Idaho's Water Outlook Not Dampened by Dry March

Reservoir carryover will help offset southern Idaho's lagging snowpack.

BY KIMBERLEE KRUESI
kkruesi@magicvalley.com

HOLLISTER • Southern Idaho was snubbed by the weather last month. March's weather patterns broke precipitation record levels across the state. But while the Gem State's snowpack and streamflows came in at record highs, the southern region remained dry and mild.

It's an unintended consequence of transitioning out of a La Nina year, said Ron Abramovich, a water supply specialist for the U.S. Natural Resource Conservation Service in Boise.

Luckily, most Magic Valley water users won't be affected by the area's lack of spring precipitation thanks to last year's high reservoir carryover, Abramovich told about 20 people who gathered Wednesday in Hollister to hear the agency's annual water update.

Almost all of Idaho's reservoirs are holding above-normal amounts of water. Oakley, Salmon Falls and Owyhee reservoirs range from 100 to

TWIN FALLS • They came as refugees, then enriched the community that welcomed them. This month marks 20 years since the start of the Bosnian War.

According to the Idaho Office on Refugees, those fleeing Bosnia and Herzegovina made up more than half of the 5,000 refugees who resettled in Idaho during the 1990s.

The Times-News spoke to three Twin Falls residents who lived through the war. For more who were contacted, the memories remain too raw to share.

While the world watched the horror unfold from a distance through television footage and newspaper photos, they lived through the terror.

Arma Bajraktarevic

When Serbian soldiers were slaughtering civilians, one saved Arma Bajraktarevic's husband's life.

Arma, her husband, Amir, and their 3-year-old daughter, Arna, were on a bus filled with refugees when soldiers stopped the convoy and boarded the vehicles, searching the bus for men ages 16-60.

Those men were shot on site. The soldiers also removed young women from the bus.

"Who knows what they (did) to them," Arma said.

But one of the soldiers recognized Amir — the two had grown up together. That soldier convinced the others to spare Amir and others on the bus.

ISP: 18-Vehicle Pileup May Take Week to Investigate

BY LAURIE WELCH
lwelch@magicvalley.com

BURLEY • Idaho State Police officials say it could take them more than a week to wrap up the investigation of Wednesday's 18-vehicle pileup on Interstate 84 near Paul.

Blowing dust cut visibility in the area and led to two crashes that entirely blocked eastbound I-84 at about 5 p.m. Wednesday. The 18-vehicle accident occurred near the Kasota Road exit, while a crash involving three semitrailers occurred only 49 minutes later, about three miles west of the first.

The interstate's eastbound lanes were closed for four and a half hours while crews investigated the crashes and cleaned debris. Traffic was routed through Paul, and returned to the interstate near Burley.

Five people were injured in the crashes, though injuries were minor.

Minidoka Memorial Hospital Administrator Carl Hanson said that both crash patients the Rupert hospital received were released by Thursday afternoon. Cassia Regional Medical Center spokesman Matt Flygare said three patients from the crashes were treated and released from the Burley hospital.

Paul Votes to Raise Sewer, Water Rates

BY COREEN HART
For the Times-News

PAUL • Heated at times, a public hearing on the proposed increase in Paul's utility rates drew 18 citizens Wednesday night. Many — mostly senior citizens — were concerned about the rate increases' effect on people with limited incomes.

In the end, the City Council voted to increase sewer and water rates by $2 each, but not to adopt a $1 increase in trash removal. In total, the combined rates rose from $74 to $78 a month.

One resident testifying about the rates offered comparisons of those paid in surrounding cities. Another asked if the increase was due to unexpected increases. A third complained that rates have gone up every year, but Mayor Randy Jones said there have been no city utility increases for the past three years.

Among the reasons for the increase, Councilman Bruce Hossfeld said that all costs have gone up due to increased gas prices.

Public Works Director Rich Rau explained that the budget reserves are still good. He said spending has increased to comply with state and federal regulations. One resident objected to the water meters at Meadowbrook, saying she uses less water than her neighbor but pays the same amount. She said she knows people who are going without food and medicines because of "things like this." Council members tried to explain that she was charged for the water she actually used, and Rau noted the meters were paid for by a grant.

Rau listed some of Paul's expenses: meter replacement, multiple testing requirements by the state, new licensing expenses for employees, and having to pay for continuing education that was formerly free. He also noted the many tests which must be performed on city water.

"There is about $170,000 a year that goes to pay off debt when we put the water and sewer in," he said.

Hossfeld explained that it was important to keep operating systems maintained, or one day people would be hit with a $10-$15 increase.

"We're trying to do the minimum to keep up," he said. "I would rather have small increases every couple of years than go six years and then get hit with a big one."

Hailey Skate Park Faces Closure Due to Vandalism

TIMES-NEWS

HAILEY • Hailey Mayor Fritz Haemmerle announced Thursday in a statement he could close the city's skate park if litter and vandalism continue.

Monday, the mayor visited the park after police found a public art piece had been vandalized and garbage was strewn throughout the park. A large wooden sign with the park's rules was also pushed over, according to a press release.

At a City Council meeting Monday, Haemmerle said if another incident of vandalism occurs he will close the park for a day. Following instances would cause week-long or month-long closures of the park.

April 21 will be a family clean-up day at the skate park and the mayor encouraged participation. In a written statement, he also asked skaters to remember their responsibilities for the park and possible consequences.

Tom Luna Makes Burley Stop

BY LAURIE WELCH
lwelch@magicvalley.com

BURLEY • About 100 Magic Valley educators gathered Thursday in Burley to hear Idaho public schools chief Tom Luna and other education officials outline changes made in the Legislature that will affect Gem State schools in the coming year.

"I'm happy this year to bring at least some encouraging news about where we are with education, and particularly the budget," Luna said. "This isn't the end of the struggle and all of strife the economy has brought upon you and the schools, but it is an indication that things are finally improving."

Luna said the Legislature approved the state public schools budget for fiscal year 2013 at $1.6 billion, a 4.6 percent increase from this year. Luna said he's encouraged that educators won't have to deal with another funding reduction.

The budget will allow the state to increase minimum teacher salaries by $500 to $30,500 and fund the expanding technology mandated by the Students Come First education reforms.

Luna said the average teacher pay in Idaho will increase by more than $2,000 next year, thanks in part to $38.8 million in new funding to cover the state's merit-based bonus plan for educators.

"I'm excited about this and think it's a step in the right direction in helping us keep the great teachers we already have and attracting more of the best and brightest into the teaching profession," Luna said. "We know a highly effective teacher is by far the most important factor in a 21st century classroom."

State Department of Education spokeswoman Melissa McGrath said Idaho education officials hold the annual post-legislative tour to inform educators across the state about law changes and how the public schools budget will impact them through the next school year.

"Since we've passed the Students Come First education reform laws, they are so comprehensive and there are so many changes involved (that) we want to make sure educators at all levels know what the changes are about," she said.

We can kill them later, he said.

Arma was grateful for the Serbian soldier, but still has a hard time understanding the ethnic divides that drove the conflict. Both she and her husband had close Serbian friends.

"Before, life was just fine. We all lived together," she said.

The Bajraktarevics managed to escape the country — Amir in the trunk of an uncle's car, Arma and Arna hidden in a truck with other refugees.

It wasn't easy to leave Bosnia. The couple had just built a house, and Arma had opened a beauty salon.

But, Arma said, they had no choice.

"If you don't leave, you will not survive," she said.

The family spent a few years near Dusseldorf in Germany, where Arma worked as a hair stylist. They moved to Twin Falls in 1998.

Arna started third grade and quickly learned English, and Arma started working as a hair stylist. She now owns her own business.

Arna, now 23, is preparing to graduate from the Brooks

About the Bosnian War

On April 6, 1992, about 40,000 people from across Bosnia and Herzegovina — Muslim Bosniaks, Christian Orthodox Serbs and Catholic Croats — poured into a Sarajevo square to demand peace from their quarreling nationalist politicians.

The European Community had recognized the former Yugoslav republic of Bosnia as an independent state after most of its people voted for independence. But the vote went down along ethnic lines, with Bosniaks and Croats voting for independence, and Bosnian Serbs preferring to stay with Serb-dominated Yugoslavia.

The ethnic unity being displayed on the Sarajevo square irritated Serb nationalists, who then shot into the crowd from a nearby hotel, killing five people and igniting the 1992-1995 war. The Serb nationalists, helped by neighboring Serbia, laid siege to Sarajevo and within a few months occupied 70 percent of Bosnia, expelling all non-Serbs from territory they controlled.

Bosniaks and Croats — who started off as allies — then turned against each other, so all three groups ended up fighting a war that took more than 100,000 lives, made half of the population homeless and left the once-ethnically mixed country devastated and divided into mono-ethnic enclaves.

Institute in California. Arma is proud of her, but worries that the conflict forced her daughter to grow up too quickly.

"She's much more serious than other kids her age," she said.

Alma and Armin Alihodzic

Unlike most Bosnians in Twin Falls, Armin Alihodzic didn't come as a refugee.

Armin arrived in October 2011 to be with his new wife, Alma, whose family arrived in Idaho when she was 12 years old. While others fled, Armin and his family waited out the war in a village. For five years, they tried to live as normal a life as possible while UN peacekeepers roamed the streets.

high school — were responsible for organizing the conference.

"They've done everything," State FFA Coordinator Jessie Kellogg said.

State reporter Cara Pantone — who's from Shoshone — started college at the University of Idaho this fall. But she took this semester off to focus on her job as a state officer.

Over the past year, state officers met with business and agriculture representatives, as well as state legislators. They've also led workshops at schools.

But now, their tenure is coming to a close. New state officers will be selected this week and installed Saturday.

More than 'Cows and Plows'

CSI's Expo Center was eerily quiet Thursday morning as more than 100 students filled out scoring sheets during a horse evaluation career development event.

About 15 horses and their handlers were in the arena, as FFA students wearing blue jackets held clipboards. Students ranked the horses and were required to defend their placing.

Although many think of FFA as students raising animals, Lake said the organization encompasses more than that.

"We're not all about cows and plows," he said.

There's a wide variety of FFA competitions including veterinary science, nursery landscape design, floriculture, parliamentary procedure and prepared speaking.

On Thursday, 18-year-old Tiffanie Basset competed in a prepared speaking event. The high school senior from Nampa said the experience has given her more confidence to speak in front of people.

Katie McCollough, 15, a sophomore from Nampa, participates in floriculture and nursery landscaping events through FFA.

"They all have a passion for something and that's why they're here," Kellogg said.

The Future

For Lake and Pantone, their time as state officers is coming to a close. But they plan to continue learning about agriculture and business.

Pantone — who grew up on a cattle ranch — said her eyes were opened this year to the diversity of the agriculture industry.

"You just meet a lot of awesome people," she said. "I'm really blessed to have this opportunity."

Pantone plans to return to the University of Idaho in the fall and is looking to major in business economics.

Lake is leaving next week on a mission through the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints to Mozambique, Africa.

Once he returns, he plans to study agriculture economics at Oklahoma State University.

Idaho Transportation Department spokesman Nathan Jerke said Thursday that winds generally blow across that section of the interstate from the east and west, but apparently shifted to come from the south prior to the collisions.

"Crashes from blowing dirt are not as common there as they are south of the I-84/I-86 junction," he said.

Jerke said the wind shift and decreased visibility occurred so suddenly it would have been impossible to warn motorists of the hazard.

"Anytime you have conditions like that, slow down and drive to the conditions," he said. "Keep moving if you can because the people behind you will keep moving, but don't go any faster than you can to safely stop."

While an ISP report on the pileup near Paul isn't complete, the crash down the road was caused when a Boise trucker failed to stop for traffic that was backed up on the interstate, according to police.

Donald Christopherson, 65, of Boise, was driving a 2207 Kenworth semitrailer when he hit a 2007 Volvo semi-trailer driven by Harim Muratovic, 39, of Boise. Muratovic's vehicle was pushed into a 1988 International semitrailer driven by Jennifer Bromley, 27, of West Valley, Utah, according to an ISP release.

Cassia County Sheriff Randy Kidd said everyone involved in the crash was extremely lucky to escape without serious injury.

140 percent of normal. Forecasters expect the reservoirs should adapt to normal summer runoff.

However, as of April 1, snowpack remains a concern in southern Idaho, where some levels are only 40-60 percent of their average for this time of year. In comparison, the Idaho Panhandle is boasting 133 percent of its normal snowpack.

"In some parts of the state, it's the most we've had in years," Abramovich said.

But because the southern Idaho snowpack remains low, forecasts also predict reduced stream-flow volumes.

Abramovich said this year's precipitation levels are similar to 2010 and 1994. Based on historical data, as the weather warms up in April, the flows should peak one more time before leveling off.

And while not all the snowmelt will hit the reservoirs, irrigators along the Salmon Tract will have already received their allotment amounts. This year, irrigators will receive .71 acre-feet of water per share. A full allotment is typically 1.16 acre-feet, but is rarely delivered.

"We can only allot what's in the dam," Abramovich said.

The allotment amount isn't huge but could be worse, said Larry Meyer, a board member on the Twin Falls Soil and Water Conservation District.

"If we didn't have the carryover, we'd be in bad shape," Meyer said.

Lunch, Driver's Ed Prices Rise in Filer Schools

BY JOHN E. SWAYZE
For the Time-News

FILER • Students will see an increase in prices for some programs and services offered in the Filer School District.

School board trustees Wednesday approved a 10-cent increase to the district's hot lunch price. Naomi McGovern, district food service director, announced the change is part of a federal government mandate to keep pace with rising program costs. The price has to increase each year until it is equal to free lunch reimbursement money received from the federal government.

Beginning with the 2012-2013 school year, lunch at Filer Elementary and Hollister Elementary will cost students $1.80. Filer Intermediate School is moving to $1.85 and the middle school price will be $1.90. Filer High School will set its price at $2 and adult meals will go up to $3.75.

"This year, our reimbursement money is $2.77 for free lunch and we get 26 cents in reimbursement for full-price students," McGovern said. "The new nutritional guidelines are changing to more fruits and vegetables, so that kind of meal increases the adult price as well."

Driver's education fees will also see an increase next year to $130 for Filer School District students and $150 for out-of-district students.

"We've had an increase in out-of-district students who want to get a good deal and take driver's training over here," said Filer High School Principal Leon Madsen. "I thought we'd better take another look to see if prices couldn't be raised a little."

In other business, school officials and patrons are continuing a campaign to inform residents about a May 15 election to approve a two-year, $500,000 supplemental funding levy. Public information meetings are scheduled for 7 p.m. April 19 at Filer Intermediate School, and 8 p.m. April 25 at Hollister Elementary School.

Boat Inspection Stations Open Early

BY KIMBERLEE KRUESI
kkruesi@magicvalley.com

HOLLISTER • Boat owners, be prepared to stop.

The Idaho State Department of Agriculture's boat inspection stations have been open since March 1 and are already catching boats carrying invasive mussels into Idaho.

The department has set up 15 inspection stations across the state as a line of defense against the invasion of zebra or quagga mussels, said Kali Shiller, an ISDA supervisor, while speaking to a small group of people Wednesday in Hollister.

The mussels are not native to the Pacific Northwest but have been found in Arizona, California, Nevada and Utah.

The European originated species grows only up to the size of a fingernail, but can attach to surfaces en masse. They can cause millions of dollars in damage by clogging intake pipes and machinery.

Idaho is one of the handful of states that is not afflicted with zebra or quagga mussel invasion, Shiller said.

However, that doesn't mean the state can hold them off forever, she said.

"It's not about if an invasion comes here, but preparing for when it gets here," Shiller said. "These stations have bought us time."

Inspections are free but mandatory for all boat owners driving into the state. Each boat is given a visual scan and a hot water bath with a power

The Magic Valley is home to two inspection stations: along U.S. Highway 93 near the Idaho-Nevada border, and at the Cotterell rest area along Interstate 84 near its junction with I-86. The stations are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. Inspections are free, but all boat owners must stop for them.

washer before it can proceed farther.

The inspection station along U.S. Highway 93 near the Idaho-Nevada border in southern Twin Falls County caught its first fouled vessel the second day it was open, Shiller said.

"We have already inspected over 2,000 boats and 11 of those were fouled," she said. "We're going to be keeping our stations open longer this year to make sure we have more time to catch infected boats."

Twin Falls Police Arrest Tattoo-outed Contreras, Again

BY ALISON GENE SMITH
alismsmith@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • A 19-year-old Shoshone man who last week allegedly lied to police about his name, although it was tattooed on his arm and clearly visible, has been arrested again.

This time, Dylan Edward Contreras was charged with driving without privileges, possession of a concealed weapon and inhalation of intoxicants.

A Twin Falls police officer stopped Contreras at about 11 p.m. Tuesday for driving without his lights on in the 200 block of Addison Avenue West.

Police say Contreras verbally identified himself with the correct name during Tuesday's stop. While talking with Contreras, the arresting officer noticed an open beer can in the vehicle's center console, a police report states, though Contreras said he hadn't been drinking.

Contreras allegedly told officers he had a "gat" in the front of his pants, slang for a gun, before he was searched. An officer removed the gun, a 9 mm semiautomatic handgun containing 10 rounds in the magazine.

According to the police report, Contreras does not have a concealed weapons permit.

After putting Contreras through several field sobriety tests, officers arrested him for possession of a concealed weapon, driving without privileges and inhalation of intoxicants. He was booked into Twin Falls County Jail on $2,500 bond.

Contreras has pleaded not guilty to all charges.

A May 15 pretrial conference hearing is scheduled for Contreras' charge of providing false information for the earlier arrest, when an officer said he figured out Contreras' real identity due to the tattoo on his arm. A May 22 pretrial date is set for the new charges.

WESTERN STATES PREPARE FOR DANGEROUS FIRE SEASON

Fire experts say this year's drought, low snowpack and record-high temperatures in much of the West portend a dangerous installment of what has become year-round wildfire threat.

BY REMA RAHMAN

Associated Press

DENVER • The West's 2012 wildfire season exploded in earnest last month with a wind-whipped blaze that killed three people in rugged alpine canyon country near Denver. It took a 700-strong federal firefighting team a week of labor, day and night, to tame the blaze — and other states throughout the West took notice.

Fire experts say this year's drought, low snowpack and record-high temperatures in much of the West portend a dangerous installment of what has become a year-round wildfire threat.

Wildfires burned more than 1,500 square miles in Arizona last year and have already torched about 12 square miles this year. Most were caused by people, and fire officials hope the public has learned some lessons from the Wallow Fire, the worst in state history. Campfire embers ignited a blaze that forced nearly 10,000 people to evacuate their homes.

New Mexico, too, experienced its two biggest-ever wildfires in 2011, consuming 245 and 160 square miles, respectively.

"We are approaching this as a season where we still have very high fire danger and there are millions of acres around New Mexico that could burn," said Dan Ware, a New Mexico State Forestry Division spokesman.

January and February were the driest on record in California, where the state Department of Forestry and Fire Protection has battled 679 fires in its jurisdiction — about a third of the state — since Jan. 1, compared to 210 over the same period last year. Fire threats are expected to be above normal in the mountains, the central coast and inland areas such as San Bernardino County, said department spokesman Daniel Berlant.

Nearly all of Arizona, California, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada and Utah have drought conditions that should persist at least through June, according to the National Drought Mitigation Center in Lincoln, Neb.

For much of the West, snowfall this winter was disappointing. Snowpack in Colorado and Utah is only half of average and diminishing fast. Salt Lake City reported its fourth-driest March ever; Denver had a trace of precipitation in what traditionally is the snowiest month of the year.

"Things are heating up and drying out," said Jason Curry of the Division of Forestry, Fire and State Lands in Utah, where fire officials monitor parched high grasses left over from bountiful 2011 precipitation. "We've got our eyes on the hills."

"Things are heating up and drying out."

Jason Curry of the Division of Forestry, Fire and State Lands in Utah

In many areas, grass, brush, timber and other wildfire fuels didn't get a winter soaking that allows them to retain water. California had a few storms in March, but "when you miss three or four months without any rain, it just becomes too late," Berlant said. The National Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho, expects to issue its comprehensive regional outlook May 1. Jeremy Sullens, a wildfire analyst with Predictive Services, an interagency group affiliated with the center, said many states are still transitioning to spring and that green-up — the growth of grasses and plants that provide initial fuel for forest and rangeland fires — is in the early stages.

"One of the major factors for the fire season is how precipitation patterns develop through the spring," Sullens said. "So even if we're seeing warmer temperatures in many states across the West, it's all really variable at this point."

The West's typical wildfire season has run from May to October, peaking in summer months. But climate change and the decades-old practice of putting out fires that nature intended to burn — eliminating fuels — has created a season that starts earlier and sometimes runs longer, said Tim Brown, director of the Western Regional Climate Center in Reno, Nev. Fire managers first noticed the trend in the 1990s.

Idaho is one state that expects a mild wildfire season — at least for now. Its mountain ranges are at normal snowpack levels, reservoir managers are dumping water to make room for snowmelt, and the first weeks of spring have brought more snow and rain, even to the desert-like climate of southern Idaho.

