GREEK YOGURT, PARKING ON CITY COUNCIL AGENDA

BY BEN BOTKIN
bbotkin@magicvalley.com

Tonight, the Twin Falls City Council tackle yet again downtown parking, vote on the finishing touches for a proposed college student apartment project and conduct another public hearing featuring the latest government dealings tied to Greek yogurt-maker Chobani.

The Twin Falls City Council will meet at 5 p.m. at council chambers, 305 Third Ave. E.

The downtown parking proposal is an overhaul on several fronts, as a task force has offered changes that include removal of parking meters downtown and ending the practice of leasing individual spaces. Also, all city-owned lots would provide free public parking on a first-come, first-served basis. Public parking on downtown streets would be regulated with posted time limits that vary based on location.

The council will also decide on an ordinance that will put in a place a residential zoning change and agreement needed for the College of Southern Idaho to build a student apartment complex between the 140-250 blocks of Falls Avenue West and Robbins Avenue West. The ordinance is the final step following the council's approval of the initial proposal on Oct. 10.

There's also a request to put two valley gutters to slow traffic along Robbins Avenue West. It's intended to address traffic safety concerns raised by neighbors because of the pending CSI student apartment complex.

Investing in $cience

A five-year grant is allowing CSI students to participate in biomedical research.

BY JULIE WOOTTON
jwootton@magicvalley.com

College of Southern Idaho student Deena Hardy hopes to become a marine biologist someday.

For two weeks over the summer, she got her first taste of a scientific research experience. The 20-year-old participated in projects involving biodiversity and air quality without leaving Twin Falls.

"It's a really good opportunity," she said. "It was a good transition between school labs and actual research."

Hardy has one semester left at CSI and then plans to transfer to a four-year university to earn a bachelor's degree.

Over a five-year period, CSI is receiving about $450,000 from the IDEa Network for Biomedical Research Excellence. The money is used to fund research opportunities for students, allow faculty members to provide science outreach to kindergarten through 12th graders and to buy more advanced lab equipment.

CSI, as well as a number of other Idaho colleges and universities, is in its third year of the current grant cycle.

The grant is meant to increase the state's competitiveness for federal biomedical research funding. Another goal is to encourage students to further their education.

"To do that, we've been using our grant dollars to outfit biology and chemistry labs with the most up-to-date equipment," said Amy Rice Doetsch, a CSI biology professor

To Teach Cursive or to Not to Teach Cursive, That Is the Question

BY LIZ BOWIE
The Baltimore Sun

BALTIMORE • Darius Riley displays the concentration of a tightrope walker as he fastens his eyes on the lined paper in front of him and grips his No. 2 yellow pencil down to its point to make his most perfect curly letters.

"I would rather do it in print because it is faster," Darius, a fifth-grader at Highlandtown Elementary School near Patterson Park, said of his cursive writing. Even his typing would probably be quicker, he says.

Darius may be in the last generation of students to be taught cursive as states begin dropping the subject in favor of spending time on mastering math, science and other skills.

Cursive is not included in the so-called common core standards, which will govern teaching and lesson plans in 46 states beginning next year, leaving states free to shift away from a subject taught for centuries. Hawaii and Indiana have already dropped it.

La Posada Continues to Serve Latino Community's Needs

Volunteers at the Twin Falls organization say that as need for La Posada's Christmas baskets grow, so do efforts to keep pace.

Paula Salinas and Candelaria Rodriguez are a couple of empty nesters who didn't slow down when their children grew up.

Both ladies found an outlet for their energy years ago as volunteers for La Posada Inc., a charity organization that helps Twin Falls Latinos with emergency aid, bills, food and Christmas items. Currently, Salinas and Rodriguez are putting in countless hours to organize this year's holiday basket effort at La Posada, wrapping presents, tracking inventory of who needs what item and the items left.

Fundraiser

Rebounding from a spate of turnover in its leadership and continued financial uncertainty, the Twin Falls Senior Citizens Center can use all the help it can get. You can help as the center looks to get a handle on its finances by attending Wednesday night's "Save the Senior Center" spaghetti dinner. It runs from 6-8 p.m. at the center, 530 Shoshone St. W. Admission is $6, and the event includes dinner, entertainment by Johnny U, a raffle and a silent auction. Information: 733-0991.

Seasonal event

It's Paul's turn to have their day with the Jolly Old Elf, as Santa makes his annual tour through town, assisted by West End Fire and Rescue firemen. Paul firefighters will tour Santa through town starting at noon, Saturday, and if you're lucky enough to catch him, there'll be candy in it for you.

Sports

- The area's best high school wrestlers will be on display Friday and Saturday during the Bear-Cat Invitational at Twin Falls High School. Action on the mat starts at 3 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday. If you don't know the difference between a take-down and a reversal, or what those red and green anklets are for, cozy up to someone in the stands and ask. The sport's more fun to watch after you learn a few basic rules.
- Mini-Cassia basketball fans have a big Friday to look forward to, as 7:30 is tip-off time for two good high school boys games: Jerome at Minico and Canyon Ridge at Burley.

and the college's INBRE grant administrator.

The newest addition to the biology work space in the Shields Building is a study room equipped with seven microscopes purchased with grant funding.

"It gives students access to tools that they wouldn't have otherwise had access to," Doetsch said, and having the right equipment is critical for science students.

The biology department has also partnered with the physical science department to update equipment in chemistry labs.

CSI offers its own two-week summer research program on environmental sustainability for science students. However, there aren't on-going research opportunities for students during the year, so INBRE fills that gap.

The grant funds two-week summer research programs either at CSI or Boise State University, as well as a 10-week research experiences at four-year universities.

"We've been really successful in sending students out into the research network," Doetsch said.

Blaine Gibby, 26, is one of those students. After earning an associate's degree at CSI, he spent 10 weeks doing research at Idaho State University this summer.

