Luke's Wood River CFO, said he hopes the pricing decrease will result in an increase in patients using those services. Generally, the more a service is used, the lower the cost per use, although other factors can have a greater impact on the price.

St. Luke's has operated in the Treasure Valley since 1902, though its Twin Falls and McCall locations joined the system in 2006 and October, respectively. With each of those additions came different contractual arrangements.

"Because of that is the reason you get pricing differences or pricing that doesn't make sense across the system," Taylor said. "We're having to work with the payers to adjust contracts across all of the market locations, which is a collaborative and cooperative effort."

Taylor said that the rate changes are part of a long-term approach to both services and cost management within the system. Also considered in the long term are new facilities like the one in Twin Falls, and new services such as a linear accelerator to provide cutting-edge radiation therapy at the Mountain States Tumor Institute in Twin Falls.

"I can't emphasize enough, we're very thoughtful about pricing decisions we would make," Taylor said. "They correlate back to our overall financial plan and what we think the community needs in preserving the assets of St. Luke's and being able to provide appropriate services," he said.

T.F. Council hosts public hearing on development near Lazy J

Developer hopes to ease concerns of park residents

Times-News

The Lazy J Ranch mobile home park's future and that of undeveloped land at Washington Street and Pole Line Road is again in question, this time with the Twin Falls City Council as the judge.

The council will hold a public hearing today on whether to rezone the 70-acre plot southeast of the intersection from residential to commercial business park. The plot includes the Lazy J Ranch. The public hearings are to begin at 6 p.m., after the normal 5 p.m. city council meeting. Both are at the council chambers, 305 Third Ave. East, Twin Falls.

Retirees from the park and their family members turned out in force when the question reached the city Planning and Zoning Commission last month. The commission voted against recommending the zoning change for all 70 acres, though it recommended making the agricultural land next to the park into a commercial zone.

If the zoning change is approved as is, it will open the Lazy J to redevelopment, regardless who lives there; however, developer Gerald Martens said redeveloping the park will be the last phase and unlikely to happen for at least another decade. In a letter to the city after the planning and zoning meeting, Martens proposed a detailed phasing plan for the mobile home.

The city will also look at leasing some Pristine Springs water rights to the Magic and North Snake Ground Water districts for five to 20 years. The city would lease one cubic-foot-per-section – the equivalent of about two acre-feet of water per day of its 15 cubic-feet-per-section rights from the spring.

The water districts proposed $20,000 for the lease. The city staff recommends approving the lease with the caveat of the city being able to break it without consequence should it need the water rights.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Four amendments to the Idaho Constitution will appear on the November 2, 2010 general election ballot. These amendments have been proposed to the people for ratification following action by the legislature. The proposed amendments, the Legislative Council's Statements of Meaning and Purpose and Result to be Accomplished, and the Statements For and the Statements Against are listed as follows:

S.J.R. 101
Text of Proposed Amendment
IN THE SENATE SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 101 BY STATE AFFAIRS COMMITTEE
A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION 10, ARTICLE IX, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF IDAHO, RELATING TO THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO TO PERMIT THE BOARD OF REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO TO IMPOSE RATES OF TUITION AND FEES ON ALL STUDENTS ENROLLED IN THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO AS AUTHORIZED BY LAW; STATING THE QUESTION TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE ELECTORATE: DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL TO PREPARE THE STATEMENTS REQUIRED BY LAW AND DIRECTING THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO PUBLISH THE AMENDMENT AND ARGUMENTS AS REQUIRED BY LAW. Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Idaho: SECTION 1. That Section 10, Article IX, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to read as follows: Section 10. STATE UNIVERSITY--LOCATION, REGENTS, TUITION, FEES AND LANDS. The location of the University of Idaho, as established by existing laws, is hereby confirmed. All the rights, immunities, franchises, and endowments, heretofore granted thereto by the territory of Idaho are hereby perpetuated unto the said university. The regents shall have the general supervision of the university, and the control and direction of all the funds of, and appropriations to, the university, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. The regents may impose rates of tuition and fees on all students enrolled in the university as authorized by law. No university lands shall be sold for less than ten dollars per acre, and in subdivisions not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres, to any one person, company or corporation.

Ballot Question
"Shall Section 10, Article IX, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to permit the Board of Regents of the University of Idaho to impose rates of tuition and fees on all students enrolled in the University of Idaho as authorized by law?"
Legislative Council's Statement of Meaning, Purpose and Result to be Accomplished S.J.R. 101
This proposed amendment will clarify that the Board of Regents of the University of Idaho may charge students tuition, as authorized by law. Currently, the University of Idaho charges student fees to undergraduate students, but not tuition. Student fees cannot be used to pay for classroom instruction. All of the other state-supported colleges and universities in Idaho have the authority to charge tuition, and this amendment specifies that the University of Idaho will have the same authority.

Legislative Council's Statements FOR the Proposed Amendment
1. Currently the University of Idaho can charge student fees, but those fees cannot be used to help pay for the cost of classroom instruction. This amendment will allow the University of Idaho to charge tuition, which can be used to pay for classroom instruction, a practice that is allowed at all other state-supported Idaho colleges and universities.
2. This amendment will not establish any rates of tuition or fees. The authority for determining rates of tuition and fees will continue to rest with the State Board of Education, sitting as the Board of Regents of the University of Idaho.
3. This amendment allows all Idaho's higher education state-supported institutions the uniform authority to charge tuition.

Statements AGAINST the Proposed Amendment
1. The University of Idaho is Idaho's land-grant university and predates statehood. The framers of the Constitution envisioned a free education for University of Idaho undergraduate students, and that historic precedent should not be changed.
2. Rather than amending the Constitution, the state could provide the additional funding to cover the costs of classroom instruction at the University of Idaho.
3. Changes to the Constitution should be made only for major issues of interest to the state or in the event of a constitutional crisis.

H.J.R. 4
Text of Proposed Amendment
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4 BY REVENUE AND TAXATION COMMITTEE

A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE VIII, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF IDAHO, BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION 3E, ARTICLE VIII, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF IDAHO, RELATING TO REVENUE BOND FINANCING OF POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS OF THE STATE AND REGIONAL AIRPORT AUTHORITIES TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF REVENUE AND SPECIAL FACILITY BONDS BY POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS OF THE STATE AND REGIONAL AIRPORT AUTHORITIES AS DEFINED BY LAW, IF OPERATING AN AIRPORT TO ACQUIRE, CONSTRUCT, INSTALL, AND EQUIP LAND, FACILITIES, BUILDINGS, PROJECTS OR OTHER PROPERTY, WHICH ARE HEREBY DEEMED TO BE FOR A PUBLIC PURPOSE, TO BE FINANCED FOR, OR TO BE LEASED, SOLD OR OTHERWISE DISPOSED OF TO PERSONS, ASSOCIATIONS OR CORPORATIONS, OR TO BE HELD BY THE SUBDIVISION OR REGIONAL AIRPORT AUTHORITY, AND MAY IN THE MANNER PRESCRIBED BY LAW, ISSUE REVENUE AND SPECIAL FACILITY BONDS TO FINANCE THE COSTS THEREOF, PROVIDED THAT ANY SUCH BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE SOLELY FROM FEES, CHARGES, RENTS, PAYMENTS, GRANTS, OR ANY OTHER REVENUES DERIVED FROM THE AIRPORT OR ANY OF ITS FACILITIES, STRUCTURES, SYSTEMS, OR PROJECTS, OR FROM ANY LAND, FACILITIES, BUILDINGS, PROJECTS OR OTHER PROPERTY FINANCED BY SUCH BONDS, AND SHALL NOT BE SECURED BY THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT OR THE TAXING POWER OF THE SUBDIVISION OR REGIONAL AIRPORT AUTHORITY; STATING THE QUESTION TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE ELECTORATE: DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL TO PREPARE THE STATEMENTS REQUIRED BY LAW; AND DIRECTING THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO PUBLISH THE AMENDMENT AND ARGUMENTS AS REQUIRED BY LAW. Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Idaho: SECTION 1. That Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho, be, and the same is hereby amended by the addition thereto of a NEW SECTION, to be known and designated as Section 3E, Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho and to read as follows: SECTION 3E. AIRPORTS AND AIR NAVIGATION FACILITIES--AIRPORT RELATED PROJECTS--REVENUE AND SPECIAL FACILITY BOND FINANCING. Political subdivisions of the state and regional airport authorities as defined by law, if operating an airport, may acquire, construct, install, and equip land, facilities, buildings, projects or other property, which are hereby deemed to be for a public purpose, to be financed for, or to be leased, sold or otherwise disposed of to persons, associations or corporations, or to be held by the subdivision or regional airport authority, and may in the manner prescribed by law issue revenue and special facility bonds to finance the costs thereof; provided that any such bonds shall be payable solely from fees, charges, rents, payments, grants, or any other revenues derived from the airport or any of its facilities, structures, systems, or projects, or from any land, facilities, buildings, projects or other property financed by such bonds, and shall not be secured by the full faith and credit or the taxing power of the subdivision or regional airport authority. No provision of this Constitution including, but not limited to, Sections 3 and 4 of Article VIII and Section 4 of Article XII, shall be construed as a limitation upon the authority granted under this section.

Ballot Question
"Shall Section 3C, Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to authorize public hospitals, ancillary to their operations and in furtherance of health care needs in their service areas, to incur indebtedness or liability to purchase, contract, lease or construct or otherwise acquire facilities, equipment, technology and real property for health care operations, provided that no ad valorem tax revenues shall be used for such activities?"
Legislative Council's Statement of Meaning, Purpose and Result to be Accomplished H.J.R. 4
This proposed amendment will allow public hospitals to acquire facilities, equipment, technology and real property through a variety of means that aid the public hospital operations, as long as the acquisitions are paid for solely from charges, rents or payments derived from the existing or financed facilities and are not funded by property taxes. Under current Idaho constitutional provisions, public hospitals, as subdivisions of the state of Idaho, have limited ability to incur debt without the approval of a two-thirds vote at an election held for that purpose. This proposed amendment will provide a limited alternative to that two-thirds vote requirement. The use of tax dollars to finance these kinds of investments is prohibited.

Legislative Council's Statements FOR the Proposed Amendment
1. The proposed amendment will allow Idaho's public hospitals, which are primarily located in small towns and rural areas, to invest in new medical equipment, facilities and technology to better meet the health care needs of patients in their communities, strengthening Idaho's entire health care system.
2. The proposed amendment will help give public hospitals the resources they need to attract the best medical personnel, spur the economy by creating jobs, and increase operational efficiency through long-term contracts.
3. The proposed amendment keeps in place the safeguards provided in the Idaho Constitution in two ways. First, no tax dollars can be used to finance these investments. Second, the amendment strictly forbids obligating taxpayers or any state, county or other governmental entity with these investments.

