Tax bill heads to Obama

By David Espo AP special correspondent

WASHINGTON - Acting with uncommon speed, Congress sent President Barack Obama sweeping, bipartisan legislation late Thursday to avoid a Jan. 1 spike in income taxes for millions and renew jobless benefits for victims of the worst recession in 80 years

The measure also will cut Social Security taxes for nearly every wage-earner and pump billions of dollars into the still-sluggish economy.

The 277-148 vote came less than 24 hours after the Senate cleared the bill, 81-19.

The legislation was the result of a reach across party lines between Obama and top Republicans in Congress — stubborn adversaries during two years of political combat that ended when the GOP emerged the undisputed winner in midterm elections on Nov. 2.

Rep. Ginny Brown-Waite, R-Fla., called it "a bipartisan moment of clarity" as the House moved toward a vote.

After forcing a delay in the House earlier in the day, Democratic critics settled for a separate vote in their bid to toughen an estate tax provision they attacked as a giveaway to the very rich. They were defeated, 233-194, with one vote of "present."

"The president will be able to sign it as soon as he likes," said Rep. Rob Andrews of New Jersey, who added later on the House floor he would support "an imperfect bill" in hopes of stimulating job creation.

The Senate passed the legislation Wednesday, 81-19.

House Republicans who will move into powerful posts when the GOP takes control in January urged passage of the bill.

Rep. Eric Cantor of Virginia, in line to become majority leader, said the measure, while not perfect, marked a "first step" toward economic recovery.

Largely marginalized in the negotiations leading to the bill, Democrats emphasized their unhappiness with Obama.

But, ultimately, it is better to pay the ransom today than to watch the president pay even more, and I think he'd be willing to pay a bit more next month." Rep. Elijah Cummings,

Long before SVS, it happened - badly, mostly - in Sun Valley

f you've lived in Idaho for more than 30 minutes and you don't know that the 1941 movie "Sun Valley Serenade" remains the signature entertainment about the state's singular tourist attraction, then you're in a

But what you may not know is the Glenn Miller/Sonja Henie Hollywood musical wasn't the first time Tinseltown sprinkled stardust on Baghdad-by-the-Big Wood.

Seventy-four years ago this week, just before Sun Valley Resort itself opened for the first time, Paramount Pictures announced that a romantic comedy starring Claudette Colbert — its reigning star at the time — would be filmed in the Wood River Valley starting in January

According to Tom Trusky, a Boise State University English professor who was Idaho's leading film historian before his death in 2009, "I Met Him in Paris" was a "well-over-half-a-milliondollars" fish out of water.

Paramount leased the land of a local silver prospector named Gus Anderson for $500, according to Trusky, and built a movie set complete with a Swiss-style ski lodge that eventually became the architectural model for exteriors of the Sun Valley Inn. The film's crew totaled

The Wood River Times reported that by Feb. 4, 1937, "about 90 percent of the filming for the picture will be done here." Principal photography lasted until the end of March.

Colbert was an Oscar winner and her leading man, Melvyn Douglas, would later win two Academy Awards, but "Paris" was not great cinema.

In the film, struggling New York fashion designer Colbert saves enough money to go to Paris, leaving behind her doting-butdull fiance, played by Lee Bowman. Once in the City of Lights, Colbert ventures into the American Bar where she meets Robert Young and his friend, Douglas. Young falls for Colbert, and they date – but always with Douglas in tow as a chaperone because Douglas doesn't think Young's intentions are honorable. Out of spite, Colbert runs off to St. Moritz (played in the movie by Sun Valley) with Young, hoping they can maintain a platonic relationship. Douglas is right behind.

The trio trudges through the Swiss Alps, skiing, tobogganing and ice skating all the way. Douglas finally gives up on Colbert, just as Young's wife — played by Mona Barrie — turns up. In a rage, Colbert returns to Paris where Bowman is waiting for her. Douglas and Young also show up, and all three men vie for Colbert's attentions. Colbert at last realizes she really loves Douglas, and they sail off to New York with Young and Bowman in hot pursuit. "Paris" was one of three films Colbert — then the highest-paid performer in Hollywood – made in 1937, part of a seven-movie, twoyear deal with Paramount. By Colbert's lofty box office standards, the picture was a disappointment - barely making back the studio's investment.

Surprisingly, you can find the movie on DVD; it's packaged with a much better — and better-known — Colbert picture from 1938, "Bluebird's Eighth Wife."

Colbert and her cardiac surgeon husband, Dr. Joel Pressman, came back to Sun Valley every winter for years. But the best Colbert anecdote, according to the 2011 Sun Valley Winter Guide, happened at the opening banquet of the resort, to which the cast and crew of "Paris" and producer David O. Selznick were invited.

A Chicago banker asked Colbert for a dance, and the moneyman apparently said something wrong. Selznick dropped him with a single punch.

Steve Hannagan, the publicist who gave Sun Valley its name, was swiftly on the phone to every newspaper gossip columnist in America.

You just can't buy that kind of publicity.

She was the only girl in a family of boys and, throughout her lifetime, was affectionately called "Sis" by her brothers, Don, Joe and Ted. Julie graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1942 and headed off to college at Idaho State University. After a year of "having too much fun," her father sent her to the University of Idaho to continue her college education. While at Idaho, she pledged Delta Gamma and worked in the Idaho Argonaut office. She met A.L. "Jim" Blandford her final semester of school, and they were married in January

Julie was an active volunteer for many organizations. Her love for the DG house has continued throughout her lifetime. She helped locally with the Twin Falls DG Alumnae Association and served as the Moscow Chapter Rush Adviser for two years. She was a member of Chapter AI, PEO and took her turn holding all the offices including two terms as president. She also volunteered for the Twin Falls Episcopal Church. Julie's true passion was golf. She played with anyone and everyone – enjoying each round. She served as president and vice president of the Twin Falls Municipal Ladies Golf Association.

She was also a member of two bridge groups, whose players are all longtime dear

GRANGEVILLE — A failed Idaho gubernatorial candidate has told a crowd they should take matters into their own hands and start killing wolves.

The Lewiston Tribune reports that Rex Rammell spoke to a crowd of more than 100 Wednesday night in Idaho County, one of the only counties to support his primary bid against Republican Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter.

Rammell says county commissioners should declare an emergency that allows citizens to kill wolves on sight.

But, he adds, residents should organize a hunt and start killing wolves anyway even if no such order comes. He says he does not hey love their football in Blackfoot. And well they should. felony counts of forcible sexual penetration using a foreign object and misdemeanor counts that included false imprisonment and battery.

It was a case of hazing run wild.

"I'm not going to go into the details of the case but it seems pretty egregious to me," Smith

According to police reports, the suspects restrained their victims — there were several and Bingham County prosecutors expect more to come forward – on a bus and in a locker room. They allegedly struck them on the legs and stomach, and used their fingers and the victims' clothing to touch the victims' genitals. And the hazing went on for three months.

The Blackfoot School District has an anti-bullying policy, but none of the victims spoke up until September after the suspects - Nathan Walker, Anthony Clarke, Logan Chidester and Tyson Katseanes, all 19, and an unnamed minor - had left school.

Walker, Clarke, Chidester and Katseanas are scheduled to answer the charges against them in 7th District Court on Dec. 23.

Clarke, a quarterback who's now a freshman at Boise State, was the 2009 4A Idaho high school player of the year. BSU football Coach Chris Petersen suspended him from the team after Smith filed charges against Clarke.

