Snowpack Adequate, but Below Normal

This week's snow has helped boost the state's basin levels back to near their early March averages.

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • Idaho's snowfall might have shown up late this year, but water experts aren't complaining about the delay.

Thanks to a few late snowstorms this winter, snowpack levels are remaining close to what the state normally receives. However, the levels still aren't as high as they were last year, said Ron Abramovich, water supply specialist for the U.S. Natural Resources Conservation Service.

"Overall, we're in good shape," Abramovich said. "Every year it's interesting to see when the snow falls and when it melts."

And while the snowpack may not be as high as last year, spring's temperatures are expected to remain cool, he said. A colder spring delays how fast the snow melts and increases how much water will be left in the state's reservoirs.

"When we compare to other years similar to this one, we're favoring another cool, wet spring," Abramovich said.

As of right now, the Upper Snake Basin has 93 percent of its average snowfall for this time of year. The Salmon Falls Basin is now 95 percent of average.

The Big Wood Basin has collected 89 percent of its normal amount, and the Little Wood Basin is currently at 91 percent.

Two Charged in Jerome Wendy's Robbery

JEROME • Two Jerome men have been arrested on suspicion of carrying out a Jan. 26 gunpoint robbery of the Wendy's restaurant in Jerome.

Taylor B. Cnossen and Branden A. Galbreath, both 20, were arrested Tuesday, according to a Jerome Police Department release.

Both have been charged with robbery, burglary, grand theft, battery and false imprisonment.

Police say that two armed suspects entered the restaurant at 2816 S. Lincoln St. and demanded cash shortly before 1:15 p.m. Jan. 26.

Dual-credit Classes Drive CSI Enrollment Increase

Buoyed by non-traditional students and those seeking an affordable college, CSI boasts enrollment of more than 9,100.

BY JULIE WOOTTON

TWIN FALLS •

With the spring semester up and running at the College of Southern Idaho, enrollment has climbed about 3 percent.

About 9,105 students are enrolled so far this semester. It's an increase compared with the same time last year.

Spokesman Doug Maughan said one factor could be that CSI continues to get more high school dual-credit students.

"One of the strongest enrollment surges in the past few months has been in dual credit," he said.

Dual-credit classes allow students to earn high school and college credit simultaneously.

Instructional Dean John Miller said between 1,600 and 1,700 high school students are enrolled in dual-credit classes this semester through CSI. Students represent more than 45 Idaho high schools.

But there's still 100 to 200 more enrollments pending within the next 10 days from schools on a trimester schedule.

"I think we're going to end up having the best semester ever for dual credit," Miller said.

College enrollment numbers provide a snapshot of this point in the semester, but they change frequently. An official count won't come until the end of the semester.

Maughan said numbers are more accurate then, since students aren't adding or dropping classes. Also, some classes don't start until weeks into the semester.

State Tabs Money to Set Up Suicide Hotline

$110,000 in state funding will help Idaho shed its status as the only state without such a service.

BY MELISSA DAVLIN

mdavlin@magicvalley.com

BOISE • Idaho is the only state without a suicide hot line, but that might change soon.

On Thursday, the Legislature's Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee approved spending $110,000 to establish a suicide crisis prevention hot line. The money is part of the state's $39.2 million appropriation to the Division of Veterans Services for the coming fiscal year.

The $110,000 is seed money that will help set up the 24-hour service. That money, combined with private donations and grants, will help operate the hot line for about a year and a half, said Rep. Marv Hagedorn, R-Meridian.

Why is it needed? While Idahoans have access to a national suicide hot line, those calls are directed to a center in Oregon, Hagedorn said. While that helps get people through their initial crisis period, there is no follow-up, no

Idaho House Approves $36M Income Tax Cut

About 17 percent of Idaho taxpayers would see relief from Otter's plan to reduce the state's top tax rates.

BY JOHN MILLER
Associated Press

BOISE • The House on Thursday approved the governor's proposed $35.7 million income tax cut for high-earning individuals and businesses, pushing Idahoans another step closer to having more cash in their pockets at the end of the year. The measure now heads to the Senate.

The 49-20 vote in the House came amid objections from all Democrats and seven Republicans, some of whom said tax relief was a good idea but not when Idaho's economy is just coming off the deep recession.

Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter made the tax cut a priority in his Jan. 9 State of the State speech, urging that at least a portion of Idaho revenue surplus be directed to tax relief rather than moves such as reversing cuts to Medicaid.

The Republican governor initially argued for a $45 million cut but settled on the amount approved

Thursday after hearing concerns from House members that his revenue growth estimates were too optimistic. Republican House Majority Leader Mike Moyle of Star, the bill's sponsor, argued for giving the money back to taxpayers and pumping some of the state's projected $103 million surplus back into education and rainy day accounts.

"It's fair to give back to the people, too, while we're taking care of the other needs of the state," Moyle said.

Other backers said residents and businesses would put the money to good use through investments and other moves.

The tax cut would lower the top income tax rate to 7.4 percent from 7.8 percent, while cutting the top corporate tax rate to 7.4 percent from 7.6 percent.

According to the Idaho State Tax Commission, people with gross incomes starting at about $36,000 could qualify for some relief; married couples filing jointly would begin to qualify starting at about $72,000.

That would cover about 17 percent of Idaho taxpayers. The other 83 percent who earn less wouldn't see any more money under the bill.

Magic Valley representatives were split on the bill, with Reps. Fred Wood, R-Burley; Donna Pence, D-Goosing; Wendy Jaquet, D-Ketchum; Bert Stevenson, R-Rupert; and Leon Smith, R-Twin Falls, voting against it.

"This is not a bad bill at all," Wood said during floor debate. "As a matter of fact, the bill does a couple of good things." But, he said, he felt it was a bigger priority to put the money in reserve accounts to prepare for the possibility of another economic downturn.

Smith noted that under the legislation, he'd receive a tax cut.

"But it isn't going to do one thing for economic development," he said.

But most Magic Valley representatives voted for the measure, with Reps. Maxine Bell, R-Jerome; Jim Patrick, R-Twin Falls; and Stephen Hartgen, R-Twin Falls, signing on as three of 40 co-sponsors.

Patrick said he liked that the legislation would relieve the tax burden on businesses. That, he hopes, will free up money to create more private sector jobs.

"It should help," he said.

Cameron's Ed. Salary Bill Passes Senate

TIMES-NEWS

BOISE • A bill to stabilize state funding for public school teacher salaries passed the Senate Thursday afternoon.

Sen. Dean Cameron, R-Rupert, sponsored the legislation, which would eliminate planned salary funding reductions to cover merit-based pay bonuses and technology initiatives included in the state education reforms passed in 2011.

The bill will cost $35 million over the next five years. Under current statute, that $35 million would have come from funding for teacher salaries — including $19.7 million in fiscal 2013. Public schools chief Tom Luna has requested that the cut to salary funding be backfilled if the Legislature has enough money to do so.

Though some senators expressed concern about the Legislature's ability to come up with funds in coming years, the bill passed unanimously.

Hailey Man Pleads Guilty in Drug Case

TIMES-NEWS

HAILEY • A 20-year-old man pleaded guilty Monday to a lesser charge in a Blaine County drug trafficking case.

Jessy T. Tellez, of Hailey, was originally charged with felony cocaine trafficking, later amended to delivery of a controlled substance.

The case stems from a Blaine County Narcotics Enforcement Team investigation. Tellez is scheduled to be sentenced May 7.

Tellez was one of five suspects charged in the June 2011 investigation. Police valued the drugs seized during the investigation at $26,000, including 6.6 ounces of cocaine and 2.6 ounces of methamphetamine.

Lisa Christine Justice, 42, of Twin Falls, received six to 15 years in prison for two counts of trafficking methamphetamine and one count of delivery of a controlled substance.

Alvaro Hurtado-Gomez,

40, was sentenced to serve up to three years and six months in prison for a charge of aiding and abetting in the delivery of cocaine.

Jose Manuel Hurtado-Delatorre, 27 of Hailey, pleaded guilty to delivery of a controlled substance and is scheduled to be sentenced March 12.

Ricardo M. Vargas-Hurtado, 22, of Ketchum, pleaded guilty to two counts of delivery of a controlled substance. He is scheduled to be sentenced March 12.

OUR VIEW

Laws Alone Won't Solve Texting Problem

It's not hard to argue that drivers shouldn't text. Take your attention away from the wheel. Try to tap out a message on at least nine little keys. Fumble to fix the typos. Hit send. Look up to see another car — or a tree, or a building, or a red light.

Sometimes, the consequences are minor — a dinged fender, a ticket for inattentive driving. Sometimes they're severe, such as when 18-year-old Taylor Sauer lost her life last month after slamming into the back of a tanker truck on Interstate 84.

Sauer's story is a powerful warning. But it shouldn't require someone's death to get people to stop a bad habit.

And that's exactly the thing — the key to stopping drivers from texting behind the wheel is to find a way to explain to them why it's such a dangerous practice.

When addressing today's young adults, it's a particular challenge. This generation is growing up thinking of technology as simply a natural, portable extension of their lives. As computers continue to shrink and mobile networks expand, that trend will only continue.

The way forward, then, lies in convincing drivers that reaching for their phones shouldn't be second nature.

It may be that adding a statewide law against texting and driving, as the Legislature is considering now, would accomplish that. But if the point is psychological — if this law is geared to grab young drivers' attention — why does it just ban something that's already illegal (distracted driving) rather than focus on educating the minds of those it seeks to reach?

Take drunken driving. It's thoroughly illegal — unlike the proposed texting infraction, it can even lead to a felony charge. But clearly, the mere fact that the law exists is not enough to stop people from doing it. In part, that's due to the addictive nature of alcohol. But it's also because the most effective way to keep people from drinking while driving is to intercept and educate them, not just tell them it's bad. The same principle applies to meth use, currently the focus of a teen education campaign.

A few weeks ago, we jeered an anti-texting message placed on the Immanuel Lutheran Church sign in Twin Falls as insensitively phrased in the wake of Sauer's death. But we have to give credit to the church — the message, which was posted before that tragic accident, grabbed attention and sparked debate. It got people to think.

Testimony supporting the new law before the Legislature so far has been heartfelt and genuine. If legislators believe a law will save lives, then it's certainly their prerogative to give it a try.

But Sen. Dan Johnson, R-Lewiston, was right when he called for an educational component to the law. Forbidding drivers from texting will certainly draw attention to the issue. But explaining to them why is how the state will save the most lives in the future.