Now, he's a biology major at ISU and plans to apply for medical school in the future. The research program, he said, helped change his perspective on education.

"It's one thing to be able to read out of a textbook and regurgitate on a test," Gibby said. "It's another thing to be able to come up with your own ideas."

Cursive

With technology pervasive in society and fewer documents that need a cursive signature, some educators say there is no need to bother kids with the tedious, time-consuming lessons on cursive. They argue that we soon may no longer need to sign our names on legal documents or credit card receipts; a scan of our eyeballs or a thumbprint may be all that is needed to identify us.

But there's more than just necessity that should be considered, historians say.

"Cursive writing is a matter of discipline and training in our culture. Is it necessary to the future of sustaining our culture and our understanding of our past? I believe it is," said Maryland State Archivist Edward C. Papenfuse. He believes children should learn it "not only as a means of sustaining communication with the past, but also an exercise in maintaining small motor control."

And he's the first to admit: "As one who has very messy handwriting and nearly illegible script, I have always preferred typing."

The issue has touched off a national debate and pitted educators against each other. Frank Chiki, head of the elementary section of the National Council of Teachers of English, said one day it may not be necessary to teach students printing, typing and cursive.

"Maybe we won't need to sign our names in the future," he said.

He points to declining sales of hardback books as people buy reading material on e-readers and iPads. "Is there a possibility that writing will go away? It is kind of like the physical book," he said: Its useful life may be on the decline.

Already the need for legible writing and signatures has diminished. Pharmacists, who have fussed for years that many physicians' penmanship on prescriptions is impossible to read, don't see handwritten prescriptions much anymore, said Brian Schumer, a pharmacist at Tuxedo Pharmacy in Green-spring Station.

"Everything is going electronic. Prescriptions are entered into a PalmPilot" and then transferred to a pharmacy, allowing for less chance of mistakes, Schumer said.

Even the courts are less insistent on cursive signatures.

Joel Sher, a Baltimore bankruptcy lawyer, said that when he files papers in federal court, he no longer needs to sign his name because it is all done electronically. Some state courts still require signatures, he said, but they will soon move to electronic filings as well.

But he said, "I still need clients to sign legal documents," including contracts and some letters. "Count me among the old-fashioned who think you should learn a foreign language, you should learn cursive and you should learn typing."

Not only are historical documents more accessible to scholars who can read cursive, but there's an important lesson in the discipline it takes to create a beautiful handwritten letter or document, historians said.

Alexandra Deutsch, chief curator at the Maryland Historical Society, said that in past centuries, a person's handwriting was seen as a reflection of who they were as a person and how they presented themselves.

"George Washington cultivated a particular signature. It is a very considered signature. That became part of his identity," she said. And good penmanship has always been viewed as a sign of being well-educated, and an indication that the person was self-disciplined. Architects, she said, still have a distinctive style of writing, and scientists must have clear, precise writing when they work in labs.

"It would be a tragic loss to not teach penmanship," she said.

But is there still time in the school day for it?

Research on the importance of cursive writing is mixed. Because not all students have access to computers at school, kids do most work there in handwriting, according to Steve Graham, an education professor at Vanderbilt University. Studies show that legibility makes a difference. When researchers had student work graded in both typed and written form, the paper's legibility affected the grade.

"If your handwriting is not legible then you will pay a price," Graham said.

But whether the handwriting is printed or written in cursive may not matter, he said. "Do we need to teach two different kinds of script? In a day in which the curriculum is very crowded, you can see why people are asking whether we need to teach both," Graham said.

When he studied what happened to students' handwriting later in their school careers, he found that the students who mixed cursive and print generally were faster than those who stuck to one form or the other.

Throughout the country, he said, most teachers are still teaching cursive in third grade.

But others believe that the new national common core standards — which put a greater emphasis on learning different forms of writing, such as research papers, persuasive writing and creative writing — will force teachers to make hard decisions about what is going to be sacrificed. As long as students are able to write in some form, whether cursive or block letters, they will be fine, researchers believe.

"The common core is going to force some very difficult decisions about how much time is going to be spent on teaching handwriting," Graham said. "You can bet people are going to look at efficiency."

Chiki, from the National Council of Teachers of English, said, "As long as they get their thoughts on paper, as long as they have voice in their writing, as long as they have the grammar (correct), it doesn't matter."

Kimberly Woman Dies in Idaho Falls Hospital One Month after Car Crash

TIMES-NEWS

Kimberly resident Barbara Sievers, 79, died at an Idaho Falls hospital this morning, according to a hospital official.

Sievers was involved in a two-vehicle crash in early November in Twin Falls, and she was taken to Eastern Idaho Regional Medical Center via air ambulance. Police reported that Sievers was hit by 77-year-old Gayle Bennet, of Twin Falls, as he failed to stop at a red light at the intersection of Orchard Drive and Washington Street South.

Sievers, driving a 2001 Buick sedan, was heading eastbound on Orchard, while Bennet was southbound on Washington in his 1991 Dodge pickup truck when he hit the driver's side of Sievers' car. Neither vehicle contained other passengers.

Bennet was treated and released from St. Luke's Magic Valley Medical Center in Twin Falls the week of the crash.

La Posada

"We've got a lot of presents," Salinas said. "It's growing. It seems like every year it gets harder, but we have plenty of good help."

Salinas is retired, and her adult children are leading their own lives. She's volunteered every day for the past four years and did it on a part-time basis two years prior to that. While she's in charge of organizing the inventory of donations, she's also a self-proclaimed jack of all trades, helping jump car batteries and working as an interpreter.

"I had six kids, and now just a husband. What should I do? I don't want to stay at home. (Volunteering) keeps me sane, keeps me trim," she joked.

Rodriguez has helped La Posada in some way for 13 years now, either volunteering or working as a staffer. It's important for her to help the organization that was there when she was in need.