Chidester, an all-state running back at Blackfoot High who's now a freshman at Montana's Carroll College, was suspended by Coach Mike Van Diest as the school prepared to play for the NAIA national champi-

"Blackfoot is a small community, so most people know somebody that's involved," Smith said. "I liken it to a nasty divorce case. People struggling with which side do I support, because they know people on both sides. It's a struggle for everybody involved, me includ-

It's not that the grownups at Blackfoot High were necessarily asleep at the switch. Since 2006, administrators and teachers in the Blackfoot School District have been instructed that harassment, intimidation and bullying are not to be tolerated. The policies are distributed to employees each school year, and a discipline policy handbook is handed out to parents at registration that makes clear intimidation, bullying and cyberbullying are "major" violations.

The point is how easy something like this can happen at any school.

In small-town Idaho — and Blackfoot has 11,000 residents - community life often revolves around high school sports. It's hard to imagine youngsters with whom your kids or grandkids grew up being accused of the kind of behavior of which the former BHS athletes are charged. But what's chilling is that the alleged victims were fearful enough not to report the abuse for 10 months.

It's likely it wasn't just physical retaliation they feared. You can imagine what life would be like for a 16-year-old whistleblower when word got out that the victim had ratted out five of the most popular students at the school.

Parents must take evidence of bullying deadly seriously, even if a child doesn't speak of it directly. And teachers and administrators must keep their eyes and ears open, and listen to students who say they're afraid.

Once they found out about these allegations, the Blackfoot schools, the city's police department and the county prosecutor's office handled this case admirably. It's just that they should have known sooner.

Boehner and the crying game e've had to adjust to so many strange developments lately. I'm sure we'll get used to having a speaker of the House who weeps a lot.

That would be John Boehner, the new guy.

"He is known to cry," the outgoing speaker, Nancy Pelosi, told Deborah Solomon in The New York Times Magazine. "He cries sometimes when we're having a debate on bills."

Gail Collins

Pelosi, of course, does not cry in public. We will stop here briefly to contemplate what would happen if she, or any female lawmaker, broke into loud, nose-running sobs while discussing Iraq troop funding or giving a TV interview.

(Pause)

OK, moving forward. Boehner is a gravelvoiced Ohioan who wears snazzy suits and hangs out a lot with lobbyists. One of the few cheery prospects the new year holds for Democrats is his upcoming demonization, since there is no such thing in 21stcentury America as a loveable leader of the House of Representatives. Unless America is totally won over by the idea of a Sobbing Speaker.

"I think people are going to like him," said Lesley Stahl, who interviewed Boehner for a 60 Minutes segment shown last Sunday, during which he broke down several times.

The most arresting moment came when Boehner told Stahl he can no longer make visits to schools, or even look at the little kids on the playground, because he immediately starts crying.

That had me alarmed. I thought there was going to be some terrible story about an ailing child that would then force me to have warm and sympathetic thoughts about John Boehner.

But no. The reason. Boehner finally choked out, was because "making sure these kids have a shot at

In 2007, (Boehner) cried while delivering a speech on the floor of the House, in support of funding for the war in Iraq. "After 3,000 of our fellow citizens died at the hands of these terrorists, when are we going to stand up and take them on?" he sobbed. Then this year, he voted against providing money to take care of our fellow citizens who became ill while doing rescue and reclamation work at ground zero after the terrorist attack. Twice.

the American dream, like I did, is important."

We will stop again briefly to imagine what would have happened if Nancy Pelosi, upon being elected speaker, had confessed on national TV that she was unable to visit schools in her district because the sight of little children made her break into sobs. (Pause)

OK. About Boehner. Many of us first noticed his tendency toward tears when he appeared on election night to celebrate his party's taking control of the House. He had hardly gotten in front of the microphone before things got waterv.

"I spent my whole life chasing (sob) the American dream," he told the cameras. "Put myself through school, working every rotten job there was ..."

The American Dream has had such a bad year. During the campaign, it was tossed around by billionaire candidates who insisted on telling groups of underprivileged children that they, too, could someday own a mega-yacht or run a slimy but extremely profitable health care corporation.

Now, John Boehner is blaming the Dream for making him howl like an abandoned puppy. It's what my friend Rebecca Traister calls "Boehner doing Masterpiece Theater on the hard life of John Boehner."

Traister is the author of Big Girls Don't Cry, a chronicle of the Clinton-Obama battle for the Democratic presidential nomination. One of the best-remembered moments in that campaign - Hillary Clinton cries in New Hampshire — is an excellent example of the difference between what men and women can get away with, tear-wise.

"Hillary didn't cry," Traister pointed out. "Not a drop of liquid fell below her lower lash." With her back to the wall and the presidency on the line. Clinton approached the edge of a sniffle and we are still talking about it.

Boehner is driven to great, noisy sobs when he contemplates the fact that as a vouth, he mopped the floor at his father's tavern.

Besides the crying gap between men and women, there's also one between Republicans and Democrats. On the one hand, you have the folks who can't afford tears because it makes them look weak, and on the other, the people who are presumed to be tough and hardnosed, for whom crying is an attractive sign of complexity.

Boehner is opposed to extending unemployment benefits for the jobless, and he wants to kill off the law that guarantees health coverage to all Americans. So you know when he starts weeping when his wife says she's "real proud" of him, it's not a sign of softness.

In 2007, he cried while delivering a speech on the floor of the House, in support of funding for the war in Iraq. "After 3,000 of our fellow citizens died at the hands of these terrorists, when are we going to stand up and take them on?" he sobbed.

Then this year, he voted against providing money to take care of our fellow citizens who became ill while doing rescue and reclamation work at ground zero after the terrorist attack.

Twice.

Repeal law that allows override of living wills

Effective July 1, 2010, a law went into effect in our state that allows any health care professional to ignore or override your living will. The July-August 2010 issue of the AARP Bulletin, page 40, "Idaho – Patients' wishes quashed," alerted me to this law. I am aghast! And if vou're aware of it, I'm sure you are too.

Please go to www.aarp.org/id, click on "Winners & Losers of the 2010 Idaho Legislative Session" and under "Losers," second bullet, you'll read: "Living wills, advance directives, or other end-of-life instructions: Learn someone else's conscience on your deathbed. The Freedom of Conscience Bill (Senate Bill

Then go to http://legislature.idaho.gov/legislation/2010/S1353/Printer Friendly.htm, where there are links to the text of the bill, its purpose and where you can also see how your state representatives and your state senator voted!

Before the 2011 legislative session convenes, please contact your area's state senator and state representatives to express your another Weekly Journal or concerns and wishes. Let's get this law repealed right now and one enacted that will protect each of us when we will need it the most!

Dems abandon spending bill

Legislation collapses under its own weight

WASHINGTON (AP) -Democrats controlling the Senate abandoned on Thursday a huge catchall spending measure combining nearly $1.3 trillion worth of unfinished budget work, including $158 billion for military operations in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Facing midnight stopgap funding measure expires, Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid said he leader Mitch McConnell to produce a bill to keep the federal government running into early next year.

The 1,924-page bill collapsed of its own weight after an outcry from conservatives who complained it was stuffed with more than $8 billion in homestate pet projects known as earmarks.

Democrats had hoped to pass with just a couple of days' worth of debate.

It was designed to bankroll the day-to-day operations of the government for the budget year that started Oct. 1, funding the almost onethird of the federal budget that Congress has to pass each year.

The House and Senate typically spend months on the 12 annual spending bills, but Democrats didn't bring even a single one to the Senate floor this year, an unprecedented collapse of an appropriations process.

The sinking of the bill was a setback for President Barack Obama, who supported it despite provisions to block the Pentagon from transferring Guantanamo Bay prisoners to the United States and fund a program to develop a second engine for the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter, which the administration says is a waste of money.

Just Thursday, Secretary of Defense Robert Gates made a public push for the omnibus measure at an appearance at the White House, saying that operating under a stopgap measure frozen at current levels would be a major hardship for the Pentagon.

McConnell had earlier quietly backed the effort to produce the legislation, which had significant input from Republicans on Appropriations panel.