Why Not Evict Legislators from the Statehouse?

I would like to propose an alternative to the Idaho legislators' eviction of the Occupy Boise folks:

I would support a petition for a public mandate on the Fall 2012 election ballot to "evict the legislators from the Statehouse" — this on grounds that they fail to "serve a compelling state interest."

I would support the state providing a circus tent for the clowns' performance.

Romney Has Skills Needed to Help U.S. Succeed

Mitt Romney is the only candidate who has any experience in the private business world.

As a very fiscally responsible and conservative person in both his private and his business life, he understands the environment necessary for business to flourish and to succeed. His proven organizational skills and his ability to work with both sides of the aisle in the Democratic state of Massachusetts to bring it back from a deficit to balance the budget convinces me that he alone is capable of bringing about the economic change we need as a nation.

Mitt Romney understands that it is not the responsibility of government to create jobs. Companies create jobs, and people who are unencumbered by needless and over-burdensome regulations create companies.

Gov. Romney had made a promise to the voters of Massachusetts. If elected, he would not raise taxes, and he would work hard to lower taxes; a nearly impossible promise to keep in a Republican state, much less a liberal state with less than 17 percent Republicans. Romney took on the liberals, he vetoed more than 800 bills and he kept his promise; that matters to me! He also brought the state back from a huge deficit and balanced the budget while slashing more than 100 state programs.

If Romney could accomplish that in the most liberal state in the union, with nearly no Republican support, imagine what he could accomplish if we surround him with Constitution-loving, tax-hating conservatives. I am not just a supporter but an unabashedly enthusiastic advocate. A vote for Mitt Romney is a vote for a stronger economy.

Sheriff Candidate Reaches Out for Your Vote

Jack Johnson for sheriff. Citizens of Twin Falls County, in November, I announced my intention to seek the office of Twin Falls County sheriff. I would like to encourage you to visit my website at www.johnson-forsheriff.us to learn about me, my background and the principles I stand for.

I believe in bringing a common sense approach to law enforcement and forming partnerships with our community. I believe in having a presence in our schools, every year, not just for a year here and a year there. Transparent fiscal responsibility is of the utmost importance and spending within the budget, getting the most for our money is also important.

An instituted training program for updated and continued certification for officers is paramount. I have been in law enforcement for 27 years and have a very diverse background that includes several years of management as well as teaching thousands of officers statewide in Idaho. I have sat on and chaired different use of force and defensive tactics committees for Peace Officer Standards and Training. It has been my privilege to have been involved in Scouting, coaching and appointments to many committees in the Magic Valley over the years.

I have a strong belief in integrity-based leadership and have attended numerous courses to substantiate that training. I have been married to my wife, Rhonda, for more than 25 years and we have two great children. I understand that the office of sheriff has a strong constitutional background and truly believe in our

United States Constitution. I will be available to our citizens and in the community year around, not just during election years.

We all have a constitutional right to vote for who we believe the best candidate is at every level of our government. With our citizens' help, I look forward to serving the citizens of Twin Falls County as your next sheriff. Please join me in voting in the Republican primary on May 15. Thank you and have a great day!

Why Don't We Help Our Own Poor First?

I agree that all illegals should be sent back to where they came from. The country cannot afford to support them through the welfare system anymore.

I wonder how many American citizens who actually pay taxes are bothered by their tax dollars going to support those who are in our country illegally? What about helping the Americans first? Isn't charity supposed to begin at home? Why not spend that money on helping the poor American citizens, the ones who worked and lost their jobs due to the poor economy? Shouldn't real Americans come first? I for one am getting a little tired of being a resident of northern Mexico!

Romney Shares the Same Values as Idahoans

As we approach the new caucus process in our state and on to, arguably, the most important presidential election in our lifetime, we would like to encourage voters to get engaged and participate.

We firmly believe there is only one candidate who has the business experience, the character and the vision to set this country back on the right course. That candidate is Mitt Romney. He shares the same values as the citizens of Idaho and will reign in the uncontrolled spending that has occurred in the past three years and help to create the jobs that are badly needed in our country.

Please join us in supporting Mitt.

Logic behind Cigarette Tax Is Flawed

An increase of the tax on cigarettes is a slippery slope. Trying to control the activities of adults by taxes can cause the majority to control all of the other members of society. We know how well Prohibition worked. If we use this mentality, then let's have some fun.

More than 23,000 kids were born in Idaho last year. It is estimated that they will have 6,000 diaper changes in a two-year period. That's 138 million diaper changes in two years. Some will use cloth diapers, the rest will use disposables. Using just this number, which doesn't include all the other children under 2, let's charge 5 cents per diaper to help out our landfill costs. Think of the pollution we will save over our aquifer! We can generate more than a million in taxes a year. We know that this will reduce the number of people using disposable diapers. The environment will be better and some studies say we will have healthier babies, too. Wow, a win-win.

In Idaho, it is basically illegal to have sex before the age of majority, so let's take away the tax deduction for babies born out of wedlock and before the mother is an adult. We know that this will stop the 2,200 babies born to under-age women. Think of the tax dollars saved and the healthier babies that will be born. Heck, let's take away the tax deduction for all children born out of a marriage. We will increase the family values of marriage and create more stable families. We can do all this just with great taxes.

When you use the numbers of any special interest group, remember they only report the ones in support of their cause; 99.9 percent of people with cancer have eaten apples, therefore, apples cause cancer.

'He's Got My Vote'

A small boy looks on as supporters cheer former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney during a campaign rally Thursday at Skyline High School in Idaho Falls.

Home Away from Home

Mitt Romney visits Idaho Falls, describes election as "battle over the soul of America."

BY SVEN BERG
Post Register

IDAHO FALLS • Mitt Romney took a turn through friendly country Thursday when he made a campaign stop at Skyline High School in Idaho Falls.

With the high school's marching band setting the tone, thousands of supporters applauded boisterously as Romney hit on talking points that play especially well in eastern Idaho: beating President Barack Obama in November's general election, lowering taxes, cutting spending, bolstering the military and putting the country "on track for a balanced budget."

"I will not embarrass you in the White House," he said to a chorus of cheers.

Most of the people in attendance were adults, and most of them paid close attention to Romney's stump speech, in which he described this year's election as a "battle over the soul of America."

Willis Waite said he came within a whisker of meeting the young Mitt Romney when the Republican presidential candidate-to-be was serving a mission in Paris for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He said Romney, who was injured in a car crash while in France, returned home shortly before Waite arrived in the early 1970s.

Despite never having met Romney, Waite said his favorite attributes of his favorite candidate are Romney's openness, love for people and his "demeanor of a good man."

The rally also drew hundreds of students, many of whom were happy to miss a class period or two. Some listened intently. Others spent a lot of time fiddling with their phones and horsing around.

Ashley Fyfe, a 17-year-old junior on Skyline's debate team, guessed that more than half of Skyline's student body would vote for Romney if they were old enough to do so. She said some of the students near her cheered loud and often.

"They were just kind of, like, 'America! Yeah!'" she said. "I think that they were just kind of cheering because everyone else was cheering and, like, the band got them all jazzed up."

But political preferences among students aren't as monolithic as Romney's organizers and backers made

"They just kind of portrayed the whole school as being supportive of him; which is good because he's here and we don't want to hurt his feelings."

Ashley Fyfe, a 17-year-old junior on Skyline High School's debate team them seem, Fyfe said.

"They just kind of portrayed the whole school as being supportive of him; which is good because he's here and we don't want to hurt his feelings," Fyfe said. "But different people have different opinions. And the whole school doesn't support him."

Skyline sophomore Marley Bridges won't be old enough to vote for three years, but the 15-year-old is following this year's campaign nonetheless. Bridges said Romney's religion has made election season more interesting.

"There's a lot of religious views in this because he's Mormon," she said. "It's hard to keep your religious views out of the state when they affect your ideals."

Romney Gets 16 Mich. Delegates

WASHINGTON • Two days after winning the popular vote in the Michigan primary, Mitt Romney has also been declared the victor in a bitter fight for the state's convention delegates.

After lengthy behind-the-scenes wrangling, the Michigan Republican Party announced Thursday afternoon that Romney would receive 16 delegates and Rick Santorum would get 14 delegates.

Romney won the popular vote by less than 3 percentage points, and the two men split the state's 14 congressional districts, each of which awarded two delegates to the winner.

Some of the district races were extremely close, with Santorum winning the 1st District, which includes the Upper Peninsula, by 790 votes out of more than 80,000 cast. Romney won another district, the 5th, by just 452 votes out of more than 54,000.

Lewiston Men Sentenced for Defacing Tribal Shelter

BOISE (AP) • Two Lewiston men have been ordered to spend time in a federal prison for defacing ancient Native American pictographs at a shelter near Hell's Gate State Park.

U.S. District Judge Edward Lodge sentenced Michael Bernal, 21, and Tyler Carlson, 23, on Wednesday for their roles in spray-painting a rock wall at the Red Elk Rock Shelter last February. The shelter's red pigmented tribal drawings are believed to be 2,500 years old and in a region traditionally occupied by ancestors of the Nez Perce tribe.

Bernal and Carlson were convicted of willful injury or depredation of federal property. Bernal was also convicted for making false statements to federal investigators.

Prosecutors say Bernal, Carlson and a third defendant, Jerad Bovencamp, hiked to the shelter and used cans of spray paint to deface rock art drawings depicting animal figures and geometric shapes. U.S. Attorney Wendy Olson said the vandalism caused about $100,000 worth of damage and restoration will require the expertise of a rock art conservator.

Bernal was sentenced to 36 months in prison, while Carlson will serve four months in prison. They were each ordered to pay more than $33,000 in restitution to cover damages.

Bovencamp, 24, also of Lewiston, was convicted of similar charges and is scheduled to be sentenced in June.

The conclusion of the court case and penalties won praise from tribal members.

"The Nez Perce Tribe is pleased with the outcome," tribal officials said in statement. "The pictographs and the location itself has immeasurable cultural and historic value. The importance of protecting and preserving such sites cannot be overstated, and such vandalism should not be tolerated."

Otter Picks Rice to Replace McGee in Idaho Senate

BOISE • The Senate is back at 35 members, after a Republican replacement was appointed for Sen. John McGee following his exit amid sexual harassment allegations.

Jim Rice, a Caldwell attorney, was appointed by Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter on Thursday to fill the Senate seat that McGee had held in District 10.