"I know that Sister (Rosemary Boessen) needs help, so I volunteer," she said. "She's helped my kids and myself when we were really in need."

While they were happy to take a quick snack break to talk about the importance of aiding the community, it was only a brief respite from the work ahead. Hundreds of baskets were assembled with many more to go, as La Posada's volunteers prepare to deliver the gifts within the week. Christmas doesn't mark the end of the drive, as Salinas said she'll hit the after-holiday sales to stock up for next year.

- Before the regular meeting, the council will have a special meeting at 4 p.m. that is in closed session and not open to the public. The council will discuss a hiring decision and consider the evaluation, dismissal or disciplining of an employee. No votes can take place in the closed session.

- The council also will have public hearings at 6 p.m.

Both are tied to Chobani, which is building a 400-worker plant in Twin Falls.

The hearings will focus on an ordinance approving the urban renewal plan's revenue allocation area. That's needed so that the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency can collect the increased property taxes generated by the improvements that Chobani makes to the property.

The additional property taxes from Chobani's investment will go toward the infrastructure costs tied to the yogurt plant, such as sewer lines.

Also, there exists a resolution authorizing Mayor Don Hall to sign and submit an application to the Idaho Department of Commerce to partially cover the costs of extending an Idaho Power line to Chobani's new site on Kimberly Road. The grant application will request $550,000.

Ben Botkin may be reached at 735-3238.

For Newt Gingrich, No Bombast or Apologies

BY CHARLES BABINGTON
Associated Press

WASHINGTON • Newt Gingrich is trying to preserve his rapid rise in the GOP presidential race by defending his most controversial stands without appearing to be the thin-skinned hot-head his critics often describe. The former House speaker seemed to accomplish that goal in Saturday's debate in Iowa. His challenge will be to sustain the strategy while rivals attack him on the airwaves and the ground, and to convince conservative voters that he's their champion despite his occasional departures from orthodoxy. Polls suggest Gingrich is the likeliest alternative to former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney heading into the leadoff Iowa caucuses on Jan. 3. So far, Please see GINGRICH, A6

NORIEGA RETURNS TO PANAMA A LARGELY IRRELEVANT PRISONER

BY JUAN ZAMORANO
Associated Press

PANAMA CITY, Panama • More than two decades after the U.S. forced him from power, Manuel Noriega returned to Panama on Sunday as a prisoner and, to many of those he once ruled with impunity, an irrelevant man. Some Panamanians feel hatred for the former strongman and rejected American ally; a few others nostalgia. But as he returned to his native country for the first time since his ouster, it seemed like few people had any strong feelings at all.

Noriega

There were no legions of admirers at Panama City's Tocumen airport when the Spanish Iberia airlines' flight touched down, delivering him from Paris' La Sante prison after a stopover in Madrid. The crowds in the capital Sunday were of holiday shoppers.

Noriega, who has served drug sentences in the United States and a money-laundering term in France, was whisked by helicopter to the El Renacer prison to serve out three 20-year sentences for the slayings of political opponents in the 1980s. An elevated platform was set up at the prison so journalists could watch him enter, giving Panamanians what likely was their only glimpse of the man who once ran the country like his private fiefdom. Authorities sowed confusion at the

Russians Scoff At Medvedev Election Inquiry

BY KATHY LALLY
The Washington Post

MOSCOW • President Dmitry Medvedev used his Facebook page Sunday to disclose that he had ordered an investigation into reports of election fraud, a statement his audience greeted with derision. The posting quickly went viral, and drew more than 8,000 mostly offended and even offensive comments in a little over six hours, revealing the depth of the disillusionment with Medvedev, Prime Minister Vladimir Putin and their government. Tens of thousands of Russians spoke up in demonstrations across the country Saturday, protesting the Dec. 4 parliamentary elections, and they apparently had no intention of returning to their former silence. "Shame!" was a frequent comment, along with "You're pathetic." The commenters' posts Sunday revealed astonishing candor and courage. It's one thing to stand in a Moscow crowd of up to 40,000, according to estimates, and call for new elections. It's another matter to advertise your anger and disgust on the president's Facebook page, where it doesn't take a KGB agent to make a quick identification. In posting on Facebook, Medvedev was attempting to respond to Russians who organized Saturday's protest online, who are angry because they suspect the election was rigged in favor of the United Russia Party. "I agree neither with the slogans, nor the statements voiced at the protests," Medvedev wrote. "Nevertheless, I have ordered checks into all the reports from polling stations, regarding the compliance with the election laws." One reason for the skepticism that greeted his remarks: Medvedev is the head of United Russia and was the top candidate on its party list in the election. He nominates the chief prosecutor and judges, who might not be eager to pursue those working on behalf of the ruling party. Please see RUSSIA, A6

Tiniest Babies Are Growing Up Healthy Despite Odds

BY LINDSEY TANNER
Associated Press

CHICAGO • One is a healthy first-grader, the other an honors college student majoring in psychology. Once the tiniest babies ever born, both girls are thriving, despite long odds when they entered the world weighing less than a pound. A medical report from the doctor who resuscitated the infants at a suburban Chicago hospital is both a success story and a cautionary tale. These two are the exceptions and their remarkable health years later should not raise false hope: Most babies this small do poorly and many do not survive even with advanced medical care. "These are such extreme cases," said Dr. John Muraskas of Loyola University Medical Center in Maywood, Ill. They should not be considered "a benchmark" to mean that doctors should try to save all babies so small, he said. The report involves Madeline Mann, born in 1989 weighing 9.9 ounces, then the world record; and 7-year-old Rumaisa Rahman, whose 9.2-ounce birth weight remains the world's tiniest. Two other babies born since 1989 weighed less than Madeline and a German girl born was Please see BABIES, A6

