TWIN FALLS • It's been just more than a week since Kamal Darji's world fell down around him.

On Aug. 30, the 22-year-old, his two brothers and their parents were driving back from Boise to their home in Twin Falls.

Kamal said he remembered thinking a tire on his car was flat as he drove east on Interstate 84 near Bliss. He was driving in the left lane and pulled off the road to the left, toward the median, and activated his emergency blinkers, he said.

Then — blackness. Another car, a Ford Focus driven by Raymond Kunz, 61, of ### What Caused the Crash?

According to an Idaho State Police report, a contributing factor in the crash was the Darjis' car being partially in the left lane of travel. In the report, it states another contributing circumstance in the crash was inattention on the part of Kunz. According to ISP, possible charges in the case depend on evidence that is still being processed.

Blaine Fire Restrictions Begin to Lift

TIMES-NEWS

HAILEY • After weeks of being instructed to limit outdoor exposure, Blaine County residents are free to take a deep breath of fresh air.

Blaine County's Stage 1 air pollution alert has been lifted, according to an Idaho Department of Environmental Quality news release.

Air quality decreased after smoke from the Halstead and Trinity Ridge forest fires began drifting over the northern county. While the fires continue to burn, health officials expect air quality to return to normal as of Friday.

In other fire news:

- The U.S. Forest Service Fairfield Ranger District is no longer closed due to the Trinity Ridge Fire, officials announced Friday.

This includes opening all Sawtooth National Forest and Sawtooth Wilderness lands, the trail system from Graham to Black Warrior Trailhead, Yuba River Road and the road to Lester Creek GS and Pine.

However, fire officials urge the public to remain cautious when entering the forest. Firefighters have removed the majority of the hazard items but weather and time will

Water Group Educates, Pleads with Lawmakers

BY KIMBERLEE KRUESI
kkruesi@magicvalley.com

JEROME • If they want to protect the Magic Valley's economy, lawmakers must first understand the importance of the state's most precious resource.

That was the message of a local water group at a Thursday event. The Middle Snake Regional Water Resource Commission invited experienced and new legislators as well as county officials to learn more about the Eastern Snake Plain Aquifer.

The Lake Erie-sized underground water source is the lifeblood to the Magic Valley economy, said Bob Muffley, executive director for the commission.

The commission is a collective group of Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln and Twin Falls representatives. The group is focused on educating the public, particularly lawmakers, on the importance of managing the quality and quantity of Idaho's underground aquifer.

The commission used to throw its efforts behind improving the aquifer's water quality, but concerns over the aquifer's depleting levels have shifted members' concern, Muffley said. Particularly, there's a concern over a lack of recharge throughout the ESPA.

US Stocks Rise Slightly After Weak Jobs Report

NEW YORK (AP) • The stock market followed one of its most exciting days of the year with a rather dull one Friday. Indexes barely rose following a weak jobs report, which increased hopes that the Federal Reserve would act next week to support the economy.

Children and Adults Can Both Stay Safe

My kids are back in school and I want to keep my kids safe, but I also know I need to be aware myself of back-to-school safety. Do you have any ideas?
— Lisa, Twin Falls

One of the most important tips is for parents to slow down when you come to school zones and watch for children. This is especially important in rural areas, where children may be standing out on the roadside, in the dark, waiting for buses. Also, when you are leaving your garage or driveway, make sure kids are not bicycling or walking past your car. Look both ways before you back out of your driveway, especially as it gets darker in the morning. Obeying speed limits in school zones is the law. As children go back to school, they may only be aware of getting to school and not paying attention to cars on the road. As an adult, it is your responsibility to pay extra attention and be more watchful.

Kids playing in and around bus stops also may not be aware of cars, so as a driver it is important to pay extra attention. Kids also may be late for the bus and dart out into the street, not paying attention to traffic.

Pay attention to school bus traffic and signals. Yellow flashing lights mean that the bus is preparing to stop and load or unload. When the red flashing light comes on, children will be getting on or off the bus and you need to stop. If you are traveling on a road that does not have a median, both lanes of traffic need to stop until the bus has loaded or unloaded children.

If your children walk or ride their bikes to school, it is important for you to have walked the route with them beforehand. That way you will know their route and be able to find them quickly, in case of an emergency.

One other tip: if you are taking or picking up your child at school, be courteous about the traffic flow and make sure you don't create a traffic hazard for school buses, other parents or children.

Children should always look both ways before crossing streets and walk, don't run. Pay attention to traffic signals, and cross the street only when it says "walk." When crossing the street to get onto a bus, children should walk ahead of the bus and cross in front of the bus, rather than behind the bus where they can't be seen. When the bus comes to your stop, stand at least three large walking steps away from the bus. Wait until it comes to a complete stop before trying to enter the bus.

Information Sought on Burglaries

TIMES-NEWS

JEROME • The Jerome County Sheriff's Office is looking for information about several recent burglaries at a storage facility.

Several burglaries occurred at the end of August and early this month at a facility in southern Jerome County.

The sheriff's office isn't releasing information about the exact location.

All the burglaries appear to have happened during daytime hours.

Surveillance video shows a man in a blue Ford sport utility vehicle — possibly, a Ford Explorer — driving into the area and prying locks off doors.

Anyone with information is requested to contact the sheriff's office at 644-2770 or SIRCOMM at 324-1911.

Wendell Cemetery Flood Project Delayed

BY BLAIR KOCH
For the Times-News

WENDELL • Every year, water run off from the property adjacent to the Wendell Cemetery causes flooding on the community memorial site.

During Thursday's Wendell City Council meeting, Cemetery Superintendent Paul Isaacson told the city a joint effort between the agency and the Wendell Highway District to fix the problem has "unraveled" due to all the "confrontation" surrounding the project.

The Wendell Highway District could not be reached for this report.

In July, Isaacson approached the council for permission for the Wendell Highway District to dig a trench approximately 50 feet from where the flooding occurs to a nearby city storm water drain.

"Both the cemetery and highway district are taxing entities within the Wendell community and they offered to help us out because we don't have the funding, without going out to the taxpayers for more, for the project," Isaacson told the Times-News in July.

But the cemetery and highway district didn't get a clear green light by the council and now the project may be delayed even longer.

At the time, the city requested an engineer draw up plans on how to properly divert water and Public Works Director Joe Durham told the cemetery that if they went forward without the plans, he wouldn't help any problems if the highway district screwed up.

On Thursday, Mayor Brad Christopherson said the city merely wanted to make sure the project along the city's West Avenue B was done correctly, as the city is responsible for the street's maintenance and the trench would be on its property.

Christopherson told Isaacson he was surprised the highway district pulled its support of the project and said the city would allow a system to divert the water to be built as soon as it approves the plans.

"The city is waiting for the plans," he said.

Isaacson said the cemetery district will come back to the city once it has obtained the proper plans. When that will be is unknown as Isaacson said in July the agency didn't have the funds to hire out the job.

Also during the meeting, a $300 monthly rental agreement between the city's fire department and the Wendell Rural Fire District was delayed, as the contract presented did not address how long it would be enforced.

City Treasurer Deb Gibbs said "legally any lease agreement should have a term," and told Fire Chief Bob Bailey she could help with the draft language.

The city will address the lease during its Sept. 20 meeting.

In other business:

- The council passed its 2012-13 budget, with a $2.17 million appropriation. The council held a public hearing on the budget in late August, but no comments were made.

- The council accepted the resignation of city attorney Calvin Campbell, who was recently named a Twin Falls County magistrate judge.

- A payment of $279,128 was approved by the council to be made to Summit Excavation of Twin Falls for its work on building a new lagoon pond, as well as other work tied to the city's upgraded sewer treatment system.

Crash

Colorado Springs, Colo., also traveling east, rear-ended the Darji's car, sending them into the median while the Ford rolled to the right side of the highway.

When he awoke, Kamal said he remembers seeing an ambulance and called to his mother.

"She was sitting next to me," he said. "She didn't respond."

According to Idaho State Police, Kamal's mother, Harka, 55, and brother, Nar, 20, died at the scene.

Kamal's father, Sha, 64, was trapped between the top of the car and the back seat, Kamal said. He suffered a fractured neck and is still sedated and in critical condition at Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center in Boise. His youngest brother, Khadga, 17, had a fractured left hip and a knee injury and is able to walk with the help of a walker. Kamal had cuts to his head and injured his left hand.

Kunz was also injured and transported to North Canyon Medical Center in Gooding. He has since been released.

The Darji family is originally from Bhutan, but before coming to the United States spent 20 years in a refugee camp in Nepal. Many ethnic Nepalis fled Bhutan after the government led a campaign of discrimination and detainment against them.

Kamal's older sister and her husband were given the chance to leave the refugee camp and come to Twin Falls. Later Kamal, his brothers and parents joined them on July 14, 2011, followed later by his sister Bhim, 24. After a year in Twin Falls, the group applied for their green cards and on the day of the crash, went to Boise to get fingerprinted — the last step before receiving the cards.

On Sept. 1 a funeral for Harka was held, then on Sept. 2, one for Nar.

Family friend Lok Dargee said some people in the Nepali community were able to contribute to pay for the cremation costs, but Kamal's and his family's medical bills are mounting and will be tens of thousands of dollars.

"He needs to take care of the whole family," Dargee said.

Kamal had car insurance, but hadn't applied for health insurance at work because of the cost, Dargee said. Now he's paying rent on both his own family's apartment and the one next door where his sister lives.