Statements AGAINST the Proposed Amendment
1. The existing Idaho constitutional requirement mandating a two-thirds assent of the voters before a public hospital can enter into long-term debt is an important safeguard for all Idaho citizens.
2. Adoption of the proposed amendment will limit the right of voters to approve certain debt incurred by the public hospitals.
3. Changes to the Constitution should be made only for major issues of interest to the state or in the event of a constitutional crisis.

Ballot Question
"Shall Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended by the addition of a new Section 3E, to provide for the issuance of revenue and special facility bonds by political subdivisions of the state and regional airport authorities as defined by law, if operating an airport to acquire, construct, install, and equip land, facilities, buildings, projects or other property, which are hereby deemed to be for a public purpose, to be financed for, or to be leased, sold or otherwise disposed of to persons, associations or corporations, or to be held by the subdivision or regional airport authority, and may in the manner prescribed by law issue revenue and special facility bonds to finance the costs thereof; provided that any such bonds shall be payable solely from fees, charges, rents, payments, grants, or any other revenues derived from the airport or any of its facilities, structures, systems, or projects, or from any land, facilities, buildings, projects or other property financed by such bonds, and shall not be secured by the full faith and credit or the taxing power of the subdivision or regional airport authority?"
Legislative Council's Statement of Meaning, Purpose and Result to be Accomplished H.J.R. 5
Currently, local governmental entities that operate airports and regional airport authorities cannot incur indebtedness without the approval of a two-thirds vote at an election held for that purpose. This proposed amendment will allow local governmental entities that operate airports and regional airport authorities to issue revenue and special facility bonds to acquire, construct, install and equip land, facilities, buildings, projects or other property. Voter approval will not be required to incur such indebtedness, as long as the bonds are paid for by fees, charges, rents, payments, grants or other revenues derived from the airport or its facilities. The use of tax dollars to repay such bonds is prohibited.

Legislative Council's Statements FOR the Proposed Amendment
1. Public airports should have the ready ability to construct needed facilities, such as terminals, runways, parking structures and hangars, which provide travelers with better services and accommodations and attract industries to Idaho as long as the users pay for these facilities.
2. Political subdivisions and regional airport authorities need the ability to efficiently address operational needs as they arise. Adoption of this amendment will provide this ability without the use of tax dollars to repay any debt or liability incurred.
3. The inability of political subdivisions and regional airport authorities to incur indebtedness and liability without voter approval has been a confounding factor in driving regional aviation-related industries to conduct business in neighboring states. If the proposed amendment is not adopted, Idaho could continue to lose similar economic development opportunities.
4. Public airports are a vital part of economic development and commerce in the state of Idaho. In 2009, aviation contributed an estimated $2.1 billion to Idaho's economy. Properties and facilities funded by special facility bonds will attract and expand industries, such as maintenance, manufacturing and cargo operations, which will create new jobs and foster economic development in Idaho. Modern and efficient airports are essential to Idaho's prosperity.
Statements AGAINST the Proposed Amendment
1. The existing Idaho constitutional requirement mandating a two-thirds assent of the voters before a political subdivision or regional airport authority can incur debt is an important safeguard for all Idaho citizens.
2. Adoption of the proposed amendment will allow political subdivisions and regional airport authorities to acquire, construct, install and equip land, facilities, buildings and projects that are not specifically limited to airport operations.
3. Buildings and land owned by the government are not taxed and therefore provide no revenues to schools, cities, counties or other levying authorities. Adoption of the proposed amendment could result in an increase in property exempt from taxation.
4. Changes to the Constitution should be made only for major issues of interest to the entire state or in the event of a constitutional crisis.

Text of Proposed Amendment
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 7 BY REVENUE AND TAXATION COMMITTEE

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Idaho: SECTION 1. That Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho, be, and the same is hereby amended by the addition thereto of a NEW SECTION, to be known and designated as Section 3D, Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho and to read as follows: SECTION 3D. MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC SYSTEMS--AUTHORIZED INDEBTEDNESS. Notwithstanding the limitations and requirements of Section 3, Article VIII, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho, any city owning a municipal electric system may: (a) acquire, construct, install and equip electric generating, transmission and distribution facilities for the purpose of supplying electricity to customers located within the service area of each system established by law and for the purpose of paying the cost thereof, may issue revenue bonds with the assent of a majority of the qualified electors voting at an election held as provided by law; and (b) incur indebtedness or liability under agreements to purchase, share, exchange or transmit wholesale electricity for the use and benefit of customers located within such service area; provided that any revenue bonds, or revenues derived from the municipal electric system and shall not be secured by the full faith and credit or the taxing power of the city, the state or any political subdivision."

Legislative Council's Statement of Meaning, Purpose and Result to be Accomplished H.J.R. 7
This proposed amendment has two parts. The first part will allow any city owning a municipal electric system to acquire, construct, install and equip electrical generating, transmission and distribution facilities for the purpose of supplying electricity to customers within its service area. The city will be authorized to issue revenue bonds to pay for such facilities, with the assent of a majority of the qualified voters, provided that these bonds are paid for by the electrical system rates and charges, or revenues derived from the municipal electric system, and not with tax dollars.

The city will be authorized to issue revenue bonds to pay for such facilities, with the assent of a majority of the qualified voters, provided that these bonds are paid for by the electrical system rates and charges, or revenues derived from the municipal electric system, and not with tax dollars.

Legislative Council's Statements FOR the Proposed Amendment
1. This amendment will clarify that a city owning a municipal electric system may enter into contracts or agreements for the purchase of wholesale electricity, helping to ensure that its citizens have low-cost and stable electric utility rates.
2. This amendment will allow a city owning a municipal electric system to responsibly upgrade and modernize electricity-related facilities and help to stabilize electric rates. Such cities will be allowed to issue revenue bonds, with the assent of a majority of voters, in order to finance investment in electric generation, transmission and distribution infrastructure.
3. This amendment provides that voter-approved revenue bonds and other indebtedness or liability shall be payable solely from the revenues derived from the municipal electric system. The amendment specifically provides that the revenue bonds and other indebtedness or liability shall not be secured by the taxing power of the city, state or any political subdivision.
Statements AGAINST the Proposed Amendment
1. The existing Idaho constitutional requirement mandating a two-thirds assent of the voters before a city owning a municipal electric system can enter into agreements resulting in debt is an important safeguard for all Idaho citizens.
2. Currently, the Constitution requires two-thirds assent of the voters of a city to approve the issuance of revenue bonds by a city owning a municipal electric system. If adopted, the proposed amendment will require only a majority of the voters to approve the issuance of revenue bonds by the city to finance electric generating, transmission and distribution facilities.
3. Changes to the Constitution should be made only for major issues of interest to the entire state or in the event of a constitutional crisis.

Eight magistrate judges up for retention in 5th District

Times-News

Eight of 5th Judicial District's 11 magistrate judges are up for retention on Nov. 2, with every county within the district represented except for Jerome.

The following sitting judges are on the ballot: R. Ted Israel, Blaine County; Jason Walker, Camas County; Rick R. Bollar, Mick Hodges, Cassia County; Casey U. Robinson, Gooding County; Mark A. Ingram, Lincoln County; Larry R. Duff, Minidoka County; and Thomas D. Kershaw Jr., Twin Falls County.

Magistrate judges do not campaign as they face no direct competition. Voters simply mark “yes” or “no” for retaining their county's judges, who serve four-year terms. Majority voter approval of “50 percent plus 1” is required for retention.

Magistrates are initially appointed to the bench for an 18-month probationary period. If retained by the appointing committee, a judge will come up for retention during the next election year. Because these appointments can come at any time that a sitting judge retires or moves on to a higher court, the district's current batch of judges have bunched up when it comes to retention.

Not up for retention are Thomas Borresen of Jerome County and Roger B. Harris of Twin Falls County. Longtime Twin Falls Magistrate Howard Smyser will retire later this year. That position already has 13 candidates, and interviews are set to begin after the start of January. A new judge will take Smyser's former post in March.

All eight of the magistrates on their respective county's ballot have at least three years of experience on the bench. Walker, Hodges and Kershaw were appointed in 2007. Israel took the bench in 2004, along with Robinson. Bollar was appointed in 2003, while Ingram was named magistrate in 2001. Duff has served as a magistrate judge since 1992.

On average, a magistrate judge is paid $103,680 plus state employee benefits.

Alex Anderson, creator of Rocky and Bullwinkle, dies at 90

By Matt Schudel
The Washington Post

Alex Anderson, the artist who created the cartoon characters Rocky and Bullwinkle, the flying squirrel and hapless moose who were TV fixtures in the early 1960s, died Oct. 22 at a nursing facility in Carmel, Calif. His wife said he had Alzheimer's disease. He was 90.

Anderson, who grew up in a cartooning family in California, was also the creator of Crusader Rabbit, which became television's first animated cartoon series in 1949. He spent much of his career in advertising, and his role in creating Rocky and Bullwinkle was overlooked with time. He fought a long legal battle late in life to reclaim recognition as the cartoon characters' artistic father.

Rocket “Rocky” J. Squirrel and Bullwinkle J. Moose first landed on network TV in 1959. They lived in the town of Frostbite Falls and found themselves embroiled in all manner of absurd plots involving espionage and devious villains. The show contained outrageous puns and veiled Cold War commentary that sailed over the heads of the children who were its primary audience.

The Rocky and Bullwinkle cartoons also featured another of Anderson's popular creations, Dudley Do-Right, a strutting Canadian Mountie in constant pursuit of his nemesis, the mustache-twirling Snidely Whiplash.

Anderson was not part of the production of the original series, which ran on ABC from 1959 to 1961 and NBC from 1961 to 1964. As the years passed, his role in developing the characters was largely forgotten. He received nothing when a lucrative video deal was struck for the burgeoning Bullwinkle franchise.

“I'm thrilled that something I did has become so popular,” he told the San Francisco Chronicle in 1991. “But I'm sorry that I don't get any credit for it.”

He decided to take legal action after seeing a documentary about Bullwinkle that didn't mention his name at all. Instead, most of the credit went to his childhood friend and onetime business partner, Jay Ward. Animator and writer Bill Scott, who was the first TV voice of Bullwinkle, was also cited as a “creative force.”

Anderson and Ward grew up together in Berkeley, Calif., and formed a business in the late 1940s to pitch cartoon ideas to television. Crusader Rabbit, Rocky, Bullwinkle and Dudley Do-Right were among the characters they showed to studio executives before Crusader Rabbit was picked up.

After Anderson's other cartoon ideas failed to catch on, he joined a San Francisco advertising agency. Ward moved to Los Angeles, trying to sell TV studios on a Bullwinkle series.