Elsewhere in the northern Rockies, fire officials expect a normal 2012 after last year's cool weather and spring floods all but eliminated fire season. Snowpack in Montana and northern Wyoming is at historically average levels, and barring a rapid warm-up, fire season is expected to start in mid-July, said Bryan Henry, a meteorologist with the Northern Rockies Coordination Center's predictive services.

The millions of acres of pine forest, from Canada to Colorado, scarred by the telltale red needles of trees killed by the mountain pine beetle pose another fire uncertainty. Residents of small towns worry about firestorms erupting in beetle kill on surrounding mountainsides. But it isn't known whether the red forest canopies pose a more serious threat.

Matt Jolly and Russ Parsons, U.S. Forest Service ecologists, suggested last year that dead needles can ignite up to three times faster than the green needles of a healthy tree. Beetle-killed trees can burn more intensely and carry embers farther, Jolly said.

Jolly and Parsons are using the data to create models to better predict how a fire will act in stands of beetle-killed trees, but those models aren't ready yet, Parsons said.

Jolly said he did observe a fire last year at the Idaho-Montana line that grew by 26 square miles in a single day when the fire danger was moderate at best. The blaze spread quickly in crown fires through stands of beetle-killed trees as though there had been a prolonged drought, he said.

That is a fearsome thought in a region where firefighters and residents are already preparing for what could be another rough year.

ISU, UI to Seek Smaller Tuition Increases

BY JESSIE L. BONNER

Associated Press

BOISE • Officials at Idaho State University in Pocatello are proposing their lowest tuition increase in more than a decade, while the University of Idaho in Moscow also plans to seek a smaller hike compared with previous years.

Idaho State University officials confirmed they will recommend a 4.73 percent tuition hike at a state Board of Education meeting next week.

Since 2002, the university's tuition hikes have ranged from a low of 4.75 percent in 2006, to a high of 9 percent in 2010. If approved, the proposal for the 2012-13 school year would represent the smallest tuition jump in 15 years, according to the university's vice president for finance and administration, James Fletcher.

The costs would increase $274 per year for full-time undergraduate students, under the proposal.

The University of Idaho will propose charging full-time, undergraduate students 6.1 percent more in tuition next year. The plan, if approved, would represent the university's smallest tuition jump since 2008, when the board approved a 5 percent increase.

Under that plan, full-time undergraduate students would be charged $356 more per year.

Idaho's public universities have leaned further on student tuition and fees in the economic downturn, citing losses in state support.

The lower tuition increases are being proposed after lawmakers voted in the 2012 session to boost state support for higher education. A budget for next year gives Idaho's public universities $18.1 million more in state general funds compared with the current fiscal year.

The increased higher education budget was "definitely a factor" in Idaho State's lowered tuition request, spokesman Mark Levine told The Associated Press on Thursday.

At the University of Idaho, the proposed tuition increase for next year will help fund a 2 percent salary increase for employees.

School president Duane Nellis told lawmakers that boosting compensation was his highest priority. The Moscow campus was starting to lose key faculty members as salaries remained stagnant over the past four years, he said.

The Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee approved a 2 percent, across-the-board raise for state workers meeting performance standards. That figure was built into state budgets during the 2012 session, which ended March 29.

Lawmakers gave universities about 60 percent of the money necessary to fund the salary increases, University of Idaho spokeswoman Ysabel Bilbao said.

"They only appropriated a portion of the (change in compensation), leaving the rest to the actual institutions to fund," she said.

Boise State University, which requested the lowest tuition increase at 5 percent last year, is seeking a 5.7 percent tuition increase for next year. The university started with a proposed 7.5 percent tuition increase, a figure that was later lowered, spokesman Frank Zang said.

Students would pay $318 more per year in tuition next year with a 5.7 percent increase.

"We just felt that, recognizing the impact on students, we needed to keep it as low as possible," Zang said.

Bliss Celebrates Launch of Lagoon System

BY BLAIR KOCH

For the Times-News

BLISS • Ten-year-old Derek Herrington doesn't know much about how his hometown's sewer lagoons operate, but he knows they represent a hope for a future.

The fifth-grader was one of about three dozen Bliss elementary students who were bussed to the ponds to watch a Thursday ribbon-cutting ceremony, commemorating the new facility being online.

"I know the city needs the lagoons," Herrington said, adding that someday he may want to raise a family of his own in Bliss. "I guess I need them, too."

The pond system stretches across 26 acres south of town, servicing its 100 households. The city started hooking residents into the system last spring, and moving them off drain fields and septic systems.

Before the system's completion, Bliss didn't have any municipal sewer infrastructure, said City Clerk Kacy Bradshaw.

"They couldn't afford it," Bradshaw said.

Carleen Herring, vice president of community and economic development for Region IV Development, worked for some 20 years to piece together funding, which came together with the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act in 2009.

"It feels good," Herring said. "We saw it through."

Much of the $7 million in funding was stimulus money and included $100,000 from the Idaho Department of Environmental Quality, a $2.1 million grant by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and a $1 million grant and $700,000 loan from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Rural Development.

The project got a $500,000 Community Development Block Grant through the Idaho Department of Commerce, which also provided a forgivable $2.58 million loan.

"We're paying $800,000 back, any more and the community wouldn't be able to afford it," Bradshaw said, noting that residents went from having no sewer bill to each paying $43 a month.

The lagoons won't guarantee companies will come knocking on Bliss' door. But Mayor Chris Pruitt said now that the city has a sewer system, it can compete for industry and much-needed jobs. With the railroad and interstate in town, Pruitt said the city could attract manufacturers or business tied to the agriculture sector.

"We've had companies look at Bliss in the past but without the system they couldn't move here," Pruitt said.

Cnossen Pleads Guilty in Jerome Wendy's Robbery

BY ALISON GENE SMITH

alismith@magicvalley.com

JEROME • A 19-year-old Jerome man has changed his plea to guilty in a January armed robbery of the Jerome Wendy's restaurant.

Taylor Cnossen pleaded guilty Monday in Jerome County 5th District Court to a charge of robbery. Cnossen was also charged with grand theft, burglary, second-degree kidnapping, aggravated assault and conspiracy to commit robbery, which could be dropped by prosecutors at the sentencing hearing.

Cnossen was accused by Jerome police of robbing the Wendy's with another man using a knife and gun while a manager was closing for the night on Jan. 26. Several other young men waited for them in a vehicle, according to court documents.

Nick Maria, 18, also of Jerome, testified at preliminary hearings for Cnossen and Branden Galbreath, accused of waiting in the vehicle.

Maria alleged he and Cnossen robbed the restaurant together, but Cnossen planned the crime. "He said he was going to rob Wendy's and I could have half the cash if I came with him," Maria said.

A few hours later, after gathering supplies like masks and duct tape, the two rang the back doorbell at the Wendy's on South Lincoln Avenue after waiting until the closing manager was alone, he said.

The two allegedly took about $900 from the store, emptying a safe and cash register drawers, after taping the managers hands behind his back.

A sentencing hearing for Cnossen is set for June 4.

Galbreath was accused of aiding and abetting in the crime and was charged with grand theft, burglary, robbery, battery, second-degree kidnapping, aggravated assault, and conspiracy to commit robbery.

Jerome Police Detective Dan Kennedy said he filed the same charges against Cesar Granados and Jorge Alatorre-Banuelos, two other men accused of waiting in the vehicle, but neither has appeared in court.

For cooperating with police and testifying, Maria has been offered a place in the state's retained-jurisdiction program and has not been arrested or charged in the case.

This is where you'll learn to help shape successful lives.

Lessons from London: Taxing the Working Man's Lunch

The United Kingdom is in the midst of the great pasty crisis of 2012. The pasty is a hot, meat-filled pie, which Prime Minister David Cameron proposes to tax. His recently announced budget both decreases the top income tax rate and increases the cost of a finger food generally eaten by laborers. Class warfare has ensued.

There is an economic logic to the pasty tax. British economic growth — now predicted at 0.8 percent for the year — is anemic. So Cameron seeks to encourage British competitiveness by cutting taxes on businesses and upper-income taxpayers. Given budgetary pressures, however, these tax reductions must be offset by closing tax loopholes elsewhere. One of those loopholes is the inexplicably favorable treatment given to bakeries over other hot food vendors — pasty sellers don't pay the value-added tax while fish-and-chips shops do. But one man's loophole is another man's lunch.

The first tension is between austerity and economic growth. Cameron's budget cuts have reassured global markets. But a sustainable budget is not the same thing as a hopeful, competitive economy. Cameron wants to do more than balance the books of a declining nation. So he is right to adopt supply-side, tax-cutting, pro-business economic measures. Yet this has also required unpopular tax trade-offs and led to attacks on his "millionaire's budget."

Republicans in the United States should expect a similar reward if they gain control of the White House.

A second tension results from a cultural shift. Cameron took leadership of the Conservative Party with the intention of rebranding it. He has been an outspoken advocate for gay marriage, a supporter of foreign assistance and a non-skeptic on climate change. Tim Montgomerie, editor of the ConservativeHome website, calls this Cameron's project of "metropolitan modernization." But not everyone is happy to be modernized. Many Tories remain suspicious of rapid cultural change, skeptical of global warming and primarily motivated by issues such as welfare dependence and crime. Some of the disaffected are moving outside the traditional party structure. Support for the right-wing UK Independence Party — which attacks the European Union, immigration, wind farms and gay marriage — has risen in polls.

Michael Gerson

Cameron is losing the unreconstructed right — a political trade-off he must have anticipated. But conservative activists would be more impressed by this repositioning if it had resulted in a majority instead of a coalition — or seemed to be leading toward a majority in the future.

A third tension relates to class. Cameron is generally seen as having a posh education (taking a first at Oxford) and posh friends. Cameronism is the movement of an urban, upscale, intellectual political class, which can appear dismissive of traditional, grassroots conservatives. But, according to Montgomerie, some conservatives have begun to suspect that their party is "not too right wing, but too rich."

British conservatives are celebrating a melancholy anniversary. It has been 20 years since they last won a majority in Parliament, under the leadership of John Major. Major was the son of a circus trapeze artist. He left school at 16, never graduated from university and spent time on unemployment. Major's accomplishment was to extend a conservative appeal to the striving class — offering the promise of social mobility. And he won more votes than any prime minister before or since — more than Margaret Thatcher, more than Tony Blair.

Cameron — the smart metropolitan who would tax pasties — hasn't duplicated that appeal. In America, Mitt Romney needs to — but it won't be much easier.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Caucus Volunteers Deserve Dignity

Many of the recent letters about politics and the caucus have been mean spirited, but the April 8 letter by John Ellis was particularly personal and insulting. I felt compelled to share some thoughts.

Where has our civility gone? Why can't we treat each other with respect despite our differences? Have we forgotten that those we disparage and malign and slander with our words are real people? They have feelings, they have families, they have struggles just like us; they are our neighbors. Whatever happened to the Golden Rule? How would you feel if someone said such nasty things about you — or about your mother or your wife or your daughter? Could we pause and ask that question before we fire off the next assault? Is there a way to restore civility to our discourse? When opinions differ, can we agree to disagree — without being so disagreeable? Can we stop calling each other names, stop assuming the worst of each other, stop casting stones?

With regard to this particular issue, just a very brief note: I can understand that some people are frustrated about Idaho's change to a caucus. It does no good, though, to spew wrath onto the local caucus committee. In truth, Chenele Dixon is neither incompetent nor heartless. She is quite the opposite. Those who helped with the caucus are good people who share this community with you, and they volunteered countless (and thankless) hours, and they all did their best. Usually if we can meet face to face, shake hands and have a civil discussion, we can at least understand each other. It's so much better than hiding behind the relative shelter of the newspaper or Internet, almost always without complete understanding, trading volleys of vitriol.

I would encourage those who feel inclined to continue to spread malice and spite about this issue in these pages to think of a more productive way to use their energies. If we can't love our neighbors, we can at least try to treat them with a little more kindness and dignity.

Brain Health Vital to Teach

A few with a fit brain, the brain-damaged majority and the brain dead surround us. Our abilities and happiness are compromised by brain damage. This silent epidemic can be slowed and stopped by improving our brain health. Daniel G. Amen says in "Magnificent Mind at Any Age," "Success in all we do starts with a healthy brain, which includes personal responsibility, clear goals, good attention, consistent effort, effective social skills, impulse control, motivation, integrity and creativity."

We need to teach children and teens the importance of brain care: how to protect it, feed it properly, get enough sleep and avoid toxic substances such as drugs and alcohol. Dehydration makes it harder to think clearly.

"Bad habits are like chains that are too light to feel until they are too heavy to carry," Warren Buffett. The care of our brain health begins with good nutrition and exercise. What we eat on a daily basis helps or hurts our brain. Things that exercise our body can also help our brain.

Embrace each new day in a constructive way by practicing positive thinking. Our brain and body respond to our every thought. Techniques such as meditation, prayer or exercise to counteract stress can have a positive effect on our mental health. We need to educate ourselves and our children to correct the negative thoughts that go through our heads as soon as possible.

We need a minimum of six to eight hours of sleep a night to rejuvenate the brain. Sleep deprivation is associated with depression and attention deficit disorder.

The best brain health is developed and maintained in stimulating relationships for vital and sustaining growth while we continue to explore and discover our reason for being and magnificent mind at any age, which is our unique contribution to community.

Veteran's Widow Treated Improperly

I wanted to express my concern about the treatment my mother has received from the Veteran's Affairs Office.

Mom took care of my beloved father for more than 50 years. He was a 100 percent disabled veteran from World War II. Sadly, my dad passed away in October 2011. To add insult to injury, the Veteran's Office has treated my mom callously. My parents' primary source of income was from the VA Office. After my father's passing, mom and I met with the local VA representative and completed all of the required documents in November 2011 so Mom could continue to receive some financial support during her "golden years."

Sadly, the VA Office has refused to provide my mom with any income. She has received two letters from the VA Office stating that they have not been able to make a decision and process her request for benefits. We have contacted the VA Office on Mom's behalf stating that my mom is unable to receive medical care, cannot pay for her life-saving prescriptions, is unable to make her mortgage payments, cannot pay my dad's remaining medical bills and is unable to pay the utilities for the home. The VA Office's response was, "When your mother is evicted from her home, please let us know."

We did contact the VA Office with copies of the foreclosure notice and the utility bill statements indicating that all utilities are being discontinued. The VA Office said that was too bad and that they were still unable to make a decision regarding my mom's benefits.

My dad's service for this wonderful country has been greatly discounted.

Jerome Needs a New Jail

Last semester, I wrote a persuasion speech for my communications class at CSI on why Jerome County needs a new jail.

As Commander Neiwert and Sgt. Lynd guided my son and I through the jail, we were deeply disturbed by the conditions of this facility. We took pictures of 50-year-old toilets that came from the old Idaho State Penitentiary, outdated ventilation systems, one-way windows installed the wrong way, no place for women prisoners and, most of all, the overcrowding. Each prisoner gets a jug of water next to their toilet, as there are no working sinks next to them in any of the cells. The walkways and holding areas are so small that only one or two officers can be with a prisoner at a time, so if the prisoner goes berserk the officer's life is literally at stake, as there is little room for much manpower. God forbid someone gets hurt inside a cell, as there is no room for paramedics to get through the winding, narrow passageways to the cells with a stretcher.

Jerome County pays $250,000 a year plus transportation and salaries to house prisoners in neighboring county jails, including all female offenders. The Immigration and Naturalization Service would pay Jerome County to rent beds year round, empty or full, as long as they were available when they needed them if we had a facility large enough.

Chatterton wants to share a facility with Gooding. I am a property owner and I would much rather my tax dollars stay right here in Jerome. Right now they are already going to Gooding, Jefferson, Blaine, Twin Falls, Emmett, the list goes on.

Please vote yes for a new Jerome jail on May 15.

Postmaster General Visits Potential Closure Sites

BY MATT GOURAS
Associated Press

HELENA, Mont. • The top U.S. Postal Service official on Thursday took his case for rural post office closures straight to the people it will hurt most, telling Montana residents that up to 3,600 small post offices around the country need to be shuttered as part of cost-cutting moves.

Rural residents who traveled to Helena to meet Postmaster General Patrick Donahoe answered right back, saying their post offices provide a much-needed lifeline and suggesting cuts be made elsewhere.

One woman from the southwestern Montana town of Basin told Donahoe she has no Internet access and relies on the mail. But like many other rural residents, she does not receive mail delivery.

DeDe Rhodes said if her post office closes, the next one is more than 10 miles away, making her regular trip to pick up mail much more costly.

"I need you to really consider what we are saying. People need their rural post offices," Rhodes told Donahoe. "Let's look at the urban areas. Maybe they don't need as many post offices because they get their mail delivered right to their door, or at least to the curb."

In Montana alone, about 80 small post offices are slated for closure, from Alzada to Zurich.

The agency needs to reorganize in part because of a 60 percent decline in the number of people paying bills through the mail and the cost of paying into its employee retirement benefits, Donahoe told the gathering in Helena, which is facing the loss of its mail processing center.

Last year, postal losses totaled $5.1 billion, and those losses are projected to grow.

"We are in a heck of a financial situation. That is why it is so important we move ahead with some of the changes we need to make," Donahoe said. "You have to do something. You can't sit back and wait."

Donahoe's Montana visit comes as the Senate prepares as early as next week to take up legislation that would slow, if not stop, the Postal Service's plans to close roughly half of the nation's 460 mail processing centers beginning this year. The move would slow first-class mail delivery and, for the first time in 40 years, eliminate the chance for stamped letters to arrive the next day.

At the request of Congress, the mail agency previously agreed not to close any facilities before May 15. Donahoe said the agency has to consider competing requests to preserve certain aspects of its services, like six-day delivery, as it weighs a whole slate of reductions that include the closures.

In a report released Thursday, federal auditors stressed that "dramatic changes" were needed to stem the Postal Service's mounting debt and that the agency's proposal to close mail processing centers, estimated to save roughly $3 billion a year, was an important part of accomplishing that goal.

The report by the Government Accountability Office also noted that the proposal to close mail centers faced tough obstacles due to local communities' opposition to the job losses and cutbacks in service. Labor agreements also make layoffs and forced employee transfers difficult, the report said.

The GAO auditors expressed support for elements of a House postal bill that would set up a new commission to make major decisions on postal cuts, including reducing mail delivery to five days a week. They said that if Congress opted to delay or prevent the closing of mail processing centers, lawmakers residents on the other side of the state whose post office is slated to close.

The tiny eastern Montana town of Ingomar, surrounded by arid farmland and range grass, was in decline even before the railroad through here was abandoned in 1980. But locals say losing its post office would be especially hard.

The postmaster general's trip to Montana was spurred by Senate Finance Committee Chairman Max Baucus, D-Mont., who was met by a group of concerned residents when he passed through the town last year. He promised to bring Donahoe back to answer their questions personally.

Baucus said he is going to use his influential budget-drafting position to push ideas like Rhodes' proposal to close urban post offices. Baucus said there are 50 post offices within a five-mile radius of the U.S. Capitol.

"It just seems to me if we close post offices, those are the folks who can go one mile or two miles extra," Baucus said.

The Postal Service projects its loss this year could be over $14 billion, and without changes could rise to over $21 billion by 2016.

"We cannot allow political interests to trump our responsibility to restore the Postal Service to solvency and protect the taxpayer from picking up the tab for surplus facilities," said Rep. Darrell Issa, chairman of the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee and a sponsor of the House bill.

ers would have to find other ways to significantly cut postal costs.

"Without congressional action to help USPS address its financial problems, USPS may have to seek a rate increase of unprecedented scale, or fall even further into debt," the auditors wrote.

In the Senate, a bill would postpone a proposed postal cut to five-day mail delivery by at least two years and require additional review before mail facilities could be closed. In response to concerns from rural states, bill sponsors have been discussing possible additions that could keep many low-revenue post offices and processing centers in rural communities open at a cost of roughly $1 billion a year. That expense would be paid for with a proposed 5-cent increase to a first-class stamp, to 50 cents.

Donahoe planned to meet later Thursday with worried

OWNER CLAIMS DIAMOND RING FOUND IN SEWER

BOISE (AP) • A Boise woman says she believes in miracles after sewer workers found the $6,000 diamond wedding ring she accidentally flushed down the toilet 18 months ago.

Mechelle Rieger claimed the seven-diamond ring Thursday morning at City Hall in Kuna, bringing with her a photo and the March 2001 appraisal from the jeweler that made it.

Rieger thanked city workers Travis Fleming and Carey Knight, who spotted the ring along with loose coins in a filtration basket while doing routine maintenance last week.

Rieger said she freaked out and "just started screaming" when the ring accidentally fell in the toilet. She says there was more screaming involved when she got a voice message from a friend relaying the news about a ring being found in the sewer in her old neighborhood.