Kamal said he wants to work, but he's unsure the level of care his father will need when he's released from the hospital.

"If he needs support I need to be at home for him," Kamal said. "I need to see the situation."

It could be months before Kamal's father is released from the hospital, but it appears he's slowly beginning to recover.

"It's hard to predict," said family friend Chandra Upreti, who is handling communication with police and doctors.

Sha has had multiple surgeries and is still sedated. On Thursday, Upreti said doctors told him they removed Sha's breathing tube for 10 minutes and he was able to breathe on his own. Doctors then replaced it when he began to struggle, he said.

For now, Kamal said he's looking for some sense of justice for his family and help finding what direction to go next.

"I can't do this all myself," he said. "I need some help."

Water

"We do recharge but we sure as hell don't do anything to help the problem," Muffley said. "We're spitting on a fire that is about to get out of control."

Water users take 200,000 acre-feet out of the aquifer each year, said Lew Pence, commission chairman. However, state officials have only enough funding to recharge not quite 100,000 acre-feet in that same time. An acre-foot is enough water to cover one acre of land one foot deep.

"I don't know if that's how you balance your checkbook but that doesn't add up," he said.

Without the aquifer, the Magic Valley wouldn't be able to contribute the $7 billion to the economy that it does, said Steven Hines, extension educator for University of Idaho.

The commission partners with the university's extension office to offer more information on how the aquifer influences the local economy.

Most crops need about 2.5 acre-feet of irrigated water, Hines said. This places a high value on water. In some irrigation districts, the production value for water is $355 per acre each year.

"Without water, the Magic Valley would have a bunch of sagebrush and jack rabbits," Hines said. "You wouldn't have the dairy industry here."

By the end of the night, Muffley asked the lawmakers not to dismiss the pending legislation water users and the Legislature will face in years to come.

"Our job is to educate so you can take this information to Boise," Muffley said. "Sometimes this gets lost out west."

The Pine-Featherville road and the road to Baumgartner campground also both reopened Thursday.

The Trinity Ridge Fire currently covers nearly 146,000 acres and is 60 percent contained, with full containment predicted Oct. 1.

• The Halstead Fire north of Stanley covers about 148,000 acres and is 20 percent contained, with full containment projected for Oct. 16. According to reports by fire officials, two-way traffic was allowed to resume late Thursday along a stretch of U.S. Highway 75 from Lower Stanley to Peach Creek. Drivers are still advised to watch for potential debris along the roadway and increased amount of traffic with fire vehicles in the area.

Body Reportedly Found Thursday in Cassia County

TIMES-NEWS

BURLEY • Law enforcement officials are saying little in regards to reports of a person found dead in a Cassia County field on Thursday.

On Friday, two different agencies told the Times-News that the other was handling the case of the body — making it difficult to confirm any details regarding the person's identity, the circumstances of the discovery or the reason for the person's death.

Cassia County Sheriff Randy Kidd said Friday morning that the case had been passed to the Idaho State Police. An ISP representative, however, said Cassia County had told the state agency to disregard the matter because the county was handling it.

Further calls to Kidd for clarification were not returned Friday.

Analysis: Weak Jobs Report Delivers Blow to Obama

BY TOM RAUM
Associated Press

WASHINGTON • The disappointing August jobs report raises yet another campaign obstacle for President Barack Obama and makes his hopes of holding onto his own job even more challenging — especially in closely contested battleground states with painfully high levels of unemployment.

Coming less than 12 hours after the president accepted his party's nomination for a second term, the lackluster report could wipe out or diminish any traditional bounce in the polls he might have gotten from the festive, well-choreographed three-day Democratic National Convention.

"The broad message here is flat, flat, flat," said economist Heidi Shierholz with the labor-affiliated Economic Policy Center.

A disappointing report for one month might be dismissed in normal times as an aberration, she said, "but a stagnant report when the unemployment rate is over 8 percent represents a continuation of the crisis," meaning that getting back to pre-recession employment levels will take many more months, even years.

The bleak news played right into the hands of Republicans, who claim that Obama's policies inhibit job production and have made the economic picture worse. "Did you see the jobs report this morning by the way?" Republican rival Mitt Romney asked reporters in Sioux City, Iowa. "Almost 400,000 people dropped out of the work force altogether. It's simply unimaginable."

The overall unemployment rate declined from 8.3 percent to 8.1 percent last month, which should be good news, but the "improvement" came only because more people gave up looking for work.

Just 96,000 new jobs were created in August, sharply down from the revised July number of 141,000 and below the threshold of 100,000 to 150,000 new jobs needed each month just to keep pace with working-age population growth.

Jurors Give Stacy Peterson's Comments Heavy Weight

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) • Jurors said Friday that comments Stacy Peterson made before her 2007 disappearance played the decisive role in convincing them to convict her husband, former police officer Drew Peterson, of killing his ex-wife.

Peterson was convicted Thursday of first-degree murder after a six-week trial that was the first of its kind in Illinois history. Prosecutors based their case on normally barred hearsay, which was only allowed after the Legislature passed a law specifically tailored to Peterson's case.

The strategy was risky and grew in large part from a lack of physical evidence collected in the case after investigators initially deemed Kathleen Savio's death an accident. Prosecutors claimed the hearsay would allow Savio and Stacy Peterson — who is presumed dead — "to speak from their graves" through family and friends.

It worked. Jury foreman Eduardo Saldana, 22, said the women's comments were "extremely critical" in deliberations and in his decision to convict Peterson. He said he was one of four jurors who initially had reservations give a lack of physical evidence tying the former police officer to Savio's death. But Saldana said the more he thought about hearsay testimony from Stacy Peterson's pastor, the more compelling he found it.

The Rev. Neil Schori testified that Stacy Peterson told him weeks before she went missing that her husband got up from bed and left the house about the time of Savio's death and then returned to stuff women's clothing in their washing machine. Peterson also coached his wife for hours on how to lie to police, Schori told jurors.

Quakes Kill at Least 64 in Mountainous SW China

BY CHRISTOPHER BODEEN
Associated Press

BEIJING • Twin earthquakes and a spate of aftershocks struck southwestern China on Friday, toppling thousands of houses and sending boulders cascading across roads. At least 64 people were killed and hundreds injured in the remote mountainous area, and more than 100,000 residents were evacuated.

Damage was preventing rescuers from reaching outlying towns, and communications were disrupted after the midday quakes hit along the borders of Guizhou and Yunnan provinces, a rural region where some of China's poorest people live.

The first 5.6-magnitude quake struck just before 11:30 a.m. and was followed by an equally strong quake shortly after noon, joined by dozens of aftershocks. Though of moderate strength, the quakes were shallow, which often causes more damage.

Hardest hit was Yiliang County, where all but one of the deaths occurred, according to the Yunnan provincial government's official website. Another 715 people in the area were injured. Yiliang's high population density, shoddy building construction and propensity for landslides were blamed for the relatively high death toll.

China Central Television showed roads littered with rocks and boulders and pillars of dust rising over hilltops from the landslides. One image taken just as one quake struck showed people running out of a supermarket as the ground shook.

Other footage showed several hundred people crowding into a school athletic field in Yiliang's county seat, a sizable city spread along a river in a valley, as well as soldiers carrying injured people and rescue materials.

Though quakes occur in the area frequently, buildings in rural areas and China's fast-growing smaller cities and towns are often constructed poorly. A magnitude-7.9 quake that hit Sichuan province, just north of Yunnan, in 2008 killed nearly 90,000 people, with many of the deaths blamed on poorly built structures, including schools.

Friday's quakes destroyed or damaged almost 30,000 homes across several counties and townships, the provincial government website said. The Yunnan seismology bureau said more than 100,000 people were evacuated from their homes. All told, 700,000 people had their lives disrupted by the quake, the official Xinhua News Agency said.

No Jail Time for Obama 'HOPE' Poster Artist in NY

In this Jan. 12, 2009 file photo, Los Angeles street artist Shepard Fairey poses in front of the Barack Obama Hope artwork he designed in the Echo Park area of Los Angeles.

NEW YORK (AP) • The artist who created the "HOPE" poster that came to symbolize Barack Obama's 2008 presidential campaign was ordered to do 300 hours of community service Friday for a criminal contempt conviction but was spared jail time.

Shepard Fairey, 42, of Los Angeles nodded his head several times and said "OK" as U.S. Magistrate Judge Frank Maas told him he must commit no crimes during two years of probation and must pay a $25,000 fine to the U.S. government.

During remarks before the sentence was announced, Fairey called his decision to fabricate evidence in a civil lawsuit he brought against The Associated Press in 2009 the "worst thing I've done in my life." He also apologized.

"I am deeply ashamed and remorseful that I didn't live up to my own standards of honesty and integrity," he said. After the sentencing, Fairey hugged his lawyers, was kissed by his wife, and shook hands with more than a dozen friends who packed into the small Manhattan courtroom.

Maas said the sentence needed to send a message to others who might destroy or fabricate evidence in a civil case that the consequences of covering up what they did is far worse than telling the truth.

But he said Fairey's considerable charity work over a long period of time mitigated the need for prison on a misdemeanor charge that carried a maximum potential sentence of six months.

Prince Harry in Afghanistan to Fly Apache Copters

CAMP BASTION, Afghanistan (AP) • Prince Harry, third in line to the British throne, began a four-month combat tour Friday in Afghanistan as a gunner on an Apache attack helicopter, fresh from a vacation that included strip billiards in a Las Vegas hotel.