Northeast States Cut Heating Aid to Poor

BY ANDREW MIGA

WASHINGTON • Mary Power is 92 and worried about surviving another frigid New England winter because deep cuts in federal home heating assistance benefits mean she probably can't afford enough heating oil to stay warm. She lives in a drafty trailer in Boston's West Roxbury neighborhood and gets by on $11,148 a year in pension and Social Security benefits. Her heating aid help this year will drop from $1,035 to $685. With rising heating oil prices, it probably will cost her more than $3,000 for enough oil to keep warm unless she

South Korea: 1 Dead after China Captain Stabs Officers

BY JIYOUNG WON
Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea • A South Korean coast guard officer was killed and another injured Monday when they were stabbed by a Chinese captain whose boat was stopped for suspected illegal fishing in South Korean waters, officials said. Two Chinese boats were stopped in Yellow Sea waters rich in blue crabs, anchovies and croaker, but details of the fight were unclear, coast guard officials said. The officials, who declined to give their names because of the sensitivity of the situation, said the captain of one of the boats stabbed the South Korean officers. The officers were taken to a hospital in the port city of Incheon. Nine Chinese fishermen were in custody, the coast guard said. A South Korean officer stabbed in the side died; the other officer wasn't severely injured, the officials said. There was no immediate comment from the Chinese Foreign Ministry in Beijing. The coast guard said it has seized about 430 Chinese ships for illegal fishing in the Yellow Sea so far this year, up from 370 last year. The coast guard usually releases the ships after a fine is paid, though violence occasionally occurs. Chinese fishing fleets have been going farther afield to feed growing domestic demand for seafood. In 2008, one South Korean coast guard officer was killed and six others injured in a fight with Chinese fishermen in South Korean waters. Last year, a collision between a Chinese fishing boat and Japanese coast guard vessels led to a diplomatic spat between the countries over disputed islands in the East China Sea.

Russia

Medvedev, famous for tweeting and carrying an iPad, routinely orders investigations into all sorts of matters: the beating a year ago of the journalist Oleg Kashin, the death of lawyer Sergei Magnitsky, the forest fires that burned out of control in 2010, a blaze at a retirement home in 2009. Nothing has come of those.

When he blandly announced Sept. 24 that he would relinquish the presidency after one term so that Putin could run in March and take it back, he finally lost his credibility among Russians who had been counting on him as a progressive counterpoint to Putin.

"I haven't noticed anything good coming from your presidency," one commenter wrote Sunday. "And on my meager doctor's salary it has become even worse. Leave now, and don't wait for the Tahrir Spring. It is going to happen, I promise you."

Frustration was also evident at Medvedev's talk of an investigation, when protesters were demanding new elections. "Have you lost your mind? How many do you need? 100,000 at the Kremlin?"

On Thursday, Vladimir Churov, head of the Central Election Commission and a longtime Putin ally, said he asked prosecutors to look into the videos posted on the Internet that showed purported violations. He promised that infractions would be pursued but suggested that many may have been faked, filmed in someone's apartment. "Those who created, commissioned or sponsored them will be held to account," he said.

That reminded one commenter of Putin's accusations that same day against Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton, saying that she criticized the election before the vote was counted and signaled the protests to begin. Earlier, Putin attacked Golos, Russia's only independent monitor, because it receives European and U.S. grants.

prison by first wheeling in a person thought to be Noriega in a wheelchair, covering him with what appeared to be a coat so his face could not be seen. But then a convoy arrived about a half hour later, triggering speculation the first person was a decoy.

Roxana Mendez, the interior minister, later told the TVN news channel was Noriega was in the second convoy.

"We reiterate that we had to safeguard the physical safety of Noreiga," she said.

Heating Aid

Thousands of poor people across the Northeast are bracing for a difficult winter with substantially less home heating aid coming from the federal government.

"They're playing Russian roulette with people's lives," said John Drew, who heads Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., which provides aid to low-income residents in Massachusetts.

The issue could flare just as New Hampshire votes in the Republican presidential primary.

"Why not let him be seen? What are they hiding? We want to see him handcuffed in a cell."

Aurelio Barria, a member of the old opposition to Noriega

The lack of a view of Noriega afforded by the tight security frustrated some Panamanians.

"We are disappointed at the excessive security that kept us from seeing the prisoner," said Aurelio Barria, a member of the old opposition to Noriega, who was once known for his snappy military uniforms and nationalistic swagger.

"Why not let him be seen? What are they hiding? We want to see him handcuffed in a cell," Barria told TVN.

About a dozen protesters, identifying themselves as relatives of army officers shot by Noriega's forces, gathered at the prison's main entrance. One held a sign saying "Justice, Noriega, Killer." Another woman shouted "Die, you wretch! Now you're going to pay for your crimes." It was unlikely the ex-dictator could hear her.

heavily on costly oil heat, are expected to be especially hard hit. Many poor and elderly people on long-term struggle with rising heating bills that can run into thousands of dollars. That can force them to cut back on other necessities like food or medicine.

"The winter of 2011-12 could be memorable for the misery and suffering of thousands of frigid households," New Hampshire's Concord Monitor newspaper said in an editorial. "Heating oil prices are expected to hit record highs, and federal fuel assistance may reach a record low for recent years."

ways so clear cut, the report suggests.

In Japan, doctors have lowered that threshold — the gestational age — to 22 weeks. Normal pregnancies last about 40 weeks.

Some U.S. doctors will attempt to save babies at 22 weeks, but that is not done routinely, said Dr. Edward Bell, a University of Iowa pediatrics professor.

Bell runs an online registry of the world's tiniest babies, born weighing less than about 14 ounces, or slightly less than 1 pound. Since 1936, 124 have been listed. The registry is compiled from doctors' voluntary reports and so does not represent all survivors.

Bell estimates that about 7,500 U.S. babies are born each year weighing less than 1 pound, and that about 10 percent survive.