IDAHO BRIEFS

Idaho Man Dies after Motorcycle Hits Deer

PRIEST RIVER • The Idaho State Police says a motorcycle struck a deer on U.S. Highway 2 in northern Idaho, causing a crash that killed the rider.

The ISP says 53-year-old Rodney C. Reed of Priest River was thrown from his Harley Davidson when he hit the animal shortly before 5 a.m. Thursday near Priest River. He died at the scene. The ISP says Reed was not wearing a helmet.

LCSC Computer Server Targeted by Hackers

LEWISTON • Lewis-Clark State College says a computer server at its workforce training center was recently targeted by computer hackers.

The college issued a statement Wednesday saying the company that manages the center's database was unable to determine if student information was compromised during the breach. The company reported last week that someone gained access to the server and used it as a relay to generate spam emails.

The server contains registration records.

LCSC says current and former students at the workforce training center who may have been affected are being notified about the incident. The college says the database information that may have been accessed did not include complete Social Security and credit card numbers.

The center keeps partial records of this information to help protect students from identity theft.

BLM Employee Accused of Stealing $47,000

BOISE • A federal grand jury has indicted a Boise woman and former Bureau of Land Management employee of stealing nearly $47,000 from the agency during a three-year period.

The indictment of 34-year-old Katrina Telleria was announced by federal prosecutors Wednesday.

Telleria is accused of 21 counts of felony theft of government property, 17 misdemeanor theft counts and three felony counts of making false statements.

Investigators say Telleria used an agency credit card to buy gift cards that were supposed to be handed out to fire supervisors overseeing an employee award program. She's accused of stealing nearly 200 of those gift cards and using them for her own personal gain between 2008 and 2011.

If convicted of felony theft of government property, she faces up to 10 years in prison and fines.

Volleyball player Carey becomes second Golden Eagle from last year's team to sign with a Division I program.

Carey

TWIN FALLS • Beth Carey joined the list of College of Southern Idaho athletes to confirm their next collegiate steps, as the middle hitter signed a National Letter of Intent on Thursday with the University of Portland.

Carey will join a program that struggled last season in one of the top conferences in the nation, the West Coast Conference. Portland went 8-21 overall, and just 2-14 in the WCC.

Still, Carey talked up her connection with the holdovers from last season and the chance to make strides in the program during her stay in the City of Roses.

"It's my kind of city, with the robust culture and outdoor opportunities nearby," said Carey. "I really got along with the coaches and with my host athlete. I'm looking forward to being there the next two years."

In her sophomore season, the 6-foot-3 Australian registered 291 kills with a .291 efficiency, adding in a team-high 48 service aces with her topspin jump serve. She was named a second-team All-American by both the NJCAA and the American Volleyball Coaches Association, after leading CSI to the Region 18 championship and a sixth-place finish at the NJCAA Division I Tournament.

Harris

TWIN FALLS • Two years ago on April 12, Fabyon Harris' already tumultuous life was rocked once again.

He woke up his younger brother, Fazon Robinson, for just another school day at Chicago's Hyde Park. They talked to each other between second and third period.

It was the last time they spoke.

Robinson, 19, was killed that night, shot in the back following an argument over a dice game.

Now April 12 won't sting as much, the College of Southern Idaho sophomore guard hopes.

Decked out in his new maroon and grey Texas A&M threads — with matching maroon shoes to boot — Harris inked his National Letter of Intent with the school in College Station from his booster parent's office near the Snake River Canyon rim.

There were no tears shed on Thursday, but the day was clearly an emotional one for Harris.

"I didn't want to cry in front of ya'll, so last night I broke down," Harris said. "I called my coach, I talked to my girl; I talked it out. My head is kind of spinning right now with lots of thoughts. I'm thinking about him a lot."

Bruin Softball Batters Spartans

BY STEPHEN MEYERS
smeyers@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • Twin Falls head softball coach Leslie Phillips called the Bruins' Great Basin Conference win over Minico a "complete team effort."

What it was, was a slugfest.

Courtney Ellis went 3-for-3 with a double and a triple, Brylee Bartlett batted 2-for-2, driving in two runs, and Morgan Harshbarger belted a three-run homer in the third inning that broke the spirits of the Spartans in the 11-1 win Thursday.

"Our hitting was definitely working today. We knew coming in that we would have to step up," said Harshbarger, who finished 2-for-3.

With Twin Falls (11-2, 6-1 Great Basin) leading Minico 4-1 in the third inning, Harshbarger belted the first pitch she saw from Hanna Munns over the left field wall to plate herself, Allie Johnson and Rainey Dyreson.

"I was just looking for a strike. When I hit it, I thought it might go over, and then it did, I was like, 'Alright,'" Harshbarger said of her second homer this season.

Minico (6-6, 4-3) put a couple runners on in the fourth inning, but Kaylee Kostka was called for runner interference after running into Twin Falls second baseman Brynli Bartlett, who was trying to field a sharply hit ball by Araciel Santana.

"That was a rally killer right there," said Minico head coach David Joyce, whose Spartans struggled against Dyreson's pitching, managing just four hits off the sophomore, while striking out 11 times. "We had a couple good innings, but we had a few innings where we were flat and they took advantage of that."

Minico's Kim Barnes returns the ball in her match against Burley's Hailey Masoner Thursday at Minico High School.

Burley Boys, Minico Girls Rule Rivalry

BY RYAN HOWE
rhowe@magicvalley.com

RUPERT • Minico's Kim Barnes and Burley's Angel Anaguano both played doubles last year, and both fell one match shy of qualifying for the state tournament.

A switch to singles this season seems to be doing the trick.

Barnes continued her solid senior season at No. 1 singles, beating Burley's Hailey Masoner Thursday 6-1, 6-1.

"I prefer singles. I like being out there by myself," Barnes said. "I feel like this season is pretty good, except for I just need to work on pounding on the short balls. If I just pound on the short balls I can usually get the point."

The Spartan girls defeated Burley 4-2 on the strength of a singles sweep, as Liz Plitkova and Crystal Tovar were also victorious.

Burley won both girls doubles matches with combos of Delta Jones and Kaci Carpenter, as well as Lexi Crane and Lauren Geary.

The Bobcat boys earned a 4-2 team decision, led by Anaguano's 6-1, 6-2 win over Minico's Toni Lopez.

Record-smashing Day

Standards fall in droves at Buhl Rotary Track Meet, led by Peterson's personal best leap in high jump

BY DAVID BASHORE
dbashore@magicvalley.com

BUHL • Don't let Katelyn Peterson's volleyball scholarship fool you: The Camas County senior is just as dominant on the track as on the court.

Peterson showed her NCAA Division I athleticism when she smashed the Rotary Invitational Track Meet record in the high jump, posting a career-best 5 feet, 9 inches to win the event going away.

"I'd been stuck on 5-4 for a long time (this season), so it was nice to get past that," said Peterson, the reigning IA long jump, triple jump and high jump champion who will play volleyball at the University of Idaho in the fall. "My goal since I was a freshman was to get 5-10 and I almost did it today, so I'll just keep working toward those personal goals."

Peterson won four events, bettering a handful of school records and setting a pair of meet records in the high jump and the long jump (17 feet, 9 inches). She also won the 300-meter hurdles and the triple jump. The high jump mark was the fourth-highest high school jump in the nation this season, according to track and field website athletic.net, and bested her state-winning leap from last year of 5-7. As dominant as Peterson was in her events, Jerome was equally so in the team competition. The Tigers had a couple of meet-record efforts in winning the combined team points title for the fifth straight year, scoring 227.5 to outpace Minico at 213.5.

Junior long jumper Kolton Parsons attributed a couple of tweaks in his form to a record jump of 22 feet, 6 inches, or 51/2 inches better than the previous meet standard and just 1 1/2 off a school record that's stood for 35 years. It had to be a record to win, as Kimberly's Alan Cazeau also jumped a record-breaking distance of 22-1.

"I added a step to my run-up, and I was watching some Youtube videos on the bus over here and noticed some

Rodeo Kicking up Dust in Race for Top Honors

BY DIANE PHILBIN
dphilbin@magicvalley.com

The races for all-around cowboy and cowgirl in District VI high school rodeo remain close.

After two weeks of action and four rodeos, freshman Derek Wadsworth from Kimberly has now taken over the top spot in the boys all-around standings with 69 points, and is also the leading boys rookie.

Tanner Nielson (Raft River) trails Wadsworth by only four points with a total of 65.

Oakley senior Jacee Bedke with 77 points has maintained the same position in the girls all-around standings from week one, while Macy Urrutia from Twin Falls still remains a close second with 74 points.

Minico freshman Jaylee Stimpson from Jayco has accumulated 68 points and is the leading girls rookie.

District VI travels to Filer this weekend for performances today at 7 p.m., with slack to follow, and at 1 p.m. on Saturday with slack to follow.

"I played a different guy, so it was hard for me to catch up to the way he played," Anguiano said. "He had a really good first serve that caught me off balance and his second serve had a little slice on it."

Anguiano's only Great Basin Conference losses have been to Twin Falls' Dallas Hunt and Wood River's Karl Wilander, who Anguiano admits are "quite amazing." But the Burley junior is settling in to his new No. 1 singles spot after playing doubles for most of last season.

"I never thought about playing singles," Anguiano said. "It takes consistency, accuracy and power."

The cross-river rivals split the other two boys singles matches, with Minico's Willem Bradford and Burley's Brennor Downs each coming out on top.

Burley's Kord Carpenter and Brandon Bean teamed up for a victory in boys doubles, as did the duo of Brandon Hosteen and Jaxon Greener.

Minico swept mixed doubles, thanks to Bailey Staley and Jakob Dvorak, as well as Stacie Sanderson and Cameron Jackson.

Harris

Harris' story is one of those against-all-odds tear-jerkers made for the movies.

His mother was killed when he was 6. He lost his brother, close friend and cousin all to shootings within a month span.

After graduating from high school, he bounced around from the University of Houston and Howard (Texas) College before landing in Twin Falls and CSI in the fall of 2010 — about as far away from the dangerous streets of Chicago that you can get.

"It's unbelievable the transformation (we've seen)," said CSI head coach Steve Gosar. "I've really seen him mature, not just as a basketball player and his understanding of the game, but as a person. I'm excited about that more than anything. I'm excited for him, but definitely sad that he's leaving us. The two years went way too quick, but we've had a great

PREP ROUNDUP

Filer Softball Sweeps Marsh Valley

TIMES-NEWS

The Filer girls softball team eked out a victory in the opening game of a double-header, then erased a four-run first-inning deficit in its first at-bat with an eight-run frame in sweeping Marsh Valley, 13-12 and 13-6.

Caitlyn Roe homered in each game for Filer, and Anna Williams went 5-for-5 with a home run and double to help her mound cause in the second game.

Filer improved to 10-3.

Carey

Carey was the second CSI volleyball player to sign with a four-year school. Fellow middle Taylor Wilkinson left for the University of Idaho after the fall semester.

She'll compete for a Pilot program that has some depth, but graduates a four-year starter in the middle.

"Portland is a special school that requires special student-athletes and I think Beth is a perfect fit for us athletically and academically," said Portland coach Joe Houck. "She's got a chance to come in and contribute right away for us. It'll be a good challenge but she's well-equipped for it."

Moving on from CSI

Many athletes will wait a little longer to determine their next moves, but the following CSI players have signed to continue their careers next year.

things and other jumpers, so I made some adjustments in my own jump," said Parsons, who threw down his monster jump on the first attempt of the day. "That long run made me a little tired in the last couple attempts, but I was only jumping 20 (feet) last week so it's a big improvement!"

Pole vaulter Kirsten Burbank edged the old meet mark by an inch, clearing a season-best 10 feet, 3 inches to claim the girls competition. She almost didn't get credit for the jump, as the wind blew the bar off after she'd cleared it. But she recovered and nearly went over at 10-6 before settling for the meet record.

Jerome's girls scored 146 points, while Kimberly had the top boys team score with 1075.

L.A. Shelter Hopes Cats' iPad Art Draws in Donations

A Los Angeles animal shelter that lets its cats chase toys on top of iPads hope the digital art created by the movement will encourage donations of money and tablet computers. An Animal Planet crew visited the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Los Angeles for the April 14 episode of "Must Love Cats," where they documented how four cats used an app called Paint for Cats. The results were so compelling that the shelter turned them into notecards. The cards with drawings named "Study in Feather Toys" and "Movement in Catnip" are being sold online for $5.99 a pack. Shelter president Madeline Bernstein says the cats had so much fun, they put used iPads on their wish list so other cats can paint, too. — The Associated Press

Prosecutors: Zimmerman Ignored Warning to Back Off

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) • After weeks in hiding, George Zimmerman made his first courtroom appearance Thursday in the shooting of 17-year-old Trayvon Martin, and prosecutors outlined their murder case in court papers, saying the neighborhood watch volunteer followed and confronted the black teenager after police dispatchers told him to back off.

The brief outline, contained in an affidavit filed in support of the second-degree murder charges, appeared to contradict Zimmerman's claim that Martin attacked him after he had turned away and was returning to his vehicle.

In the affidavit, prosecutors also said that Martin's mother identified cries for help heard in the background of a 911 call as her son's. There had been some question as to whether Martin or Zimmerman was the one calling out.

The account of the shooting was released as Zimmerman, 28, appeared at a four-minute hearing in a jailhouse courtroom, setting in motion what could be a long, drawn-out process, or an abrupt and disappointingly short one for many of the Martin family's supporters because of the strong legal protections contained in Florida's "stand your ground" law on self-defense.

During the hearing, Zimmerman stood up straight, held his head high and wore a gray jail jumpsuit. He spoke only to answer "Yes, sir," twice after he was asked basic questions from the judge, who was not in the courtroom but on closed-circuit TV. The defendant's hair was shaved down to stubble and he had a thin goatee. His hands were shackled in front of him.

Hasn't Worked? Obama Stands Up for Romney's Wife

WASHINGTON (AP) • The Mommy Wars in the middle of the 2012 presidential race?

Ann Romney fought back Thursday after a Democratic consultant suggested she isn't qualified to discuss the economy because she "hasn't worked a day in her life." The White House, in instant damage-control mode, declared that no one there was saying such a thing. Michelle Obama tweeted her personal support of all mothers.

With women's votes expected to be crucial in November, the remark by consultant Hillary Rosen ignited an immediate uproar: attacks by Mitt Romney's Republican campaign along with the disavowals from President Barack Obama's allies.

Ann Romney, the Republican presidential contender's wife, made her Twitter debut on Thursday in response to the contention she'd never worked: "I made a choice to stay home and raise five boys. Believe me, it was hard work."

The consultant apologized later, on TV.

Romney Courts Gun-rights Group in Presidential Bid

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) • Running for the Senate in Massachusetts, Mitt Romney once assured voters in a state with strong gun-control laws: "I don't line up with the NRA." Now the likely Republican presidential nominee, Romney will headline the National Rifle Association's annual convention Friday and assure tens of thousands of gun-rights activists that he's squarely on their side.

Coming just days after rival Rick Santorum dropped out of the nomination race, the NRA convention in St. Louis provides Romney an opportunity to shore up his credentials with an important conservative constituency that badly wants to oust Democratic President Barack Obama.

Romney leads a list of prominent Republicans — including Santorum, Newt Gingrich, House Majority Leader Eric Cantor and Wisconsin Gov. Scott Walker — who are scheduled to address more than 65,000 convention registrants during a session billed as a "celebration of American values." Although Obama has virtually ignored gun issues during his term, the NRA considers him a foe and plans to mount an aggressive effort against him.

North Korea Fires Long-range Rocket

BY JEAN H. LEE
Associated Press

PYONGYANG, North Korea • North Korea's much-anticipated rocket launch ended quickly in failure early Friday, splintering into pieces over the Yellow Sea soon after takeoff, according to South Korean and U.S. officials.

There was silence on the launch from officials in Pyongyang, which proceeded despite protests from the U.S., South Korea and other countries that called the launch a cover for a test of missile technology. North Korea said the rocket was part of a peaceful effort to send a satellite into space to the commemorate the anniversary of its founder's birth.

In response to the launch, Washington announced it was suspending plans to contribute food aid to the North in exchange for a rollback of its nuclear programs.

The rocket exploded in midair one or two minutes after launching from the west coast launch pad in the hamlet of Tongchang-ri, said Maj. Gen. Shin Won-sik, a South Korean Defense Ministry official.

The U.S. North American Aerospace Defense Command said officials detected and tracked the launch of the rocket — which it called a missile — over the Yellow Sea; the first stage fell into the sea 100 miles west of Seoul, while stages two and three failed.

"At no time were the missile or the resultant debris a threat," NORAD said in a statement.

Court: Managers Don't Have to Ensure Lunch Breaks

BY JASON DEAREN
Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO • In a case that affects thousands of businesses and millions of workers, the California Supreme Court ruled Thursday that employers are under no obligation to ensure that workers take legally mandated lunch breaks.

The unanimous opinion came after workers' attorneys argued that abuses are routine and widespread when companies aren't required to issue direct orders to take the breaks. They claimed employers take advantage of workers who don't want to leave colleagues during busy times.

The case was initially filed nine years ago against Dallas-based Brinker International, the parent company of Chili's and other eateries, by restaurant workers complaining of missed breaks in violation of California labor law.

But the high court sided with businesses when it ruled that requiring companies to order breaks is unmanageable and those decisions should be left to workers. The decision provided clarity that businesses had sought regarding the law.

The opinion written by Associate Justice Kathryn Werdegard explained that state law does not compel an employer to ensure employees cease all work during meal periods. Instead, an employee is at liberty to use the time as they choose, she wrote.

"The employer is not obligated to police meal breaks and ensure no work thereafter is performed," Werdegard wrote.

Tracee Lorens, lead attorney for the plaintiffs, said she believed the court's decision still allowed some wiggle room for the case to get class-action certification.

Coast Guard: Two Dead in Shootings at Alaska Station

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) • U.S. Coast Guard officials say two Coast Guard members are dead in shootings at a communications station on an Alaska island.

Officials said Thursday it's unclear if the deaths at the Coast Guard Station on Kodiak Island are a double homicide or murder-suicide.

Capt. Jesse Moore says it is "possible that the suspect remains at large."

The Guard says the identities of the victims would be released after family members were notified.

Officials say FBI agents from Anchorage are headed to the large island about 250 miles away.

Skittles Join Food Brands at Center of Tragedy

NEW YORK (AP) • It could've been Starbursts, Twizzlers or Sour Patch Kids. But when Trayvon Martin was fatally shot, he happened to be carrying a bag of Skittles.

The 17-year-old's death at the hands of a neighborhood watchman in February ignited nationwide protests and heated debate about racial profiling and "Stand Your Ground" laws.

For Mars Inc., the privately held company that owns Skittles, the tragedy presents another, more surreal dimension. Protestors carried bags of the chewy fruit-flavored candy while marching for the arrest of shooter George Zimmerman. Mourners pinned the bright red wrappers to their hooded sweatshirts at memorial services.

On eBay, vendors sell $3.00 T-shirts with the words "Justice for Trayvon Martin" printed over a cartoon-like rainbow of pouring Skittles.

Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company — the unit of Mars that owns Skittles — issued only a brief statement offering condolences to Martin's friends and family, adding that it would be inappropriate to comment further "as we would never wish for our actions to be perceived as an attempt of commercial gain."

Wholesale Prices Were Unchanged Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP) • U.S. wholesale prices were flat in March after a drop in energy prices offset rising costs for food and pickup trucks. The figures suggest that modest growth isn't spurring inflation.

The Labor Department says the producer price index, which measures prices changes before they reach the consumer, was unchanged. Excluding volatile food and gas costs, the so-called "core" index rose 0.3 percent.

Wholesale gas prices fell 2 percent, even though gas prices rose for most Americans. That was largely because of seasonal factors.

Costlier pickup trucks caused more than one-third of the rise in core prices. Food prices rose 0.2 percent.

Rate on 30-year mortgage falls near its all-time low • The average rate on the 30-year fixed mortgage dropped near its all-time low this week, making home-buying and refinancing a bargain for those who can qualify. Mortgage buyer Freddie Mac said Thursday that the rate on the 30-year loan fell to 3.88 percent from 3.98 percent. That's just above the rate of 3.87 percent reached in February, the lowest since long-term mortgages began in the 1950s. The 15-year mortgage, a popular option for refinancing, plunged to a fresh low of 3.11 percent from 3.21 percent last week. The previous record of 3.13 percent was hit last month.

More Americans Apply for Unemployment Aid

More people sought unemployment benefits last week, pushing the number of applicants to the highest level in two months.

BY CHRISTOPHER S. RUGABER

Associated Press

WASHINGTON • More people sought unemployment benefits last week, suggesting that the job market's recovery remains slow.

The increase also likely reflects some seasonal volatility because applications for unemployment aid frequently rise around the Easter holiday. Many school employees are temporarily laid off during spring breaks and can file for benefits.

Weekly unemployment benefit applications jumped 13,000 to a seasonally adjusted 380,000, the Labor Department said Thursday. The previous week's figures were also revised higher. The four-week average, a less volatile gauge, rose to 368,500.