It was the second tour in Afghanistan for Harry, 27, who will start flying missions within 10 days in the country's restive Helmand province, the British military said. In 2007-08, he served in Helmand as an air traffic controller.

Looking relaxed if slightly tired, Harry gave a thumbs-up Friday after a long journey on a troop carrier flight from England to Britain's Camp Bastion, a sprawling desert base near the southern Afghan town of Lashkar Gah.

Prince Harry

Capt. Harry Wales, as he is known in the military, wore his combat uniform and joined his 100-strong unit — the 662 Squadron, 3 Regiment Army Air Corps.

As part of the Apache's two-man crew, Harry will be both a co-pilot and the gunner responsible for firing the Apache's wing-mounted aerial rockets, Hellfire laser-guided missiles and 30mm machine gun.

Britain has around 9,500 troops in Afghanistan, mainly based in Helmand province, and has suffered 425 deaths since the start of operations there in 2001.

"Prince Harry, like any soldier, considers it a great honor to represent his country in her majesty's armed forces wherever it chooses to deploy him," St James's Palace said in a statement.

OPINION

"Finally, finally, finally. ... We finally got that murdering bastard!"

Mitch Doman, Kathleen Savio's brother-in-law, after former Illinois police officer Drew Peterson, 58, was convicted of murdering her — his third wife — in a potentially precedent-setting case centered on secondhand hearsay statements.

LETTERS OF THANKS

Workers Saved Motor Home

A big thank you to "master wrecker operators" Gene and Skippy's unbelievable performance on Aug. 28 while recovering our 33-foot motor home from Jarbidge Canyon.

With the undercarriage showing and a single juniper tree straining to prevent a rollover, they secured each end to a heavy duty wrecker. Burrowing under to hook up was extremely dangerous. They proceeded to bring it up inch by inch while gravity wanted to roll it into the Jarbidge River. We were able to drive it back to Vegas.

If you want professionals to do your work, call Gene or Lisa at Magic Valley Towing. We recommend them for induction into the "Towing Operator's Hall of Fame."

Another big thank you to the Jarbidge Sheriff and Fire Departments.

Supplies Benefit Students

The students and staff of I.B. Perrine Elementary School would like to thank the Twin Falls community for all the generous school supply donations. We have been overwhelmed with the care and genuine concern shown to our students who are unable to purchase school supplies.

We would like to thank the Twin Falls Rotary Club, Prudential Idaho Homes and Properties and the many anonymous donors who graciously gave supplies.

Fairgoers Helped Food Bank

A big thank you to the many people of Magic Valley during the six days of the Twin Falls County Fair.

During that time, hundreds of people made use of the parking lot at Filer Mennonite Church. With donations received for each car parked, the Filer Mennonite Church has been able to provide to the Filer Ministerial Association Food Bank a check for $720.

Officer Saved Family's Vacation

Thank you to Officer Doerr.

We wanted to share a story that we have shared many times since the event. A few weeks ago, we arrived into Twin Falls on a family road trip. After traveling 15 hours across the Nevada desert, we hit a small bump in the downtown at 1 a.m. It just so happened that the entire frame to our bike rack carrying all of our children's bicycle's (five in all) split and fell in mass onto the street. We fell on the good luck of Police Officer Clint Doerr who was on the scene immediately; he noticed our children were asleep and offered to watch the bicycles while we could go and check them into a local motel. He was so kind and generous and the next day, after finding another rack in a local bicycle shop, we were on our way.

A huge thank you goes out to Officer Doerr and the entire Twin Falls. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts. All the best.

Schools Chief Luna Subject of Wikipedia Tug of War

BOISE (AP) • The spokeswoman for state schools superintendent Tom Luna triggered a tug of war over his Wikipedia entry when revising the Web page last week to make changes that included touting his polarizing education reforms, a newspaper reported Friday.

Melissa McGrath made numerous edits, including striking a false claim about Luna's experience. She also removed the word "online" when referencing Luna's degree, which he did earn online from Thomas Edison State College, the Idaho Statesman reports.

McGrath, public information officer for the state Department of Education, told the newspaper that was an oversight.

Luna's entry on the Internet encyclopedia, which anyone can update, has been revised more 60 times in the past two weeks, with critics lashing out at the changes and making edits of their own, and McGrath enlisting help from other Wikipedia users to combat the critical revisions being edited into the superintendent's page.

Wikipedia allows people to add information or make revisions to pages anonymously, while dedicated users worldwide seek to ensure the information is accurate.

Luna is not the first public official whose entry has become a source of debate and Wikipedia's senior editors have since revised his page to strip slanted material.

McGrath's Aug. 27 edits were posted under her name and trimmed negatively opinionated references to the education overhaul, which was approved in 2011 amid fierce debate. The changes limited collective bargaining, introduced merit pay and will distribute a laptop to every high school teacher and student.

McGrath's revision then included her own extolments of the education changes, which are subject to voter approval in November, saying, "Through these laws, every child — no matter where they live — will now have access to the best educational opportunities."

Luna, a huge proponent of online education, is also making virtual courses a graduation requirement. He earned his bachelor's degree in measurement science online, which McGrath said is "something we talk about all the time — that he does have a degree from an online university?"

She initially said she didn't remember removing the word "online" from the section of his Wikipedia entry that mentions his degree, and denied that she would make such a change. When shown her entry compared to the previous version, McGrath told the newspaper that edit was an oversight.

McGrath, a former journalist, said she was always taught never to use the site as a reliable source. "But there are thousands of people that use it every day, so I do feel it's important that we ensure as much correct information as possible is out there," she said.

Jim Weatherby, professor emeritus of Boise State University's political science department, said Luna is wise to watch his online image, particularly given his rising profile.

"Wikipedia is subject to amendment by the minute, by friend or foe," Weatherby said.

"You have to watch what funny business the anonymous contributors do to their political enemies."

Man Mistakenly Sends Meth Text to Police Officer

LEWISTON (AP) • An Idaho man apparently trying to get the most bang for his drug-purchasing buck mistakenly sent a text message to a narcotics detective while he searched for people to join him in a methamphetamine buy.

Aaron D. Templeton of Lewiston was arrested this week and charged with conspiracy to deliver methamphetamine.

A police detective received a text Wednesday morning asking if he knew anyone looking for drugs, and after determining it wasn't his co-workers playing a joke, arranged to meet the man named Aaron the same day to deliver $150 that would be pooled with money from other buyers to enable a bulk purchase of meth, officials said.

"It is common for dealers to try to get money fronted to them to get a better deal," said police Capt. Roger Lanier.

The detective, whom Lanier declined to identify, watched from a distance as two police officers pulled up behind Templeton's car at the designated meeting place.

Templeton then reportedly texted: "Well that's weird, a cop just pulled up on me so what's up with that?"

Police recovered Templeton's cellphone, which they say included the text messages regarding the deal.

A woman who was with Templeton was arrested and charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Templeton, 37, is scheduled for a preliminary hearing on Sept. 19, according to Nez Perce County court records. A spokeswoman in the prosecutor's office said Friday he does not yet have an attorney.

"It all started apparently from a wrong number," Lanier told the Lewiston Tribune. "I don't think he would have a narcotics detective in his contacts list."

Eastern Idaho Man Appeals 1996 Murder Conviction

IDAHO FALLS (AP) • A man convicted of murdering an Idaho Falls woman in 1996 is appealing his case, saying police and prosecutors failed to turn over critical evidence.

John Thomas with the Bonneville County Public Defender's Office filed the petition Thursday on Christopher Tapp's behalf. In the document, Thomas says Tapp's conviction for the rape and murder of Angie Dodd must be thrown out because police never shared some evidence with Tapp's defense team.

Tapp, who was sentenced to life in prison, has long maintained he didn't kill Dodge. In his petition, he says a man named John Browning was interviewed by an Idaho Falls police officer in September 1996, and that testimony was never turned over to prosecutors or defense attorneys.

Browning, who lived near Dodge, told police that a man with blood on his clothes, scratches on his face and a rug burn on his chin knocked on his apartment door about 3 a.m. the day of the murder, according to court documents.

Browning said the man asked if he could use Browning's bathroom to wash up, and Browning told him to use the hose outside.

Tapp's petition also includes testimony from Browning's ex-wife, Gentry Goff, who lived with Browning at the time. According to the petition, Goff was shown a photograph of a man who was not Tapp and identified him as the bloodied and scratched person who came to their door the night of the murder.

Bonneville County Prosecutor Bruce Pickett said his office will respond to the defense's petition within 30 days, after which the matter could go to court.

The Idaho Innocence Project, a group that works to exonerate inmates that members believe were wrongly convicted, has been working on Tapp's case for a few years. Dodge's mother, Carol Dodge, has said in the past that she believes more than one person was involved in her daughter's murder.

"The bottom line is the true killer has not been found," she said Thursday.