Rice, a local GOP official, plans to run for the Senate post in November.

He'd previously considered a House race.

McGee resigned last Wednesday after he was accused by a female Senate staffer of sexual harassment.

Otherwise, he would have faced an ethics committee.

In previous months, McGee had been working to restore his reputation after a Father's Day 2011 arrest for drunken driving and vehicle theft.

McGee has also quit as chairman of the Canyon County Republican Party.

Uncertainty Remains in Occupy Boise Camping Enforcement

BY ALEX MORRELL
Associated Press

BOISE • Idaho officials say they haven't decided just when — or how — they will enforce a new law prohibiting Occupy Boise protesters from camping overnight on state grounds in downtown Boise.

For now, Occupy Boise lawyers expect to meet today with the attorney general's office to sort out questions and details from a federal judge's recent ruling on a lawsuit challenging the state's new law.

U.S. District Judge B. Lynn Winmill ruled the protesters could keep their collection of tents and maintain an around-the-clock vigil, but the protesters are barred from sleeping, cooking or taking part in any other overnight camping activities on the grounds.

He also ordered the state to delay enforcing the law and seizing property until today to give both sides time to comply with the ruling. But officials from both sides say they are confused about how to interpret the timing of today's deadline.

Jon Hanian, spokesman for Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter, said because of the uncertainty, the state will take conservative approach and delay any enforcement. He says the state hopes the protesters make a good-faith effort to end overnight stays and remove camping-related items.

"We're erring on the side of caution in an effort to follow the judge's order," Hanian said Thursday. "We fully expect and hope the Occupy camp will do that as well."

Otter signed legislation last week designed to evict the encampment from the grounds of the old Ada County Courthouse. But the protesters quickly sued, arguing the law infringed on their constitutional rights.

Winmill issued a preliminary injunction delaying state enforcement of the law. Winmill determined the Occupy Boise's tents and the around-the-clock vigil constitute symbolic political speech protected under the First Amendment. He said protesters can maintain their tents and other structures at least until an evidentiary hearing scheduled for April 27.

But with the Friday deadline approaching, Occupy Boise attorney Bryan Walker said concern has intensified among the protesters over how the state would enforce the ban on sleeping at the site and removing cooking equipment and other camping gear.

"We have a lot of property down there which the state might construe as related to camping, which is not," Walker told AP.

He says some items at the site, including a food pantry, could be interpreted as being related to overnight camping, but are being used during the day to help feed the homeless.

Senate OKs 'Connecting Idaho' expansion

BOISE • Senators voted narrowly to keep Idaho biggest highway-funding project alive, supporting a plan that could dedicate another $140 million to repair ailing bridges across the state.

Thursday's slim, 19-14 vote margin underscored reservations many lawmakers harbor over broadening the "Connecting Idaho" program, started in 2005 by then-Gov. Dirk Kempthorne.

Idaho has already sold bonds totaling $855 million to fund roadwork.

But the state has authority to sell just shy of $1 billion worth of debt, so lawmakers like bill sponsor Sen. Chuck Winder of Boise aim to eventually take advantage of the additional cash to tackle Idaho's aging bridge inventory.

After Thursday's Senate vote, the measure now faces its biggest test among skeptical House lawmakers, many of whom never favored Idaho going into debt to do roadwork.

ATV-riding Hunters Trade Words with F&G

BOISE • ATV-riding hunters and Idaho Department of Fish and Game officials squared off over a proposal to strip the agency of its power to limit where people can ride their vehicles in pursuit of big game.

Fish and Game deputy director Sharon Kiefer maintained on Thursday that her agency restricts ATV-mounted hunters to established roads in designated areas to protect big game animals from overharvest.

Meanwhile, advocates of motorized access told the House Resources Committee that Kiefer's agency's limits are without scientific evidence they're really necessary.

Idaho requires hunters on public land in a third of Idaho's 99 hunting units to stay off off-road vehicle or jeep trails — areas open to unarmed ATV riders.

The House panel delayed voting on a bill aiming to lift those restrictions until next week.

Man Guilty of Manslaughter in Woman's Death

BOISE • A 32-year-old Montana man charged with killing his former girlfriend in her home near Boise State University has been convicted of voluntary manslaughter.

Lloyd Hardin McNeil of Bozeman was acquitted on a second-degree murder charge Thursday, but convicted on the lesser charge in the March 5, 2011, death of Natalie Davis. He also was convicted of arson and grand theft.

Prosecutors alleged McNeil suffocated Davis then set a mattress on fire and stole her car. He was arrested weeks later in Seattle.

Court records say Boise police investigated a fight between the couple the day before Davis died. She told officers she'd broken up with McNeil and she planned to move back to California. Montana charges that McNeil assaulted Davis at a Gallatin County campsite in 2010 were dismissed after her death.

Senate Eases Restrictions on Brewery Owners

BOISE • State senators voted 33-0 to approve lifting restrictions on Idaho brewers building a second brewery or owning a bar.

Republican Sen. Shawn Kough of Sandpoint says the change would help promote economic growth and create up to 25 new jobs. Her measure is aimed at brewers who produce fewer than 30,000 barrels of beer a year.

The bill now moves onto the Idaho House.

Fred Colby is among Idaho brewers seeking the change. He owns Laughing Dog Brewery in Ponderay, the second-largest microbrewery in the state, and has said that he was forced to renounce his stake in a Post Falls brewery because his partners couldn't obtain a state permit due to his co-ownership.

Idaho has more than 20 breweries, and three more are set to open in 2012.

GOP Contender Ron Paul Plans More Idaho Stops

BOISE • Republican presidential contender Ron Paul is planning a few more campaign stops in Idaho in advance of Tuesday's caucus.

The Texas congressman has scheduled campaign rallies in every corner of the state Monday and Tuesday. The visit will mark the second major swing through the state for Paul, who won 23 percent of the vote in Idaho's 2008 Republican presidential primary.

Paul will begin Monday with an event in Sandpoint. His campaign then heads south to the University of Idaho campus in Moscow before wrapping up in Idaho Falls. On Tuesday, Paul is expected to headline a rally at the Northwest Nazarene University campus in Nampa.

Trooper Injured in Nampa Crash

NAMPA • An Idaho State Police trooper was injured in a crash on snowy roads on the northeastern edge of Nampa.

KBOI-TV reports the trooper was struck by a vehicle Thursday morning while standing outside of his vehicle near the Garrity Boulevard exit off Interstate 84. He suffered non-life threatening injuries.

The Idaho Press-Tribune reports there were several crashes on I-84 westbound Thursday morning. Witnesses report a jackknifed semi tractor-trailer, at least one rollover and another vehicle on its side.

ISP officials were unable to respond to inquiries because of the number of crashes.

Ada County officials reported by 11:30 a.m. there had been four crashes with injuries, 15 without and five stalled or stuck vehicles.

Idaho Prepares to Sell Author Fisher's Home

BOISE • Idaho is gearing up to sell the home of the writer whose 1965 novel popularized mountain man John "Liver-Eating" Johnson.

The state has owned Vardis Fisher's property since 2001 as part of Thousand Springs State Park in southern Idaho's Hagerman Valley.

But the Department of Parks and Recreation says there's too little recreational opportunity there to justify keeping it.

Fisher's fictional work, Mountain Man, was made into "Jeremiah Johnson," a 1972 movie starring Robert Redford as a character based on Johnson.

The Senate voted Thursday for a measure allowing Parks and Recreation to prepare for sale of the home, including fish hatchery facilities accompanying it.

Parks and Recreation spokeswoman Jennifer Okerlund says her agency is exploring whether selling Fisher's property to a commercial hatchery would help boost the region's economy.

Gas Drillers Run Into Opposition in Idaho Senate

BOISE • Idaho senators raised concerns about the oil and gas industry's effort to limit county governments' control over drilling projects, on grounds industry and House supporters exerted undue pressure on local governments to cooperate.

The bill cleared the House on a partisan 54-13 vote in mid-February; victory appeared assured.

But then came tough questions Wednesday from Senate Resources Committee members.

The Spokesman-Review reports Republican Sen. Dean Cameron wanted to know why the Idaho Association of Counties supports the bill, which would cede most local control over gas drilling projects to the state.

A lobbyist for the county group, Kerry Ellen Elliott, told Cameron bluntly that if they didn't go along, counties were told they were not going to have any local control at all.

A vote was delayed until today.

Bill Creates Online Course Clearinghouse

BOISE • A bill introduced in the Idaho House would create a list of state-approved online courses for students to choose from when fulfilling their new high school graduation requirement.

Idaho is requiring students to take at least two online credits under reforms crafted by public schools chief Tom Luna. A task force aimed at helping implement Luna's plan recommended schools be provided with a list of online course providers approved and contracted by the state.

A bill introduced Thursday would create a course clearinghouse online.

The reforms also give students the option of enrolling in any state-approved online class — with or without their district's permission. The company providing that online course would then get two-thirds of the state funding sent to the district for that student for that class period.

Banks Lead Stock Rally; Nasdaq Nears 3,000

NEW YORK (AP) • Banks dodged a big hit from the Greek debt crisis and rallied Thursday to lead the stock market higher. Strong retail sales and more encouraging news about the U.S. job market also helped stocks rise. JPMorgan Chase and Bank of America were the top gainers in the Dow Jones industrial average. The Dow added 28 points to close at 12,980.30. That's a gain of 0.2 percent. The S&P 500 index rose 8.41 points to 1,374.09, its highest closing level since June 5, 2008. The Nasdaq composite index rose 22.08 points to 2,988.97.

Zynga Unveils Stand-alone Game Destination

NEW YORK (AP) • “CityVille” fans afraid to spam their Facebook friends with updates about their virtual hometowns can sigh with relief. Zynga has unveiled a new online destination, Zynga.com, where people can play its games away from Facebook, including with people who are not their Facebook friends.

This doesn't mean that Zynga is divorcing Facebook. Players will log into the site with their Facebook account information and spend money in the games through Facebook. But Zynga hopes the move will lure more players and get them to spend more time on its games, unencumbered by the non-game-related Facebook updates and comments that can distract them from tending to their virtual farms, cities or poker games.