Anderson reportedly retained half-ownership of the characters and received regular payments until Ward died in 1989. In the early 1990s, Anderson filed suit against Ward's heirs to reclaim full credit as the creator of Rocky and Bullwinkle.

He received a lump-sum settlement in 1993, along with a court-mandated acknowledgment as “the creator of the first version of the characters of Rocky, Bullwinkle and Dudley.”

Alexander Hume Anderson Jr. was born Sept. 5, 1920, in Berkeley. Two of his uncles were cartoonists, including Paul Terry, who is credited with developing the character of Mighty Mouse. In 1938, Anderson joined Terry's animation studio, Terrytoons, in New Rochelle, N.Y.

Anderson served in the Navy during World War II and attended the University of California at Berkeley and the California School of Fine Arts before starting his animation company with Ward in Berkeley.

In his advertising career, Anderson worked on campaigns for Skippy peanut butter and Smucker's jams and preserves. He settled in the California seaside community of Pebble Beach in 1968.

His marriages to Gail Anderson and Beverly Anderson ended in divorce.

Survivors include his wife of 36 years, Patricia Larsen Anderson of Pebble Beach; two sons from his first marriage, Terry Anderson of Napa, Calif., and Scott Anderson of Apache Junction, Ariz.; three stepchildren, Matthew Kennedy of Monterey, Calif., Carolyn Kennedy of Pebble Beach and Daniel Kennedy of Tucson; 14 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Anderson said the idea for Bullwinkle came to him when he dreamed that a “There’s something majestic about moose,” Anderson said in 1991. “They’re macho, but they have a comic aspect, with that schnozzola of theirs. There are few creatures just begging to be caricatured.”

Near his Berkeley studio in those early days, there was a car dealer called Bullwinkle Motors. Anderson changed the spelling of the name and gave it to his moose, and an unforgettable cartoon character was born.

Hamlin wins third straight at Martinsville

By Hank Kurz Jr.
Associated Press writer

MARTINSVILLE, Va. — Denny Hamlin passed Kevin Harvick for the lead with 29 laps to go Sunday and won his third consecutive NASCAR Sprint Cup race at Martinsville Speedway.

"I don't think I've ever closed that well, ever," Hamlin said in Victory Lane.

He became the first driver since Jimmie Johnson in 2007 to sweep both races on the shortest, tightest track in the series, and both he and Harvick closed the gap on Johnson in the points race with four races to go. Hamlin cut his 41-point deficit to six points, and Harvick is 62 behind.

The margin between the top two in the standings is the smallest with four races to go since the Chase started in 2004.

Harvick finished third after Mark Martin passed him in the closing laps, but Harvick had his best showing in 19 career starts at the 0.526-mile oval; he'd never been better than seventh.

"Everybody said it was a two-horse race, and we were right there in the middle of it," Harvick said. He gained 15 points in the standings, with the series heading next to Talladega, where he won in the spring.

Johnson, the four-time defending champion, rallied to finish fifth, also finishing behind Kyle Busch.

"For awhile I thought the 29, the 11 and us were just going to ride together all day long," Johnson said of Hamlin and Harvick, "but then the 11 got going there at the end."

Harvick led during most of a long green-flag run until Hamlin got to his rear bumper, then went to his inside. The two raced side-by-side for about five laps before Harvick checked up coming out of Turn 2, finally falling in line behind Hamlin on lap 472.

The race had 15 cautions for 90 laps, but the final 98 were run under a green flag.

"That's exactly what we needed at the end," Hamlin's crew chief, Mike Ford, said.

The race seemed likely to be a battle between Johnson and Hamlin, who had combined to win the last eight races at Martinsville and began the day 1-2 in the point standings.

Instead of domination, 12 different drivers led and there were 24 lead changes.

Jeff Burton led the most laps with 134, but faded at the finish and came in ninth.

Jeff Gordon had a rough day, seriously damaging his chance for a fifth championship. He entered fourth in points, 156 behind Hendrick Motorsports teammate Johnson, but was spun into the frontstretch wall by Kurt Busch after running in contention all race long.

Gordon wound up 20th and fell to fifth in the standings, 203 points behind Johnson.

Auburn passes Boise St. takes 1st in BCS standings

By Ralph D. Russo
Associated Press writer

NEW YORK — Cam Newton and Auburn blew by Boise State into first place in the BCS standings.

The unbeaten Tigers (8-0) vaulted from fourth to the top spot Sunday, putting the Southeastern Conference in line for a fifth straight appearance in the national title game.

Oregon (7-0) remained second, which works just fine for the Ducks because if they win out they'll likely play in the BCS title game in Glendale, Ariz., in January.

Boise State (6-0) was still stuck in third place. The Broncos were off last week while Auburn beat LSU 24-17 and Oregon pounded Pac-10 rival UCLA 60-13.

TCU (8-0) was fourth, Michigan State (8-0) fifth and Missouri (7-0) sixth.

Auburn was tops in the computer rankings and third in each of the USA Today coaches' and Harris polls. The polls count for two-thirds of a BCS average and a compilation of six computer ratings account for the rest.

"I can only control how we proceed in this building," coach Gene Chizik said a few hours before the standings were released.

"We just had a team meeting and we talked about being very grounded and understanding that every week is another new week and another opportunity."

An SEC team has won the last four national championships, with Florida taking two and Alabama and LSU winning one each.

Oregon's computer rating was still lagging behind most of the top teams at eighth, but the Ducks were a solid No. 1 in each of the polls.

Boise State was No. 2 in the polls and the computers had the Broncos sixth.

Boise State from the Western Athletic Conference and TCU from the Mountain West are both trying to become the first teams from conferences without automatic bids to play in the BCS championship game. To have any chance, they'll have to go undefeated and have Auburn and Oregon lose.

Even then, the Broncos and Horned Frogs could be passed by Michigan State and Missouri if they stay unbeaten, or maybe even by Alabama, which has lost a game but stands seventh in the BCS standings.

Oregon and Auburn both play on the road this week. The Tigers play at Mississippi and Oregon is at Southern California.

Boise State plays Tuesday night at home against Louisiana Tech.

Auburn up to No.3 behind Oregon, Boise St in AP poll

By Ralph D. Russo
Associated Press writer

NEW YORK — The other team from Alabama surged toward the top of the AP poll while another set of Tigers has emerged as the Big 12's unexpected national title contender.

Auburn jumped two spots to No. 3 behind top-ranked Oregon and Boise State in the media poll Sunday, and Missouri vaulted 11 spots to No. 7.

Oregon, which moved to No. 1 for the first time last week and followed up with a 60-13 victory against UCLA on Thursday night, received 44 first-place votes. Boise State had 11, Auburn received three and No. 4 TCU received two.

Auburn has its highest ranking since the Tigers were No. 2 in 2006 after beating LSU 24-17 on Saturday in a matchup of the Southeastern Conference's last unbeaten teams. Quarterback Cameron Newton ran for 217 yards, cementing himself as the Heisman Trophy front-runner.

The Tigers started the season No. 22 and have been climbing steadily since.

Michigan State is fifth and Alabama, last year's champion and the preseason No. 1, is sixth.

Missouri's big move came after the Tigers beat previously undefeated Oklahoma 36-27. The Sooners dropped eight spots to No. 11. Missouri was last ranked this highly in 2007, when the Tigers reached No. 1 and finished the season No. 4.

The rest of the top 10 is Utah, Wisconsin and Ohio State.

No. 25 Baylor (6-2) is ranked for the first time since Sept. 5, 1993, when the Bears were No. 24 for a week.

The Bears beat Kansas State 47-42 Saturday behind quarterback Robert Griffin III to become bowl eligible for the first time since joining the Big 12 in 1996.

The last time the Bears were ranked for more than a week was 1991, when they were still part of the Southwest Conference. To match that, they'll likely need to win at Texas this Saturday.

Texas fell out of the rankings for the second time this season after being upset at home 28-21 by Iowa State. West Virginia also dropped out of the rankings this week after a surprising 19-14 home loss to Syracuse. Southern California moved back in the poll at No. 24, just in time to play No. 1 Oregon at home.

LSU's first loss of the season dropped the Tigers six spots to No. 12. Stanford, Nebraska, and Arizona round out the top 15.

Florida State is 16th, followed by South Carolina, Iowa, Arkansas and Oklahoma State, which lost for the first time this season, 51-41 to Nebraska.

Joining Baylor and USC in the final five were Virginia Tech, Miami and Mississippi State.

Byrd hits the jackpot in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS — In a stunning finish in Las Vegas, Jonathan Byrd won a three-man playoff with a hole-in-one on the fourth extra hole.

Byrd, Martin Laird and Cameron Percy debated whether to keep playing the Justin Timberlake Shriners Hospital for Children Open because of darkness. They all decided to go one more hole Sunday — the 204-yard 17th at TPC Summerlin.

And it essentially was over with one swing. Byrd's shot landed about 10 feet short of the flag and disappeared into the cup. It was so dark Byrd wasn't even sure it went in. All he had to do was wait for Laird and Percy to hit their shots for Byrd to come up with his first win of the year.

It was the second dramatic finish in the Fall Series. A week ago, Rocco Mediate holed out for eagle on the 17th hole at CordeValle.

KANG WINS SECOND LPGA TOUR TITLE

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — Jimin Kang won the Sime Darby LPGA Malaysia for her second LPGA Tour title, beating Juli Inkster by a stroke Sunday when the 50-year-old Hall of Famer bogeyed the final hole.

Kang, the 30-year-old South Korean player who went to high school in Edmonds, Wash., and starred at Arizona State, birdied the par-4 18th for a 6-under 65 and a 9-under total at Kuala Lumpur Golf and Country Club.

Inkster birdied Nos. 15-17 to take the lead, but couldn't hold on in her bid to break the LPGA Tour age record of 46 years, 8 months set by Beth Daniel in the 2003 Canadian Women's Open.

PAVIN MAINTAINS ONE-STROKE LEAD IN CHAMPIONS

THE WOODLANDS, Texas — U.S. Ryder Cup captain Corey Pavin shot a 4-under 68 to maintain a one-stroke lead in the Champions Tour's Administaff Small Business Classic.

Pavin had a 10-under 134 total on The Woodlands Country Club course.

Mark Wiebe (68) was second, and former University of Houston star Fred Couples (65) was 8 under. Couples had eight birdies and one bogey in his tournament-best round.

BOYD KEEPS TWO-STROKE LEAD AT CASTELLO

CASTELLON, Spain — England's Gary Boyd matched the Club de Campo del Mediterraneo record with 9-under 63 to take a two-stroke lead in the Castello Masters.

Boyd had a 14-under 199 total. Italy's Matteo Manassero (67) and Sweden's Christian Nilsson (66) were tied for second. England's John Parry also shot a 63, leaving him five strokes back.