Inside Look at the Newly Found James Castle Art

BY PATRICK ORR

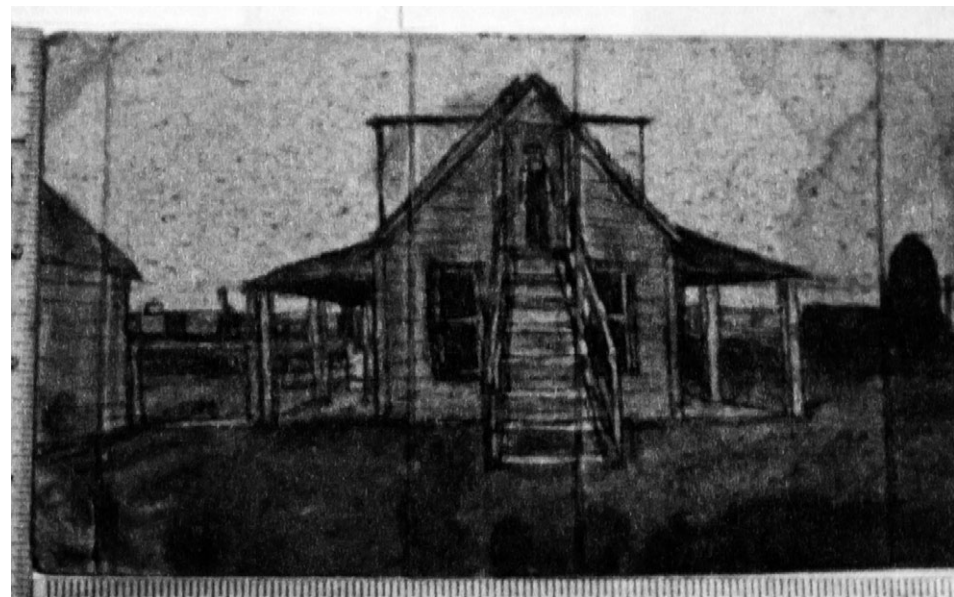

The Idaho Statesman

BOISE (AP) • By all accounts, the works of famed outsider Idaho artist James Castle are some of the most essential American folk art of the 20th century.

The mute Castle may not have been able to talk, but his drawings continue to affect art lovers across the country. The drawings have been featured at the Museum of Modern Art in New York and the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Collectors have paid up to $50,000 for single pieces of his work, and Castle's heirs made millions after forming a partnership in 1996 to sell his art.

Imagine being Jeannie Schmidt, the current owner of Castle's old house in Northwest Boise, who remodeled a bedroom in 2010 and found three bundles of his art hidden in the walls. The bundles held hundreds of drawings dating as far back as the 1930s. Not surprisingly, much of the art was badly damaged by water, mold, dirt and rodents — but it was still long-lost work by a major folk artist.

Two years later, a lawsuit and court trial have established that all the art found by Schmidt belongs to the Castle Family Trust. Fourth District Judge Deborah Bail ruled Schmidt has no claim on the art and must pay back

ASSOCIATED PRESS

This undated photo shows some of the drawings found by Jeannie Schmidt in 2010 behind a bedroom wall in a house where famed Idaho folk artist James Castle lived. That art, much of it badly damaged by water, mold and rodents, is the subject of a lawsuit resolved earlier this year when 4th District Judge Deborah Bail decided it belonged to Castle's heirs, not Schmidt.

$120,000 she got by selling about 50 of the least-damaged pieces to a New York art gallery. Schmidt has appealed Bail's decision to the Idaho Supreme Court.

While the ownership question is getting clearer, the question of the discovered bundles' artistic value is more opaque.

The art has been seen by only a few people, such as those who were in the courtroom during this summer's civil trial. Until now.

Court records obtained by the Idaho Statesman show every piece of Castle art found by Schmidt — almost 400 drawings. The Statesman shared those images with experts along with this basic question: What is the artistic value of the find?

Most agree that the damage from weather, dirt, rodents and mold significantly reduce the aesthetic value of the pieces themselves, as there are already thousands of James Castle's drawings out in the world that were not chewed on. But as a teaching and educational tool, they provide a unique insight into Castle's work.

"Except for a small handful of fairly complete drawings, which are haunting, lovely and evocative, I would characterize the majority of this find as significant 'shards' that offer further, very intimate insights into this talented and singular human being," said Stacy Hollander, who is the senior curator and director of exhibitions at the American Folk Art Museum in New York City.

Ex-school Employee Sentenced for Providing Drugs

NAMPA (AP) • A former teaching assistant at a Wilder alternative school has been sentenced to a minimum of three years in prison for giving prescription pain medications to students.

Robert Kondo of Nampa could be eligible for probation in less than a year if she successfully completes a treatment program designed for prisoners with substance abuse issues, prosecutors said. Otherwise, she faces a maximum of five years in prison.

"It all depends on her willingness to engage in the program, and how well she does on that program," deputy prosecuting attorney Gearld Wolff told the Idaho Press-Tribune.

Kondo was arrested in May and charged with delivering a controlled substance. She was sentenced Thursday.

Prosecutors claim she provided prescription drugs to students while working as an educational assistant at the southwestern Idaho school. Particularly troubling was that the school serves troubled teens, many of whom already struggle with substance abuse, authorities said.

"I own every aspect of my life, and there's no excuse for inappropriate behavior," Kondo told the court during her sentencing. "I accept the consequences for my actions."

Kondo had worked at the Canyon-Owyhee School Service Agency since October. The alternative school for special education serves "at risk" students, along with gifted and talented kids, and is affiliated with Homedale, Marsing, Notus, Parma and Wilder school districts.

District Judge G.D. Carey acknowledged that Kondo has been diagnosed with mental health issues, but said that did not excuse her behavior.

"The best thing for Ms. Kondo at this time would be probation, but that's not the only question," Carey said. "If we send out a message that if you've got enough problems, you can go ahead and sell drugs in school, and we'll put you on probation. That's not going to happen in this case."

ACLU Wants FBI Records about Nevada Bear Hunt Foes

BY KEN RITTER
Associated Press

LAS VEGAS • The American Civil Liberties Union of Nevada is demanding to know what information the FBI has collected about people who spoke against bear hunting in the Lake Tahoe area during contentious public meetings earlier this year in northern Nevada.

A Freedom of Information Act request filed Aug. 22 seeks to find out what federal agents reported learning about American Indian Movement of Northern Nevada members and a Nevada group called "No Bear Hunt," ACLU legal chief Staci Pratt said Friday.

"Our goal is to ensure that people are not targeted for exercising their right to free speech," Pratt said.

Agent Patrick Turner, spokesman for the FBI Nevada office in Las Vegas, said he could neither confirm nor deny the agency was investigating bear hunt foes. No criminal charges have been filed.

Pratt conceded that Washoe County Wildlife Advisory Board and Nevada Wildlife Commission meetings in March to consider quotas for hunting black bears led to sometimes heated exchanges between speakers and commission officials. But she said she viewed videotape of the meetings, and she didn't think threats were exchanged.

"The only threat seems to be that they had a difference of opinion, which is constitutionally protected," the ACLU official said.

An AIM spokeswoman, Raquel Arthur, claimed at one point that a member of the Washoe County board who favored bear hunting offended Native Americans who voiced their belief that bears were sacred. She said the member made a culturally biased comment that he didn't want to "hear of bows and arrows."

Union Members for the Preservation of Wildlife spokesman Randal Massaro, who helped coordinate Native American opposition to the bear hunt, later said commission chairman Rex Flowers apologized for the comment and said he didn't mean to insult or disrespect Native Americans.

Arthur did not respond this week to an email from The Associated Press.

Kathryn Bricker, a spokeswoman for NoBearHunt-NV.org, declined to comment on the ACLU move.

Pratt said an AIM member who lives in the Reno area and spoke at the meetings was arrested in early April and instructed while jailed to sign documents indicating she was involved with terrorist activity. The woman refused, and was released from jail without being charged with a crime, Pratt said.

Another AIM member was questioned by agents at work, she said.

A third AIM member told the ACLU she thought investigators watched her while parked outside her Reno home. The woman didn't approach the vehicle but thought the men inside were federal agents, Pratt said.

"Members of No Bear Hunt Nevada who were also at the meetings expressed fears that their Internet activities were attracting attention from the FBI," Pratt said, declining to identify the people by name. "They knew what happened to the AIM members. They were concerned that they would be targeted."

Nationally, the American Indian Movement has a sometimes militant history. It was founded in the late 1960s to advocate for sovereignty for American Indians, and led protests in the 1970s including the takeover of federal Bureau of Indian Affairs headquarters in Washington, D.C., and an armed standoff with federal agents in 1973 at Wounded Knee, S.D.

Pratt said the AIM branch in Nevada has a different outlook and objectives than the national organization.

No Bear Hunt Nevada was established to fight for an end to bear hunting in the state. Hunters given licenses during an inaugural hunting season a year ago killed 14 black bears.

Up to 20 bears can be killed during the upcoming season, from Sept. 15 to Dec. 31. But wildlife officials made the Nevada side of Lake Tahoe off-limits to bear hunting.

In her information demand, Pratt cited reports by media, community organizations and the public that the FBI had been "engaged in a deliberate plan to harass and intimidate those who speak out against the hunting of bears in northern Nevada."

"This widely reported surveillance of Native American and nature-oriented groups by the federal government erodes the values and constitutional principles upon which the United States stands ... and amounts to racial profiling," the letter said.

Pratt said ACLU leaders decided to seek information instead of filing a lawsuit "so we can understand the extent and nature of the FBI inquiry."

Police: Nev. Man Shot Golfer after Ball Hit Home

BY MARTIN GRIFFITH
Associated Press

RENO, Nev. • A man has been arrested on suspicion of shooting and wounding a golfer after an errant ball broke a window at his home.

Jeff Fleming, 53, is accused of firing at a pair of golfers at the 16th hole on Thursday, striking the one who hit the home in Reno. The golfer was treated for minor injuries to an arm and both legs.