Sometimes tiny babies with zero chance of surviving show signs of life at birth, and may be able to breathe for a short time if put in an incubator and hooked up to a breathing machine and intravenous treatments. "But even so, if it's a baby that doesn't have a chance, we don't want to put the baby and the family through the discomfort," Bell said.

Muraskas says his report highlights a sometimes overlooked fact: gestational age is even more critical for survival than size.

Gingrich

he has reacted with a steely calm.

He may ruffle feathers by telling unpleasant truths, Gingrich says, but he's not so incendiary that he's unworthy of being commander in chief.

In the latest debate, Gingrich admitted wrongdoing and regret in only one area: the marital infidelities involved in his two divorces.

"I said upfront, openly, I've made mistakes at times," he said. "I've had to go to God for forgiveness." Voters have every right to examine such matters, he said, and "people have to render judgment."

Noting that he is "a 68-year-old grandfather," Gingrich added: "I am delighted at the way people have been willing to look at who I am, to look at what my record has been."

The answer seemed to defuse the potentially emotional issue, though one rival, Minnesota Rep. Michele Bachmann, said Sunday it's one that voters will take a look at "because they want to know who the person is, what the measure of the man or the woman is."

The debate quickly moved to other topics, on which Gingrich was less apologetic.

He defended his former support for requiring people to obtain health insurance, saying it once was a popular stand with conservatives.

"In 1993, in fighting HillaryCare, virtually every conservative saw the mandate as a less-dangerous future than what Hillary was trying to do," Gingrich said.

Hillary Rodham Clinton was leading the health care effort for her husband, President Bill Clinton.

"I frankly was floundering, trying to find a way to make sure that people who could afford it were paying their hospital bills, while still leaving an out so libertarians could not buy insurance," Gingrich said. "It's now clear that the mandate, I think, is clearly unconstitutional."

Mandated health insurance is at the heart of the 2010 federal law passed at President Barack Obama's urging, and many conservatives despise it. It also is featured in the Massachusetts law pushed by Romney when he was governor.

The other GOP candidates painted both men as too liberal on the topic.

"Newt Romney" will be unable to challenge Obama credibly on health care, Bachmann said.

"It is very clear that there's not a dime's worth of difference between the two of them because both of them have advocated for the health care mandate. ... It's the one issue that our candidate has to take President Obama on with, and they won't be able to debate him on this issue because they're on the same side as the president," she said Sunday.

RESCUERS LOOK FOR SUSPECTED DROWNING VICTIM

IDAHO FALLS (AP) • Rescuers searched on Sunday for the body of an Idaho Falls man believed to have fallen through the ice on Gem Lake and drowned.

The Bonneville County sheriff's office said the efforts to find 46-year-old David Finnegan continued through the afternoon. Authorities believe Finnegan may have fallen through the ice, perhaps while trying to rescue one of his dogs.

Finnegan was reported missing Friday night after he failed to return home after walking his dogs. Rescue Team coordinator Sgt. Karl Casperson said a cap and ear muffs found in the ice were identified as Finnegan's by his wife, Cheryl Finnegan. Divers also retrieved a dog leash from the water.

Workers from Idaho Falls Power joined emergency workers in the search, checking a dam downstream from the spot where Finnegan likely entered the water.

Broncos Buck Bears in Overtime

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DENVER • Wild wins are becoming routine for Tim Tebow and the Denver Broncos, who flail away through most of four quarters before coming through in the clutch.

Matt Prater's 51-yard field goal 6½ minutes into overtime gave the Broncos a 13-10 victory over the stunned Chicago Bears on Sunday. Prater's 59-yarder with 3 seconds left in regulation tied the score after Tebow led another rally.

"If you believe," Tebow said, "then unbelievable things can sometimes be possible."

It was Denver's sixth straight win and seventh in eight games since Tebow, dubbed the "Mile High Messiah," was promoted to starter. The Broncos have trailed in the second half in six of those victories.

This latest comeback put Denver in sole possession of first place in the AFC West after Oakland's 46-16 drubbing at Green Bay.

"Never say never," wide receiver Eric Decker said. "That's a great characteristic of this team. ... Again it wasn't pretty. But again in the fourth quarter, we found a way to make

CSI's Cowboys Shine at Rodeo Finals

TIMES-NEWS AND WIRE REPORTS

LAS VEGAS • The National Finals Rodeo could be summed up in three words – one apiece for the three cowboys with ties to the College of Southern Idaho rodeo program.

Good. Better. Best.

Good was the end result for Cody DeMers, CSI assistant coach. DeMers finished sixth in bareback riding with a total of 83.5 in the NFR's final round, which concluded late Saturday night. That solidified his seventh-place finish in both the world and NFR aggregate standings. DeMers' winnings for 2011 were $115,285.

Cody Wright, a former CSI cowboy, had a better year, winning the NFR's final round in saddle bronc riding, scoring 87.5 aboard the Bar T Rodeo's Eight Ball. He earned an overall eighth-place finish at the NFR, and ended the season ranked fourth in the world with earnings of $214,142.

The best year, however, belonged to Cody's brother – Jesse Wright – who was tops in saddle bronc at the NFR and just missed beating Taos Muncy for the top spot in the world rankings. Jesse Wright defeated Muncy for the NFR title by 47.5 points, and earned almost $46,000 for his efforts in Las Vegas. His take

AFTER FALL

ASSOCIATED PRESS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. • Joe Paterno fractured his pelvis again following a fall at his home but will not need surgery, a person close to the family told The Associated Press on Sunday.

The former Penn State football coach was expected to make a full recovery after slipping Saturday and was admitted to the hospital the next day, the person added. The person spoke on condition of anonymity because of the sensitivity of the situation.