Seattle beats Arizona 22-10

By Tim Booth
Associated Press writer

SEATTLE — No matter how unimpressive, Pete Carroll's Seattle Seahawks are leaders of the mediocre NFC West after seven weeks.

Olindo Mare kicked five field goals, Matt Hasselbeck threw a 2-yard touchdown to Mike Williams, and the Seahawks took advantage of five Arizona turnovers in an unimpressive 22-10 win over the Cardinals on Sunday.

At 4-2, Seattle staked claim to the top spot in the lackluster NFC West in so-so fashion when plenty of opportunities were wasted.

If Carroll needed teaching points moving forward, he just can show film of Sunday.

Seattle had 10 penalties, many coming in key moments that forced it to settle for Mare's kicks. Mare even got some extra work, having four made kicks taken off the board by some type of penalty, three by Seattle and one by Arizona.

Mare made field goals of 20, 31, 51, 24 and 26 yards, stretching his consecutive field goals streak to 30 dating back to last season. Hasselbeck threw for 192 yards and avoided throwing an interception for the second straight week. Unlike last week against Chicago, Hasselbeck was hit this game, sacked five times, partly due to the loss of left tackle Russell Okung on the first drive with a right ankle injury.

Coming off a career day a week ago, Williams topped himself with 11 catches for 87 yards and his first touchdown since the 2006 season. In his second game since arriving in a trade with Buffalo, Marshawn Lynch

Raiders set team scoring mark, rout Broncos 59-14

DENVER — Behind Darren McFadden's four touchdowns, Oakland scored the most points in its 50-year history in routing demoralized Denver.

The Raiders (3-4) were fueled by a 38-point outburst in the first 22 minutes, including touchdowns 8 seconds apart to start the rout that recalled so many of the lopsided scores between these former AFL teams in the 1960s.

The Raiders kept the Broncos (2-5) guessing until game time that Jason Campbell would start at quarterback despite a sore knee in place of Bruce Gradkowski (sore shoulder).

McFadden, meanwhile, showed no ill effects of a recent hamstring injury in scoring on a pair of 4-yard runs and a 19-yard reception in the first half and on a 57-yard run in the second.

STEELERS 23, DOLPHINS 22

MIAMI — The officials eventually got it right that Ben Roethlisberger fumbled at the goal line. The Dolphins were still left feeling wronged.

An officiating mistake negated Roethlisberger's late fumble, and the Steelers kicked the game-winning field goal on the next play Sunday. Jeff Reed made an 18-yarder with 2:30 left, allowing Pittsburgh to escape with a 23-22 win.

One play earlier, with Pittsburgh trailing 22-20 and facing third-and-goal at the 2, Roethlisberger fumbled as he dived across the goal line on a quarterback draw. The play was ruled a touchdown as both teams scrambled for the loose ball in the end zone.

PANTHERS 23, 49ERS 20

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — John Kasay kicked a 37-yard field goal with 39 seconds remaining to give Carolina (1-5) its first win of the season.

The 49ers' David Carr was intercepted by Richard Marshall with just over a minute left to set up the winning kick. The 49ers fell to 1-6.

The Panthers tied it when rookie David Gettis, who had dropped a touchdown pass earlier in the fourth quarter on fourth down, made a diving 23-yard TD grab with 1:53 left.

RAVENS 37, BILLS 34 OT

BALTIMORE — The Bills came close, but Billy Cundiff kicked a 38-yard field goal with 10:57 left in overtime after Ray Lewis stripped the ball from tight end Shawn Nelson, and Baltimore squeezed past winless Buffalo (0-6).

Joe Flacco threw three touchdown passes for the Ravens, who survived an uncharacteristic performance by a defense that was shredded for 505 yards.

PATRIOTS 23, CHARGERS 20

SAN DIEGO — New San Diego kicker Kris Brown missed a 50-yard field goal attempt with 23 seconds left as New England escaped with a win.

Brown lined up to try a 45-yarder that would have forced overtime, but guard Louis Vasquez was whistled for a false start. Moved back five yards, Brown's attempt was long enough but bounced off the right upright. Brown was signed last week because Nate Kaeding has an injured groin.

Leading by three with two minutes left, New England gambled on fourth-and-1 from its 49 and BenJarvus Green-Ellis was stuffed for a 1-yard loss by Antwan Applewhite. Coach Bill Belichick had challenged the spot of the previous play and lost, costing him his final timeout. San Diego then moved to the 27.

New England (5-1) pulled into a tie with the idle New York Jets atop the AFC East. The Chargers fell to 2-5.

REDSKINS 17, BEARS 14

CHICAGO — DeAngelo Hall tied an NFL record with four interceptions, running one back 92 yards for a touchdown, and Washington sacked Jay Cutler four times while forcing six turnovers.

Hall tied a record held by 18 others and became the first to pick off four passes since Deltha O'Neal did it with Denver in 2001. His one-handed interception and TD return late in the third quarter were made for the highlight reel and put the Redskins ahead for good, sending Chicago (4-3) to its third loss in four games.

FALCONS 39, BENGALS 32

ATLANTA — Roddy White had a spectacular day for Atlanta, catching 11 passes for 201 yards.

The Falcons (5-2) squandered a 24-3 halftime lead, falling behind when Cincinnati (2-4) took advantage of two turnovers and ripped off 22 straight points in the third quarter.

TITANS 37, EAGLES 19

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Kerry Collins threw three touchdowns to Kenny Britt, who had the best game of his career two days after being involved in a bar fight, and Tennessee scored 27 unanswered points in the fourth quarter.

Britt had the best receiving game in the NFL this season. He caught touchdown passes of 26, 80 and 16 yards and finished with seven receptions for 225 yards — all career highs for the second-year player on a day when he didn't start as punishment for his role in the fight.

BUCCANEERS 18, RAMS 17

TAMPA, Fla. — Josh Freeman led another Tampa Bay fourth-quarter comeback, throwing a 1-yard touchdown pass to Cadillac Williams with 10 seconds remaining.

Connor Barth kicked four field goals for the Bucs (4-2), who trailed 17-3 before battling back to surpass their win total for last season.

BROWNS 30, SAINTS 17

NEW ORLEANS — David Bowens returned two of Drew Brees' four interceptions for touchdowns and the Browns stunned the defending champion Sa-ints.

Rookie Colt McCoy passed for only 74 yards but got his first win as an NFL starter — a desperately needed one for the struggling Browns (2-5).

CHIEFS 42, JAGUARS 20

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Derrick Johnson returned an interception for a score and Matt Cassel threw two TD passes to Dwayne Bowe for Kansas City.

The Chiefs (4-2) ran for 236 yards and three TDs while overcoming several penalties.

PACKERS 28, VIKINGS 24

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Brett Favre threw three second-half interceptions to his former team and the Green Bay Packers held on to beat the Minnesota Vikings 28-24 on Sunday night.

Favre appeared to deliver another signature comeback win with an apparent touchdown strike to Percy Harvin with 48 seconds left — but the play was ruled incomplete on a replay review. With one more chance on fourth-and-15 at the 20, Favre threw incomplete out of bounds.

Aaron Rodgers was 21 of 34 for 295 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions.

OPINION

“It will be very, very dangerous. Port-au-Prince already has more than 2.4 million people, and the way they are living is dangerous enough already.”
— Claude Surena, president of the Haitian Medical Association, on heightened concerns that the cholera outbreak could reach the tarp camps where hundreds of thousands of earthquake survivors live

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

D. Leon Mills is willing to work, listen and help

Citizens of Twin Falls County:

I know a man who will represent you to the very best of his ability. He's running for Twin Falls County commissioner.

D. Leon Mills will listen to your opinions and make decisions that reflect the best interests of everyone. Leon is a remarkable human-being. He's one of those rare people who walk among us willing to work, willing to listen, willing to help make the world a better place for us to live. He's not a fancy man but a man like most of you. He is a hard worker and a common man, but a man with good conservative values.

Vote Tuesday, Nov. 2, for D. Leon Mills.

Let a new CSI board lead the college's future

Well, it's here — election time for CSI trustee positions. We have good people running at this time. They are very knowledgeable about the issues that concern taxpayers in this district.

As taxpayers, we think that, given an opportunity, Karl Kleinkopf and Bob Keegan are excellent choices for the direction that the College of Southern Idaho takes in the years to come, with a transparency that is needed at this time.

Let a new CSI board lead the way. The community needs to become more informed and active in some of the decisions made by the CSI leadership.

Let's change this now! Vote Kleinkopf and Keegan on Nov. 2.

Vote to keep Sen. Mike Crapo and Mike Simpson

Do you like to go hunting? Do you like to go fishing? Do you like to take your family on camping trips? Have you been whitewater rafting? Perhaps you are one of those brave people who climbs mountains. Do you have a four-wheeler or a mountain bike and like to ride the mountain trails? Idaho has so many great places to go and enjoy these activities with our families and friends.

Now the big question — do you take time from your busy lives and vote? If you fail to exercise your right and privilege to vote, you are running the risk that the autocrats in Washington, D.C., will continue to tie up our lands and waterways. We and our children will no longer have the opportunity to hunt or fish or go whitewater rafting, climb Mountains or go four-wheeling or ride our mountain bikes. We must vote for the right people so we can continue to enjoy Idaho's beauty.

On Nov. 2, vote for United States Sen. Mike Crapo and Idaho's Congressman Mike Simpson. Both are honorable men and will continue to represent our rights to enjoy all that Idaho has to offer.

Hardworking trio will fight for you and Idaho

When you go to the polls to cast your ballot, I hope you will make a wise and educated vote. My votes will be cast for the following citizens who represent District 23.

Sen. Bert Brackett devotes his work in our State Capitol preserving the traditions and culture that have made Idaho great while preparing for a future that affords opportunities for the next generation. Bert served two terms in the House of Representatives and is currently serving in the Senate. He believes in limited government, property tax reform and individual property rights and is a proponent of renewable/alternative energy. Vote for Bert Brackett, a true conservative.

Rep. Jim Patrick has dedicated his life to making his community a better place to live. Jim serves on the Agriculture, Business and Education committees. He served seven years on the National Dry Bean Council as well as serving 10 years on the Idaho Bean Commission. He serves on the Advisory Board for the CSI Department of Agriculture. Jim was appointed by Gov. Kempthorne to the Seed Indemnity Fund Committee. Jim Patrick will listen to your concerns. Jim cares about our state and country.

The third member of this hard-working trio is Rep. Stephen Hartgen. Stephen is a conservative and respects our traditional Republican values. He received a 92 percent rating by the Idaho Conservative website. Whether it's on agriculture or economic development, ranching or row crops, Steve will listen to you. His old-fashioned work ethic ensures your views are considered. Stephen has been involved in so many important issues from education funding to criminal justice. A vote for Stephen Hartgen on Nov. 2 is a good vote.