The suspect's neighbors told investigators that it was a "common, everyday deal" for stray golf balls to hit their homes, police Lt. Keith Brown said.

"The neighbors were shaking their heads, and we were shaking our heads, and no one could put rhyme or reason to this (shooting). It's crazy," Brown told The Associated Press. "I've been an officer for 25 years, and if you're here long enough, I guess you've seen everything."

The area around the 16th hole at the Lakeridge Golf Course was evacuated after the shooting, police said. Fleming drove to a Reno attorney's office, where he surrendered without incident.

The lawyer, Larry Dunn, did not immediately return a phone call seeking comment Friday. Fleming has an unlisted phone number and could not be reached for comment.

Fleming was booked at the Washoe County jail on felony charges of battery and assault with a deadly weapon. He was released early Friday after posting $40,000 bail. He's scheduled to appear Oct. 4 in Reno Justice Court.

"The golfer apparently didn't even realize he had broken the window, and was looking for his ball when Fleming went to find the golfer with a shotgun," Brown said.

Vandals Make Final Preps for Bowling Green

BY JOSH WRIGHT
For the Times-News

MOSCOW • Another game in a budding rivalry with Bowling Green makes for a nice subplot. What matters to Idaho coach Robb Akey is showing last week's flat performance was an aberration.

Not more of the same from last season. "Making sure that we go out and perform the way we're capable of," Akey said, "that's something that means a lot to our football team."

The Vandals are in Bowling Green, Ohio, today for a nonconference game with the Falcons. This will be the third time in four years these teams have met. After last week's 20-3 home loss to Eastern Washington — combined with the meek offense it showcased in 2011 — Idaho could use a jolt from quarterback Dominique Blackman. The 6-foot-5 junior transfer will make his debut after sitting out last week for an undisclosed reason.

A setback today would send Idaho to 0-2 going into next week's game at third-ranked LSU. Bowling Green, meanwhile, has already traveled to a vaunted SEC stadium and nearly pulled a stunner.

Last week it lost 27-14 at Florida after being tied with the Gators in the second half.

The Falcons have a talented junior quarterback in Matt Schilz and have re-loaded at wide receiver. But it was their strength at the line of scrimmage that impressed Akey in Week 1.

Bishop Kelly Rolls Mistake-prone Tigers

BY MIKE CHRISTENSEN
For the Times-News

JEROME • Jerome only punted once in hosting Bishop Kelly. Usually that's a sign of victory. But that lone punt — like almost everything else for the Tigers on Friday night — turned into a nightmare.

Jerome committed five turnovers and saw Bishop Kelly thoroughly dominate field position as the visiting Knights steamrolled to a 72-20 victory.

Five of Bishop Kelly's first seven possessions started in Jerome territory and the Knights (2-0) scored early and often in taking a 27-6 lead after one quarter and a 44-13 edge at intermission.

"We got beat in every aspect of the game," said Jerome coach Sid Gambles. "And when you get poor field position and you're not rising up to the challenge, then the score can get away from you really fast."

Bishop Kelly's first three passes went for touchdowns, all three involving junior receiver Turner Simmons. Simmons hauled in TD passes of 38 and 43 yards from quarterback Bowen Ogata and threw for the other, taking a reverse handoff and launching a 36-yard scoring toss to Cory Brady.

"Our offense was rolling," said Ogata, who finished 9-of-15 for 179 yards and four touchdowns. "We were able to connect on some big plays. The defense came up and we just got lucky and got over the top."

Jerome quarterback Zach Thibault finished 25-for-44 for 244 yards and three touchdowns. Two of those scoring passes went to Kolton Parsons in the first half. But the Tigers (1-2) threw a pick on their first drive and fumbled the ball away twice in the first half. They also twice turned the ball over on downs inside their own territory.

When Jerome finally punted, the ball hit the back of a Tiger lineman

KIMBERLY • Even Declo head coach Kelly Kidd seemed somewhat bewildered by his team's 42-0 rout of Kimberly Friday night.

"I'm not sure how good we are yet," Kidd said cautiously. "I think we're OK."

After outscoring their first two opponents by a combined 96-0, the Hornets (2-0) might be more than OK.

Declo dominated the Bulldogs in every aspect, racking up 487 yards of total offense while defensively stifling its opponent to 123 yards, most of which came late when the game's outcome had been decided.

"I'm most proud of how physical we were tonight against a team that was as big or bigger than we were," Kidd said. "I don't remember a Declo football team in quite a while that has been as physical as we were tonight. Some of the better tackling I've seen in years. Kids (did) their assignments."

Declo gained 351 yards on the ground, led by senior running back Jason Gillette, who rushed for 173 yards.

Quarterback Kai Garner completed 6 of 12 passes for 113 yards and three touchdowns, plus ran for 60 yards and two more scores.

"We've been playing well as a team. Everything is working, it seems like, and we're able to have success," said Declo junior wide receiver Hayden Hanson, who caught five passes for 106 yards and three TDs. "Last year in the summer I went to a Boise State camp and worked with the receivers coach a lot and he showed me a lot of ways to get open and find open spots. It's paid off for me."

In the first half, Declo's defense limited Kimberly to one yard rushing and one converted first down.

"Our O-line wasn't getting a push and our backs weren't running as hard as we usually do. We just didn't have the fire tonight," said Kimberly senior quarterback James Higginbotham.

Despite starting the season 0-2, Kimberly isn't hitting the panic button yet, Higginbotham said.

Without Corr, Bruins Fall to Highland

Twin Fall High School's Jason Byce drives the ball toward the goal line Friday, scoring an early first quarter touchdown against Highland High School in Twin Falls.

BY JOHN DERR

TWIN FALLS • Without their offensive leader, the Bruins just could not keep up.

After a solid first half, senior quarterback Thomas Corr left with an injury just before half, and the Twin Falls offense went with him as the Bruins fell to Highland 31-14 Friday night in nonconference football action.

"That hurt, I am not going to sugar coat it. Thomas took 90 percent of the snaps this week," said Twin Falls coach Allyn Reynolds. "It took the steam out of us, but there is a lot of the season left. Our goal is to win the conference."

Tied at the break, the Rams took control in the third. After amassing over 240 yards on the ground in the first half, Highland mixed in the pass while scoring 10 unanswered points in the third quarter.

"They really surprised us with how much they ran, they had been slinging it around the first two games," said Reynolds, adding that they put in a 3-4 defense to deal with the pass. The first half featured long drives by both teams. Each punted once while also turning the ball over.

It was that turnover that led to the Bruins first score as Jacob Johnson recovered the muffed punt. Four plays later Jason Byce, who tallied 22 yards on the drive, took it in from three yards out.

The Rams knotted the score when Thad Hansen broke three tackles then found the road clear for a 68-yard scoring scamper.

Twin Falls went right back to work with Anthony Archuleta taking over in the backfield. The senior accounted for 39 yards, including the final 15 putting the Bruins back on top.

The drive came with a price as Corr, who masterfully conducted the scoring drives, went to the bench with an apparent ankle injury. He would spend the rest of the night on crutches and his left foot iced.

"It was a sprint-out and when I threw, they rolled up on it," said Corr, who will see the doctor on Monday. "Could be a week, could be a month."

Super Sixes Finale Tonight at MVS

TWIN FALLS • It's the final appearance of the year for the Super Sixes while the Street Stocks, Hornets, Jr. Stingers and Thunderdogs meet for one of the few races remaining in the Whelen All-American Racing Series season at Magic Valley Speedway.

Street Stocks driver Ernie Hall can feel pretty comfortable with a 36-point advantage over Paul Browne in the race for the division championship, but Browne is far from giving up on his chances to claim his first MVS track title. Browne had an awesome start for 2012 but fell to second in the standings after Hall kicked the purple No. 2 car into high gear about mid-season.

Jason Todd and Mitchell Pehrson have been sparring for the third spot in the standings, but tonight Pehrson also carries the incentive of wanting to capture his first main event win of the year. Throwing a monkey wrench into the mix, husband and wife Dale and Billi Miles have become tough competitors in the series, having each won a main event race in recent weeks.

Getting back into Victory Lane would help in Hornets driver Lane Walker's bid for the 2012 championship, but he needs to make up at least 19 points in the two remaining events in order to catch leader Jeff Peck. For the Jr. Stingers, Hailey Douglas is on solid ground with a 42-point lead in the division but faces the always intimidating double mains this evening.

Super Sixes drivers Bob Bachman and Jasen Skyberg have each chalked up a win at MVS this season but watch for a spoiler to enter the picture for a win in tonight's main event action.

Finally, the Thunderdogs will be unleashed for another fight to the finish and car soccer rolls for the final time this season.

and went out of bounds at the Jerome 18-yard line. A few plays later, Bishop Kelly's Andrew Spangler ran in the second of his two rushing TDs to make it 37-6.

The miscues all added up to a major shellacking, one the Tigers hope to bounce back from as they prep for their Great Basin Conference opener next week at Canyon Ridge.

How will Jerome respond to Friday's beating?

"I've never been a part of one this bad, so we'll find out," said Gambles. "We'll find out what they're made of."

The Bulldogs travel to Valley next week.

"Kimberly has started slow some seasons. It's taking time, we have all new position people. We'll come around and everybody will find out what we need to do and how we need to do it," Higginbotham said.

Heading into Declo's home game against Buhl next week, Declo two-way starter on the line Jack Darrington said the Hornets are more proud of their two shutouts, than all the points they've scored.