But release of the bill on Tuesday sparked an outcry among the GOP's conservative political base. Senate Republicans held two combative closed-door meetings in which the rank-and-file turned up the heat on those few Republicans who were considering voting for the House approves bill to make hybrids louder

WASHINGTON (AP) Silent hybrid vehicles may soon be a thing of the past.

Auto safety regulators would have to set minimum sound levels for hybrid and electric vehicles under a bill approved Thursday by the House. Blind pedestrians say the quietness of hybrids can pose risks for them because they use sound cues to travel safely.

The House passed the bill 379-30. The Senate approved its version last week, and the measure now goes to President Barack Obama for his signature.

Holiday Pet Safety Tips

Keep your pets safe with these handy tips to get you and your pets safely through the holidays. BONES ARE A NO-NO. Cooked bones of any kind, from chicken to turkey, can have sharp splinters and should never be given to your pets. HOLIDAY PLANTS. Watch out for holiday plants including holly, mistletoe and poinsettias, which can be poisonous

OH! CHRISTMAS TREE. Use unbreakable ornaments on lower boughs to avoid broken glass. Tinsel can pose a choking hazard and an intestinal dilemma for cats and dogs. Don't allow your pets to drink the tree water, can have bacteria, fertilizer, or insecticides from the tree. Tree needles are dangerous also. CHOCOLATE ISN'T SWEET FOR DOGS AND CATS. In fact, giving even the smallest taste of chocolate to a pet can be toxic. Pets can become very sick. ELECTRICAL CORDS. Avoid chewed cords, risk of electrical shock, or dragged decorations by keeping cords taped down and when possible, out of sight.

CANDLES. Never leave a candle unattended with a pet in the house, where it can easily be knocked to the ground. Keep identification on your pets and call your local animal shelter immediately if your pets become missing.

20 states ask judge to toss out Obama health law

By Melissa Nelson Associated Press writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. - Attorneys for 20 states fighting the new federal health care law told a judge Thursday it will expand the government's powers in dangerous and unintended ways.

The states want U.S. District Judge Roger Vinson to issue a summary judgment throwing out the health care law without a full trial. They argue it violates people's rights by forcing them to buy health insurance by 2014 or face penalties.

"The act would leave more constitutional damage in its wake than any other statute in our history," David Rivkin, an attorney for the states, told Vinson.

Yesterday on Wall Street

A small drop in unemployment claims helped push stocks to two-year highs Thursday. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 41.78, or 0.4 percent, to 11,499.25. The broader Standard & Poor's 500 index rose 7.64, or 0.6 percent, to 1,242.87. The Nasdaq composite rose 20.09, or 0.8, to 2,637.31. Gains came across the market. All 10 company groups in the Standard and Poor's 500 index rose.

Alcoa Inc. was the biggest gainer of the 30 stocks that make up the Dow index, rising 3.5 percent to $14.45. American Express Co. fell the most. The company lost 3.4 percent to $44.57.

Stocks have had a strong December. The Dow index has gained 4.5 over the last month. The S&P 500 has risen 5.3 percent. The yield on the 10-year Treasury fell to 3.42 percent from 3.53 percent the day before. Investors have been selling Treasury's as their outlook on the economy improves, sending yields on the bonds higher. The 10-year yield traded as low as 2.49 percent as recently as Nov. 4. Two stocks rose for every one that fell on the New York Stock Exchange. Consolidated volume came to 4.4 billion shares.

WASHINGTON-The Internal Revenue Service is making it riskier to cheat on your taxes.

The tax agency increased the number of returns it audited by nearly 11 percent this year. Statistics released Wednesday show that wealthy taxpayers were most likely to be targeted. In all, the IRS examined more than 1.58 million individual returns in the budget year that ended in September, up from 1.43 million the year before. The IRS collected $57.6 billion through enforcement actions, an 18 percent increase from the previous year.

Overall, a little more than 1 percent of returns were audited, either by mail or in person. More than 8 percent of the returns with incomes above $1 million were audited.

Hagerman student wins condor-naming contest of naming one of the endangered California mit a Native American name from an Idahocondors on display at The Peregrine Fund's World Center for Birds of Prey in Boise.

Mallory Henslee, a student at Hagerman Elementary School, was named the grandprize winner for her essay to name the female condor "Piyopyoot' alikt," a Nez Perce term that means "bird alighting." Henslee, who won the fifth- to sixth-grade category, was selected from three finalists. Those finalists were chosen from 187 entries received from 27 schools.

Henslee said the inspiration for her winning entry came as she watched a film of California condors flying in the Grand Canyon and was impressed by how smoothly the large birds were able to land.

The naming contest, sponsored by Wells the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

A Hagerman fifth-grader won the honor Fargo, invited Idaho schoolchildren to subbased tribe and a short essay explaining their choice. The finalists in each category and their classmates attended a ceremony at the World Center for Birds of Prey near Boise to learn who had won. The kids also were treated to a free tour and live bird demonstrations.

The newly named female condor is on display in a new outdoor exhibit called Condor Cliffs, which opened in June. The male condor in the display will be named next summer in an online contest for the general public.

The Peregrine Fund produces captivebred condors at the World Center for Birds of Prey and releases them to the wild near

Tips for treating winter toenail fungus

DEAR DR. GOTT: I often have a problem with toenail fungus in the summertime, but it's understandable because I spend a lot of time at our town pool and in the locker room afterward so I can change out of my bathing suit. This I have learned to accept.

I live in the upper northwest section of the country, and I have the start of another fungal infection. This is the first time this has happened during the winter, and I am totally confused as to why. Our pool is closed until warm weather returns, and I'm in my home, which I thought was safe from the problem. I was wrong. Can you shed some light on this annoying problem?

DEAR READER: You're not the first person with this ASK DR. GOTT Dr. Peter Gott complaint. We tend to forget that damp, cold weather can also trigger just such an infection. I'm sure you have already pulled your winter boots out of the closet and have worn them when grocery shopping, taking your children to functions, or when walking and hiking to keep in shape. It's cold. We don't stop to think that our feet are cozy and warm sometimes sweating when we have the heat on in the car during travel or when simply walking around the block. The warmth and moisture combine to set the stage for such a problem to

You might consider trimming your nail and applying a petrolatum menthol salve to the top and underside twice daily. The process may take a month or more, but a healthy nail should ultimately grow out, replacing the yellow discoloration you are likely experiencing.

Some people achieve success by either dabbing a cotton ball with white vinegar or simply pouring the liquid over the affected area twice daily. Again, patience is necessary for results.

If you would like to investigate another avenue, there are a number of over-thecounter remedies, including Miranel, found at Walgreens pharmacies. I personally know people who have used this over-the-counter antifungal successfully for the specific problem you are experiencing. It contains miconazole ointment, tea tree oil and a host of other effective ingredients. Miranel can also be used to treat ringworm, athlete's foot and the irritation that can appear between the toes.

Consider one of my recommendations and be sure to follow up with treatment in the future at the first sign of infection.

To give you related information on methods for treating toenail fungus and other home remedies, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Compelling Home Remedies." Other readers who would like a copy should send a selfaddressed, stamped No. 10 envelope and a $2 US check or money order made payable to Newsletter and forwarded to PO Box 167, Wickliffe, OH 44092-0167. Be sure to mention the title or print out an order form from my website www.AskDrGottMD.com.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I don't know how to search your Web page for home remedies for athlete's foot. Actually, I can't figure out how to search for anything.

DEAR READER: Let's see if we can take the process step by step with good results. In the address bar at the top of your browser, type in AskDrGottMD.com. This will bring you to the home page of my website. In the top right hand top corner, you should see a box and the word "search" next to it. Click in the box and type in the topic you wish information on. Then click the search button. You will be directed to the appropriate page. I just did, only to find I don't have information up regarding athlete's foot; however, I was able to type in countless other subjects successfully. Thank you for bringing this to my attention. Stay tuned. Athlete's foot will be discussed soon.