After steadily declining since last fall, applications have leveled off in recent weeks. The four-week average is essentially unchanged over the past two months.

The increase "doesn't ring any alarm bells," said Ryan Sweet, an economist at Moody's Analytics.

"Applications can be choppy." But the trend bears watching, he said.

"If claims continue to climb, it would be strong evidence that the job market is weakening," Sweet added.

When applications fall below 375,000, it generally suggests that hiring will be strong enough to lower the unemployment rate.

The figures come after a disappointing employment report last week that showed that employers added only 120,000 jobs in March, half the average pace in the preceding three months. But many economists downplayed the weak March figures, noting that a warmer winter may have led to some earlier hiring in January and February.

The economy has added an average of 212,000 jobs per month in the January-March quarter, well ahead of last year's pace. And the unemployment rate has fallen from 9.1 percent in August to 8.2 percent in March. One factor is that some people have given up looking for work. People who are out of work but not looking for jobs aren't counted as unemployed.

Moody's Analytics expects job gains to average around 175,000 a month for the rest of the year and for the unemployment rate to fall just below 8 percent by year's end.

T.F. Post Office Sets Tax Deadline

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • Tax procrastinators in Twin Falls have until 7 p.m. Tuesday to get help with mailing their tax returns in.

The U.S. Postal Service announced Thursday that its Pioneer Station office at 1376 Fillmore St. will hold its final tax day collection time at 7 p.m. While the office's service counter will close at that time, customers who use the office's self-service center by midnight that day will receive an April 17 postmark.

Federal tax returns are due Tuesday this year, since April 15 falls on a Sunday and Monday is Emancipation Day, a legal holiday in Washington, D.C.

State tax returns are due Monday. Postal customers are encouraged to mail their returns early in the day. Those who want certification that their tax forms are received by the IRS should use Certified Mail Service.

Consumer Agency Softens Fee Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) • The Obama administration's consumer financial watchdog agency is backing off a plan to limit big upfront fees on credit cards, a move that could hit borrowers with poor credit histories especially hard.

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau acknowledged Thursday that its proposal would increase costs for some cardholders and allow banks to charge more in fees.

The CFPB was set up after the financial crisis to protect consumers from loans and cards with hidden fees or other traps. Thursday's decision shows the difficult line the young agency must walk, allowing banks to make enough money so that they can continue to offer loans and cards while protecting consumers from fees that it considers abusive or deceptive.

Bill Bartmann, a financial lawyer and debt-collection executive who generally supports the agency, called it "strategic thinking" on the part of Richard Cordray, the agency's director.

"He's picking battles, and it's unrealistic to think you can win them all," said Bartmann, who publishes a widely read newsletter on financial regulation.

Fee limits are of particular concern to borrowers with weak credit, including so-called subprime borrowers, and the companies that seek to lend to them.

MOUNTAIN HOME

Philip W. Gridley passed away Tuesday, April 10, 2012.

He was born March 11, 1926, the son of Albert L. and Caroline Durfee Gridley. The family moved from Hagerman to Mountain Home in 1935. They were the owner-operators of the City Meat Market on Main Street in Mountain Home. Phil attended schools in Hagerman and Mountain Home. He joined the U.S. Marine Corps in mid-1942 and served in the Fleet Marine Corps in the Asiatic Pacific Theater during World War II. Phil met Pat McMath while stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif. They were married Jan. 5, 1947, and moved to Mountain Home. They were blessed with three sons, Phil (Jo), Tim (Linda) and Nick. He was the owner-operator of Gridley's Market, which closed in 1992. Pat passed away July 28, 2003.

Phil had been active in the community, military and political affairs. He twice served as the American Legion Post 26 commander, state vice commander, rehabilitation chairman, 3rd District commander, Life Member DAV, VFW, Elmore County Service Office for 32 years, Civil Defense director for 14 years, Economic Development chairman, Elmore County Democratic chairman and mayor of the city of Mountain Home. He was involved in church work, having served twice as Gideon president, and chairman of the board of the Christian-Baptist Church. He was also active in Scouting, boxing and American Legion hardball.

He was preceded in death by his parents, brothers and sister. He is survived by his wife, Teresa Slover Gridley; his three sons; 10 grandchildren; and 19 great-grandchildren.

Per his wishes, a graveside inurnment service will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 14, in the Hagerman Cemetery. Cremation was under the direction of Rost Funeral Home, McMurtrey Chapel in Mountain Home.

Hazel Mae Couch

April 27, 1934-April 10, 2012

FILER • Beloved Mother and Nana, Hazel Couch, 77, of Filer, passed away Tuesday, April 10, 2012, at St. Luke's Magic Valley Medical Center in Twin Falls.

Hazel was born April 27, 1934, in Pea Ridge, Ark., to James and Emma Ash. She was the ninth child of 10 children. There were seven brothers and two sisters. The Ashes moved to Idaho and raised their family in the Buhl and Twin Falls area. Hazel was married and had an only daughter born, Jennie Marie Haney. Later in life, she adopted a son, Gary Newberry.

She married the love of her life, Roy H. Couch of Buhl, Idaho, in October of 1986. This marriage added three more adult children, Robin Ward of Anchorage, Alaska, Randy Couch of Nampa, Idaho, and Blake Couch of McCoy, Wash. She is also survived by two brothers, Bill Ash of Filer, Idaho, and Jimmy Ash of Meridian, Idaho.

She was devoted to family, especially the many grandchildren and great-grandchildren that blessed her life. Everyone has some type of handiwork of crochet, knitting or sewing that we will all hold dear. She spent many years in the bowling centers participating in the sport as well as coaching junior bowlers. She loved bowling so much she worked in many capacities through the years at different bowling centers.

Friends may call from noon until 2 p.m. Friday, April 13, at Parke's Magic Valley Funeral Home, 2551 Kimberly Road in Twin Falls. A celebration of life service will follow the visitation at 2 p.m. Friday at Parke's Magic Valley Funeral Home. Interment will be at the Filer Cemetery.

Margaret 'Peggy' Faunce

Dec. 6, 1933-April 10, 2012

BUHL • Margaret "Peggy" Faunce, 78, of Buhl, died Tuesday, April 10, 2012, at home.

Peggy was born Dec. 6, 1933, at Agra, Kan., to Vern and Frieda Braams Reed. As a child, she lived in Baltimore, Md., and was educated in Gibbon, Neb., graduating in 1952. She served in the United States Air Force during the Korean War from 1952 until 1954, when she was honorably discharged. While in the military, she received a National Defense Service Medal. She lived in Okinawa, Japan, for a time. She had three sons and a daughter, Alan, Scott, Russell and Rennie. Peggy worked in a sheet metal factory in Salt Lake City, Utah, but spent most of her career working as a traffic manager for the Norbest Distribution Center. Peggy was dedicated to her pets. Her special cat, Katy, will miss her deeply. She was an avid gardener and knew all the botanical names of the plants she grew. She loved trivia.

Peggy is survived by her three sons, Alan Haimowitz of Topeka, Kan., Scott Haimowitz of Midland, Texas, and Russell Haimowitz of Fort Worth, Texas; two grandchildren; and three sisters, Susan Bailey of Gibbon, Neb., Maxine Glassey of Gulnare, Colo., and Nancy Nordhues of Miller, Neb. She was preceded in death by her parents; her husbands; and her daughter, Rennie.

A graveside service with military honors will be held at 2 p.m. Friday, April 13, at the West End Cemetery in Buhl, Idaho. Pastor Dale Metzger will officiate. Services are under the direction of Serenity Funeral Chapel in Twin Falls.

Bonnie Hopper

Feb. 6, 1925-April 10, 2012

JEROME • Bonnie Hopper, loving wife, mom, grandmother and great-grandmother, passed away suddenly Tuesday, April 10, 2012, in Jerome, Idaho. She was 87.

Bonnie was born Feb. 6, 1925, in Mulberry, Kan., to Roy and Linda Studyvin and celebrated her third birthday in Jerome. She grew up on a farm in Sugarloaf and walked to the country school. She lived with her sister, Ruth, while attending Jerome High School and working at Mosely's grocery store. She caught the eye of returned soldier, Dale Hopper, and they were married July 3, 1947. She was a great homemaker and farm wife, enjoying baking for everyone. Since the 5:05 until today, Bonnie would be in the gym at a ball game. She was a cancer survivor from the 6:05. She loved having her grandchildren next door, and the highlight of her life was her great-grandchildren. Bonnie was a loving aunt and precious friend. She enjoyed volunteering at the Jerome museum buildings. She was the Historical Society queen in the 2010 parade. Bonnie loved her Lord and faithfully attended her church.

J.K. ROWLING'S NEXT BOOK: 'THE CASUAL VACANCY'

BY JILL LAWLESS

Associated Press

LONDON • It may lack wizards and witches, but J.K. Rowling and her publisher are hoping her first novel for adults, "The Casual Vacancy," will have the magic touch.

The book's title was announced Thursday by Little, Brown & Co. along with a brief plot synopsis and publication date.

The publisher said the "blackly comic" tale of rivalry and duplicity in a small English town would be available worldwide on Sept. 27.

The book will be Rowling's first post-Potter effort. Her seven-volume saga about the adventures of a boy wizard became one of the most successful fictional series in history and led to a series of extremely popular films.

The new book, aimed at a grown-up audience, will be set in a seemingly idyllic English town called Pagford which is described as far more menacing than its pretty facade would indicate.

It opens with the sudden death of a popular man whose unexpected demise shocks the town. The battle for his seat on the local council sets off "the biggest war the town has yet seen," with rich people fighting poor, parents battling their teenagers, and wives in conflict with their husbands.

The publisher said the 480-page novel will be sold as an e-book and audio download as well as in traditional hardback form.

The seven Harry Potter novels have sold 450 million copies and have been translated into 74 languages.

Rowling's final Potter offering, "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows," was published in 2007. She published a short Potter spin-off collection of stories, "The Tales Of Beedle The Bard," in 2008.

Rowling said earlier this year she wanted to reach an adult audience, but kept the book's name and publication date secret until Thursday.

Saints Name Vitt Interim Coach

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Joe Vitt, here arriving in New York last month for a disciplinary hearing, will be the team's interim coach for the 2012 season, despite having to serve a six-game suspension for his role in the Saints' bounty system.

"It is important that we keep Sean Payton's philosophy front and center during this season," Loomis said Thursday. "Sean has been the driving force behind the tremendous success our team has enjoyed during the past six years, his leadership will be missed. But we need to set a course of action that gives us the best chance to win this season without our head coach. ... We considered a number of great options to handle Payton's duties both internally and externally, but believe this will provide the most seamless transition for our players and our coaching staff, allowing our offensive and defensive staffs to remain intact with the fewest changes."
"This is the same structure we used last season during Sean's knee injury!"
Vitt, who carries the titles of assistant head coach and linebackers coach, briefly stepped in as interim head coach last season when Payton broke his leg. Vitt also was interim coach with St. Louis in 2005 before joining Payton in his first season with New Orleans in 2006.
Vitt will be able to oversee the offseason training program and training camp, before stepping aside for the first third of the regular season.
The NFL played no role in the decision-making process.
"It's the Saints' decision," NFL spokesman Greg Aiello said, adding the team did not have to get approval from the league to make Vitt the interim coach.
The Saints did not say what their plans will be during Vitt's six-game suspension.

The teams go at it again at 3 p.m. today in Rupert for a doubleheader.
"It felt good for me to hit today because I've been off, so it was a good time to come on," Ellis said. "We were a little scared of Minico because we know they're better (than they have been), but we came out and hit like we knew we could and we have to do the same thing tomorrow!"

Three Best Bets

Heave and Grunt

In the past two years, Magic Valley has gotten familiar with the spectacle of men and women in kilts hurling stones and heaving cabers. It's time to join them. At the Scottish Highland Games in Twin Falls on Saturday, you can enjoy bagpipe music, Irish dancing and a sword pull, even if you're not up to joining in the throwing and grunting. Either way, kilts are optional.

Only the Best

Two days apart, an awards gala and the scholarship competition that it helps to fund will showcase some of Magic Valley's best performers. Community theater's stars will walk the red carpet at the Curtain Call Awards Gala on Tuesday in Twin Falls. And on Thursday, a dozen singers, actors, instrumentalists and dancers will face off at the Danny Marona Performing Arts Scholarship Finals. It's an intense competition, with $9,000 awarded on the spot.

Sustainable Fun

An eight-day Green Week kicks off Saturday at the College of Southern Idaho, and there's some truly engaging variety in the lineup. The week starts with an auction of recycled-metal art and ends with a volunteer effort to clean up Rock Creek Park. In between, you can choose among a planetarium show on light pollution, a documentary on fracking, a trash fashion show, a lesson on bicycle safety and a solar-oven competition.

For details, see the calendar inside.

You Be the Judge

The art event of the season is coming up, with more than 150 artists hoping for big money and competing for your votes.

BY NATALIE DICOU
ndicou@magicvalley.com

Hoag

TWIN FALLS • The event that aims to put southern Idaho's art scene on the map is nearly here.

Art and Soul of Magic Valley, a nine-day, multi-venue art contest with big cash prizes, begins April 27 and runs through May 5.

Art Guild of Magic Valley director Art Hoag has been hard at work finalizing details for the contest, which is in its second year.

"It's constant," he said of the workload leading up to opening day. "There's really no let-up right now."

On board are more than 150 artists and about 45 venues and 70 sponsors and supporters.

Last year, 94 artists contributed projects, vying for the $5,000 top prize. But this year the first-place winner gets $10,000, a fact that likely enticed more artists into the contest, from as far away as Connecticut.

"Over the last year, we got the word further out," Hoag said.

Soon, it'll be time for Hoag to turn over his power to the people, who will ultimately decide which artists walk away with prize money.

Anyone is invited to stroll down the streets of Twin Falls, step into businesses that have signed up to be venues, and then judge the works for themselves.

The contest features a wide variety of projects — everything from oil paintings and watercolors to sculptures and paper arts. Check out Bob Donnelley's sprawling photo of Shoshone Falls, Sandy Mellblom's wool and silk dolls and Dave Fairbanks' metal sculpture of a rose bush.

Businesses get to decide how they want to display the art, and many have gotten creative.

ANNETiques owner Anne Pullan chose Western-themed pieces for her store. She plans to incorporate antique saddles and other cowboy stuff into the display to complement the art.

Pullan's store was a venue last year, too. She was pleased at the amount of foot traffic the contest brought in.

"We got real exposure from it," she said. "People found us. Somebody said they'd driven by our shop but never seen us, even though we've been here for 20 years."

A map of venues will appear in the April 26 issue of the Times-News.

Contest headquarters will be at 1351 Filer Ave. E. Go there for information and to vote, and bring a valid ID. Headquarters will open each day of the contest at 11 a.m. On Fridays and Saturday, it will remain open until 8 p.m.; Monday through Thursday, it will close at 6 p.m. Maps will also be available at each venue.

The Show

TWIN FALLS • Catina Crum enjoys talking about her art. She was all smiles Wednesday afternoon as she showed the Times-News five of her pieces that will be displayed for about three weeks on the College of Southern Idaho campus.

The CSI Student Art Show, now in its 52nd year, opens to the public Tuesday in the Jean B. King Gallery in the Herrett Center for Arts and Science. It's an exclusive show, and there's triumph and heartbreak behind the scenes.

Fifty-four students entered their drawings, paintings, print-making, photography, two-dimensional designs, ceramics and sculpture, said Milica Popovic, manager of the art gallery. Forty-three students, and 93 pieces of art, made the final cut.

The College of Southern Idaho Student Art Show will open to the public April 17 with a celebration honoring the artists, 7-9 p.m. at the Jean B. King Gallery at the Herrett Center for Arts and Science. Admission to the gallery, which will display the show through May 12, is free. Information: 732-6655.

Canyon Ridge's Synergy Shakes Up Jive

BY BLAIR KOCH
For the Times-News

TWIN FALLS • Music swells and dancing commences onstage with a synchronized rising of arms, flashes of color and forced smiles.

Then Twin Falls High School's Jive director Joe Casperson yells and the music is killed.

"Get your heads here and let's do this right!" he says during Tuesday's rehearsal.

A student tries to make a suggestion but Casperson cuts her off: "Don't fight with me. You won't win." She mumbles under her breath but gets into position and the scene is rehearsed from the top.

"Parents that come in here and see how much more work we have to do before the show and they get nervous and ask, 'Are we going to have to cancel the show?'" Casperson tells a reporter, chuckling. "This is only Tuesday and we have work to do, but by Friday ... they'll be ready to perform. They'll be great. ... Sometimes Casperson has been Twin Falls High's Jive director since the musical theater group's inception in 1999. Over the years, he said, much has changed. Musical theater is much more popular in the mainstream, thanks to shows like "Glee" and "American Idol." In Jive, replacing corded microphones with cordless units allowed flexibility for choreography and utilization of more stage

Next season will be different as well. This change is something that Casperson — while watching his 24-member cast rehearse for its April 13-14 spring showcase — doesn't want to think about but knows he must prepare for nonetheless.

CLASSES FOR CREATIVITY

TWIN FALLS • The College of Southern Idaho's Community Education Center is offering four classes this month that cater to your creative side:

- "Basic Photo and Landscape," taught by John Berglund, 7-9 p.m. Thursdays, April 19 through May 10, at CSI's Mini-Cassia campus in Burley. Students will learn how to take better photos of landscapes to preserve the beauty of the seasons; they'll learn basics from cleaning a camera to how everything in it works. Cost is $50; includes a field trip.

- Dance courses for singles and couples, taught by Lori Head on April 21 and 28 at the CSI Gym 236 in Twin Falls. "Swing Dancing," 4-5:30 p.m., teaches patterns for country western, jitterbug, jive and two-step. "Ballroom Dancing," 6:30-8 p.m., covers waltz, fox trot, swing, cha-cha, tango, mambo and polka. "Ballroom Dancing II," 8:15-9:30 p.m., is for those who have taken or are taking the beginning ballroom class. Cost for each dance style is $25 for a single or $45 for a couple.

- "Australian Aboriginal Dot Painting," taught by Cheryl Bruce, 2-5 p.m. April 28 at the Twin Falls Creative Art Center on Main Avenue in downtown Twin Falls. Students will learn about Aboriginal people as they create artwork using a traditional dot painting technique. Cost is $20 plus a $5 supply fee.

- "The Art of Welding," taught by CSI welding instructor Cody Thornton, 5:30-9 p.m. Fridays, April 27 through May 18, at CSI's Twin Falls welding shop in the Desert Building. The class introduces methods of artistic welding including basic MIG welding and how to grind and color, as well as how to use the electric eye plasma, cutting and plasma torches. Students will choose their own project and learn to weld hands-on. No experience is necessary. Cost is $125 plus a $50 materials fee.

the Twin Falls School District. When Canyon Ridge High's Synergy revs up next fall it will take six Jive boys and one girl with it.

"The boys were returning seniors and some of the strongest voices and best talent," Casperson said.

Those performers are looking forward to building Canyon Ridge's Synergy but said it wouldn't be possible without the lessons learned at Jive.

"We were taught how to work hard, how to get motivated and perform on stage at Jive," said Kiefer Starks, a Canyon Ridge junior.

Jake Packham said he would miss the people at Jive.

"You just take for granted that everyone here is talented," he said. "The program is already built and has a solid foundation. We don't have that with Synergy. We have to build that."

Most members of Jive and those who will begin Synergy downplayed the possibility of a rivalry between the two groups. But Aaron Burton, Canyon Ridge junior, hopes a competitive spirit develops.

"I'm athletic and like a competitive nature," Burton said.

BLAIR KOCH - FOR THE TIMES-NEWS

When the district opened Canyon Ridge in 2009 it didn't plan on the school having its own musical theater program. Canyon Ridge students have been traveling to Twin Falls High to participate in Jive, although all members try out. Now that Canyon Ridge will have its own group, students can no longer participate with the rival school's Jive, following the district rules set up for other student activities.

"That the district now has two groups says something about the vast amount of talent in the community. And that we have so many students wanting to participate, willing to give the time and work to put on productions like we do here, is great," Casperson said.

Art

Students could enter up to five pieces each, and Popovic said there's a good display of each category, though you'll see more drawings and paintings than other forms of art.

One piece by 19-year-old Crum, called "Waxflour," is a collage of sticks, leaves, flour and wax that represents the Earth's dryness as well as its moisture.

"It's a juxtaposition between the two," she said.

Her other pieces include a ceramic sculpture, twisted in chaotic fashion and titled "The Hug," which sits atop a stump of myrtle wood; a three-dimensional piece made of glass and laundry lint; and oil paintings of nude figures.

"I try to represent the different art forms I'm involved with," Crum said.

Judging on April 6 determined what pieces would make it into the show. The college in the past invited guest judges. But this year, Popovic said, five CSI art professors and one adjunct professor did the judging.

"We were pretty pleased, I think," Popovic said. "We chose stronger work this year" that better represented all of the college's art classes.