GOP has never helped working class people

It has to be a bunch of crap. The voters are not that stupid. The greedy right-wing fat cat Republicans are not going to get back in control of our great democracy. The voters are too smart.

After eight years of total disaster for the working class under R control, ruining a country with a balanced budget and money in the bank, blowing it on tax cuts for the rich and two winless wars bringing us to near bankruptcy. Our great interstate road system built under President Eisenhower is in ruins with bridges that are near collapse. Our teachers are leaving for states who appreciate their teachers with adequate salaries and full work years.

President Obama, according to the world's competent economists, saved us all from a disastrous economic melt down — something that would have affected all nations.

Any legislation that would stimulate the economy for the middle class was stonewalled by the right wing Republicans. Obama care would have eliminated the present health care insurance scam that is costing millions of Americans their life savings. It would also supply them with an affordable fool proof program. People would no longer go bankrupt after a lifetime of savings destroyed by a devastating illness.

Otter's actions do not match up with promises

Promises, promises from Otter:

“I am committed to keep working tirelessly to grow Idaho's economy and career opportunities for our citizens and our communities; I promise to keep protecting the people of Idaho from the additional financial burden of government excess; I promise to do even more to ensure that state government lives within the people's means; I promise to keep protecting and improving educational opportunities for all Idahoans; I promise to promote greater liberty, wider opportunity and more economic prosperity; and I promise to keep protecting Idaho's family and faith-based values.”

What he did:

Did not create jobs, recklessly outsourced Medicaid administration, slashed education, hacked up state parks, and acted like a bully with the legislators. His most immediate concern appears to be killing wolves.

What Allred offers: Keith Allred's leadership will deliver lower taxes to help small businesses generate more jobs and a stronger education system. Allred for Idaho!

Vote yes on all four Idaho amendments

I would like to urge voters to vote yes on all four constitutional amendments. They are common sense updates to the Idaho Constitution.

We should not expect that the founding fathers could write a document in 1890 that would not need an occasional change to reflect things as they are 120 years later. These amendments will allow cities and the University of Idaho flexibility that will result in the more efficient use of public funds. The passage of these amendments cannot and will not raise taxes.

Again I urge you to vote yes on all four amendments. And above all vote!

We need new leaders who aren't afraid fight for Idaho's future

I am concerned for the future of our children because of the direction our public schools are headed. With budget cuts throughout the state, our public schools were given no mercy. Decision-makers say they had no choice but to cut the budget for our schools.

I find this hard to believe; there are always other solutions and education should be the No. 1 priority of us all, always. After listening to the debates of the Jerome and Minidoka County candidates, I was appalled to hear there were taxes on the books that could have been collected, yet our current leaders weren't bothered to pursue collecting them. Also, all candidates agreed these taxes that could have been collected, for example Internet sales taxes — why weren't these extra revenues pursued? I want leaders who will work for all the people of Idaho, no matter how hard the path is.

These decisions leave our teachers with shortages in pay, support staff and classroom resources. Pay cuts and reductions in their retirement lead to good teachers looking for employment elsewhere, outside our state. Many schools have had to reduce the number of paraprofessionals and support staff leading to even less time the students have with teachers, a real disadvantage to kids who could use the extra instruction. The K-12 school years are the building blocks for the rest of their lives, and I am very upset that education took the same amount of budget cuts as all other programs in the state. We need leaders in office who know the issues and aren't afraid to stand up for our future.

After listening to the commitment of Cindy Shottswell, I believe it is time for some new leadership in Idaho.

I stand for children and I vote.

More extremists are emerging from U.S.

When Iran's President Ahmadinejad recently visited New York for a United Nations appearance, he also held a meeting at his hotel with the “New Black Panthers” (our Department of Justice wouldn't prosecute several members for voter intimidation) and Louis Farrakhan (Nation of Islam). Perhaps they were just exchanging cupcake recipes. Another event, according to the news, Muslim cleric Anjem Choudary was recently quoted as saying, “We believe, as Muslims, that the East and the West will be governed by the Sharia; indeed, we believe that one day the flag of Islam will fly over the White House” (Choudray is identified by Britain's Sunday Times as leader of outlawed extremist group, Islam4UK).

Sharia is emerging in the United States (considered in a New Jersey case). A proliferation of Islamic material appears in school text books (Texas, for instance). There is possible extremist infiltration of our military (Fort Hood), etc. The 9/11 Mosque, if built, will be a monument and key element to the ongoing effort to establish a worldwide Islamic Caliphate. As an agenda develops, demands for Sharia and declaration of an Islamic State may follow. Also, there is now, in general, an increase in the emerging of domestic extremist organizations. So, add out-of-control illegal immigration to the foregoing issues and decide if we need a “wake up call.”

P.S. The Sudanese delegation was also seeking a meeting with Ahmadinejad. The Islamic Khartoum Government in Northern Sudan will seek help to do whatever it takes to derail Southern Sudan's upcoming quest for independence. Prior to Darfur, Khartoum waged a war on the Christian and Animist Southern Sudan for more than two decades wherein more than 2 million perished. Khartoum had a lot of support from the Arab World!

Olson will make positive change in lives of our kids

On Tuesday, Nov. 2, I'm voting for a new superintendent of public instruction. I am voting for Dr. Stan Olson. Who is he? Stan Olson has recently retired as superintendent of the Boise School District who, if elected, will oversee the State Department of Education in Idaho.

Mr. Olson has successfully taught in the classroom, coached such sports as football and wrestling and has administrated close to 40 years in Kalamazoo, Mich.; Casper, Wyo.; and Boise, Idaho. He is one of us!

We need, more than ever, an educated and experienced person who has the leadership skills that can bring community people to the table and together develop a strategic plan; a plan where educators clearly know their roles and responsibilities; a plan that will adequately fund all school districts and define what the State Constitution calls a thorough and uniform system of public education.

I'm voting on Tuesday, Nov. 2, for a state superintendent who is one of us and who, if given support, can make a positive difference in the lives of our children and grandchildren.

TOM LOSSER

Allred is best choice for the Idaho gov. race

Allred — truly the people's governor.

I am writing in response to a libelous postcard I received in the mail from Sen. Jim Risch and the ridiculous website he directs us to, filled only with innuendo and not one substantial fact.

Why are so many pragmatic Republicans breaking ranks with Butch Otter and supporting Keith Allred? Why is Keith climbing in the polls and has the best chance of becoming a Democratic governor since Cecil Andrus? The answer is very simple. Keith is the best man for the job, at a time when Idaho desperately needs strong leadership.

He's the kind of leader who would have found ways to solve Idaho's deficit without cutting education. He's the kind of leader who can work across the aisle and who will only do what's best for the average Idahoan and his family. Keith is independent and conservative; Risch's propaganda that he is a liberal is ludicrous. When Keith says he will close special interest tax exemptions that don't make sense, you can bet those “special interests” will be throwing tons of money to keep the incumbent who has helped pad their pockets in power. You can bet that ridiculous claims will be made by those “special interests” to promote fear so that Idahoans vote for the “old standby.”

The fear factor works, right? Not in Idaho! Keith's campaign donations come from average Idahoans who are tired of “politics as usual” and want someone intelligent and open minded who will look at every option until he finds the best solutions. Keith is a fifth generation Idahoan, a family man with the highest principles, a sportsman and concerned citizen — not a politician. He will create jobs by supporting Idaho's small businesses and he will improve Idaho's educational system.

Please consider voting for Keith Allred.

Cross party lines to vote for Stan Olson

I have been an educator in the public schools in Idaho for 34 1/2 years. My three children have gone through the public school system, all of us including our spouses have earned our degrees from Idaho Universities (Go Vandals and Broncos), and my grandchildren are approaching school age. Education in Idaho is very important to me.

Over the years, I have seen mandates from the state department come and go. I have tried to follow all of them, but it is easier to embrace them when I have confidence in the Idaho state superintendent. That confidence has been lacking for the last four years.

Tom Luna has no experience in education as a teacher nor as an administrator, only as a school board member for seven years. Stan Olson has almost 40 years in education as a teacher, principal, adjunct professor and as the superintendent of the second largest district in Idaho. Many say it is more important for the state superintendent to be a businessman than an educator. While Luna only ran a small business, as superintendent in Boise, Olson was responsible for 25,000 students, a staff of 3,900 and managed a budget of $200 million.

Even though Olson is running as a Democrat, he has stated that the Idaho State superintendent should be a non-partisan position. He is willing to fight for what is best for our children regardless of which party proposes the idea.

For the sake of my students and grandchildren, I urge you to cross party lines if necessary and vote for Stan Olson.

Immigrant vets face deportation despite service

By Juliana Barbassa
Associated Press writer

SAN FRANCISCO — When Rohan Coombs joined the U.S. Marine Corps, he never thought one day he would be locked up in an immigration detention center and facing deportation from the country he had vowed to defend.

Coombs, 43, born in Jamaica, immigrated to the United States legally as a child with his family. He signed up to serve his adopted nation for six years — first in Japan and the Philippines, then in the Persian Gulf during the first war with Iraq.

Up to 8,000 non-citizens enlist in the U.S. Armed Forces every year and serve alongside American troops. As of May 2010, there were 16,966 non-citizens on active duty. The military does not allow illegal immigrants to enlist.

If non-citizens die while serving, they are given citizenship and a military funeral. If they live and get in trouble with the law, as Coombs did, they can get caught in the net of a 1996 immigration law that greatly expanded the list of crimes for which non-citizens can be deported.

“As far as I was concerned, I was a citizen,” said Coombs, whose soft-spoken, introspective nature contrast with his physical presence. Coombs stands 6 foot 5 and weighs more than 260 pounds — a gentle giant, according to his fiancée, Robyn Sword.

Now advocates of non-citizen servicemen and women are trying to change that. Attorneys are taking cases like Coombs’ to court, arguing that an immigrant who serves in the Armed Forces should be considered a U.S. national and protected from deportation.

“These are people who served us — whether they are model human beings or not,” said Coombs’ attorney, Craig Shagin of Harrisburg, Pa. “They served in our uniforms, in our wars. If they were POWs, they’d be considered American prisoners.”

Rep. Bob Filner, D-Calif., chairman of the House Veterans’ Affairs Committee, is looking into potential changes to the law so immigrants who serve in the military can avoid deportation.

“You come back from Iraq or Afghanistan today, you have put yourself on the line for this country,” said Filner. “An incredible number of kids come back with an injury or illness that puts them in trouble with the law. To simply have these people deported is not a good way to thank them for their service.”