OLD MAN WINTER & YOUR GAS METE

Snow season is finally here and you may have to shovel more than your driveway. If your gas meter becomes buried in snow or ice it may lead to a problem. The impact of heavy snow and ice can jar the meter set, and ice may interfere with the supply of gas to your appliances. If your meter is covered with snow right now, please play it safe and CAREFULLY dig it out. If you have no heat or smell gas, call us immediately.

METER READING & SAFETY REQUIRES CLEAR ACCESS AT ALL TIMES

Please keep the area in front of and around your gas meter clear. Our desire is to be able to accurately read your meter. This includes the storage of boats, trailers, as well as snow and ice.

Chess enthusiasts passionate but low-profile

By Ariel Hansen Times-News writer

It's been a long time since the U.S. was as excited about chess as, say, football remember Bobby Fischer?

But throughout the country, including south-central Idaho, it remains a pastime that draws people together. High school clubs and community clubs have small but dedicated memberships, disciples of the discipline who are eager to share their passion.

"If you like to think a lot, and use your brain, it's a good game for that," said eighthgrader Desmond Porth of Bellevue. "If you practice enough, a not very smart person can learn to play and win."

One of the myths of chess, say enthusiasts, is that you have to be a genius or a nerd to enjoy it or excel at it.

"People believe you have to be intelligent to play chess. No, you have to have a lot of common sense and eye for detail," said Adam Porth, Desmond's father and the organizer of the chess club at Wood River High School, where he teaches science. He said practice and the ability to recognize patterns is more important than IQ. "The more games you you've struggled for, it's very gratifying to games a little more than chess, but has play, the better chess player you can become."

Games can pit a similarly rated 8-year-old against an 80-year-old — and either has a good chance to win. It's never too late to pick they've quit playing." it up, say club organizers.

"People are afraid of it, they say, 'I can't learn chess? Anybody can learn chess, and it tained," said Adam Porth, who won his catedoesn't take long to teach it," said Norman Friedman, organizer of the Wood River Chess Club. He has taught community ed classes through the College of Southern Idaho, and said four 1 1/2- to two-hour sessions can turn a newbie into a respectable player.

Of course, not everyone is interested.

"It's very fascinating, but if you're like my wife, she says she'd rather watch the paint dry. She calls it a 'geek convention' whenever we're playing," said Barry Eacker, organizer of Magic Valley Chess Club.

The game can be mentally intense, sometimes even grueling, especially for competitive players.

"It's the most warlike and unforgiving game. You can spend five or six hours nurturing a position and the slightest error can cause you to lose everything you fought for. (But) when you win, that you discovered you've achieved a combination on the board

WHERE CAN I PLAY?

These clubs are open to all ages and abilities, and they welcome new players. Some also participate in competitive or tournament play. Although casual play is free, some competitions and tournaments have entry fees or require membership in a national organization.

Wood River Chess Club

Meets 6-7:30 p.m. Wednesdays. In winter, meet at the Atkinsons Park recreation building (830 Third Ave., Ketchum, near Hemingway Elementary); in summer, meet at Ketchum Town Square (across Fourth Street East from Atkinsons' Market). Call before you come, in case that week's session is cancelled or moved. Free lessons available; many players are beginning or intermediate. Contact: Norm Friedman, 727-1612.

WRHS Chess Club

Meets Mondays and Wednesdays from about 3:30 or 4 p.m. (after school) to 5:30 p.m., at Wood River High School (1250 Fox Acres Road, Hailey). Coordinator Adam Porth also offers private chess coaching. Contact: Porth, www.wix.com/aporth/wrhs-chess-club or 450-9048. Porth also maintains a chess blog, "The Chess Nut." with advice, scientific research and chess variant instructions, at adamporth.blogspot.com.

Magic Valley Chess Club

Meets 6-9:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at Barnes & Noble (1239A Pole Line Road, Twin Falls). Contact: Barry Eacker, 733-6186 or mol@q.com.

Why Santa lives in Sun Valley

A week of Christmas fun in the snow

By Karen Bossick

Times-News correspondent

SUN VALLEY - Mark Sheehan and his 10-year-old son, Sean, put the finishing touches on the giant Sun Valley Sun made of ice and snow outside the Sun Valley Lodge on Monday afternoon.

As they pushed the leftover blocks of ice into the swan pond, Sheehan surveyed what was his 25th ice sculpture.

"This is painful hard work. You get sweaty and wet. You lift the chain saw over your head and you're crippled for a week. But then some woman comes out of the lodge and tells me, 'Every time I see this sculpture, it lifts my spirits? And in that moment it's all worth it," said Sheehan, a Bellevue metalsmith.

Christmas week at Sun Valley is all about tradition from the building of the Sun Valley logo outside the lodge to the free Christmas Eve performance of "The Nutcracker" followed by the torchlight parade down Dollar Mountain.

Visitors who have been spending Christmas in Sun Valley as long as they can remember have come to expect these things. And so have those who live in the Sun Valley area.

This year, Sun Valley has thrown in a few new events in when Sun Valley opened as honor of its 75th anniversary season. It begins with a Rail Jam tonight and ends with the torchlight parade and free ice skating on Sun Valley's outdoor ice

Audition in Oakley for musical theater

Times-News

Oakley Valley Arts Council will hold auditions for its production of "Singin In The Rain," 7-9 p.m. Jan. 6 and 9 a.m. to noon Jan. 8 at Howells Opera House in Oaklev.

Kent Severe will direct the musical, assisted by Cathe Runyan. Performance dates are March 3-5, 7, 10-12, 14 and 17-19.

Those 16 and older may audition. Come prepared with a short musical number, with your own accompaniment or accompanist. "Singin In The Rain" is about a silent film star with humble roots as a musician, dancer and stunt man. He barely tolerates his vapid leading lady, who is convinced that their screen romance is real. After the first talking picture proves to be a smash hit, the head of the studio decides he has no choice but to convert the new Lockwood and Lamont film "The Dueling Cavalier" into a talkie. The production is beset with difficulties; by far the worst is a comically grating voice. After a disastrous test screening, they come up with the idea to convert it to a musical comedy film. The leading man falls in love with an aspiring actress who is providing the voice for the leading lady. When that lady finds out, she is furious and does everything possible to sabotage the romance.

Audiences will hear favorite songs such as "Singin In The Rain," "Good Mornin," "Rag Doll" and "You Are My Lucky Star."

Rare eclipse gives you a reason to stay up all night

Times-News

If southern Idaho skies are clear Monday night, night owls will be in for an astronomical treat – a total eclipse of the moon that's totally viewable, as well.

What makes this eclipse special is the fact that we'll be able to see the whole process from start to finish, said Chris Anderson, coordinator of the Centennial Observatory at the Herrett Center for Arts and Science in Twin Falls.

"While lunar eclipses are not exceedingly rare, the fact that the visible phases last around 4 1/2 hours - roughly a fifth of Earth's rotation - makes it somewhat rare to be on the part of Earth where neither the start nor the finish happens when the Moon is below the horizon." Anderson said in a Herrett Center press release. The only downside of this eclipse, he said, is that to see the whole thing you have to stay up pretty much all night.

Also notable is the fact that, since this eclipse happens to fall on the Winter Solstice, the Moon will be about as high in the sky as it can get just before the start of totality at 12:34 a.m. Tuesday. If the sky is cloudy that night, the phenomenon will go unobserved until a similar total eclipse happens over this part of North America in April 2014.

The observatory will be open all night for free views of the eclipse, weather permitting. Enter the door on the east side of the Herrett Center, right below the observatory.