Paterno, who turns 85 on Dec. 21, is also undergoing radiation and chemotherapy for what his family has said is a treatable form of lung cancer. Son Scott Paterno has said doctors are optimistic about a full recovery from the illness.

Paterno initially hurt his pelvis in August after he was blindsided on the field during preseason practice. It was determined Paterno should remain in the hospital now to facilitate his regimen of cancer treatments while recovering from the pelvis injury, the AP was told.

The person declined to identify the hospital to maintain the family's privacy. An operator at the hospital in State College, Mount Nittany Medical Center, said Sunday there was no patient listing for Paterno.

Paterno was fired last month in the aftermath of child sex-abuse charges against former defensive coordinator Jerry Sandusky, who maintains his innocence. Paterno is not a target of the investigation.

Sandusky is scheduled to appear in court Tuesday after being charged Nov. 5 with the first set of child sex-abuse allegations that dated back to 1994.

Amid mounting criticism that school leaders should have done more to prevent the alleged abuse, trustees dismissed Paterno four days later and accepted school President Graham Spanier's resignation under pressure.

Paterno hasn't spoken publicly since his firing. He was diagnosed with cancer several days later during a follow-up visit to the doctor for a bronchial illness, his family has said.

Suspensions, Apologies Follow Cincy-Xavier Brawl

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI • Eight suspensions, more apologies. Players from Cincinnati and No. 8 Xavier received the consequences of their on-court brawl that left both programs with a black eye.

A lot of them will be sitting and watching for a while.

Cincinnati forward Yancy Gates got a six-game suspension on Sunday for throwing punches, and seven other players were disciplined for their roles in a brawl that ended the annual crosstown rivalry game.

Four Bearcats and four Musketeers were suspended in all. Three Cincinnati players got six-game suspensions, the longest of those handed out.

Gates punched Xavier's Kenny Frease in the face, causing a nasty gash below his left eye, and hit at least one other Musketeer during the fracas on Saturday, which prompted the referees to call Xavier's 76-53 win with 9.4 seconds left.

The Bearcats also gave Cheikh Mbodj and Octavius Ellis six-game suspensions. Ge'Lawn Guyn was suspended for one game. The university planned to make them available for comment on Monday.

Xavier suspended point guard Tu Holloway for one game, guard Mark Lyons for two, and Dez Wells and Landen Amos for four games each.

Frease was the most badly injured, getting punched and kicked. He had blood streaming from the cut beneath his left eye and was woozy after the game. X-rays were normal.

The brawl damaged both schools' reputations and prompted repeated apologies.

It started in the closing seconds when Holloway talked to the Cincinnati bench. Cincinnati's Sean Kilpatrick had said during the week leading up to the game that Holloway wasn't

NFL ROUNDUP

Packers Breeze to 13-0

ASSOCIATED PRESS

GREEN BAY, Wis. • Aaron Rodgers threw for 281 yards with two touchdowns and an interception in less than three full quarters' worth of work, Ryan Grant had two touchdowns rushing and Charles Woodson picked off a pass against his former team and Green Bay remained perfect by routing Oakland, 46-16.

With the win, the Packers ran their record to 13-0 — leaving them three games short of completing a perfect regular season. And they did it with a near-perfect performance.

Carson Palmer threw for 245 yards with a touchdown and four interceptions for the Raiders (7-6), who looked like anything but legitimate contenders in the AFC West.

TEXANS 20, BENGALS 19 CINCINNATI • Rookie T.J. Yates led the biggest drive in Houston Texans history, throwing a 6-yard touchdown pass with 2 seconds left for a 20-19 victory that brought the first playoff berth in franchise history.

With their seventh straight win, the Texans (10-3) moved to the threshold of their first playoff berth. They clinched the AFC South title a few minutes later when Tennessee lost to New Orleans.

SAINTS 22, TITANS 17 NASHVILLE, Tenn. • Drew Brees threw two touchdown passes to Marques Colston in the fourth quarter to lead New Orleans to its fifth straight victory.

The NFC South-leading Saints (10-3) had little trouble picking up yards, but struggled to score until Brees and Colston connected on passes of 35 and 28 yards.

PATRIOTS 34, REDSKINS 27 LANDOVER, Md. • Tom Brady threw for 357 yards and three touchdowns, and Rob Gronkowski set an NFL single-season record for most touchdown catches by a tight end as New England won its fifth straight.

Gronkowski snagged his 14th and 15th scoring receptions, moving him past Antonio Gates and Vernon Davis. Gates had 13 in 2004, and Davis matched that total in 2009.

The Patriots (10-3) again overcame their bend-but-don't-break defense. The Redskins drove to the New England 5-yard line late before Rex Grossman's pass went off Santana Moss' hands and was intercepted by Jerod Mayo with 22 seconds to play.

RAVENS 24, COLTS 10 BALTIMORE • Terrell Suggs had three sacks and forced three fumbles to keep Indianapolis winless.

Baltimore (10-3) limited the Colts (0-13) to 167 yards — 53 through three quarters. Were it not for a touchdown on the game's final play, Indianapolis would have been held without a TD for the second time since the 2003 season opener.

FALCONS 31, PANTHERS 23 CHARLOTTE, N.C. • Matt Ryan threw two fourth-quarter touchdown passes to rookie Julio Jones and Atlanta erased a 16-point deficit.

Ryan threw for 320 yards and tied a career high with four touchdowns passing. Atlanta (8-5) avoided a costly loss to stay alive in the NFC wild card race.

For the Panthers (4-8), it was the sixth time this season they've lost after being ahead or tied in the fourth quarter. In October they fell 31-17 to Atlanta despite leading 17-14 going into the fourth quarter.

LIONS 34, VIKINGS 28 DETROIT • Backup Joe Webb fumbled deep in Lions territory in the final seconds, and Detroit escaped with a much-needed victory.