Mike Youngman, an art professor, said the professors know their students better than a guest jury. "So we know what is exceptional for them."

Art student Rob Evans, 22, was pleased to be in the final cut. Two of his pieces, both with a music theme, will be displayed.

Kayla Griffin, 21, has three pieces — photography and a still life oil painting — in the show.

"This is a real big deal for me," she said. "It's something I can put on a resume, that I was in a gallery."

Though she plans to go into photojournalism, she said, "I'll never give up painting."

Alaina Davis, a 21-year-old art student, was one whose work did not make it to the show.

Davis said she finished her two oil paintings and an India ink piece at the last minute, which may have been her downfall. Paint was still drying when she submitted the work.

"My pieces were wonderful," she said. "But I'm a procrastinator and a perfectionist, so I wait until the last minute and then have to have it perfect. ... Next time I'll be a little more prompt and ready."

Davis plans to attend Tuesday's opening reception for the show, which runs through May 12.

"There's a lot of incredible artwork," she said.

Youngman said the annual student exhibit is the most popular of the college's art shows.

KAREN BOSSICK - FOR THE TIMES-NEWS

Lillian Whitesell went from cage to cage at last year's Bug Zoo Festival, magnifying glass in hand like a sleuth checking out every detail.

At Annual Bug Zoo, Kids Explore Exotic Insects, Adults Sip Cocktails

BY KAREN BOSSICK
For the Times-News

KETCHUM • The Bug Zoo is back. And this year it is has something for adults.

The popular spring festival at the Sawtooth Botanical Garden will feature the inaugural Bug Zoo Cocktail Party at 5:30 p.m. April 27. Adults can enjoy Mosquito Bloody Marys, Citronella Coolers and all kinds of buggy snacks as they peruse the 10th Annual Bug Zoo, said Stephanie McCord, who is organizing the creepy-crawly affair for the garden.

And the Bug Zoo this year will feature a booth of insects and flies that will be of interest to fly-fishing aficionados, said Kathryn Goldman, the garden's executive director.

But the main fun, of course, is for the kids.

The Bug Zoo Festival will be 1-4 p.m. on April 22 — Earth Day.

This year's festival will feature a Lorax theme to pay homage to the popular Dr. Seuss movie currently playing at movie theaters, said Allison Marks, the garden's education director. A couple dozen exotic bugs will be on display with fun facts about each. Crafts, games and face painting will all have a buggy twist.

Last year 350 youngsters flocked to the garden to eyeball and handle a few dozen bugs; try on plastic bug eyes that show the octagonal patterns through which bugs see their world; stick straws through plastic wrap into red Kool-Aid to simulate how mosquitoes drill through skin to get to the blood; and build their own bugs out of felt balls and gorp.

Torin Vandenburg tried her hand at being an ant, taking a tongue depressor in each hand and trying to lift a Gummi worm with it as if she were going to eat it. The toddler succeeded on the first attempt.

The zoo makes quite a buzz with more than a thousand schoolchildren — including school groups from beyond the Wood River Valley — coming each year to take part during the zoo's two-week run, Marks said.

Those who come will be privy to plenty of bug trivia. Did you know, for instance, how the bess bug is a talkative little fellow, making up to 14 distinctive sounds? Or how the earthworm has five hearts?

"I love this event for kids to learn," said Ashley Burr, whose daughter Lillian Whitesell attended the festival last year.

Admission to the Bug Zoo Festival on April 22 is $5 for the children of Sawtooth Botanical Garden members and $10 for the children of non-members. Adults will be admitted free.

Adults and children alike are invited to see the bugs for free from 2 to 5 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekends, April 23 through May 5.

Admission to the Bug Zoo Cocktail Party on April 27 costs $25 per adult; sign up at 726-9358.

Make It a Creole Evening with Concert, Cooking Class

TWIN FALLS • Along the bayous, crawfish ponds and rice fields of southwest Louisiana is a cultural area with its own music and dance traditions — that of the French-speaking Louisiana Creoles, descendants of free people of color, Native Americans and French and Spanish settlers.

Louisiana natives Jeffery Broussard & The Creole Cowboys perform their own brand of contemporary zydeco and tangy, energetic interpretations of Creole classics. And they'll bring their music to Twin Falls for Arts on Tour's final performance of the season.

The show will be 7:30 p.m. April 25 in the College of Southern Idaho's Fine Arts Auditorium. Tickets are $22 for adults and $16 for students and children.

Broussard, of the nouveau zydeco band Zydeco Force, is known for his accordion mastery and soulful vocals. His range includes traditional songs of the old masters, original tunes, single- and triple-note accordion and fiddle. The Creole Cowboys band boasts a new style of fast-paced, expressive Creole folk.

Expect rich vocals, sultry melodies and an infectious beat. Learn more: jeffery-broussard.com.

Titanic's Sinking: Was It More Than Human Folly?

BY SETH BORENSTEIN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON • After an entire century that included two high-profile government investigations and countless books and movies, we're still debating what really caused the Titanic to hit an iceberg and sink on that crystal-clear chilly night.

Maybe there's more to blame than human folly and hubris. Maybe we can fault freak atmospheric conditions that caused a mirage or an even rarer astronomical event that sent icebergs into shipping lanes. Those are two of the newer theories being proposed by a Titanic author and a team of astronomers.

But the effort to find natural causes that could have contributed to the sinking may also be a quest for an excuse — anything to avoid gazing critically into a mirror, say disaster experts and Titanic historians.

New theories and research are important “but at its most basic what happened is they failed to heed warnings and they hit the iceberg because they were going too fast,” said James Delgado, director of maritime heritage at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

With this week's 100th anniversary of Titanic's sinking, the interest in all things Titanic is steaming faster than the doomed cruise ship on its maiden voyage.

One of the novel new theories says Titanic could have been the victim of a mirage that is similar to what people see in the desert. It's the brainchild of Tim Maltin, a historian who has written three books about Titanic. The latest, an e-book titled “A Very Deceiving Night” emphasizes how the atmosphere may have tricked the Titanic crew on a cloudless night.

“This was not avoidable human error,” Maltin said in a telephone interview from London. “It's just about air density difference.”

It was a beautiful clear night and for a couple of days, there had been something strange going on in the air over the North Atlantic, reported by all sorts of ships, including the crew on Titanic, Maltin said.

The unusually cold sea air caused light to bend abnormally downward, Maltin said. The Titanic's first officer, William McMaster Murdoch, saw what he described as a “haze on the horizon, and that iceberg came right out of the haze,” Maltin said, quoting from the surviving second officer's testimony.

Other ships, including those rescuing survivors, reported similar strange visuals and had trouble navigating around the icebergs, he said.

British meteorologists later monitored the site for those freaky thermal inversions and said 60 percent of the time they checked, the inversions were present, Maltin said.

The same inversions could have made the Titanic's rescue rockets appear lower in the sky, giving a rescue ship the impression that the Titanic was smaller and farther away, Maltin said.

Physicists Donald Olson and Russell Doescher at Texas State University have another theory in Sky & Telescope magazine that fits nicely with Maltin's. Olson — who often comes up with astronomical quirks linked to historical events — said that a few months earlier, the moon, sun and Earth lined up in a way that added extra pull on Earth's tides. The Earth was closer to the moon than it had been in 1,400 years.

They based their work on historical and astronomical records and research in 1978 by a federal expert in tides.

The unusual tides caused glaciers to calve icebergs off Greenland. Those south-bound icebergs got stuck near Labrador and Newfoundland but then slowly moved south again, floating into the shipping currents just in time to greet the Titanic, the astronomers theorized. Maltin said the icebergs also added a snaking river of super-cold water that magnified the mirage effect.

Tides and mirages may have happened, but blaming them for Titanic's sinking “misses the boat,” said Lee Clarke, a Rutgers University disaster expert and author of the book “Worst Cases.”

“The basic facts of Titanic are not in dispute: The boat was going too fast in dangerous waters,” Clarke said. If Titanic had stopped for the night because of ice like the British steamship Californian did, “tides and mirages wouldn't have mattered.”

On April 14, the day it hit the iceberg, the Titanic received seven heavy ice warnings, including one from the Californian less than an hour before the fateful collision. The message said: “We are stopped and surrounded by ice.” Titanic sent back a message that said “Shut up. We are busy.”

Peruvian Miners Tell of Anguish, Hope Inside Mine

BY MAURICIO MUNOZ AND CARLA SALAZAR
Associated Press

YAUCA DEL ROSARIO, Peru • Peruvian miners trapped for six days in an abandoned copper mine prayed and wept during moments of intense anguish, then told each other jokes and even danced to hold onto hope before they finally walked free Wednesday.

The miners, ranging in age from 23 to 58, walked out without assistance about an hour after dawn from a reinforced tunnel that rescuers had built as they removed more than 26 feet of dirt and rock.

“On the second day, we were saying that they weren't going to get us out, that we were going to die in there,” said Santiago Tapia, 21, the youngest of the miners. Tapia spoke with The Associated Press at the Social Security Hospital in Ica, where all the miners were taken to recover from dehydration.

“Inside, we prayed, we cried. We also cried with our relatives outside who were desperate,” said Tapia, the father of a 2-year-old daughter.

Other moments were lighter. “We conversed, we told each other jokes, talked about our lives, things that had happened to us,” Tapia said. “We also talked about politics, a bit of everything. We made ourselves laugh so we wouldn't feel bad inside there.”

The miners wore sunglasses and were covered with blankets when they walked free. President Ollanta Humala was there to greet them after spending the night at the mine 150 miles southeast of the capital of Lima.

The miners were trapped by a cave-in triggered by an explosion they themselves had set.

They had communicated with rescuers through a hose, in place before the collapse, by which they also received food and medicine during their ordeal in a horizontal shaft dug into a mountainside.

It became their lifeline. “Thanks to that hose we are now still alive,” Tapia said.

“It's pretty ugly inside,” said fellow miner Edwin Bellido. “We slept on the ground on muddy plastic.”

On the first day, miners grew desperate when one of their companions became ill, Bellido said.

But he said the miners kept their spirits up, including by singing and running in the 160-foot-long tunnel. They even danced “to pass the time,” Bellido said.

The Cabeza de Negro mine that they were working had been abandoned in the 1980s.

Humala said the incident points up the dangers of working in such mines in Peru, labor in which tens of thousands are engaged. He said he had given instructions for Cabeza de Negro to be sealed definitively.

The rescue drew some comparisons to the 69-day ordeal of 33 Chilean miners trapped more than 2,000 feet underground in 2010 near the Chilean city of Copiapo.

The Peru rescue was not by any measure a comparable engineering feat because the miners were not similarly trapped deep beneath the earth. Neither heavy equipment nor drilling was required to extract them. Rescuers relied primarily on shovels, pick axes and wheelbarrows.

Two U.S. Marines Killed, 2 Injured in Morocco

BY PAUL SCHEMM
Associated Press

RABAT, Morocco • Two U.S. Marines were killed and two severely injured in the crash of a hybrid aircraft Wednesday in Morocco, officials said.

The Marines were taking part in joint U.S.-Moroccan military exercises located in the south of the country based in Agadir, said U.S. Embassy spokesman Rodney Ford in Rabat, who gave the toll.

Capt. Kevin Schultz, a Marine spokesman at the Pentagon in Washington, confirmed that the aircraft involved was an MV-22 Osprey, which takes off and lands like a helicopter and flies like an airplane. The aircraft was participating in a U.S.-Moroccan military exercise known as “African Lion.”

The Osprey was flying from the amphibious assault ship USS Iwo Jima, a defense official said, speaking on condition of anonymity because the matter is in the early stages of investigation.

The annual exercise which began in 2008 runs from April 7 to 18 and involves 1,000 U.S. Marines and 200 soldiers, sailors and airmen. They were working with some 900 Moroccan soldiers.

According to the U.S. Marine website, the exercise involved “everything from combined arms fire and maneuver ranges, aerial refueling and deliveries of supplies, to command post and non-lethal weapons training.”

The main unit involved in the exercise is the 14th

Marines, a reserve artillery regiment based in Fort Worth, Texas, but also includes members of the 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit based in Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

The goal of the exercise is to train the two countries' forces to work together.

Further information about the crash was being withheld until the next of kin of the killed and injured Marines were notified, said Rodney Ford, spokesman of the U.S. Embassy in Rabat.

Argentine 'Miracle' Baby Improving after Being Found Alive in Morgue

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) • A mother in Argentina says she fell to her knees in shock after finding her baby alive in a coffin in the morgue nearly 12 hours after the girl had been declared dead.

Analia Bouter named her newborn Luz Milagros, or “Miracle Light.” The tiny girl, born three months premature, was in critical condition but was improving Wednesday in the same hospital where the staff pronounced her stillborn on April 3.

The case became public Tuesday when Rafael Sabatinelli, the deputy health minister in the northern province of Chaco, announced in a news conference that five medical professionals involved have been suspended pending an official investigation.

Bouter told the TeleNoticias TV channel in an interview Tuesday night that doctors gave her the death certificate just 20 minutes after the baby was born, and that she still hasn't received a birth certificate for her tiny girl.

Bouter said the baby was quickly put in a coffin and taken to the morgue's refrigeration room. Twelve hours passed before she and her husband were able to open the coffin to say their last good-byes.

She said that's when the baby trembled. She thought it was her imagination — then she realized the little girl was alive and dropped to her knees on the morgue floor in shock.

A morgue worker quickly picked up the girl and confirmed she was alive. Then, Bouter's brother grabbed the baby and ran to the hospital's neonatal intensive care unit, shouting for the doctors. The baby was so cold, Bouter said, that “it was like carrying a bottle of ice.”

A week later, the baby is improving. Bouter said she still has many unanswered questions about what happened. She said she had given birth normally to four other children and doesn't understand why doctors gave her general anesthesia this time. She said she also doesn't know why she wasn't allowed to see her baby before it was put into a coffin.

She said she had to insist on going to the morgue's refrigeration room, where she brought a cell phone to take a picture of the newborn for the funeral. Her husband struggled to open the lid, and then stepped aside to let her see inside.

“I moved the coverings aside and saw the tiny hand, with all five fingers, and I touched her hand and then uncovered her face,” she said in the TeleNoticias

“... I stepped back and saw her waking up. It was as if she was saying ‘Mama, you came for me!’”

— Analia Bouter, on finding her baby alive in a coffin in a hospital morgue in Buenos Aires, Argentina interview. “That's where I heard a tiny little cry. I told myself I was imagining it — it was my imagination. And then I stepped back and saw her waking up. It was as if she was saying ‘Mama, you came for me!’”

“That was when I fell to my knees. My husband didn't know what to do. We were just crying and I laughed and cried, cries and laughter. We must have seemed crazy.”

She says the family plans to sue the staff at Hospital Perrando in the city of Resistencia for malpractice, and still wants answers. But they've been focused for now on their little girl, whom she described as amazingly healthy despite being born after just 26 weeks of gestation. So far, she hasn't needed oxygen or other support commonly provided to preemies, she said.

Analia Bouter and her husband, Fabian Veron, sit Wednesday outside the hospital in Resistencia, Argentina. Bouter found her baby alive in a coffin in the morgue nearly 12 hours after the girl had been declared dead.

OBITUARIES

Michael Lewis Busmann

March 15, 1946-April 9, 2012

BUHL • Michael Lewis Busmann, 66, lifelong resident of the Buhl area, passed away unexpectedly Monday evening, April 9, 2012, at his home with his loving wife at his side.

On March 15, 1946, Mike was the first son born to Charles L. "Bud" Busmann and Pauline Kelly-Busmann. He attended schools at Buhl and graduated from Buhl High School in 1964. After graduation, he began working in Buhl for Kirkham Auto Parts and also joined the Idaho National Guard, where he served for six years.

On March 20, 1970, he married Connie Reynolds in a ceremony at Elko, Nev. The couple recently celebrated their 42nd anniversary. After their marriage, they resided on a farm in the Buhl area. Mike began farming with his father and two brothers, which was the start of a lifelong career as a farmer. In 1996, Mike also started selling corn and alfalfa seed for DeKalb, a job that he loved and continued doing until his death.

Mike loved camping, fishing, golfing and riding ATVs, riding with many friends. He also loved a good game of cards. If you knew Mike, you know that he loved a good visit with all his friends. He had a lifelong love for dogs, of which he had many different favorites throughout the years. Mike loved the family gatherings with the Reynolds' clan, never wanting to miss a single event. If you asked any of that family, you'd hear that Uncle Mike made the parties more fun.

Mike is survived by his wife, Connie; two brothers, Pat (Martha) Busmann and Dennis (Lynn) Busmann; nieces, Pam (John) Osterkamp, Patrice (Vince) Hamilton and Char (Michael) Jackson; nephews, Allyn (Candy) Reynolds, Kelly (Janet) Busmann, KC Busmann and Josh (Jessica) Busmann; and numerous great-nieces, nephews and cousins. He was preceded in death by his parents; an infant sister; and brother-in-law, Melvin Reynolds.

A funeral service will be at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 14, at the First Christian Church in Buhl. A viewing will be from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday, April 13, at Farmer Funeral Chapel in Buhl.

Donations may be made to the Buhl Quick Response or your favorite charity.

Barbara I. Davis

Jan. 12, 1931-April 10, 2012

TWIN FALLS • Our loving wife and mother, Barbara I. Davis, 81, of Twin Falls, passed from this life Tuesday, April 10, 2012.

She was born to Joseph and Anna Tarr on Jan. 12, 1931, in Salem, Ore., the youngest of eight children. She grew up in Florence and Cottage Grove, Ore. She graduated from Mount Angel Academy and then attended nurse's training at St. Joseph's Hospital in Vancouver, Wash., where she received her RN degree. She met the love of her life, Kenneth Davis, at Jantzen Beach, Ore. They were married in 1952 in Cottage Grove. They moved to Twin Falls shortly after and were blessed with six children.

She worked as a registered nurse for Dr. Douglas Schow for many years. She also worked at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, several local nursing homes and hospice. She was very active in St. Edwards church and maintained a strong commitment to her Catholic faith. She enjoyed gardening, camping, playing cards, traveling and visiting with family and friends.

She is survived by her husband of 59 years, Kenneth; four sons, Joseph (Christine) of Longview, Wash., Michael (Shirley) of Jerome, Brent (Michelle) of Snohomish, Wash., and Timothy (Susan) of Green River, Wyo.; and two daughters, Kathleen Walker (Richard) of Jerome and Shanna Kendrick (Wally) of Twin Falls. She is also survived by 12 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

James David Corak

Sept. 26, 1932-April 9, 2012

TWIN FALLS • James David Corak, 79, of Twin Falls, passed away at home from lung complications on April 9, 2012, leaving family with lots of memories for years to come.

Jim is the last of 10 children born to Mark "Pete" Corak and Ethel Prentice Corak. He was born in the small town of Berger, Idaho, on Sept. 26, 1932. Jim joined the Army and served on the SS Mount McKinley during the Korean War. He worked for the Union Pacific Railroad for almost 10 years, just short of retirement. Later he started working at Lamb Weston until his retirement.

Surviving is his wife, Bette Corak of 29 years; children, Jan (Rod) Corak, Doug Corak and Mark

Corak, all of Twin Falls; four stepsons, Douglas (Nancy) Botimer of Frazier, Mich., Steven (Lora) Botimer of Meridian, Idaho, and Michael Botimer and Robert Lockerby, both of Boise, Idaho; and numerous nieces and nephews.

A graveside service will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, April 13, at Sunset Memorial Park in Twin Falls, with Pastor Dale Metzger officiating. Military rites will be performed by the Idaho National Guard and the Magic Valley Honor Guard.

Services are under the direction of Lance Cox and the staff at White Mortuary "Chapel by the Park." Friends and family may leave condolences by visiting www.whitemortuary.com.

Ahmed Ben Bella, Algeria's First President, Dies at 95

BY AOMAR OUALI AND PAUL SCHEMM
Associated Press

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) • Ahmed Ben Bella, Algeria's first president and a historic leader of its bloody independence struggle from France, died at his family home in Algiers on Wednesday. He was 95.

Family members and the state news agency did not give the cause of death, but twice in the last month Ben Bella had been treated at the military hospital of Ain Naadja for discomfort.

The charismatic Ben Bella, a symbol of pan-Arabist ideology as well as the global anti-colonial movement, was president of Algeria from 1963 until he was overthrown in a military coup in 1965 by the army chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne.

Ben Bella was under house arrest until 1980, and he went into self exile in Switzerland until returning to the country in 1990 as part of the opposition to the ruling political party he helped found.

A giant of Algeria's independence struggle and the country's first few years, he played only a symbolic role in the latter years of his life, heading the opposition Movement for the Democracy in Algeria Party, which competed in the aborted 1991 elections, winning just 2 percent of the vote.

His party was banned in 1997, but he continued to live in Algeria, often condemning government policies. He was present when the current president, Abdelaziz Bouteflika, was sworn in for his third term in April 2009.

Two years earlier, Ben Bella became head of the African Union's "Group of Elders."