Advocates estimate that

thousands of veterans have been deported or are in detention. Government officials say they have no tally but plan to begin tracking the numbers.

The push comes as criminal courts are increasingly listening to arguments for leniency for veterans.

So-called veterans courts, which give them specialized treatment, now number more than 30, with a dozen more planned.

Next month, new U.S. Sentencing Commission rules will make it possible for federal judges to consider a criminal defendant’s military service and mental and emotional condition to issue a lesser prison sentence. The rules, however, would not apply to immigration judges.

Most immigrants serve with distinction. The Center for Naval Analyses, a federally funded research and development center for the Navy and the Marine Corps, found that non-citizens are far more likely to complete their enlistment obligations successfully than their U.S.-born counterparts.

Coombs was one who did not make the grade.

He spent 10 months in the Persian Gulf and lost friends to combat, he said. After the war, he felt depressed and anxious. His family was far away in New York, and he said “whining” to fellow Marines didn’t seem an option.

Instead, he got involved with drugs, and he got caught.

In 1992, he was court-martialed for possession of cocaine and marijuana with the intent to distribute, and was given 18 months of confinement and a dishonorable discharge.

He continued to struggle with drugs.

“Things would be going well, then something would happen,” he said.

He got married, and that helped. When his wife died in 2001 of diabetes-related complications, he started smoking marijuana again.

In 2008, he was busted for selling marijuana to an undercover officer while working as a bouncer in an Orange County bar. He spent eight months in state prison.

“I don’t want to make excuses. I made mistakes. I thought I knew the consequences — I served my time,” he said in a telephone interview.

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement found that his criminal convictions made him eligible for deportation, and he was turned over to ICE after serving his sentence. He has been held in a San Diego immigration detention center for 22 months and is appealing to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court.

Coombs was stunned to realize he could be forced to leave the country for his crimes.

“This is the only life I’ve known,” he said. “The only time I left this country was when I was deployed overseas. This is my home.”

On the other side of the country, Dardar Paye is appealing his deportation case to the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania.

Paye came to the U.S. from war torn Liberia as a 13-year-old. He joined the Army in 1998, serving in Kuwait as part of Operation Desert Fox and then in a NATO peacekeeping mission in Kosovo. He returned to New Jersey, where his family lives, to spend another year and a half with the Army National Guard.

In 2008, he was convicted of six weapons-related offenses, including two involving firearms dealing, and served time in federal prison. Now, like Coombs, he is facing deportation and is feeling betrayed.

“When I was in Kuwait, in Kosovo, I was like everyone else who was there, putting their lives on the line,” said Paye, who in the Army was an armored vehicle crewman. “Now I feel like they just used me for what they wanted, and now they’re throwing me away.”

Advocates and immigration attorneys say that before the 1996 Illegal Immigrant Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act, few immigrant veterans were deported, because immigration authorities could take their service into consideration.

The law added crimes such as drug possession for sale to the list of serious crimes that could lead to deportation of a legal immigrant.

“Drugs, anger management, weapons charges, that’s what a lot of vets are getting caught for, and there is no relief,” said Margaret Stock, a recently retired Army reservist and immigration attorney who taught at the United States Military Academy at West Point. “The 1996 law really put the nails in their coffin.”

Coombs’ attorneys, Shagin and Heather Boxeth of San Diego, Calif., who have represented or advised immigrant veterans in similar straits, estimate up to 4,000 veterans who served as long ago as World War II are now in immigration detention or have been deported, but acknowledge that there are no hard numbers.

ICE spokeswoman Lori Haley said identifying and removing dangerous criminals from the country is an agency priority — and that the cases of people with prior military service are carefully reviewed.

Meantime, the military has started to offer a fast-track to citizenship to immigrants currently serving. Now, most joining the Army can expect to be citizens by the end of basic training, said Stock. Other branches are expected to join the effort by the end of the year.

That help doesn’t extend to those who have already served such as Paye and Coombs.

“If I had died,” said Coombs, they would have made me a citizen, given me a military funeral, and given the flag to my mom. But I didn’t die. Here I am. I just want another chance.”

Earthquake hits state; landslide reported

JACKSON — A magnitude 4.6 earthquake has hit northwest Wyoming, apparently triggering a landslide on a hiking trail, but no injuries have been reported.

The U.S. Geological Survey says the quake hit at about 11:45 a.m. Sunday.

Bridger-Teton National Forest spokeswoman Mary Cernicek says rangers are investigating reports that a landslide covered about a quarter-mile of a trail in the national forest about 20 miles northeast of Jackson.

Cernicek says some hikers may have been further up the trail, beyond the landslide, but she didn’t know how many. She says no one is believed to have been in the slide.

Cernicek says the slide wouldn’t prevent any hikers from getting out. She says a forest ranger is checking to see if anyone is on the trail.

WASHINGTON

Obama 2.0: Deficit, energy, education likely to top president's agenda over next 2 years

Preparing for political life after a bruising election, President Barack Obama will put greater emphasis on fiscal discipline, a nod to a nation sick of spending and to a Congress poised to become more Republican, conservative and determined to stop him.

He is already giving clues about how he will govern in the last two years of his term.

Obama will try to make gains on deficit reduction, education and energy. He will enforce his health care and financial overhauls and try to protect them from repeal should Republicans win control of Capitol Hill. He will use executive authority when blocked by Congress, and steel for scrutiny and investigations if the GOP is in charge.

While trying to save money, Obama will have to decide whether to bend to Republican and growing Democratic pressure to extend Bush-era tax cuts, even for the wealthy, that expire at year’s end.

Deputy PM says allegations of abuse in leaked U.S. Iraq war logs must be looked at LONDON — Allegations of prisoner abuse and civilian killings in Iraq from a cache of leaked U.S. secret military documents are extremely serious and must be investigated, a top British official said Sunday.

Deputy Prime Minister Nick Clegg told BBC television that the accounts of violence in Iraq “are distressing to read about and they are very serious.”

Whistleblowing website WikiLeaks has published almost 400,000 U.S. military logs, mainly written by soldiers on the ground, detailing daily carnage in Iraq since the 2003 U.S.-led invasion: detainees abused by Iraqi forces, insurgent bombings, sectarian executions and civilians shot at checkpoints by U.S. troops.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Stretching before a workout doesn't help and could hurt you

This letter is in response to the recent stretching article.

Stretching before practices and games results in more injuries than those who do not stretch. Stretching often has a pain masking effect where an injury feels better while actually creating more damage. Stretching results in a power loss of 2 percent to 8 percent typically 4 percent. This results in a reduction in explosive performance.

Also, stretching results in slower reaction time because a stretched muscle has slack in it that must be taken up before a joint can move. A Swedish study concluded that pre-exercise stretching did not reduce post-exercise soreness. On the other hand, stretching after performing results in increased flexibility and it enhances the removal of lactic acid, which is what makes people feel stiff and sore.

A study of recreational runners found that the lowest injury rate occurred among those runners that did not stretch. In an Australian study of power, the participants did a jogging warm-up followed by a jumping test. The group that did no stretching performed the best. The group that did traditional static stretching before jumping performed the worst. They generated 7 percent less power.

A study of 40 high school athletes on the bench press had similar results. All participants did a warm-up. Some stretched and some did not. Those that did not stretch had significantly more power and greater lifting velocity. In a German study of calf muscle reflexes and force development, runners who warmed up for 10 minutes and runners who did no warm-up at all performed about the same. Stretching lowered force development by 5 percent.

In conclusion, I have read somewhere around 12 to 15 studies of stretching in the last 10 to 12 years. Only one of them found any benefit in pre-exercise/game stretching.

Times-News writer

We've all seen it. The arms of a treadmill slung with out-of-season jackets or unmentionables that needed a place to dry. The set of free weights that are now ballast in the basement instead of in a shiny stack next to the weight bench. The barely-used aerobics videos that are so old, the dancers' clothes have come back in style.

Oh yes, we've all seen it, and if we're honest, most of us will probably admit we're guilty of a similar offense. After all, it's so easy to plunk down a few bucks for an Ab Master at a garage sale, or succumb to the lure of the late-night exercise infomercial.

In south-central Idaho, though, a random sampling of the population indicates that we're actually better at using our workout gear than you might think. Last week, the Times-News riffled through the phone book and dialed dozens of numbers to inquire about the use and condition of at-home exercise equipment.

About a third of those who answered said they didn't have any such thing, or demurred to answer at all. Of the remainder, a third admitted to having gear that hadn't seen sweat in a month's worth of blue moons.

That's not to say they're couch potatoes.

Ansina Durham of Twin Falls, for example, said that while she has some hand weights at home, she doesn't use them, preferring instead to visit the gym facilities at the College of Southern Idaho.

Being too busy has kept Melinda Bauman of Twin Falls from dusting off her family's 5-year-old weight bench and stationary bicycle, but she also admits she doesn't have as much drive as her PE-teacher husband. "I would prefer to have a (gym) membership, I think, because I'm not motivated to do anything by myself in the house," she said.

Motivation is important — Alberta Gage of Shoshone said she has three pieces of equipment, including a 5-year-old Gazelle glider, a new swinging side-to-side glider and an 8-year-old Total Gym, but has only recently gotten back into using them. "When I work it into my day, I'll do it," she said, noting that lately, she has been working out almost daily with the equipment, using a Wii Fit or doing simple exercises on the floor.

Others are more seasonal in their behavior. When it's nice out, the 3-year-old treadmill at Claudie Durk's Jerome home doesn't see much action. "We don't use it except in the winter time," she said, mentioning the six miles she had walked that morning.

Health can also be a factor, both for and against home exercising.

Craig Jackson of Hagerman owns a stationary bike he never rode much and a treadmill that moved more often. "I used to use it all the time until my hips went bad; now it hurts to walk on it," he said. Today, he said, it's just "gathering dust."

But for Royal Earl of Rupert, workout gear is a path toward recovery. "I've had the bicycle about two weeks, but I've had the treadmill about six months. I had to (buy the equipment); they took a lung out," he said. And his wife, Laura, straps weights to her feet to build strength after a knee operation.

Jim and Joan Parker's Bionix Prime Fit spinning bike collects dust at their home in Shoshone. The Parkers have moved on to a Gazelle Supra machine.

Coat rack or paperweight?

How people really use their home exercise equipment

Joan Parker demonstrates her Gazelle Supra Friday at her home in Shoshone. Parker uses the machine four times a week, 15 minutes at a time. Like many south-central Idahoans, the Parkers have pieces of exercise equipment that never get used, but other pieces help them keep in shape.

Mike Russell talks about using his exercise equipment while he watches TV Friday at his home near Jerome.

A 10-year-old treadmill, 5-year-old weights, 4-year-old exercise balls and a few videotapes are part of Sherri Albrecht's routine, when the Twin Falls woman isn't recovering from surgery. A few ab-roller type devices, though? "The kids ended up using them for scooters," she said, so she gave them to the thrift store.