Kroger Posts 4Q Loss on Pension Costs • The Kroger Co. on Thursday reported a fourth-quarter net loss due to pension costs even though its focus on offering shoppers low prices and personalized deals led to higher sales. The nation's biggest supermarket chain, which operates Kroger, Ralphs, Food 4 Less and other grocery stores, said the loss was the result of costs associated with consolidating its pension plans for union workers. The Cincinnati-based company said it lost $306.9 million, or 54 cents per share, for the three months ended Jan. 28. That's compared with a profit of $278.8 million, or 44 cents per share, a year ago.

Jobs Picture Brightens, but Incomes, Spending Weak

The number of people seeking unemployment benefits fell slightly last week to the lowest point in four years, a reminder that the U.S. jobs market is slowly improving.

“The rise (in incomes) was reasonable but given the strong job gains, I was hoping that the increases in wages and salaries would be a bit greater than they were. Still, this source of funds is on the rise so that is good news.”

BY CHRISTOPHER S. RUGABER and DEREK KRAVITZ

Associated Press

WASHINGTON • Steady declines in applications for unemployment aid are pointing to another strong month of hiring in February.

A healthy job market normally drives faster growth. But Americans' after-tax income adjusted for inflation actually fell in January, which led to a fourth straight month of weak consumer spending.

The mixed data highlighted a flurry of reports Thursday that suggest the recovery will stay bumpy. Manufacturing growth slowed and construction spending dipped, while auto and retail sales both climbed.

Consumers are also being hit with higher gas prices that are only expected to rise further in the coming months.

“The rise (in incomes) was reasonable but given the strong job gains, I was hoping that the increases in wages and salaries would be a bit greater than they were,” said Joel Naroff, chief economist for Naroff Economic Advisors. “Still, this source of funds is on the rise so that is good news.”

Jennifer Lee, an economist at BMO Capital Market, put it more bluntly: “Stronger job creation is not generating more spending.”

Weekly applications for unemployment benefits dipped last week to a seasonally adjusted 351,000, the Labor Department said. And the four-week average of applications, which smooths out weekly fluctuations in the data, fell to 354,000. Both are the lowest levels in four years.

Applications for unemployment aid have fallen steadily since the early fall and are down nearly 15 percent since October. When applications drop consistently below 375,000, it usually signals that hiring is strong enough to lower the unemployment rate.

Many economists predict employers added more than 200,000 net jobs in February for the third straight month.

“The labor market appears to have strengthened markedly over the last few months,” said Paul Ashworth, senior U.S. economist for Capital Economics. Ashworth predicts the economy added 220,000 net jobs last month and the unemployment rate fell for the sixth straight month, to 8.2 percent.

Consumer spending increased 0.2 percent in January, the Commerce Department said. That's better than December's reading of no change. And income rose 0.3 percent, the second straight monthly increase.

Still, after paying taxes and adjusting for inflation, incomes actually dipped in January. That reflected a big increase in tax payments last month.

At the same time, inflation-adjusted spending was flat for the third straight month. That was partly because of warmer weather, which allowed people to spend less to heat their homes.

Joel Naroff, chief economist for Naroff Economic Advisors

Strong hiring in December and January, rather than pay raises, helped boost income. That trend may fuel more consumer spending and support solid growth for the economy in coming months. Consumer spending accounts for 70 percent of economic activity.

Manufacturing activity grew more slowly in February, according to the Institute for Supply Management's monthly index. U.S. factories received fewer new orders and paid higher prices for raw materials.

The ISM index fell to 52.4, the lowest reading since November. But that followed three straight monthly increases. Any reading above 50 indicates growth. By that measure, manufacturing has grown for 31 straight months.

The report “is hardly a disaster, but it does support our view that the economy is not quite as strong as recent data have led others to believe,” said Paul Dales, senior U.S. economist with Capital Economics, in a note to clients.

The building industry also cooled off in January after five straight months of gains in construction spending.

A big drop in commercial building projects, such as factories, hotels and power plants, caused a slight decline, the Commerce Department said. But the dip comes after previous monthly figures were revised much higher.

One bright spot in the economy has been rising auto sales, and most automakers said February was no different.

Americans purchased smaller, fuel-efficient cars to offset rising gas prices. Volkswagen and Nissan reported double-digit sales increases. Even General Motors, which pulled back on its deep discounts, saw a slight gain.

Many retailers also reported strong sales gains in February, including Target Corp., Macy's Inc. and Limited Brands Inc., which exceeded Wall Street estimates. Even long-struggling Gap Inc. managed better sales figures due to strong demand for spring clothing at its Banana Republic chain.

Most economists expect growth should rise to 2.5 percent this year. That would be healthy in most years but is modest coming after the worst recession since World War II.

Potato Growers Tasked with Meeting, Not Exceeding Demand

Last year's short growing season and increased demand could be good news for Idaho spud growers, as long as they don't overestimate the need for their crops.

BY CINDY SNYDER

For the Times-News

IDAHO FALLS • A recovering global economy could be good news for some Idaho potato growers.

Demand for processed potatoes is strong thanks to an 18 percent increase in exports over last year, though sales of fresh potatoes remain lackluster. Fresh market prices — at up to $7.50 per hundredweight — are at or slightly below their cost of production. Processors, on the other hand, are paying $2 to $4 per hundredweight above fresh prices for open-market potatoes or those culled from the fresh market.

After watching export markets implode during the economic downturn, export volume of dehydrated potato products is up sharply.

The U.S. exported $362.8 million in potatoes to Canada last year, marking the first time that sales to Canada have topped $300 million. It also edged Canada (26 percent) past Japan (24 percent) as the top foreign destination for U.S. potatoes.

Mexico was a distant third, taking 11 percent of the export market.

To meet demand, processors finished last year by essentially borrowing from the next crop — and they haven't slowed down. Processors in Idaho and Oregon's Malheur County have already used nearly 42 million hundredweight of 2011 crop potatoes through Feb. 1, an increase of 28 percent over the previous year.

“They'll want to get into the 2012 crop early,” said Paul Patterson, University of Idaho extension economist. He also wouldn't be surprised to see processors expand acreage to meet the growing demand.

“We're coming off a short crop year with a lot of demand,” Patterson said. That creates expectations for 2012 that could be easily overwhelmed by either an increase in planted acreage or an increase in yields.

Growers planted 320,000 acres in 2011, an 8 percent increase from 2010. Planting an additional 5,000 acres this year to meet demand probably won't depress potato prices, but 20,000 more acres plus good yields could be a disaster.

Thanks to the cold, wet springs of the last few years, potato yields have declined, which contributed to the tight supply. But if 2012 weather is closer to what's normal, growers may suddenly find they have more potatoes than the market can bear.

Also unknown is what will happen to production costs.

When Patterson put together the 2012 U of I enterprise budget for potatoes, he figured a 4 to 6 percent increase in operating costs, but that was before oil prices surged in February. Patterson makes his fuel projections based on the West Texas intermediate crude oil price, which he estimated to be $95-$135 a barrel this year. But prices have already hit $106 a barrel, up from $86 in October.

Farm diesel and fertilizer costs are also expected to increase.

Potato growers, who typically rent additional land to make their crop rotations work, can expect to see land costs increase by 5-10 percent. But growers who are renegotiating three- to five-year leases will pay significantly higher rent this time around.

“The bottom line is that price-wise, everything is dependent on what growers decide to plant and what their yields are,” Patterson said.

During the past few years, low interest rates, war and uncertain stock market performance combined to push prices of gold and silver to their highest levels in 25 years. We have studied the investment and retail markets for decades, and in the past during times of economic uncertainty (which is deepening now), there have been dramatic price declines in many areas of the jewelry, gold and retail markets. Which is why this may be the best time in decades for you to sell for some of the highest prices ever.

Big Money

About 100 hopefuls for Magic Valley's Got Talent prize money have been whittled to 11 acts: a pogo stunt team, singers, poets, hip-hop dancers, a string ensemble and a Chinese student playing the exotic guzheng. Be in the show-down's Twin Falls audience tonight, and you'll help disperse $5,500. For a church school fundraiser in only its third year, the competition and the prize pot are both remarkable.

Go Primitive

Admittedly, this one's a little offbeat. But the Herrett Center's series of primitive-skills classes — launching Saturday — sounds like a blast. Think: weaving a fish trap, harpoon building, dart throwing, making fire and blending glue from top-secret recipes. So fun that you (and your kids) might not realize how much science and archaeology you're picking up. Let me know if you win the fire-making contest.

gala that puts many of Mini-Cassia's best talents on the stage for a free show celebrating the King center's anniversary. Expect a joking judge, eight-hand piano, a teen ballet choreographer, a few numbers from an upcoming musical, singers, strings and a high school student's humorous speech.

'THEY'RE HUNGRY FOR THIS'

With only one shot on stage for the year, Minico High thespians are going all out for 'Fiddler on the Roof,' with an ambitious set and a live orchestra.

BY NATALIE DICOU
ndicou@magicvalley.com

RUPERT • Minico High's music department has higher hopes than merely presenting "Fiddler on the Roof." It wants to take its audience on a journey back in time and across an ocean.

"The play is set in Russia around 1905 in a small Jewish enclave there, and that's very different from what most people experience every day here in southern Idaho," said choir teacher and play director Jeff Collier.

Still, he believes junior Justin Bourne, who plays Tevye, has the chops to take the audience away from the Magic Valley for an evening when the play opens March 8 for its three-day run.

"His job is to draw them in and really make them believe that we're in a different time and a different place," Collier said.

Many students were introduced for the first time to Jewish customs and rituals when preparing for their performances.

"I learned they had to wear headscarves, which really surprised me," said senior Courtney Fullwood, who plays Golde. "The wives' hair was just for their husbands."

Added sophomore Kylee Hale, who plays Hodel: "Their lives were hard. Russians were really persecuting the Jews a lot."

Most high schools produce two or more plays a year, but Minico High presents just one.

"They're hungry for this, for having something good to do, something on stage," Collier said of his students. "It would be nice if our school had more things like this."

With its single shot at making an impression, the school goes all out.

"We have quite an ambitious set," Collier said. "We have a 20-foot-by-10-foot house that spins around and opens up in four different places."

The play will feature a live pit orchestra and authentic props. Tevye's milk cart, for example, is a real milk cart that has spent the past 50 years or so parked in a farmer's yard, Collier said.

"It looks as old and dilapidated as it's supposed to," Collier said. "We were hoping to have it a couple weeks ago, but it was firmly frozen to the ground."

Mini-Cassia's Talent

With a lineup of local performers, a Burley gala will celebrate the King Fine Arts Center and its place in Mini-Cassia's cultural life.