Aside from Bouteflika, Ben Bella was the country's sole civilian leader and was followed by a string of generals. One of the six "historic leaders" of Algeria's revolt against French colonial rule, Ben Bella spent 23 years of his life in French and Algerian prisons.

Through most of the eight-year war of independence, Ben Bella was held in a French fortress. His liberation was one of the main Algerian demands in the drawn-out peace talks that led to the 1962 Evian agreements for Algeria's independence.

Elected president of the newly-independent nation virtually without opposition, he enjoyed less than three years of an extravagant and erratic leadership before being overthrown in an army coup and imprisoned by Boumedienne, then army chief of staff.

Until Boumedienne's death 13 years later, Ben Bella became a "non person" in Algeria. No public mention of his name was allowed in Algerian media — all state-controlled.

Even the official attacks on Ben Bella's allegedly "arbitrary and wasteful" regime avoided mentioning his name.

Boumedienne died in 1978. His pragmatic and moderate successor, Chadli Bendjedid, freed Ben Bella from more than a decade of detention without trial, ultimately allowing him to go abroad with his wife Zora and their two adopted daughters.

It was Ben Bella's misfortune that he was very much a product of the colonial regime that France imposed on Algeria for 130 years. He spoke better French than Arabic, and the Arabic he spoke was colloquial rather than literary.

As a result, he had difficulty conversing with the leaders of other Arab nations. His often rousing and emotion-charged speeches as president were delivered in Algerian Arabic — which few citizens of other Arab nations fully understand — and when he wanted to stress a particular argument, he broke into French.

SENIOR

Q. Our father has been diagnosed with dementia. Our mother is determined to care for him at home for as long as possible. We can see that the responsibility is already taking a toll on Mom. What can we do to help?

A. Your mother might be reluctant to ask for help right now, even if she needs it. When you discuss the issue, be sure to tell her how important her loving commitment is. At the same time, explain how her physical and mental health can be damaged by this hard work, and her ability to care for her husband could be affected! Encourage her to accept help. One great source of relief is called respite care. Respite care can give your mother a well-deserved break. Family members can provide respite care, as can paid workers who come into the home. Respite can be for an afternoon or for a few days. Check into local long term care facilities that offer respite care services. Also, your parents may benefit from home-care services, which can prolong the time your father can stay at home. If and when your father moves to a nursing home, you can help both of your parents by helping select the right facility. It is important that you be emotionally supportive of your mother now, and later.

Draft Animals, Antique Tractors to Perform

WENDELL • The Southern Idaho Draft Horse and Mule Association, along with the Magic Valley Antique Tractor Pullers, will host an old-fashioned farm play-day Friday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

This spring planting event will be held on the 80-acre Ritter Island at Thousand Springs State Park west of Wendell.

On Friday, the antique tractors will break up the sod using vintage equipment from throughout Magic Valley.

The next day, draft horses and mules will disc, harrow and plant the ground using antique farming equipment.

Food and beverages will be available Saturday. The event is free to the public.

Directions: From the center of Wendell or Interstate 84 Exit 155, go west on the Hagerman Highway three miles. Turn left (south) at 1500 East. Turn right (west) on 3200 South, left (south) on 1300 East, then right on the Thousand Springs Road and follow it to the island park. Watch for signs.

Non Profit Business Spotlight

Valley House was established in 1995 by a group of concerned citizens who saw the need for a homeless shelter in the Magic Valley. Our mission is to work with a wide range of community services to provide motivated homeless persons the help they need to become self-sufficient, while advocating for policies that help reduce homelessness.

Valley House is the only shelter of its kind in an eight region area. We provide transitional housing to low income, disadvantaged motivated homeless persons who have found themselves in need of a hand up not a hand out. Our program provides the tools needed to live a productive, self-sufficient life. We offer classes which include parenting, drug awareness, budgeting, nutrition and cooking along with family counseling, mentoring, tutoring, housing, and employment assistance. We are not a traditional homeless shelter. Our "guests" must be out of the shelter during the day time looking for a job or working.

They are required to clean, do their own laundry, watch their own children, budget, set up personal savings accounts, attend group meetings, etc. We have a "NO TOLERANCE RULE" for drugs, consumption of alcohol. We do not tolerate child or spousal abuse.

Valley House shelters up to 70 individuals per night or 25,500 beds a year. In 2011, Valley House served over 700 individuals. Of that number were 200 children. Without the Valley House these families and children would have no place to turn. Valley House strives to offer a safe, positive drug-free environment where homeless families with children can find hope and the resources needed to better their lives.

Our financial support is based on community support from private contributions, cooperative grants, and fund raising events. We could not do this great work without community supporters such as you.

Watercolors for Beginners

TWIN FALLS • The Twin Falls Center for the Arts is offering a two-day "Watercolor Workshop for the Absolute Beginner" taught by Joyce DeFord from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 4 and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 5.

Two-day cost is $175 for Magic Valley Arts Council members and $195 for others. One-day cost is $100 or $120. You'll receive a materials list upon registration; beginner kits are available from the instructor for $70.

The workshop will cover basic techniques such as washes, textures and color layering, and students will produce a finished painting each day. Day one will focus on still life. Day two will work with more advanced techniques built on the first day's lessons, including landscape painting and more use of mixed color and values.

The center is at 195 River Vista Place. Pre-registration is required: 734-2787.

Ketchum Calls for Artists for Public Project

KETCHUM • The Ketchum Arts Commission is inviting artists to apply for a public art project: vinyl images to be wrapped on utility boxes throughout the city.

The Utility Box Art Project aims to transform infrastructure elements into engaging works of original art.

For this first year's project, the city's KAC chose four locations for eight utility boxes of various sizes and configurations. Each location will be produced by a single artist.

Artwork should cover all exposed sides and the top of the box.

The selection process has two steps: a Request for Qualifications, due May 4, with selected artists submitting proposals later. Information: ketchumidaho.org.

Vegetable gardens require special soil and care for edible plants to grow and thrive. This type of garden differs from a standard garden in that vegetable plants thrive in high-quality topsoil. Areas near home sites often have very little topsoil to provide nutrients for a garden. You'll need to create the perfect environment for your vegetable garden by adding components to the soil. Preparing soil for your vegetable garden will improve your crop yield.

Step 1

Prepare your vegetable garden soil the year before you plant your garden. Preparing soil early allows for nutrients and additives to breakdown by decomposition to blend with existing soil. This early soil preparation will increase your chances of having a high-yield crop of vegetables.

Step 2

Remove all weeds, dead plants and any remaining vegetable plants from the previous growing season. Dispose of these plants completely. Leaving old plants to die over the winter encourages bugs and diseases that can affect soil quality and quickly negate your efforts to improve the topsoil.

Step 3

Evaluate the condition of your soil by taking a sample to the garden center for analysis. This simple test will tell you whether you have porous soil that drains well or clay-filled soil that doesn't encourage water flow.

Step 4

Turn over the top 12 inches of garden soil. This job becomes measurably easier with a rototiller. These stiff-bladed gas tillers make quick work of any garden plot. Tillers can be bought at home improvement stores or borrowed from rental companies. You'll save considerable time and backache.

Step 5

Add some type of organic matter to the turned-over soil. Manure, compost or humus should be worked into the top 6 inches of soil. Remember that organic matter requires time to break down. It may take a year or two before you see the optimum soil for growing your garden. However, you'll get a nice head start by preparing the soil at least 2 seasons before actual planting.

Step 6

Add bags of topsoil to your garden. The additions of organic material will create good topsoil eventually, but it requires time for additives to break down. Purchase topsoil specifically for vegetable gardens since this soil has a very low weed content.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

Notice of Realty Action: Proposed minor boundary revision at Minidoka National Historic Site, Jerome County, Idaho.

The National Park Service is considering adding approximately 88.51 +/- acres of land that lies adjacent to the existing westerly boundary for the Minidoka National Historic Site. The proposed land addition is identified as parcel nos. 2, 3 and 4 in property survey recorded on 07/30/2009 under instrument no. 2093795 and identified as tax parcel nos: RP08S19E2300A and RP08S19E329001A.

The inclusion of this land within the park boundary will enable the current conservation easement holder to donate and convey its interest in the subject land to the National Park Service for the benefit of preserving and telling the Minidoka Internment Camp story that took place during WWII. The Camp's hospital and Army barracks designated as Blocks 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10 were situated on this 88.51-acre parcel.

Further information on this proposal is available from the National Park Service, Columbia Cascades Land Resources Program Center, 168 South Jackson Street, Seattle, Washington 98104; Attention: Mr. Rick Wagner (206) 220-4100. Public comments will be accepted, in writing, at his address until May 25, 2012.

The action to proceed with the boundary revision will become the final determination of the Department of the Interior, in the absence of any subsequent action to modify or vacate the proposal.

press release. “He can score, rebound and defend, but most importantly he plays extremely hard at all times.”

Towson competes in the Colonial Athletic Association, which has produced two different Final Four teams since 2006 in George Mason and VCU last season.

“They’ve been on him since Day 1,” said CSI head coach Steve Gosar. “They’ve been the most consistent talking with all season and really showed a commitment. I think he’ll be able to step in and contribute right away, which was important for him.”

One tidbit about Towson: Assistant coach Luke Murray is the son of actor and comedian Bill Murray, who has attended Tigers’ home games the last two seasons.

Murray sat courtside for Towson’s game at George Mason last season, which had fans from the student section posting photos to Twitter of the “Cad-dyshack,” “Groundhog Day” and former “Saturday Night Live” star.

Schierman Inks with Northwest Nazarene

Kylee Schierman, a 5-10 sophomore forward, signed her letter of intent with Northwest Nazarene on Wednesday.

“It’s really exciting. I’m glad the process is through and now I can look forward to playing there next season,” said Schierman, who averaged 10 points and 6.5 rebounds this season for the Golden Eagles.

Schierman has been in contact with the school all season, she said, and following CSI’s loss in the Region 18 Tournament, arrangements were made for her to visit the Division II school in Nampa.

She took her official a couple weeks ago, and was impressed with the school as well as the basketball program.

“It has really good academics and it’s a Christian school, which I liked. I grew up attending Catholic school all my life, so the school really reminded me a lot of my high school,” said Schierman, who attended Central Catholic in Portland. “I did an individual workout and played really solid with the team. I felt really comfortable.”

Schierman will bring a defensive presence to the Crusaders, who went 18-10 overall and 11-7 in the Great Northwest Athletic Conference this season.

“They liked my length and expect me to be a guard who will defend the other team’s best players every night,” said Schierman, who defended the Scenic West’s best scorers this season in USU-Eastern Utah’s Priscila Santos and Snow College’s Erica Martinez. “I think I’ve prepared myself for the next level and I’m excited for two more years to improve my game.”

Speaking of Martinez, she signed with Boise State on Wednesday. She’ll join the Broncos after averaging 16.5 points this season for Snow College, which won its first ever Region 18 Tournament, clinching its first berth to the NJCAA national tournament in Salina, Kan.

“Erica is a terrific perimeter shooter. She is the all time Utah high school record holder and we are excited that she has decided to be a Bronco,” said Boise State women’s head coach Gordy Presnell in a press release.

Votto Spurs Cincinnati’s Comeback

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI • Joey Votto tied a career best with four hits and scored the go-ahead run on pinch-hitter Chris Heisey’s ninth-inning single, capping Cincinnati’s comeback from a three-run deficit for the 4-3 win over St. Louis.

Down 3-0 in the third against Jaime Garcia, the Reds tied the score in the fifth.

Votto doubled off Marc Rzepczynski (0-1) leading off the ninth. Ryan Ludwick was intentionally walked, and Jay Bruce struck out. Fernando Salas relieved and Heisey lined a single to left.

Aroldis Chapman (2-0) struck out five in two scoreless innings, helping the Reds avoid a three-game sweep.

Jon Jay hit a two-run homer for St. Louis. Garcia allowed three runs and 11 hits in 4 2-3 innings.

PHILLIES 7, MARLINS 1

PHILADELPHIA • Roy Halladay threw seven sharp innings and the Philadelphia Phillies broke out of their offensive slump, beating the Marlins 7-1 on Wednesday night in Miami’s first game without suspended manager Ozzie Guillen.

A once-potent offense that’s missing Chase Utley and Ryan Howard struggled in the first four games, scoring eight runs total. But they rocked Marlins ace Josh Johnson, chasing the big right-hander in the fourth.

PADRES 2, DIAMONDBACKS 1

SAN DIEGO • Chris Denorfia hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning that sent the Padres past the Diamondbacks, who had been the last unbeaten team in the major leagues.

NATIONALS 4, METS 0

NEW YORK • Stephen

Cincinnati’s Chris Heisey, left, hits the game-winning single in the bottom of the ninth inning to beat St. Louis 4-3 on Wednesday. Cardinals catcher Yadier Molina is at right.

Strasburg outpitched Johan Santana for six innings in a marquee matchup of aces on the mend, and Washington’s bullpen made the lead stand up on the 50th anniversary of the Mets’ first game.

Meeting in a blustery, chilly matinee, Strasburg (1-0) and Santana each got off to an erratic start but settled into a duel between pitchers coming back from major arm operations.

BREWERS 2, CUBS 1

CHICAGO • George Kotaras hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning and Yovani Gallardo outduelled Ryan Dempster to lead Milwaukee to its third straight win in the four-game series.

Starlin Castro hit a sacrifice fly in the first and Dempster (0-1) had a three-hit shutout before Mat Gamel doubled leading off the seventh. Kottaras, Milwaukee’s backup catcher, followed with his second homer.

BRAVES 6, ASTROS 3

HOUSTON • Jason Heyward homered and drove in two runs and David Ross hit a two-run double in his 2012 debut.

Ross, the backup catcher, drove in Chipper Jones and Dan Uggla with a double to center in the fourth, giving the Braves a 3-1 lead. Heyward, who finished with three hits, added an insurance run with his solo shot to right in the eighth.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

MARINERS 4, RANGERS 3

ARLINGTON, Texas • John Jaso had an RBI single with two outs in the ninth to cap a three-run rally off new Rangers closer Joe Nathan and give the Seattle Mariners the victory over the two-time defending American League champions Wednesday night.

Jaso, the No. 9 hitter playing his first game this season, had a leadoff triple in the eighth and then scored Seattle’s first run on a single by Dustin Ackley.

RAYS 4, TIGERS 2

DETROIT • Ben Zobrist hit a tiebreaking two-run single in the ninth inning, and the Tampa Bay Rays scored four runs in the ninth inning.

The Tigers (4-1) lost for the first time this season.

ATHLETICS 5, ROYALS 4, 12 INN.

OAKLAND, Calif.

Jonathan Broxton hit Jonny Gomes with the first pitch he threw with the bases loaded in the 12th inning, forcing Jemile Weeks home for the winning run.

TWINS 6, ANGELS 5

MINNEAPOLIS

Jamey Carroll had his first two hits with Minnesota, including the go-ahead single in the seventh, and Josh Willingham hit a two-run homer.

YANKEES 6, ORIOLES 4, 10 INN.

BALTIMORE • Nick Swisher hit a two-run homer in the 10th, and the New York Yankees beat Baltimore for their second straight extra-inning win and a three-game sweep of the Orioles.

BLUE JAYS 3, RED SOX 1

TORONTO • Ricky Romero outduelled Jon Lester, Yunel Escobar drove in two runs and Boston fell to 1-5.

Other than a third inning in which the teams combined for five hits and three runs, both left-handers were perfect until Lester (0-1) issued a two-out walk to Rajai Davis in the eighth, snapping a streak of 15 consecutive outs. Davis promptly stole second, beating the tag on a failed Red Sox pickoff play, then scored on Escobar’s single to center.

WHITE SOX 10, INDIANS 6

CLEVELAND • A.J. Pierzynski hit a three-run homer and drove in four runs.

Chicago scored four runs in the first off Justin Masterson (0-1), but Cleveland closed to 5-4 in the fifth against John Danks (1-1) on Travis Hafner’s two-run double.

spot with 14 stolen bases.

Cheyenne, the catcher, bats cleanup with a .561 average, seven extra-base hits, 15 RBIs and 10 stolen bases.

Keep that up, and scholarship offers should undoubtedly follow. Wherever they end up in college, they hope to be a package deal.

“We would be stronger together,” Chance said.

Besides their obvious contribution on the field, Joyce said the Hegsteds bring an energy that elevates the entire team. The Spartans are 4-2 in the Great Basin Conference heading into their three-game series against Twin Falls today and Friday.

Rupert still isn’t home, but perhaps being a Spartan isn’t so bad after all.

“I’m not going to lie, at first I wasn’t too excited because I heard they were a bad team,” said Cheyenne. “They’ve improved so much and I’m so happy to be on this team now because it’s like ... being able to see people that I love, or gotten to care about, grow. It’s nice to see.”

For the first time in years, Minico is a contender in the Great Basin Conference. Still, the Spartans have a lot of work ahead if they hope to go to state.

At least now they have a couple players who have been there, done that.

“We take it one game at a time, one pitch at a time. We always say that before a game, but in our hearts we all know we’re reaching for state,” Cheyenne said.

Meyer

said that there was a different set of rules for star players such as wide receiver Percy Harvin.

“I’m extremely proud of what we did down there. And throwing great players — not good players, great players — under the bus like that, I don’t get the intent,” he said. “I’ll fight for those guys, man. Those guys did a lot of great things for the University of Florida. And to sit there and call them out four or five years later, I’m not sure of the intent, once again.”

“But I’ll always fight for those guys.”

Meyer won two national championships at Florida but twice left the program, each time citing health issues. He retired after the 2010 season, then later took a job as a college football analyst with ESPN for a year. He was hired last November to pick up the pieces of an Ohio State program which has suffered through player suspensions and departures, NCAA sanctions and the forced resignation of coach Jim Tressel due to a memorabilia-for-money scandal.

The Buckeyes, who were 6-7 a year ago and lost their last four games including, ironically, the Gator Bowl to Florida, are on NCAA probation and have been banned from playing in a bowl game after the 2012 season.

Meyer said he had talked to several former Florida players and coaches who were upset by the Sporting News story.

The story cited multiple sources who confirmed that during the 2008 season Harvin, now a member of the NFL’s Minnesota Vikings, physically attacked Florida wide receivers coach Billy Gonzales, grabbing him by the neck and throwing him to the ground. It said that after Harvin was pulled off Gonzales by two assistant coaches, he was never disciplined.

Gonzales, now an offensive coordinator at Illinois, issued a statement earlier on Wednesday.

“In response to a recent story alleging an incident between Percy Harvin and me and while at Florida, the story is inaccurate,” he said in the statement. “It didn’t happen.”

Meyer said he and his staff met or exceeded all standards in terms of graduation rate, wins, abiding by NCAA rules and recruiting quality players.

The story had said there was a “circle of trust” which enabled and pandered to elite players. Meyer denied it on Wednesday.

Asked if he disagreed in particular with a certain contention in the story, Meyer said, “Oh, more than one.”

He seemed particularly upset by the inference that he and his staff had flaunted NCAA bylaws.

“I want to say this real clear: There is no violation that we had as far as that whole conversation,” Meyer said. “I’m not sure why that keeps coming up. So, if you would bold that for me, underline it — there is not an NCAA violation!”

Madness

night. Muhammad went first, picking UCLA over his other his other finalists, Duke and Kentucky.

No word on whether he would’ve chosen the NBA if that had been an option.

“I choose to be a Bru-in,” Muhammad said. “So I’ll be at UCLA next year.”

Though he very well could spend the next four years in school, he tellingly made no commitment beyond that.

Noel chose Kentucky, which was no surprise if you knew he had the team’s logo shaved into his head prior to making his announcement. Wildcats coach John Calipari has perfected the one-and-done system — now known as won-and-done — that everyone has played by since 2005.

But really, if a kid is truly serious about getting an education, he should commit to a school for a minimum of three years — just like they do in college baseball. If he wants to go to the NBA, the door should be open as soon as he picks up his high school diploma.

Don’t count on any changes, though.

For everyone beyond the kids, the status quo is working out just fine.

NBA Commissioner David Stern actually wants to increase the age limit from 19 to 20, ensuring a player has to spend two years in college whether he wants to or not — development time that would further reduce the chance of a team making a huge mistake on draft day (see: Kwame Brown) and delaying a player’s progression to the really big money beyond entry level contracts.

“This is not a social program. This is a business rule for us,” Stern conceded recently, showing a lot more forthrightness than the NCAA ever does. “We would like a year to look at them and I think it’s been interesting to see how the players do against first-class competition in the NAAs and then teams have the ability to judge and make judgments, because high-ranking draft picks are very, very valuable.”

The colleges would certainly go along with a two-and-done proposal to ensure themselves of an additional year of free labor from the best players, undoubtedly boosting their own bottom line even if it did force them to pay a bit more attention to that whole academics thing. As it stands now, the top recruits barely have to find their way to class, needing only to maintain grades for one semester to get through their required season.

Even for an educational system that long ago sold its soul, this is perhaps the greatest farce of all, trying to pass off the one-and-doners as actual student athletes.