When a bike is boring or proper technique is puzzling, the gear often gets stashed.

Clara Jagels of Buhl said her daughter gave her some 3-pound weights a few years ago, but they didn't come with instructions.

"I'm not totally sure how to use them, so I don't," she said. "If I used them wrong, that might not be good, so I probably need someone to show me how to use them properly."

And an exercise bike she bought about 20 years ago off a television ad? It's been used a bit, and loaned out, but now it's in storage. "It stopped working right, and we just didn't get it fixed," she said.

Lucile Campbell of Wendell hated her treadmill, so it went out the door, but her workout routine didn't follow. She recently bought stretching bands, a large exercise ball, a wooden bar, a set of hand weights, and a book she swears by: "Women's Strength Training Anatomy," by Frederic Delavier.

"It's a little simple plan that I do, but the weights have really helped me a lot," she said, describing how she combines Tuesday and Thursday home routines with tennis on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. In three years, the 70-year-old has lost 40 pounds. She also uses aerobics tapes that she guesses might be from the '80s or earlier. "They're dances, and I like dances, so I do that; it gets your heart rate up."

In an outbuilding on Jim Parker's Shoshone property, there's a stationary bike, a rowing machine and a stretching inverter he has had for five or six years.

"We don't use them because we don't have a place to put them," he said. But the Parkers have made a place for a glider in a basement family room. "It's a little more fun to do, it's not so boring, you seem to be moving more of your body."

Like Parker, Michael Russell of Jerome has equipment he doesn't much use, including some elastic bands for stretching and a 20-year-old weight bench.

"I don't use it as often as I should," he said. But he and his wife recently got a Wii Fit, and they occasionally use exercise machines. "My wife uses the stationary bike more than I do, and I have the elliptical machine out in the shop."

So if these folks are any proof, the keys to exercise equipment success are to get a machine or routine that doesn't bore you, figure out how to balance it with your schedule and your health, and then to stay motivated.

And that last one is the hardest of all.

In-line skating hangs on as exercise; hobbyists roll on

By Elaine Gale
McClatchy Newspapers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Up in the garage rafters were the in-line skates, all three pairs of them. Dusty and unused in a box marked "Rollerblades," they've been moved — unopened — to five addresses in three states over eight years.
Not once have they been pulled out. It just seems so passe, like the out-of-fashion equivalent of throwing a cassette in your boombox.
Didn't in-line skating go out of circulation with the sitcom "Friends?" MC Hammer and Tupperware parties? Surely, this sport — a great way to burn 500 calories an hour — has succumbed to fickle trendiness.
The answer would be yes — and no. Although abandoned by the hordes who once pursued it, in-line skating hasn't gone away at all.
A group of in-line skating devotees has met in Sacramento, Calif., for its Monday Night Skate for the past 18 years.
"It's not as hard as you think," said event organizer Bernie Scoville of Sacramento. "Tonight, we'll have 10 people show up, probably. But we should have more. This in-line skating is such great exercise!"
The all-time high attendance, said Scoville, was in 1994 when 106 skaters showed up. They had to skate through town in clusters.
If you are teetering on the edge of middle age and woefully out of practice, you may think you could never do the 10-mile Monday Night Skate. Then you find out Scoville is 72 years old and skates weekly.
"I'm trying to pass it on," said Scoville, a retired state worker.
The youngest skater on a recent Monday night was 30-year-old Cory

Steve Lee of Roseville, Calif., does some in-line skating tricks at a downtown parking lot in Sacramento, Calif.

Hamma from Sacramento's Land Park neighborhood, who said the group isn't really a good place to find a date.
"If you want to meet women, take up ballroom dancing," said Hamma, who works in IT, has a girlfriend and began in-line skating last month.
Dayle Rodenborn, a social worker from Sacramento, has been in-line skating for 15 years and in the Monday Night Skate group for two.
"The thing I like most about skating is being outside and seeing new places," said Rodenborn, 35. "It's better outdoors. You can go any place that has pavement!"
Pavement is something you'll probably get acquainted with if you haven't skated for a while. Maybe you'll fall down and knock the wind out of your sails just after closing the dorky tri-colored latches on your vintage skates and stepping away from the car.
Consequently, you might want to don those old wrist guards and knee pads, and be careful not to put them on backward and upside down.

And to hang with the group, you'll want to have the lingo down. Although the terms Rollerblading and in-line skating are often used interchangeably, the former is a brand name of the latter, akin to using "Kleenex" instead of "tissue."
The formerly hip word known as "blading" isn't so cool as it was in the 1990s in Minneapolis, home of the Rollerblade company where in-line skating first got started, apparently by the glut of hockey players who wanted to keep in shape after the ice melted.
Speed, athleticism and distances make this sport addictive. Enthusiasts cite other benefits.
"Skating is a lot less expensive than most sports are," said Hamma. "You don't have to worry about locking up your skates. And you can bring your skates all over the world!"
This inexpensive adrenaline rush can become a lot less attractive, however, when you hear of a serious accident. In-line skating instructors encourage participants to suit up with wrist, elbow and knee guards, and a helmet.
A few tips: It's not a good idea to roll over manhole covers, gravel, those patches of yellow bumps, wet leaves or sticks — although rocks tend to bounce out of the way. And you will definitely want elbow guards, a water bottle, a clip-on blinker, a headlamp to see cracks in the road at night, and a helmet.
If you crash to the ground several times during a two-hour skate, a skating pal might just remind you of another 1990s classic, a Chumbawamba song and appropriate soundtrack for the novice in-line skater:
"I get knocked down. But I get up again. You're not ever going to keep me down!"

Nutrition quiz: Portion size guidelines

By Sam McManis
McClatchy Newspapers

What do you do when a recipe calls for a specific amount of an ingredient, but you don't have the tools to measure or weigh it? When you're out at a restaurant, how do you know what qualifies as 4 ounces of steak?
It's tempting to shrug and say, "Ah, close enough." But the preferred way is to follow guidelines from the USDA's Nutrition Data Laboratory, which provides real-world comparisons for measurements.

Take a heaping helping of our quiz.
1. Your dietitian tells you to eat only a half-cup of cooked rice. That amounts to what?
a) The volume of a golf ball
b) The volume of half a baseball
c) The volume of two tennis balls

2. One cup of broccoli equates to what?
a) The size of a light bulb
b) The size of a man's wallet
c) The size of a balled-up fist
3. A medium baked potato should have the size but we hope not the taste of what?
a) A tennis ball
b) A computer mouse
c) A paperback book
4. Three ounces of cooked chicken is akin to what?

a) A deck of playing cards
b) diameter of a compact disc
c) A medium bar of soap
5. One ounce of hard cheese should be no bigger than what?
a) The fist of a small child
b) The size of an average person's thumb
c) The size of one die (not two dice)

A scary Halloween sight: Candy nutrition labels

By Jennifer LaRue Huget
Special to The Washington Post

Even if you don't go trick-or-treating, it's hard to avoid Halloween candy this time of year.

For those of us who aim to eat healthfully, there are three basic approaches to candy, Halloween candy in particular:

You can abstain, which is easier said than done. You can carefully select treats that you can justify, choosing candies that are, say, lower in fat or calories than others, or take longer to eat. Or you can decide to enthusiastically indulge in what will truly satisfy your craving for candy, but do so in moderation and know when to quit.

I don't intend to indulge at all. I've worked too hard to lose weight this year to introduce candy into my balanced eating regimen. But if I were going to, I'd probably choose a chocolate-rich candy bar or two, taking time to enjoy every morsel and making sure to accommodate the extra calories by cutting back elsewhere in my diet that day. To me, then, finding the candy that delivers the biggest chocolate punch (those whose ingredients list chocolate first) would be key.

But you might prefer to keep a sweet taste in your mouth for as much of the day as possible. If that's the case, non-chocolate treats, particularly chews and pops that last longer, would work better. Those candies typically list some form of sugar first; they also are usually lower in calories (and saturated fat), so you can allow yourself more of them throughout the day.

As for how many days you decide to indulge, I suggest setting a limit: Either enjoy some candy on Halloween and the day after, or budget 100 calories a day for, say, a week. If you trust yourself enough, you could even set aside some candy to dip into once a week for the next month.

I've scoured a lot of candy packages lately, and I highly recommend you read the nutrition facts and ingredient lists for the candies you choose. One suggestion: Don't fool yourself into thinking those containing nuts or fruit are nutritious or otherwise good for you. Candy is candy and should play a limited role in your diet.

Whatever tack you take, it's best to devise your Halloween game plan ahead of time.

I know that counting calories and fat grams drains some of the fun out of the holiday. But better to be armed with information so you can choose wisely, right? Otherwise you might just fall face first into that plastic jack-o-lantern and end up feeling crummy about your candy-bloated self when you finally come up for air.

Helping younger exercisers develop a taste for water

By Vicky Hallett
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Sean Stephens hasn't told his friends he does water aerobics. "I guess until now," the 36-year-old joked last week as we wiggled into the pool at LivingWell, the health club at the Washington Hilton.

Only a few weeks ago, the runner and triathlete had never considered doing anything other than laps in the water. But a nagging knee injury persuaded him to take the plunge, and after 45 minutes of tuck jumps, sprints and breaststroke arms, he was ready to make it part of his weekly routine. "I actually got my heart rate up," he says.

That probably comes as no surprise to the senior women out there who tend to be water aerobics stalwarts. But they're not the only ones who should be reaping the benefits of buoyancy and water resistance (12 times as great as that of air!), which provide an unparalleled environment for low-impact cardio and strength training.

"Water is magic," says Laura Ribbins, who's one of the world's leading authorities on aquatic exercise — perhaps because she's based in the Cayman Islands, where water workouts are possible year-round. I ran into her at the DCAC fitness convention in Alexandria, Va., a month ago, where she was presenting sessions on how to lure baby boomers to water classes with super-athletic moves. As great as water is for older bodies, she recommends it for "anyone who's into fitness."

Unfortunately, the quality of aqua instruction has generally lagged behind that of other classes, which has contributed to the misconception that you can't get a good workout in the water. And the tendency of water workouts to turn into senior citizens' social hour hasn't helped their reputation, either.

That's why Teri Bothwell, director of group exercise for Washington area gym chain Sport & Health, has a new mission for its pool programming: "Get it out of old-lady mode." Over the past year, the club has toyed with a series of new workouts. By far the biggest hit has been Aqua Zumba, the latest offering from the Latin-dance-inspired exercise company. "Putting that in the water is just golden," Bothwell says.