During his first semester, the Sacramento native auditioned for the Madrigal Ensemble. After hearing his audition, instructor Serena Jenkins Clark encouraged him to do more vocal work.

When he finishes school, Riley hopes to write for pop stars like Britney Spears and Lady Gaga. He wants to incorporate traditional instruments — like his beloved viola - with electronic instruments in his music.

"I'm just tired of classical music," he said.

The pop music industry is a tough business to get into, he acknowledges. Most songwriters write with a specific artist in mind, then market the songs through inside connections. He knows he won't be able to do it from Twin Falls.

Failing that, Riley wants to perform. He is working on expanding his vocal range to countertenor.

"I cannot describe how gorgeous it is," he said of countertenors' voices. "It takes a lot of perfection, I

Plan your trip to Elko for Cowboy Poetry Gathering

By Danielle Switalski

Elko Daily Free Press writer

ELKO, Nev. - The 27th National Cowboy Poetry Gathering is fast approaching, and tickets are still available for headlining shows as well as many workshops.

The 2011 gathering is scheduled Jan. 24-29.

It's only the middle of December and tickets are going fast, said Tamara Kubacki, programs coordinator at the Western Folklife Center. Although some workshops are sold out, plenty still have room.

Kubacki said organizers try to change workshops each year; however, rawhide braiding with Doug Groves and zydeco dancing are back this year. New workshops that still have space include "Saddle Makers' and Leather Carvers' Gathering" and "Ranch Tour: A Day at the Ranch."

Food workshops are "Cook Beef like a Traditional Chef" with Dustin Makowski, and "Pack It In" with John Doran.

Workshops that focus on the creative process include "From Poem to Reader" with Linda Hasselstrom and Nancy Curtis; "Producing a YouTube Video" with Hal Cannon and Taki Telonidis; "Song Swap: Fictional Lyrics Paul Zarzyski and Wylie Gustafson; and "The Zen of Whole Enchilada: Envisioning the Creative Process" with Andy Wilkinson.

Dance workshops include single-step, two-step and triple-step swing, rodeo swing and waltz, as well as zydeco.

This year's dinner theater is titled "No Stranger Here: In the Studio with Ramblin' Jack Elliott & Friends." Elliott was awarded a Grammy after the 2010 Cowboy Poetry Gathering and is returning to Elko again to headline the show.

dinner shows go quickly.

The dinner theater is Jan. 27-29, with cocktails at 4:30 p.m., dinner at 5 p.m.

and the shows beginning at 6 torium p.m. at Great Basin College Theater. Tickets are $60.

A last-minute gathering entry is Ian Tyson. Kubacki said this singer-songwriter has been performing for 50 years and is an all-time favorite among ranchers. There are few tickets left for his show at 3 p.m. Jan. 28 in the GThree Bar Theater at the WFC, and plenty of seats left for the show at 3 p.m. Jan. 27 in the auditorium at the Elko Convention Center.

"Every single truck you see on a ranch has his CD in it," Kubacki said.

The international program and Futuristic Grooves" with this year features artists from Hungary. Hungarian Soul performs at 7 p.m. Jan. 24 at the G Three Bar Theater in the WFC. This show features the Hungarian musical group Gyanta and other Hungarian guests, who will perform songs and poetry from the puszta, which means the great plains, of Hungary.

The exhibition opening at the WFC's Wiegand Gallery during the gathering is titled "Herdsmen and Horsemen of the Hungarian Puszta," highlighting the roots and contemporary life of Hungary's herding.

Kids clamor for 'Christmas Carol,' so Ketchum theater delivers

By Karen Bossick

Times-News correspondent

KETCHUM Patsy Wygle entertained the notion of coming up with a different holiday play this

But was hard to say no when parents began calling her in September to find out when auditions would be held for "A Christmas Carol - The Musical."

After all, she didn't want to be a Scrooge about it.

So the nexStage Theatre will bring back the classic Christmas story with its catchy tunes for the fifth consecutive year.

The musical version of Charles Dickens' Christmas classic opens at 7 tonight and continues Saturday, Sunday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Ketchum theater. A show-closing Christmas Eve matinee will be held at 2 p.m. Dec. 24.

Hot mulled wine, cider and cookies will be served around the Christmas tree before the show on opening night.

The musical by David Armstrong, Dick Gallagher and Mark Waldrop will feature its largest cast ever -66, including four profes-Wygle, who is directing the musical with Keith Moore

RIVALRY RUNAWAY Bruin girls

New season, same result. The fourth installment of the Twin Falls-Canyon Ridge girls basketball rivalry went pretty much the same way it has in the past — Twin Falls dominating.

In front of a spirited and packed house at Baun gymnasium, the Bruins ran away from the Riverhawks for the 70-39 win.

"It's a big win for us and obviously beating Canyon Ridge is always big," said senior Alyssa Soloaga. "They're our cross-town rivals and it's always exciting in the gym with students and parents from both schools coming out."

In their four matchups. Twin Falls has beaten Canyon Ridge by an average of 39 points.

But this one started off rocky for the Bruins.

Twin Falls (8-2, 4-0 Great Basin Conference) opened the first quarter with four straight turnovers and Canyon Ridge held a slight lead. But eventually the wheels fell off for the Riverhawks as Twin Falls' pressure defense created easy transition buckets.

"We didn't take care of the ball tonight," said Canyon Ridge coach Kim Wrav. our mistakes and play the "We're not losing to teams because they're better than us, we're losing because of our mistakes. We have to fix Riverhawks.

Former Bruins remembered at this year's Bear-Cat invite Justin Mallory would have been a senior on the Twin Falls wrestling team like two other former Bruin weekend's grapplers, died before becoming an upperclassman.

While Mallory, Justin Hernandez and Trevor Hine are gone, they are not forgotten. Their mothers have formed the JTJ Scholarship, Memorial awarding three scholarships last spring. Teresa Burgess, the mother of Hernandez, said the plan is to award two $500 scholarships to senior Twin Falls wrestlers next spring.

To help make that happen, the mothers of Mallory, Hernandez and Hine will be selling concesthis winter. Thibault scores 20 as Tigers top Wolverines

By Diane Philbin Times-News writer

JEROME - Carrie Thibault and the Jerome defense were too big of an obstacle as the Tigers beat Wood River 40-33, handing the Wolverines their first loss of season in a Great Basin Conference matchup.

Thibault finished gamehigh 20 points. The senior guard was responsible for eight of the 13 points the Tigers scored in the final period, hitting 8-of-10 attempts at the charity stripe.

"Holding (Kaitana) Martinez to only four points was the key," said Jerome coach Brent Clark. "The out. defense held her in check which is a difficult thing to do. She is one of the best players and kids in the valley."

After watching the Tigers take a 21-18 lead after the first half, the Wolverines needed to take it up a notch in the second half, but couldn't make it happen.

"We just weren't executing on offense," said Wood River coach Mendy Benson. "We weren't running what we usually run, but I thought our defense was pretty solid."

Overall, the Jerome defense gave a good team effort and at times had to make some changes on the fly especially in the second half due to some adjustments made by the Wolverines.

"We came to play with our hearts," said Jerome senior Mattie MacGregor. "We played really well as a team and did a lot of talking on the court. Our main goal was to play hard on defense for four quarters."

Haylee Thompson led a balanced Wolverine attack with 10 points and five rebounds.

Cheyenne Swanson pulled down seven rebounds and had eight points. Taylor Hayes also contributed eight points. But Martinez was held to

2-for-14 shooting for the Wolverines before fouling "Both teams defenses made it hard for the other team to run any offense," said Wood River assistant coach Kevin Stilling. "The girls learned a lot against a really good team."

Wood River (8-1, 3-1) travels to Hillcrest on Saturday, while Jerome (6-3, 2-2) is at Bishop Kelly on Dec. 29.