Many of the leading prospects already leave home while in high school, going off to play for elite prep schools that travel the country playing games, just like they do in college. Those experiences — combined with opportunities to hone their games in sophisticated AAU programs — certainly raise questions about how much a player really benefits from a single season at a university.

Sure, Brown was a colossal bust after going straight from high school to the NBA as the top overall pick in 2001. But what about LeBron James? And Dwight Howard? And Kobe Bryant? They all took the same route, and it seems to have worked out just fine for them.

Muhammad and Noel should’ve had the same choice.

Joey Cora, filling in as Marlins manager for the suspended Ozzie Guillen, applauds a play in his team's game Wednesday against the Phillies.

Cora, Marlins Back Guillen as Suspension Begins

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHILADELPHIA • Nearly all the Miami Marlins rushed over to the dugout railing and playfully pretended to listen when Joey Cora sat down to speak about filling in for suspended manager Ozzie Guillen.

Shortly after Guillen addressed the team in the clubhouse Wednesday and apologized for saying he admired Fidel Castro, it was business as usual for the players.

To a man, they had his back.

"It's really a hard time for him and his family," closer Heath Bell said. "We felt bad for him. You have to understand that occasionally guys make mistakes. At least he's owning up to it and not trying to hide or shy away from it. He's going to try and make up for his mistakes."

"He can only be a better person out of it. Like he said, if he doesn't learn from this, he's stupid. That's what he said."

Guillen's comments led to his five-game suspension that started when Miami played the Phillies in the second game of a three-game series. The Marlins, who opened a new ballpark last week and added several marquee free agents over the winter, are off to a 2-3 start.

A day after a contrite Guillen held an hourlong news conference in Miami, he talked to the team for less than 10 minutes and expressed similar emotions.

"There's nothing he needs to apologize to us about," reliever Mike Dunn said. "He's our manager and we back him 100 percent."

Outfielder Logan Morrison said: "I love the guy!"

The Marlins conclude the series with Philadelphia on Thursday, before returning home to play Houston on Friday.

Guillen's praise of the Cuban dictator in an interview with Time magazine outraged the Cuban-American community in Miami and led some politicians to call for his dismissal.

"This one was big and he felt it from the beginning," said Cora, a close friend of Guillen who's been coaching under him since 2004 with the Chicago White Sox. "He got shaken, he felt it. After he analyzed what happened, in retrospect, he wouldn't have said what he said. He apologized and it came from the heart and hopefully he makes amends with the community."

"He will."

Cora has filled in for Guillen before, though never under these circumstances. He said he planned to manage games the way Guillen would and was certain players wouldn't be affected.

Things weren't quite the same for him, of course.

"I've never had this many people try to get me to talk," Cora joked. "You guys know me. I don't talk. I barely say 'Hi' to people."

Records: Petrino, Mistress in Frequent Contact

ASSOCIATED PRESS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. • Former Arkansas coach Bobby Petrino and his mistress were in frequent contact over the past six months, sometimes calling or texting each other dozens of times in a single day — including game days, according to a review of his business cellphone records by The Associated Press.

One of those calls included the very moment when the state police report that led to the end of Petrino's Arkansas career was released.

Petrino was fired Tuesday night for failing to disclose his relationship with Jessica Dorrell, a 25-year-old former Razorbacks volleyball player he hired last month without disclosing his conflict of interest or the fact he had once paid her $20,000.

Athletic director Jeff Long said he had determined their relationship had been ongoing for a "significant" amount of time, but he did not say for how long.

Records obtained by The Associated Press through a Freedom of Information Act request clearly show Petrino remained in close contact with Dorrell following the April 1 motorcycle accident in which Petrino suffered four broken ribs, a cracked neck vertebra and scrapes and bruises.

That day, Petrino and Dorrell went for a motorcycle ride on a two-lane highway southeast of Fayetteville and skidded off the road. Petrino and Dorrell talked for 16 minutes earlier that day before the crash at 6:45 p.m., and they also had a 22-minute conversation the following day — while Petrino was still in the hospital recovering.

Petrino's accident report was disclosed by state police on April 5, and the two talked 11 times that day. That included a pair of 2-minute calls around 3:30 p.m. that afternoon, which is when police released the report.

Later that evening, Petrino exchanged four calls with his agent, Russ Campbell, totaling 10 minutes.

The cellphone records show Petrino and Dorrell were in close contact at least as far back as Sept. 12. The university provided nearly seven months of Petrino's business cellphone records, and that is the first date listed. Among the findings:

Petrino, a married father of four, exchanged 91 texts with Dorrell on Sept. 13 and 84 texts with her over five hours on Oct. 28, the day before a game at Vanderbilt. On Oct. 17, the two swapped 73 text messages, and on four days in a row in the week before a loss to eventual national champion Alabama, Petrino called Dorrell early — at 5:52 a.m., 6:35 a.m., 5:49 a.m. and 7:55 a.m.

The day Arkansas beat Troy, the two exchanged 70 texts. They exchanged 26 texts the day Arkansas beat Mississippi State and four following the Razorbacks' loss to LSU on Nov. 25.

Today is Friday, April 13, the 104th day of 2012. There are 262 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:
On April 13, 1861, at the start of the Civil War, Fort Sumter in South Carolina fell to Confederate forces as the Union commander, Maj. Robert Anderson, agreed to surrender in the face of relentless bombardment.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:
In 1598, King Henry IV of France endorsed the Edict of Nantes, which granted rights to the Protestant Huguenots. (The edict was abrogated in 1685 by King Louis XIV, who declared France entirely Catholic again.)
In 1742, Handel's "Messiah" had its first public performance in Dublin, Ireland.
In 1743, the third president of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, was born in Shadwell in the Virginia Colony.
In 1860, the Pony Express completed its inaugural run from St. Joseph, Mo. to Sacramento, Calif. in 10 days.
In 1912, the Royal Flying Corps, a predecessor of Britain's Royal Air Force, was created.
In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicated the Jefferson Memorial.

In 1958, Van Cliburn of the United States won the first International Tchaikovsky Competition for piano in Moscow; Russian Valery Klimov won the violin competition.

In 1960, the U.S. Navy's Transit 1B navigational satellite was successfully launched into orbit.

In 1964, Sidney Poitier became the first black performer in a leading role to win an Academy Award for "Lilies of the Field." (Patricia Neal was named Best Actress for "Hud"; Best Picture went to "Tom Jones.")

In 1970, Apollo 13, four-fifths of the way to the moon, was crippled when a tank containing liquid oxygen burst. (The astronauts managed to return safely.)

In 1986, Pope John Paul II visited the Great Synagogue of Rome in the first recorded papal visit of its kind to a Jewish house of worship.

In 1992, the Great Chicago Flood took place as the city's century-old tunnel system and adjacent basements filled with water from the Chicago River.

Ten years ago: Venezuela's interim president, Pedro Carmona, resigned a day after taking office in the face of protests by thousands of supporters of the ousted president, Hugo Chavez.

Five years ago: Iraq's parliament met in an extraordinary session on a Friday, the Muslim day of prayer, and declared it would not bow to terrorism; a bouquet of red roses and a white lily sat in the place of a lawmaker killed in a parliament dining hall suicide bombing.

One year ago: Ousted Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and his two sons were detained for investigation of corruption, abuse of power and killings of protesters. A federal jury in San Francisco convicted Barry Bonds of a single charge of obstruction of justice, but failed to reach a verdict on the three counts at the heart of allegations that he'd knowingly used steroids and human growth hormone and lied to a grand jury about it.

"I can find nothing lowly in the universe."
— A.R. Ammons

The true expert pays proper attention to the spot cards, even when there is no obvious reason to preserve them. The idea that you will need to optimize communications and entries is an obvious one, but is often overlooked. Today's deal offers an example.

West leads the spade king against three no-trump. You win the second round of spades and see that you will need four hearts and four clubs to land the contract. How would you tackle the play?

When the cards lie as in the diagram, only one play is good enough. You must lead the club eight to dummy's ace. The nine falls from East, and you take a successful heart finesse. You continue with the club seven to dummy's king, noting with interest that East follows with the jack. How do you think the clubs lie after this fall of the cards?

East will produce two middle cards on the first two rounds when he holds J-10-9, J-10, J-9 or 10-9. So, the odds are approximately 3-1 in favor of East's holding only two clubs. What is more, you are prepared for a finesse against West's 10 after your thoughtful unblock of the eight and seven!

You take your second heart finesse and lead the club three to dummy's six. You then play the club queen and finesse a third time in hearts. Contract made.

ANSWER: In standard American, you'd bid four no-trump to invite slam with no four-card major. For an extra wrinkle, if you play Texas transfers (four diamonds and four hearts show six-card heart and spade suits), a four-spade call can be used to show a balanced invitation with both four-card minors — in other words, exactly this hand. So a direct four-no-trump response will suggest a very flat hand.

YOUR IRONING DONE!

IF APRIL 13 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Right now, you have the wisdom to plan ahead to avoid the pitfalls that lie ahead in May, late July and August. Just because you fear you are reaching your sell-by date doesn't mean you should accept a relationship or a job that isn't first rate or completely satisfying. Because your opportunities are limited, however, you won't be able to shake off responsibilities. Hold off on forming new relationships and making irrevocable decisions or changes until September. You will be blessed by greater opportunities for success in December and January.

HOROSCOPE

Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Lions and tigers and bears, oh, my! It is Friday the 13th and most of them are fairly benign. In this instance, however, anything you begin of importance will probably end up causing complications.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You can't be two places at once. Prioritize and make sure that you tackle the most important task first. Social and business events may be in conflict. Use good judgment to strike a happy medium.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You or your most influential companions are prone to wishful thinking. Don't let your desire for love and admiration interfere with the important tasks on your calendar. Give a new hookup a rain check.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You can't tell what tomorrow will bring. Since the future is uncertain, you should hold onto whatever security you have. This is a poor time to make major changes or to gamble with your financial future.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): It is not all just a superstition. The truth is that you could have bad luck if you walk under a ladder or fail to meet deadlines. Organize and follow the schedule to avoid confusion and falling behind.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): When you are in too much of a hurry to make a buck, you end up counting on luck. Even if this weren't Friday the 13th, it would be an especially bad to sign a contract of any importance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The perfectionist in you can easily find fault with those who are nearest and dearest. Be understanding with loved ones; overlook their shortcomings rather than offer criticisms that cause hurt feelings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): What you see isn't always what you get. In an effort to appear amenable, you could easily mislead others as to your true intentions. Avoid signing agreements, buying on credit or making investments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Those who voice false compliments make good strangers. Someone may smile and blow happy smoke in your direction to mask a hidden agenda. If it seems too good to be true, it probably is.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your crystal ball is clouded. While it is off at the cleaners, hold off on making irrevocable decisions or pushing your luck. This isn't a good time to make major purchases, promises or sudden changes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Carbon-based life forms need one another to survive. You might think that a valuable relationship has entered a twilight zone. Don't get engaged in confrontations; problems will pass soon.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): If you are misled, you can make a mistake. You might think that some things just have to be true because there is no other alternative in view. Hold off on making decisions that involve money or relationships.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Tuesday, June 12, 2012, at 2:00 p.m., on the steps of the Jerome County Courthouse located at 300 N Lincoln, Jerome, ID 83338, Alliance Title & Escrow Corp. as successor trustee (the "Trustee"), will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Jerome, State of Idaho, and described as follows:

Township 9 South, Range 19 East of the Boise Meridian, Jerome County Idaho,

That portion of the NE1/4NE1/4, Section 34 described as follows: Commencing at the Southeast corner of said Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter; thence running West from the South boundary a distance of 223 feet; thence North in a direct line 125 feet; thence

East to the East boundary line of the said Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter 223 feet; thence South to the POINT OF BEGINNING, including that manufactured home, more particularly described as a 2000 Champion, Americana 240 Model, 27 x 66, Serial Number 17-99-240-00114A/B, including the fixtures therein, attached thereon,

TOGETHER WITH all rights, easements, appurtenances, royalties, mineral rights, oil and gas rights, all water and riparian rights, ditches, and water stock and all existing and future improvements, structures, fixtures, and replacements that may now, or at any time in the future, be part of the real estate described above,

(the "Real Property").

The Trustee has no knowledge of a more particular description of the above described Real Property but for purposes of compliance with Idaho Code, Section 60-113, the Trustee has been informed that the street address of 520 Idaho Street South, Eden, Idaho 83325, may sometimes be associated with said Real Property.

The Trustee's sale shall be made pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the Deed of Trust to satisfy the obligation secured thereby. The sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrance. The Deed of Trust referred to herein was executed by MICHAEL J. SCHILZ and JAMIE M. O'DONNELL, unmarried persons, as Grantor, to Scot M. Ludwig, as original Trustee, for the benefit and security of Green Tree Servicing LLC fka Conseqo Finance Servicing Corp. (Beneficiary), dated April 27, 2000, and recorded May 1, 2000, as Instrument No. 2002047, official records of Jerome County, Idaho, (the "Deed of Trust"). The beneficial interest under said Deed of Trust was assigned of record to U.S. Bank, National Association as Trustee on behalf of Manufactured Housing Contract Senior/Subordinate Pass-Through Certificate 2000-4, by Assignment of Deed of Trust executed by Green Tree Servicing LLC fka Conseqo Finance Servicing Corp., dated November 1, 2011, recorded January 18, 2012, as Instrument No. 2120203, official records of Jerome County, Idaho, whereas Green Tree Servicing LLC is acting as the Servicer for Beneficiary, with delegated authority under the transaction documents. Alliance Title & Escrow Corp. has been appointed as Successor Trustee, pursuant to an Appointment of Successor Trustee dated October 7, 2011, and recorded January 18, 2012, as Instrument No. 2120202 records of Jerome County, Idaho. Pursuant to Idaho Code Section 28-9-604(2), the Lender has elected to proceed as to both the Real Property and the personal property attached thereon in accordance with its rights and remedies in respect to the Real Property described herein.

THE ABOVE GRANTOR IS NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45 1506(4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THE GRANTOR IS, OR IS NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The defaults for which this sale is to be made are failure to pay:

(i) the regular monthly payments of principal and interest, as set forth and required by the Deed of Trust and Note, due on June 5, 2011, in the amount of $551.98 and thereafter on the 5th day of each month until the date of sale or reinstatement;

(ii) late fees in the amount of $82.77 accrued through January 18, 2012, plus the greater of $5.00 or 5% of the unpaid amount of each payment of principal and interest not paid within 15 days of the due date, until the date of sale or reinstatement;

(iii) escrow fees; and

(iv) delinquent real property taxes for the years 2008, 2009, 2010 and the first half of 2011, together with penalties and interest; and

(v) real property taxes for the second half of the year 2011 and the year 2012.

The original loan amount was $64,246.38 with interest due thereon at the rate of 9.75% per annum, as evidenced by the Real Estate Note (the "Note") dated April 27, 2000, executed by Grantor payable to Lender. The principal balance due on the Note as of January 18, 2012 is $60,817.11.

The balance owing as of January 18, 2012, on the Note secured by the Deed of Trust and Note is $73,648.19 including principal, accrued interest and late charges, but excluding delinquent property taxes, costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligations under the above mentioned Deed of Trust and Note or in connection with this sale, as trustee's fees and/or reasonable attorney's fees, as authorized in the Deed of Trust and Note.

THIS IS AN ATTEMPT TO COLLECT A DEBT, AND ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE.

IDAHO HOUSING AND FINANCE ASSOCIATION ADDITIONAL MORTGAGE CREDIT CERTIFICATE PROGRAM
 The Idaho Housing and Finance Association ("IHFA") is implementing a new installment of its Mortgage Credit Certificate Program under Section 25 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code (the "Code"). A Mortgage Credit Certificate ("MCC") reduces the amount of Federal income tax a qualified home buyer pays by providing a tax credit. Consequently, the home buyer has more disposable income to make loan payments. After all other credits and deductions are taken into account, the value of the MCC is applied directly to the home buyer's remaining Federal tax liability. The amount of the credit may not exceed a taxpayer's total tax liability for a specific year, however, any excess credit may be carried forward to a subsequent tax year for up to three years.
 IHFA continues to issue MCCs under its current program. Additional issuance of MCCs under this new installment of its MCC program is expected to begin in mid July, 2012 for mortgage loans made at that time. MCCs will be made available to eligible home buyers on a first-come, first-served basis and may be used to purchase newly constructed housing, existing housing, or manufactured housing on owner occupied lots. An MCC cannot be issued to a home buyer who is refinancing an existing mortgage.
 The amount of the credit under the proposed program will be twenty five percent (25%) of the yearly interest paid on a qualified mortgage with an annual credit maximum of $2,000 for the eligible borrower. At least 20% of the amount issued is reserved for MCC's for mortgage loans on single family residences located in targeted counties. A list of targeted counties is available at IdaMortgage.com.
 Present IHFA and Federal regulations require borrowers to meet the certain requirements to be eligible for an MCC including the following, unless IHFA is advised that less restrictive limits can legally be authorized:

1. The borrower must be a first-time home owner, except in the 27 targeted counties. A first-time home owner is defined as a household that has not owned a principal residence for a period of three (3) years prior to the date of executing the MCC-assisted mortgage loan.
2. A borrower with a family of three or more persons must have an annual gross income not exceeding 115% of the applicable area median family income, while a borrower with a family of one or two persons must have an annual gross income not exceeding 100% of the applicable area median family income, except that higher family income limits may be adopted for targeted counties. A list of the current income limits is available at IdaMortgage.com.
3. The borrower must purchase a single family residence, in Idaho, and occupy the housing unit as a principal residence.
4. The borrower must purchase a single family residence with an acquisition cost which does not exceed 90% of the average area purchase price applicable to such residence, except that the acquisition cost may be 110% of the average area purchase price in targeted counties. A list of these purchase price limits can be found at IdaMortgage.com..
5. The borrower must acquire a new mortgage or home loan and meet the credit and underwriting criteria established by the participating lender who provides the mortgage loan. Refinancing of an existing mortgage or land contract is not permissible.

These eligibility requirements and the then current numeric values will be printed and distributed to the public in a Program brochure on Program implementation and will be available online at IdaMortgage.com. The eligibility requirements will not exceed, but may be lower than, the most recently published figures for applicable area median family income and average area purchase price which have been published by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Department of Treasury.

MCCs may be used in conjunction with any privately insured or uninsured fixed rate or adjustable rate loan and such loans are expected to be purchased by IHFA from funds which are not derived from mortgage revenue bonds under Section 143 of the Code. A home buyer may make application for an MCC, through a participating lender or a participating mortgage broker, at the time of loan application. A list of such lenders and mortgage brokers will be available online at IdaMortgage.com. MCCs cannot be used with any mortgage loans supported by mortgage revenue bonds under Section 143 of the Code.

Banks, savings and loan associations, mortgage companies, and other approved financing institutions are invited to participate as lenders. Any lender who wishes to participate will be required to sign a Lender Agreement, which outlines the lender's review and reporting responsibilities. IHFA's list of participating lenders is available at IdaMortgage.com. IHFA will assist lenders in their reporting and other responsibilities.
 Each borrower may be charged up to [$ 500] as a MCC processing fee.

If you have any questions regarding the Mortgage Credit Certificate Program or want further information about the requirements for participating lenders, please contact the Idaho Housing and Finance Association, mail address: P.O. Box 7899, Boise, Idaho 83707-1899; physical address: 565 West Myrtle Street, Boise, Idaho, 1-866-432-4066 or (208) 424-7066.

YOU ARE NOTIFIED THAT:

An Order Expanding Juvenile Corrections Act Proceeding To Child Protective Act Proceeding, a copy of which is attached, has been filed in the above-entitled matter in the Magistrate's Division of the District Court of Twin Falls County, Idaho, by the Prosecuting Attorney, alleging the above-named child, Keagan, comes within the Court's jurisdiction under the Child Protective Act.

You are hereby directed to appear personally for a Review Hearing on June 14, 2012 at 9:30 AM at the Twin Falls County Court-house, 425 Shoshone Street, Twin Falls, Idaho.

You are notified that service of the attached Order Expanding Juvenile Correction Act Proceeding To Child Protective Act Proceeding upon you, as the parent(s), guardian, or custodian of this child, confers personal jurisdiction of the Court upon you and subjects you to the provisions of the Child Protective Act.

You are notified that if you fail to appear without reasonable cause, the Court may proceed in your absence or you may be proceeded against for contempt of Court.

You are notified that the parent(s), guardian, or a custodian may be financially liable for the support and/or treatment of the child.

You are further notified that the child and parent(s), guardian, or custodian have the right to be represented by an attorney of your choosing, or if financially unable to pay, have the right to have an attorney appointed by the Court to represent the child or the parent(s), guardian, or custodian at county expense. If you request to have an attorney appointed at county expense, you must appear before the date of the hearing given above, at which time the Court shall consider appointment of an attorney for the child and inquire whether the parent(s), guardian, or custodian require the separate appointment of an attorney.