Thanks to back-to-back scheduling at Sport & Health's Falls Church, Va., club, packs of students rush from the dance studio to the pool to keep grooving for an extra hour. The lesson the club has gleaned from this is that landlubbers will find their sea legs if they're eased into it with concepts they already know. So they've also welcomed classes such as aqua karate ("It's slower paced, a lot of core, a lot of balance," Bothwell says) and aqua bootcamp (set up as a circuit with exercise stations).

Next month, the McLean, Va., location will also dive into Water in Motion, a program designed to standardize and elevate water aerobics instruction. Launched last October at two clubs in the Midwest, it's now taught in 35 across the country. The company that licenses the program to clubs says that wherever it has been offered, class sizes have grown and median ages have dropped.

Water in Motion's choreographer is Connie Warasila, a nationally recognized trainer who works for Sport & Health in Virginia.

"So I try stuff out on my students here all the time," says Warasila, who explains that each class has essentially the same structure. It starts with cardio, moves on to isolated muscle groups for targeted toning and ends with a cool-down inspired by yoga, Pilates and tai chi that promotes flexibility.

One problem for instructors is seeing what their students are doing beneath the surface. So cheating — not pushing as hard as you can, not moving your feet correctly, etc. — is common, albeit often unintentional.

To combat that, Warasila strives to provide cues for which body part should be feeling the burn during every exercise. "I really try to get my students to learn to move the water — not through the water — and lift with more strength by recruiting more muscles," she says. Her secret to keeping it entertaining is changing up the steps and adding social components, including kick lines and partner exercises.

Tara Davis, the 30-year-old instructor at LivingWell who persuaded Sean Stephens to try water aerobics, has a similar style during her anything-but-wimpy interval training classes. To make it more of a challenge for her fitter students, she relies on an array of aqua accessories, such as webbed gloves that increase resistance and foam dumbbells that help mimic land-based strength exercises.

"This thing is a workout," says class regular Dawn Debus, 36.

And a smart one at that, adds Davis. "For a healthy young person, it's a good complement to a (high-impact exercise) routine," she says. "I do a lot of high-impact activities: running, kickboxing. I worry what my body is going to feel like when I'm 60."

In other words, doing water aerobics as cross-training now will prevent her from being limited to only water aerobics later.

Today is Monday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 2010. There are 67 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:

On Oct. 25, 1910, "America the Beautiful," with words by Katharine Lee Bates and music by Samuel A. Ward, was first published.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:

In 1760, Britain's King George III succeeded his late grandfather, George II.

In 1854, the "Charge of the Light Brigade" took place during the Crimean War as an English brigade of more than 600 men, facing hopeless odds, charged the Russian army and suffered heavy losses.

In 1859, radical abolitionist John Brown went on trial in Charles Town, Va., for his failed raid at Harpers Ferry. (Brown was convicted and hanged.)

In 1918, the Canadian steamship Princess Sophia foundered off the coast of Alaska; some 350 people perished.

In 1929, former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall was convicted in Washington, D.C. of accepting a $100,000 bribe from oil tycoon Edward L. Doheny. (Fall was sentenced to a year in prison and fined $100,000; he ended up serving nine months.)

In 1957, mob boss Albert Anastasia of "Murder Inc." notoriety was shot to death in a barber shop inside the Park Sheraton Hotel in New York.

In 1960, the Bulova Watch Co. introduced its electronic "Accutron" model.

In 1962, U.S. ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson presented photographic evidence of Soviet-built missile bases in Cuba to the U.N. Security Council.

In 1971, the U.N. General Assembly voted to admit mainland China and expel Taiwan.

In 1983, a U.S.-led force invaded Grenada at the order of President Ronald Reagan, who said the action was needed to protect U.S. citizens there.

Ten years ago: Laboring in the frigid murk of the Barents Sea, divers found and removed the first bodies from the wreckage of the nuclear submarine Kursk, which sank on Aug. 12, 2000, with the loss of all 118 sailors aboard.

Five years ago: U.S. military deaths in Iraq reached the 2,000 mark. Iraq's election commission declared that final results from the Oct. 15 referendum showed the new constitution was ratified by a huge margin, paving the way for elections. In the World Series, the Chicago White Sox and the Houston Astros began playing Game 3, which turned into a 14-inning marathon that did not end until well after midnight with Chicago winning, 7-5.

One year ago: A pair of suicide car bombings devastated the heart of Iraq's capital, Baghdad, killing 155 people, including 24 children. Philanthropist Jeffery Picower, accused of profiting more than $7 billion from the investment schemes of his longtime friend Bernard Madoff, drowned after suffering a heart attack in the swimming pool of his Palm Beach, Fla., mansion; he was 67. The New York Yankees won their first pennant in six years, beating the Los Angeles Angels 5-2 in Game 6 of the AL championship series.

IF OCTOBER 25 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: All good things come to those who wait, or so it is said, but you may expect the world to bring you these good things on a silver platter without effort on your part. Do not get into debt or overextend yourself between now and the end of the year. You could be showered with opportunities in January, but may at the same time overestimate your abilities or the size of your piggy bank. Wait until February and March to make crucial business or career decisions or changes. By that time you will possess better judgment and will be able to shine at any activity you undertake. In addition, if you are single or looking for a job, you are at your peak when trying to impress a potential employer or lover.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): An unseen fear is a fear that might not exist. Do not stew over matters that you have no influence over and can't change. Strive to set a good example. Use physical activities and exercise to clear your mind.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Love is concentrated like instant coffee. It isn't quite as good as something brewed over time but you receive instant gratification. You will need to take your romance in small doses when you can.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Walk a balance beam between self preservation and generosity. Feelings of sympathy may cause you to spend funds that are needed elsewhere. A friend might want your wise advice or counsel.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Joys shared double your bliss. Someone close could get carried away with a harebrained scheme or become entangled in an unsavory situation during the next few days. Be reassuring and positive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are a sensitive flower that might wilt under scrutiny. Preserve what you begin today by plucking the best and drying it out like a pressed flower. Start something of value like a new health regime.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Put your nose to the ground and sniff out the truth. You've got a knack for balancing the check-book or working with details — even when everyone else seems to be dealing in vague generalities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Get a firm commitment. Don't be fooled into thinking that a business transaction or romance holds more potential than it really does. You cannot impress a certain someone by whispering sweet nothings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You can be impressive when intent on ideals. You should concentrate on developing strength of character and demonstrating it whenever possible. That is the way to achieve your dreams.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Make the money jingle. Tranquility of the heart and peace of mind might be the best blessing you can offer to your loved ones. Knowing that someone trusts and relies on you makes you try harder.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your ambitions are arguable. You want to be a success and are willing to work hard to achieve them. At the same time you are tempted to take a shortcut that straddles the gray area of the ethical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Get out the scrub brush; keep everything polished and gleaming. Beneath a tolerant, live-and-let-live facade there is a part of you that could be secretly offended by dirt, squalor and messiness.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The proof of your success lies within. Be objective about the way you go after the material things you crave. Expensive items may get your attention but you must ask yourself if you really need them.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter "Joy" is 20. Her boyfriend, "Danny," is 22. They plan to be married once they graduate from college. Danny is a wonderful young man who loves our daughter very much.

Danny's parents have an expensive home, two new cars, a boat and a vacation home. They do not help their son financially — even with college. Danny works full time, attends school full time and pays all of his expenses. What concerns me is that he has a car payment, a school loan and is using a credit card to buy an engagement ring for Joy.

Joy and Danny would like to do that for our daughter, we are reluctant about spending so much for a wedding, knowing that afterward they will have to pay off all of Danny's bills. Should we voice our concerns to our daughter or keep our mouths shut? We don't want to start out as bad in-laws.

— LOVING DAD IN UTAH

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

DEAR LOVING DAD: Your daughter's fiancé appears to be a fine young man with a lot of responsibility on his shoulders. As a caring parent, by all means express your concern to both of them. And when you do, consider offering them the alternative of scaling down the wedding and using the balance of the money to retire some of his debt. I can't imagine a more considerate and loving gift than that for them.

DEAR ABBY: Please let people know how careful they need to be when referring someone, particularly for home improvement work.

I hired a man to do some repairs in my home. Before the job was completed, I was telling others what a great deal I got and handing out his contact information to people I didn't know well.

Abby, the man turned out to be a fraud, and have I ever learned my lesson.

Please warn your readers not to refer anyone until they have been thoroughly checked out, the work has been completed and enough time has gone by to ensure there were no hidden problems with the person's work. In these times when so many people are trying to save where they can, there are crooks just waiting to prey on another victim.

I am sorry now because I can't contact these people to warn them not to do business with the man, and I'm afraid I have been instrumental in their being conned.

— TRULY REGRETFUL IN MASSACHUSETTS

DEAR REGRETFUL: I'm sorry you were taken advantage of, but pleased to have the opportunity to remind readers they should be careful about making recommendations until they are certain they can vouch for the person's ability and integrity. Anyone investing in home improvements should insist the person has good references and is licensed and insured.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a wonderful man who is a widower. Our question is this: When a couple divorces, the two refer to each other as their "ex." But because his wife died, how should she be referred to? It doesn't seem right to call her his ex.

— CURIOUS IN PALM SPRINGS

DEAR CURIOUS: With anyone who does not already know that your friend is a widower, she should be referred to as "his late wife."

THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

Bobby Wolff

"Now and then there is a person born who is so unlucky that he runs into accidents which started out to happen to somebody else."

— Don Marquis

Today's deal shows that sometimes when the fates (and bridge percentages) have pointed a player toward the winning action, an outside influence may step in and wreck his plans.

The deal comes from last year's European championships in San Remo. Six diamonds is a delicate slam, but on a spade lead the percentages in the diamond suit indicate that you will get that suit right. To pick up a singleton queen in either hand and any diamond queen in East, you would lead to the diamond king and finesse on the way back. Running the diamond jack on the first round loses to a singleton queen, while cashing the ace and running the jack loses out to any four-card diamond suit headed by the queen in West.

Given that spades rate to be the unbid suit on just about any auction North-South might have, you would expect West to lead a spade and South to bring home his contract. And that was generally the case.

But there were two awkward leads that the defenders might find. A heart lead, unlikely as that might seem, would leave you short of the necessary entries to the North hand for playing on both spades and diamonds, and now you might misguess diamonds. The alternative is the even more diabolical lead of the club 10, found by Jan van Cleeff against the diamond slam. Now declarer opted to take the ace and misguessed the trump queen, and no one can hardly blame him.

ANSWER: Partner's failure to raise spades suggests we look elsewhere. The choice is the passive heart, or the active club lead. Since I'd expect dummy to have hearts, some spade length, and at least a doubleton diamond, partner rates to have club length, so a club would be my first choice. A second reason for this choice is that even if a heart is right, partner may not read me to have only a doubleton.