CSI men

Continued from Sports 1 Jackson went 6-for-8

from 3-point range. After struggling from the field during last week's conference road split, Jackson got up plenty of shots this week.

"I had to make it feel good, had to get it better," he said of his shooting Smith quietly worked his way to a triple-double of 16 points, 10 assists and 10 rebounds, "I finally cracked a triple-double at CSI," said Smith, who has come close to the feat a couple times. "I'm happy I got it." After a slow start, Brooks hit three second-half treys and finished with 23 points, while Buckner had a 13point, 12-rebound night, his first double-double since Nov. 13. Mitch Bruneel added 15 points and six boards.

But 12th-ranked CSI (14-2) struggled to put the visitors away. The Eagles led 28-13 in the first half but soon were up just 44-43. A 60-52 lead early in the sec-CSI trailed 72-71 with 12:08 to play.

Eight straight points by Brooks put CSI up to stay and Jackson later ignited the final run with two treys and a pair of slams. Smith added his own dunk and snared a late rebound to earn his triple-double. "I really think that when's we started playing," Smith said of the late run. "Once everybody's on the same page and everybody's playing hard, it's hard to stop us."

Gosar wasn't surprised their way some bumps along the way.

"Half of our guys' brains are on Christmas break already," he said. "It's a long year and we need a break. I'm happy to get out of that one."

As for his bright yellow jacket, Gosar said, "Some people told me I'm too boring on the sidelines."

MIKE CHRISTENSEN/Times-News College of Southern Idaho guard Pierre Jackson shoots a jumper against Idaho Select Thursday

Six players scored in doubles figures for Idaho Select, which went 12-for-40 from 3-point range. Wade Joseph had 21 points and 10 boards, while Kevin Baker added 17 points and nine rebounds. Justin McCarthy hit five triples in scoring 17 points and Joel Ryman had 14 points, mostly on four 3s.

"They're a good team," ond half evaporated and said Jackson. "They might not be in shape, but they'll knock some 3s down and they're not going to give up."

> Despite its tallest player being 6-foot-6, Idaho Select won the rebounding battle 46-41. "They're strong. They're > some strong men, some grown men," said Jackson. CSI doesn't take the floor again until a Jan. 5 trip to Ontario, Ore. to face Treasure Valley Community College.

Cuban considers trying to break BCS with cash

NEW YORK — Don't expect Mark Cuban's money to break the BCS. Bowl Championship Series executive director Bill Hancock doubts "financial inducements," such as the one the Dallas Mavericks' outspoken owner is considering, will lead to a major college football playoff. Cuban told reporters before the Mavs' game Wednesday night that he was "actively interested but in the exploratory stage" of trying to bankroll a 12- or 16-team playoff to replace the often-criticized BCS.

He thinks about $500 million might do the trick.

Hancock responded to Cuban's comments in an email to the AP on Thursday, saying, "Given how much support our current system has among university presidents, athletics directors, coaches and athletes, I don't think any amount of financial inducement will make people abandon" the BCS.

Cuban, who has made unsuccessful attempts to buy the Chicago Cubs and Texas Rangers in recent years, said he's spoken to two athletic directors from conferences with automatic BCS bids who were enthusiastic about his idea. He intends to contact several school presidents and state senators to determine whether the idea is worth pursuing. "Put $500 million in the bank and go to all the schools and pay them money as an option," Cuban was quoted by ESPNDallas.com. "Say, 'Look, I'm going to give you X amount every five years. In exchange, you say if you're picked for the playoff system, you'll go.'

The BCS, using polls and computer rankings, matches the top two teams in the country after the regular season in a national title game. No. 1 Auburn and No. 2 Oregon meet on Jan. 10 in Glendale, Ariz.

The BCS is wildly unpopular among fans, but the leadership of the six most powerful conferences — the Big Ten, Big East, Big 12, ACC, SEC and Pac-10 — support it and the bowl system, making any radical changes in the near future highly unlikely.

League sends letter about sideline rules

NEW YORK — The NFL sent a letter to the 32 teams Thursday reminding them of the rules and restrictions for the bench area and sidelines.

Ray Anderson, the league's executive vice president for football operations, emphasized the responsibilities placed on each team to appoint a "get-back coach" to ensure that players, coaches and other staff are in compliance with league rules. The letter was sent in the wake of New York Jets strength and conditioning coach Sal Alosi being suspended indefinitely and fined $25,000 by the team for sticking out his knee and tripping Miami's Nolan Carroll in Sunday's game. Alosi subsequently acknowledged he told five inactive players to stand next to each other for a punt return, during which he tripped Carroll. "These long-standing rules are in place for safety purposes in order to protect players and officials on the field, members of the chain crew, as well as coaches, players, and other club personnel in the bench areas," Anderson wrote. The "get-back coach" must be aware of all sideline restrictions and will be responsible for ensuring that the team and staff are in compliance. Anderson added that "violations could subject your team and/or individuals to both in-game penalties and other disciplinary action. Flagrant violations after two warnings could result in an

NBA Rondo to miss 'couple of weeks'

BOSTON — One thing is certain about Boston Celtics' point guard Rajon Rondo's injury: he'll be sidelined with a sprained left ankle. How long? Well, it's probably going to be at least a week.

Maybe longer. Rondo was helped off the court after he hurt his ankle early in the fourth quarter of Wednesday night's 118-116 win over the New York Knicks. He returned and finished the game, then said afterward he expected to play against the Atlanta Hawks on Thursday night. But general manager Danny Ainge said on WEEI-AM on Thursday that Rondo's ankle was swollen after the game and will need "a couple of weeks, anyway." Celtics spokesman Jeff Twiss clarified that no official timetable had been set.

When Celtics coach Doc Rivers was asked before the game against the Hawks how long the guard would be out, he said: "I really don't have an update. One, two weeks." MAGIC VALLLEY

THE INNOVATIVE CROSSOVER!

RoadWorthy! By Ken Chester, Jr. Motor News Media Corp.

he Honda Pilot earned its reputation as one of the original innovators in the crossover SUV segment, raising the prominence of onroad driving sophistication, three-row passenger capability and higher fuel efficiency compared to conventional SUV designs. Currently in its second generation, the Pilot continues to represent the refined, comfortable, and familyoriented vehicle choice with space for eight passengers and a wide variety of useful capabilities and premium features.

For 2011 the automaker adds the availability of the Honda Satellite-Linked Navigation System to the Pilot EX-L model, a feature previously exclusive to the top-level Pilot Touring model

Available in EX, LX, EX-L and Touring trim levels, power for the Pilot is generated by a 3.5L V6 prime mover bolted to a fivespeed automatic transmission. This engine provides both performance and enhanced efficiency with Variable Cylinder Management, a technology that can deactivate up to three of the engine's six cylinders to save fuel when cruising or lightly accelerating. The available Variable Torque Management 4-Wheel-Drive (VTM-4) directs power to the wheels with the most traction in rain, snow and slippery terrain.

The automatic transmission features Grade Logic Control to help maintain the most appropriate gear when going uphill or downhill, thereby avoiding gear "hunting." The VTM-4 system (available) adds fully automatic fourwheel-drive capability. VTM-4 delivers seamless, "decisionfree" application of fourwheel-drive when needed, a key benefit compared to conventional systems. The system also provides a "lock mode" - available when in first or second gears (up to 18 mph) and activated by a button on the instrument panel - that can deliver the maximum-possible torque transfer to the rear wheels to aid in extraction from extremely low traction or stuck conditions.

Pilot s unit-body construction makes extensive use of high-strength steel (52 percent) to minimize weight. The suspension is a fully independent system with front MacPherson strut and rear multi-link with trailing arm designs that contribute to responsive driving characteristics for an SUV. The 109.2-inch wheelbase facilitates a smooth ride and standard 17inch wheels with P245 65 R17 all-season tires combine both on- and off-road performance. A turning diameter of 38.6 feet aids maneuverability in tight parking situations.