"We can't make them score less than zero. That's a team thing, it wasn't just the first defense in there the whole time," Darrington said. "It's the team out there doing the best they can, pushing them back and we succeeded together."

Bruins

Back came Highland with its own 80-yard drive as Hansen, who finished with three touchdowns, again found the end zone.

Highland ate up six minutes to open the third quarter, settling for a field goal from 25 yards out to take the lead for good.

Vandals

"One of things that stood out to me is they held up in the (offensive and defensive) lines," Akey said. "That's where a lot of times you see a difference is when you're playing an SEC opponent like that."

Fruitful Living

Since it is the end of summer and my garden and fruit trees are being very productive, now seems like a good time to talk about being fruitful in life. If you have bounty from your yard, why not take a bite of a juicy tomato or a lovely peach, and keep on reading.

Dorette Schaal

willingness to stick with things, a sense of compassion in the heart, and a conviction that a basic holiness permeates things and people. We find ourselves involved in loyal commitments, not needing to force our way in life, able to marshal and direct our energies wisely."

As Magic Valley residents we have some beautiful orchards around the area, and my own trees have limbs that are bending nearly to the ground. That abundance doesn't happen overnight. The process of planting the seed, to the actual harvesting of fruit takes time. The lifelong benefits of planting an apple seed or peach seed in the soil pays off years later. The same applies to the fruit we want to produce in our life.

Start where you are, and plant some seeds of love, or joy or peace, and before you know it, you will be reaping a harvest back into your own life. My encouragement today is to make the choice to live fruitfully, because it not only blesses your own life, but those around you.

BUHL • Every Wednesday afternoon, a 15-passenger van pulls up at a senior citizens complex in Buhl. A handful of residents, with their stomachs growling, file aboard and are taken to Calvary Chapel for a hot meal at the church's soup kitchen.

The soup kitchen is one of the church's ministries, and so is the passenger van.

The van allows people to get to church functions they otherwise would be unable to attend, said Jackie Roberts, the church's pastor.

"We use it all the time," he said. "We don't use it like a typical church bus, driving through neighborhoods, picking up people for church. Not that I'm opposed to that, but the need hasn't arisen."

The church instead uses the van to pick up the elderly, drive adults to retreats, and take youth on mission trips. It's most frequently used to pick up seniors for the soup kitchen. On those Wednesday afternoon bus rides, the church picks up between eight to 10 passengers, but sometimes more, Roberts said.

The church has two designated drivers for its one van, a vehicle it purchased about three years ago to replace a 1970s-era bus.

"We started out with a school bus," said Alan Slaughaupt. "It's a good experience for me. It's a blessing to be able to help get somebody (to the community kitchen) who might not otherwise make it for a meal."

The scene is different at The River Christian Fellowship in Twin Falls, where the church has two buses and three passenger vans.

The vans are used most, said Associate Pastor Brian Slusher, and takes church members to retreats, camp outs, mission trips and social events — such as ferrying youth to ice cream parlors or fast-food restaurants after church activities Wednesday nights.

"We started out with a school bus. It's a good experience for me. It's a blessing to be able to help get somebody (to the community kitchen) who might not otherwise make it for a meal."

Alan Slaughaupt, driver

Lighthouse Christian Fellowship in Twin Falls has three buses and two passenger vans that it uses for both school and church activities, said Kevin Newbry, the school's superintendent. This fall the church plans on expanding its bus service to include picking up folks for Sunday church services.

"We're just trying to get it off the ground, transporting people to and from church," he said. "That's a big thing for people who don't have a vehicle or another way to get to church on Sundays."

The challenge has been trying to find enough designated drivers. "Once we get this off the ground, we're committed," Newbry said, noting the church wants to make sure its buses are functional and on schedule every week. People will sign up for the rides and the church will create a bus route.

"We don't want to leave anyone hanging," he said.

Lighthouse currently uses its buses and vans for school activities — including sporting events — mission trips, and helping transport people in the College of Southern Idaho refugee program.

Some of the benefits for a church having its own bus or van: aiding elderly's church attendance, encouraging youth to participate in activities, transporting groups at lower cost, and taking up less space in the parking lot. Newbry said it's less expensive to take a bus on outings than it is to take six or seven cars.

DREW NASH • TIMES-NEWS

Youth Pastor Bryan Bacon, top, watches as kids board one of the River Christian Fellowship passenger vans for Taco Bell Wednesday in Twin Falls.

And then there's the safety factor: "There's a higher risk taking several vehicles," he said. "When you take many cars someone could have a flat tire, get separated from the group. People have different driving habits. It's so much safer in a bus."

For churches considering purchasing a bus, Newbry said they're not as expensive as you might think. Lighthouse buys used buses from school districts for between $3,000 and $6,000. Not all of them have many miles, he said.

Gas mileage might not be great with a bus or van, but for Lighthouse there are other dividends.

"They've served us well," he said, noting the church couldn't do some of the things it does without them. "We try to use a bus whenever we can, as long as we have a driver available. ... We don't make a lot of wasted trips."

CHURCH SPOTLIGHT

Twin Falls First United Methodist Church

When are church services? Worship services are held weekly on Sunday at 10 a.m.

What is your membership? Our current membership is about 300 members.

What is your leadership structure?

Twin Falls First United Methodist Church is part of the Sage District, under the supervision of District Superintendent Kim Fields, and along with three other districts we make up the Oregon-Idaho Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. Our Annual Conference is led by Bishop Grant Hagiya, and our conference office is located in Portland. Our pastor is the Rev. Philip Airhart, who has 20 years of pastoral ministry experience, and has been appointed to this congregation since 2008. Our Church Leadership Team is composed of strongly-committed and well-qualified lay people who are elected to their offices annually.

What are your core beliefs? United Methodists share a common heritage with other Christians, for example:

- We believe that God has mercy and love for all people
- We believe in a triune God

— Father, Son, and Holy Spirit

- We believe that through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ all are offered forgiveness and salvation

- We believe in, and practice, the sacraments of Baptism and Holy Communion

- We also, as heirs of Methodism's founder, John Wesley, believe that our faith is best understood and lived out through the guidelines of scripture, tradition, experience and reason.

Describe a typical worship service.

Our worship services typically last 60-70 minutes and include the reading of Scripture, singing of both traditional and more contemporary hymns and songs, a children's message and a sermon by the pastor.

Except for the summer months, special music by the Chancel Choir or other musical groups is offered. Audio-visual tools are used in worship each Sunday to enhance the worship experience. Holy Communion is offered the first Sunday of each month to every worshiper regardless of church affiliation.

Do you provide childcare?

Childcare is offered each Sunday, as well as for special events, by qualified providers who have completed training under our denomination's "Safe Sanctuaries" policy.

What are your ministries for children and youth?

Sunday School is offered at 9 a.m. each Sunday during the school year to children of all ages. Special activities are also planned and offered during the year. TFFUMC sponsors Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts through our church, open to all in the community.

What other programs do you offer?

We offer a variety of educational and spiritual formation classes during the year that are open to members and non-members alike. These range in duration from 4-6 week seasonal and short-term classes on a variety of topics to more in-depth and longer-duration studies like DISCIPLE Bible study that typically runs for 30-32 weeks. We are presently beginning an all-congregation study entitled "A Disciple's Path" that will run for six weeks. We have men's and women's small groups, a Tuesday evening prayer ministry, and other activities and programs as well.

What community activities are you engaged in?

Our church facilities are widely used by the community. For example, a congregation of Burundian Refugees meet daily for choir rehearsals and worship during the week, along with Boy and Girl Scouts and the Magicchords barbershop group. We have hosted Living Well in Idaho classes and other groups on a short-term basis. Our members are broadly involved in community service clubs and other service agencies.

What mission work does your church do?

We participate in mission activities both individually and through our Conference and Denominational (UMCOR) relief agencies. We contribute to hunger and disaster relief and other mission efforts, locally, nationally, and around the world.

— The Rev. Phil Airhart

OBITUARIES

Cecil Darrell Nice

Aug. 10, 1948-Sept. 5, 2012

FILER • Cecil Darrell Nice, 64, of Filer, died Wednesday, Sept. 5, 2012, at his home.

He was born Aug. 10, 1948, in Twin Falls, Idaho, to Herman and Ethel Nice. He grew up in Filer, Idaho, with siblings, Jerry, Betty, Albert, Russell, Jim, Jean, Virginia and Tony. Cecil graduated from Filer High School in 1967.

On Friday, Sept. 13, 1968, he married his high school sweetheart, Linda Cox, daughter of J.O. and Juanita Cox of Kimberly, Idaho. Cecil and Linda were introduced to each other by Cecil's lifelong best friend and fishing buddy, Bill Lamp. Cecil and Linda had two sons, Travis (Maxine) and Byron (Jackie). They have eight grandchildren — the pride and joy of their lives, Chase (Alyssa), Cody, Mariah, Ciara, Alyssia, Chance, Josiah and Alayna Nice.

Cecil found God through Linda and her loving family. He worked passionately for the Church of Christ in Buhl, Idaho, as a teacher, song leader, deacon and minister focusing on growth and encouragement of the youth. Cecil attended Magic Valley Christian College in Albion, Idaho, and completed his teaching degree at Idaho State University in Pocatello, Idaho, in 1972.

Cecil chose to return to his home town of Filer to teach. He and Linda purchased their home on Yakima Avenue in 1975. Known as "Mr. Nice" by his students, he taught the sixth grade for 36 years and retired in 2008. He was also the Filer School District driver's education instructor from 1979 to 2009 and continued administering driver testing for the state of Idaho until 2012. Cecil served his country, retiring as sergeant first class from the Army Reserves in 1995 after 23 years of service.