Matthew Stafford threw for two scores in the first quarter to give Detroit one of its three-touchdown leads. The Lions (8-5) had lost five of seven, and played without defensive tackle Ndamukong Suh, who is serving the second game of his two-game suspension.

CHARGERS 37, BILLS 10 SAN DIEGO • Philip Rivers threw three touchdown passes, two to Antonio Gates, and San Diego beat Buffalo to keep their playoff hopes alive.

Buffalo (5-8) lost its sixth straight game and was eliminated from playoff contention for the 12th straight year. The Chargers (6-7) have won two straight following their six-game losing streak.

CARDINALS 21, 49ERS 19 GLENDALE, Ariz. • John Skelton stepped in for the injured Kevin Kolb and threw for 282 yards and three touchdowns, and Arizona rallied to hand San Francisco just its third loss of the season.

Larry Fitzgerald had seven catches for 149 yards, including a 46-yarder for a touchdown and a 53-yarder to set up the go-ahead score in the fifth victory in six games for Arizona (6-7).

EAGLES 26, DOLPHINS 10 MIAMI • Philadelphia forced three turnovers while scoring four times during a nine-minute span in the second quarter and totaled nine sacks.

Michael Vick, back after missing three games with broken ribs, threw for 208 yards and a touchdown.

LeSean McCoy scored two touchdowns to hike his season total to 17.

The Eagles (5-8) won for only the second time in the past six games and still need a sweep of the final three games to have any chance of repeating as NFC East champions. The Dolphins (4-9) had a three-game home winning streak snapped and sank deeper into last place in the AFC East.

Philadelphia sent quarterback Matt Moore to the sideline in the second half with a head injury.

JETS 37, CHIEFS 10 EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. • Mark Sanchez threw two touchdown passes and ran for two more scores as the Jets kept pace in the AFC playoff race.

The Jets got things started quickly by scoring 28 points in the first half and were helped by an inept Chiefs offense that managed 4 total yards in the first two quarters.

JAGUARS 41, BUCCANEERS 14 JACKSONVILLE, Fla. • Maurice Jones-Drew scored four times, setting the franchise record for career touchdowns, and Jacksonville rolled up 41 unanswered points.

Jones-Drew finished with 136 total yards, including 85 on the ground against one of the league's worst run defenses.

GIANTS 37, COWBOYS 34 ARLINGTON, Texas • Eli Manning ended New York's four-game losing streak in style, leading the Giants to two touchdowns in the final 3:14 to beat the Dallas Cowboys 37-34 Sunday night in a showdown for first place in the NFC East.

Dallas appeared to tie the game with a 47-yard field goal as time expired, but New York called a timeout. Given another chance to force overtime, rookie Dan Bailey's kick was blocked by Jason Pierre-Paul — who also had a sack for a safety and forced a fumble.

and had to try an on-side kick, which the Broncos couldn't recover. But on second down after the two-minute warning, Barber cut outside and was pushed out, stopping the clock.

The Bears would have to punt, and Tebow got the ball back at his 20 and went to work, not needing to go far with Prater's strong leg in the thin air.

He drove the Broncos 39 yards for Prater's kick, which he rocketed through the uprights.

Today is Monday, Dec. 12,

the 346th day of 2011. There are 19 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:

On Dec. 12, 1911, Britain's King George V, who also held the title Emperor of India, announced during a visit that the Indian capital would be transferred from Calcutta to Delhi.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:

In 1787, Pennsylvania
became the second state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1870, Joseph H. Rainey of South Carolina became the first black lawmaker sworn into the U.S. House of Representatives.

In 1906, President
Theodore Roosevelt nominated Oscar Straus to be Secretary of Commerce and Labor; Straus became the first Jewish Cabinet member.

In 1917, Father Edward
Flanagan founded Boys
Town outside Omaha, Neb.

In 1937, Japanese aircraft sank the U.S. gunboat Panay on China's Yangtze River.
(Japan apologized, and paid
$2.2 million in reparations.)

In 1946, a United Nations committee voted to accept a six-block tract of Manhattan real estate offered as a gift by John D. Rockefeller Jr. to be the site of the U.N.'s headquarters.

In 1963, Kenya gained its independence from Britain.

In 1971, broadcasting pioneer David Sarnoff died in
New York at age 80.

In 1985, 248 American soldiers and eight crew members were killed when an Arrow Air charter crashed
after takeoff from Gander, Newfoundland.

In 2000, George W. Bush was transformed into the president-elect as a divided U.S. Supreme Court reversed a state court decision for recounts in Florida's contested election.

Ten years ago: A bus ambush killed ten Jewish settlers, prompting Israeli warplanes to strike back;
Yasser Arafat bowed to long-standing Israeli demands by closing the offices of the militant Hamas and Islamic Jihad. Gerardo Hernandez,
the leader of a Cuban spy ring, received a life sentence from a federal court in Miami for his role in the infiltration of U.S. military bases and the deaths of four Cuban-Americans.

Five years ago: A suicide bomber struck a crowd of mostly poor Shiites in Baghdad, killing some five dozen people and wounding more than 200. A two-day conference questioning the existence of the Nazi Holocaust ended in Tehran.
Actor Peter Boyle died in
New York at age 71.

One year ago: An explosives-packed minibus blew up at the entrance of a joint NATO-Afghan base in southern Afghanistan, killing six NATO troops and two Afghan soldiers as they prepared to head out on patrol. The inflatable roof of the Minneapolis Metrodome collapsed following a snow storm that had dumped 17 inches on the city. (The NFL was forced to shift an already rescheduled game between the Minnesota Vikings and
New York Giants to Detroit's
Ford Field.)

THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

Bobby Wolff

“Too late, too late! Ye cannot enter now.”

— Alfred Lord Tennyson

When a contract seems simple, check for possible pitfalls, and if they exist, take evasive action. Today’s no-trump game from a recent junior trials sees South not getting the point until too late.