Inside the passenger cabin emphasizes an expansive feel with an efficient and modern design that supplies 152.7 cu-ft. of passenger space within three rows of seats. Adjustable storage compartments in the center console can accommodate items large and small from handbags to mobile phones. The instrument panel's wide center stack intelligently groups similar controls for the audio system, climate controls and the available Honda Satellite-Linked Navigation System and Honda DVD Entertainment System (if equipped). All models provide an auxiliary audio input jack for digital music players, and navigationequipped models also include Bluetooth HandsFreeLink and a USB audio interface2. The first row provides a commanding view of the road for the driver and the passenger. The 60/40 split second row bench seat accommodates three passengers and slides forward for increased ease-of-access to the third row. The third-row bench seat, also split 60/40, is designed to offer sufficient knee room for an average size adult. There are four Lower Anchor and Tether for CHildren (LATCH) attachment positions, which provide options for three child seats in the second row and one in the third row.

The large cargo area has a hidden storage well that provides 2.8 cu-ft. of space and can combine with the above floor storage area by securing the hinged cover against the seatback. The Pilot Touring provides a load-supporting cargo net (20 pounds maximum weight) to further subdivide the rear cargo area. For maximum cargo space, the second and third rows fold flat into the floor for additional functionality. The tailgate features a lift-up glass hatch for access to the cargo

NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPLICATION FOR CONDITIONAL USE PERMIT #CU 2010-12-01

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing will be held on Thursday, the 20th day of January, 2011, at 2:00 o'clock PM, Burley City Chambers located at 1401 Overland, Burley, Idaho before the Cassia County Planning & Zoning Commission on the application of Thomas Petroleum DBA Bowen Petroleum, PO Box 940, Burley, Idaho 83318 regarding an Application for Conditional Use Permit, which application was received by the County on the 13th day of December, 2010, for the purpose of placement of propane tanks.

The property is located on lands at approximately 600 West 0 South, Burley, ID 83318, Cassia County, Idaho.

Such lands are located within the IC zone. Pursuant to the Cassia County Zoning Ordinance a Conditional Use Permit is required for development in said zone.

The applicant will appear at this hearing to provide the Cassia County Planning & Zoning Commission all the information required for issuance of a Conditional User permit for the proposed use under the Cassia County Zoning Ordinance, before such permit can be issued.

A copy of the Application for Conditional Use Permit, including relevant maps and drawings, and information concerning the hearing process is available for review by the public at the office of the Zoning Administrator, Room #4 in the basement of the Cassia County Courthouse, 1459 Overland Ave., Burley, Idaho, prior to the hearing.

All other interested persons are invited to attend the hearing on the question of issuance of the requested conditional use permit. Such other interested persons are advised that in order to participate in the hearing, the following regulations apply:

A. Written Statements of Support of Objection: All persons to whom notice is mailed shall be advised in that notice that they and others who can establish that their substantial rights would be affected by the approval or denial of the permit may file written objections or supporting statements with the planning and zoning commission secretary no later than ten (10) days prior to the hearing setting forth in that writing that person's support or objection to the issuance of the new conditional use permit.

1. Written objections shall set forth each requirement of law (local, state or federal) which the objecting party believes the conditional use permit would violate.

2. Written statements shall also set forth either that the party making the statement owns property within one (1) mile of the external boundaries of the conditional use permit described in the application and/or otherwise setting for the substantial rights that would be affected by the approval or denial of the permit.

3.Additionally, any party desiring to file any document(s) exceeding one (1) one-sided, 81/2 " x 11" sized page, shall file such document(s) at least ten (10) days prior to the hearing, with the planning and zoning commission secretary. The planning and zoning commission reserves the right to reject any proffered documentation that violates the intent of this regulation.

B. Providing Testimony at the Public Hearing: Any person who files a statement in support or objection to the issuance of a new conditional use permit shall indicate in such statement whether or not such person desires to testify at the hearing.

1. Prior to the hearing the planning and zoning commission shall determine which of those persons who desire to testify will be permitted to testify at the hearing.

2.All statements of support or objections shall be made a part of the record at the hearing, but no person except the applicant shall be permitted to testify at the hearing unless they have previously filed a written statement of support ofr or objection to the issuance of the permit.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Board of Jerome County Commissioners will be holding a Public Hearing at 9:30 a.m. during their December 27, 2010 County Commissioner Meeting. The Commissioner meeting room is located at the Jerome County Courthouse, 300 North Lincoln, Room 300, Jerome, Idaho.

The purpose of this Public Hearing is to receive input regarding the need to increase the 2010 Property Tax Levy. A clerical error has been discovered in the property tax levy for the supplemental bond for Valley School District #262. The supplemental bond levy of .001752930 was not entered into the final tax roll submitted to the Idaho State Tax Commission which will result in a short fall of $300,000.00 to said taxing district. Pursuant to Idaho Code Section 63-810, an erroneous levy can be corrected and the property tax increased to prevent the shortfall.

Anyone desiring accommodations for disabilities at this Public Hearing should contact the Jerome County Clerk's Office, (208) 644-2714 at least 48 hours prior to the hearing. DATED This 14th day of December, 2010.

2nd DRAFT ORDINANCE NO. 1274

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BURLEY, IDAHO, AMENDING TITLE 1, SECTION 6 OF CHAPTER 5 OF THE BURLEY CITY CODE, REORGANIZING THE CITY OF BURLEY COUNCIL COMMITTIES TO CREATE A PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE AND A PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE, PROVIDING FOR THE DUTIES AND SCOPE OF AUTHORITY OF THE COMMITTEES, AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF

THE CITY OF BURLEY, IDAHO the following:

Section 1: TITLE 1, CHAPTER 5, SECTION 6 is hereby amended as follows:

1-5-6: COUNCIL COMMITTEES:

A. There shall be five (5) permanent standing city council committees: 1.) the Administrative Committee; 2.) the Law Enforcement Committee; 3.) the Fire Committee; 4.) the Electric Committee; and, 5.) the Recreation Committee; 3.) the Public Safety Committee; 4.) the Public Works Committee; and, the Electric Committee. Each committee shall be comprised of three (3) council members. No council member may serve on more than three (3) of the said standing_committees other than the Administrative Committee. The committees shall be advisory unless specific powers are delegated by ordinance, with the right of appeal of decisions made by such delegated powers to the full council. The membership of each committee shall be at the discretion of the mayor with appointments being made by the mayor at the January meeting of each calendar year. The chair of each committee shall be by election of the committee members. Such election of the chair shall occur in February of each calendar year. The committee may also elect a chair pro tem at any time. Reconfiguration of the makeup of the committees may take place at any time upon a vote of the council; said reconfigurations or any filling of vacancies shall be filled by appointment by the Mayor and approval of the Council.

B. The council committees shall be subject to compliance with Idaho open meeting law requirements set forth in Idaho Code and the scope of each committee's responsibility shall consist of the following:

Administrative Committee: The administrative committee shall generally consider matters relating to administrative matters of the city and may advise the mayor in providing personnel evaluations that are required to be completed of the City

Enforcement Committee: The Committee shall generally consider matters relating to law enforcement services provided to the city including service's cost, efficiency, and effectiveness. Enforcement Committee shall also advise the mayor on matters of public safety connected to the city's law enforcement activities and the mayor's exercise of police powers

Fire Committee: The Fire Committee shall generally consider matters relating to the city's fire department and related fire safety issues. The Fire Committee may advise on matters relating to negotiations with unions established among fire department personnel.

Recreation Committee: The Recreation Committee shall generally consider matters related to City recreation facilities and activities and may advise the mayor and council regarding the same.