BY BLAIR KOCH
For the Times-News

Show Details

BURLEY • Did you hear the joke about a lady getting stuck in a dairy waste lagoon near Burley? During the Mount Harrison Heritage Foundation Gala, you might.

Rick Bollor of Burley has been the gala's emcee since 2007, and the Fifth District magistrate judge is returning this year. He doesn't get a lot of time to inject topical and timely humor between introducing the night's talent, but when an extended prop change is required, Bollor doesn't hold back.

"It gives us an opportunity to laugh a little bit at ourselves," said Bollor, who is still working on material for the March 5 event. "The real show is the talent performing. The energy, momentum and quality of productions that the King Fine Arts Center is able to hold all year is really what the gala is all about."

The yearly celebration honors the King center, which opened in 1999 and cost $3 million to build. By December 2001 attendance had already surpassed 100,000. More than a decade has passed, and the center has become intertwined with the community's cultural identity.

"If it wasn't for the King Fine Arts Center I probably wouldn't be dancing. It is my hometown theater," said Tess Carpenter, 16, of Elba, who has danced since 11.

Picking the Oscars: A Twin Falls Man Does It Best

BY ANDREW WEEKS
aweeks@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • Dan Guthrie's favorite films are not always Hollywood's favorites, but this time he was spot on.

The Twin Falls man won first place in the Times-News' Oscar-guessing contest at Magicvalley.com.

Twin Falls residents Dawn Jones took second place and Monica Miller third place in the 11-category contest.

"I saw a few of the movies and thought they were pretty good," Guthrie said. "Then I wrote down what I thought had the best chances of winning."

Guthrie — who visits a movie theater with his wife, Kansas, about once a month and watches DVDs at home more often — said winning wasn't tough, as he believes Hollywood can be pretty predictable.

"The Academy will go with the big artsy production rather than what most people like," Guthrie said. "You likely won't see a straight comedy or action film win Best Picture, for instance, no matter how great the writing or production value."

Knowing that, Guthrie correctly guessed "The Artist," a silent film written and directed by Michel Hazanavicius, would win Best Picture.

"I liked that it was a little different," he said. "But Hollywood is basically out of ideas right now. It had to go back to the '20s to get something fairly original."

Still, he said, there were a few surprises Sunday. For instance, Guthrie didn't expect Meryl Streep to win Best Actress for her role as Margaret Thatcher in "The Iron Lady." Neither did Jones. Both expected Emma Stone of "The Help" to win instead.

"I just figured there's no way that Meryl Streep would win," Jones said. "She's the one that made me not get a perfect score."

Multinational Ensemble Heads for Burley Concert

Fresh in from Germany, Indigo Ensemble will play a Burley concert next week.

BURLEY • Like shape-shifters in a fantasy novel, Indigo Ensemble musicians can ease from chamber to jazz to swing. This decidedly unorthodox chamber quartet will play Burley's King Fine Arts Center on March 9 as the final performers in the Mini-Cassia Community Concerts season. The musicians come from three continents. Classical guitarist Rodrigo Guzman, from Chile, also plays western acoustic steel-string guitar, electric guitar and cajon, a wooden percussion instrument. Johannes "Joe" Neupert came from the former East Germany in Saxonia; he's a virtuoso violinist comfortable with styles from Schubert to swing to Sting. Rafael de Torres works as a classical pianist in Weimar, Germany, and can turn chamber music out of any keyed instrument. Double bassist Peter Nelselection. "I personally like from other jazz. I plan to be in their style. It's a good variation the front row enthralled."

"They will be flying to the U.S. from Germany only two days before their concert," said Steve Emahiser, director of promoter Live On Stage. Mini-Cassia Community Concerts association president Susan Tuft said: "We want to hit every genre in a season." With Indigo Ensemble, they have many in one performance. "What touched me was the passion when they perform," said board member Arnold Hansen, who was in on the son, born in South Carolina, has hailed from Germany for the past 24 years. He loves to jam on electric bass in Leipzig clubs but also is principal bassist of the Thuringian Philharmonic, plays with chamber groups and teaches music. The four have collaborated sporadically over the years, but it evolved into a quartet they call music without borders. Expect some fun and laughter at their Burley performance.

Carpenter choreographed a point-style ballet to "Vida La Viva" to perform at the gala. Most are familiar with the song made popular by British alt-rock band Coldplay, but Carpenter is dancing to an arrangement by the Vitamin String Quartet. "I practice at least three times a week for three hours at a time but have put this dance together on my own time, so I've been dancing a lot," Carpenter said. "I made it a harder dance, with a lot of jumps." The gala is a great opportunity to sample the wide variety of performing arts in Mini-Cassia, said Roberta Christiansen, Mount Harrison Heritage Foundation board member. Christiansen is thrilled that this year's timing worked so members of the Oakley Valley Arts Council cast could share a couple of songs and scenes from their about-to-open run of the musical "Dear Edwina." OVAC's Holly Ward will perform "Up on the Fridge," and Katrina Tanner and a group will kick up their feet in "Put it in the Piggy." "Oakley Valley Arts Council's productions are always top-notch, but not everyone can get out there, so to have them be able to come in for the gala is a treat," Christiansen said. Other musicians are using the gala as a way to remember those who have touched the lives of many Mini-Cassia residents. Chris Hepworth, Annette Hansen, Shanan Aston and Shelly Coats are giving tribute to the late Don Royster, who gave private piano lessons. With eight hands on two pianos, the quartet will play the upbeat pop song "More." "This is the first time all four of us have played together, but ensemble playing is fun," Hepworth said, adding the performance will raise awareness for the Don Royster Memorial of which she is a board member. She said the memorial gave $13,000 in scholarships to graduating Mini-Cassia seniors planning to study music in college last year, with plans to do the same in the future. The performance also features several vocal performances, including a duet by David and Lisa Koziol of Oakley. The husband and wife will perform "Anything You Can Do You" from the musical "Annie Get Your Gun." "We're used to singing and performing on the Oakley stage, which is smaller, so it is cozy and intimate. On the King stage it's huge, so the experience is so different but a lot of fun. We just like performing and being on stage," Lisa Koziol said. The evening begins with a 7 p.m. pre-show performance by the Minico Orchestra, with the gala following at 7:30 p.m. Other performances include the Wilderness String Quartet (Jolene Hobson, Donna Matschke, Tanya Buck and Deana Christensen) playing "Pachelbel Canon"; a solo by Hayden Gorringer, "Where is Love"; dance by Janell Peterson; solo by Sarah Condie, "I Have Confidence"; performance by Burton Anderson, Sarah Condie and children, "So Long, Farewell"; Megi Jones, Michael James and Burton Anderson with "No Way to Stop It"; and a humorous interpretation by Spencer Atkins, "Once Upon a Mattress."

Hamilton gives a talk and slideshow about her installation in the "Urban Lifecycles" exhibition and other projects. Hamilton's installation, a collaboration with Ketchum-Sun Valley Heritage and Ski Museum and Blaine County Historical Museum, uses dioramas from both museums to mark key moments: a Native American settlement, a mining camp, Union Pacific Railroad, the Roundhouse and future home of the Sun Valley Center. Hamilton's film, "It Happened in Sun Valley ... Or a Studio Very Much Like It," about Hollywood movies filmed in Sun Valley during the 1930s-50s, will be screened on the Lane Building windows Friday evenings through April 13. Air Force's Travis Brass Performs in T.F.

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • The performance is guaranteed to be polished (it's military), and the price is right (it's free).

Travis Brass will perform a 7:30 p.m. concert March 17 at the Twin Falls Center for the Arts, 195 River Vista Place. Tickets are free but must be picked up in advance at the center; first come, first served.

Travis Brass — the brass group of the U.S. Air Force Band of the Golden West — has a diverse repertoire ranging from standard march or traditional brass compositions to jazz, ragtime and pop music.

Throughout the West Coast, Travis Brass' educational outreach includes hands-on clinics, master classes and interactive concerts. The ensemble plays for community concerts, TV shows and pro sporting events, as well as honoring military personnel, and it's featured on the recording "Wood in Brass."

The artists are active duty professional musicians working in support of Air

Mobility Command. The band: Tech. Sgt. Christi L. McGowan on drums; on trumpet, Airman 1st Class Stephen Denison and Airman 1st Class Mathew Garza; Staff Sgt. Robert Mayes on french horn; Airman 1st Class Travis Hyde on euphonium; and Staff Sgt. Jill Corbett on tuba.

A Fundraiser Evening of Films by Women

TIMES-NEWS

KETCHUM • Nine short films by women filmmakers highlighting women's various roles in society will be shown March 9 as part of LUNAFEST.

The evening starts with a 6 p.m. reception and opportunity to bid at a silent auction. Films will start at 7 p.m. at the nexStage Theater, 120 S. Main St. in Ketchum.

A free KIDTUBefest showing inspirational and hilarious youth films will precede the event at 5 p.m.

The festival is designed to raise money for The Breast Cancer Fund and for Girls on the Run of the Wood River Valley and to promote awareness about women's issues, said Mary Fauth, whose Girls on the Run is hosting the film fest.

Many teams of mothers and daughters and grandmothers and granddaughters attended last year's showing.

Auction items will include spa vacations to Sonoma, a golf vacation in Arizona and a Southern California family adventure, along with pilates classes, a 2012-13 North Valley Trails pass, an Air St. Luke's membership and meals at the Ketchum Grill, The Celar and Grumpy's.

Tickets are $15 — or $10 for students and seniors — if purchased in advance at Sturtevant's in Ketchum and Hailey, Chapter One Books in Ketchum or at girls-on-the-runwrv.org/lunafest. They're $20 at the door.

Arts Council Will Auction Off Local Artist's Collection

A framed Ralph Lehrman oil on canvas, 45 by 57 inches.

TWIN FALLS • The Magic Valley Arts Council will present a "Ralph Lehrman Art Auction" of some of Lehrman's remaining collection, 7-9 p.m. March 10 at the Twin Falls Center for the Arts, 195 River Vista Place. It's open to the public. Lehrman, who recently retired and moved out of state, is a sculptor and painter best known for his I.B. Perrine sculpture at Twin Falls' visitor center, created as part of the city's centennial. Works to be auctioned include original oils on canvas, watercolors, prints from original works, paper handcasts, oils on hardboard, sculptures and graphite drawings, plus framing equipment, tools and rubber molds. Also up for auction are some art pieces that Lehrman collected from other artists.