He is preceded in death by his parents, Herman and Ethel Nice of Filer, Idaho; and brothers, Jerry and Russell Nice of Twin Falls, Idaho. He was also preceded in death by his beloved father-in-law, J.O. Cox.

The funeral for Cecil will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9, at the Filer Middle School, 299 Highway 30 in Filer. Private interment will be held Monday, Sept. 10, at Sunset Memorial Park Cemetery in Twin Falls. Visitation will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 8, at Parke's Magic Valley Funeral Home, 2551 Kimberly Road in Twin Falls, Idaho.

In lieu of flowers, his family has asked for donations to be made to the Buhl Church of Christ, Youth Ministry, 829 Broadway Ave N., Buhl, ID 83316, 208-543-5745; or to Filer Middle School, Sixth Grade Teacher's Supply Fund, 299 Highway 30, Filer, ID 83328, 208-326-5906.

Shane Joseph Hobbs

Sept. 11, 1977-Sept. 5, 2012

TWIN FALLS • Shane Joseph Hobbs went to be with his Lord and Savior, Jesus Messiah on Wednesday, Sept. 5, six days shy of his 35th birthday, due to a pulmonary embolism and the resulting brain damage.

He was born in West Covina, Calif., the apple of his parent's eyes. His family remembers his passion for Legos and sharks and how he would spend hour upon hour drawing elaborate pictures. Some of his favorite activities included visiting Traveltown with his grandmother and aunt, riding the AmTrak train to San Diego and going to Dodger baseball games with his dad.

While in kindergarten, he was diagnosed with Tourette's Syndrome — a neurological disorder. At the City of Hope in Duarte, Calif., Shane was involved in a research project, which resulted in the book, "Tourette Syndrome and Human Behavior," written by the renowned Dr. David E. Comings. In the fall of 1993, his family moved to Idaho, where Shane attended Twin Falls High School, graduating in 1995. Although he spent most of his school years in special education classes, he was very proud of the fact that he graduated with a "normal" diploma.

Shane was often seen

"cruising" around Twin Falls, taking in the latest action flicks or working the lobby at McDonald's on Pole Line Road. Co-workers and customers alike always remarked on his sunny disposition. And his family agrees that nothing seemed to get Shane down — he always had a smile on his face.

Shane had a knack for repairing his computer and enjoyed playing video games and watching "Golden Girls" on DVD. He was taken from us way too soon, and his passing has left a terrible void in our lives.

In Idaho, he is survived by his parents, Victor Hobbs and Sherri Wallace; his sisters, Cassandra (Bradon Tilley) and Jessica; his nephews, Drayden and Marcus (Jude); his stepfather, Thomas; and numerous aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins residing in many other states.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9, at the River Christian Fellowship, 4002 N. 3300 E. in Twin Falls. Flowers may be sent to Rosenau Funeral Home, 2826 Addison Ave. E. in Twin Falls; or donations in Shane's name may be sent to the National Tourette's Syndrome Association at tsa-usa.org.

Miss. Folk Artist 'Preacher' Dennis Dies at 96

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) • The Rev. Herman D. "Preacher" Dennis, who turned a Mississippi Delta grocery store into a folk-art castle that became a roadside attraction, has died. He was 96.

Jefferson Funeral Home in Vicksburg said he died Tuesday at Covenant Health and Rehab.

Margaret's Grocery started as a modest store north of Vicksburg off U.S. 61, nicknamed the "blues highway" Margaret Rogers Dennis had owned the store nearly 40 years when she married "Preacher" in 1984, and he said he'd build a monument to her and their faith in God.

The Vicksburg Post reports that during the 1980s and '90s, the couple used red, white, pink and yellow painted concrete blocks, foam balls, cardboard tubes and other common items to turn the building into a castle. Inside, surfaces were covered with Mardi Gras beads, plastic trinkets and Christmas lights.

Hand-painted signs displayed Bible verses and religious phrases welcoming Jews and Gentiles.

church, and he don't have no black church," one sign declared.

The building is still standing, though deteriorated. The inside has been closed to visitors for years.

"Margaret's Grocery has been the cornerstone of folk art environments in our state and many have traveled far and wide to experience the vernacular architecture created by the Rev. Dennis and Miss Margaret, as well their one-of-a-kind personalities," said Mary Margaret Miller, heritage director for the Mississippi Arts Commission.

Margaret Dennis was 94 when she died in 2009.

"Preacher" Dennis' funeral is set for 11 a.m. Monday at Cool Springs Missionary Baptist Church, which is near the store. Congregation leaders said in 2009 that the Dennises had sold the grocery store to Cool Springs, and that the church intended to preserve it.

Sleeping Beauty Recreated in Kiev Museum

BY MARIA DANILOVA

Associated Press

KIEV, Ukraine • Looking for true love? Fall asleep in Ukraine's top museum and wait for a kiss.

A Ukrainian-Canadian artist is presenting an interactive art project called "Sleeping Beauty," in which five attractive young women take turns sleeping under dim lights in Kiev's top gallery, each under a pledge to marry the visitor who wakes her with a kiss.

Any unmarried museum-goer can kiss the woman in the hope of making Beauty fall in love and awaken.

Taras Polataiko, a Ukrainian-born artist now based in Canada, says the goal of his exhibit is to recreate the famous fairy tale and witness the birth of love.

But it also has political undertones, symbolizing the patience of the Ukrainian people trapped by what he calls the oppressive government of President Viktor Yanukovich, and hopes that the nation will one day awaken to true freedom.

"I am turning the fairy tale into reality, the Prince fell in love with her deeply, strongly and this love woke her up," Polataiko told The Associated Press. "Strong love happens by chance."

The nearly three-week exhibit ends Sunday, and so far only one Sleeping Beauty has woken up to a kiss — only to discover that her Prince Charming was actually a princess. It is unclear what the two women will do now, given that Ukraine forbids same-sex marriage and that Princess Charming has a boyfriend of her own.

Romantic tension and anticipation are palpable in the ground floor room at the National Art Museum of Ukraine, where each Sleeping Beauty lies on a high white bed two hours a day. But the project is more of an artistic experiment than an act of match-making. The marriage pledges that the visitors sign are not legally binding and some of the Sleeping Beauties admitted they would not get married to someone they disliked.

While the young women said they were looking for love, many admitted they were also just curious to experience the public attention and the thrill of the artistic experiment.

Liza, a 23-year-old public relations manager, didn't dare open her eyes to any kisses, but later regretted it — discovering that one of the men was very attractive.

"It turns out that for a person who is used to being more rational, because most people perceive the world visually — it's hard to trust your feelings and follow your impulses," said Liza, who declined to give her last name because she didn't want her co-workers to find out about the project.

EFREM LUKATSKY-ASSOCIATED PRESS

Young visitors look upon a new art project called "Sleeping Beauties" created by a Canadian-Ukrainian artist Taras Polataiko in The National Art Museum in Kiev, Ukraine, Friday. Five young Ukrainian women, dressed in white wedding gowns, take turns sleeping on display in the museum for a couple of hours every day. Based on the fairytale "Sleeping Beauty," the idea of the art-exhibition is for visitors to look at a sleeping girl, and, if they feel the urge, kiss her on the lips.

Former Vegas Church Treasurer Facing Fraud Charges

LAS VEGAS (AP) • A former Lutheran church treasurer in Las Vegas is accused of pocketing congregation funds in a scheme that federal prosecutors in Nevada say cost the church $1.75 million.

Gregory Olson, 48, of Ryder, N.D., is summoned to appear Oct. 5 in U.S. District Court in Las Vegas on fraud and tax charges that could get him up to 32 years in federal prison and more than $1 million in fines, said Natalie Collins, spokeswoman for U.S. Attorney Daniel Bogden.

It wasn't immediately clear Friday whether Olson had a lawyer. An attorney representing the church in a separate civil theft, breach of contract and damages lawsuit filed in February in state court said he has been unable to locate Olson.

The federal indictment handed up Wednesday alleges that as property chairman of Calvary Lutheran Church, Olson mortgaged church property and paid himself more than $440,000 from loan proceeds.

According to the indictment, Olson convinced the congregation that money was needed for remodeling, and from September 2006 to March 2008 obtained six mortgages on church properties totaling $1.75 million. The congregation later learned that Olson used the money to buy a vehicle, make a down payment on a house and pay off civil judgments against him. Church leaders confronted Olson in August 2009.

Olson is also accused in the indictment of filing false tax returns for the years 2006 through 2009.

Quake Shakes the 90210, Rattling Beverly Hills

LOS ANGELES (AP) • Some of the little tchotchkes that decorate the staid homes of Beverly Hills were tossed off their coffee-table perches this week, but their owners were only shaken and a little bit stirred by a pair of earthquakes that rattled the city of the rich and famous. The second quake struck just after midnight Friday, reaching a magnitude of 3.4. It was preceded by Monday's 3.2 shaker.

Neither one did any damage, according to Beverly Hills police. But the second, on a fault line just a mile under the Earth's surface, grabbed everybody's attention. The U.S. Geological Survey said more than 4,000 people checked in on its website to say they felt it. Dispatchers from police and fire agencies said they were inundated with calls. "It scared the .... out of me," said longtime Beverly Hills resident Ellen Lutwak, quickly requesting that she not be quoted on the colorful noun she used to describe her moment of terror. The only casualty in her home was a troop of plastic antique Army soldiers that were sent tumbling to the floor.