Public Safety Commmittee: The Public Safety Committee shall generally consider matters relating to services provided by the City for the public's safety. The scope of the committee's matters shall include the City's fire department and law enforcement services, fire safety issues, negotiations with any unions related to public safety service providers, and the cost, efficiency, and effectiveness of all public safety services.

Public Works Committee: The Public Works Committee shall generally consider matters related to City departments and services associated with the City-provided utility services in its Water, Wastewater, and Sanitation departments. Committee may also advise the mayor and council on matters connected to any construction and/or maintenance of the city's water, and wastewater infrastructure and the capital needs of any of the above City departments.

Electric Committee: The Electric Committee shall generally consider matters relating to the purchase and transmission of electrical power for customers of the city's electric department and may advise the mayor and council on matters connected to the construction and maintenance of the city's electrical power

C. Committee Meetings: The council committees shall meet as deemed necessary by the committee at a day, time and place convenient to the members of the committee and to the general public. Agendas shall be posted pursuant to Idaho Code, no less than forty eight (48) hours prior to the commencement of the meeting. Special meetings may be called by the chair or by a written request of a quorum of the committee. Minutes shall be kept in accordance with Idaho law by members of the Committee or their designate.

D. Setting Of Committee Agendas: The mayor, a council member, or any department head may have an item placed on the agenda automatically. The chair may add items to the agenda up to twenty-four (24) hours before the meeting, provided proper public notice of the amended agenda is provided. The chair shall determine the order in which agenda items are addressed. Section 2: Upon passage of this Ordinance, the Mayor shall, by or at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Burley City Council, make and/or reassign committee assignments for the present calendar year. Section 3: This ordinance shall become effective upon passage and publication as provided by law. PASSED AND APPROVED this 7th day of December 2010, by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Burley. CITY OF BURLEY

THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

"The twilight of our mysteries Shines like high noonday on her face: Our piteous guesses, dim with fears.

She touches, handles, sees, and hears."

- Robert Hugh Benson

I notice that Jeff Wolfson has come out of retirement, if only temporarily, 10 years since he gave up the game to concentrate on family life after his squad played in the 2000 World Championships.

Here is a deal from the last set of the trials that qualified his team for the Bermuda Bowl. Because his opponents had made three notrump here, Michael Rosenberg (for the Wolfson team) would have to make his heart game to avoid a substantial loss.

On a low club lead to East's nine (this would have been a fine time for a falsecard) and South's queen, the issue was how to get a 10th trick if East had all the top clubs.

It seems impossible to build a trick from the diamond queen. However, Rosenberg went for a completely different play, electing to ruff out the spades before drawing trumps. As soon as West was known to hold six spades, East was marked with the diamond king. (If West held that card, he would surely have overcalled.)

That made Rosenberg's life much easier. He now ran all the trumps, forcing East to come down to three clubs and two diamonds.

Rosenberg now endplayed East with a club, forcing him to lead diamonds in the two-card ending, and the diamond loser vanished. Very nicely judged. Of course, had East kept all of his clubs, he would have had to bare his diamond king.

ANSWER: It is very tempting to act again in sequences of this sort, but bear in mind that you showed the unbid suits and values, and your partner declined to bid beyond the one-level. Yes, you only have one heart, but how many do you think your partner has? I'd guess four or five — and he might have only three spades! Play it safe and pass.

DEAR ABBY: My father died this year. My husband and I were his primary caregivers. I was with him until his dying breath. After his passing, Mom asked us to move in so she wouldn't be alone. She has post-polio syndrome, but her biggest problem is her "princess syndrome."

She has trouble getting around, but is able to do some things while I'm at work all day. As soon as I walk in the door, she's all over me to do simple tasks that she could have done during the day. She complains the house isn't clean enough, or that this and that aren't done up to her standards.

Abby, it was easier to take care of all my dad's needs than it is to take care of hers! Her day consists of getting up at 10 a.m., watching soap operas and eating herself to more than 300 pounds. How do I deal with a mother with a major princess complex?

- NOT CINDERELLA

DEAR ${f A}$ BBY Jeanne Phillips

DEAR NOT CINDEREL-LA: Do it by having a frank conversation with your mother and telling her exactly what you have told me, WITHOUT labeling her a princess. You should also insist that she be screened by her doctor for depression.

If her demands are more than you and your husband can deliver, then consider moving into a place of your own. However, if your mother realizes that the alternative is living alone, she may be inclined to compromise.

DEAR ABBY: My husband of one year (at the time) was considered by everyone to be the most caring, good husband. But he never wanted to have relations with me. After several months of investigation, I learned he had been seeing prostitutes. He even admitted to me that when he did have sex with me he was thinking of them. Fast-forward: I forgave him; we went to counseling.

Abby, he still never wants to have sex with me! When we do, it's because I initiate it. My self-confidence is shot. He says he "doesn't have a sex drive," so I can either accept him for all the positives – of which there are many – and not have a sex life, or not.

I have considered fulfilling my needs outside the marriage, and giving him the green light to do the same, but he's against it. I'm at a loss as to what to do. Should I just settle and be happy with what I have?

- WANTING MORE IN THE SOUTH DEAR WANTING

MORE: You are obviously not happy with "what you have." And a man who engages the services of a prostitute DOES have a sex drive. You both need to be completely truthful with each other. Once you have reached that point, you will know what to do, and you won't have to ask me to make the decision for you.

DEAR ABBY: boyfriend and I have reached an impasse. He says that breakfast, brunch or lunch is an acceptable time to spend with my girlfriends, but dinner is "family time" and should be spent at home with him.

He also says that girlfriends who spend a weekend away together are "up to no good." I see no problem with it. What are your thoughts?

- UNSURE IN THE MIDWEST DEAR UNSURE: Your

boyfriend appears to be insecure, controlling and have a dim view of women. If you're smart, you will find someone who is less easily threatened by female bonding and let this one go.

OROSCOPE Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The only voice you need listen to today is the one that comes from within. Your wits are sharp and your intuitions are likely to be right on the mark. When faced with important decisions, take more time to think about it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A mountain might be made out of a molehill. Elevated tensions could turn an off-the-cuff remark into a conflict if a discussion gets too heated. Keep a level head and try to offer helpful advice rather than criticism.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A kind word can smooth a bumpy road. Diffuse tensions in the workplace by offering words of encouragement. An item that may seem like something you must have will only make you poorer in the long run.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones. Avoid the urge to vent about a co-worker, as this will undoubtedly be a hot topic on the grapevine. An important decision may require much more time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Don't be a gambler with love or money. Taking unnecessary risks can backfire with unpleasant repercussions. There is no such thing as a sure thing — other than the surety that your piggy bank will soon be empty.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Show your versatility. Take on all tasks that come your way and be the go-to guy or gal whom the big wigs rely on to get the job done. Prove yourself an invaluable asset to quickly move up the ladder of success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Think it over. A situation may have reached such an impasse that the only apparent option is to end it and start over. Take some more time to mull it over and decide whether or not there is a chance of salvaging the project.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): When pushed, the reflex is to push back. People may be on your back to do it their way, but no matter how overbearing this seems, lashing out could make it worse. Avoid conflict, but don't knuckle under.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Battles can be won or lost in the preparation. If you begin a project unprepared, it very likely will be doomed to fail. If you've covered all the bases, however, chances are you'll succeed with ease.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Keep it to yourself. You may find fault with coworkers, but it is not your place to express a view. Concentrate on your own responsibilities and let those in power deal with those who don't carry their own weight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Even the best hitter in the big leagues occasionally goes through a slump. Your business acumen may be slightly off — and as such, you should avoid taking on extra responsibilities right now. Stick to the routine.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Make the world go away. You'll be at the top of your game if you block out distractions and keep a congenial atmosphere at the workplace. Change is not necessary when the old Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.