Information: 734-2787.

It had been 29 years since Streep won a Best Actress award. Her first was for the 1983 movie "Sophie's Choice"

The Academy of Motion Pictures' 84th annual event was serious stuff to Jones. "I love movies," she said. "I love good movies. And I do a lot of research. I'm just really passionate about research."

Jones studies critics' reviews, watches the movies and comes to her own conclusions. Her efforts have paid off more than once. Jones won first place in the Times-News' contest in 2011 and tied for first in 2009, as well as placing in other years.

Miller based her choices partly on what movies won other awards, such as the Golden Globes. She figured the Academy's choices would be similar.

Guthrie received a $50 Visa gift card and a gift bag; Jones a $25 gift card and a gift bag; and Miller a gift bag.

First the bad news: if you neglect spring lawn care (and related concerns pertaining to your mower), you could end up paying for it the rest of the year. Now the good news: spring lawn care doesn't entail nearly the amount of work that you'll have to invest in mowing alone throughout the summer months.

In fact, most of you will need to implement only about half of the following ten tips for spring lawn care, depending upon your own unique circumstances. Furthermore, I point out in a few instances below that the task in question is better performed as part of your "http://landscaping.about.com/cs/lawns/a/fall_lawns.htm" fall lawn care, if you can wait that long.

Spring Lawn Care Tip #1: Raking

Raking will be your first task of spring lawn care. Okay, I can hear the groans coming from all lands near and far, wherever grassy carpets are cultivated: "But we already raked leaves in the fall!" Sorry, but raking is for more than just removing leaves: it's for controlling "http://landscaping.about.com/library/glossary/bldef-thatch.htm" thatch, too. A thatch build-up of more than 1/2 inch is considered excessive.

Thatch is the reason why I recommend that, when you rake leaves in the fall, you make the effort to rake deeply. Don't just skim the surface, so as to remove the leaves. A deep raking will remove thatch, too, allowing you to kill two birds with one stone. Even if you followed this advice in fall, I still recommend a spring raking: it will remove grass blades that died over the winter -- dead blades that are just waiting to become thatch!

But there's often another good reason for a spring raking. As you survey your lawn in spring, see if there are any matted patches, in which the grass blades are all stuck together.

This can be caused by a disease known as "snow mold." New grass may have difficulty penetrating these matted patches. But a light raking will be sufficient to solve this problem.

Just when you should perform any of these spring lawn care tasks will depend upon the climate of your own region. But Mother Nature provides palpable cues in some cases. For instance, when you're pretty sure the snow season (if you have one) is over in your region, begin raking. Applying preemergent herbicides (see Tip #6) should be done sometime between the time the local "http://landscaping.about.com/cs/shrubshrubsh/p/forsythia.htm" forsythia bushes stop blooming and the time the local "http://landscaping.about.com/od/shrubshrubsh/p/lilac_bushes.htm" lilac bushes begin blooming.

Spring Lawn Care Tip #2: Check for Compaction

If your lawn is subjected to high levels of traffic year after year, it may eventually start to show signs of decline. In such cases, your lawn is probably suffering from "http://landscaping.about.com/library/glossary/bldef-compaction.htm" compaction. For instance, the presence of "http://landscaping.about.com/cs/groundcovervines1/p/moss.htm" moss plants signals compaction (among other things).

"http://landscaping.about.com/cs/lawns/f/lawn_thatch.htm" Lawn aeration is the remedy for compaction. The good news is that lawn aerators can be rented at your local rental center. The bad news is that the experts recommend postponing lawn aeration until fall. But if, during your "spring lawn checkup," you become aware of compaction, at least you can plan on setting aside some time in the fall to take care of it.

CSI Men Looking to Maintain Edge

BY STEPHEN MEYERS

TWIN FALLS • With one of its goals already fulfilled, the College of Southern Idaho men's basketball team heads into the final weekend of the regular season ready to tune up for the Region 18 Tournament.

"I like where we are as a team right now. It's a good feeling as a coach and as a team to come into the final weekend of the season with one of our goals already accomplished (winning the Scenic West) and now we need to build on that," said CSI head coach Steve Gosar, whose team is on the road for two games, starting tonight at 7:30 against USU-Eastern Utah.

USU-Eastern (16-11, 4-9 SWAC), banned from the postseason by the NJCAA after playing an ineligible player last season, wraps up its season against CSI tonight and North Idaho on Saturday.

Because these are the final two games of its regular season, USU-Eastern can only play for pride.

"They play so hard, they never give up. You look at the scores in those losses and they were in every one of them," Gosar said. "We've got to bring our best game against them. These are their last two games. They're going to bring everything they have and we expect a USU-Eastern guard Dashaun Wiggins also has something to play for as he holds a narrow margin over CSI guard Fabyon Harris for the SWAC scoring title (17.7 to 17.6).

CSI forward Luke Cothron made his return from a month-long absence against North Idaho last weekend and played sparingly without scoring, but Gosar expects to see Cothron get a few more minutes as he works his way back into the rotation.

BOYS STATE BASKETBALL

BRUINS BLAST THROUGH CENTURY, 'D' STANDARD

Twin Falls senior Jared Allen (2) drives past Century defender Malek Harwell (3) during the first quarter of their state playoff game on Thursday at Borah High School in Boise.

Twin Falls improves on last year's record-setting defensive performance by giving up just 26 points to Diamondbacks.

BY DAVID BASHORE
dbashore@magicvalley.com

BOISE • For the second straight season, Twin Falls opened its journey in the Class 3A state boys basketball tournament with a record-setting defensive performance.

And it wasn't even the most impressive thing the Bruins did in the game.

Eric Harr scored 11, Jared Allen added 10 and Twin Falls moved into today's semifinals with a 56-26 win over Century that was every bit as comprehensive as the final score suggests.

The 26 points broke the Bruins' own 4A tournament record of 31 points allowed set last year, also against Century. "Our depth really helps with things, because (the Diamondbacks) are really young and the first four minutes of the state tournament hit you really fast," said Harr. "We have some young guys but we also have senior leadership and experience, and that goes a long way."

Twin Falls held Century (6-19) to four points in the first quarter and just 11 for the first half. But the Bruins (22-2) weren't able to break things open until the second quarter, when Century switched to zone defense against the Bruins' struggling perimeter game.

Dietrich High School senior Andru Howard (32) makes a basket in the fourth quarter of their game against Sho-Ban on Thursday at Caldwell High School.

Blue Devils Survive Sho-Ban Rally

BY STEPHEN MEYERS
smeyers@magicvalley.com

CALDWELL • Dietrich boys basketball head coach Wayne Dill walked out of the locker room at Caldwell High School and admitted that he had to take a deep breath after this one.

Dill's Blue Devils beat Sho-Ban 58-55 in the opening round of the Class 1A Division II state tournament, but the high-octane Chiefs' offense gave them a scare late in the game.

The Blue Devils (19-5) led Sho-Ban 47-39 about midway through the fourth quarter thanks to five straight points from Jakob Howard. Sho-Ban, however, stormed right back on an 8-0 run to tie the game at 47.

Tony Tone scored back-to-back buckets, Talen Samora made a putback and Andre Graves hit a scoop layup on the fast break to cap the run for the Chiefs.

Vance Perron answered with a baseline jumper and Dietrich re-took the lead, which it wouldn't relinquish the rest of the way.

"We knew at that time we had to stay calm, run the offense and just try to keep in front of our guys on defense," said Perron, who led Dietrich with 16 points. "It was a rough game. They play amazing, physical defense, but in the second half we made more of an effort to send cutters through the lane, which really opened up the baseline drives."

Dietrich settled for the 3 in the first half, but was only 1-for-12 from long range. Dill urged his team to drive to the rack instead and it paid off.

The Blue Devils opened the second half on a 6-0 run four points coming from Howard layups and they put Sho-Ban in the foul bonus early in the fourth quarter.

Howard made 5-of-6 free throws down the stretch to seal the win.

"Sometimes that's all you can do is take a deep breath," Dill said. "We knew they liked to run that fast break and I

Wildcats Loosen Grip, Lose Game

MERIDIAN • Filer let one slip away.

After leading for most of its first-round game against Snake River, Filer lost 48-43 in overtime at the Class 3A state basketball tournament Thursday at Meridian High School.

"I feel like we rolled one out of the fire pit, because I thought they had us," said Snake River coach Robert Coombs.

Indeed, the Wildcats did have the Panthers, leading by seven with less than five minutes to play in regulation.

But Snake River's Shane Parkinson, who finished with a game-high 16 points, drilled back-to-back 3-pointers to get the Panthers back in it.

With the game tied 38-38, Filer had the ball with time winding down. Marc Ramseyer received the ball in the key and made a move to the hoop, but was whistled for traveling with three seconds on the clock.

"I'll have to watch it on film, but I haven't seen too many times when they'll call a travel with less than six seconds," said Filer coach Allen Kelsey. "Usually they don't make those kinds of calls at the end of a game. I'd like to see what would have happened."

Parkinson's bringing 25-footer at the buzzer missed, bringing on overtime.

Ryan Karel, who carried Filer early in the fourth quarter with three straight buckets and an assist on another, initiated the overtime scoring on a dribble drive. But the

Injury Derails Jerome's Title Hopes

BY DAVID BASHORE
dbashore@magicvalley.com

BOISE • Jerome did everything it set out to do Thursday.

The Tigers held top-ranked Rigby to a season-low in points. They held Trojan duo Dylan Jones and Kamen McCullough to 10 points, 21 below their combined season average.

But they couldn't possibly have game-planned for losing their own star in the process.

Rigby took advantage when Jerome senior forward Jake Hollifield left early with an ankle injury, cruising to a 47-28 win to advance to today's Class 4A semifinals.

"Jake's one of the toughest guys I know. When he's in pain and can't go, you know something's wrong," said Jerome guard Shaquille Kennedy, who led the Tigers with seven points and nine rebounds. "We played our butts off, but when he goes out it is tough. We did everything we wanted to defensively, but the bottom line was we didn't do enough to get it done."

Hollifield landed awkwardly contesting a shot three minutes into the game, having scored all six of Jerome's points at that time. He returned briefly in the third quarter but was ineffective and totaled just five minutes, 18 seconds of action.

Without him, Rigby (21-2) was able to put the clamps on Jerome's perimeter game and render the Tiger offense basically impotent.