DEAR ABBY: I really need some advice or I'm going to cry my eyes out. I'm a 14-year-old girl and I really like this guy at school. I'm shy, so instead of telling him, I drew a picture of him, wrote on the back that I like him and taped it to his locker so he could see it. I didn't sign it.

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

He thought it was weird and doesn't know it's me. He already has a girlfriend and she hates what I did. She says she thinks whoever did it is a stalker.

I feel really stupid. I don't know what to do now. I was n't trying to be creepy. I just wanted him to know how much I love him. Should I tell him it was me? I'm so confused. Please help.

— HOPELESS AND LOVELESS

DEAR H. AND L.: Dry your tears and take advantage of this learning experience. We have all had them. If you are smart — and I think you are — you will not reveal that it was you who put the picture on the locker. The boy is already involved with someone and his girlfriend will regard you as an enemy. If and when they break up — as so many teen romances do — you can decide THEN whether to express your feelings. But if you do, please do it in person and not anonymously.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible to earn someone's trust back, and if so, how would I do it?

— WONDERING IN OHIO

DEAR WONDERING: Much depends upon what you did that destroyed the person's trust. If it wasn't too egregious, a sincere apology is the way to begin. And if it is accepted, walking the straight and narrow in the future would be helpful.

DEAR ABBY: I got married four months ago and we have no wedding rings. However, we do have our names tattooed on each other's ring finger. His is not legible. Even though he got it touched up once, it still looks like a big blur. My tattoo is very clear and noticeable.

All my friends think we need to wear wedding bands or something. Did we do the wrong thing?

— NEWLYWED IN TACOMA, WASH.

DEAR NEWLYWED: When it comes to wedding bands — and what they symbolize — there is no "wrong" thing. You and your husband got the tattoos because you wanted something that would last forever, like your union. The most important thing isn't what your friends think; it's how the two of you FEEL. If you want to wear wedding bands, then buy a couple. But don't do it because someone else thinks you should.

DEAR ABBY: I work 40-plus hours a week and have a 3-year-old and two dogs. My good friend "Kate" has a 6-year-old, 2-year-old twins and a dog.

Her house is dirty. The bathroom is dusty and stained, and in the kitchen, dishes are piled in the sink. Would it be rude to offer her a few hours to clean up some key rooms? If not, how would I go about offering without being too blunt?

— HAVE MOP, WILL TRAVEL

DEAR HAVE: Try this. Say, "Kate, you have your hands full, so why don't I come over one morning this weekend and help with the housework? Then we'll grab some lunch. It'd be fun. Would it be rude to offer her a few hours to clean up some key rooms? If not, how would I go about offering without being too blunt?"

P.S. If you find yourself in the Los Angeles area, give me a call. And don't forget that mop!

THE ACES ON BRIDGE Bobby Wolff

"Who overcomes By force hath overcome but half his foe." — John Milton

Against your six-spade contract the opening lead is the diamond three. You win the ace, RHO playing the eight. Plan the play to protect against as many bad breaks as possible.

After winning dummy's diamond ace, play the spade ace, and now switch your attention to hearts. Lead out the queen, then play to the heart king.

If West discards on the second heart, win, ruff a heart, then lead a trump to dummy and run the hearts. It doesn't matter if the third heart is overruffed since you can ruff a diamond in dummy, then draw the last trump; equally, West's ruffing in on the second heart would clearly be fatal.

If it were East who could ruff the second heart to play a club, win with the ace, cross in spades (drawing the opponent's last trump), then ruff a heart, ruff a club, and run the hearts.

What happens if hearts are 5-0? If RHO ruffs the heart queen, you may still survive in much the same way as before. You simply need to take a heart finesse somewhere along the line after drawing the last trump. If LHO ruffs the heart queen, you will still survive if he does not have a third trump to play. (You have just enough entries to set up the long heart.) All in all, six spades makes except against 4-0 trumps or against a combined very bad heart break and trump break, when nothing would work.

ANSWER: The hand is too good for a rebid in either hearts or spades. Best is to cue-bid two clubs, simply showing a good hand, planning to bid two spades over two of a red suit from partner. This way your partner will know of real extras opposite (typically extra high-cards rather than four-card trump support). If you play — as I do — that one spade promises five, cue-bid, then jump to three spades to force to game.

Today is Saturday, Sept. 8, the 252nd day of 2012. There are 114 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:
On Sept. 8, 1892, an early version of "The Pledge of Allegiance," written by Francis Bellamy, appeared in "The Youth's Companion."

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:
In 1504, Michelangelo's towering marble statue of David was unveiled to the public in Florence, Italy.

In 1565, a Spanish expedition established the first permanent European settlement in North America at present-day St. Augustine, Florida.

In 1761, Britain's King George III married Princess Charlotte of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, just a few hours after meeting her for the first time.

In 1900, Galveston, Texas, was struck by a hurricane that killed an estimated 8,000 people.

In 1921, Margaret Gorman, 16, of Washington, D.C., was crowned the first "Miss America" in Atlantic City, N.J.

In 1935, Sen. Huey P. Long, D-La., was shot and mortally wounded inside the Louisiana State Capitol; he died two days later. (The assailant was identified as Dr. Carl Weiss, who was gunned down by Long's bodyguards.)

In 1941, the 900-day Siege of Leningrad by German forces began during World War II.

In 1951, a peace treaty with Japan was signed by 49 nations in San Francisco.

In 1971, the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center for the Performing Arts made its official debut in Washington, D.C., with a performance of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass."

In 1974, President Gerald R. Ford granted an unconditional pardon to former President Richard Nixon.

In 1987, former Democratic presidential candidate Gary Hart admitted during an interview on ABC's "Nightline" that he had committed adultery, and said he had no plans to resume his White House bid.

In 1994, a USAir Boeing 737 crashed into a ravine as it was approaching Pittsburgh International Airport, killing all 132 people on board.

Ten years ago: The government reported that violent crime rate had dropped by ten percent the previous year, reaching lowest level since 1973. Pete Sampras beat Andre Agassi 6-3, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 to win his 14th Grand Slam title and the U.S. Open for the fifth time.

Five years ago: Sheriff's deputies in Logan County, W.Va., removed Megan Williams, a 20-year-old black woman, from a house in Big Creek, where she'd endured what authorities described as days of torture. (Seven white men and women pleaded guilty in the case, but in a strange twist, Williams recanted her accusations in 2009; however, one of the defendants said, "It did happen.") Top-ranked Justice Henin (EH'-nen) overwhelmed Svetlana Kuznetsova (svet-LAH'-nah kooz-NET'-so-veh) 6-1, 6-3 to win her second U.S. Open women's title and seventh Grand Slam championship.

One year ago: Addressing a joint session of Congress, President Barack Obama challenged a reluctant Congress to urgently pass a larger-than-expected $450 billion jobs plan to "jolt an economy that has stalled." Ten oil workers were forced to abandon a crippled 94-foot research vessel in the Gulf of Mexico and pile into a life raft during Tropical Storm Nate; by the time rescuers arrived three days after, three of the men had died, and a fourth died later at a hospital.

IF SEPTEMBER 8 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Between now and mid-November, you could be both ambitious and anxious to follow your dream. You might be distracted from what is really important because you are so busy chasing rainbows and, therefore, are more likely to make mistakes in your love life or with finances. Rather than wasting your time, just jot down your ideas for future reference. Wait until after the first of the year to make irrevocable decisions. March and April are especially good months for finances, business and career.

HOROSCOPE

Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Transform ideas into action. Visualize the results in advance and then make it so. Creative outlets should be explored as undiscovered talents lie dormant. You'll do better on your own than in a group today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Shake it off. You may not be feeling 100 percent, but put on a big front. Others may only judge you on your appearance, so find a way to pretend. A friend may try to monopolize your time if you allow it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A rolling stone gathers no moss. Every moment of inactivity makes it that much more difficult to get moving again. Keep busy with business affairs or personal pursuits. Adapt and adjust to the atmosphere.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): It's all in the attitude. Keep things light and upbeat around the house. Take time to make sure the household is in perfect running order. Hold off on signing on the dotted line or taking on added responsibility.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Bend, but don't break. You may find yourself at an impasse with a friend or loved one today. You can stand your ground and potentially make the situation worse or be a bit flexible and try to find common ground.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. A new acquaintance could create ripples in your current relationship. Don't jeopardize a potential future for a flight of fancy. Keep the purse strings drawn.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Each day brings a new perspective. What may have been the apple of your eye yesterday may seem like a rotten tomato today. Don't embark on any new projects or endeavors; focus on established routines.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Take charge of the situation. You can relieve tensions at home by acting as the mediator or offering sage advice. Show compassion; save wounded feelings by overlooking faults. Stand by your decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Come out of your shell. Put the past in the past and concentrate on moving towards the future. Past mistakes may be embarrassing to relive but you can also use the experience to your advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Don't rock the boat. You may be sick to death of the "same old same old" but this is the formula that has worked in the past; there's little point in changing things now. Share an outing with a friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Let the chips fall where they may. Your first instinct is to shake things up with immediate action, but if you just wait awhile, the pieces will fall into place all on their own. Wait and see is the best approach.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A penny saved is a penny earned. Not spending your hard-earned cash on a silly item is just as good as winning the money on a lottery ticket. Take time to consider the repercussions before you act.