Given that this was a junior event, North’s initial pass seems surprising, but he did not have a two-diamond pre-empt available. In any event, the best contract of three no-trump was reached easily enough.

West led the heart jack, which South won with the queen. It seems as if South has an easy passage, with just three aces to lose, and possibly the club queen as well. So declarer set about establishing the diamonds. East took the ace and returned another heart, which declarer won in dummy, in order to continue cashing diamonds.

What South had failed to take into account were the five discards he needed to make from hand. He pitched three spades and two clubs, but when he led dummy’s spade, East nipped in smartly with the ace to return a club through South’s now doubleton king-jack. The defense collected three club tricks, in addition to the aces in the two pointed suits: one down.

Declarer should have countered this possibility by establishing a spade winner at trick two. If a defender takes the ace immediately and returns a heart — as good as anything — South wins in hand and cashes one spade before setting about dislodging the diamond ace.

Whatever happens now, the defenders cannot take more than their four top winners.

DEAR ABBY: I am a gay woman. My partner, "Jenny," and I have been friends with another couple for 15 years. Over the last year I have come to realize that I no longer want to be friends with them. One of them has been particularly unkind to me, and frankly, we don't have a lot in common.

Jenny is uncomfortable with my decision and wants me to talk to them to discuss my feelings. They have already asked her if there's a problem. If I talk to them, I'm sure they will be offended by what I have to say because I didn't say anything when the issues first arose. I'm not good at confrontation, and it's hard for me to tell someone my feelings are hurt.

The bottom line is, I want out of this couple's friendship. But I need to do it in a way that's OK with Jen. I met the couple through her, and she wants to continue her friendship with them. Please help.

— MOVING ON IN GEORGIA

DEAR MOVING ON: It would not be confrontational to tell them that while you have known each other for a long time, you feel you have grown apart. You should also mention that your feelings were hurt when one of them said "( )." At least that way they will understand why you have disappeared, and Jenny won't be left with the responsibility of explaining it to them.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I recently received a wedding invitation from a friend of his from high school. Our wedding is not far away, and I have an etiquette question.

Although it wasn't stated on the invitation where the bride and groom were registered, a Facebook message was sent after our invitation arrived in the mail. It said, "In lieu of gifts, people can donate monetarily to the couple" — by check or cash the day of the wedding, or via a Paypal account they have set up.

I'm confused. I grew up (and still live in) the South, and this doesn't seem like a traditional approach to gift-giving. Isn't it considered inappropriate to ask for money?

— MYSTIFIED BRIDE IN ALABAMA

DEAR MYSTIFIED: Yes, it is. To solicit money the way that couple did is crude. An acceptable way to get the word out about the type of gifts couples prefer is by word of mouth. Guests usually ask if a couple is registered and where, and when the question is raised, it's all right to tell them. If you have created a wedding website, the information can be included on it; however, it shouldn't be so blatant that it appears gifts are uppermost in your mind.

When couples prefer a gift of money, the proper way the information should be conveyed is verbally by your family or friends, but not by you.

DEAR ABBY: I love the holiday season, but I often feel the blues and get a little depressed. I lost my father on Christmas Day several years ago and have since lost a brother to cancer. I'm tired of feeling this way when this is the season to be merry. What can I do?

— ANOTHER BLUE CHRISTMAS IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR BLUE: I am sorry for your losses. Because of your father's death on Christmas Day, it may always bring some sense of loss. However, an effective way to distract yourself would be to spend time in the company of friends who understand your feelings. Another would be to volunteer at a senior center, shelter or food distribution program. Helping someone else through a difficult time is the surest cure for the blues. Please give it a try.

IF DECEMBER 12 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: When you are hot, you're hot, but you can't get ahead in business or pleasure when you're not. Wait until March when your business acumen is sharp and on point, to make financial decisions and career moves. Look for extra assistance from the universe in April to make your dreams come true. That is a good time to ask for favors, to accept opportunities that crop up, and advice from both friends and advisors will be accurate, helping you to make wise and beneficial decisions.

HOROSCOPE

Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Survival of the fittest is a factor. If you are in shape, you will be able to handle every challenge and you will win through sheer determination. You have the stamina to complete whatever you begin now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Organize your thoughts. Career ambitions could be on your mind, but this is not the time to push your agenda. It might be time to re-evaluate your resources and determine the cost of a new venture.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Those who change their minds too often find that people often change their minds about him. Rather than floundering in undignified indecision, take steps to improve your appearance and make a better impression.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Focus on making the home and family secure. Your personal goals need attention although job responsibilities and financial obligations almost seem to interfere. You can balance necessities with emotional needs.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): If you are passionate about winning, you will make it to the finish line. You could be engrossed in your job, in the study of a new subject or just more competitive about making your family come first.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your brains are faster than a speeding locomotive. You might not have a cape and tights, but some people think you are a superperson. Take criticism in stride and leap over minor obstacles in a single bound.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Make a good showing. Your ability to stay on top of things could be at issue today. Mishaps such as a missed call or change of plans could test your ability to remain diplomatic or adapt to new data.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): An identity crisis can be identified. You can leap to the correct conclusion through intuition. You will be able to work through snarly problems that briefly complicate your life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Face the fringes of self-centeredness. Keep in mind that the people in your life are more important than things. It might be best to think more about how to please others than how to please yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A strong sense of purpose is your best ally. Seek allies who share your passion for success. Form alliances that enhance your earnings capacity or strive to build an unbeatable united front.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Showing appreciation goes a long way toward healing rifts. No matter how hard you work or how pre-occupied you are with your career, there is always time to send little gifts and tokens of affection.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Charm them and disarm them. Although this isn't the time to hold a heart-to-heart talk, you can impress others with silence. Maybe the fact that you don't chatter like a magpie makes others see you as mysterious.