You are further notified that there shall be a rebuttable presumption that if a child is placed in the custody of the IDHW and was also placed in care out of the home for a period not less than fifteen (15) out of the last twenty-two (22) months from the date of Adjudication, the IDHW shall initiate a Petition for Termination of Parental Rights. This presumption may be rebutted by a finding by the Court that the filing of a Petition for Termination of Parental Rights would not be in the best interest of the child and their family, or that the child is placed permanently with a relative.

WITNESS MY HAND AND SEAL of said Magistrate Court this 2nd day of April, 2012.

MTE Communications, Inc. Stanley Fiber Optic Proposal

The Forest Service, Sawtooth National Forest, Sawtooth National Recreation Area, is proposing to authorize MTE Communications, Inc. (Midvale) to install buried fiber optic cable along existing telephone service routes to provide enhanced communication service within the Stanley Basin. The proposed buried fiber optic cable route is from Stanley west along State Highway 21 to Forest Road (FR) 653 and then up Cow Lane (FR 682) about 4 miles. The buried line then switches to overhead on existing Salmon River Electric poles and ends at FR 621 near a commonly used Forest Service fire camp. Other buried fiber spurs include Iron Creek subdivision and a segment connecting the Stanley Museum and Salmon River Lodge within Stanley. No disruption of traffic is expected along the routes.

The new fiber optic cable would be buried in conduit so that replacement and future upgrades could be accommodated without additional ground disturbance. Vegetation would be re-established in disturbed areas by reseeding as needed. Surface areas would be protected from sediment transfer and flow by using standard sediment prevention and retention Best Management Practices (BMPs) at locations within 75 feet of stream channels or standing water.

A detailed proposed action description and other information regarding this action may be obtained from: Dave Fluetsch, 5 North Fork Canyon Road, Ketchum, ID 83340 (phone: 208-727-5000; dfluetsch@fs.fed.us). The purpose of this comment period is to provide an opportunity for the public to provide meaningful participation on a proposed action prior to a decision being made.

How to Comment and Timeframe

Written, facsimile, hand-delivered, oral, and electronic comments concerning this action will be accepted for 30 calendar days following the publication of this notice in the Twin Falls Times-News, the newspaper of record. The publication date in the newspaper of record is the exclusive means for calculating the comment period for this analysis. Those wishing to comment should not rely upon dates or timeframe information provided by any other source. The regulations prohibit extending the length of the comment period.

Written comments must be submitted to: Joby Timm, Area Ranger, Sawtooth National Recreation Area, 5 North Fork Canyon Road, Ketchum, ID 83340. The office business hours for those submitting hand-delivered comments are 8:30am - 5pm, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays (Sawtooth NRA Headquarters, 8 miles north of Ketchum).

Oral comments must be provided at the Responsible Official's office during normal business hours via telephone (208-727-5000) or in person.

Electronic comments must be submitted in a format such as an email message, plain text (.txt), rich text format (.rtf), and Word (.doc) to <comments-intermtn-sawtooth-nra@fs.fed.us>. In cases where no identifiable name is attached to an electronic message, a verification of identity will be required for appeal eligibility. A scanned signature can be used for verification.

Appeal Eligibility

It is the responsibility of persons providing comments to submit them by the close of the comment period. Those who provide comments during this comment period are eligible to appeal the decision under the regulations. Individuals and organizations wishing to be eligible to appeal must provide the following information:

1. Name and Address;
  2. Title of the proposed action;
  3. Specific facts or comments on the proposed action, along with supporting reasons that the Responsible Official should consider in reaching a decision;
  4. Signature or other verification of identity upon request; identification of the individual or organization who authored the comments(s) is necessary for appeal eligibility;
  5. For multiple names or multiple organizations, a signature must be provided for the individual authorized to represent each organization, or for each individual that wishes to have appeal eligibility, and
  6. Individual members of organizations must submit their own comments to meet the requirements of appeal eligibility as an individual, comments received on behalf of an organization are considered as those of the organization only.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to respond to the letter from "Hurting in Virginia Beach, Va." (Feb. 6), who complained that the smell of mint chewing gum triggers her migraines. Many gum chewers, like me, have good reasons for doing it. I chew gum on planes because it helps reduce sinus pressure, thus preventing my own headaches. I am also a former smoker, and gum-chewing is a healthier alternative to tobacco.

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

If "Hurting" explained her situation to me, I would certainly abide by her request to not chew, although I would find it uncomfortable to go without for long. I recommend she carry several packs of non-mint gum in her purse. When forced into close proximity with a gum-chewer, she could then offer him or her an acceptable alternative. I believe she will almost certainly find people more receptive to her needs that way.

— DAVE IN SPRING HILL, FLA.

DEAR DAVE: Your commonsense suggestion was the one most often repeated by my readers. I advised "Hurting" that whether at a concert or on a plane, she could ask to be moved away from an "offender." My readers comment:

DEAR ABBY: I propose a different solution. She should purchase one (or several) of those surgical masks that cover the mouth and nose. They come in a variety of styles, and she could surely find one that would block her sense of smell. This way she won't have to risk a confrontation or depend on a third party to get involved. Once she detects the offensive smell, she can just put on her mask, no one gets bothered and everyone's happy.

— TIM IN SALEM, ORE.

DEAR ABBY: I sympathize with "Hurting." I am a migraine sufferer myself. The smell of many perfumes, lotions, cleaning agents, tobacco smoke — even some foods — can trigger a migraine. Because it is nearly impossible to control what other people wear, clean with or eat, I have found it much easier over the years to make sure I always carry some medication with me whenever I go out. Being able to take my medication the minute I sense a migraine coming on has prevented many events from ending badly for me.

— FEELING HER PAIN IN NEW YORK

DEAR ABBY: I have a deadly allergy to oranges. The smell alone can bring me very close to anaphylactic shock, but more often just causes a migraine like "Hurting's." I have a small bottle of eucalyptus oil I take with me and place a drop or two under my nose. This will stop the reaction. Hope this information helps.

— VERNELLE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR ABBY: Your advice was spot on as far as asking the gum chewer to discard the gum, or to be reseated in a theater. But often the house is full, or the plane has no empty seats and no one will switch. As I suffer from similar issues, my father found me a device called a personal air purifier. It hangs around your neck (or sits in your lap) and literally cleans the air you breathe. It is battery-operated and goes everywhere. It has saved me tons of embarrassment when dealing with other people in small spaces.

— RACHEL IN CHERRY HILL, N.J.

DEAR ABBY: "Hurting" needs to take preventive action when she makes her concert reservation. Simply ask for an aisle seat (for her) and the one beside it (where her husband will sit). Of course, it will be slightly more difficult on a plane because of closer quarters, but she can still make sure her husband is sitting between her and the offender as a buffer, which might help a little.

YOU ARE NOTIFIED THAT:
A Petition, a copy of which is attached, has been filed in the above-entitled matter in the Magistrate's Division of the District Court of Twin Falls County, Idaho, by the Prosecuting Attorney, alleging the above-named child comes within the Court's jurisdiction under the Child Protective Act.

You are hereby directed to appear personally for a Review Hearing at the Twin Falls County Courthouse, 425 Shoshone Street, Twin Falls, Idaho, on May 3, 2012 at 1:30 PM.

You are notified that service of the attached Petition upon you, as the parent(s), guardian, or custodian of this child, confers personal jurisdiction of the Court upon you and subjects you to the provisions of the Child Protective Act.

You are notified that if you fail to appear without reasonable cause, the Court may proceed in your absence or you may be proceeded against for contempt of Court.

You are notified that the parent(s), guardian, or a custodian may be financially liable for the support and/or treatment of the child.

You are further notified that the child and parent(s), guardian, or custodian have the right to be represented by an attorney of your choosing, or if financially unable to pay, have the right to have an attorney appointed by the Court to represent the child or the parent(s), guardian, or custodian at county expense. If you request to have an attorney appointed at county expense, you must appear before the date of the hearing given above, at which time the Court shall consider appointment of an attorney for the child and inquire whether the parent(s), guardian, or custodian require the separate appointment of an attorney.

You are further notified that there shall be a rebuttable presumption that if a child is placed in the custody of the IDHW and was also placed in care out of the home for a period not less than fifteen (15) out of the last twenty-two (22) months from the date of Adjudication, the IDHW shall initiate a Petition for Termination of Parental Rights. This presumption may be rebutted by a finding by the Court that the filing of a Petition for Termination of Parental Rights would not be in the best interest of the child and their family, or that the child is placed permanently with a relative.

WITNESS MY HAND AND SEAL of said Magistrate Court this 2nd day of April, 2012.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE: The following described property will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, payable in lawful money of the United States, in the office of First American Title Company, 260 3rd Avenue North, Twin Falls, ID 83301, on 07/30/2012 at 11:00 AM, (recognized local time) for the purpose of foreclosing that certain Deed of Trust recorded 02/29/2008 as Instrument Number 2008-004506, and executed by WESLEY BAUER, AND KATIE BAUER, HUSBAND AND WIFE, as Grantor(s), in favor of MORTGAGE ELECTRONIC REGISTRATION SYSTEMS, INC., as Beneficiary, to RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., the Current Trustee of record, covering the following real property located in Twin Falls County, State of Idaho: LOT 5 IN BLOCK 6 OF CANYON TRAILS SUBDIVISION NO. 4, A PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT, TWIN FALLS COUNTY, IDAHO, RECORDED IN BOOK 20 OF PLATS, PAGE 6. The Trustee has no knowledge of a more particular description of the above referenced real property, but for purpose of compliance with Idaho Code, Section 60-113, the Trustee has been informed that the street address of, 1886 TALUS LOOP, Twin Falls, ID, 83301 is sometimes associated with said real property. Bidders must be prepared to tender the trustee the full amount of the bid at the sale in the form of cash, or a cashier's check drawn on a state or federally insured savings institution. Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in that certain Deed of Trust. The default for which this sale is to be made is: Failure to pay the monthly payment due 01/01/2011 of principal, interest and impounds and subsequent installments due thereafter; plus late charges, with interest currently accruing at 4.250% per annum; together with all subsequent sums advanced by beneficiary pursuant to the terms and conditions of said Deed of Trust, and any supplemental modifications thereto. The principal balance owing as of this date on said obligation is $339,524.08, plus interest, costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligations thereunder and in this sale, together with any unpaid and/or accruing real property taxes, and/or assessments, attorneys' fees, Trustees' fees and costs, and any other amount advanced to protect said security, as authorized in the promissory note secured by the aforementioned Deed of Trust. Therefore, the Beneficiary elects to sell, or cause said trust property to be sold, to satisfy said obligation. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THIS FIRM IS ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT AND ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE, AND THAT THE DEBT MAY BE DISPUTED. THE ABOVE GRANTORS ARE NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506(4)(a) IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION. DATED: 03/22/2012, RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., Name and Address of the Current Trustee is: RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., 1800 Tapo Canyon Rd., CA6-914-01-94, SIMI VALLEY, CA 80028-1821, PHONE: (800) 281-8219. NOTICE OF RE-SCHEDULED TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Thursday, the 3rd day of May, 2012, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock a.m. of said day at Alliance Title & Escrow, 1411 Falls Ave. E., Ste. 1315, Twin Falls, in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, Ryan M Fawcett, as Successor Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property situated in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, and described as follows, to wit:
LOT 4 IN BLOCK 4 OF WHITE & CALLAHAN'S GOLDEN RULE ADDITION, TWIN FALLS COUNTY, IDAHO, ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL PLAT THEREOF, FILED IN BOOK 2 OF PLATS AT PAGE(S) 4, OFFICIAL RECORDS OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY, IDAHO.

The Successor Trustee has no knowledge of a more particular description of the above referenced real property, but for purposes of compliance with Section 60-113, Idaho Code, the Successor Trustee has been informed that the street address of 171 Van Buren St., Twin Falls, Idaho, is sometimes associated with said real property.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the Deed of Trust executed by TERRY K. PARK, an Unmarried Person, Grantor, to Ryan M Fawcett, Successor Trustee, for the benefit and security of GMAC MORTGAGE CORPORATION, recorded April 30, 2003, as Instrument No. 2003-011090, Mortgage records of Twin Falls County, Idaho; and assigned to the IDAHO HOUSING AND FINANCE ASSOCIATION by Assignment of Deed of Trust recorded on September 29, 2003, as Instrument No. 2003-025355, Mortgage records of Twin Falls County, Idaho. THE ABOVE GRANTOR IS NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506 (4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT SHE IS, OR IS NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The default for which this sale is to be made is the failure to pay when due, monthly installment payments under the Deed of Trust Note dated April 30, 2003, in the amount of $493.00 each, for the months of March through August, 2011, inclusive; and for each and every month thereafter until date of sale or reimbursement. All delinquent payments are now due, plus accumulated late charges, plus any costs or expenses associated with this foreclosure. The accrued interest is at the rate of 5.66% per annum from February 1, 2011. The principal balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said Deed of Trust is $51,022.25, plus accrued interest at the rate of 5.66% per annum from February 1, 2011.
DATED This 20th day of March, 2012.

ANSWER: You must distinguish what you should do when your RHO passes over one heart and what you should do if he competes further. You can raise to two hearts in competition — that shows very little extra beyond four trumps. However, if you raise freely when East passes, that would be an ace more than a minimum, with real game interest facing a seven-count, say. So you should pass now.

THE ABOVE GRANTOR IS NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506 (4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.
The default for which this sale is to be made is the failure to pay when due, monthly installment payments under the Deed of Trust Note dated July 29, 2009, in the amount of $867.00 each, for the months of August, 2011, through February, 2012, inclusive; and for each and every month thereafter until date of sale or reimbursement. All delinquent payments are now due, plus accumulated late charges, plus any costs or expenses associated with this foreclosure. The accrued interest is at the rate of 5.45% per annum from July 1, 2011. The principal balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said Deed of Trust is $120,775.85, plus accrued interest at the rate of 5.45% per annum from July 1, 2011.
DATED This 14th day of March, 2012.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
At 10:00 o'clock A.M. (recognized local time) on July 26, 2012, in the Office of First American Title Company, located at, 260 Third Avenue North, Twin Falls, Idaho, First American Title Company as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in Twin Falls County, Idaho, and described as follows, to-wit:
LOT 4 IN BLOCK 7 OF WHITE AND CALLAHAN'S GOLDEN RULE ADDITION, ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL PLAT THEREOF, FILED IN BOOK 2 OF PLATS AT PAGE (S) 4, OFFICIAL RECORDS OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY, IDAHO.
Information concerning the foreclosure action may be obtained from the Trustee, whose telephone number is (208) 785-2515. According to the Trustee's records, the street address of 265 Quincy Street, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301 is sometimes associated with said property.
Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession, or encumbrances to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the Deed of Trust executed by, Gary D. Martin, a single man as Grantor(s), First American Title Company, as Trustee, for the benefit and security of, Gary N. Nelson & Co., as Beneficiary; said Deed of Trust was recorded January 03, 2012 as Twin Falls County Recorder's Instrument No. 2012-000073 and re-recorded January 19, 2012 as Instrument No. 2012-001061.
The default for which this sale is to be made is as follows: 1) Failure to make the monthly principal and interest payment of $798.99 plus $8.00 monthly escrow fee for a total monthly payment of $806.99 due for the 1st day of February, 2012 and a like sum of $806.99 due for the 1st day of each and every month thereafter;
The above Grantor(s) are named to comply with Section 45-1506 (4)(a), Idaho Code. No representation is made that they are, or are not, presently responsible for this obligation. As of March 20, 2012 there is due and owing on the loan an unpaid principal balance of $63,100.93, accrued interest in the amount of $1,701.13 and late charges in the amount of $100.00 for a total amount due of $64,902.06. Interest continues to accrue on the Note at the rate of 12.000% per annum with a per diem rate of $20.75 after March 20, 2012. All delinquencies are now due together with any late charges, advances to protect the security, and fees and costs associated with this foreclosure.

Today is Thursday, April 12, the 103rd day of 2012. There are 263 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:
On April 12, 1862, during the Civil War, Union volunteers led by James J. Andrews stole a Confederate locomotive near Marietta, Ga., and headed toward Chattanooga, Tenn., on a mission to sabotage as much of the rail line as they could; the raiders were caught, and eight of them, Andrews included, were executed as spies. (The raid inspired the 1926 Buster Keaton silent comedy "The General.")

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:
In 1811, fur traders employed by John Jacob Astor began building Fort Astoria in present-day Oregon.

In 1861, the American Civil War began as Confederate forces opened fire on Fort Sumter in South Carolina. (The Union troops holding the fort surrendered the following day.)

In 1877, the catcher's mask was first used in a baseball game by James Tyng of Harvard in a game against the Lynn Live Oaks.

In 1912, Clara Barton, the founder of the American Red Cross, died in Glen Echo, Md., at age 90.

In 1934, "Tender Is the Night," by F. Scott Fitzgerald, was first published in book form after being serialized in Scribner's Magazine.

In 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt died of a cerebral hemorrhage in Warm Springs, Ga., at age 63; he was succeeded by Vice President Harry S. Truman.

In 1955, the Salk vaccine against polio was declared safe and effective.

In 1961, Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin became the first man to fly in space, orbiting the earth once before making a safe landing.

In 1981, the space shuttle Columbia blasted off from Cape Canaveral on its first test flight. Former world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis died in Las Vegas, Nev., at age 66.

In 1985, Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, became the first sitting member of Congress to fly in space as the shuttle Discovery lifted off.

Ten years ago: Boston's Cardinal Bernard Law ignored growing demands for his resignation because of sex abuse allegations against priests that began in his archdiocese and spread across the country. (Law ended up resigning in December 2002.) Secretary of State Colin Powell's trip to Middle East was marred by a suicide bombing in Jerusalem that claimed six victims; the White House put on hold Powell's meeting with Yasser Arafat scheduled for the next day (the meeting took place a day later). Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez resigned under pressure from the country's divided military (however, he was returned to office two days later).

Five years ago: A suicide bomber breached security in Iraq's parliament and blew himself up in the dining hall; a Sunni parliament member was killed. CBS fired Don Imus from his radio program for insulting the Rutgers women's basketball team on the air; in the evening, Imus met with team members at the New Jersey governor's mansion in Princeton (Gov. Jon S. Corzine, who was en route to that meeting, was seriously injured when his official vehicle crashed).

One year ago: Japan ranked its nuclear crisis at the highest possible severity on an international scale — the same level as the 1986 Chernobyl disaster — even as it insisted radiation levels were declining at its tsunami-crippled nuclear plant. The state of Ohio executed two-time murderer Clarence Carter for beating and stomping to death a fellow jail inmate. Booming cannons, plaintive period music and hushed crowds ushered in the 150th anniversary of the start of the Civil War during morning ceremonies in Charleston, S.C.

IF APRIL 12 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Be on the lookout for blessings that could permanently brighten your life during the next four weeks. Have faith that whatever knocks on your door is in your best interests — even if it doesn't feel that way at the time. From mid-May through the end of July, maintain a low profile, take no chances and don't push your luck. That is when people look at you with a high degree of criticism and anything of importance you start can cause lasting burdens. Wait until late November or early December to make crucial financial decisions or to change jobs.

HOROSCOPE

Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Mind your own business. Focus on your own projects and ideas. It may be difficult to win cooperation from colleagues and romantic partners today. Your greatest success may be achieved in solitude.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Seek the light. You may be in the dark about certain situations, but patience and researching the salient facts will allow you to arrive at a solution. A blossoming relationship could prove disappointing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The truth shall set you free. Take time to discuss difficult issues with others and get the facts. The ultimate solution will become apparent. Do not be afraid to express your feelings or to show concern.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Optimistically casting off into uncharted waters without a map can be foolish. Be patient; take time to become familiar with your surroundings and companions before entering into new agreements.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The people you deal with have huge ambitions. Some are especially intent on winning at all costs. You may lose your composure if you start feeling your social life revolves around business transactions.

VRIGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): In square dancing, one of the calls is "change partners." Off the dance floor, it isn't that easy. Temporary attractions might instill restlessness so you must work very hard to preserve valuable relationships.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Put up a brave front. Your industry and a take-charge attitude are assets. Keep fears and doubts hidden. Remember that animals attack if they sense weakness. Make your points clear to avoid misunderstanding.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You are motivated by your pride in accomplishment. This isn't a good day to make a fresh start or start anything new, but you enjoy excellent results when you complete an ongoing project on time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Wish upon a star. You can make fantasies come true, but perhaps not just yet. Don't make irrevocable decisions or major purchases now. You will have the best results if you exercise discipline.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Put your thinking cap on. It has been said that a blindly respecting authority is a great enemy of truth. Although you must obey those in authority, try not to compromise principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Impulse buying can be the bane of your existence. You could find that you've become the object someone's romantic attention. And of course you want to treat admirers to lunch or purchase a gift.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Avoid being perceived as overly anxious to win. Enthusiasm is healthy, but overdoing it could leave you poised for a big letdown or a crash. Stay levelheaded and approach temptations with cynicism.

SUDOKU
Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.