Also, Jerome (20-6) had to switch out of its triangle-and-two defense, which had worked so well denying the Trojans easy buckets.

When the Tigers did, they got shredded.

"We were a little inept on the offensive end, but when you have a guy that you run your whole offense through, it's tough when he can't go," said Jerome coach Joe Messick. "We played well defensively. If you would have told me before the game we would hold them to 47, and we'd hold (Nos.) 20 and 22 to a total of 10 points, I'd have taken it."

McCullough scored four and Jones six for the Trojans, who were led by Tanner Chambers' 11 and 10 from JonRyheem Peoples.

Hollifield, Garrett Leavitt and Will Hope all scored six for Jerome, which will play Kuna in an elimination game this afternoon.

"We're going to have to have other guys step up and make shots if we're going to have a chance," Messick said.

Wildcats went cold after that, going without another field goal until a meaningless one at the very end.

Filer shot 45 percent (5 of 11) from 3-point range against Snake River's zone in the first half. The Panthers switched to man-to-man, and the Wildcats shot 0-for-8 from deep the rest of the game. Kelsey said Filer averages less than 10 turnovers per game. Thursday, the Wildcats had 17.

"When they play man they switch every screen so it makes it hard offensively to run any type of set stuff," Kelsey said "They're very good at it. They're athletic and a good ball club."

Snake River (15-6) shot 25 free throws, while Filer only got six attempts.

Karel scored 12 points and Ramseyer had 11 for Filer (18-5), which ended its 11-game winning streak. The Wildcats will play at 3 p.m. today, hoping to repeat what the 2003 Filer squad did: Win the consolation trophy.

"It's disappointing, but at the same time we have a chance to still win consolation. We'll respond, this is a good group of kids."

for what we asked him to do," Gosar said. "I think this weekend we can raise the bar a little bit and expect a little more out of him."

For the CSI women (15-13, 7-6), one win against either USU-Eastern or Colorado Northwestern on Saturday will wrap up the No. 3 seed. The only scenario where the Golden Eagles would lose that spot is if USU-Eastern were to beat both CSI and North Idaho and if Snow beats Salt Lake on Saturday, bumping them to the fourth seed.

"I'm glad we have something to play for and obviously we want to have that head-to-head with Eastern Utah," said CSI women's head coach Randy Rogers. "I don't want to back into this thing. I just want to keep playing hard and hopefully go into these games this weekend and get a couple wins. We haven't won a critical game on the road yet."

SO FAR, SO GOOD FOR CAREY'S TITLE DEFENSE

BY STEPHEN MEYERS
smeyers@magicvalley.com

CALDWELL • Carey's title defense is off to an explosive start.

The Panthers routed Kootenai 58-38 at Caldwell High School to open the Class 1A Division II state tournament, setting up a battle in the semifinals with District IV foe Dietrich today at 3 p.m.

Carey (19-6), winners of 16 in a row, came out hot early behind two Chance Chavez 3-pointers and buried the Warriors 20-8 after the first quarter. The Panthers forced five Kootenai turnovers in the quarter and 21 for the game.

"I thought we had a great start. There was a lot of energy from our guys," said Carey head coach Dick Simpson. "I was most impressed with how we responded at the start of the fourth quarter. We had a nice run and didn't show any let ups."

The run Simpson is referring to is the knockout punch his starters Chavez, Charlie Rivera, Jack Cenarrusa, Dillon Cenarrusa and Baley Barg laid on Kootenai to start the fourth quarter.

Kootenai pulled to within 12 to close the third and Simpson sent his starting lineup back into the game to start the fourth, where in four minutes, the unit pushed the score from 42-30 to 54-30, with Chavez hitting two 3s to finish 5-for-8 from deep for a team-leading 15 points.

"Dick (Simpson) put us back out there and wanted us to get into a rhythm for tomorrow's game and put them away," Chavez said. "We really emphasized defense. They had made a few easy layups in the third quarter and we really tightened up the 'D' and became really aggressive. That's what we've been doing during this winning streak."

Garrett Lee came off the bench to score 10 points for Carey, which has already beaten Dietrich twice this season.

"There was a lot of pressure on us tonight being the defending champs. We're excited to play Dietrich again. We know we have to slow down the Howard brothers and get out and run on offense," Chavez said. "We're off to a good start."

Class 2A COLE VALLEY CHRISTIAN 52, VALLEY 34

The Vikings knew they had to counter the Chargers' size with effort. And on the glass, it worked as Valley outrebounded its significantly bigger foe, 49-46.

But with that effort came a price: Dead legs that couldn't convert 26 offensive rebounds or hit a perimeter shot (2-for-27 from 3-point range).

"Nobody can fault us for the effort we put out today," Valley coach Steve Hansen said. "We gave everything we got."

It was still a four-point game early in the second half before Valley's inability to hit a shot started its downfall.

"If we could've gotten a shot or two to fall, that psychological thing, it would have kicked in and might have given us some momentum," Hansen said. "We got some good looks (against a zone defense) and they just didn't go home."

Valley plays Soda Springs today at 3 p.m. in a consolation round game.

Pilots Put Forth Near-Record Effort

BY JOHN ENGEL
For the Times-News

CALDWELL • The Horseshoe Bend Mustangs learned that speed truly does kill.

Despite being undersized at nearly every position, the Glens Ferry Pilots used athleticism and quick hands to earn a 95-57 victory and a trip to the second round of the Class 1A Division I state tournament at Vallivue High School.

Glens Ferry had four players in double figures, but were led by sophomore guard Ruben Juarez off the bench who had 19 points in 19 minutes. Horseshoe Bend center Jacob Carpenter carried the Mustangs with 20 points and 10 rebounds.

The Pilots (14-6) were able to capitalize on turnovers to jump out to a 49-31 first-half lead, grabbing 12 steals on 15 turnovers by the Mustangs (15-5). Glens Ferry finished with 43 points off turnovers; Horseshoe Bend had 15.

"Our pressure defense was strong, and they weren't that solid with the ball," said Glens Ferry head coach Nate Jones. "We got lots of steals and converted."

The Pilots pummeled the Mustangs throughout, but according to senior guard Chris Popoca, not slowing down was more of a lesson for the team.

"Sometimes when we go into the locker room at halftime we come out kind of flat in the third quarter," said Popoca, who finished with 18 points. "We just wanted to play our game, throughout the game.

One of the Pilots' weaknesses this season has been containing strong low-post players, something they were once against reminded of against Horseshoe Bend. Carpenter, the Mustang's 6-4 center, scored one-third of Horseshoe Bend's points.

"We have to control the rebounds," said Juarez. "We let the big men dictate our rebounding."

Despite being undersized, Glens Ferry was still able to win the rebound battle against Horseshoe Bend, 47-33. The 95 points were five short of the Idaho state tournament record of 100, set by Kendrick in 1967.

Though the box score shows promising numbers, the Pilots still have a lot of questions to answer in the next few days.

think except for a couple of spurts, one in the first half and that one in the second half where they tied it, we did a nice job slowing them down."

Howard scored 12 points and was a beast on the glass, grabbing 20 rebounds.

The Blue Devils play District IV foe, Carey, today in the semifinals, while Sho-Ban is relegated to the con-

ONE HALF, ONE HOWLIN' GOOD TIME

Castleford makes up for last year's two-and-out disappearing act by holding off Salmon River

BY RYAN HOWE
rhowe@magicvalley.com

CALDWELL • Shooting. Rebounding. Defense. Teamwork. Execution.

Name an aspect of basketball and Castleford beat Salmon River in it.

For the first half, anyway. The Wolves dominated the first 16 minutes and then held on like a rock climber in a wind storm for the final 16 in their 44-39 victory in the first round of the Class 1A Division II state tournament Thursday at Caldwell High School.

Castleford's four seniors led the charge. Mitch Howard scored 15 points, Destrly Weekes scored 13, Cody Hansen had seven points and 10 rebounds and Tanner Allred added five points.

The Wolves (15-9) will play Nezperce (20-3) at 1:15 p.m. in today's semifinals. It's a good spot to be in for Castleford, which went two-and-out at last year's state tourney.

"We didn't really talk about that, but it feels good to win after coming back last year with nothing," said Allred. "We only get a little time to celebrate. We'll go out and scout the next team and take care of that tomorrow."

Salmon River (18-5) got 13 points from Leighton VanderEsch and 10 from Charlie Shepherd. But after falling behind by double digits in the second quarter, the Savages panicked, playing too much one-on-one and heaving up ill-advised shots.

Opening game jitters were nowhere to be found on Castleford's side as the Wolves jumped out to a 12-4 lead, thanks to back-to-back 3-pointers by Allred and Hansen.

"Offensively we were moving around and sharing the ball a lot," said Hansen, who scored all of his seven points in the first quarter. "Our defensive intensity stayed the same the whole game."

Castleford's biggest lead was 15 before Salmon River started trapping on defense in the third quarter, forcing numerous turnovers and holding the Wolves to just three points in the period.

"We knew there was going to be a run. Every team always puts a run on, you've just got to adjust," Hansen said. "At first we panicked, but I think we adjusted well, moved to the ball and had cutters coming to the middle. You just have to find holes in a zone like that, and we did that pretty well at the end of the game."

Salmon River rallied to make it a two-point game with 6 minutes, 35 seconds remaining. Castleford staved off the Savages, who made one last push, getting within one point with 58 seconds left.

But Hansen made a nice assist to Ty Zimmers for a layup with 30 seconds to go and the Savages' VanderEsch missed a 3-pointer on the other end that would have tied it with six seconds left. Howard grabbed the rebound and sank the game-clinching free throws.

NBA ROUNDUP

Thunder Pull Victory Out of Hat vs. Magic

ORLANDO, Fla. • Kevin Durant scored 38 points, including 18 in the fourth quarter, and Russell Westbrook added 29 points and 10 rebounds as the Oklahoma City Thunder erased a 14-point deficit to hold on to beat the Orlando Magic 105-102 on Thursday night.

The Magic had a chance to tie it in the final seconds, but Jason Richardson's long 3-pointer bounced off the backboard at the buzzer.

The Thunder's win was their seventh straight, matching a streak from earlier in the season.

Dwight Howard scored 33 points and grabbed nine rebounds to lead all five Magic starters in double figures, but they struggled to shoot from the field down the stretch. The Magic dropped to 0-2 against the Thunder this season, following their season-opening loss at Oklahoma City on Christmas night.

SUNS 104, TIMBERWOLVES 95 PHOENIX • Grant Hill scored 15 of his season-high 20 points in the second half and Phoenix pulled away to beat weary Minnesota.

Six players reached double figures for the Suns in their first game since the All-Star break. Steve Nash had 13 points and matched his season high with 17 assists. Marcin Gortat scored 17 for Phoenix in its ninth straight victory over the Timberwolves.

Kevin Love, who sat out the Timberwolves' 104-85 loss to the Lakers in Los Angeles on Wednesday night because of flu-like symptoms, scored 23 on 8-of-25 shooting. Luke Ridnour scored 15 for the Timberwolves, who were playing for the third time in as many nights.

No Deadline for Deal on MLB Playoffs

NEW YORK • Negotiators for baseball players and owners say there is no set deadline for an agreement to expand the playoffs to 10 teams this season.

The sides have said for weeks a deal is likely. When players and owners signed their agreement for a new labor contract in November, the section covering the post-season established a March 1 goal for deciding whether the playoffs would increase by two teams for 2012 or 2013.

But in recent days both sides said negotiations would continue beyond Thursday if they needed time. The sides spoke on condition of anonymity to The Associated Press because the talks have not been public.

The deal would establish a new one-game, wild-card round in each league between the teams with the best records who are not division winners, meaning a third-place team could win the World Series.

Creating it for 2012 has been complicated because the regular-season schedule was drafted last spring and summer, and the extra game has to be put in place in a manner that doesn't disrupt the World Series schedule. Further complicating scheduling, the sides reached a consensus that ties for division titles would be broken on the field with a tiebreaker game under the new playoff format, and not by head-to-head record.

YOU ARE NOTIFIED THAT:
 A Petition, a copy of which is attached, has been filed in the above-entitled matter in the Magistrate's Division of the District Court of Twin Falls County, Idaho, by the Prosecuting Attorney, alleging the above-named child comes within the Court's jurisdiction under the Child Protective Act.
 You are hereby directed to appear personally for a Review Hearing at the Twin Falls County Courthouse, 425 Shoshone Street, Twin Falls, Idaho, on April 5, 2012 at 9:30 AM.
 You are notified that service of the attached Petition upon you, as the parent(s), guardian, or custodian of this child, confers personal jurisdiction of the Court upon you and subjects you to the provisions of the Child Protective Act.
 You are notified that if you fail to appear without reasonable cause, the Court may proceed in your absence or you may be proceeded against for contempt of Court.
 You are notified that the parent(s), guardian, or a custodian may be financially liable for the support and/or treatment of the child.
 You are further notified that the child and parent(s), guardian, or custodian have the right to be represented by an attorney of your choosing, or if financially unable to pay, have the right to have an attorney appointed by the Court to represent the child or the parent(s), guardian, or custodian at county expense. If you request to have an attorney appointed at county expense, you must appear before the date of the hearing given above, at which time the Court shall consider appointment of an attorney for the child and inquire whether the parent(s), guardian, or custodian require the separate appointment of an attorney.
 You are further notified that there shall be a rebuttable presumption that if a child is placed in the custody of the IDHW and was also placed in care out of the home for a period not less than fifteen (15) out of the last twenty-two (22) months from the date of Adjudication, the IDHW shall initiate a Petition for Termination of Parental Rights. This presumption may be rebutted by a finding by the Court that the filing of a Petition for Termination of Parental Rights would not be in the best interest of the child and their family, or that the child is placed permanently with a relative.
 WITNESS MY HAND AND SEAL of said Magistrate Court this 21st day of February, 2012

THE ACES ON BRIDGE® Bobby Wolff

"One's fantasy goes for a walk and returns with a bride."
— Bernard Malamud

Today's deal from the World Mixed Pairs in Verona demonstrates how sometimes all that is needed to make a seemingly impossible game is a little clear thinking.

Cover up the East and West hands before reading on. At many tables South reached four hearts after East had stretched to open one diamond. West led the club queen. How would you tackle the play?

If West has club length, then East must have all the outstanding honors outside clubs. Accordingly, you must aim to play off all your cards in spades and diamonds before throwing East in with a trump. So, win the club ace and play the diamond queen. If East ducks this, continue with a second diamond. Say East wins and plays a spade. Win in hand, cash the heart ace, then take your spade and diamond winners, ending in the dummy. There is an outside chance that East holds a second club, so lead a club toward your king. East cannot profitably ruff, so your king wins, and only now do you play a second trump. East can make two trump tricks, but must then give you a ruff-and-discard for your contract.

At one table, where declarer set about the hand in this way, he made an overtrick! In desperation, East unblocked the heart king under the ace, then ducked when declarer led a trump away from dummy, hoping that his partner had started with the doubleton jack. No luck! East still got endplayed, this time for the overtrick.

ANSWER: Opening in third seat requires you to have either a decent hand or a suit you want partner to lead. Here you have neither, so you risk either getting too high or getting partner off to the wrong lead. Pass rather than misrepresent your hand.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 18 years. In that time my husband has been unfaithful twice. Last week I was going through his cellphone and noticed from his emails that he had registered on a dating service and was exchanging photos with four women. I threw him out of the house. What really upsets me is my 17-year-old son knew about the affairs and thinks it's perfectly normal for his dad to have female "friends" while we were still living together. I don't like what my soon-to-be-ex did to me, and I don't want my son thinking it's OK to start looking while you're still married.

My son finds ways to excuse his father's behavior. How can I make him understand that looking for other partners while you're married is being unfaithful?

—TEXAS WIFE WHO'S HAD IT

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

DEAR HAD IT: That may not be easy. Your husband, by making your son his co-conspirator ("It'll just be between us guys"), has made him a member of the "boys club" and cliqued you out. Has your son not seen how painful this has been for you? Your almost ex-husband is a terrible role model. When your son follows in Dad's footsteps — and there is every reason to believe he will — he will never have a successful marriage of his own.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I have been dating for four years. In the beginning, we'd split our visits between her house and mine because we live 100 miles apart.

Two years ago she stopped wanting me to come to her house. She'd say it was dirty or that she didn't want anyone there. When we plan to have me go there, the day arrives and she says she wants to break up with me because I insist on visiting her. Over the past year and a half, I have been to her place only three times. She hemmed and hawed but finally allowed it.

She claims there's no reason she's acting this way, that I'm crazy and people are putting ideas in my head. I tell her it's her behavior that makes me think she's hiding something. What should I do?

—SUSPICIOUS IN BUFFALO

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Something strange IS going on. A drastic change in someone's behavior is legitimate cause for concern. Clearly your girlfriend has a secret. She may be seeing someone or there's something else she doesn't want you to see. You are overdue in getting to the bottom of it, so stop allowing her to put you on the defensive, even if it means ending the relationship.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received a wedding gift in the form of a donation to a religious organization in honor of our nuptials. I am strongly opposed to this organization because it excludes women from its primary mission due to beliefs I do not share. Having found this gesture to be offensive, how do I acknowledge this "gift"?

—NOT IN MY NAME

DEAR NOT IN MY NAME: What a peculiar gift for a wedding. Usually couples receive an item for which they registered, or something they can use or enjoy together. It appears that rather than give you a gift, your guest gave himself/herself a tax deduction.

For the sake of good manners, write the person a short note saying, "Thank you for sharing our special day with us."

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 70 and I'm 68. We have been married for two years. His previous wife was 22 years younger than him, and he seems to delight in bringing the age thing up. I feel so old and insecure. Have you any words of wisdom to offer me?

—THE OLD LADY

DEAR LADY: Two can play your husband's game. The next time he mentions it, tell him the reason she's his "ex" is that he was too old for her — which is why this time he wised up and picked on somebody "his own size."

Today is Friday, March 2, the 62nd day of 2012. There are 304 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:
On March 2, 1962, Wilt Chamberlain scored 100 points for the Philadelphia Warriors in a game against the New York Knicks, an NBA record that still stands. (Philadelphia won, 169-147.)

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:
In 1793, the first president of the Republic of Texas, Sam Houston, was born near Lexington, Va.
In 1836, the Republic of Texas formally declared its independence from Mexico.
In 1861, the state of Texas, having seceded from the Union, was admitted to the Confederacy.
In 1877, Republican Rutherford B. Hayes was declared the winner of the 1876 presidential election over Democrat Samuel J. Tilden, even though Tilden had won the popular vote.
In 1917, Puerto Ricans were granted U.S. citizenship as President Woodrow Wilson signed the Jones-Shafroth Act.
In 1932, the 20th Amendment to the Constitution, which moved the date of the presidential inauguration from March 4 to January 20, was passed by Congress and sent to the states for ratification.

In 1939, Roman Catholic Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli was elected pope on his 63rd birthday; he took the name Pius XII.
In 1943, the World War II Battle of the Bismarck Sea began; U.S. and Australian warplanes were able to inflict heavy damage on a Japanese convoy.
In 1951, the East beat the West, 111-94, in the first NBA All-Star Game, which took place at Boston Garden.
In 1972, the United States launched the Pioneer 10 space probe, which flew past Jupiter in late 1973, sending back images and scientific data.
In 1989, representatives from the 12 European Community nations agreed to ban all production of CFCs (chlorofluorocarbons) by the end of the 20th century.

In 1992, actress Sandy Dennis died in Westport, Conn., at age 54.
Ten years ago: Eleven Israelis were killed in a Palestinian suicide bombing in Jerusalem's ultra-Orthodox neighborhood. Rioting spread as the death toll in India's religious strife topped 400.

Five years ago: A charter bus carrying a college baseball team from Bluffton University in Ohio plunged off an Atlanta highway ramp and slammed into the pavement below, killing seven people. Army Secretary Francis J. Harvey resigned following a scandal over substandard conditions for wounded Iraq soldiers at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. The bodies of 14 kidnapped policemen were found northeast of Baghdad. Anna Nicole Smith was buried in the Bahamas following a lavish memorial service.
One year ago: The Supreme Court ruled, 8-1, that a grieving father's pain over mocking protests at his Marine son's funeral had to yield to First Amendment protections for free speech in a decision favoring the Westboro Baptist Church of Topeka, Kan. A man armed with a handgun attacked a bus carrying U.S. Air Force troops at Frankfurt airport, killing two airmen before being taken into custody. (Arid Uka, an Islamic extremist, was later sentenced to life in prison.) Militants gunned down the only Christian in Pakistan's Cabinet outside his widowed mother's home.
